A MATTER TO MEDITATE UPON.

We don't believe we would relish the honor of being one of the audience at the Norton county (Kansas) fair the other day that taunted and hooded Aviator Frisbie and caused his death.

The southwestern run of quarantine cattle was put back at least 40 days by drought and this applies to beef from Kansas pastures as well as below the quarantine line.

THE FINEST OF THE KIND.

An immense majority of the people of any community can be benefited educationally by such an exhibition as will be put on in South St. Joseph the week of September 25-30, inclusive.

No man is so well informed upon any subject that he cannot learn more if he but will put himself in line with the source of the information. This is just as true of the specialist as of the layman. And the great live stock exhibit now being made ready will be as entertaining to the connoisseur who has thousands of dollars invested in thoroughbreds as to the small dairyman, or to the man who has one driving horse and wishes to replace it with a better bred and more serviceable beast.

Her Domestic Tyrant

By Carl Jenkins

Some folks wondered at the marriage between Stephen Roberts and Clara Colby, and others admitted that it might be a good thing.

It was weeks after the wedding before there was a clash. The husband made a suggestion now and then, instead of commanding or nagging.

She Was Also Frightened.

all say it's a shame for your husband to lay the law down to you as he does. "But he doesn't. He has never tried to boss me one single time."

"You used to be out every afternoon." "He just thought it was a little too much."

"You haven't been to the club in four weeks." "Stephen said he'd rather stay home."

"You didn't ride out all last week." "But we haven't a carriage of our own, you know, and the hired ones are very expensive."

LET GO! I want it decided right here and now. "So do I!" Mrs. Roberts left the table and went over to the east window.

Broken Leg of Little Bird Is Placed in Plaster Cast—Tapped at Window for Admission. Boston—If the pigeon patient whose leg has been in a plaster cast at the Relief hospital for 11 days were able to talk probably the first thing it would do after its "discharge" from the hospital would be to fly to Emerton Square, the general meeting place of the pigeons, and tell the others what a wonderful thing surgery is.

The pigeon at the Relief hospital had the plaster cast taken from its leg by Dr. Shedd this morning. There were many surgeons present and they manifested no little interest in the work of Dr. Shedd, who has taken considerable interest in the case of the helpless pigeon, which tapped its bill repeatedly against the window of the hospital until an attendant came to its assistance.

The pigeon was "admitted" and Dr. Shedd, after setting the injured leg, placed it in a cast, also placing the right leg in a cast.

The bird has been given much attention and has been an ideal patient. The bird was taken to a private room and Dr. Shedd and Mr. Hartigan, the attendant, placed it on an "operating table" and removed the cast.

The pigeon was "admitted" and Dr. Shedd, after setting the injured leg, placed it in a cast, also placing the right leg in a cast.

Berlin—A house swallow was netted last autumn by a householder at Waltham, near Mulhausen. The captor wrote a note on very thin paper and fastened it under a feather of the bird's wing before letting the captive go free.

SCENE AT WEDDING

Angry Mother Grabs Justice by Trousers Leg.

Make Desperate Effort to Prevent Marriage of Son in Public at Picnic—Flying Wedge Formed by Business Men.

St. Louis.—A public wedding at the West End Business Men's picnic at Normandy grove was almost prevented by the determined mother of the bridegroom, who tried to pull Justice Werremeyer off the platform during the ceremony as a last desperate resort. But he went ahead with the ceremony and completed it.

The principals in the wedding were John Minstermann and Miss Minnie Grochowski, both of 1304 North Twelfth street, and the mother is Mrs. Roberts, who has married a second time. Her full name was not learned by Justice Werremeyer or the officers of the association.

Mrs. Roberts and an uncle of the young man called Justice Werremeyer up at noon at his home and told him the young man was under age. Mrs. Roberts said she intended to stop the marriage if she had to go to law to do it. Werremeyer replied that if the marriage license had been properly issued he would perform the ceremony.

When Werremeyer reached the picnic grounds at 2:30 p. m. he found that Mrs. Roberts had preceded him, and was in the kitchen at the home of Gene Guerre, proprietor of the Garden, arguing with her son and weeping.

The wedding had been set for 6 p. m., but there was so much trouble getting Minstermann away from his mother that it was postponed until 8 p. m. The bride meantime arrayed herself in her wedding gown and veil and waited in readiness.

By sending a man to the Guerre home with a fictitious message for Mrs. Roberts that an officer of the company wanted to see her, the young man was for the moment separated from her. About 100 business men formed a flying wedge, and with him in the center proceeded to the platform built for the ceremony. On the way the bride was admitted to the center of the wedge.

Mrs. Roberts, perceiving that she had been fooled, tried in vain to break into the wedge. The men in the wedge formed themselves about the platform to guard it. As Werremeyer started to pronounce the ceremony, Mrs. Roberts cried loudly: "I forbid this marriage," but he paid no heed to her.

