This is National Education Week, and schools have opened their doors to mamas and papas. Good idea. Helps the teacher get a better picture of why Junior is like he is, and it also helps the parents to see why Junior does or does not like Miss Jones, as the case may be.

The old folks have been making the rounds of the classrooms in special short-session periods. Schools might have had regular one-hour periods for the parents except many of the parents can't go that long without a smoke. Of course some of them couldn't make all the classroom periods even on a shortened schedule because they just couldn't walk that far or that fast. This business of going to school these days in the sprawling, one-story buildings is far more strenuous than it was in the old-fashioned one-room building which papa attended.

I recall my own final classroom visiting night. The daughter was a senior in a huge, sprawling building that covered a solid block and accommodated 2,200 pupils in that one building. There was a patio in the center and in good weather pupils could cut across that to get from one wing to another of this sprawling monstrosity. But unfortunately it rained that night, so we had to make the full round. Mama and I made three of the four classrooms but we had to skip third period entirely in order to do so.

Teachers stood around in the classrooms and said, "Oh, how nice to meet you; so you are Fran's parents?" Of course in some instances she didn't know Fran from Adam's well-known off-ox, but the teachers were nice enough not to let us know this.

Earlier — back when Fran was in junior high school (which was another sprawling monstrosity) — I asked the assistant principal why they didn't have children come along with the parents on parents' nights, and he gave me a very frank answer: "It's because we don't want the children to intimidate their parents. We want the parents to feel free to ask questions of the teachers and if we had the pupils here, too, the parents would be scared to ask questions. You see the modern parent is afraid of this introvert of a child that he has stired. In other words, kids these days run the household — not the parents."

Now that, I must admit, is sometimes the case, although I don't believe it is true in every household and I hope such wasn't the case in our own household. I recall the woman who came into a Muleshoe business one day a few weeks ago, towing a 5-year-old with her. The child decided to climb on the counter and investigate a billing machine. The mama admonished him to leave the machine alone. The lad hit the ceiling, almost literally. "No," he stormed, "I want to play with this thing, and I'm going to and you can't make me stop!"

And you know what? She couldn't! He played with the billing machine because his mother didn't dare cross him. He was the boss! It took 30 minutes after the mama and offspring left to put the machine back into condition.

My hat is off to teachers who manage to make good citizens out of spoiled brats. In fact, the discipline in Muleshoe Schools seems to be very good indeed. And the schools here are doing an excellent job of classroom work, too. One of the things in which schools have improved over the old system is in the matter of teaching spelling and reading. Even the little tykes can do a good job of both of these subjects, thanks for a system of phonetics and syllable-spelling which is relatively new.

Cotton May Exceed Predictions

Schools' 'At Home' A Success

Muleshoe schools were "at home" this week to parents, and literally hundreds turned out for the two-night event. All five schools were open as part of the local schools' observance of National Education Week.

Junior and senior high schools held their open house on Monday night while Richland Hills, DeShazo and Hilltop were "at home" to patrons Tuesday night.

Pupils were on hand in many rooms to help with demonstrations and to exhibit work done so far this year. Parents made shortened classroom sessions.

Rotarians Hear District Chief

Muleshoe Rotary club heard District Governor Floyd Stark, Seminole, speak on the Rotary slogan, "service above self" at their Tuesday luncheon.

He pointed to the four basic beliefs of Rotary: 1. The development of acquaintance as an opportunity for service; 2. High ethical standards in business and professions, the recognition of the worthiness of all useful occupations and the dignifying by each Rotarian of his occupation as an opportunity to serve society; 3. The application of the ideal of service by every Rotarian to his personal business and community life; 4. The advancement of international understanding, good will and peace through a world fellowship of business and professional men united in the ideal of service.

He added: "There is a challenge to each of us as members of Rotary clubs, first to make sure that within each of us the spark of Rotary is fanned into the full flame of personal service, and second to work with enthusiasm and fervor to assist each Rotarian within our clubs consciously to kindle within himself the spark of Rotary and keep it aglow and bright."

The program will then be submitted to the chamber's board of directors early in December and when approved, will be publicized at the annual membership meeting January 16, it was explained by the chamber.

The committee will undertake to submit a program of work for the chamber which will be of benefit in several areas, and which will be based on the most

Dimmitt Game To Decide Mules' Conference Hope

By COY GABBERT
Journal Staff Writer

Muleshoe will go to Dimmitt Friday night — en masse. That was the indication Thursday as ticket sales got underway for the game which will determine whether Muleshoe will wind up its 1962 season with a perfect record in 3-AA conference.

Tickets went on sale Wednesday, and will be available until 5 p.m. Friday at the school administration office, Superintendent Neal Dillman said. A total of 300 adult and 150 student tickets are available here, and every ticket is expected to be sold before tomorrow night's all-important game.

