Ray's 'Ritin'

By Ray Martin
The sign in the window said, "Fountain help wanted—girls."
Now right at the outset I want it understood that I don't have anything against girls. They are fine and they are necessary, but as an old-time sodajerk, I just can't quite go along with this modern trend of hiring girls to mix carbonated water and syrup. It still seems to me like a man's job—a young man's job.

For three glorious summers, I squirted soda from early in the morning until late at night, and then during the school year, I worked evenings sometimes and always on Saturday. This was in the day before labor relations laws prevented teen age folk from working as many hours as they could.

But there was something rather fine—and masculine, I insist—about putting a dash of ice cream in a glass, adding a squirt of flavoring and finishing off the whole business with the fine stream from the carbonated side of the fountain; then with a flourish such as only a man can give, smacking the whole concoction out on the fountain and sliding it down that marble top to the eager customer. Now there was an ice cream soda which couldn't be beat!

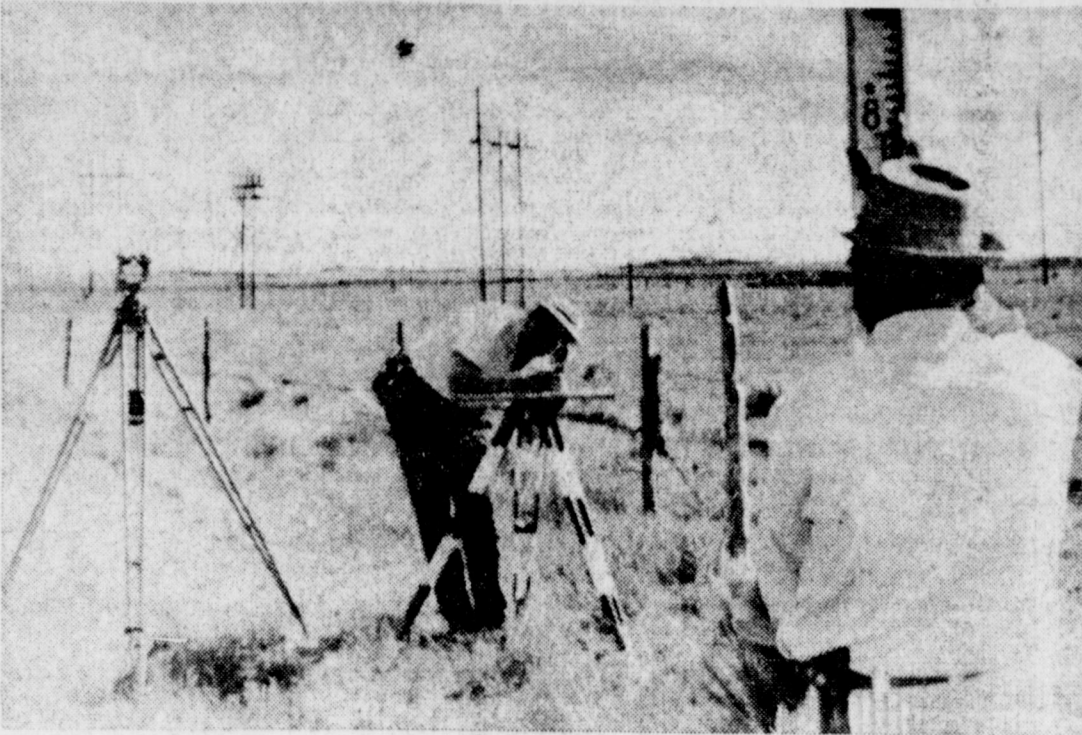

But a girl in those surroundings—Heaven forbid! There were three of us teen-agers—all male—and we worked at the business of making tongue-tickling concoctions that were just a shade this side of heaven. Man-sized dishes. And that was in the day, too, when the soda jerkers got all the drinks they wanted, free of charge. Of course there came the busy Saturday when I overdid this free eating business. We had been dishing out drinks to the hungry and thirsty customers like mad, and ever so often I would reach in the ice cream bins and take out a generous spoonful of ice cream for my own use. Came noon, and nobody had time to go to eat, so we just ate more of our own mixtures at the fountain.

All went well until about 3 o'clock in the afternoon. Then something seemed to happen in the region of my stomach. I made it to the back of the drugstore. Well, to skip over all the details, from that day on I never have cared for ice cream.

No, it was a man's world in those days. We splashed around in these glorious concoctions from morning to night, always with an artistic touch that a French chef might display in putting together an elaborate four-course dinner.

It was fun, and for those 12-hour days, I got the grand salary of $1 per day, plus what I could eat or drink.

The job, too, carried a certain amount of prestige, why I never knew. But it seemed that the boys who were lucky enough to land

TOPOGRAPHIC SURVEY — Part of a huge 8,192,000-acre topographic mapping project in the High Plains Area is being carried on here in Bailey county with headquarters in Muleshoe. Huge Water-Mapping Program In Muleshoe Area Under Way Engineering field parties of the United States Geological Survey are in Bailey County now surveying for preparation of "accurate topographic maps covering the High Plains underground water district, with headquarters in Muleshoe. John M. Stricklin, of Roswell, N.M., is the district engineer in charge of the work here.

Mapping of the High Plains was requested by the Texas water Commissioners, Joe D. Carter, H. A. Beelwith and Judge Otha Dent. Stricklin explained.

"Specifications and priority for this work were made by John J. Vandertulip, chief engineer for the Texas water commission," Stricklin said, "and the primary purpose of these topographic maps is for a topological study and for the conservation and development of underground water basin in the Ogallala formation." He said that formation is the principal aquifer of the area.

The mapping is being carried on in cooperation with the Texas Water commission and several underground water development and conservation districts.

It was explained that the mapping is part of a continuing cooperative mapping program with the Texas water commission which has been in progress for the past five years. The purpose of the program is to complete and maintain a series of topographic maps covering areas of important water development in Texas. The cost is to be carried on, on a 50-50 basis.

DWI, Child Abandonment Head Month's Charges Filed Here

Charges of driving while intoxicated and child abandonment led the list of cases filed in county court during July, a check of official records revealed Wednesday.

Altogether, 11 cases were filed in county criminal court, but four of those charged had not been arrested.

Carroll Bitt was charged with destroying public property. He entered a plea of guilty and was fined $50 and costs by the judge.

