

CATTLE TRADE NOMINAL

ONLY A FEW LOADS ARRIVE AND NO CHANGE IS INDICATED IN PRICES.

STEERS CLOSING FIRMER

Cows and Heifers Steady to 15c Higher Than Week Ago—Veals Advance—Stockers Steady to Strong.

Cattle trade was lightly supplied today. Of the small run of cattle arriving only a few loads of steers were included and these changed hands at prices, by common consent, termed steady with yesterday.

A resume of the week's business shows a moderately uneven trend of prices for beef cattle, but with conditions on the whole favorable to the selling and producing side.

Beef steers formed a comparatively liberal percentage of the week's receipts at this point and the quality has been fairly good, taking the run as a whole, although there has been very little stuff offered that could be termed strictly choice.

Under increased marketing activity at Chicago, trade opened Monday rather drab and a good portion of the steer offerings sold lower.

Tuesday continued a slow week, tone was in evidence, making a break of 10c to 15c, with exceptions 20c for the two days.

Wednesday, however, under light supplies all around, there was substantial improvement in the market, prices showing 10c to 15c upturn from the preceding day.

Thursday, some of the light steers and yearlings showing even more ability to advance, Wednesday's snappy trade was followed by a steady to strong market Thursday.

In comparison with a week ago the general steer market developed a tone strong, with exceptions on yearlings and handy weight stuff 10c to 15c higher during the week, with $3.75 the top full load at the present time.

Grades sold at $3.25 to $3.65, including yearlings up to $3.50 and mixed steers and heifers up to $3.65. Since Tuesday packers have been buying at land many steers under $3.25 that had much "kill" to them.

COWS, BULLS AND MIXED. The usual Friday quietness prevailed in this division of the market today. Receipts were light and salesmen were holding with little difficulty at firm prices.

The market for cows and heifers this week has been a quiet one, with fluctuations in prices. During the first two sessions of the week an easier tone was manifested, especially on the medium and light grades, some of which showed fully a dime loss for the two days.

Balance of the week under the influence of lighter supplies and a broad active demand from all sources the market developed a tone easy and at the close prices are firm to 15c higher than a week ago.

Most of the strength shown is on yearlings and the better grades of heifers, though there are some quoted higher on good to choice cows. Present prices for all classes of butcher stock are at the highest level ever known here for this market.

HOGS OPEN HIGHER

EARLY SALES SHOW AN ADVANCE OF 5c TO 10c OVER THURSDAY'S LEVEL.

CLOSED SOMEWHAT EASIER

Late Business Showed Part of Opening Strength Lost—Top $8.85—Bulk at $8.65 to $8.80—Pigs Are Steady.

Hog receipts were moderate but the supply came drifting in up to a late hour, on late trains. Early estimates called for 3,800 head but this was later raised to 4,400.

The five markets had 47,900, a slight increase over last Friday. The market started out as live and higher. A good share of the early arrivals sold 5c to 10c higher, hitting $8.55, with considerable business in a spread of $3.75 to $8.85.

The market closed easier and about half of the early advance was lost, late trading being rated generally strong to 5c higher than yesterday's average, with a few exceptions quoted merely steady. Quality was good.

Pigs were steady. Prices for hogs averaged 14c lbs. and up ranged from $8.60 to $8.85, with the bulk selling at $8.65 to $8.80.

The bulk sold yesterday at $8.60 to $8.75, a week ago at $8.50 to $8.65, a month ago at $7.80 to $8.05, a year ago at $6.75 to $6.90, two years ago at $5.70 to $5.90, and three years ago at $4.50 to $4.70, and four years ago at $3.50 to $3.70.

Been touched for the price of a new Easter bonnet for the frau yet?

This weather is just a little rough on the robin journeying north in search of a summer home.

Record price of veal to the consumer should help some in suppressing the slaughter of calves.

These cold, drizzly rains are an adjunct of springtime that the average man can't see any poetry in.

