CATTLE.

Better Tone to Trade Than at Opening of Week.

There was only a small run of cattle here today and nothing to change conditions of trade. Business was of a small clean-up character at Thursday's basis of prices. Conditions are a little more favorable than at the opening of the week and the coming week should see a fair market for a moderate supply next week.

For the week the trade is closing with the general market tone a little more encouraging to the selling interest than at the start of the week. In most instances of steers the decline noted on opening days of the week has been regained and the whole tone of the trade is more active and healthy than at the close of last week. For the week there has been a small falling off in the total of cattle being marketed compared with last week and a year ago. The local total shows a decrease of less than 1000 compared with last week but it is 3400 short of figures for the same time of the year. At the five leading primary markets the total is 180,000 and is 9000 less than for last week and 23,900 less than a year ago.

At the start of the week the trade in beef steers ruled sluggish and a decline of 10 to 15 cents was noted on practically all grades of fat steers. With the middle days of the week there was a better tone developed and for the final days there has been strength enough to recover the decline on all kinds of steers unless it is on the big heavy grades and these are hardly steady with the opening of the week. The market is considered as in fair condition at the close of the week and in shape to use moderate supplies for the coming week, although it is not advisable for the country to crowd the market for the week before the Christmas holidays.

The best cattle here for the week were some heavy weights of good quality that sold at $6.35 and there have been a few loads that have been selling at $6.00 to $6.25, but the bulk of the fat steers have been of the light and handy weights that have been selling between $5.25 and $5.00. It should be remembered that it is taking quite good cattle to get at or over the $6.00 mark at present, although the price does not mark the limit for what fully finished smooth quality would bring; there have been none of the latter kind sold here during the week. Common to fair kinds of light killers have been selling at $4.50 to $5.00 but anything in the light line that carries feeder merit has been finding outlet to the country trade and has been ready sale.

COWS, HEIFERS AND MIXED.

In the cow stock trade there has been considerable unevenness during the week and the close finds most of the big heavy grades of cows selling lower than at the start of the week, 10 to 15 cents not more than covering the decline. It is noted that the she stock coming in showing more corn and than a short time ago; it is better goods and the sales on paper are showing up higher than they did some weeks ago. It is a case of the buyers getting better goods for their money. The market is in fair condition at the finish at the close of the week but has been getting a little too heavy cows. During the week

1000 pound cows and around that weight have sold as high as $5.00 and quite a number of good heifers have made up to $5.25 with choice steers and heifers mixed making $5.60. But there are not many cows selling above $4.60 and heifers above $4.75, the bulk going in a range of $4.00 to $4.60.

Good fat heifers are quotable at $4.75 to $5.50; bulk are selling at $4.40 to $4.75, and common kinds at about $3.50 to $4.00. Best cows sell up as high as $5.00 but there are not many coming that sell above $4.75 and the bulk of fat cows are going at $4.00 to $4.50 with common and cutters ranging down as low as $3.25 and under.

There has been no material change in the market for veals, $8.25 continuing to be the top price paid for these with the bulk of veals at $6.00 to $8.00. Heavy calves are some lower than a week ago, the stocker trade having been lighter.

STOCKERS AND FEEDERS.

In a general way conditions in this branch of the trade this week have been favorable for a good active trade, and such has been the case on all days. Supplies have been limited, owing to light cattle receipts, and with the country demand of such proportions as to take supplies as fast as the close movement with these kinds of traders have been kept on the jump to supply the demand. This was another week when weight did not cut much here, although during the forepart of the week buyers were inclined to discriminate against the big heavy-fleshed cattle and light stock calves, but as receipts got lighter toward the close movement with these kinds became easier. Most of the strength noted at the close today is on the medium weights, although the heavy weight cattle are in good demand, there is not much improvement in quotations as compared with last week's close.

Good to choice feeding steers are quotable at $4.00 to $5.25; medium to good grades $4.00 to $4.50; good to fancy stock steers $4.50 to $5.00, and common to fair $3.50 to $4.25; stock heifers $4.75 to $5.50 for fat to strictly good kinds, stock cows $3.00 to $3.50, and stock calves $4.25 to $5.50.

HOGS.

Market For Week Closes On Lower Turn, Steady to Nickel Off.

While there was not a big Saturday supply of hogs at the leading primary markets, there were enough for the packers to force a lower close for the final market of the week. At the start there was some buying at close to steady prices compared with yesterday but for the bulk of the early market it was a weak to 3 cents lower deal and some of the supply that did not arrive until late in the day had to sell 5 to 10 cents lower than the market basis of Friday. This basis of prices puts the closing market of the week about 5 cents higher than last day of the week but 15 cents lower than the close last week. The market is in comparatively good condition and it is evident that the packers are not getting the supplies they were expecting for December.

Total for the week at this market is 31,000 against 25,471 for last week, 34,183 a month ago, 50,053 a year ago, 13,737 a year ago, 31,737 three years ago and 42,925 four years ago. The aggregate at the five markets for the week is 350,000, against 285,300 last week, 293,500 a month ago, 417,900 a year ago, 418,700 two years ago, 369,400 three years ago and 347,400 four years ago.