Loren Elder Sysol, was charged with driving while intoxicated and his bond was set at $750, after a plea of not guilty. The next day, however, he changed his plea to guilty and was fined $100 and costs, given three days in the county jail and his driver's license was suspended for six months.

Wilbert Williams was charged with violating the liquor laws in a dry area. He pleaded guilty and was fined $100 and costs.

Dick Willman, charged with driving while intoxicated, pleaded not guilty. His bond was set at $750 and the case is due for trial at the next term of county court.

A Muleshoe man who has not been arrested, was charged with child abandonment, and another localite who also has not been arrested, faces similar charges.

A worthless check charge was filed against an alleged offender. He also is still at large.

While in that area, he also attended a Saturday and Sunday meeting of his church, Primitive Baptist, meeting in Glen Rose. He is assistant editor of the church's newspaper.

Record Yield?

8 Inches of Rain Boost Area Crops

Bailey county may produce a record cotton crop this year. This possibility shone brightly Wednesday after the final days of July saw more than eight inches of rain dumped on Bailey county farms.

Some 50,000 acres of irrigated cotton in the north, in West Camp and the YL and Progress areas show promise of breaking all records for per-acre yield, says County Agent J. K. Adams.

The late July downpours, which are continuing into August, gave the farm picture an about-face after June and early July had been sunny and dry — too dry for dryland cotton. The picture had not been bright during the early summer, and many farmers were unable to plant cotton and sorghums because of the extremely dry weather.

Much of the rains came too late for dryland farmers who had been unable to plant their crops, but for those who had succeeded in getting the seed into the ground, the rains were a God-send.

Some farmers were able to plant cotton in July, to bring the county's total to 30,000 acres of dryland cotton.

"The very fastest varieties were planted," Adams says, "and there are a lot of farmers depending on Gregg cotton to make late June and early July cotton a money crop and reverse the past history of such a situation."

He says Bailey County dryland farmers also planted about 100,000 acres of dryland grain sorghum of the fastest known hybrids, but feel considerably more confident that this late crop will mature than they are of cotton maturity.

"With Muleshoe getting more than eight inches of rainfall the final week of July, there is a spirit of optimism prevailing over the grain sorghum crop in general," he concludes.

Although the outlook is a happy one at the present time, several setbacks might dim the optimism of farmers. These possible bad features include:

1. Hail. Always hail is a crop bugaboo, and this year already several hundred acres have been hailed out completely. A hail any-

Home Agent Ends Services Here

Bailey County is without the services of a county home demonstration agent.

Ann Graham, who has been the agent here for the past six months, wound up her stint Tuesday with a district dress revue at Lubbock in which two county girls placed in the white ribbon class. She had tendered her resignation more than a month ago, effective August 1.

Mrs. Graham will go to Plains and will join her husband when he is released from military service soon.

Mrs. Aubrey Russell, district agent, Lubbock, said it might be September 1 before a successor is named.

Bailey County 4-H girls winning places in the Lubbock show were Joyce Adams and Pam Avery.

Muleshoe to Turn Courthouse Lawn into Yuletide Scenes

Muleshoe will have the most Christmasy courthouse lawn in West Texas if plans of the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce succeed.

Because the lawn will literally be covered with Christmas scenes.

This decision was reached last Thursday in a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce Christmas committee, headed by John Smith.

Instead of the traditional Christmas parades, clubs, organizations, churches and other groups will be asked to enter a Christmas scene on the courthouse square.

The scene is to be erected and lighted during the month of December, and will draw hundreds of visitors to Muleshoe to see the unusual displays.

Cash prizes totaling $225 will be awarded the three top scenes. The committee explained that the courthouse displays may be

DESMOND BARRY ... would repeal laws

Barry Would Repeal Laws-Not Add More

If Desmond Barry, Republican candidate for congressman-at-large is elected in November he won't be going to Washington to pass laws; instead he hopes he can help repeal a few.

He told a Young Republicans club just that Monday night in a rally at Lubbock when he branded himself as a "Constitutional conservative" who wants "to go to Washington as a leader and not a follower." He said he was "sick and tired of followers in Congress. We need candidates who think — and act — for themselves."

Barry, who came into prominence in 1955 when he dared buck the powerful Teamsters' Union, which was threatening to ruin his trucking business in Houston, says he believes "the rights of the individuals" should be the basis for government operation, adding: "It is high time—long past it—when the country should be returned to the individuals and free enterprise again becomes possible."

He said he opposed Medicare, preferring to solve the medical problem on a local level and a family level. In fact, he added, "I favor a gradual return to a local level of operation and think all sorts of subsidies and agricultural controls should gradually be eliminated within a reasonable length of time."

Too many of the controls in effect today, he claimed, are merely crutches under the weak. As with medical care, he also came out in favor of education on a local level—"not with federal aid which would set up an office right here to administer that federal aid."

"Subsidies," he said, "of all kinds are wrong and are in direct violation of our federal constitution." (See BARRY, Page 5)

City Police Busy, Report Reveals

Muleshoe City Police spent an active month during July, the report of Acting Chief, Bob Adkinson, showed Wednesday. Police Chief Carl Neely is on vacation.

Activities listed included six arrested for drunkenness; one for vagrancy, and two for consumption of alcohol by minors.

Twelve accidents were investigated by the city officers. Two were cited for speeding, one for failing to yield the right-of-way and four for following too close.

Four were cited for failure to have licenses and one for failure to have a stop light. Two "other" arrests were made, and one courtesy citation was given.

In addition, city police arrested two for the county, both on charges of driving while intoxicated.

Gerald Proboth is chairman of the courthouse decoration committee with Gil Herndon as chairman of the finance committee.

As another feature of Muleshoe's Christmas events, it was decided to erect a "Santa's workshop" on the courthouse lawn and to keep it open several evenings each week during the December holiday season. Santa will be in his workshop to greet children and will have candy for each child visiting him.

The Chamber-owned life-size Nativity scene will again appear on the courthouse square and will be illuminated nightly during December.

The committee meets again today (Thursday) at 3 p.m. to discuss further details of the program as well as to review present street decorations and further requirements.

Furnishing the music will be the Kados of Clovis. Fees will be 75 cents for members, $1 for non-members.

Journal Goes to London; Gadding M'shoe Preacher Reaches Geneva

JOURNAL IN LONDON — Muleshoe Journal went to traveling Rev. J. Frank Peery, Muleshoe First Methodist minister, last week, and here he's shown on Berners Street in London reading the Journal. With him is the Rev. Douglas Wollen, minister of the Methodist Chapel, Chatterfield, Eng. The paper they are holding actually is the Journal, airmailed to the Muleshoe minister. Mr. Peery has now moved on to Europe in the second week of his six-weeks' tour.

