A QUICK READ OF THE NEWS

Burglary try gets sticky

A would-be burglar got stuck overnight inside a gunky restaurant ventilator in Hialeah, Fla., feet dangling above the stove, his intended burglary of the diner foiled.

Gustavo Rivera, 39, was rescued — then arrested — after being stuck inside the grease-slicked shaft for eight hours with his arms outstretched and his legs dangling between iron security gates.

Where not to park in Omaha

Gary Jacobsen, owner of Movers Not Shakers in Omaha, Neb., had a lunch date and found what seemed like an ideal parking space across the street from the cafe.

He parked, turned on the hazard lights, and left for his meeting.

That was a problem: He had just abandoned a yellow rental truck at the curb outside a federal office building.

Security guards, remembering the 1995 bombing of the Murrah Federal Building in Oklahoma City, ordered an evacuation of the building.

After the confusion, Jacobsen found that his ideal parking spot had earned him a 30-minute lecture and a $13 parking ticket courtesy of Omaha police.

Is it the Chipburglar?

Someone broke into the Monroe, Mich., baking-goods factory Amendt three times in two weeks, stealing about 50 pounds of chocolate chips.

The last break-in was discovered when workers found chips scattered across an office floor and an open newspaper on a desk.

The factory produces mixes for baked goods, including chocolate chip cookies, and stocks about 20,000 pounds of such chips.

The stolen ones were worth about $100, officials said.

Mules step out of district spotlight this week

By DAVID STEVENS
Southwest News Services

The mathematical possibilities are almost endless when it comes to projecting the next two weeks of District 2-3A high school football.

In one wild scenario, four teams could end up tied for first place with 3-2 records. But realistically, only four teams remain in the hunt for three postseason bids.

Muleshoe has almost certainly clinched a playoff berth for the third consecutive year no matter what else happens, even in the unlikely event it loses its last two games.

Lubbock Cooper and Shallowater have control of their own destinies in that either can qualify for the playoffs by winning their last two games.

And Littlefield remains very much a contender, especially if it beats Dimmitt this week and Lubbock Cooper on Nov. 10.

The picture should come into focus this weekend, with all six district teams in action.

The spotlight game features Shallowater at Lubbock Cooper in a clash for second place.