A man "higher up" plans a trip down the Missouri and Mississippi rivers in a rowboat. Bet he's looking for a lost farm.

With women entering the political arena we may have to quit using the term "dark horse" when referring to a candidate, or else change it to "a brunette equine."

That 70,000 hog run at Chicago Monday caused a lot of surprise and a little dip in prices, but one swallow doesn't make a summer, and one big day's receipts doesn't indicate a plethora of hogs awaiting transportation to market. Nay, nay, Pauline!

TO CHECK INSECT RAVAGES. Bulletin 126, Bureau of Entomology, United States Department of Agriculture, tells of an interesting trip of one of the department's scientists to India and the Orient in search of natural enemies of the citrus white fly.

The insect causes widespread damage to the citrus fruit industry of the country. The trip resulted in the discovery in several places of insects which are destructive to the white fly, but further investigation will be necessary before their practical worth in destroying the orange and lemon enemy is demonstrated.

NEW RECORD BY WOMEN. There is now and then a splendid example of the original and direct method with which women get at reform work in public affairs, comments the Sioux City Tribune.

Here is one that might be followed with good effect in the cities of every state where the women vote. It has been the habit of the office seeking politicians in Wichita, Kan., to trim at election time. They avoided the public commitment of themselves on the issues involved. Whatever statements they gave out to the public were couched in such uncertain language that they were not bound to any definite policy. "We are for the best interests of Wichita," they said, and it generally turned out after the election that they had a secret bargain with private interests.

The Wichita women, who are voters in Kansas now, decided they would put the city candidates on record and vote only for the men who were brave enough and square enough with the public to outline their policies and pledge themselves in advance. The women called a women's meeting at the city hall. Before this women's meeting, 500 of them, the 21 candidates were called, each of whom was required to make a statement of his attitude and what he would pledge himself to do if elected, and these statements were taken down as a record of the bargain with the women.

The candidates were questioned by the women on matters of vital interest and when the hearing of the candidates was finished they were told they might go.

Who can say that such women will not vote earnestly and intelligently in that city election and that the effect of their votes and their influence will not be for the public good?

The very fact that it commits the candidates protects them afterward from the approach of undesirable bar-

Daddy's Bedtime Story

Frank Liked To Get Up At Daylight

GETTING UP in the morning is a worry in most families where there are little girls and boys. Jack and Evelyn were just like others, and their mother often had trouble in making them rise in time for school.

"I wonder if I shall have to get you a squirrel," daddy said laughingly as he heard the twentieth time how Jack had just jumped out of bed in time to snatch a bite of breakfast, run as hard as he could and still be a minute late for school.

"We would like the squirrel, daddy," the children said. "But how would it help us?"

"I don't know whether it would help you, but it did help little Frankie. Frankie was almost always late in the morning, and when his father brought home a squirrel he had no idea how useful that little animal was going to be.

"Frankie named the squirrel Frank, because it got into so much mischief. The squirrel would run all over the house and pry into every corner. When it wanted to take a nap in the daytime it would crawl under the cushions on the parlor sofa. At night when Frankie went to bed, Frank would crawl under the covers and curl snugly there until daylight.

"But Frank believed daylight was the right time to get up and that every one else ought to get up when he did. He was so lively that Frankie could not get any rest after Frank was out of bed.

"If Frankie did not get up and let him out the squirrel would run chattering over the bed, so that there was no more sleep for the little boy.

"So Frankie gave up and started to get up when Frank did, which was an agreeable change for Frankie's mother and pleased his schoolteacher, who had no more black marks for tardiness to put down against his name.

"But one day in the spring Frank went out and never came back. Frankie watched and waited for him for weeks.

"He has gone off to the woods with some other squirrel. I'm afraid we have seen the last of Frank," Frankie's father said.

"But Frank did come back, and they learned what happened to the squirrel.

"Frank had crawled into the window of a neighbor's house and the neighbor's little boy had tried to keep the squirrel in his room.

