an a year ago.
At the start of the week the trade in beef steers ruled sluggish and a decline of 10 to 15 cents was noted on practically all grades of fat steers. With the middle days of the week there was a better tone developed and for the final days there has been strength enough to recover the de-cline on all kinds of steers unless it is on the big heavy grades and these are hardly steady with the opening of the week. The market is considered as in fair condition at the close of the week and in shape to use moderate supplies for the coming week, although it is not advisable for the country to crowd the market for the week before the Christmas holidays. The best cattle here for the week were some handy weights of good quality that sold at $6.35 and there ave been a few loads that have been the fat steers have been of the light and handy weights that have been selling between $5.25 and $6.00. It should be remembered that it is taking quite good cattle to get at or over the $6.00 mark at present, although the price does not mark the limit for what fully finished smooth quality would bring; there have been none of the latter kind sold here during the week. Common to fair kinds of light killers have been selling at $4.50 % selling at $6.00@ 6.25, but the bulk of the fat steers have been of the light has been ready sale.

The buyers took an inning today week. Common to fair kinds of light killers have been selling at $4.50\( \text{$\pi$}\) but anything in the light line that carries feeder merit has been finding outlet to the country trade and buyers got together the supply was cleared out in short time. The supply for the week at this point will show an increase of 4700 over last COWS. BULLS AND MIXED.

In the she stock trade there has been considerable unevenness during the week and the close finds some of the big heavy grades of cows selling

Mr. Carnegie's gift of $11,500,000 for a peace foundation, which shall attempt to abolish war between nations, was mentioned frequently and not impressed by the man-killing apparatus which he recently saw at paratus which he recently saw at the military academy, but suggested that if the abolition of war removed from the country one of its chief instruments of developing manly courage, "the American people might substitute football as an exciting alternative." Andrew Carnegie made the final speech of the evening. He said in nal specth of the evening. He said in preface to his speech:

"We must get a code of international law and it pleases me greatly that perhaps I have placed within reach some money that may contribute to the success of the work."

Developing his subject, "The Moral Issue in War," Mr. Carnegie characterized "the appeal to conscinece, not to the pocket," as the paramount question. He declared that the "enormous sums nations are now seemiling." mous sums nations are now spending upon instruments for war are ominously excessive," and added that he

FOR WINTER SHORT COURSE

Next Term At Columbia Begins On January 3.

The next term of the short winter course in agriculture begins at Columbia January 3, 1911. The first term, which began November first, is just coming to a close with the largest enrollment in the history of the University of Missouri. 176 men have been studying agriculture for two months, in the laboratories, demonstration rooms, lecture halls, barns, stables and fields of the Missouri College of Agriculture. This is a 500 per cent increase over the enrollment in the same term last year.

It should be understood that the

That made daddy laugh. "No, son," he answered; "it wasn't lost, but the ople who lived in Europe did not know that America was here. They did not know that there was any land on this side of the ocean. Most of them did not even know that the world is round like a ball and that it is possible to sail around it. Even Columbus did not know that he had discovered a new country by simply sailing to the west after he left Spain. He thought that the country he reached was only a part of Asia.

When Columbus returned from his first voyage across the ocean great honors were paid to him. All the people were anxious to see the man who had been brave enough to sall where no white man had been before his time. But some folks became envious of him. Takes Servant Girl to Be Really Intimate With Members of Household.

SOMETHING NEW.

Sometimes I feel as if no other folks on earth had quite as good a chance to know all the kinds of people on it as servant girls. Maybe policemen do -they're always going into unexpected places, an' seein' folks in what Miss Lens, which was the fourth from the last place I lived, called dishabil. It means not fixed up to receive company, with the parlor dusted, an' the lamps filled, an' high-heeled slippers an' silk stockings on, an' hair waved, but just bein' caught in your old shirtwaist with no collar, an' your shoes down at the heel, an' quarrelin' with your mother about something. But, of course, you'd know what dishabil' me nt without my tellin' you.

Not even a policeman, though, sees the dishabilled people the way we servants do. He comes when there's trouble an' everything is excitement, an' he can't tell whether they skimp on family dinners so as to have a caterer for company ones, or whether their underclothes are the cheapest things from the bargain counters so as they can spend more money on the outside ones. It takes a servant girl to be really intimate with all the little ways of a family, an' sometimes it's so interestin', ma'am, that you're half inclined to think you'll stay a servant girl all your life, just for the free entertainment you get, an' then again, you feel so tired of it that you'd jump of the pier if you thought you'd have to spend many more days in other people's kitchens,-Smith's Magazine.

Not Ready to Be Finished. The physician of an uptown hos pital in Philadelphia had a surprise the other day over a patient supposedly suffering from a fractured skull. He was taken to the operating room in a semi-conscious condition. Two of the surgical chiefs were there and one of them was just about to begin work on the man when a telegram was handed to him.

After reading it, he turned to the other with the remark, "My father is critically ill in New York; you must finish this fellow."

Barley and rye were fourth in produc-tion and potatoes fourth in value. The man was sufficiently conscious Fifth in production was wheat and to hear what was said and, misunderstanding the import of the word "finish," jumped from the table and rushed out.

Exhausted Bird Joins Fishermen on Board Fishing Boat Angler-Tenderly Cared for.

New York.-The fishing boat Angler went out to the banks for fish and came back with a pigeon. She had a big crowd of amateur fishermen on board, and while steaming about for a good place to drop lines John Voltz, a deckhand, saw a pigeon flopping about in the gale as if wounded.

The bird made a desperate effort to get to the Angler, and despite the fact that there was enough noise and hilarity aboard to scare a tame cat, the bird gave no heed and dropped helpless on the deck. Voltz picked up the pigeon and put it in a box in the cabin, giving it water and oatmeal.