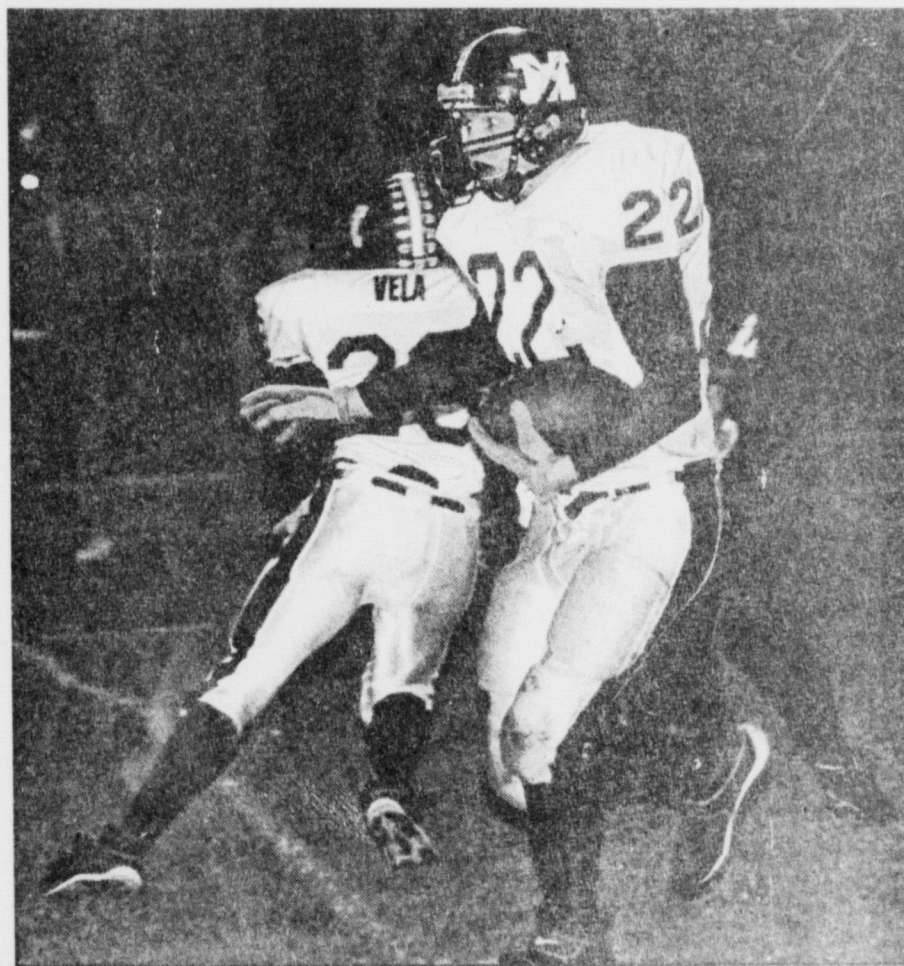

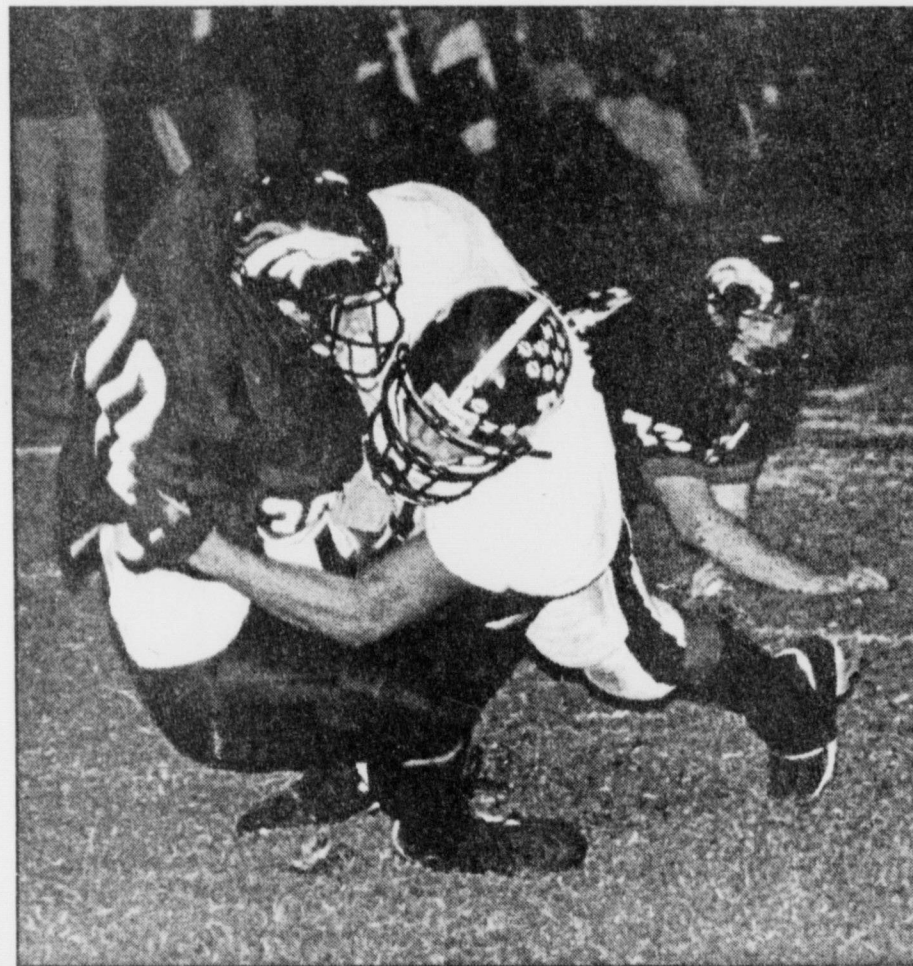

Both teams are 6-2 for the season, 2-1 in district play.

Other games pit Littlefield at Dimmitt and Muleshoe at Lubbock Roosevelt.

Muleshoe coach David Wood said he suspects ball control will determine the winner of the Cooper-Shallowater game.

"The key to that game is who can sustain drives and get the ball in the end zone. Both of them have very explosive offenses and very

Shallowater memories

Cross country teams advance to regionals

JOURNAL STAFF REPORT

Muleshoe cross country teams had quite a day in Lubbock on Saturday, with the varsity boys' and girls' teams both qualifying for regional and the junior varsity girls winning their division with Muleshoe runners finishing 1-2-3.

Coach Su Scott said she has been pleased all season.