"As you can see from my schedule, there's not much time for sight-seeing."

So writes the Rev. J. Frank Peery, pastor of the Muleshoe First Methodist Church from Geneva. He is on a six-weeks' tour of Europe, and had reached Geneva on July 25 for a busy five-day windup to the month of July.

Just before leaving London he received his first copy of the Muleshoe Journal (see picture at left) and took time to show it to other ministers.

Last Wednesday (July 25) the party arrived at the Parish house of St. Gervais in Geneva to meet their Geneva host, Magda Trocme.

Thursday they visited the International Red Cross building and heard lectures by prominent European leaders. The day was concluded with a visit to the Palais des Nations.

Friday morning was spent at the World Council of Churches and the afternoon was given over to sight-seeing. Saturday was devoted to morning lectures when a talk by Trocme was given on Russia before the revolution, and an-

Bailey County Cancer Drive Exceeds Goal

Mrs. L. E. Hall, chairman of the 1962 Cancer Crusade for Bailey County has received commendations from the state chairman, Dr. G. V. Brindley, Sr., for the outstanding success of the educational and fund-raising campaign here this year.

Bailey County is one of 126 leading counties in the state which have reached or exceeded their minimum share in the 1962 crusade. With a minimum share of $1,300, Bailey County has already reported a total of $1,883.17.

Dr. Brindley's letter pointed out that Mrs. Hall and all who helped with the crusade here furnished inspiration to the entire state crusade. "We could not have reached our state goal," he said, "without the leadership of counties like yours."

"Throughout Texas we are in the closing phases of the most successful crusade we have ever conducted against cancer," Dr. Brindley said. "The gains made this year in reaching people for education and contributions are not limited to any one area of time between now and harvest time might result in serious losses.

2. An early freeze. Another October 2 frost, such as occurred last year, would seriously cut the yield, especially of late-planted cotton. Cutting off the growing season too early would definitely dim all prospects at a record yield.

3. Wrom d a m a g e. Bollworm damage is increasing, experts say, and with continued wet weather, will become more active.

As to grain gorghums, Adams says most irrigated grain sorghum appears to be making a comeback following the dehydrating winds early in the season.

Summing up, he says, "In summary, the dryland crop is strictly at the mercy of both moisture and early freeze, while all irrigated crops are expected to produce abundantly under expected or average conditions from now until fall."

He recommends a close watch on cotton insects, but adds, "to date it is very hard to tell which farms had early season insect control and which farms practised no controls. The systematic plots show more growth and slightly less fruiting than untreated area in between the 32 treated rows on tests."

As to insect damage, Adams says that "activity of cotton insects increased over much of the western part of the state during the past week as gathered from reports from county agents. Bollworms and boll weevils caused most concern. Insect damage to date has been light in most High Plains counties."

He adds that bollworm damage has increased in many areas, with some growers reporting poor control. Best control is secured where insecticidal applications are made while worms are small, with regret treatments until worms are brought under control.

Adams says "cabbage looper damage is quite evident in the Muleshoe area. However, the presence of large worms is rare which indicates the worms are dying of the virus which is common. If bollworm shift from corn and grain sorghum fields to cotton they should be poisoned while

Barry said that he believes a Republican congress will fill the whitehouse chairs when the next session meets. "We are going to elect Republicans to Congress this fall, and then we—and not the Democrats—will be in control of Congress."

"Once this is accomplished, one of the most effective tools for returning the country to the people will be in the field of appropriations, because we will control the pursestrings."

He said he believed many of the agencies and bureaus can be eliminated if a Republican majority is elected this fall by the "simple means of controlling the pursestrings, and this includes also Civil Service. If the job is not necessary, even if it is under Civil Service, it should be eliminated."

Afternoon included a visit to St. Pierre Cathedral and in the evening the group heard Ben Amar speak on Algeria.

Last Sunday the group attended the Escalade Chapel of St. Gervais Church in Geneva and during lunch heard a discussion of the sermon. This was followed by a visit to the 9th century crypt in the church.

The average value per farm in Texas increased from $48,378 to $64,950 between 1959 and 1962, says C. H. Bates, extension farm management specialist. Acreage per farm increased from 631 to 710 during the same period.

John G. Thomas, and W. L. Owen, Jr., assistant entomologists with Extension Service and the Experiment station respectfully, Wednesday issued this report: "Bollworm activity has increased in most sections outside the High Plains. Since damaging bollworm infestations often develop on cotton in early August, the crop should be closely watched for eggs and hatching."

sistants here are William H. Wade, Jerry F. Gilbreath, Fredrick M. Dobbs and Robert Eason. Engineers are Jerry L. Pinkerton and David L. Ackerman and Yukio Yamamoto with Strlin as the district engineer in charge.

The mapping of the High Plains Underground Water Districts covers approximately two hundred 7 1/2-Minute Quadrangles in fourteen counties. This would be about 12,800 square miles or in terms of acres, approximately 8,192,000. The maps will show all cultural features such as roads, buildings, fence and field lines. The map will also show all irrigation wells with elevations. There are approximately 48,000 such wells in the districts. The Texas Water Commission and Local Agencies have appropriated a total of $1,466,700, for topographic mapping for the years 1958 through 1963, this would be a total of $2,933,400, combined funds for mapping areas of important water conservation and development.

The field surveying operations in this area is under the supervision of Mr. Yukio Yamamoto, Project Engineer. He is assisted by engineers David L. Ackerman, John M. Stricklin and Jerry L. Pinkerton. The Field Assistants are local people. The men and their families are living in Muleshoe.

This mapping will become a part of a continuing nation-wide program which has been in progress for many years. The object of this program is to complete and maintain a series of topographic maps covering the United States and its possession. The maps are published in rectangular sheets called quadrangles. Each map covers approximately sixty four square miles. Prints of completed maps may be obtained from the U.S. Geological Survey, Topographic Division, Building 25 Federal Center, Denver 25, Colorado. Copies of aerial photographs and geodetic control lists may also be obtained.

In the preparation of these maps, the most modern engineering methods are employed. Aerial photographic and precise photogrammetric instruments are used in compilation. In the field work electronic measuring instruments and precise theodolites are used. The field control surveys are now in progress. The cooperation and assistance of the local residents will be greatly appreciated.

the state and are, in fact, a reflection of widespread knowledge and enthusiasm of thousands of volunteers."