Mrs. Roberts got to the edge of the platform and caught Werremeyer's trousers leg in an effort to pull him off. A man standing near him helped brace him, he says, and saved the day. He shouted the ceremony and got through with it without further interference.

The couple dined at the garden and were brought in an automobile to a St. Louis hotel. They received $100 for marrying in public, transportation for a trip to the lakes and a certificate for furniture for a home on their return.

CALL STUDENTS SOD BUSTERS

Amherst Girls Have New Name for Those Seeking Agricultural Lore—Clearer Distinction Needed.

Amherst, Mass.—"Sod busters" is the appellation coined by Smith and Mount Holyoke college young women to designate Massachusetts Agricultural college students. Heretofore the distinction between the town's two colleges has been Amherst and Amherst Aggie.

The college girls decided that a clearer distinction was needed between mere aspirants for agricultural lore and cultured young striving for athletic honors, and an "A. B." degree as a side inducement. "Sod buster" answered all purposes, and also had the advantage of being expressive.

The Amherst man, the young woman in the neighboring colleges explain, usually wears tailor made clothes and can dance with grace. The "sod buster," it is unblushingly averred, has neither of these attainments, and, moreover, is frequently addicted to gorgeous hosiery.

FINDS DUCK THIEF A TURTLE

New Jersey Farmer Finally Fixes Guilt on 47-Pound Amphibian and Kills It After Fight.

Pleasantville, N. J.—During the last two months Harry Vincent, a farmer near here, has missed 20 ducks and a dozen ducklings. The traps he set failed to land the quarry, but while watching his ducks in the lake he saw the largest one struggle and finally disappear. The other ducks swam hastily to shore. Vincent rowed about the lake for some time and discovered a snapping turtle dragging the duck ashore. Armed with clubs and a shotgun, after a battle which lasted half an hour, Vincent and his farm hands killed it. It tipped the scales at 47 pounds. Feathers of the other fowl and five young turtles were found near by.

Frog Eats Many Files.

STOPS TRAIN WITH MATCHES

Brakeman With Both Legs Broken Escapes Further Injury in Novel Manner—Died on Operating Table.

Chicago.—Lighted matches were successfully used the other night by H. Zillamb, a brakeman, to stop a freight train and save himself from being crushed to death as he lay helpless on the Illinois Central tracks at One Hundred and Forty-seventh street, both legs having been broken by a fall from another train. Zillamb's presence of mind is declared by railroad officials to be worthy of special mention, although his heroic efforts to save his own life proved unavailing, death following two hours later at a hospital.

Zillamb was riding on the rear of a north-bound Illinois Central freight and was thrown off by a sudden lurch. He rolled on one of the south-bound tracks in great agony, both legs being crushed. Another freight train was chundering down on him as he lay on the tracks and although he made frantic efforts to pull himself away from the steel rails he could move hardly an inch.

Finding that his hands were free he managed to reach into a pocket and, taking out a box of matches, feverishly struck them against the rails, several at a time, and held them up in the air to attract the attention of the engineer of the freight that was fast approaching. The box was quickly emptied, but the engineer had seen the unusual signal and brought his locomotive to a stop within a few feet of Zillamb. He was taken up and carried to St. Francis hospital, Blue Island, but he died on the operating table.

MUSIC TO REFORM CONVICTS

Orchestra Leader is Appointed to Make Novel Experiment in the Atlanta Federal Prison.

Atlanta, Ga.—Believing that music has the power to work a reformation in the hearts of convicts, the United States department of justice is trying an experiment at the Atlanta federal prison. J. P. Matthiessen, of Atlanta, a director of several orchestras in the city and a composer, has recently been appointed by Attorney-General Wickersham to take charge of the musical feature of the prison work.

For some time past there has been an orchestra at the prison, but there was no trained man to lead it. The men were so deeply interested in the work of the orchestra, however, and it seemed to give them so much pleasure, that Warden Moyer believed it would eventually aid at least in bringing them to a better kind of life. With this end in view he asked for the appointment of an orchestra leader.

An examination was held under civil service rules and Matthiessen got the place. He has found the interest intense. He intends to organize a band, in the near future, as well as the orchestra. New music is being obtained every day. Warden Moyer is well pleased with the progress up to date.

THEY BELIEVED IT POISON

American Made Very Ill by Strong Emetic Forced Into Him—Had Not Contemplated Suicide.

Paris.—An American resident in Paris had an unpleasant experience at the Casino at Enghien the other day. He was playing baccarat on a system of his own. By this system he loses only a fixed sum. When that is gone he refuses to stake any more.

He had reached his limit of losses and, turning to a lady next to him, said: "There goes my last louis. I shall not play any more." At the same moment he took a little box out of his pocket and slipped a white lozenge into his mouth. Four attendants instantly caught him from behind, lifted him out of his chair and carried him to the police station. The doctor in attendance there poured a strong emetic down his throat, and the poor man became very ill, indeed.