Regional competition will be Nov. 4 at Mae Simmons Park in Lubbock, with the girls running at 9 a.m., boys at 9:30 a.m.

Both varsity teams finished third in the district.

Individuals finishing in the Top 10 and qualifying for regional are Eva Pylant (sixth at 13:32 for two miles) and Annie Cook (eighth at 13:35) for

CraneFest to incorporate Asian tradition

JOURNAL STAFF REPORT

Along with good food (at various times and places), arts and crafts (in the old Williams Brothers building) and, of course, a few thousand sandhill cranes, this weekend's CraneFest will feature a gentle art: the ancient Japanese paper-folding art known as origami.

But everybody from school students to senior citizens is being asked to join in folding 1,000 paper cranes because of an old tradition that anyone who does so achieves a sort of immortality.

Rick Vanderpool, a photographer, author and general mover-and-shaker from Commerce, Texas, wants Muleshoe to be the first town to achieve "immortality" through origami cranes.

"We're going to hatch a time-honored thing," he said Tuesday.

Vanderpool, author of an upcoming book called Looking for Texas: Essays from the Coffee-Ring Journal, says he loves small towns and just wants to help.

Jessica Hardt (left), Shari Alanis and Cassie Wilcox of the Muleshoe High School DECA group took some time recently to decorate Leal's restaurant with drawings done by elementary students in honor of this weekend's second annual CraneFest. DECA chose CraneFest as its public relations project for this year. DECA members not only helped with advertising for the festival but have helped sell tickets for the various CraneFest events Friday night and Saturday.

good defenses," he said.

The Mustangs and Pirates have had mirror seasons so far, with each losing only to Lamesa and Muleshoe.

Cooper fell behind the Golden Tornadoes early and was unable to make a full recovery, losing 38-30 in its season opener. Lamesa beat Shallowater more decisively, 47-14, on Oct. 6.

Wood said Shallowater caused his Mules team the greater concern, since the Mustangs jumped to a 14-0 lead in the first quarter.

"With Shallowater, we had our backs against the wall quickly, and we had to be intense the whole game. Cooper, once we got up on them, we tended to relax a little bit," he said.

The Cooper-Shallowater winner will have a clear shot at a playoff run, though Littlefield remains a key ingredient in the district's mix.

Wood said he believes Littlefield can compete with Cooper, which the Wildcats host in the regular-season finale Nov. 10.

"Littlefield has a ball-control offense very similar to ours," he said. "If they can keep Cooper's offense off the field, they can wear the Cooper defense down."

DISTRICT NOTES

In the event three or more teams end up tied for a playoff spot, the district will resort to a point system that focuses on head-to-head competition.

If, for example, Shallowater, Lubbock Cooper and Littlefield finish tied for second place in the district with 3-2 records, scores of the games involving the tied teams will determine the two playoff qualifiers.

Shallowater already has 10 points in the system, since it beat Shallowater 29-19 on Oct. 13. No team is awarded more than 15 points for a single game, so scores of this week's Cooper-Shallowater and next week's Littlefield-Cooper games could be a factor in determining playoff qualifiers.

Muleshoe participated in the Class 3A Division I playoffs last year, but seems destined for the small-school bracket this time.

The pairings are based on high school enrollment, with the largest playoff qualifier from each district moving into Division I and the remaining two qualifiers competing in Division II.

The Mules have the third-largest enrollment in the district (407 students)—behind Lubbock Cooper (571) and Littlefield (453). Lubbock Roosevelt is the district's smallest high school with 354 students.

If the season ended today, the Mules would play Dalhart from District 1-3A in the first round of the playoffs.

Shallowater is the only 2-3A team that has not been involved in a shutout this season. Team records as related to shutouts are Muleshoe (2-0), Littlefield (1-0), Lubbock Cooper (1-0), Shallowater (0-0), Lubbock Roosevelt (2-3) and Dimmitt (0-2).

Cooper and Muleshoe both fell behind last week before rallying to win. Dimmitt led the Pirates 13-0 at one point, while Shallowater was enjoying a 14-0 advantage over Muleshoe.

The Mules never trailed in their first six games of the season, but had to come from behind against Littlefield on Oct. 20.

Their only lead against Shallowater came when Travis Tunnell scampered 32 yards for the winning touchdown in the third quarter.