"However, he soon tired of the squirrel pet, for Frank got up early in the morning and made the little boy do so too. So one day the little fellow had opened his window and Frank had dashed out and made straight for home.

"Frankie was so pleased to see his pet again that he said he would not mind getting up at midnight if he had to do so to satisfy Frank."

gainers. That is a very great gain for candidate and the public.

IN WOMAN'S REALM

TESTED RECIPES.

Onion Stuffing.—Chop four good sized onions fine and put with them enough browned bread crumbs to fill the bowl. Season highly with salt, pepper, thyme, sage, parsley, and celery seed, and moisten the whole with warm water. Do not make it too wet. Finely chopped celery may be used as a substitute for the onions by those who do not like the flavor of the latter.

Prune Stuffing.—For those who fancy sweet stuffing, prunes form an excellent tender. Steam a pound of seed them carefully, put with them half as many brown bread crumbs and use as you would any other stuffing.

Potato Cake.—One cup of butter, two cups of sugar, two eggs, one cupful of sour milk in which dissolve half a teaspoonful of soda, two cups of flour, one cupful of grated raw potatoes, two ounces of raisins, cinnamon, nutmeg, and cloves to taste, and about half a teaspoonful of each. Bake in loaves or in layers.

Graham Cracker Cake.—One tablespoonful of butter, one and one-quarter cups of sugar, two eggs, one and one-half cups of sour milk in which dissolve a teaspoonful of soda, a box of graham crackers, rolled fine; one teaspoonful of vanilla. Bake in two layers.

Soda Cracker Cake.—Mix together the yolks of eight eggs, one and three-quarters cups of sugar, rind and juice of one lemon, one cup of butter, one cup of flour, one cup of soda, one cup of vanilla, and one cup of raisins. Bake in two layers.

French fried potatoes are sliced thin or cut lengthwise in strips laid in ice water for half an hour; then dried thoroughly between two towels and plunged into boiling deep fat, slightly salted. As soon as they are delicately browned they are fished out with a split spoon and laid in a hot colander to drain off every drop of fat. Serve at once.

German fried potatoes are as a rule cooked and cold before they are fried. Some prefer them to the French. To my fancy they never get quite rid of the stale taste that clings to the cold potato. The same may be said of steamed cold, cooked potatoes. The least objectionable way of serving them as leftovers is to saute them.

TO DISCUSS FARMING.

Forbes, Mo., March 14.—Forbes will have an agricultural day next Saturday, when it is expected that many farmers from the surrounding country will gather here with the business men of the city and listen to speeches on agricultural problems from experts.

The program will begin at 9 a. m. and last until 10 p. m. Among those who will address the gathering will be Prof. John E. Cameron, head of the department of agriculture at the Maryville normal school.

MISSOURI FAIR GETS $123,000

Last of Big Appropriation Bills Up in Legislature.

Jefferson City, March 14.—The last of the big appropriation bills, the general contingent bill, is now before the house. It carries $123,000, about $2,000,000 of this comes out of the general revenue fund and the remainder out of the special funds.

The measure shows the state fair $123,000, which covers the construction of an exhibition building, payment of premiums and other items.

STORING THE RAINFALL.

Employing Dry Farm Methods to Hold Moisture in the Garden.

The above sounds almost like an impossibility or an exaggeration of the thing "build a dike," but this title means just what it says, storing the rain that falls naturally into the soil of your garden.

It has been found that the rain actually bores tiny holes all through the soil, and that the water, when the rain falls it does not usually soak through the earth, but borges its way in, forming countless tiny tubes, tubes too small, yet so plentiful, that the surface of the soil has every appearance of being soaked. These tubes are really so small that it would be impossible to insert an ordinary hair into them without bursting their sides, and sometimes the constant downpouring of rain drives or bores these almost invisible tubes four or five inches into the ground.

