RECEIPTS SHY; DEMAND KEEN

There was little to the steer deal today. Receipts were of the usual Saturday scantiness, the estimate calling for 250 head of cattle all told, a supply that embraced only a small part of the week's supply.

QUARANTINE DIVISION

Arrivals in the southern division of the yards this week were light, aggregating less than 1,000 for the entire period. The demand has ruled very strong all week and steer prices are fully 25c higher than at the close of last week.

TIME TO GROW BEEF.

This country is merely becoming accustomed to an era of high beef prices. Their coming has been foreseen for some years past. The producer has failed to keep pace with the demand and now his short crop is responsible for the highest prices in over forty years, says the Drovers Journal.

These high prices are going to remain. A bullock may not be worth $9.50 to $9.55 per hundredweight a year from now, but it is safe to assume after a careful survey of the supply situation that a fat steer will bring a price close up to these figures, provided the country retains its normal industrial condition.

Beef will be wanted and the people who will have the price to buy good beef will not substitute an inferior grade.

Those cattlemen in the corn belt who, looking upon current high cost of both young steers and feed stuff, figure they cannot make a profit in feeding are the same fellows who a year ago stayed out of the feeding business because they had experienced a losing venture in the previous few months.

They overlooked the fact that a great many men were of the same mind. Also that the rush of immature stock to market last summer would surely mean a shortage of mature cattle this year, and shortage in supply versus a normal demand always means high prices.

The incentive is at hand to grow beef. The corn belt has pasture and feed enough to produce a much larger volume of beef another year than has been marketed this year. The breeding industry should be enjoying a thoroughly good season and it is not. What is the matter? Isn't there enough inducement in the highest beef prices in two decades to start a genuine and healthy boom in the cattle business?

The price bubble will not burst until there is sufficient force behind the supply situation to effect a real reason for return to the prices of a few years ago. It is a supply and demand situation wherein the demand is showing hunger which now can only be appeased by considerably increased production.

It will take two or more years of increased production to restore the cattle holdings of the United States to a volume anywhere near that required and congress will watch the producer closely. If the latter does not show a desire to increase production, certain of our congressmen who look upon Canada and the Central and South American countries as available supply grounds, will put up a strenuous campaign to let down the bars against these countries, and there will be applause from the consumers for their efforts.

A CLEAN CUT ISSUE. St. Joseph Gazette: The good roads bond issue is a clear cut proposition. There is no occasion for misunderstanding it in any way. Bedelia Went on the Stage.

Daddy's Bedtime Story

A Runaway Bear on a Boardwalk

DADDY had promised to tell Jack and Evelyn about the bear that ran away.

"Bedelia, the bear of which I am going to tell you," said he, "was a very well educated bear. Bedelia had been to school—bear school, I mean—and learned about everything that is taught to bears.

"And when she was through school Bedelia's master thought she ought to do something to earn a living. So Bedelia went on the stage.

"Bedelia and the other animals in the company that she belonged to were being exhibited for a week at a theater of one of the summer resort towns on the seashore near New York.

"Perhaps Bedelia wanted a breath of fresh air. At any rate, one afternoon, noticing the side door of the theater open, she padded toward it on her funny fat feet. One glance outdoors at the sunshine and the quiet street was enough for her. Bedelia felt that she must have a walk.

"So with a sly glance behind to make sure that none of the theater people were looking the bear stepped out. It was all right as long as she stayed on the quiet street, but when she swung into the main one, known as the Boardwalk, it was very different.

"This street was crowded with people out for a good time. When they saw the bear they were very much frightened. Some of them ran into shops, some climbed poles, while others ran as fast as their legs would carry them. The shouting brought a policeman around the corner, and when he saw the bear he was scared, too, but he did not run. He dodged about till he could get a rope and call another policeman to help him.

"As for Bedelia, she was enjoying herself hugely. She poked her pointed nose into every corner. She picked up some cakes and candy which people dropped in their flight. All the time she kept an eye on the policeman, for Bedelia saw they had a rope. She did not wish to go back to the theater and drill all day for the amusement of stupid human folk.

"When Bedelia's master, out of breath and anxious, reached her side the policeman had drawn their revolvers and were going to shoot her.

"When the officers heard that what they had taken for a savage beast from the wilderness was a nice tame bear that wouldn't hurt any one they tucked their guns into their pockets, looking very foolish.

"Bedelia's master walked up to her, patted her on the head and, taking her by the collar, led her meekly back to her box in the theater.