LAST WEEK'S SCORES

Lubbock Cooper 41, Dimmitt 19; Littlefield 34, Lubbock Roosevelt 0; Muleshoe 21, Shallowater 14.

White team loses to Farwell seventh-grade under adverse conditions

Watson Junior High's white team grabbed a Steer by the tail last Thursday night and lost 36-0 to Farwell's seventh-graders.

The game was played under conditions less than ideal for the Mules, since the team's regular coaches were in Shallowater where the junior high black teams took on the Mustangs.

Coaches Ron Welch and Kodi Crane filled in for Brad Stegall, Chad King and Nick

Dickson. Even though the white team runs basically the same offense as the other teams, the actual calling of the plays is different, and the resulting confusion was part of the reason the team's offense struggled.

This was not the fault of the team or the coaches — it was just the situation they were all presented.

The defense did a good job of containing the potent Steer offense most of the time. At the end of the first quarter, Farwell had recovered a Mule fumble on Muleshoe's 15-yard line. Andy Dale, Brad Henry, Ricky Treviño and other Mule defensive players held the Steers out of the end zone for five plays.

Then the Steers managed a two-yard plunge to score their second TD.

Late in the first half, Henry was forced to punt but Farwell fumbled the return. With only seconds remaining in the half, Farwell intercepted a Tomás Buenrostro pass intended for Jason Hartline.

Erwin Lewis, the Mules' left-footed kicker, opened the second half by booting the ball to the Steers' 20. Fabian Durán put a big hit on the Steer return man and jarred the ball loose — but a Steer managed to fall on it.

The Steers then picked up a first down before breaking loose to score from the 33-yard line.

The Steers scored again before the end of the third quarter to put the Mules behind by 30.

Ely Villa began the fourth quarter by returning the kickoff to his own 29, but once again the Mule offense sputtered while Farwell managed to extend the score to 36-0.

It was a tough situation for the Mules' white team, but the way these young men performed under adverse conditions made one proud to be a Mules fan.

Junior high runners place at season's cross country meets

Muleshoe cross country coach Su Scott has released the names of several Watson Junior High School cross country runners who placed in events leading up to the district meet.

Ashley Gutiérrez took first place in the girls' division in both the Abernathy meet (Sept. 16) and the Friona meet (Oct. 7). Her times were 13:47 and 13:38, respectively.

Other Lady Mules finishing in the Top 50 at Abernathy included Lindsey Hall (14:29, ninth), Amber Cowart (15:00, 23rd), Brandi Wood (15:18, 33rd) and Jamie Carpenter (15:26, 41st).

Jarad Flores finished 42nd with a time of 15:43 and Myles James was 43rd with 15:49 in the boys' division.

Other top Lady Mules at Friona were Lindsey Hall (14:16, fifth), Trisha Robertson (15:19, 20th), Wood (15:22, 22nd), Jessica Hall (15:32, 26th), Erin DeHoyos (16:00, 36th), Paje McRoberts (16:13, 41st), Monica Posadas (16:18, 43rd) and Amanda López (16:22, 46th).

For the boys, Flores was 15th with a time of 15:03 and James was 16th with 15:04.

At Levelland (Oct. 21), the boys' and girls' divisions were combined.

Muleshoe runners in the Top 100 included Linday Hall, 20th (16:01); Carpenter, 37th (16:52);

Wood, 42nd (17:10); James, 43rd (17:11); Danielle Tucker, 51st (17:47); and McRoberts, 57th (18:12).

Also Emily Zackoski, 64th (19:03); Posadas, 65th (19:10); Robertson, 70th (19:31); DeHoyos, 72nd (19:34); and Hillary Tipps, 73rd (19:35).

Also Kristen Ambriz, 74th (19:36); Veronica Nuñez, 79th (20:353); Cami Jo Vandiver, 98th (25:14); and Jenna Rasco, 99th (25:20).

Represented will be local Christmas shop owner Carolyn Johnson, quilts by Ruby Green, multimedia artist Peggy Bingham, sculpture and other works by Bill Delk of Clovis, note cards by DeShazo student Stuart Precure and Watson Junior High student Brandon Rubio, and other artists and crafters.

A highlight of the weekend should be the food prepared by Clifford Black — a sunrise breakfast (tickets $5) from 6 a.m. to 7:30 a.m. Saturday and an evening barbecue (tickets $7 adults, $3 children 10 and under) served from 5 p.m. on.