Price is $1.25 for adults, 50 cents for students. The Muleshoe Mules kept their conference record perfect last Friday night. The Mules have not been scored on in conference play. The Friona Chiefs took the ball on their own 15 on the kickoff and ran to the 33. They moved the ball to the Mules 32 and had to kick. Muleshoe took over on their 4. Eleven plays later, Jerry Harrison carried the ball over from the Chiefs 36 for 6 points. Jimmy Cabrera's kick for the extra point was good. Friona took the kick on the 14 and ran it back to the 33. In seven plays they moved it to their 45 and punted to the Mules 22. Muleshoe took over and moved to their 48 and had to punt as the first quarter ended with the score 7-0 in favor of the Mules.

'Routine' Council Session is Set

The Muleshoe City Council will meet Thursday in what City Manager Albert Field called a "routine" session.

He said a "short" agenda had been prepared for the meeting, which will include a discussion of extension of water lines into the balance of Harvey addition north of U.S. highway 84 on the west side of Muleshoe. Only part of that area is served at the present time, it was explained.

Some time also will be spent discussing the complete new water ordinance, a seven-page document which sets up all the rules for operating the water system. The new ordinance replaces several old ordinances, Field said, and is the most complete and comprehensive ordinance yet drawn for governing water operation.

The city also has announced that bids will be sought for an extension to the city fire department building. The city plans to build a new masonry structure, 38 feet, 8 inches by 12 feet, 8 inches on the south side of the existing station.

The Chiefs received the ball on their 25 but were unable to move and had to punt on fourth down. Muleshoe's ball and five plays later Jerry Gilbreath went over

Roddam Repeats, Wins Grid Prize

L. C. Roddam, a previous winner took top money in the Journal's weekly football contest again, it was announced Thursday.

He picked seven of eight games right. Howard Splawn was second with six correct guesses. Splawn also has won in the past. The contest continues this week with an additional $5 and $3 offered to the top and second-best guesser. The teams to be picked appear on page 3-B of this issue.

Entries must be received at the Journal office by 5 p.m. Friday or letters postmarked by that time.

Grand prize winner will receive two tickets to the New Year's day Cotton Bowl game in Dallas and $50 in expense money.

standing up for six more points. Cabrera's point after kick was no good making the score 13-0. Friona received on their 26 and twelve plays later lost the ball on downs after moving the Mules 30. The Mules took over and due to a 15-yard pen got only to the 32 before having to punt. Friona took over, ran two plays and ended the first half with the score 13-0 Muleshoe's favor.

To start the second half, Harrison received on the 10 and carried to the Mules 30. Two plays later Friona pounced on a Muleshoe fumble on the Mules 36. The Chiefs moved to the Muleshoe 12 before losing the ball on downs. Four plays later Kenny Heathington romped over the goal from the 33. Clifford Grey ran the point after making the score 21-0.

Friona received on their 16 and ran back to the 41 and lost the ball on downs on their 46. The Mules took over in a big way and nine plays later Grey pushed over from the one for six more points. Cabrera kicked the extra point. The score (See MULES, page 5)

Two Youths Face Charge of Theft

Two Muleshoe youths, 14 and 16 years old, who allegedly stole a pickup truck here Sunday night, have been returned to Muleshoe and are being held in the county jail here after being arrested in Plains. Deputies John Moore and Garland Freeman returned the youths to Muleshoe Tuesday.

The boys are alleged by Sheriff Dee Clements to have taken a pickup truck which they abandoned in Tatum, N.M. The sheriff says they stole another car in Tatum and were said to be driving that automobile when arrested.

School Enrolment Again Sets Record

Enrolment in Muleshoe's five schools, for the second straight week, broke all existing records by climbing to 1,978 for the current year. The previous week enrolment had climbed to 1,962 for a record figure.

This figure is 136 above the enrolment at the opening of the 1962-63 school year, Neal Dillman, superintendent, told the board of education at their November meeting this week. Enrolment by schools, Dillman told the board, now shows these figures: Senior high school, 458; junior high, 307; Mary DeShazo, 582; Richland Hills, 577; and Hilltop, 57.

The board announced that applications will be taken for a new tax-assessor collector for the schools, succeeding Mr. and Mrs. C.D. Gupton who will retire January 1.

The board said applicants "must be able to type, have working knowledge of bookkeeping, and be fairly well acquainted with the property in Muleshoe Independent School District."

Starting salary will be $400, and a car will be furnished by the school district for assessing purposes.

The board authorized sale of a plot of ground 1,080 by 160 feet facing Avenue J. Bids will be opened Monday, Dec. 10 at 7:30 p.m. The land is located on the south side of the senior high campus.

The board rejected a request from two boys from Lazbuddie district to transfer to the Muleshoe schools. They heard a request from patrons on bus route (See ENROLMENT, page 5)

Four Persons Injured in Car, Truck Crash South of Muleshoe

Four persons were injured, none critically, in a pickup truck and automobile crash 23 miles south of Muleshoe Tuesday morning at the intersection of SH 214 and a farm-market road.