Dr. Brindley reported that as a result of the leadership of such outstanding counties, Texas has already made a record contribution to cancer control in 1962. More than $1,320,000 has already been contributed by Texans for the Society's program of research education and service.

Sixty cents of every Crusade dollar will be available immediately for use in these programs within the state of Texas. In addition to this, the national Society supports research in Texas directly to the tune of around 40 cents of this dollar in the average year.

During the current year, support of this Texas research reached a record level and the Society is actually spending $1.10 cents in Texas, for all programs, for every dollar contributed by Texans during the crusade.

jobs jerking soda during the summer were the ones most envied by the other (and jobless) teenagers. And always, Mr. May, the owner of the drugstore, had a long waiting list of boys who would like to jerk soda. As I said, it was a glorious job.

And now the girls have invaded the field, and all the glamour of soda jerking thereby is gone.

I well remember the dark day when Mr. May came up to me and said, "Ray, how would you like to work in cosmetics?" If he had asked me if I would like to model nightgowns I don't think I would have been more unhappy or embarrassed.

But since he was the boss, I accepted the cosmetics job, because in those days a drugstore was strictly a man's world, and even the beauty preparations we carried were sold by men.

I learned the cosmetics line ok, but every once in a while I would look longingly toward the fountain and watch with great envy the three young teenagers who were beating themselves into a frenzy turning out delectable mixtures fit only for a king. Of course I got twice as much pay, but there was no glory in it.

And when in the fall my dad got a better offer to become superintendent of a school downstate, I relinquished my cosmetics job with not a little pleasure.

That fall when I started to school in the new town, I didn't once tell anybody that I had spent the summer selling cosmetics. Instead, I just referred to the two previous wonderful summers when I had been a king behind a marble-topped counter, turning out gooey, sweet, sticky and lovely ice cream and syrup mixtures. One day I decided that my experience as a soda jerker might serve me well to get a job as a soda jerker in one of the local drugstores, so I breezed in all set to hit up the manager for a job. In fact, I felt I was good enough to be the top soda jerker, and it was for that position that I was going to apply.

Well, I walked into the drugstore—and then it happened! I made a horrible discovery. This big drugstore where I had hoped to return to my first love, was staffed entirely by women. Women pharmacists, women cosmetic sellers, and, horror of horrors, by women soda-jerkers!

I turned around and walked out, completely disgusted and disillusioned. Women soda jerkers. What was the world coming to.

I got me a job in a service station instead. And to this day, there are very few women greece monkeys. So, after a time, my faith in humanity returned. Women soda jerkers—ugh!

Proposed CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT NUMBER FOUR ON THE BALLOT

PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT TO BE VOTED ON AT AN ELECTION TO BE HELD ON NOVEMBER 6, 1962.

HOUSE JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 48 proposing an Amendment to the Constitution of Texas by adding to Article III a new Section to be known as Section 49-d authorizing the Texas Water Development Board to acquire and develop storage facilities in reservoirs and to dispose of such storage facilities and water upon such terms as the Legislature shall prescribe; providing for the use of funds received from the disposition of acquired storage and water; providing that any enabling Acts shall not be invalid because of their anticipatory character; prescribing the form of ballot and providing for the necessary proclamation and publication.

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS:

Section 1. That Article III of the Constitution of Texas be amended by adding a new Section thereto to be known as Section 49-d, as follows: "Section 49-d. It is hereby declared to be the policy of the State of Texas to encourage the optimum development of the limited number of feasible sites available for the construction or enlargement of dams and reservoirs for conservation of the public waters of the State, which waters are held in trust for the use and benefit of the public. To this end, and with the approval of the Board of Water Engineers or its successor, the proceeds from the sale of State bonds deposited in the Texas Water Development Fund as provided in Article III, Section 49-c of this Constitution, may be used by the Texas Water Development Board, under such provisions as the Legislature may prescribe by general law, for the additional purpose of acquiring and developing storage facilities, for the conservation and development of water for useful purposes in and from reservoirs constructed or to be constructed or enlarged within the State of Texas or on any stream constituting a boundary of the State of Texas, by any one or more of the following governments or governmental agencies: by the United States of America or any agency, department or instrumentality thereof; by the State of Texas or any agency, department or instrumentality thereof; by political subdivisions or bodies politic and corporate of the State; by interstate compact commissions to which the State of Texas is a party; and by municipal corporations.

"Under such provisions as the Legislature may prescribe by general law, the Texas Water Development Board may also, with the approval of the Board of Water Engineers or its successor, execute long-term contracts with the United States or any of its agencies for the acquisition and development of storage facilities in reservoirs constructed or to be constructed by the Federal Government. Such contracts when executed shall constitute general obligations of the State of Texas in the same manner and with the same effect as State bonds issued under the authority of the preceding Section 49-c of this Constitution, and the provisions in said Section 49-c with respect to the payment of principal and interest on State bonds issued shall likewise apply with respect to payment of principal and interest required to be paid by such contracts. If storage facilities are acquired for a term of years, such contracts shall contain provisions for renewal that will protect the State's investment.

"The aggregate of the bonds authorized by said Section 49-c, plus the principal of the obligations incurred under any contracts authorized hereunder, shall not exceed the Two Hundred Million Dollars ($200,000,000) in bonds authorized by said Section 49-c of Article III of this Constitution.

"The Legislature shall provide terms and conditions for the Texas Water Development Board to sell, transfer or lease, in whole or in part, any acquired storage facilities or the right to use such storage facilities at a price not less than the direct cost of the Board in acquiring same, and the Legislature may provide terms and conditions for the Board to sell any unappropriated public waters of the State that might be stored in such facilities. As a prerequisite to the purchase of such storage or water, the applicant therefor shall have secured a valid permit from the Board of Water Engineers or its successor, authorizing the acquisition of such storage facilities or the water impounded therein. The money received from any sale, transfer or lease of storage facilities shall be used to pay principal and interest on State bonds issued or contractual obligations incurred by the Texas Water Development Board, provided that when moneys are sufficient to pay the full amount of indebtedness then outstanding and the full amount of interest to accrue thereon, any further sums received from the sale, transfer or lease of such storage facilities may be used for the acquisition of additional storage facilities or for providing financial assistance as authorized by said Section 49-c. Money received from the sale of water, which shall include standby service, may be used for the operation and maintenance of acquired facilities, and for the payment of principal and interest on debt incurred.