After the rain, when the sun comes out, the water that fills these tubes begins to evaporate. The tubes, of course, being full of water during the rain, are disengaged, and deeper as each drop of water falls upon the top and forces the needle-like column into the soil. If one of them happens to be twisted or curved, the evaporation is slowed.

Now, if these tubes be stopped up right after a rain there will not be any evaporation. A common garden hose as used in the garden, for the tire surface of a garden will hold water just below the surface sometimes for months.

Farmers who work the desert places in the west, or the semi-arid lands, have learned this, and find that they more than treble the growing value of the land by stirring up the surface of the soil, and in the winter, after the rain has fallen, they stir the soil by machinery and not planting the land one season. In this manner sufficient moisture is stored in the soil to enable the farmer to raise good crops every other year.

GIRLS FARM AT NIGHT.

Former New York Society Lights Reverse Agricultural Life.

Franklin Road, Me., March 14.—Misses Vera and Alta Austin, daughters of Thomas P. Austin, formerly of Fifth avenue, New York, have upset all the traditions about farming so far as concerns getting up early in the morning to do the farm work.

Instead of rising with the sun, as has been the custom of tillers of the soil for generations, they do not start the work on their estate, Cuniculus Park, until sundown. It is then they feed their stock, and neighbors have been astonished to hear the hens cackling in the middle of the night, announcing the coming into the world of another egg.

The cattle are all fed at midnight. Mr. Austin, who is up and about part of the day, retires early in the afternoon and arises for a midnight meal of honey, crackers and milk. At this meal discussions are held of literature and art.

Practically the only intercourse the family has with the outside world is through books and phonographic records. The daughters, though they have never been to school, are academically proficient in practical farming, expert mechanics, linguists and lovers of music. They are familiar with all of the operas through hearing the most famous singers on phonographic records.

At present the family is living in the basement of an old farm building, pending the completion of the new $100,000 "castle of mystery." The "castle" is of stone and wood, and at present has only one habitable room. This is the girls' study, and is at the top of the hill.

Mr. Austin is now in New York settling the estate of his wife, who died recently.

When the Austins lived in Fifth avenue they moved in the best social circles. Mr. Austin was a manufacturing jeweler, and very wealthy.

IOWA GOLD STORAGE BILL

Provides That All Produce in Storage Be Labeled.

Des Moines, Ia., March 14.—The Scholz gold storage bill, which affects Des Moines and the larger cities of the state, especially those having large quantities of produce in storage, is expected to pass the house. Under this bill all goods for human consumption, including butter, eggs, poultry, game, fish, etc., which has been in storage must be so labeled. It would be impossible to sell storage eggs or storage butter on the local market if the law is passed by the senate and made operative. At present there is nothing to hinder a man dressing up as a farmer, buying a case of storage eggs and selling the same at the local market as country eggs. The discovery would probably not be made until the eggs were broken at the table. No storage goods can be sold in any store unless a sign is put up, "We sell storage goods."

A charge of $25 is to be charged commission houses for inspection under the state food and dairy department.

No goods are to be held in storage more than one year without consent of the state food and dairy department.

BEAR FRIGHTENS A TOWN

Scotch Plains, N. J., Badly Scared by Unwelcome Visitor.

Plainfield, N. J., March 14.—Just after most of the town's able-bodied men had taken the commuter trains for New York there appeared in Scotch Plains, near Plainfield, a very large and very formidable looking black bear. He had broken out of the marks of a tame bruin or of over having seen civilization before. He walked where he willed and did what he pleased. He upset chickens and killed the chickens of the good folk of Scotch Plains. In fact he scared the whole town.

So the mothers of Scotch Plains fled with their children and kept them indoors all day. Some did not go to school. Most of the domestic business of the village was allowed to slip by.

It was not until chicken in the afternoon that the bear's party was over. He belonged to C. E. Cook, a bird breeder who has a farm near Scotch Plains. He had broken a couple of bars of his cage and made an early morning getaway, leaving behind a brother bear and two monkeys.