Prices ranged from $7.10 to $7.65, with the bulk selling at $7.50 to $7.60. The bulk yesterday sold at $7.50 to $7.60, a week ago at $7.65 to $7.70, a month ago at $7.20 to $7.30, a year ago at $8.15 to $8.50, two years ago at $8.10 to $8.50, three years ago at $4.30 to $4.40, four years ago at $6.15 to $6.22 1/2.

NO TINKERING ADVISABLE.

News from the seat of government is to the effect that it is still uncer-tified as to whether or not there is to be any tinkering with the tariff during the session. A few years ago a certain candidate for the presidency was ridiculed from one end of this country to the other because he said "the tariff question is a local issue." In other words the tariff will not suit one part of the country will not suit another, and the tariff that will bring prosperity to one part of the land will work a hardship upon another according to the doctrine that was once a subject of ridicule. If proof of this were needed it is at hand in the clamor of the eastern seaboard centers of population for the admission of meats of foreign origin to this country free of duty, while the stockmen of the west are fearful that something may be done to interfere with the tariff and injure the business of raising cattle and hogs.
If recent tariff legislation upon the matter of hides and its effect upon the price of shoes to the wearer may be taken as a criterion, it does not appear that the free admission of beef to this country would lower the price of meat to the consumer, while the cattlemen of the west can see nothing but ruin to them in a removal of the tariff on meats. And so the thing works out in other commodities. Cotton manufacturers think they ought to be favored with cheap raw materials while the cotton raiser of the southern states can see ruin in a removal of the tariff on imported cotton. It works out that the doctrine of years ago that the tariff is a local issue has somewhat of logic to it after all. At any rate it is doubtful if any tinkering with the tariff bill in congress causes curtailment of industrial operations in this country, capital becomes conservative and waits to see what congress is going to do, with the result that business becomes stagnated, times become hard and the average consumer has more trouble buying necessities at low prices than he has when the price is up and business is healthy.

Mrs. Jones Knew Why.
Mr. Smith was conversing with Mr.
Jones.
"Say," said Smith, "do you know why it is you are like a donkey?"
"No," said Jones in surprise.
"Why, because your better half is stubbornness itself," said the brilliant Smith.
Jones thought over the matter all the way home, and on arriving he looked at Mrs. Jones with the expression of a man who is about to do himself proud, and said:
"Say, do you know why I am like a donkey?"
There was a long silence from Mrs.
Jones, and then she smiled pityingly, and said:
"Why, I suppose it is because you were born that way."

Sailors Rescue Seal Orphans.
Seattle, Wash.—The revenue cutter Bear, the last steamer to leave Bering sea, arrived here the other day, bringing ten orphan fur seal pups, whose mothers were killed by Japanese poachers. The pups, reared by sailors on the Bear, will be sent to Washington, where experiments in feeding them will be made.
Mother seals will feed only their own babies, but men on the Bear discovered that if a ligament hampering the baby's tongue is lanced the teeth are available at once and the pup will eat fish.

BLACK BOG OF KILBARRON

Corner in the County of Kildare, Ireland, Dear to Those Who Know It.

The black bog of Kilbarron, in the County Kildare, Ireland, lies five long miles from either railway or postoffice and is considered to be at the "back of beyant entirely."

There are three styles of dwellings in the black bog, says the Rosary Magazine, houses, cottages and cabins. The houses are quaint, rambling edifices owned by the farmers, who still hold to olden styles and ancient ways unmindful of the great modern note which is sweeping through Ireland today.

The cottages belong to the government and are rented to laborers at a very low rate, while the cabins are simply relics of the old regime, just clay huts roofed with straw. There are very few of the latter standing in Ireland now.

The black bog is a dangerous place for night ramblers, as it abounds in deep holes full of inky water. But some warm summer evening after sunset, when the white fogs are rising all around, go down there all you who are city bred, and find out how good that springy sod will feel to your cramped feet.

Try a short Marathon along those winding pathways, you who are weary of life's treadmill, and see if you do not get to feeling like a young colt just let loose in a clover pasture. On some misty day in October go down there among the brown heather and let the long, clean, wet winds blow the furrows from your forehead while the raindrops are pattering on the bracken like the wee feet of the fairies themselves.

Always enchanting, always beautiful, even if it is at the "back of beyant," the charm of this old bog will twine itself round your heart with a lure strong enough to draw you back to the wilds of Kilbarron for evermore.

ICE HEAVIER THAN WATER

Water Frozen Under Immense Pressure Produces Ice That Will Not Float.

All know that ordinary ice will float.
This relative lightness of ice with respect to water is due to expansion of the water at the moment of freezing.
If water is frozen under immense pressure, it seems that this expansion is prevented and ice heavier than water is produced.

G. Tamman has prepared this modification, which he calls ice III, as follows: He compressed water to 3,000 kilograms (5,614 pounds) and cooled it in solid carbon dioxide snow and finally in liquid air. Under these conditions, a colorless, transparent ice is formed.
It is much denser than ordinary ice and heavier than water, consequently it sinks when placed in water. Ice III is very unstable, and on slight warming it swells out and breaks up into a dense white powder. The volume of the resulting powder is apparently four to eight times that of the original ice.
This powder formed by the breaking up of the dense form is nothing more than ordinary ice in the form of fine crystals, which of course on further warming melt at zero degrees centi-grade.