"Should the Legislature enact enabling laws in anticipation of the adoption of this Amendment, such Acts shall not be void by reason of their anticipatory character."

Sec. 2. The foregoing Constitutional Amendment shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of this State at the general election to be held on November 6, 1962, at which election, all ballots shall have printed thereon:

"FOR THE AMENDMENT TO ARTICLE III OF THE CONSTITUTION OF TEXAS BY ADDING A NEW SECTION TO BE KNOWN AS SECTION 49-d, PROVIDING FOR A STATE PROGRAM OF ACQUIRING CONSERVATION STORAGE FACILITIES IN RESERVOIRS"; and

"AGAINST THE AMENDMENT TO ARTICLE III OF THE CONSTITUTION OF TEXAS BY ADDING A NEW SECTION TO BE KNOWN AS SECTION 49-d, PROVIDING FOR A STATE PROGRAM OF ACQUIRING CONSERVATION STORAGE FACILITIES IN RESERVOIRS."

Sec. 3. The Governor shall issue the necessary proclamation for said election and shall have the same published as required by the Constitution and laws of this State.

Cotton Ginners' Course Planned

COLLEGE STATION—The one-day school for operators of cotton gins, scheduled for August 21 in Lubbock, is a part of the continuing industrywide effort to improve the quality of American cotton. Specifically, the Lubbock school is designed to give cotton gin operators practical information to aid them in the ginning of the highest quality cotton consistent with machinery operation, says B. G. Reeves, extension cotton ginning and mechanization specialist.

Sponsors for the school are the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas Cotton Ginners' Association, Continental Gin Company, The Murray and John E.

Mitchell companies, Lummus, Cotton Gin Company, Hardwick-Etter Company and Moss-Gordin Company.

Five schools will be held simultaneously on August 21 with each of the cooperating companies providing meeting rooms for their students, Reeves said. Participants will receive instructions on the operation, maintenance and repair of each piece of machinery used in the modern cotton gin, including stands, dryers, cleaners, but machines, extractor-feeders, lint cleaners, and other auxiliary engineers will serve as instructors, the specialist added.

There will be no enrollment fee but prospective students are asked to send either a letter or an advance registration to the company in charge of the school they expect to attend. The registration should be made at least a week in advance of the school, Reeves said.

SAND HILLS PHILOSOPHER

He Has Nothing to say Worth Bouncing Off That Telstar

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm writes about talking this week. He seems to be against it.

Dear editor:

I never try to stand in the way of progress — I've tried it and it won't work — and if people want to bounce television shows and telephone conversations off a satellite, it's all right with me, but I am curious about what they have to talk about that's so important. I can't imagine anything I could think that would require the launching of a satellite to bounce it to the other side of the world.

Quick communication, I've been told, is a boon to understanding, but have you ever listened to two women talking on the telephone for 45 minutes without ever coming to any understanding?

I understand also you can now install a telephone on a tractor, but I always figured a man with something so important he needed a phone while plowing, is too important to be plowing in the first place. I guess I could get a phone installed on mine, but I can't think of anything I could say that couldn't wait till I could write it down and mail it, and I don't know of anything anybody could call me about that would make riding a tractor any better. Couldn't even hear him anyway, the way my tractor sounds.

I have a notion that what all this hurry to talk to somebody amounts to is the exercising of the age-old habit some people have just for talking, and my theory is that quicker communication systems don't improve conversation, they just enlarge the field of coverage.

However, I read last night that somebody has perfected a type-writer in which you can talk and your conversation comes out typed, and here is one invention I believe may have great possibilities.

Under the present system, if somebody is talking to you, you almost have to listen, whether you pay any attention to it or not. But under this new system, you could turn on your typewriter, tell your conversationist to go ahead and talk, you'll read it later, and you could keep on reading or watching television or whatever it is you're doing, even if it's just sitting and staring. Then after he's gone, you could read what he had to say, or wad it up and throw it away. I could use one of those machines, with a large waste basket to go with it.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Farmers' Ages Show Increase

The average age of farm operators in Texas continues to increase steadily. In 1940, their average age was 46.9 years; it increased to 49.4 in 1950 and to 52.5 in 1959.

Younger Farmers now make up a much smaller proportion of all operators in Texas. More than 1 out of every 10 farms in 1930 was operated by persons less than 25 years of age. By 1959, persons who had not yet reached this age made up only 1 out of every 100 farm operators.

Farm operating has become proportionately more important at the older age levels. In 1930, fewer than 1 out of 12 farm operators in Texas was 65 years of age or older. In 1959, these older farmers made up 1 out of every 5 farm operators in the State.

Wayland Installs Language Lab

PLAINVIEW — Audio-lingual teaching, the method used in the department of languages at Wayland Baptist College, becomes more effective with the completion of the new $12,000 electronic language laboratory, according to Dr. Vivian Mercer Gruber, head of the department of languages.

Located in a former English classroom on the second floor of Gates Hall, the 35 by 20 foot room has gone through extensive renovation in recent weeks so summer Spanish classes could have the benefit of the new equipment. The room will accommodate 30 students in individual booths, 20 of which contain tape recorders on which the student can record his voice and listen to the playback to compare with polished pronunciations.

Letters TO THE EDITOR

Editor:

Since the United States committed itself to a policy of non-aggression, our strength and our leadership of the free world depends on our ability to DETER aggression through our massive ability to retaliate.

The most spectacular example of our "deterrent ability" first went on patrol Nov. 15, 1960, when a great black shape glided out to sea and dove beneath the waves. This was our first ballistic missile submarine the USS George Washington, a ship so huge that it couldn't fit in a football field, 380' long and weighed as much as 2 1/2 typical navy destroyers.

Its nuclear reactors can operate the ship for hundreds of thousands of miles and never have to refuel, its built in oxygen supply can sustain its crew over two months while submerged.

The 16 polaris missiles with nuclear war head is more fire power than was used by both sides during WWI from start to finish it of the war. The polaris missile is capable of hitting any target up to 1600 miles and is always pre-set for a specific target no matter where the Nuclear submarine is located in the world.

The complicated electronic devices always tell where the sub is and where it is going and never has to surface to obtain this information. This information is fed into the nose of the polaris missile and keeps it informed of distance, height, and altitude of the given target.

The men in blue control and operates these complicate devices, can you qualify. See your Navy Recruiter for information.