His rightful keepers finally found him and chased him up a tree. There he was lassoed and lowered to the ground. An hour and a half later, after wagging six of the men, he was borne, properly chained, back to his den in a wagon.

SAVES DOG WITH A STAMP

Mail Carrier Thwarts an Enterprising Dog Catcher.

Hackensack, N. J., March 14.—"Saved by the postage stamp," is the title which postal clerks here give to a comic scene on Main street in which John Kenan, a special delivery mail carrier, was principal. Kenan loves dogs, he spent one yesterday wandering around in the post office without a license. Kenan took a fancy to it and as he started out on his rounds he allowed the dog to trail behind him. At a street corner Joseph Daila, the official dog catcher of Hackensack, made his appearance. Daila has a record of 662 dogs caught in the last year and he was about to pounce upon the little unlicensed fox terrier which was following the mail carrier.

"Don't touch that dog," exclaimed Kenan, as he hastily drew a parcel post stamp from his pocket, licked it and attached it to the dog's ear. "That dog is mail matter and under the protection of Uncle Sam."

The dog catcher was plainly awed by the federal authority and withdrew.

6,000 MILES BY BIRD.

Swallow Labeled in London Caught in Natal, South Africa.

London, March 14.—Results of great interest to bird lovers are being obtained from the "ringing" of birds being carried on upon a large scale by readers of "British Birds." Some 32,000 of these rings have been affixed, and the birds are being recaptured in places far from the spot where they were "ringed." On the Roodevander farm, eighteen miles from Tiesch, Natal, South Africa, a swallow was caught on December 23 bearing on its leg a metal label with the words "Witherby, High Holborn, London," and the number B. 830. The ring has been identified by Mr. Witherby as one which on May 6, 1911, was placed on an adult swallow at Rose Chaddle, Staffordshire. The bird journeyed 4,999 miles.

NO WAY OUT.

Mother—Now, Willie, you know I told you not to go in swimming and yet you have been in the water.

Willie—I know it, ma, but Satan tempted me.

Mother—And why did you not tell Satan to get behind you?

Willie—I did, and he kicked me in the ram.

The ram should be in perfect condition, but not fat at mating.

GIRL IN THE PULLMAN

Simple Country Girl's Story Told to Actress Results in Sensational Episode.

By HERBERT PAUL.

Why the story told by this simple country girl in the Pullman brought tears to Miss Agnes Dare's eyes the latter could not imagine. It was only after she knew how deeply she was moved that she discovered the reason.

It is because Miss Dare is so well known that I have called her by this nom de plume. Her married life has been presented to the attention of scandal-loving readers on the front pages of the most popular journals not once or twice, but at least ten times.

Just now she was traveling alone across the continent to open in Los Angeles, thankful enough for the brief respite from popularity which enabled her to assume her real name.

And this simple country girl had got on with some man whose face Miss Dare had not seen at Fort Tyson, and she was traveling to Denver.

She watched him pass along the aisle and saw him bend over the girl and speak. She saw the girl start up, clinging to the velvet cushions of the Pullman.

That was the latest of the Dare scandals, and Miss Agnes's photograph was prominently displayed as usual on the front pages of the newspapers, from New York to San Francisco.

How persistently luck followed her, they said. To think that, on her way to California, she should meet her first husband and pummel him to her heart's content, thereby materially increasing the box office receipts on the opening night and for many nights thereafter!

SEACOW BREAKS FROM CAGE

Monster of 1,500 Pounds Smashes Way Out of Exhibition Tank—Is Lassoed by Wire Cable.

Chicago.—The sea-cow—a strange animal on exhibition in a "loop" store—broke loose from its moorings and created a small panic in the immediate neighborhood of State and Van Buren streets.

The creature, which, according to the best authorities on the subject, ought to be extinct, waddled from its tank past the attendants and proceeded to stroll toward the State street door.

Sunday it was decided to feed the animal on fish, and on Tuesday the diet was changed to Florida oranges, spinach, tomatoes and other delicacies. That night the sea-cow fell into a deep sleep.

