COWS. BUILDS AND MIXED. It was easy sailing for salesmen in this division. Demand overbalanced supply and as usual under such cir-cumstances sellers were able to get prompt action on their holdings at somewhat better terms. Canners and cutters ruled steady to strong compared with yesterday, while medium to good cows and heifers ruled firm to 10c higher. Clearance at the improved basis was effected with little delay. The market furnished at least one sensational sale—that of two prime fat Angus cows at $7.75, the highest price paid for cows here in months past. Corn-fed helfers were saled there were relatively few. scarce and there were relatively few desirable grassers. A few good fleshy cows sold at $6.00@6.25. Sales above this latter mark were few and far this latter mark were few and far between but the sale of the two ani-mals at $7.75 shows that quality and fat are appreciated by buyers,

Bulls, owing to their scarcity, sold relatively better than yesterday. Most traders quoted it a nominally strong market. Veals were a shade higher, and it was not as hard work as early in the week to land $9.00 for good calves. Bulls, owing to their scarcity, sold

HOG CARCASSES POISONOUS

Serious Complaint Made in Pettis County, Missouri.

Sedalia, Mo., Oct. 24.—S. M. Jordan, manager of the Pettis County Bureau of Agriculture, says that some of the streams of Pettis county are being polluted by farmers throwing into the water carcasses of hogs that have died of cholera.

Sedalia derives its water supply from Flat Creek, three miles south, and it is said that some of the creeks that have been polluted empty into that stream.

Jordan says that last week on a

that stream.

Jordan says that last week on a drive he noticed a certain place here there were many buzzards. He ascertained that a farmer had thrown into a stream hogs that had died of cholera. The law provides a fine of from $10 to $50 for each conviction for failure to burn or bury hogs that have died of cholera.

SEVERED HAND TO DOCTOR

Cut Off by Silage Cutter He Seeks to Have It Replaced.

Have It Replaced.

Keefton, Okla., Oct. 23.—Ray Morgan, 20 years old, holds the record for nerve among the farmers of this part of Oklahoma. By accident he lost his right hand in a silage cutter. Morgan at once recovered his hand, wrapped it in a handkerchief, and hastened as quickly as possible to Muskogee to see if the hand could not be replaced.

The accident occurred at 10:30 o'clock in the forenoon. Morgan stopped the flow of blood, caught a Midland Valley train, and by 11:45 o'clock was in Muskogee at the office of Dr. Reynolds. Unfortunately, it was impossible to replace the hand.

Chicago and New York makers of cigarets and Weinshnk will put his tobacco on the market by seiling it direct to these manufacturers. Russian tobacco has small leaves and is very fine in texture and very strong in flavor, but has an excellent aroma. Its color is brighter than Carolina "brights" even without being bleached. While the yield per acre can not be as large as white or red Burley, yet the high price which it brings will more than compensate the grower for the difference in yield per acre.

Spokane, Wash., Oct. 23,—Mayor William J. Hindley, of Spokane, has taken the warpath against the ancient enemy, high cost of living. His fight promises to be a novel one. The first investigation will be into the cost of beef. In the presence of the mayor and special committee a beef will be cut up, weighed, invoiced and priced per pound for various cuts and parts, according to the present scale of retail prices. Two of the vetrinarians of the Spakane health department will be present to check the weights and cuts and to render expert advice. By this means the mayor, who is acting on the request of retailers, who claim they are not to blame for the high living cost, hopes to be able to determine just what class is responsible. Mayor Hindley has not indicated to what other fields his probe of the national question will extend.

The animal had got in its uncomfortable position by falling ten feet from a bank that overtopped the tree. The tree probably saved the horse's life.

Blocks and fall were fastened to a tree stump on top of the hill and leather belts were wrapped about the horse. When the work of hitching the belts was completed it was found that the animal could not be rescued until several of the limbs of the tree were cut off. This took considerable time, during which the horse rested and watched the work of the score or more of men who were trying to release him. With the removal of the last limb the horse was slowly drawn to the top of the bank from which he had fallen. A close examination revealed that outside of a few scratches he was unhurt.-Baltimore American.

A certain Captain Kelly was the first to notice that whales sing. One Sunday, while officers from three whaling ships were "gamming" over their afternoon walrus meat, Kelly started up with "I hear a bowhead!" There was much chaffing about "Kelly's here are no greater delicacies to be band," but Kelly weighed anchor, and went to find the band-wagon. Every seared on the tables of the emperor sail followed his, with the result that three whales were bagged.

Among bowheads, this singsong is a call that the leader of the school, as he forces a passage through Bering sea, makes in order to notify those that follow that the straits are clear Walruses and seals and all true mamnals that have lungs and live in the water have a bark that sounds strange enough as it comes up from hidden depths. Every lookout from the masthead notices that, when one whale is struck, the whole school is "gallied" or stampeded at the very impact of the harpoon; they have heard the death song.

The sound that the bowhead makes is like the long-drawn-out "hoo-hoo-oooo!" of the hoot-owl. A whaler says that the cry begins on F, and may rise to A, B, or even C before slipping back to F again. He assures us that with the humpback the tone is much a totally different fish the next finer, and sounds across the water like ay? > Strindberg Not at Home. In an appreciative article upon the late August Strindberg, which appears in Harper's weekly, James Huneker describes his interview with the Swedish writer. He traveled from New York in the hope of meeting him. It was a chilly night in June when his friends threw gravel at Strindberg's window and bawled at him. Presently a tremendous head on a tremendous pair of shoulders came into view. A volley of words, a verbal broadside, and the window crashed down again. After the laughter had died away I innocently asked what he had said is he retired," writes this author. "He Musical Insects.

A carefully trained mind and ear are indispensable to enable one to detect and to discriminate readily from the general insect medley any particular species of musician.

As with birds and their songs, much of the charm and pleasure to be gotten from insect music depends on the emotional coloring associated with it. We are enraptured with the notes of the peepee in spring, or the earlier piping of the frogs, not because these sounds in themselves possess any in-trinsic sweetness, but becathey recall endearing memories of many happy, hopeful springtimes. They are always the harbingers of another verdant season. Their plaintive notes add to our minds an emotional warmth and sunshine. The yawaken for us an inner, subjective springtime.

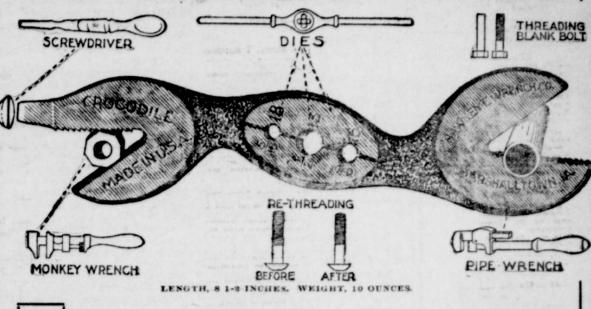

In a similar way the crickets and katydids gladden and inspire us with their music in proportion as their notes have become associated in our minds with the emotional coloring of past memories .- Country Life in America.