"Sorry? Of course Bedelia was sorry to have her holiday brought to a close, but Bedelia has hopes that the side door may be left open again."

A VOICELESS SERMON. He stands beneath the noonday's blazing sun. With head low drooping and the harshness of his eyes.

Upon his tired back; while from his neck The empty feed bag dangles to and fro.

Long has he stood, a patient, faithful steed. Flies sting and thirst assail, yet mindful still Of starved rein he stands at call of him.

Who owns his faithful body, every inch. And though requited only by the lash, Or vicious kick upon his galled side, Yet with a fortitude that questions not—

So human, oft times, that we bow in shame. He wants the signal, or the onward goad. A brute, we say, and forthwith like as such he gains its measure by use and deed.

As mark this creature, voiceless, soulless? Me thinks the heavenly weaver's oft would ring When such an one gains entrance to His joy.

FORSEES RECORD BUSINESS. General Manager of Great Northern Inspects Crops.

Sioux City, Ia., Aug. 3.—A special train on the Great Northern railroad arrived in Sioux City last night from St. Paul with several of the road's officials, who are making an inspection of the crops along the Iowa and South Dakota divisions of the road.

The special train was switched to the Milwaukee road and departed at 6 o'clock this morning for South Dakota points.

Mr. Kenney was met by P. J. Donohue, general superintendent of the Northern and Burlington roads in Sioux City.

Mr. Kenney said the Great Northern is now engaged in making preparations for handling the great crop offered by the Iowa and South Dakota divisions. New cars have been constructed; old cars have been overhauled, and many new engines added to the equipment.

"This trip is being made to get a line on the yield," he said. "We have a big job in front of us. You know big crops make a correspondingly large business. The Great Northern is getting ready to do the largest business it has ever done in this section of the country."

IN WOMAN'S REALM

A FEW UNUSUAL DISHES.

For those who are fond of Devonshire cream, which may be whipped and served on berries or used as pudding sauce, the characteristic flavor is enjoyed.

Madison Salad.—Cut up four cucumber lengths into cubes add a small onion slice cut fine; two tablespoons of chopped parsley, and pour over this a French dressing. Serve in tomato cups.

Orange Fluffs.—For a light biscuit for five o'clock tea or for a luncheon dainty, mix a baking powder biscuit dough, roll it out in small circles; dip cubes of sugar in orange juice and plunge into the center of each. Add brushing of melted butter and bake. Serve piping hot.

Baked Potatoes, Spanish Style.—Bake six medium sized potatoes, cut open lengthwise and remove the contents. Mash the potato with butter, onion, butter and salt and a little cream or milk. Replace in the shell, put a slice of sweet red pepper on the top, and cook in the oven.

Strawberry Filling for Cake.—Heat a cup of cream until stiff, add a third of a cup of powdered sugar and a pinch of salt. Fold carefully into the top of each cake.

Japanese Salad.—Remove ripe bananas from their skins, cut the fruit in cubes and mix with green peas and open lettuce. Arrange the salad in the shells, place on lettuce leaves and garnish with slices of banana overlapping.

MOCK VENISON. Leg of lamb, 4 pounds, 1 pint of currant or grape juice, 1/4 bay leaf, 2 cloves, 1 teaspoon of salt, 1/2 teaspoon of pepper, 1/4 teaspoon of curry powder, 2 cups of bread crumbs. Melted butter, 1/2 cup. Remove the bones from the meat. Cook roast in hot fruit juice for two minutes in a covered kettle. Add salt, pepper and curry powder. Broil bread crumbs, moisten with hot fruit juice and fill cavity in the roast. Place roast in pan, add bay leaf and cloves and pour fruit juice over. Bake one hour and 20 minutes.

SMALL ANGEL CAKE. Whites four eggs, half level teaspoon cream tartar, half cup granulated sugar, half cup flour, one-quarter teaspoon salt, half teaspoon almond extract.

Put the cream tartar in the whites of the eggs and beat to stiff froth, then beat in the sugar. Sift the salt with the flour and stir lightly into the other mixture. Add the flavoring and put into a small greased angel cake tin. Sprinkle the top with sugar. Bake twenty minutes in a moderate oven.

BEEF STEAK AND SPAGHETTI. Slice two green mango peppers and fry in two tablespoons of butter; add one pound of round steak, cut fine, and cook until brown. Then add small can tomatoes; salt to taste and add as much paprika as you like. Let this simmer about ten hours. Use as sauce well cooked spaghetti or macaroni. Grated cheese may be used over this.