All four were taken to Morton Memorial Hospital where all were reported as "making satisfactory progress."

Most seriously hurt was Harlan Springer, an employee of Radio station KRAN, Morton. His physician said Wednesday afternoon late that he was suffering from multiple cuts, bruises and abrasions. He received severe cuts about the face and head.

Dean Weatherly, manager of station KRAN also was badly bruised although neither man received critical injuries.

Mrs. Golman Stroud and her 4-year-old daughter, Carolyn Sue, who live a half-mile east of the spot where the accident occurred, also were reported by the hospital to be suffering from multiple bruises and abrasions.

They were reported as making satisfactory progress, although both were still patients in the hospital. The accident occurred at 10:30 Tuesday morning at the intersection of the farm road and the state highway when Mrs. Stroud, driving the pickup truck attempted to cross the highway. Her truck was bound east, the KRAN automobile was headed north. The car struck the pickup almost in the center. Both vehicles were demolished.

Mrs. Stroud was knocked unconscious by the impact, but regained consciousness at 2:30 that afternoon. Her daughter was first brought to West Plains hospital in Muleshoe but later was taken to Morton to be with her mother. The child received a head injury.

M.D. Gunstream has been named president of Muleshoe Country club, succeeding Houston Hart, it was announced this week. Frank Ellis is the new vice-president, and Bill Thompson was named secretary-treasurer. Thompson succeeds Clyde Holt.

Elected to the board of directors were: Stan Barrett, Earl Richards, Earl Smith, Vance Wagon, Bernard Phelps and Sherman Sweatman. Hart is also an ex-officio member as the out-going head of the club.

Pupils Present Lions' Program

With Karen Jones as moderator, five members of the senior high school Future Teachers of America club presented a panel discussion for the Muleshoe Lions club Wednesday noon.

The pupils discussed all phases of extra curricular activities of school.

The pupils agreed that clubs, sports and other non-classroom programs of the school aided the pupils to become better rounded and able to meet the public when they came out of school and to become adjusted to college life more readily than those who follow a purely academic role.

On the panel, in addition to the moderator, were Stanley Black, Sue Willman, Davy Jean Anderson and Dick Allison.

CRASH INJURES THREE — The pictures above show what was left of a pickup truck and a light passenger automobile after they were in collision on SH 214 20 miles south of Muleshoe Tuesday morning. Injured were Mrs. Golman Stroud, driver of the truck and Dean Weatherly and Harlan Springer who were driving in the

KRAN automobile. The crash occurred at Morton. Mrs. Stroud's 4-year-old daughter, Carolyn Sue, escaped with a slight head injury. (Journal Photos & Engravings)

AMERICAN EDUCATION NOV. 11-17

EDUCATION
...Doorway to Progress

"The next time you pass a public school, pause a moment to think what school means to humanity. Recall the long, dark centuries when the masses were kept in ignorance, when greed and oppression ruled the world with an iron hand. From the very beginning of man's struggle for knowledge, self-respect and the recognition of his inalienable rights, the school has been his greatest ally.

"It is ourselves working together to meet a universal need. It is democracy's greatest gift to civilization. Throughout the world, among upward struggling peoples, wherever parents share in the aspirations of their children, the American common school is being copied. Let us keep our public schools strong and free."

The sheriff said several minor burglaries and attempted burglaries have been plaguing his office and the city police force recently. Reyna's cafe was broken into and a cigarette machine and juke box were robbed last Sunday night. At the implement company "some" money was taken and the title to an old automobile was stolen.

Lock was broken at Brown Supply Co., and thieves also attempted to break into Tri-Co Bowling Lanes. At Baileyboro, thieves took several wrenches from a combine, the sheriff's office was informed.

The sheriff's jail report showed three drunks were being held, one was charged with forgery, one with theft and three were held for investigation.

of one ton of grain per acre or even more. Ann expects around 1,500 pounds per acre average, was planted as late as July.

Crop is still being harvested throughout much of the county, despite the fact that much has already been put in the elevators. The remainder should be gathered in short order following the first freeze. Incidentally ice already has been reported with the temperature slipping down to 26 degrees one night recently; however, this freeze didn't seem to stop the crop.

News from irrigated cotton county predictions of 85,000 bales may be exceeded. At least the irrigated farmer has his part made, and only very severe weather would change the picture.

Another farmer who reports an outstanding record this year is Pat Childers. He says 3,500 pounds of hand-pulled cotton were produced which made one 530-pound and another 540-pound bale teacher's chin and by "feeling", figure out the number of syllables words contained. Many of the high school failures in math, history, English and science in the past have been due to the fact that teaching of reading and spelling in the lower grades was faulty. If junior can't read a math problem, how can he work it?

