HAVANA'S FIGHT WITH PLAGUE.

Bubonic Plague (Black Death) broke out last summer in Havana, several cases developing before its presence was known. Three hundred years ago, such an occurrence would have been followed by a fearful outbreak of plague, which would have killed from one-quarter to one-third of the people, the only remedy for which would have been charms and incantations.

The orders to wash out the floors daily with carbolic solutions for the destruction of fleas were cheerfully obeyed, not only in the infected district, but throughout the city.

FIFTY YEARS OF FAILURE.

In 1862 Justin S. Morrill, then a representative in congress from the state of Vermont, believing that the welfare of the country demanded special education along the lines of agriculture and the mechanic arts, introduced what has been since known as the Morrill agricultural college bill.

It is recognized that in order to have the advantages of next season's crops, the locators should have time to get on the land, make certain improvements and do preliminary work.

A notable French visitor speaks with surprise of the many points of similarity between the French people and the Americans. He is merely making the obverse of a discovery which has puzzled many thousands of American travelers.

Three great races, Teutonic, Celtic and Latin, are represented today in the population of France. Twenty nationalities have fused to make the French nationality.

WAGES OF FARM LABOR

and buggy, probably reaching as high a frequency as weekly use, range from 87 cents to $2.37. The estimated value of the fruit given to the family of the laborers was reported to be worth from 89 cents to $1.84 per month; the value of the stabling for the laborer's horse, if he had one, was estimated to be 45 cents to $2 per month; and the laundry service for the laborer was estimated to range from 75 cents to $2 a month.

The increase in the purchasing power in the wage rates of farm laborers as compared with that of workmen was ascertained by the Bureau of Labor. The purchasing power of wages in terms of retail prices of food from 1890 to 1898 is regarded as being 100.0. For the period 1899 to 1907, the purchasing power in the case of workmen increased only to 101.4, but in the case of farm laborers, the purchasing power of wages per month in hiring by the year and season increased to 111.7, and of day rates for other than harvest work to 115.2.

When the domestic labor of women on farms receives attention, this subject was first investigated in 1902. In hiring by the season, the wage rates of the domestic labor of women on the farm are higher than in hiring by the year. The monthly rate by the season was $7.71 in 1902; $11.95 in 1906, and $12.92 in 1909. The Western division of states has an average rate far above the average for the United States in 1909, namely, $21.55; the rates for the North Atlantic and North Central divisions are a little above the national average, while in the North Central division the average is $9.92; and in the South Atlantic division, $8.23.

The old-time domestic industries are all but forgotten. The women of the farm make no more soap, candles, or lye, and so on with a long list of domestic products of former days. It is rare that one of the younger of the women knows how to knit. Throughout large areas the pride of the housewife is great store of preserves, dried and pickled fruits, berries and vegetables exists chiefly in history, and dependence is placed mostly upon the local store for the products of the canner and the evaporator.

What has struck Professor Petrie is the extraordinary preservation of the woodwork and clothing unearthed from these places of interment of long ago. A great sheet of linen which is placed on exhibition is as fresh and as firm as when cut from the original length—and it is some 6,000 years old.

ARMY STYLES NEW TO HER Conscientious Laundress Meant Well, but Her First Efforts Utterly Failed to Please. At the army post a new laundry had been installed and the management was specially anxious to please and advised that mending would be included in the work.

Why We Have No Paris

There can never be in the United States a real Paris of America until we shall get ranks and orders of nobility, and that will only be when our republic shall develop into a grand imperial nation. Under a newly acquired emperor a titled class would follow as a matter of course, and the easiest way to get it would be to sell the titles. Ten million dollars would buy a dukedom, $5,000,000 the title of count, and $1,000,000 that of baron.

Until then our great metropolitan cities will never be more than mere centers of business and capital.—New Orleans Picayune.

Taxation. "In what respect do you complain of being overtaxed?" asked the persuasive campaigner. "Well," replied Farmer Cornssoel, handing him several pages of literature, "chiefly in respect to my credulity."

Why He Chose It. "Do I understand that your son wants to be a doctor?" "Yes." "What for?" "He wanted to follow a profession that would furnish him with a good excuse for staying out late nights, I think."

JERRY O'BRIEN WASN'T BUNCOED United Doctors Gave Him Many Times the Worth of His Money. Carrollton, Mo., Contractor Cured After Six Different Doctors Had Failed.

The fact that the United Doctors, who have their St. Joseph offices located at 129 Felix street, second floor, see fit to call about their remarkable work and successes through the columns of the newspapers gives some people the impression that there must be some humbug about it. To be sure, these people think none the less of the merchant who tells them about his carrying, neither does their course of reason lead to condemn the evangelist who uses the press to further his success in reaching unsaved souls. But when an association of physicians have spent a life time in study and research and perfected discoveries and methods which are of incalculable value to the human race, they perform must hide the results of their work from the world and allow mankind to suffer on—such is the reasoning of a few prejudiced people.

The United Doctors avoid announcement of their success in relieving humanity to be published in the papers because in no other way can they reach the many people who are in need of their treatment. Hundreds of names remain unrecorded today had they not first read of the cure of some hereby acquaintance or neighbor who had suffered as they were suffering. There were lead to investigate by this means alone, and so found the road to health by first reading about it in the newspaper.

The United Doctors wish to spread the good news of their success and cures to the uttermost parts of the country. Many patients, happy over their own release from disease, are glad and anxious to help others to find the right doctors. That is why they tell about it in the newspapers. Mr. J. O'Brian, a prominent contractor living in Carrollton, Mo., is one whom certain misadventures and unkind friends tried to dissuade from going to the United Doctors, but he came and investigated, took the treatment and was cured.

I would like to tell all sick people how well I have done under the United Doctors' treatment after trying six different doctors before going to these specialists. For two years I suffered with a weakness which caused me to faint nearly at times; my stomach and liver was in terrible condition and I had constant headaches. No physician seemed to find the cause or relieve me a particle, and so I went on from bad to worse. I was finally advised to consult the United Doctors by people who knew about their work and cures, which I did, and they seemed to understand my case from the start; anyway I commenced getting better at once and am still improving rapidly. I don't have the dizziness and faint spells any more, I get up in the morning feeling fine and am doing well in every way. My friends notice a great change for the better in my appearance, and I know now that I am only a short distance from a complete cure. Some said I would be "buncoed" in some way if I consulted the United Doctors, but it is all the other way. I have received many times the worth of the small fees I have paid them. I can recommend the United Doctors for their skillful service in chronic troubles and for their straightforward way of dealing with patients. JERRY O'BRIAN, 407 No. Lealie St.

St. Joseph's Greatest Christmas Store! We have been partial to the children always. In each and every department where Children's Goods happen to be carried, we have seen to it that the lines were complete and of the best, and were kept so. It is no wonder then that our great Toy Store is the most complete store of its kind in this section of the state, containing EVERYTHING that has been made in toys. Now-a-days the tendency in Toys is toward the useful and instructive. There are, of course, many useful Toys among the staple lines you've been used to seeing from childhood, but it is chiefly among the newer Toys which are originated year by year, that this tendency is felt. It's a very practical way to take the Toy proposition, too. Puts the children to thinking, directs their minds into practical channels, amuses and instructs at the same time. Our Toy Department, filled to overflowing, opens early next week with a real live Santa Claus in charge—a feature of never-failing interest to the youngsters. And since the weather's nice now, take the train, come to town and bring the children with you. It's time to do Christmas buying anyway, and we are READY for you in every department of the store.