Both meals will be served near the boundary of the Muleshoe National Wildlife Refuge south of town in order to allow diners to observe the cranes lifting off (at breakfast) and returning to their roosting area (at sunset).

The refuge is famous for the number of sandhill cranes that spend the winter there, with yearly numbers varying.

Governor's Conservation Task Force issues recommendations

SPECIAL TO THE JOURNAL

AUSTIN — The Governor's Task Force on Conservation, held Oct. 19, approved a set of specific recommendations about how Texas can meet our state's conservation and outdoor recreation needs in the 21st century.

Gov. George W. Bush created the 12-member task force by executive order Feb. 24. He charged its members with studying the issues of conservation, land-fragmentation, public parks, outdoor recreation, and nature tourism, and making recommendations for how best to protect and enhance the state's natural resources and increase outdoor recreation opportunities for Texans.

"I commend this task force of conservation leaders for outlining a bold vision for Texas' future," Bush said. "The task force has recommended ways for a dynamic and growing Texas to better protect our natural resources — including open spaces, habitat and water — and to provide more accessible outdoor recreational opportunities for generations to come."

The task force makes the following recommendations in three major categories:

Private lands — Ninety-seven percent of the land in Texas is privately owned, so any comprehensive conservation effort in Texas depends on private landowners' participation and cooperation. The task force recommends that the state provide landowners additional incentives and partnership opportunities to better care for and conserve their lands:

- Create a statewide Purchase of Development Rights program to compensate willing landowners for restricting future development of their lands. The Legislature would create the fund and a council to administer it.

- Reform federal and state tax laws to encourage conservation by private landowners.

- Expand incentives and assistance to landowners for habitat management, including expanding the use of wildlife management plans, conservation agreements and the Landowner Incentive Program, increasing technical assistance to landowners, and forming more voluntary wildlife co-ops to help improve wildlife habitats.

- Encourage outdoor recreation development opportunities on private lands, including nature tourism, by encouraging partnerships between public and private sectors, and examining liability issues that may inhibit private participation in recreation and conservation projects.

- Public lands — The task force found that as Texas continues to grow and the demand for recreation and natural resource conservation continues to grow, the state's current park lands will not be able to meet future needs.

The task force recommends that the state assess local and state needs and resources and develop a strategic, statewide plan to meet the identified conservation and outdoor recreation demands.

- Develop a comprehensive system to address conservation and to assure easily accessible outdoor recreation, including urban nature centers and outdoor recreation programs.

- Ensure funds to repair, maintain, and develop our existing public lands, and to acquire lands that meet the state's strategic conservation and outdoor recreation needs; create a blue-ribbon panel to identify state sites that should be transferred to other entities.

- Strengthen the ability of local governments to address conservation and outdoor needs by increasing grants for local parks and conservation, and giving fast-growing counties more tools to address growth.

- Water — The task force found water to be the most critical conservation issue in Texas. The Senate Bill 1 regional water planning groups and several legislative interim committees are also addressing Texas' water needs.

Water is the limiting factor for all aquatic life, plants, wildlife, and many types of recreation.

The task force found that as the state faces increasing water demands for municipal growth, industry and agriculture, water also must be provided to meet the needs of natural resources.

- For new water use, ensure adequate quantity and quality of water to support healthy land and water ecosystems.

- Incorporate the needs of fish and wildlife into existing water resource management.

- Promote agricultural water uses that also benefit wildlife.

- Protect Texas springs that are an important contributor to many Texas streams and rivers.

The Task Force recommendations serve as a blueprint that legislators can draw from in the 2001 Session and sessions to come. Implementing these recommendations will position Texas as a leader in conservation and enhance the quality of life of our citizens for generations to come.

DECA

Five DECA students from Muleshoe High School attended the District 8 leadership conference Oct. 10 at the Radisson Inn in Amarillo.

"Step Up to the Plate... Take Aim at Your Future" was the theme, which will continue as a statewide theme until the state conference next spring in Arlington.

Students representing Muleshoe were Amanda Bell, Anthony Anguiano, Roddy Spradling, Liz Torres and Drew Robinson.

Leadership training included breakout sessions to highlight and encourage leadership characteristics that could be applied to day-to-day problem-solving situations.

More than 400 DECA students from districts 8 and 9 attended.

The DECA organization works to develop leaders in marketing and management.