So, my hat's off to the splendid job which the teachers are doing in Muleshoe schools.

So, if you haven't been to school lately, trot on up there this week. They are "at home" to mamas and papas this week, and I think the experience might be a rewarding one for parents. Of course schools are always "at home" to parents, but this week is especially visitors' week.

Off The Runways

By DORIS KINSER

September 3 issue of the Dallas Morning News carries a 12-page section dedicated to Love Field: its history and the present economic threat to the proposed efforts to abandon this massive establishment and build another airport to jointly accommodate Dallas and Fort Worth at the Carter Field site. This is to be done to the tune of $32,000,000 paid through Federal Aid and $8,000,000 paid by each of the two cities.

The Love Field Story edition, compiled by Dick West, editorial editor of "The News," relates how for forty-five years, civic leaders and city officials realizing the vital necessity of adequate airport facilities, as well as highways and railroads for the growth and development of Dallas have worked tirelessly toward a goal they have successfully attained. Love Field, now the center of controversy, is credited with causing a substantial part of that growth!

In part, West states in his editorial that, "The Dallas News has no personal interest in Love Field except the preservation and development of this, a vital asset. We are a community of potential because, in this 'Age of Air Transportation', we have an airport incomparable in its convenience and service and we, more than any other institution in Dallas, long ago sensed what Love Field would mean and in the ensuing years have fought uncompromisingly against myopic efforts to dilute or destroy it!"

The editorial continues to say that the most critical days were in the 1940's when the late Mayor

The Downings went to see the W.T. and N.T. State game played at Denton.

Mr. and Mrs. Leland Bolin arrived on plane from their home in Ariz. for a few days visit with her parents the J.V. Bolins.

Mrs. May Mahan was in Lubbock Sunday and Monday visiting her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Chili Gordon.

Mr. and Mrs. Finis Jennings returned from El Paso where they had visited in the home of her sister, Mrs. Paul Pittman. They heard the Billy Graham Crusade while there.

Woodall Rodgers took his firm stand to develop the airport as a Dallas asset.

At times he had little help. However, even when powerful interests were subtly suggesting that he give up, he never did, and today, Love Field, ranked among the top ten in the nation, has more than justified his fore- visioned pleadings!

City officials, civic leaders, businessmen, New York trans-vacationers, Love Field employees and citizens of Dallas joined the Dallas News staff in supplying material for this special edition.

ABANDON LOVE FIELD — They say NO!

Among these features is one written by Earle Cabell, Mayor, City of Dallas.

Cabell says in his article that: "The very survival of Love Field hinges upon the outcome of the battle in which Dallas is now engaged. It's loss would be a disaster to Dallas economy today, and a continuing handicap in the future."

"Powerful outside forces have launched this attack to take away one of Dallas' greatest assets."

"Najeeb Halaby, Administrator of the Federal Aviation Agency, opened the attack during testimony before a Senate subcommittee on August 8. Among his statements, Halaby implied that Dallas should use Fort Worth's Carter Field."

"Fort Worth immediately joined the campaign and its aviation director unveiled a plan to rebuild Carter Field to make it the center of two cities, with half of the cost being Federal Aid and the other one-half divided between the two cities."

Twelve days after Halaby's testimony, the Civil Aeronautics Board which controls airline route authorization ordered an investigation to determine whether it should amend the airlines' routes certificates to require them to serve both Dallas and Fort Worth through one single Field."

This Federal threat of Love Field has rallied many Dallas organizations to determined defense of their airport.

The Mayor, city commissioners, and Chamber of Commerce, serving the city proper and the many suburbs thereof, joined by a multitude of civic organizations and citizens who see no sensible reason to abandon their hard-earned, $45,000,000 airport — one of the few self-supporting airports in the nation, to-with Federal Aid—build another, a less adequate one which would be a tax burden and less convenient to the Dallas business world.

Runways at Love Field meet all requirements for Jet traffic — zoning, taken care of in the airport's younger days, has forbidden the building of obstructions to the approach and take-off pattern of the airport—so what is the reason for this proposal??? (Incidentally, so far as I can determine, our own Warren Field has no such zoning in event of sudden growth in that direction, but should have!)

The growth of Love Field to what it is today is no accident, but is due to the careful planning of the city officials for the past forty-five years. It now ranks fourth in the nation for convenience to downtown and if the Civil Aeronautics Board moves the Dallas flights to Fort Worth's Amon Carter Field, Dallas service would slip to fourteenth place, according to aviation statistics.

Though on a much smaller scale at present, Warren Field is a vital asset to the City of Muleshoe and some forty-five years hence, is likely to be the same source of economy to us as Love Field is to Dallas. Already, it has brought forth comments for fly-in pilots, Federal Aviation officials, and student pilots for Alabama, Oklahoma, or other states who train here as to how far advanced the airport is compared to much larger cities, plus the tremendous amount of agricultural work done in the area.