HINTS THAT HELP. If a roast of meat browns rapidly, cover it with a buttered paper so that it will not burn.

In making stuffing for a loin of veal it will be very moist, for the meat itself has little moisture.

During the mosquito season, apply kerosene oil to the window and door screens, using a paint brush. It will keep the mosquitoes away and also remove the dust.

When you spade or plow the garden, let the hens run over it for a few hours. You will not have so many troublesome insects to contend with.

Leather can be cleaned very well with milk. Dust the leather thoroughly with a soft cloth, then use another cloth dipped in sweet milk and the spots will be easily removed.

Valuable lace should be kept wrapped in blue paper. White paper is often bleached with chloride of lime, which injuriously affects delicate fabric.

To save your matting make a cover of outing flannel to slip over your mat. This will keep the matting clean and will be found to take up the dust easily and saves the matting much wear.

Filling the bathtub sometimes makes much noise than we like, especially late at night or early in the morning. To prevent noise, attach a rubber hose to the faucet long enough to reach to the bottom of the tub. There will be no noise or splashing of water.

Nothing so economizes the wear of a street costume as to keep it only for the night. Have one or two dress gowns to wear at home. The comfort of a one-piece gown, into which one can slip in a minute's time and which can hardly be too highly appreciated.

NEW PINEAPPLE DESSERT. Pineapple Lun Pudding.—Soak one-half a box of gelatine in one-half a cup of cold water for half an hour. Then take one-half the juice of one can of pineapple and add enough water to make a pint. Stir in one cup of sugar and boil three minutes. While still hot pour over the gelatine. Let it stand until it begins to harden. Then whip until it is white. Let it alone until it has become enough to hold up the fruit. Add one-half cup of chopped pineapple. Let it harden and serve with whipped cream. You can use other fruit the same way.

MEXICAN CHILI CON CARNI. This recipe will make enough for four persons: Six chili peppers, washed, seeded and stemmed. Put the chili in a pot with two cups of hot water and boil for ten minutes, then rub through a colander until all the pulp is extricated, using the hot water in which the peppers were boiled to soften the pulp while passing through the colander. Put into a frying pan half a pound of round steak after it has been put through the meat chopper, a clove of garlic, mashed fine, butter the size of a hickory nut, and one-half teaspoon of salt. Simmer for a few minutes. Turn in the chili, and thicken the mixture with a tablespoonful of cornstarch. Have ready one-half can of red kidney beans, pot them into a sauce pan with one-quarter cup of water, and cook for a few minutes or until tender. Serve the beans on one side of the dish and the chili on the other, or if you prefer, mix all together.

QUIET FOWLS BY INJUNCTION

Cleveland Man With Noisy Poultry Must Maintain Silence Hereafter.

Cleveland, O., Aug. 3.—Sam Weiss, owner of an apartment house next door to the poultry yard of John Lefkowitz, yesterday brought suit for $1,000 damages against Lefkowitz and appealed for an injunction to restrain the fowls from disturbing the early morning slumbers of the apartment house tenants.

Common Pleas Judge W. B. Neff, granted the injunction, saying, when asked how he would restrain the squawking of the ducks, the cackling of the hens and the claxon cauls of the chattering, that the owner must "drive them away, muzzle them, or chop their heads off."

PIGEONS FOUND HIS RING

After Fifteen Years It Is Returned to Owner.

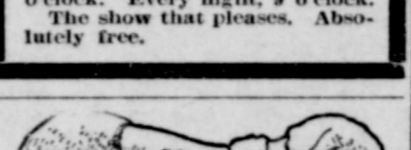

Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 3.—Fifteen years ago Joseph C. Baird, now cashier of the First National bank, of Washington, Pa., lost a gold band ring while out driving. Yesterday J. J. Davin, a retired manufacturer, brought the ring to Mr. Baird, after having found it in his pigeon loft. The only explanation advanced is that a pigeon owned by Mr. Davin found and carried the ring to the loft.

POLITICAL ADVERTISEMENTS. POLITICAL ADVERTISEMENTS.

To the People of Buchanan County:

My attention has been called to the advertisement of Rose Jones, candidate for Sheriff, wherein the following statement occurs: "The Sheriff's office belongs to the people and not to one family. Should a Sheriff, elected by the people, use the great influence and power of his office to elect a relative as his successor?"

Of course, this is a direct thrust at me, and those who are conversant with the political situation know that this statement emanated from his campaign manager who induced Jones to enter the race for sheriff on the very last day for filing nomination papers and who is really doing the running for Jones.