It was not until too late that he was allowed to explain the lozenge was quinine. The casino authorities thought he had lost his last louis in a literal sense and had decided to "save his life" without allowing him time to explain he was not taking poison.

HEART IS ON THE RIGHT SIDE

Physicians Report That Other Organs Are Transposed in a Strange Baltimore Case.

Baltimore, Md.—One of the most remarkable cases in medical history in this state has been found in the case of Miss Mabel Smith, pretty and sixteen, of Easton, Md., who is at the University hospital.

Miss Smith entered the institution recently and an operation was deemed necessary at once. By means of the X-rays the physicians found that the girl's heart and spleen were on the right side instead of the left, and that the liver, instead of being on the left side, was on the right. It was said by the physicians that only a few cases like this have been reported in this country.

The operation was entirely successful, and despite the irregular positions of the three organs the girl will return home within a few days.

NOTABLE FISH BOOK

Scientific and Literary Work of Much Magnitude.

Task Begun Years Ago by Dr. C. H. Eigenmann, Dean of Graduate School of Indiana University, Nearing Completion.

Pittsburg.—A scientific and literary task of much magnitude, which was begun several years ago by Mr. C. H. Eigenmann, curator of fishes at the graduate school of Indiana university, is nearing completion and will appear in book form in the near future.

Dr. Eigenmann is known as an authority upon the fresh water fish of South America. August 28, 1903, accompanied by an assistant, he sailed from New York for British Guiana, South America, arriving in Georgetown September 6. During the fall and winter following he explored the rivers of British Guiana and brought home nearly 40,000 specimens.

Selections from every species were reserved for the Carnegie museum. The remaining duplicates were distributed in exchange for collections from different countries, the exchange being made with the United States National museum, the Field museum of Chicago Museum of Comparative Zoology of Harvard university, the British museum in London, the Royal museum in Berlin, the Imperial museum in Vienna, the Natural museum of France, and many others. In this way, the collection of the Carnegie museum has been greatly enlarged.

One important and interesting result of Professor Eigenmann's expedition was the discovery of more than 100 species of fresh water fishes new to science. These "types" made the Carnegie museum the possessor of about 500 species of the 2,500 known. This is a remarkable accomplishment, in view of the fact that the Carnegie museum is the youngest of the world's great scientific institutions of this character. A type in scientific parlance is the particular specimen of an object in the natural world which is used as a basis for the first scientific description of it.

The results of Dr. Eigenmann's explorations are about to be published as volume five of the "Memoirs of the Carnegie Museum." Dr. W. J. Holland, director, and Dr. Eigenmann have been busily engaged the last few weeks in arranging the manuscript and the plates. The work will appear in large quarto form and will be illustrated by 104 pictures, giving figures of nearly 300 species of the fresh water fishes of British Guiana.

The frontispiece is a photograph of the great Kaitere falls on the Potaro river. This stream, which is a large one in the Ohio at Pittsburg, leaves the upper plateau of British Guiana by a leap of 741 feet into the deep canyon.

This waterfall, it is said, has not been seen by more than 50 white men since its discovery 100 years ago.

Dr. Eigenmann ascended the Potaro, led by Indians in canoes, until he came near the falls. Leaving his frail craft behind him, he climbed to the highlands, explored the vicinity of the falls, obtained new boats from the natives and continued southward along the upper reaches of the river. His aim was to ascertain whether there existed on the broad highlands a different fauna from that found in the lowlands. To some extent he found this to be the case.

The book will be an important contribution to the ichthyology of South America.

FARMER SPANKS THREE GIRLS

Catches Fair Ones Stealing His Cherries and Gets Busy in Old-Fashioned Way—They Escape.

Trenton, N. J.—Three pretty girls of Trenton who were surprised by a farmer of Morrisville, Pa., while making a raid on his cherries and currants, fled from his orchard, leaving behind a pair of shoes and stockings and a fancy pocketbook containing 31 cents. Dr. William H. Kunsmann, in his capacity of justice of the peace, has the purse.

The farmer, who does not disclose his name because he has to depend on Trentonians for his customers, also administered a spanking to the girls. The fair raiders escaped without their identity being discovered, but they created much excitement while running through Morrisville.

GOLD DUST MAKES BLONDES

Women Do Not Dye Their Hair Golden Nowadays, but Seek Methods of Securing Bright Effect.

London.—The fashion for gold which has shown itself in the beautiful cloths of gold, especially for use at court functions, has led to a revival of the sprinkling of the hair with gold dust.

"Gold dust is now used to brighten the coiffure for evening wear, but more extensively for occasions when fancy dress is worn," said a well-known Bond street hairdresser.

"Women do not dye their hair golden nowadays, but they seek methods of giving the natural color a bright effect. Gold dust can be most effectively used for fair hair or hair of a light brown shade."