Many local pilots recall landing at Love Field when it was not much larger than Warren and W. G. Fuller writes for the special edition how he pulled cotton stalks from the ends of the runway so that World War I training planes could take off on their missions.

Aviation has rapidly advanced since that day at Kitty Hawk: December 17, 1903, and much more since Love Field was born at the start of the war. It is not likely that aviation will ever be abandoned: automobiles and railroads have not!

Cities that concentrate their efforts toward providing adequate, well operated, airports—properly zoned in their early years and the cities who will prosper as Dallas has. Those who have not provided this facility for travel will be the out-of-the-way places as has been true with all cities who were unable to provide immediate shipping facilities by rail during the cattle days and today.

WIN OR LOSE — Dallas has become what it is because of the dedicated efforts of city government to provide transportation in all phases: cargo, industry, businessmen, and those enroute to distant places!

MRS. DUNN HOME FROM OKLAHOMA VACATION — Mrs. Glen Dunn returned Tuesday from several days visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Good, and a sister, Barbara Reading, Marlow, Oklahoma.

She also visited with relatives and friends in Duncan.

Climate For Excellence

The most vocal politicians when they talk about creating a favorable "business climate" think in terms of the federal government spending more billions of tax dollars enlarging the welfare state, and intruding government authority ever further into the individual lives and commercial affairs of this country. By no stretch of the imagination can this create a favorable climate for growth and development unless we assume that private individuals, who up to now have built the United States and supported its government, all of a sudden are no longer capable of carrying it forward.

crystal clear sense in describing what he believes to be the basis of a favorable "business climate". He said that one factor "stands out above all others in producing the environment" in which our business functions. This factor is the free enterprise system. That simple phrase describes an enormously complicated mechanism that operates on a single principle that the individual's personal ambition and ability can be developed to the utmost yet channeled to contribute to the national good.

"That system — perhaps still imperfect—has done more to correct its deficiencies and right its wrongs than has any other system yet developed by man and if the United States is to maintain its economic leadership in the critical years ahead, the private enterprise system must be permitted to function freely.

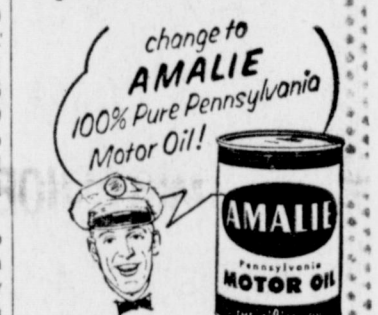

"It is this idea of free enterprise that created the skills that pulled us out of the great depression—and the rest of the world with us. It is this idea that enabled the United States and the Allied Forces to win World War II. It is this idea that has led the Western World back to prosperity from the ruins of the last war.

It is this idea of free enterprise in other words that sets the American climate for excellence in business."

CARAVAN TO FRIONA — Headed by Muleshoe's newest fire truck, Muleshoe fans went to Friona last Friday night in a caravan. Here is the starting point at the senior high school parking lot with the cars lined up behind the truck. This shows only a small part of the caravan, the line doubling back in a huge horseshoe. The fans were not disappointed; Muleshoe won its most smashing victory of the season, 42-0. (Journal Photo & Engraving)

Culligan Water Service Offered

Culligan soft water service is being offered to Muleshoe area residents now, it was announced Wednesday, with Willis Wood as owner of the new Muleshoe business.

The service is housed in a new building just off the Morton highway across the street from West Plains Hospital.

Wood says complete water-conditioning service will be offered to provide soft water for all uses in the home. He says soft water saves on soap and gas for the heaters, and also keeps iron, sand and dirt out of the pipes and hot water heaters.

He is no stranger to Muleshoe; Wood has lived here for seven years. He will handle all Culligan service, including servicing of old Culligan installations.

THE SANDHILLS PHILOSOPHER

Our Philosopher Likes The Idea Of Neighborhood Weather Stations

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm drops international affairs and discusses the weather this week.

Dear editor: Some people don't think the world makes any progress, but it does.

For example, take weather forecasting. A while back a little shower caught me out in the open without a raincoat and I got soaking wet. What I was doing was changing the props from the north side to the south side on a fence of mine. You'd think a fence would lean in the same direction all the time but mine leans one way a while then leans the other, and it keeps a man pretty busy sighting down it to see which side to put the props on.

At any rate, the day had been clear and sunny until I suddenly looked up to discover a cloud had turned up and rain was pouring down.

After I got home and dried out I pulled out a newspaper I'd been saving for a rainy day which is a lot easier than cash and read a long article on a new experiment in weather forecasting.

According to it, the government is experimenting with more community forecasting stations. It's one thing, it said, to get the weather report for a general area covering a fourth of the state, but what farmers need is a station that'll forecast the weather right at home.