What are the real facts? Mr. Connors and myself married sisters. Prior to my election as sheriff, he had worked for many years as a switchman and brakeman in the railroad yards in St. Joseph, and after my election I appointed him as one of my deputies.

It is the first time he, or myself, or any member of my family ever held a political office.

Third, he NEEDS the office, it will GIVE HIM A START in life and will GIVE RECOGNITION to the great body of railroad workmen in our city, from whose ranks he comes and who ARE CONTRIBUTING out of their own pockets to give him a lift.

I agree with Jones' campaign manager when he says that the Sheriff's office BELONGS to the PEOPLE and NOT TO ONE FAMILY. I will even GO FURTHER. I maintain that every office belongs to the people and NOT TO ONE FAMILY, but Jones' campaign manager evidently forgot his own case when he made the CUTTING THRUST at JIM CONNORS over my head.

Over twenty years ago this campaign manager was given two terms as Sheriff of this county and drew from the public treasury Sixty Thousand Dollars ($60,000) in fees. Did he stop? No.

He shortly after asked for the County Collector's office, defeating as good and honorable a man and Democrat as there is in Buchanan county for this position. He held that job two terms, drawing out of the public treasury another Forty Thousand Dollars ($40,000) in fees. Did he stop then? No.

He used the great influence and power of his office to elect his chief deputy as his successor and then had his own brother-in-law appointed head deputy at a salary of Two Thousand Five Hundred Dollars ($2,500) per year, and succeeded in keeping his brother-in-law in that position for ten years, merely adding another Twenty-Five Thousand Dollars ($25,000) to the family pocketbook. Did he stop then? No.

He used HIS GREAT INFLUENCE as SHERIFF and COLLECTOR to help his cousin get the office of Sheriff. His cousin was elected and they quarreled over the division of the fees for the first term, and because his cousin would not divide the last term of his office with him he fought his own blood relation, his own cousin, all over Buchanan County, when his cousin made the race for County Collector and was defeated.

Only two years ago he backed his brother-in-law for County Collector but the Democrats of Buchanan County wisely, in my opinion, chose another. After being eliminated from the County pie fund, he then turned his attention to matters of state craft and tried to break into the legislature but the people wisely chose another.

After his hands were pried loose from County and State matters he then cast his longing eyes towards the City Hall and succeeded in landing his brother-in-law in a good fat job as well as his son, where they are being nicely cared for.

Now, I submit this question to every fair-minded man regardless of politics, creed or religion. Has not his family received VERY GENEROUS TREATMENT from the PEOPLE of Buchanan County? JUST THINK OF IT, for nearly a quarter of a century HIS FAMILY has DRAWN in the neighborhood of Two Hundred Thousand Dollars ($200,000) from the COUNTY and CITY treasury, and yet not satisfied.

Jones and his campaign manager know that Jim Connors is the man they have to beat in order that he can get the family hands into the public till. He is supporting Jones. His cousin, who was steward at the asylum for many years, who was sheriff for many years, who made the race for Collector and was defeated, is managing the campaign of McNamara.

True, Jones owns a four hundred and twenty acre farm in Crawford Township, worth Fifty Thousand Dollars ($50,000) and can lavishly finance his campaign manager's greedy taste. True, McNamara has held office for over twenty years and is well fixed financially, besides drawing a handsome salary as agent for a St. Louis wholesale firm. Poor Jim Connors has nothing to attract political spoilsmen in the form of a POWERFUL POLITICAL OFFICE-HOLDING FAMILY, and if defeated he can and will go back to railroading without a murmur, without a protest and without sulking.

VOTERS OF BUCHANAN COUNTY, SHALL IT ALWAYS BE THUS? The great political revolution now sweeping over the length and breadth of our fair land is caused by BOSS RULE, RING RULE and INDIFFERENCE to the tolling masses of the working men.

In presenting these facts to you I do so with the hope that you will study them carefully and cast your vote for that man, who in your individual judgment is worthy of your suffrage. Very respectfully yours, OTTO THEISEN, Sheriff.

AMERICAN ROAD CONGRESS

Convention Will Be Held at Atlantic City, September 30 to October 5.

Washington, Aug. 2.—While there are to be many popular features of the American Road Congress, which is to be held on the Million Dollar Pier in Atlantic City, September 30 to October 5, highway engineers and others interested in the actual construction of public roads will be chiefly interested in the construction and maintenance section of which Colonel E. A. Stevens, state road commissioner of New Jersey, is chairman. Both President Taft and Governor Woodrow Wilson are to make addresses at the congress and a number of ambassadors, army and navy men, governors of states, and other officials will be among the speakers.