HOROSCOPES

NOVEMBER 5-11

For entertainment purposes only

Aries — March 21/April 20

While it's going to be difficult, keep your opinions to yourself when meeting with business associates early in the week, Aries. Your input only will make the situation tense. So, let the others say what they have to say, and keep quiet. A close friend drops by unexpectedly on Thursday. Listen to what he or she has to say.

Taurus — April 21/May 21

Don't get upset when a loved one cancels plans with you on short notice. Something important really does come up. So, instead of getting angry, see if there is anything that you can do to help. Your offer will be appreciated. An acquaintance asks your advice about a personal matter. Give him or her your honest opinion.

Gemini — May 22/June 21

That special someone turns to you for help with a business matter. While you don't know much about the situation, give him or her your gut reaction. It won't be a definite answer to the problem, but it will give this person food for thought. A loved one offers to take you out to dinner late in the week. Say yes.

Cancer — June 22/July 22

Don't beat yourself up when you make an honest mistake early in the week, Cancer. Your error doesn't create any serious problems. So, just work to correct it, and move on. That special someone has a surprise for you late in the week. Enjoy! Scorpio plays an important role.

Leo — July 23/August 23

Keep your eyes and ears open while at work this week, Leo, because something is fishy. However, there's no need to get upset; it doesn't involve you. You meet someone interesting while out with friends late in the week. Get to know this person better, because he or she can become an important ally.

Virgo — Aug 24/Sept 22

While you want to be alone this week, you're not going to get your wish. It seems as if everyone needs something from you all of a sudden. Do what you can for these people, but don't spread yourself too thin. You have to look out for yourself. Sagittarius plays a key role on Friday.

Libra — Sept 23/Oct 23

Don't get involved when loved ones have a disagreement on Monday. They need to work this out themselves. Your input only will complicate matters. So, as much as you want to help, stay out of it.

Scorpio — Oct 24/Nov 22

You have an important task to complete this week, Scorpio, and several people are counting on you to get it done. So, don't let others distract you from the matter at hand. If you stay focused and work diligently, you're sure to get everything accomplished. Your efforts will be rewarded. Aquarius plays an important role.

Sagittarius — Nov 23/Dec 21

Stand up for yourself when a business associate accuses you of making a mistake. You know that you have nothing to do with it. Explain yourself calmly and logically, and you're sure to gain the support of others. That special someone asks you an important question. Answer him or her honestly.

Capricorn — Dec 22/Jan 20

While you'd much rather be giving the directions than taking them, that's not the way it's going to be when a financial problem arises early in the week. Listen to what a more experienced loved one has to say, and follow his or her advice. It's the best way to handle this situation.

Aquarius — Jan 21/Feb 18

Don't be concerned when an acquaintance offers to assist you with a personal problem, Aquarius. This person isn't trying to intrude in your life; he or she just wants to help. Accept the offer, because you know that you can't handle this on your own.

Pisces — Feb 19/March 20

Keep your sense of humor about you on Wednesday, Pisces, because you are going to need it. A family problem arises and puts everyone on edge. Trying to laugh at the situation is the best way to handle the tension. Loved ones will laugh with you.

Veterinarian has bad day at Black Rock for Halloween

It was a bad day at Black Rock that fateful Halloween. It all began the week before, the call had seemed routine. "I've got a mare needs checkin', Doc, I b'lieve the sweetheart's bred."

"I'll swing by there this afternoon," good Dr. Kelly said.

The mare was mincing round the stall as Kelly donned the sleeve. "This should only take a second," his assessment was naïve. "She's just a little nervous, Doc, but . . . I guess I would be, too. If you were pointin' that at me, I'd kick you to Timbuktu!"

Which is precisely what she did, so fast it was a blur. The next day poor ol' Kelly wore a cast from hip to spur. With two days off to heal up, his left leg plasterized, He volunteered to take a call. I know it wasn't wise.

But you know men, like him I mean, a grad of Colorado whose head, if not for gristle, wouldn't cast a shadow. Another horse. A small wire cut there, just below the hock. "He's gentle as a newborn lamb. He'd never hurt you, Doc."

And sure enough he blocked the site, though awkwardly I'd think.

BAXTER BLACK

ON THE EDGE OF COMMON SENSE

He had to spread his legs the way giraffes bend down to drink. Relieved, he got his suture out, assumed the bent position. About the time a fly appeared in search of fly nutrition.