GRASSROOTS OPINION

TERRE HAUTE, IND., Tribune: "Americans generally seem to hold the notion that democracy is not democracy unless it follows our pattern. . . We must not . . . willfully impose our ways on people who have other ideas. Yet at the same time we must be careful not to strengthen the anti-democratic forces in any country. The general truth operative here is that the situation in Latin America, as elsewhere, cannot be viewed in terms of black and white. We can neither insist on exactly our kind of democracy, nor can we let our aid fall into the hands of those who want no kind of democracy at all."

FLORENCE, ALA., HERALD: "The old saying: 'The government is the servant of the people' ought to be changed because the government, like servants, is getting, too expensive for most folks."

MELROSE, MASS., FREE PRESS: "For years we have been on an ever-increasing price spiral. It would be difficult to say where it began or its cause, but as the cost of goods went up, labor demanded more pay. Although government profited by increased business, it demanded more spending and so taxes increased. The cost of unemployment benefits were increased to meet the rising costs of living, so the extra cost on business made the cost of goods increase. And so on and on. Of course, while all this is happening, thrifty people, retired on their savings and those on pension and fixed incomes, are the victims of the squeeze."

CUMBERLAND, MD., CITIZEN: "We have mortgaged the wealth and fruits of labor of our forebearers who worked so hard for themselves and our free way of life. Yes, we have mortgaged our wealth and our children's children's wealth and work. Now the question is, 'How long can one continue such a policy without bankruptcy and dire results?'"

Bollworm Gain Seen In Area

Bollworm eggs and small worms are being observed in rapidly increasing numbers in west Texas. J. K. Adams, county agent, said Thursday. The insects were gaining in most counties south and east of Lubbock, the A&M Extension Service reported.

Extremely heavy bollworm buildups have occurred in the past 10 days to the south of this area, the department reported. "Satisfactory control can be obtained with the recommended insecticides if applied while the worms are small and their feeding is primarily in the upper parts of the plants, according to Extension entomologists John G. Thomas and W. L. Owen, Jr.

"A very marked increase in the number of bollworm eggs and small worms during the past few days has been observed in Collingsworth, Crosby, Dickens, Childress, Jones, Wilbarger, Glasscock, Irion, Martin, Mason, Midland, Fisher, Scurry and Garza counties. Serious losses and poor control will likely occur if worms are not controlled while they are small.

"All counties reporting, with the exception of the most northern cotton-producing counties of the High Plains, have observed bollworm activity. This trend will likely increase in all areas as sorghum matures and bollworms move to cotton."

Fleahopper damage is occurring in areas of Midland county along with increasing bollworm populations. Heavy, spotted infestations of aphids are still being found in isolated areas of Bailey and Lynn counties. Light thrips, fleahopper and bollworm populations are present in Dawson county.

In North Plains counties, the report said, "thrips populations are high, but cotton in most areas has developed past the stages susceptible to injury. Light fleahopper infestations were noted in Swisher county. Castro and Deaf Smith counties have heavy local aphid infestations.

Mankind's Need For Prayer Is Stressed

Mankind's need for prayer based on heartfelt gratitude to God will be brought out at Christian Science church services Sunday.

Highlighting the Lesson-Sermon on the subject of "Love" is the Golden Text from the Bible (1 John 4): "God is love; and he that dwelleth in love dwelleth in God, and God in him."

A citation to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy states (p. 4): "What we most need is the prayer of fervent desire for growth in grace, expressed in patience, meekness, love, and good deeds."

WASHINGTON NEWSLETTER FROM SENATOR JOHN TOWER

Committee: Banking and Currency Labor and Public Welfare

President Defeated On Medicare: The Senate vote, that effectively killed President Kennedy's proposals for health care for the aged under social security, was historic in several ways.

It was momentous, in that this is only the second time in history proposals for health care for the only the second time in years that 100 percent of the Senate membership has voted. In this important roll call, the Senate voted 52 to 48 to table an amendment to a public assistance bill which would in effect, have given us a medical care program which, you know, I believe to be very unsound, and very unwise. Some 31 Republicans and 21 Democrats, teamed together to defeat Medicare.

Only five Republicans, and 43 Democrats, voted on the losing side. I am very glad the Senate performed a very statesmanlike act. The House of Representatives has not acted, but it is my feeling the House will not act now on the medical care issue, and I am convinced the proposals are dead for this session. An analysis of my mail on this subject for recent weeks: for 1,835 telegrams, letters, and postcards, showed 1,786 against the President's proposal, and only 49 for the plan. This is a 37 to 1 ratio against the bill.

Trip To Germany: By way of the German Embassy, a Republican and a Democrat Senator were invited to address a political seminar of the Evangelical Academy, at Tuzing, in Bavaria, near Munich, Germany, and it was my privilege to be invited. Senator Vance Hartke, of Indiana, spoke for the Democrats, and both of us, at different times, discussed the influence of American politics on foreign affairs with many German leaders.

They asked many questions. I talked with them for a total of 5 or 6 hours, at two long sessions, and came away convinced they are good friends and allies of the United States, and are determined to stand firm in the face of the counting on us to continue to support them, and I was impressed by their will to resist the Communists, and their desire to reunify. I likewise had an opportunity to tour Berlin, and the Communist wall that seals off the eastern part of the city from the free, western portion.

I saw the Communist guards, and the police guarding workers, strengthening the wall. My first reaction was one of anger. Then, it occurred to me that this is a movement to Soviet weakness, and shows the Communists can hold sway over captive peoples only by force of arms, by suppressing the truth, by isolation, literally by imprisonment. I am confident that the people of the free world have the strength and the will to stand firm against world communist. The U. S. must afford them the courageous leadership their determination merits.

'Witnesses' Back From Meeting

Delegates from the Muleshoe congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses returned home this week following their three-day Bible meet in San Angelo, said Boyd Lowery, presiding minister.

"Some 3,510 were in attendance at the Bible convention, which attracted delegates from a 12-state area," he said. "This was one of the largest conventions that San Angelo has seen."

"One of the highlights of the three days," Lowery said, "was the public lecture 'Take Courage—God's Kingdom Is At Hand!' by W. R. Thomas, Watchtower Society representative."

"Thomas stressed the closeness of God's Kingdom as to earth's affairs," Lowery said, "and he pointed out that God cannot wait for Christendom to convert the world first as World Almanac figures show the world's population has, in a seven-year period, 1955-1962, increased 5.61 times as fast as the number of so-called Christians."