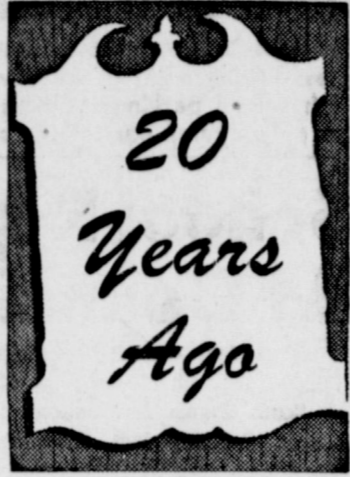

This will be a great improvement and a sample of progress. I don't mean to say the local station will be any more accurate than the big-city station, when you're living on a globe that's traveling through space as fast and far as this one is every 24 hours, it's possible to predict what the weather ought to be tomorrow but a lot easier to tell what it was yesterday and a man is still going to get caught in a rain, but the progress comes in being able to pinpoint the blame.

There's very little satisfaction in getting mad at an anonymous weather bureau in a nearby city, but when somebody living in your own community says it's going to be clear tomorrow on your own farm and it rains, you've got something to go on. You can call the bureaucrat up and tell him what you think.

In many cases, forecasting the weather is like predicting who's going to win a football game or an election. People read it, but the best way to find out is to wait and see, with the assurance that what-ever it is, half the people are going to be disappointed.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

The Bailey County Electric Cooperative Association, Muleshoe, this week enters its fourth year of service in bringing electricity to farmers and other rural consumers in this area.

Citing the growth and increasing financial stability of the Co-Operative since its lines were first energized on November 10, 1939, Supt. Tom White recalled that the system had only 127 consumers at the end of its first month of operation. Today the Cooperative furnishes electricity to 769 consumers along 468 miles of distribution lines in Bailey, Cochran, Castro, Lamb and Parmer Counties.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Vern Sanford

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

AUSTIN — Republicans have turned Texas into a two-party state.

The heavy vote for Jack Cox against John Connally, election of two members to the national House of Representatives and seven members to the Texas House, plus substantial Republican votes in nearly all areas, are being interpreted by many State Capitol observers as meaning that never again will the Democratic nomination be "tantamount to election."

Dallas County elected every Republican candidate for county and legislative office they had on their ballot, and gave Cox a 25,000-vote lead over Connally. Tarrant and Harris were close. Bexar, El Paso, Travis and Nueces, the next four of the big counties, went Democratic.

Unofficial and incomplete returns indicate that Connally carried 204 counties and Cox carried 50. But it was the substantial Cox votes in the 204 counties he lost which makes this election significant.

Connally is conferring with legislators and with state boards and commissions. He will not make complete budget recommendations, since outgoing Gov. Price Daniel is required, under the Constitution, to make budget recommendations to the Legislature in January.

But Connally will make his own budget proposals in his message to the Legislature.

Industrialization, tourism, higher education and water conservation are the areas of state activity which Connally stressed most in his campaign. He will propose the creation of a Bureau of Commerce to take over tourist and industry-attracting.

The new governor, with a 120,000-vote margin of victory under his belt, said he holds no ill will toward areas which voted against him, that he will be governor for Republicans as well as Democrats.

Main areas where the Republicans ran strong were in the oil areas of West and East Texas, in the major cities, and in the Panhandle. They elected local officials in Midland, Ector, Smith, Dallas, Kerr, Bexar, Pecos, Hutchinson, Zavala and Randall Counties.

One of the wartime changes homemakers can expect soon is a new top-knot for the mason glass jar, a fixture in the home canning business. WPB recently prohibited the use of zinc in making lids for glass containers and this means that the old mason jar will soon wear a new cap.

IT'S THE LAW in Texas

A public service feature of the State Bar of Texas

HOUSE TO HOUSE SALESMAN

Joe Greenriver had been traveling to various cities selling magazine subscriptions. At each new town he would go from house to house selling subscriptions to the occupants.

He had been selling in Pleasantville for a couple of days when he was arrested and fined for violating a city ordinance which prohibited such door to door soliciting.

"You can't do this to me," screamed Joe. "This ordinance violates my rights of free speech, free press, and my right to work. It's unconstitutional!"

Can a city pass an ordinance prohibiting uninvited peddlers or solicitors from going onto private property to sell goods or solicit orders?

Yes, said the U. S. Supreme Court. Persons seeking private gain cannot be permitted, under the guise of free speech or right to work, to infringe upon the rights of others. Such a case calls for an adjustment of constitutional rights in the light of the particular living conditions of the time and place. Different communities may well call for different laws and regulations as to methods and manners of doing business. Everyone cannot have his own way, but each must yield something to the reasonable satisfaction of the needs of all.

