NCE upon a time," began daddy, "there was a man who owned a pe "O-o-o-o-h, daddy, a great big black bear?" asked Evelyn, with her eyes very wide open.

"Not at first, dear," said daddy. "When the man found his bear in the woods he was only a little cub, about as big as a small dog. But of course after the man had had him for awhile he became big-as big almost as the bear we saw in the menagerie last year.

When this bear, which the man named Brownie, was small he was very playful and amused the folks greatly with his tricks. He was almost as playful as your kitten. Evelyn. He would romp all over the house and follow the folks around and play with them. One of his favorite tricks was taking a ball in his four paws, hugging it close to his breast and then rolling over and over and over as though he were a ball himself.

"But when the bear was older and bigger his tricks were not so amusing. for he became quite rough. He would leap like a big dog on the people, and sometimes he would tear the dresses of the ladies and frighten them. So the man who owned the bear finally had to send him to the country to be kept.

"The man to whom Brownie was sent for caretaking owned a sled and sometimes he would have to drive through the woods. He liked to take the bear with him, but the animal did not care very much for the trip, for the road led over rough places and stumps, and Brownie received some good

"One day when Brownie and the man were driving through the woods the sled gave a jolt and made Brownie jump into the air. That did not please him, and to steady himself he caught hold of the man's shoulder with his paws. He also began to growl, and this frightened the man, although he knew that Brownie was a tame bear and was not likely to harm him. But. anyway, he became frightened and lost control of the horse. The horse began to run. This made matters much worse, for the sled bounced more and more, and Brownie and the man were shaken up worse than ever. Brownie hugged the man tighter and tighter, and the poor driver was afraid he would be squeezed to death. Luckily, however, just then the sled struck a bigger rock than ever. The sled gave a very big jolt, and Brownie was so frightened that he loosened his hold of the man and bounced right up out of the sleigh. "By and by the man was able to make the horse stop. But when he went back to look for Brownie the bear was no longer to be seen. He had run away into the woods, and be never came back."

FORTUNE

By LAWRENCE ALFRED CLAY

Katrina was a young girl, and she was one of the 50 employees in a necktie factory. She was the only girl in She was, therefore not only better and said: dressed than the others, but she had a superior education. There were some girls who called her Miss Highfly and what palpitation of the heart was." said she was setting her cap for big game, but would get left, and there were others that said if she would only have her fortune told she would be sure of a happy future.

All the other girls in the factory had had their fortunes told-some of them four times over-and all except one was to marry a hero. The one exception was a girl named Ida. She had doubted the old woman's ability to fead the future, and in return had been told that she would marry a legless man who would turn on the gas some night and both would be found dead in the morning. It was that one particular thing that vexed the rest of the girls-Katrina would not go to the old woman who told fortunes for 15 cents. If a girl had only ten she could pay the balance on the installment plan, but she must pay or expect bad luck.

"No one can tell your future," pro- replied: tested Katrina. "It is all stilly nonsense. What is to come will come." "But maybe you are going to marry

That afternoon it became known all through the shop that Katrina was to have her fortune told, and at night a score of girls accompanied her to the old woman's. The cards were shuffied, the lines of her palm examined, and then she was told:

"In a few days you will meet s young man. He will fall in love with you. He will prove to be a hero, and in time you will marry him. It is so written in your palm, and the stars will have it so. It is better to marry

ALL WANT THE CHIMES RUNG

New York Newspaper Writer Says the General Public Always Likes to Hear the Bells.

"Every event of local importance gives the general public a chance to let the chime ringers know what they think he and his bells are here for, anyhow," said one expert ringer to a Herbert Spencer holds high rank. New York newspaper writer. "He is bombarded with invitations, requests, commands, entreatles to promote the general gayety by playing his chimes.

"I have no doubt that every chime ringer in New York was petitioned by a goodly number of his fellow-citizens to turn himself loose the day Colonel Roosevelt came home. I know I was, and a large percentage of the petitioners got hopping mad because I didn't comply. I was unpatriotic, I was partisan, I was narrow-minded.

"Their objurgations were exceeding. ly bitter because I did play the day the colonel went away. I can't remember how I happened to play then, but I did.

"Every Decoration day, every Fourth of July, every celebration that calls for any kind of a parade or speechmaking or fireworks is supposed by the populace to be a fitting occasion for the chime ringer to get on the job. If the occasion is big enough he responds. The chimes of Trinity are particularly active in celebrating big events and anniversaries, but the most accommodating bell ringer has to draw the line somewhere."

Magnet for Unloading Pig Iron.

Pig iron is pretty heavy stuff and it takes a lot of tedious, back-aching labor to unload a car of it in the old way, by hand. The modern method is by the use of the electro-magnet attached to a crane, which will pick up a ton of the heavy pieces as easily as a man could one. It is said that the ordinary cost of handling a ton of pig iron by hand labor is from five to eight cents, depending upon the "carry." The lifting magnet will do the work for half a cent per ton and isn't half as apt to go on a strike. When current is turned on the magnet literally grabs a mouthful of the Iron chunks. The instant the current is switched off the magnetism departs and the magnet drops its load.

One of the Great Tragedies of Life Is the Squandering of Possibilities.

Seattle, Wash .- Capt. Sam Larsen of the schooner Bringgold, and his son William of Minneapolis, have just been reunited here after a separation of 11 years, during which Captain Larsen was thought by his family to be dead. The reunion was brought about by means of a picture show in Minneapo lis last winter, which was attended by William Larsen and his uncle. The Spokane, Wash .- Miss Mary R. uncle told William that he saw his Bloomer of Philadelphia, who won a father's spook in a fishing scene in homestead of 160 acres in the Flatthe show. Manufacturers of Crude Product in Mexico Form Organization.

Discrimination is Alleged and Foreign Dealers, Especially in United States, Are Prejudiced Against Para Product.

Torreon, Mexico. - The manufacturers of crude rubber from the guayale shrub are forming a strong organization, which has for its purpose the fixing of the price that shall be paid for the product and to protect themselves against the discriminations which they allege is being practised against this kind of rubber in the principal markets of the world, particularly in the United States.

The guayule rubber manufacturing companies and individuals composing this new combine represent a capital aggregating about $65,000,000 gold that is now invested in the industry in Northern Mexico. The combined capacity of the manufacturing plants is about 800 tons of crude rubber daily. The reports of the different factories show that those located in the state gating $12,000,000 during the first four months of this year, and that this is to be still further increased by the erection of new factories of large ca-

Remarkable Record of Shooting 3,000 Cougars.

Spokane, Wash .- Tom Hopper, who has killed more than 2,000 bears in California, Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Montana and the province of British Columbia in the last 85 years, has returned to his home in Spokane from Kingston, Idaho, with the pelts of four bears, including the largest cinnamon bear ever killed in Idaho, and two cougars, the result of three days' work with a pack of hounds.

The big bear was killed on Pine creek, south of Kingston, after a lively battle, in which several of the dogs were severely pawed. The hounds were game, however, and stood their ground till Hopper reach the scene and dispatched the big fellow with a head shot. The other three bears and the cougars were bagged without much difficulty, though Hopper admits that one of the black bears showed a lot of fight

Even with the use of the abreviated type the work consists of five ponderous folio volumes. Among the first orders for the new work was one from