Experiments on ice III show that it is impossible to obtain it by separation from water at atmospheric pressure and then suddenly cooling. There would never be a possibility of this unstable form of solid water being formed in nature.—Sunday Magazine.

A Rebuke to False Pride.

"The late John S. Huyler," said a New York confectioner, "was, for all his millions and all his philanthropy, a man of shrinking modesty.
Though he came of an excellent family, Mr. Huyler laughed at those persons who, in a democracy like ours, boasted of their ancient lineage."

"A banker once declared in Mr.
Huyler's presence that he was descended from the princes of Powys —Wales, seventh century, you know.
"Is that so," drawled Mr. Huyler. "Yet I heard a man tell your brother the other day that he could trace his family back to the days of armor and shirts of chain mail."
"My wife made me stop my tracing when I got back to shirt sleeves and overalls."

Sign Posts for Aviators.

A German aeronaut has devised a system of orientation which will help the German aviator, at least, in finding his way through the air. Each German province is provided with a number, and every community is provided with a letter. A guide book to be carried by the aviator contains a list of provinces and towns similarly designated. Thus, if an aviator sees the character "40 A" painted upon the roof of a house in Rhineau he knows immediately where he is by referring to his book. At night these signs are to be illuminated. The system is now actually being installed in Germany.

New York Water Power.

New York state's total water power, without including that of the Niagara and St. Lawrence rivers, has been estimated at 1,500,000-horse power. Eight hundred and eighty thousand of this is undeveloped. The New York water supply commission has recently recommended that the state expend $20,000, 000 to develop this water power, which it estimates would return an annual profit of $1,400,000.

ever obtained was undoubtedly the photograph of the actual exploding of the bomb which was thrown at the king and queen of Spain on the occasion of their Majesties' wedding. It was secured by an operator for one of the largest firms of press photographers.

The photograph proved a veritable gold mine, for it appeared in close on three thousand publications, including, of course, foreign, Colonial, and American journals.

The photograph was secured more or less by a piece of good luck, says the Strand. The operator was on a stand with his camera in the place allotted to him by the police, waiting for the procession to appear; the camera was placed facing down the street up which the procession was to come. From the moment it came in sight until the royal carriage was within about thirty yards of him the operator secured three pictures. He then readjusted the camera so as to get a good picture of the king and queen in their carriage, which was about ten yards from him. At the same instant as the operator pressed the ball and exposed a plate a dark object was hurled at the royal carriage from a balcony window, and then followed instantly a blinding flash and a noise like a thunder-clap. The operator was hurled half-stunned to the ground his camera following him. When he was able to stand he saw a terrible scene below him. The large crowd was stampeding in all directions. Anyone luckless enough to fall in that storm of rushing humanity was instantly trampled to death, and several did fall. Some thirty people in all were killed on that occasion, of whom at least half were simply crushed or trampled to death in the panic that followed on the explosion. It is very remarkable that all the plates in the operator's camera were broken with the exception of the last one he had exposed, which depicted the actual scene at the moment of the explosion.

Caesar's Lament.

The wild beasts gnashed their teeth and roared like a circus callopie; the gladiators shouted hoarsely; the arena was knee-deep with gore.

In the amphitheater the pleasure-seeking populace clamored tumultuously.

"More blood! More death!" they yelled ferociously.

Great Caesar in his private box heard their cry and sighed.

"Would that I might grant their prayer," he muttered, "if only—and imploringly he raised his eyes heavenward—"I could pull off an automobile cup race!"

Great Caesar wept.

For with all his boasted power he was unable to hasten the flight of time.

Her Anxiety.

"She grieved sincerely over his business failure."

"What! After the way he abused her and drove her to the divorce court?"

"Yes, after all that."

"Well, what in the world is the woman thinking of?"

"Her alimony."

You'll Enjoy Your Christmas Twice as Much if You Use These Rare Old Wines and Whiskies

Of all seasons of the year Christmas is the one that warms the cockles of your heart. It's a time when old friendships are renewed, when friends meet as true friends, when differences are forgotten and buried. Good fellowship is the password with all. It's the season when fine old wines and whiskies are necessary to a perfect enjoyment of the occasion. They add zest to the feast, sharpen the wits and kindle the recollections. But these wines must be of good vintage, the whiskies must be pure and be the finest examples of the distillers' art.

A Personal Greeting from Mr. Samuel Binswanger:

I want to extend to everyone of our many customers my heartiest wishes for a Merry Christmas and a Happy, Prosperous New Year. I would like to personally give you this greeting, but, of course, that is impossible. But, I will tell you what I want to do—

I Want to Give Every-One of You a Christmas Gift.

I want everyone of you to accept from me a bottle of rare old whiskey as a token of my appreciation of your friendship. I hope you will enjoy this gift. It is rich and rare—it is, in fact, a private brand which I keep for myself and is not offered for sale. I, myself, will see that this bottle of special stock is packed with your order for any of these assortments listed.