Communities can control such practices by ordinance. The court ruled that this ordinance was constitutional.

Joe lost the case. (Based upon a U. S. Supreme Court decision.)

(This newsfeature, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

Unemployment in the state dropped in September to its lowest level since October, 1959. September showed 155,400 unemployed, compared to 170,100 in August.

Employment increased from 3,471,300 hired workers to 3,472,800. Texas Employment Commission predicted an over-all gain in employment between September and November, with a heavy concentration in non-factory industries.

FISH CREEK DAM
The Texas Water Commission authorized a permit to the City of Gainesville to build a $1,724,143 dam system on Fish Creek, a tributary of the Red River. Plans for the dam, which was backed by local citizenry 2½ to 1 in a local bond election, will include a reservoir with storage capacity of 23,210 acre feet; supply pipeline to town; and a filter plant.

Surface water will be used with water from Trinity wells until the well supply dwindles. Then the reservoir is expected to supply all water for a population expected to reach 24,000 in 1995.

FIRST INTEGRATED CHURCH
 EAST LONDON, South Africa (AP) — What is believed to be the first church in racially segregated South Africa formed especially for holding multi-racial services was opened in this Indian Ocean Port City recently.

Nine people — three whites, three coloreds (Eurafrican mulattoes) and three Africans — were received into the church last night as foundation members.

The service was attended by nearly 100 people of all races, with whites in the majority. "There was no tension but a real gladness in being together," said the Rev. R. J. D. Robertson after the service in the new North End Presbyterian church in Park Street.

Mr. Robertson said he thought of forming a multi-racial church about four years ago.

His church is regarded as an experiment by the Presbyterian Church of South Africa. If it proves successful, more multi-racial churches will be opened in other centers.

WATER is a commodity so precious that no tyrant has ever dared deny it to his people.

The earliest records of our civilization are linked to the spring and the waterhole, the river and the well.

Wars have been fought over water rights and mighty nations have vanished because their water resources failed.

REPORT FROM ITALY — Part IV

Roald Johnsons Continue Tour of Italy, Visit Art Academy

Here is another in the series of letters from Roald Johnson son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Johnson, Muleshoe, and this is the fourth of a series of travel letters he wrote to his parents here.

Dear Folks:

This day, the 6th day of our vacation was destined to be one of the most memorable. Our first stop was the Academy of Fine Arts, which was only a few blocks' walk from our Pensione. It was here that Carroll fell in love with another man. My rival was "David", one of Michelangelo's most copied works. He is truly a beautiful creation; his hands and arms are those of a worker—so beautifully muscled, so alive and full of strength. I'll swear if you cut into his torso in any spot, that beautiful white marble would bleed red blood. Also in the Academy were several other works of Michelangelo, the most notable being an unfinished work, "Prisoners", intended for the tomb of Pope Julius I.

Today we returned to the Piazza della Signoria for a more complete look and to take some movies. This square has been the traditional center of political and artistic life in Florence. One side of this square is the Palazzo Vecchio, which with its 106 foot tower has served as the city hall of Florence since the 130's. On another side of the square is the Loggia with its fabulous array of statues; and a third side of the square contains the Neptune Fountain.

The door to the Palazzo Vecchio is bounded by two immense marble statues. On the right is Bandinelli's group of Hercules and Cacus. As is typical of all statues of Hercules, he has a stout club in hand & is not on the short end of argument. In this group, he has Cacus by the hair. Cacus is on his knees, and the expression on his face is not one of sheer joy. The statue to the left of the door is bounded by a very good copy of "David", whom you're already acquainted with. A smaller, less imposing statue is placed almost directly in the doorway of the Palazzo Vecchio. This lovely work is Donatello's "Judith and Holofernes". I don't know the story on whom. I do know that it is located in about the only place in world where it would be casually passed over as a work of lesser importance.

Once you enter the main door, you immediately emerge in a small, dimly lit courtyard. In the center of this courtyard is a fountain adorned by a statue of a cherub holding a dolphin. This was made in 1476 by the Florentine artisan Verrocchio. I was too eager to get back outside to all the statues, so we didn't go further into the Palazzo Vecchio although I'm certain it would have been interesting. In addition to the many beautifully frescoed rooms in this place, it contains the infamous and ugly prison "Alberghettion" where Cosimo de Medici was imprisoned and the fanatic Savonarola was tortured before being hanged in the square below.

And now we come to the Loggia, a breath-taking group of statues—and I'll be darned if I know how to describe it. Here's a quote from one of our guide books: "Loggia means literally 'an open gallery supported by pillars'. With its majestic lines, its arches resting on magnificent pillars, and the niches enshrining sculptures of the Cardinal Virtues, this building is a superb setting for the masterpieces under its roof." In this open gallery there are seven ancient Roman statues (creators unknown) all of them magnificent. Then there is Perseus Holding Head of Medusa by Cellini. Also under the same roof are two late Renaissance groups by Giambologna, the Rape of the Sabines and Hercules and the Centaur. It's beyond my understanding how a person could take a hammer and chisel to a piece of stone and create the symmetry and grace that those old masters could. Their knowledge of human anatomy and emotions had to be most complete.