Arrangements are being made to have all the state highway officials, county commissioners, mayors of cities, commissioners, county and state judges and members of state legislatures present at the congress. It is being pointed out by the officials of the great Road congress that a great deal of money can be saved to counties and municipalities by having their road and street officials attend the American Road congress at the expense of the state, county or city. The officials can see and critically examine every known labor and money saving device and equipment in competition with all known road materials; can study the government exhibits obtained without cost practically a library of national, state and commercial publications which will be on exhibition and hear addresses and discussions by men whose advice on a commercial basis would be worth thousands of dollars.

IOWA IN THE LEAD.

Takes First Rank as Stock Raising State.

Des Moines Register and Leader: Iowa's rank as a live stock state bids fair to rival the rank as a corn state. A census of the live stock and statistics on stock reared by the United States department of agriculture show that Iowa is leading and well up to the front in live stock.

According to the bulletin, the state for ten years has led all other states in the value of all live stock. Texas ranks second to Iowa in 1909 Iowa was first and Texas second in value and in 1910 Iowa and Texas are first and second keeping their respective values in the ten years.

Iowa is the leader in swine. The Iowa porker stands by himself, because of the fact, perhaps, he has been bred on Iowa corn. At any rate, Iowa tops all states in the matter of swine. The state of Illinois is the runner up in this product for ten years.

In the number of cattle the Lone Star state tops the Hawkeye state. Iowa was second in 1909, with Texas first, and this ratio has been maintained during the ten years. In the number of dairy cows Iowa is third. New York leads with Wisconsin second. Iowa takes third rank in the number of horses, mules, asses, and burros on her farms. Texas and Illinois are the only other states leading Iowa.

In the values of live stock Iowa leads all states in the west north central division. The value of all live stock in 1910 as given by the report is $393,003,156. This is a gain of 40 per cent over the value in 1900. In the value of domestic animals Iowa leads, the value being $33,201,256, a gain of nearly 40 per cent since 1900. The value of Iowa poultry in 1912 is given by the bulletin as $12,269,331 or an increase of 37.7 per cent over 1910.

CORN MAKES RAPID GROWTH

Weather in Iowa Has Been Ideal for Crops.

Des Moines, Ia., Aug. 2.—The Iowa weather and crop bureau issued the following bulletin:

The conditions during the past week were almost ideal for growing crops and for haying, harvesting and threshing. The temperature was about normal, and while the rainfall was generally deficient, nearly all parts of the state received light to copious showers. Some localities in the southern districts, however, need rain badly for corn, potatoes and pastures. Reports show some exceptionally large yields and fine quality of grain. The yield of winter wheat ranges from twenty-five to fifty bushels per acre; oats, thirty to sixty-five and barley twenty-two to thirty bushels. No timothy has yet been threshed, but a large acreage has been cut for seed. Corn has made rapid growth and the early fields are shooting nicely, but the crop as a whole is not yet quite up to the normal in size and development, although the prospects are good for better than an average yield if favorable weather continues. Potatoes are generally in good condition and give promise of a large crop.

BIG GRASS SEED CROP.

Missouri Seed Harvest Nets Farmers of State $1,000,000 Annually.

Columbia, Mo., Aug. 2.—Missouri has this year harvested the best crop of "Kentucky bluegrass" seed in her history. The shipment from one Knox county town in northeast Missouri is estimated at 100,000 bushels, as compared with 55,000 last year. One Jackson county farmer harvested 1,000 bushels and another has had 900 more but for a storm at harvest time. A "stripper," a spiked-cylinder arrangement, is used in harvesting the seed.

Red top is another grass crop of importance, especially in southwest Missouri. This crop is harvested with a binder, shocked like wheat, and later threshed. The yield runs from 4 to 12 bushels per acre, 14 pounds constituting a bushel. The price is variable—from 5 to 14 cents per pound, although it has sold as high as $14.50 per hundredweight. Another grass seed crop of Missouri is "English bluegrass," grown in Henry, St. Clair and other counties of that section. Wesley Griffith was a pioneer grower, and his daughter, whose home is in Henry county, has many acres of the grass. This year five carloads have been shipped from Lowry City alone. The price has been 12 1/2 cents per pound, or $3 per bushel of 24 pounds. With a yield of from 15 to 19 bushels on best meadows this means returns of from $39 to $57 per acre.