And lit upon the horse's foot, just fate I would suppose. The pony kicked to flick the fly, but caught the doctor's nose. Sideways.

Which left a thumb-sized piece of schnoz now dangling from the tip. Like half a jalapeño flapping down upon his lip.

Thirty stitches . . . on the outside. They they taped that sucker tight. But them M.D.s must've chuckled 'cause that bandage was a sight. It stuck out like a gearshift, like the fruit on prickly pear, Like a big white avocado on a chainsaw grizzly bear.

He stayed at home the next two days hibernating in his cave. Until his wife had asked his help. The instructions that she gave were "pick up the kids at 9 at Johnsons', Second Street. They're at a party, Halloween. Maybe you could trick or treat."

"Very funny," Kelly fumed. But when 9 o'clock came around, He wedged his cast into the truck and drove himself to town. When they let him in the Johnsons' house, he matched the decorations.

The kids all froze, then screamed in fear and heebie-jeebie-ations!

"The mummy!" "No, it's Frankenstein!" "It looks so realistic!" With crutch and cast and nose and scowl, it dang sure was sadistic. But the scream that topped the evening off was, in Mr. Johnson's view,

When he grabbed and jerked the bandage off and said, "Hey, I know you!"

State commission offers tips for disabled to enjoy the arts

SPECIAL TO THE JOURNAL
AUSTIN — The Texas Commission on the Arts has announced that November is Disability Arts Month in Texas. Sen. Mike Moncrief of Fort Worth authored the proclamation promoting accessibility to the arts for all people, including those that are disabled. "At the Texas Commission on the Arts, we live by a single motto — 'Art Is for Everyone,'" said Brenda Tharp, the commission's administrator for performing arts and accessibility. The designation began last November when VSA Arts of Fort Worth/Tarrant County organized "Follow the Dream," a month-long celebration of accessible arts. Members of the Texas Association of Mayors' Committee on People with Disabilities attended the conference to focus on issues of general accessibility. Information about arts accessibility is available by contacting Brenda Tharp at (512)463-5535, ext. 42334, or on the Internet at www.arts.state.tx.us; enter the virtual village and click on the ADA building.

He hopes to attend college on a basketball scholarship at either Florida or Arizona.

To make the world a better place, he would "wipe out all the bad people."

His personal motto is "Listen to your parents," and his pet peeve is "not giving 100 percent."

'After 50' exercise video and companion guide offered

SPECIAL TO THE JOURNAL
If there's anything close to the Fountain of Youth, it might be exercise!

To get older beginners started, the National Institute of Aging has produced an inexpensive, at-home-exercise program based on medical research and "road-tested" by scores of older Americans.

The 48-minute video and 100-page companion book are affordable ($7), and participants who stick with the program for a month receive a certificate of recognition from Dr. Richard J. Hodess, director of the institute.

The institute's exercise program targets aging baby boomers and seniors — 71 million Americans are 50 years or older while 34 million of them are over 65 years — because:

- Lack of exercise and poor nutrition were the second largest underlying cause of death in the U.S. in 1990;
- 25 percent of all adults undergo no physical activity at all; and
- Half of women age 75 years and older are inactive.

The exercise program emphasizes:

- Endurance exercises, which increase stamina and may help delay or prevent diabetes, colon cancer, heart disease and stroke;
 - Strength exercises, which increase metabolism helping to control weight and regulate blood sugar. Studies show they also may help prevent osteoporosis;
 - Flexibility exercises, which may help prevent and aid recovery from injuries; and
 - Balance exercises, which help prevent falls — a major cause of broken hips and other injuries that lead to disability and loss of independence.
- Reasons why institute officials believe this program is better than others include:
- It is based on sound scientific research funded by the institute;
 - It is inexpensive (the government doesn't profit from this product);
 - Participants receive an institute certificate of achievement for exercising one month;
 - Margaret Richard, who leads the exercises, is a well-known fitness guru seen on public television;

- The physically robust astronaut John Glenn endorses the institute's exercise guide;
- It is geared specifically to aging boomers and seniors;

- It emphasizes strength, flexibility, balance and endurance exercises for a well-rounded workout; and
- The participant sets the pace.

The National Institute of Aging, part of the National Institutes of Health at the Department of Health and Human Services, lead the federal effort supporting and conducting research on aging and the special medical, social and behavioral issues of older people.

A substantial part of the institute's research involves ways to prevent frailty and reduce disability with age.
