

CATTLE TRADE BETTER

MODERATE RECEIPTS AND BRISK DEMAND CREATE A STRONGER TONE TO TRADE.

PRICES FIRM TO 10c HIGHER

Nothing Choice Offered—Cows and Heifers Steady to 10c Up—Stock Cattle Steady, Supply Light.

Beef cattle trade today showed better form than on the opening day of the week, a moderate supply changing hands comparatively freely at prices strong to 10c higher than on the previous session.

Estimates called for 2,000 cattle at this point, of which about 900 head were from the range districts. The live market reported a total of 2,290 cattle as compared with 27,400 a week ago and 32,100 a year ago.

Early buyers from Chicago indicated a grocery market there, the after effect of yesterday's excessive run. Other markets were reported opening slow.

Good to choice feeding steers are quotable at $2.25 to $2.50; medium to good grades, $1.50 to $2.00; common to stock steers, $1.00 to $1.50.

LOOK TO WHITE RIVER DAM. Plants to Move to Country Where Cotton Is at Hand and Water Power Plentiful and Cheap.

Springfield, Mo., Nov. 28.—That the development of water power of the New River in a cotton producing section in the establishment in Southwestern Missouri of big industries for the manufacture of cotton goods.

Taney, Omak, Howell and Oregon counties for years have been coming to the front in cotton producing sections and according to official estimates many million pounds of seed cotton are grown in this section each year.

Relative to the power of the Ozark country for such enterprises, the statistics of the state bureau, among other things, show the following data.

Most of Missouri's surplus cotton after it leaves the gin is shipped in 500-pound bales, either by boat or rail to Memphis, where it is further compressed, sent to a gulf port and from there by an ocean steamer to the New England states to be made up into cloth.

While Missouri already holds high rank as a manufacturing state, there is no telling how great a future is ahead when all of the wasted energy of the Ozarks is put to use.

ADDED COLOR TO THE SCENE

Amusing Incident Occurred When Dog Began Barking in Critical Act of Play.

An amusing story is told in the Neue Pester Journal of the recent production in Budapest by Prof. Max Reinhardt of the tragedy "King Oedipus."

At the most thrilling point of the play, when the king is discovered sitting alone in the plague stricken city, a dog suddenly began barking furiously at the back of the stage.

Reinhardt fumed and raged at this interruption at the critical moment, sent messages to the stage manager and finally went himself to stop the row.

The next day the papers printed enthusiastic accounts of the really brilliant bit of stage management, the fearsome howling of the ownerless dogs in the deserted city!

The Spirit of Dawn

By Martha McCulloch-Williams

(Copyright, 1911, by Associated Literary Press.)

Blood lines are far-flung. The pull of them had brought Sara from the western range, Elizabeth from remote Texas...

Most of all they loved Great-Aunt Martha, mistress of the old homestead. She made them welcome with a certain prim tenderness that went straight to their bubbling hearts.

"Think! Hard! What shall we, what can we do? We simply must do something."

"What thing needs doing?" Sara grumbled sleepily. Elizabeth shook her again. "Bringing this place to life," she said.

Elizabeth shook her fist at her, but did not further disturb her. Instead, she hurried on her frock, tiptoed downstairs, undid the back door cautiously and slid out into the garden.

It was a sight to make any man's heart beat, let alone that of a young fellow, and an artist, intoxicated with the joy of the morning. Since the earliest dawn Phil Craig had been sauntering through the least frequented ways, peering into gardens, noting the creeping light, the melting shadows, now and again sketching roughly some bit that appealed especially.

Looked the incarnation of Youth.

He stood ambushed in the shade of a thick hawthorn. Elizabeth did not see him until as she turned half about, he called huskily: "Be still! Please! Just a minute more!"

That was the beginning. Elizabeth did not tell it, even to Sara. Instead, she was gracefully, and graciously distant, when the next afternoon Phil managed to have himself fetched to the house and be properly presented.

After that, Old Town village came to life with a vengeance. Phil did the most of it, fetching in autos, other young men, indeed all manner of worldly things. He refused to set up a studio, but now and again felt furiously to work under shade of a white umbrella.