Lowery added "Thomas further stated that Christendom has been falling away from true Christianity herself, so could not be responsible to represent God. He also showed from the Bible the wonderful conditions God's Kingdom will bring to the earth such as total peace, happiness and health."

$600 Limit Lifted For Students' Pay

It isn't necessary for students to stop working this summer after earning a total of $600.

Tallis Campbell, Jr., Dallas district director of Internal Revenue Service, advised parents that it is possible to claim a son or daughter as a dependent on federal income tax returns even if they earn more than $600.

Campbell suggested that students contact IRS for needed information on how their parents can claim them as a dependent.

New Brucellosis Plan Announced

A new method for screening market cattle for brucellosis will make the job of keeping Bailey County on the modified-certified list much easier, said County Agent J. K. Adams today.

The county agent explained the new program under six basic points.

Cattle being sold for beef are identified with a special tag at the ranch or assembly points on the way to market. Blood samples are collected from the tagged animals at the packing plant or other designated points. The samples are then forwarded to a testing laboratory and the results to disease control officials.

Negative animals are credited to herds and areas of origin and veterinarians work directly with herd owners until the disease problem is cleared up. In areas where winter feeding is practiced, at least 80 percent of all eligible heifer calves retained in a herd each year must be vaccinated, Adams said.

Under the new method, counties can be recertified if at least five percent of all breeding cattle in the county are tested each year or a total of 15 percent for each three-year period, the county agent explained. Only female cattle three years of age or older are backtagged and tested.

Attack on Alcoholism — Part 5

Guidance, Medicine are Good, But The Cure Is Up to Individual

Editor's note: Science has yet to unravel the dark mystery which lies in the body or in the soul of an alcoholic, demanding drink. But small advances in knowledge are being made. This last in a series describing the modern attack on alcoholism reports these advances and lists some helpful do's and don'ts.

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer

At 3 a.m., in a fuzzy voice, the young man telephoned a doctor he'd never met, asking for an appointment.

He burst into the office early in the morning, demanding "some of those pills to keep me from drinking. I've got to stay sober the next few days—very important."

Many a frantic wife has wished for a pill or powder she could surreptitiously drop into her husband's coffee and thus magically stop his drinking.

There is an antidrinking drug, but it's no magic powder-in-the-coffee affair.

This drug is disulfiram (trade-name antabuse). It is completely harmless, unless a person drinks any alcohol. Then he becomes violently ill.

It acts as a chemical fence reinforcing the alcoholic's determination not to drink. It must be prescribed and guided by a physician, for otherwise reactions could be disastrous. The alcoholic must know that he's taking it, and what it will do. It wasn't the easy answer for the young man, except so far as it marked a start toward real desire to stop drinking.

The road back from alcoholism is tortuous and difficult, but much can be done medically and psychologically, explains Dr. Ruth Fox, medical director of the National Council on Alcoholism.

Health and Diet

A first step is restoration of good health and diet. The alcoholic often has liver, nerve or other damage.

He may need hospital care for a time. Tranquilizing drugs now can help him sleep or handle mood swings and anxiety.

Psychotherapy, individually or through group treatment, is aimed at helping the alcoholic understand himself and his emotional problems, and how to handle them without drinking.

In Alcoholics Anonymous, the patient can find help available 24 hours a day. In AA, he or she also finds social, intellectual, cultural and spiritual interests long since abandoned in the dedication to drink, Dr. Fox continues.

Clergymen increasingly are helping alcoholics find and follow useful, sober new lives.

Hypnosis, in the hands of trained bands and children of alcoholics, Mrs. Mann and other authorities list some do's and don'ts:

Don't plead, don't censure, don't nag the alcoholic.

And when the alcoholic slips, don't tearfully exclaim, "If you loved me, you wouldn't do this to me." The alcoholic usually feels enough remorse and guilt already.

Don't try to hide liquor or take it away, or cut off his money. Don't just get angry. Don't call him a moral weakling.

Don't look for miracles overnight when he or she is seriously trying to overcome dependence on alcohol.

Don't be Offended

And don't feel offended if a stranger or outsider seems to have more influence in getting him to seek or continue treatment than you in the family do.

Do try to understand alcoholism as a sickness, and discuss it and any episodes calmly. Do understand the alcoholic is not unlike the diabetic to whom sugar is a poison.

Do set ten-agers a good example.

Sooner or later, most teen-agers will experiment a little, Dr. Fox says. If parents take the dogmatic view that anyone who drinks at all is a sinner, they will see friends, drinking socially, who aren't sinners, and that will undermine belief in their parents.

And if the parents drink on any or all occasions, and use alcohol as a crutch, children may come to consider that as a normal and approved way of life.

Do get the facts on alcoholism from doctors, from AA, from Al-Anon or Alateen, alcoholism information centers and other authoritative sources.

"Alcoholism is not hopeless," Mrs. Mann declares. "Many recovered alcoholics hold highly important and responsible positions. The alcoholic himself must make the decision to get help. How his family and friends react—with resentment, or with understanding, really influences his ability to reach the big decision."

Hormone Helpful

Some physicians find a hormone preparation helpful in combating the craving for alcohol and the jitters which can come along when the alcoholic has given up drinking.

The hormone, ace or adrenal cortical extract, is given by injection, and is relatively expensive. Its use is based on evidence that in alcoholics the cortex or gland is not producing normal amounts of hormones.

Much of current research is stressing a hunt for specific biochemical differences between the alcoholic and the normal drinker, and some authorities are optimistic that clues will be turned up to pinpoint causes and improved treatment.

There are indications that the alcoholic metabolizes or utilizes alcohol differently from the normal drinker. But as yet there are no tests or methods of predicting who is in danger of becoming an alcoholic.

Knowledge is accumulating.

The center for alcohol studies, formerly at Yale University and recently transferred to Rutgers University, for years has spearheaded careful scientific studies of all aspects of human use of alcohol, and alcoholism. And the federal government, through the million dollars annually on research.

Social and family attitudes are still roadblocks in dealing with alcoholism, says Mrs. Marty Mann, executive director of the National Council on Alcoholism.

"Too many people still attach a social stigma to alcoholism, as was once done with epilepsy and TB. There are still people in key places who don't recognize it as a sickness."

For guidance of wives, husbands and children of alcoholics, Mrs. Mann and other authorities list some do's and don'ts:

Don't plead, don't censure, don't nag the alcoholic.