This concluded our sight-seeing in Florence. We spent about 4-5 hours shopping in the Open Market and the Straw Market. This city was a real delight to us. Certainly it was impossible to cram the history and art of centuries into 3 nights and 2 days. However Florence is a generous little city and shares its wealth of beauty and gaiety with even the most casual visitor. Again, there was much more that we would have enjoyed absorbing if we had the time. Our only real regret was that we had not visited the renowned Uffizi Galleries.

SATURDAY, SEPT. 8th
This day was spent almost entirely in the car. We got up early for the long, hard drive south through hill country to Rome. The 50 mile drive from Florence to Siena took about 2 1/2 hours. We didn't mind the slow pace, though, because the country was so lovely. While winding through these hills, we transitioned from olive groves to vineyards to wheat country and back to olives and grapes again.

We lunched in Siena at a sidewalk cafe on the Piazza del Campo. We were right across the square from Tower del Mangia, the famous landmark of the town, and the ancient Chapel di Piazza where the heads of the Siennese government came to worship. Just below us was the Fonte Gaia, the gay fountain, a lovely sight. Around this huge plaza is a cobblestone track that figures prominently in one of the most picturesque festivals in Italy. This is the medieval festival of I Palio, in which each of the 17 wards of the city sponsor a horse and rider to compete in a race around the plaza—I don't think any of these people are considered a very good insurance risk while racing horses on cobblestones.

Sienna is really a medieval town. Many of the buildings are just as they were six centuries ago—the stone is so durable. The streets in this town are still almost completely cobblestone & so narrow that most driving is done one way—many of the streets are too narrow for even one way traffic, so you must do quite a bit of walking to see this town. We did a bit of extra walking because we couldn't find the street where we parked our car—took about 1/2 hour to find it. Thought for awhile we might have to spend an extra day in town just to find our car.

We finally found our car & proceeded on our way to Rome. The drive down to Rome was quite impressive. Many of the village a man walls built in the 3rd century—so many of the original structures still occupied. We decided that these are very picturesque, but would hate to live there ourselves.

The weather was quite hot, so we stopped at Lake Bolsena for a cold drink. The place we chose had tables in the shade of pear trees less than ten yards from the shore. Jeff immediately took off his shoes & ran down to play in Carrol & I sat in the shade drinking our 40 cent cokes (so much more expensive than wine and beer), soaking up the cool breeze, and dodging the ripe pears that kept falling around us—and believe me a big pear is a dangerous missile. Carrol finally pulled Jeff away from the sand and we proceeded to Rome.

It took us quite a while to find our Pensione in Rome. Everything you've ever heard about the French & German drivers is completely true. Whatever you hear about the driving in Rome must be multiplied by 1000 because words are simply inadequate.

We unpacked, bathed and un-laxed for about 1/2 hour before supper. Ate supper with a friend from Hahn, Beverly Baker, and her husband Tom, was laid low with a bug & was in bed.

After supper, Beverly, Carrol, Jeff and I struck out for a little night-time look at the eternal city. We took a cab to the Trevi Fountain. This is surely one of the most beautiful fountains in the day time & breath-taking at night with the play of lights & shadows on the flowing water & large statues. We walked from the Trevi Fountain to the Spanish Steps. These steps were constructed 1721-25. Beneath the staircase, with its flower stands, is 'La Barcaccia', a fountain in the shape of a boat, designed by Pietro Bernini. This place is well written up in all the guidebooks as being quite lovely & impressive but we didn't find it too breath-taking.

Enough for this edition. Next issue starts with Sunday, Sunday Sept. 9th.

LOVE, ROALD

Carriers Check Farm Livestock

Rural mail carriers are leaving some livestock survey cards al-along their routes.

"Information reported on these cards is used to set the yearly inventory of livestock and poultry on Texas farms," Postmaster
 Spencer Beavers explained.

Rural carriers distribute the cards at random in boxes along their routes.

"This means that not every box will get a card," Beavers said.
 "For this reason, it's important for everyone who gets a card to return it filled out so USDA can get a true sample of the state's livestock holdings."

Carriers assisting with the survey are: Babe Barbour, Route
 1; Boyd Landers, Route 2; Paul
 Scott, Route 3; John Inman,
 Route 4; and Kenneth Hicks,
 Route 5.

Facts and figures secured in this survey are the basis for the Texas and national pig crop report and inventories of livestock and poultry on farms as of the first of the year. Stockmen and many others use this information in making business decisions.

Survey results will be widely distributed through Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service releases, newspapers, farm magazines, radio, and television.