The Missouri state board of agriculture is calling attention to the fact that the grass seed crop of the state for an average year is worth $1,000,000.

DEMAND FOR KANSAS STRAW

Straw Threshing Mills in East Look Westward for Raw Material.

Hutchinson, Kan., Aug. 1.—Because there is almost a failure of the wheat crop in the eastern states, and a consequent shortage of wheat straw, the eastern straw board mills are going to ship straw from Kansas.

Representatives of two of the large straw board companies of the east were in Hutchinson this week, negotiating with big wheat growers regarding straw supply and also figuring on freighting straw from Hutchinson to the eastern mills.

The Western Straw Products Co., of Hutchinson, has contracts for a large quantity of straw, and will have no trouble getting plenty to run the plant the first year.

"There is enough wheat straw in Reno county alone this year to keep our plant running for two years," declared an officer of the straw board company.

Reports from Indiana, Illinois, Ohio and other eastern states in the big straw board districts show that there is not more than 25 per cent of a crop this year and that the straw is very light and poor.

Freight rates on straw from the Kansas wheat belt to these eastern states are so high that it will make the price unusually high at the mills.

"The result is bound to be an advance in the price of straw board," said a local straw board man. "As these big eastern mills fix the market price, we will benefit by it. Every cent of advance will make that much better price for us, and give us that much more of a margin."

MOUNTAIN ROAD CONVICTS

Arizona Honor Prisoners Start Work on Globe-Ray Road.

Globe, Ariz., Aug. 2.—Governor Hunt, accompanied by R. B. Sims, warden of the Florence penitentiary, and thirty "honor" convicts, who started overland from Ray, Monday, have arrived at the probation camp in the Pinal mountains, where the prisoners will make their quarters while working on the Globe-Ray road.

Aside from the suffering of the convicts from the heat, to which they were unaccustomed, and a runaway, in which the governor sustained minor bruises, the trip was without incident. The chief executive said he would continue the "honor" convict system, permitting the men to work without guards.

A MORRIS PLANT IN DENVER?

Packing Concern Said to Be Considering Erection of $2,000,000 House.

Denver, Aug. 1.—Edward Morris of the packing house firm of Morris & Co., which is reported to be looking into the Denver situation with a view of building a $2,000,000 packing plant here, has made personal inspection of conditions here, arriving in his private car over the Denver & Rio Grande. Mr. Morris has been traveling through the stock raising districts of western Colorado, Utah, Idaho and Montana.

The visit of Morris, following the transfer Saturday night of the Western and Colorado packing plants to Swift & Co. and Armour & Co., is considered of special significance at this time.

GOOD YIELDS OF GRAIN.

Wheat Threshed 36 Bushels and Oats 51 Bushels Near Hamilton, Mo.

Hamilton, Mo., Aug. 2.—Corn is looking fine in this vicinity and a good rain in the next few days will insure a bumper crop. The farmers are nearly through harvesting and from the surrounding country come reports of good wheat and oats yield. J. C. Hartley, two miles south of here, threshed thirty-two acres and it produced thirty-six bushels to the acre. Silas Sloan, seven miles southwest, threshed thirty acres that yielded an average of thirty bushels to the acre. Isaac Emory's oats crop produced more than fifty bushels to the acre and that of Chas. Bradley made nearly fifty-one bushels to the acre.

$50 FOR A COUNTRY HAM

Missouri Agricultural Board Seeks to Encourage Meat Curing On the Farm.

Columbia, Mo., Aug. 2.—In order to encourage the curing of meat on Missouri farms the State Board of Agriculture, T. C. Wilson, Secretary, Columbia, will hold a ham and bacon show during Farmers' Week, January 13 to 17, 1913. Fifty dollars—$25, $15 and $10—will be given in premiums for best country cured ham, and the same premiums will be awarded on country bacon. Entrance will be free. Farmers should "get aside" choice pieces of meat now, or may enter meat butchered early enough next fall to allow curing.

273,515 FLIES KILLED.

But Swatters Feel Discouraged Since Insect Forces Show No Decrease.

Flushing, L. I., July 31.—In the swat-the-fly campaign which ended at Flushing, 232,225 flies were accumulated. Frank Seidenwurm, the winner of the first prize, swatted 362 ounces. John Palmer being second with 314 ounces, and William Kolch third with 173 ounces.

The promoters of the campaign are discouraged, as there does not appear to be any material decrease in the fly population of Flushing.

GOBURN ON ALFALFA

SECRETARY OF KANSAS BOARD OF AGRICULTURE CALLS IT THE PRINCE OF HAYS.