And when the alcoholic slips, don't tearfully exclaim, "If you loved me, you wouldn't do this to me." The alcoholic usually feels enough remorse and guilt already.

Don't try to hide liquor or take it away, or cut off his money. Don't just get angry. Don't call him a moral weakling.

Don't look for miracles overnight when he or she is seriously trying to overcome dependence on alcohol.

Don't be Offended

And don't feel offended if a stranger or outsider seems to have more influence in getting him to seek or continue treatment than you in the family do.

Do try to understand alcoholism as a sickness, and discuss it and any episodes calmly. Do understand the alcoholic is not unlike the diabetic to whom sugar is a poison.

Do set ten-agers a good example.

Sooner or later, most teen-agers will experiment a little, Dr. Fox says. If parents take the dogmatic view that anyone who drinks at all is a sinner, they will see friends, drinking socially, who aren't sinners, and that will undermine belief in their parents.

And if the parents drink on any or all occasions, and use alcohol as a crutch, children may come to consider that as a normal and approved way of life.

Do get the facts on alcoholism from doctors, from AA, from Al-Anon or Alateen, alcoholism information centers and other authoritative sources.

"Alcoholism is not hopeless," Mrs. Mann declares. "Many recovered alcoholics hold highly important and responsible positions. The alcoholic himself must make the decision to get help. How his family and friends react—with resentment, or with understanding, really influences his ability to reach the big decision."

Wayland Names German To Staff

PLAINVIEW—A new international flavor will be added to the faculty at Wayland Baptist College this fall with the addition of Friedrich Horlacher, instructor in German and Latin, who comes from Germany according to Dean Robert G. Collmer.

Horlacher will replace Gary Garner, instructor in languages, who is on leave to do doctoral work at the University of Colorado with a fellowship granted by the Texas Baptist Education Commission. His leave extends to August, 1963.

Horlacher, a native of Ulm, Donau, Germany, is now doing doctoral studies at the University of Tubingen in the English language with special work in American literature. It is this study that has interested him in coming to the United States to teach and to continue research toward his dissertation on the life and work of the American, Robert Herrick. He has passed his examinations and now lacks only the completion of his dissertation.

Jessie Leal won the reelection for treasurer with George Cabrera winning the reelection for financial secretary. George Cabrera, Willie Martinez and Jessie Ybarra will serve on the board of trustees.

Three new members joined the Sodality; Isidro Costillo, Juan Madrid and Joe Vela.

Voting members present were, George Cabrera, Noe Anzaldua, Juan and Solomon Madrid, Epifanio Lopez, Abram Garcia, Willie Martinez, Jesse Ybarra, Carlos Reyes, and Jesse Leal.

Legal Notice

THE STATE OF TEXAS
 To our Sheriff or any Constable within the State of Texas —
GREETING:

You are hereby commanded to cause to be published once each week for four consecutive weeks, the first publication to be at least twenty-eight days before the return day thereof, in a newspaper printed in Bailey County, Texas, the accompanying citation, of which the herein below following is a true copy.

CITATION BY PUBLICATION THE STATE OF TEXAS

TO: Cary M. Kisor, Defendant, and should said Cary M. Kisor, Defendant have been at anytime married, then to the unknown wife or wives of said defendant Cary M. Kisor; and should said Defendant Cary M. Kisor, or his wife or wives, be deceased, then to the unknown heirs, devisees, legal representatives, trustees beneficiaries, wives, husbands legatees and assigns of each and all of said Defendants, Defendants Greeting:

YOU ARE HEREBY COMMANDED to appear before the Honorable District Court of Bailey County at the Courthouse thereof, in Muleshoe, Texas, by filing a written answer at or before 10 o'clock a.m. of first Monday next after the expiration of forty-two days from the date of the issuance of this citation, same being the 27th day of August A.D. 1962, to Plaintiff's Petition filed in said court, on the 13th day of July A.D. 1962 in this cause, numbered 2540 on the docket of said court and styled Ralph Hall, Plaintiff, vs. Cary M. Kisor, et al, Defendants.

A brief statement of the nature of this suit is as follows, to-wit: Suit in trespass to try title, involving the NW 1/4 of Section 8, in Block B, Melvin Blum and Blum Survey, in Bailey County, Texas. Plaintiff alleging possession and ownership on April 1st, 1962, and

IT'S THE LAW in Texas

A public service feature of the State Bar of Texas

People often make gifts to youngsters and sometimes save on income and death taxes as well. The giver may set aside money for children until they become of age or until they need it. But such gifts may be complex. For remember, there are gift taxes on the subject of the gift, and income taxes on the income from it.

1. The parent or guardian may want to keep control of the money. If they keep too much control, they may not complete the gift and the expected tax savings will go out the window. The parents' control may allow them to take back the gift, and so it is not that on such date the Defendants entered upon and ejected him therefrom, and invoking the 3, 5, 10 and 25 years Statutes of limitations in the alternative and asking for judgment for title to and possession of such land, as is more fully shown by Plaintiff's Petition on file in this suit.

If this citation is not served within ninety days after the date of its issuance, it shall be returned unserved.

The officer executing this writ shall promptly serve the same according to requirements of law, and the mandates hereof, and make due return as the law directs.

Issued and given under my hand and the seal of said court at Muleshoe, Texas, this 13th day of July, A.D. 1962.
 (SEAL)

really a gift.
 2. Property is hard for children to manage. They cannot very well make contracts or buy or sell the property. But it costs too much, as a rule, to set up a trust for each piece of property for each child.

And so to encourage gifts to children, the law has a simple way to make and administer gifts under the Uniform Gifts to Minors Act. This law applies mainly to gifts and stock shares.

This law creates the "custodian" with powers much like those of a trustee or guardian. He is often a parent-donor who manages the stock. He may reinvest or sell the stock for the child.

The custodian must act as a "prudent person." He cannot lawfully buy and sell the stock for his own benefit, nor can he be negligent. The gift can only be used for the minor's benefit, and for his support and education. The custodian cannot mingle his own property with the child's. After the child becomes 21 the whole gift or what is left of it must go to him.

In rare cases, the law may let a giver revoke his gift, as when he gave it in contemplation of the minor's marriage which did not take place. He may also revoke the gift if it was made as a result of undue influence or fraud.

Other ways of giving to minors are also fairly inexpensive. For example, one may create a trust for children which has tax advantages.

(This newsfeature, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)