The climax came when there was a sudden upheaval of the water in the tank, a loud hissing noise, and an indignant sea-cow arose in its wrath. One thousand five hundred pounds of adipose tissue collided with the steel supports of the tank, and many gallons of water flooded the building.

Efforts to corral the animal were of no avail. With one sweep of its tail it demolished the rest of the tank and the imitation grass that surrounded it. All was chaos, and the exhibitors were at their wits' end.

Finally a cowboy, by name Frank Leonard, proved himself the real hero, lassoing the animal with some telephone cable that had been left in the back of the building.

Now the sea-cow lies peacefully in a newly-made and much stronger tank.

COON AND WOLF BATTLE HARD

Caught in Steel Jaws of Traps the Two Animals Clawed and Bit Each Other.

Salina, Kan.—C. E. Mattox, a trapper on the Smoky Hill river, saw a fight between a coyote and a coon near one of his straw stacks. There are several traps near the stack and one of the animals was caught in one.

The other animal came along for a fight and was caught in one of the other traps close enough so they could reach each other.

Inturated by the pain of the traps, the animals attacked each other the more fiercely and each soon was in another trap. When Mr. Mattox found them four traps had snapped on the coon and three on the wolf. Both were exhausted, but still fighting. The ground showed that the battle had been raging for several hours.

The coon had the better of the fight and when the wolf was about dead the trapper ended the fight with a club.

BANDITS' FALSE COW FEET

Imitation Hoofs Worn by California Robbers to Delude Pursuers—Are Found in Cache.

Long Beach, Cal.—What is believed to have been a safe-blowers' cache, discovered at the edge of a swamp near here, yielded several ingenious contrivances apparently intended to divert pursuit after the commission of a crime. They were a pair of imitation horse hoofs carved out of pine and fitted with straps so that they could be adjusted to a pair of shoes; an imitation cow's hoof fastened to a cane evidently was intended to be used in conjunction with the others to give the impression of a man on horseback driving a cow.

VEIL USED BY 15 BRIDES

Has Been Handed From One Member of New York Family to Another for Seven Years.

New York.—A veil worn by fourteen brides in the last seven years was used again by Eleanor Bohm when she was married to Harry Rose of Yonkers. Guarded with the most superstitious care, the veil has been handed on from one member of the family to another, and each of the fourteen marriages under it have all been considered as resulting most happily. At the present time there are said to be over twenty relatives of the bride who are waiting an opportunity to test its luck charm.

One of These THERMOMETERS from Us by Parcel Post provided you send us a shipment of hides or furs before April 1, 1913, and are not already entitled to one by virtue of having sent us a shipment since December 15, 1912, when the offer was first made.

This Special Offer

Will Extend Only to April 1, 1913—But One Thermometer Will Be Sent to a Party.

Realizing the necessity of a Thermometer in every home, especially on the farm, we have decided to give parties who send us a shipment prior to April 1, 1913, a temperature indicator.

Knowing that a thermometer is useless unless accurate, and not a desirable ornament in the home unless artistic in design and finish, we have purchased a Thermometer very much better than is ordinarily distributed free. This thermometer cannot be bought in a retail store for less than 50c. It would be too expensive an article for general distribution; therefore, we are confining the distribution entirely to parties who send us a shipment of hides or furs before April 1, 1913.

The Des Moines Silo is always a year ahead of any other silo on the market. Our last year's catalog told of all the features that are being developed in our factory and on our farms during the past season. These new features can be had only on the Des Moines Silo. This year the development is the base anchor which completes the triple anchor system which holds the Des Moines silo as solid as a rock under all conditions. Hundreds of these Des Moines Silos were shipped to all parts of the United States last year. More orders were received than could be filled in time for early fall filling, so it is to your advantage to place your order early. We have on hand more than three million and a half feet of 18 1/2 inch lumber which is thoroughly seasoned and already crowned.