IS BIG ASSET OF THE WEST

Tells of Some of the Wonders of This Great Forage in Speech Before National Hay Association.

Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 2.—F. G. Coburn, secretary of the Kansas State Agricultural Board, delivered a most interesting address before the recent meeting of the National Hay Dealers' Association on the subject of alfalfa. Secretary Coburn spoke in part as follows: New as it is to us, there appears no record of a time when alfalfa was not in some portion of the world appreciated as an important factor in profitable husbandry and a benefactor to agriculture.

However fair-minded, the credulity of those who are strange to alfalfa is invariably taxed by a recitation of the unvarnished facts about this remarkable plant; the truth even when discounted half leaves its hearers perturbed as to the veracity or the sanity of the narrator. Those who have known it longest and best are the ones who esteem it most highly; in fact, very few who have once raised or used it as a feed are satisfied to be without an enlarged acreage and its increased use, out it as a rule they contemplate an enlarged acreage and its increased use.

Prince of drouth-resistant, it produces with an annual rainfall as scant as 14 inches; in the Gulf states it flourishes with 65 inches. It gives crops at an elevation of 8,900 feet, and in the sandy beach of the former Saltion sea of Southern California grows with irrigation, 60 feet below sea level, to a height of six feet or more, with sometimes nine cuttings a year, aggregating 10 to 12 tons; similar results, exceptional of course, have been attained without irrigation in the Central West. New York has grown it for nearly a century in her clay and gravel; Nebraska grows it in her Western sand hills without plowing, as does Nevada on her sage-brush desert. The depleted cotton soils of the South and rich corn lands of Kansas, Missouri and Illinois respond with profitable yields; the nitrogen it accumulates and the sub-soiling it effects are making the best lands still more valuable while it restores to the crop-worn soils the priceless elements of which they have been in successive generations despoiled by a remorseless husbandry. It has made millions of money for and added thousands of inhabitants to Nebraska and Kansas within the past decade. It means the building of creameries and factories, the multiplication of dairy herds, the establishment of combination dairy and stock farms, rearing of better live stock, and the promotion of diversified farming. It has been well said that "alfalfa is to a region and you change its history."

Kansas is unique in many things, but none more so in the commanding position she occupies with no near competitor, in alfalfa growing, having already more than a million acres (40,000 acres in a single county), and mainly acquired within the past 30 years. Her advancement in this is one of the marvels of her prolific agriculture, and in alfalfa, as in winter wheat, no other state approaches her. The phenomenal success of alfalfa in Kansas has sold more Kansas and Nebraska land and at higher prices than any other one growth, commodity, or influence. Hay lands, with almost no exception, are being made at a $5 valuation, have been quick sales at $40, $75 and sometimes $100 per acre when secured to this wonderful forage; alfalfa has been made a byword for the best, have year after year paid their owners 10 to 40 per cent on valuations of $200 or more per acre. Some of the agricultural authorities in Illinois are on record with declarations that a prosperous stand of alfalfa in that state will pay six to seven per cent on land at a valuation of $1,000 per acre. The highest development of modern agriculture. No other farms change hands less frequently than those having well set alfalfa fields, because their owners know of no other investment likely to pay so well, and are fearful of naming prices they may later regret.

In Kansas and Nebraska, the states having given it largest recognition, alfalfa-growing has been the hand-maiden of prosperity, and is the dependable promoter of progress. From obscurity this legume has steadily risen hereto the foremost place among arable plants, and has already quadrupled our output of tame hay. In 1899 the value of Kansas' tame hay was $2,000,000, while in 1911 it was nearly $19,000,000. The annual value of her live stock products in that time has doubled and alfalfa has made of Kansas, if not first, one of the leading states in dairying; a branch of husbandry which, intelligently and generally followed, well insures continued and enlarged success. In alfalfa average Nebraska, roughly speaking, have half as much; Idaho and Utah, one-third; and Montana and Oklahoma, one-fourth as much. Gateway from these greatest hayfields, Kansas City must in the nature of things continue as she is, the great outlet for their products.

So far back as any of us can remember timothy and clover were regarded as the staple hays, and without rivals, but for young animals especially the one thing desired above all others is protein; the element that makes bone and muscle and blood rather than fat, and the Wisconsin experiment station, one of the most dependable, says an acre of alfalfa will yield three times as much protein as an acre of clover, nine times as much as an acre of timothy, and 12 times as much as an acre of bromus grass. Silage is rated high as a winter feed on account of its succulence, but experienced feeders who know alfalfa hay insist that cut at the right stage of maturity, properly cured and

COMMITTEE ON THE TERRITORIES HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES, WASHINGTON, D. C.