Sara knew all about Billy, save and except his name. Sara pursued

GUN SHOOT'S BOMBS

Device May Make Aeroplane Deadly Machine

It Has Been Predicted That It Would Make the Mightiest Destructive Force Known to Modern Warfare.

New York.—Ever since the aeroplane has been developed into a practical flying machine it has been predicted that it would be the mightiest destructive force known to modern warfare.

This gun has now been invented and is at present being tested by its designer, Lieut. Riley E. Scott, a West Pointer and expert mathematician who has spent years of time in trying to solve the problems that would produce a perfectly accurate bomb hurling apparatus.

As soon as men learned how to operate a flying machine they began to practice, throwing imitation bombs at objects hundreds of feet below them on earth.

Glenn H. Curtiss, in July a year ago, made some of the first bomb throwing tests. A floating target in the shape of a battleship was constructed on Lake Keuka, Hammondsport, N. Y.

With Lieutenant Scott's new aerial gun, the shooting of highly explosive projectiles from the heavens on to cities, forts or warships at sea, becomes a simple matter. The accuracy of a gunner acquires in the navy or army can now also be put into operation from an aeroplane.

Thus, uneasy and perplexed, she turned instinctively to the thought of Sara. Perhaps, if Sara tried, she could make Craig forget—Elizabeth had a faith simply boundless in her cousin.

When woman disposes man sometimes proposes. At the end of a fortnight Billy's mind was made up. He chuckled a bit over the final making up, saying to his car: "We'll go home to get married—all of us—only thing to do—let's parley the judge and Marse Wilyum."

Marase Wilyum was his father, the judge, Elizabeth's. After his disrespectful comment upon them, Billy strolled over to the Howland place, smiling his most innocent smile.

He found things taking place there—things unusual. In the wide dim parlor rarely opened, Craig had set up a picture nearly complete, the Spirit of Dawn—Elizabeth to the life, but Elizabeth transfixed by love and the morning. Billy looked at the picture, his eyes dimming the least bit.

The gun is to be tested from a "riot monoplane," which has been built by Alfred Moisant, a brother of the late John Moisant. The monoplane will have room for a passenger and the gun. One of the interesting features of the gun is that no concussion will be felt by the shooting of the projectile.

Mr. Moisant is very much interested in the new gun, and in aviation circles it is generally understood why he should be. His brother, John Moisant, it has often been said, took up flying with the object of using the aeroplane in war. President Zelaya of Nicaragua encouraged him to take up aviation with that very definite purpose.

New York.—Bareheaded and sound asleep, stretched out in her night clothing, and with her hair hanging in a long braid down her back, a young woman plodded along through the rain and mud of Nostrand avenue in Brooklyn early the other day, but utterly indifferent to her own uncomfortable plight or the astonished gaze of two score passengers in a street car that overtook her.

They wrapped her in coats and she awoke in fright. She said she was Miss Sophie Michaels, twenty-two years old, of 206 Lee avenue.

A policeman took her home. He found the kitchen door open and the girl's parents still unaware that she was missing.

Largest Hog in World. Montgomery, Mo.—J. R. Robinson, living in Pike county, brought to town a hog weighing 1,100 pounds. The hog is 6 1/2 years old, measures nine feet from tip to tip and seven feet four inches around the girth. It is said to be the largest in the world. The hog was valued at $1,000.

Naturally. "Is there any uplift about this new writer?" "You bet there is! He writes aviation stories."

QUEUE COSTLY TO CHINESE

Figures Show How Much Money Would Be Saved If It Should Be Abolished.

The present movement in China for the abolition of the queue is encouraging the statisticians to show the Chinese what a saving it will be to them. It seems the combing and braiding of the queue takes every day fifteen minutes of the best hours of every man in China, and perhaps twice that much of the barber's time.

Although time is cheap in China, it is worth on the average at least 5 pence a day, and so every man's queue costs him about a half penny a day. Multiply this by the number of males above 15 in the country—say 100,000,000—and by the number of days in the year, and you get about £75,000,000. Besides this cash value of time saved the actual cost of the material used must also be taken into account.

A moderate estimate of the sum spent every year by each individual on queue cords, etc., is £4,000,000 per annum for the whole country. It is also reckoned that the queue shortens the life of a man's coat or gown by about one-tenth, and another £4,000,000 would be saved on this head. There would be other economies, too; but these alone would mean a saving of £81,000,000 a year.

It was insisted on in 1644 by the Manchu conquerors, and was resisted to the death by many Chinese patriots. Just as many now, probably, would resist its abolition.

UP TO SANTA TO MAKE GOOD

One Cleveland Youngster Is Out This Year With a Demand to Be "Shown."

David Monroe, son of A. F. Monroe, of Lakewood, falls to enthrone when his young playmates speculate upon some such mode of conduct as shall insure a visit, come Christmas, of Santa Claus.

Giving vent to his disappointment, last year, over what to his childish mind seemed a slight in the number of his presents, his father handed him a bright half-dollar, bidding him put it in his stocking and await results. "Maybe he'll come back," was his advice.

In the morning David found, in place of the coin, two peanuts. Which was not calculated to restore his disappointment.

"Pop," he asked, "what do you suppose became of that half dollar?" "Why," said the elder Monroe, shamelessly, "I suppose Santa took it."

"Hub!" replied the kid. "Half a dollar for two peanuts! No wonder Raymond Stotter says Santa Claus is an old fraud!"

It's up to Santa to redeem himself this year.—Cleveland Leader.

Ty Cobb's Correspondence. Ty Cobb, Detroit's star player, gets as much mail every day as a member of congress, according to the Popular Magazine. Letters come to him from girls who admire his style of batting, and from seasoned "fans." If he attempted to answer them all his batting arm would soon be a wreck.

One morning, in Chicago, he was examining his mail. Out of the 50-odd communications before him he took one.

"This letter," he said, "is the only one that gets a rise out of me. I'm going to write to this old fellow."

He passed the letter to a friend, who read:

"Dere Marster Cobb—How you kum-in-long? My respects to Madom Cobb. Pleas, sir, rite me a line. Dese niggers down here in Missisipi say I don't know you and I want to show dem yore letter. Yores Respeckful, BEN JACKSON."

Chickens Break Up Court. Norwich, Conn.—A rooster and a hen, unwilling but material "witnesses" in a chicken theft case, crowded and cackled to such an extent, despite threats of being punished for contempt of court, that Judge Reed was obliged to suspend the session of the superior court. The two "witnesses" were expelled from the room.

Had to Draw the Line. "I hear that Gwennie broke off her engagement with Mr. Munly because he tried to limit her enjoyment." "Yes. She was engaged to two other young men and he objected."

"GRAND OLD MAN" OF JAPAN

It was the Most Remarkable Statesman the Kingdom Produced in Many Years.

"The late Marquis Ito, the 'grand old man' of Japan, was the most remarkable Japanese I ever saw," said Horace G. Dunbar of Alabama.

"This act of Ito's proved to me what I had often heard before, that the Japanese abroad are the most hospitable people in the world.

"The Japanese are a wonderfully shrewd people, but I prefer the Chinese. A Chinaman would go broke before he would tell a lie or avoid an obligation."

Queen of Clubs.

"Ah, as to a club meetin' las' night, dat's why I's late dis mornin', Miss Foster," explained Imogene, as she removed her outer wraps preparatory to doing a day's washing for Mrs. Foster.

Women Mountain Climbers.

Miss Mary Vall of Paris, France, and Miss Cornish of Boston have climbed 15 of the smaller peaks of the Swiss mountains and many of the higher of the Appalachian range.

"Our whole neighborhood has been stirred up," said the regular reader. The editor of the country weekly seized his pen. "Tell me all about it," he said.

Few Chances in China.

Several years ago the American consuls in China cautioned young men and women in the United States against going there with the hope of securing clerical or stenographic employment.