July 24, 1912.

My Dear Judge Booher: Before I leave for Alaska I wish to perform a pleasant duty in thanking you for your active and always earnest assistance in securing the passage of the Alaska Home Rule Bill through the House of Representatives. For two years I was unable to secure any favorable action upon this or any other progressive legislation for Alaska, but when you and your friends came into control of the House Committee on Territories, Alaska was given prompt and sympathetic consideration. As a member of that Committee, and the Sub-Committee having immediate charge of Alaskan legislation, you gave the territory your active and best efforts in aid of the Home Rule Bill and other legislation which, through your efforts, has now happily passed Congress. Through your active labors, and that of your fellow members, Alaska now has an assurance of an elective legislative body by which her people can organize and assist in protecting themselves and the great publicly owned resources there from monopoly and exploitation by the Guggenheim and other big interests which have long controlled it and taken the choicest wealth of the territory in violation of right and justice. No one has done more to secure the enactment of progressive legislation for Alaska than you, and it is a pleasant duty to thank you for the people of that territory, and for myself as their representative.

Very truly your friend, JAMES WICKERSHAM, Delegate from Alaska.

Hon. Chas. F. Booher, House of Representatives.

I have requested The News-Press to publish the above letter in their news columns in order that the people of Northwest Missouri might know that Mr. B. C. Biggerstaff, reporter on The Gazette, and press agent for B. R. Martin, is mistaken. The News-Press having declined to publish same, I use the advertising columns.

PAY ACTORS BY THE YARD

Illuminating Statistics Come to Light in Suit Brought by Moving Picture Concern.

Bernhardt's acting is worth a cent a yard, Coquelin's costs 5 cents and Eva Lavalliere can and does draw 10 cents for every three feet of her posing. These illuminating statistics came to light in the course of a suit which one of the picture companies is bringing because several miles of the product furnished them was said to be below standard.

That acting ought to be paid for by the yard is no new idea, although it is not generally stated with such brutal frankness. An evening's "entertainment" has to last a certain conventional number of minutes, or it is "not worth the money." It has to be cut into a conventional number of pieces and adorned with a certain kind of conventional embroidery. The "star" has to be on the stage a good portion of the time; in other words, he or she must contribute a certain number of yards of acting at every performance or the public will go where they can get more stuff for their money.

Bernhardt gets less from the moving picture people than Lavalliere—about one-tenth as much. That, also, is a good, concrete illustration of the market tendencies which we deplore in theory and encourage in practice throughout our own theatrical season. Public demand, after all, determines the prices if not the values of the theatrical commodities just as it does in other industries. If we can be induced to pay most for the tinsel and paste, for the shoddy and the highly-colored cotton, it is hardly fair to put all the blame on the managers. To use one of the classical expressions of our modern Rialto, theatrical managers are not "in it for their health."

WHAT THE MOSQUITO COSTS.

The foremost authority on the mosquito, Doctor Howard, of the department of agriculture has more than once called attention to the enormous money losses caused by mosquitoes. It appears that the value of real estate in regions infested by them is reduced beyond calculation. The development of one whole state—New Jersey—has been held back by the pest. In several states lands, eminently fitted for grazing and dairying cannot be effectively used for such purposes because of the attacks of mosquitoes on the cattle, thus reducing the yield of milk. In the vicinity of New York and Philadelphia there are large areas of land rendered almost uninhabitable by swarms of these insects, and this notwithstanding the advances made in the destruction of their breeding places.

In some parts of the northwestern states horses must be covered in the daytime with sheets to protect them from the attacks of mosquitoes. It has been estimated that the cost of house screens in the United States is something like ten millions of dollars

GOETHALS TOLD THEM HOW.

The following story is told of Col. George W. Goethals, who at the time it took place was an instructor in engineering at West Point. One day, in a recitation, he gave out this question to a class of cadets: "The post flagpole, 80 feet high, has fallen down. You are ordered by your commanding officers to put it up again. You have under your command a sergeant and 10 privates of the engineer corps. How would you get the pole back into place?"

Each cadet, after long consideration and much flurrying over derricks, blocks, tackle and so on, evolved a different method. "No," said Goethals, "you are all wrong. You would simply say: 'Sergeant, put up that flagpole!'"—Saturday Evening Post.
