

FIRM CLOSE IN STEERS

PRICES AT WEEK-END QUOTABLE STEADY TO 10c HIGHER THAN WEEK AGO.

WEAKNESS IS RECOVERED

Top Beeves at $8.80—Cows and Heifers at High Point of Year—Stockers and Feeders Firm.

Less than 100 head of cattle were included in today's live stock receipts at this point and what little business was done was at nominally steady prices.

A resume of the week's business shows a moderately uneven trend of prices for beef cattle, but with conditions on the whole favorable to the selling and producing side.

Beef steers formed a comparatively liberal percentage of the week's receipts at this point and the quality has been fairly good, taking the run as a whole, although there has been very little stuff offered that could be termed strictly choice.

Increased marketing, especially at Chicago, trade opened Monday rather drizzly and a good portion of the steer offerings sold 10c lower.

HOGS SHADE STRONGER

MARKET RULES FULLY STEADY WITH FRIDAY'S BEST PERIOD.

HIGHER THAN THE CLOSE

Meager Supply on Offer Sold Mostly at $8.70@8.80, With Tops Making $8.85—Pigs Nominal.

A meager supply of hogs was on sale at this point today and other markets were also lightly supplied. Estimates called for 1,700 head here and actual receipts fell below 1,500.

The five markets had less than 16,000, or 8,200 less than last Saturday. There was hardly enough hogs here to really test the market.

In comparison with a week ago, today's range on the bulk of hogs is around 15c higher.

Receipts of hogs at this point for the six days total approximately 39,400 head as compared with 27,247 last year ago, 47,544 two years ago, 22,671 three years ago, and 49,252 four years ago.

Prices for hogs averaging 140 lbs. and up ranged from $8.65@8.85, with the bulk selling at $8.70@8.80.

CUT TIME ACROSS COUNTRY

Two Days Saved by New Water and Rail Route.

New York, March 15.—Two full days are cut from the trans-continental freight schedule by a new line just inaugurated by the Central Railroad of Georgia.

The rail-and-water, or "differential," lines from the seaboard have become increasingly popular in recent years. Prices are lower on nearly all classes of freight than by the all-rail lines, the rates averaging 10 per cent lower.

Two causes contribute to the ability of the new line to reduce its time. One is the use of the Illinois Central and Chicago & Alton by a single line, the Frisco, which hereafter will carry the freight from St. Louis to Kansas City without change, eliminating one connection and shortening the mileage considerably.

The second is the fact that St. Louis is left to one side, obtaining the necessity of freight bound for the west threading its way through the crowded yards of the Missouri metropolises.

SHEEP TRADE IRREGULAR

PRICES DURING THE PAST WEEK HAD A VERY UNEVEN TREND.

LIGHT LAMBS SOLD HIGHER

Medium Weights Closed About Steady While Heavies Finished Lower—Strong Close on Aged Stock.

Sheep and lamb trade was purely a nominal affair here today, as no fresh stock showed up for sale. The week's receipts total out around 18,900 head, practically the same as for the previous week but 3,900 in excess of aggregate supply for the same period a year ago.

A review of the week's trade shows considerable unevenness in the course of prices. Current values on the medium and heavy weight lambs which comprised the bulk of the week's offerings show relatively little change compared with a week ago, $3.60@3.85 covering a big share of the week's business in those classes.

On the other hands big weight heavy pelted lambs are quotable 15@25c lower than a week ago in sympathy with eastern markets.

NEW BREED OF HENS

MISSOURI STATE POULTRY EXHIBITS HAVE EVOLVED AN IMPROVED KIND OF FOWL.

Holden, Mo., March 15.—A new breed of chickens has been evolved by the Missouri state poultry experiment station at Mountain Grove.

At present there are but twenty of these hens in existence, valued by the station at several thousand dollars. Results of two years' experience point to an effort to breed a hen which will lay a perfectly white egg, and at the same time be a good table fowl.

That awful silence down at Oyster Bay since Nov. 6 has been broken. The Colonel is on a speaking tour.

There's one day in the year you can show a little greenness and people will think you patriotic. That is St. Patrick's day, day after tomorrow.

Missouri got a lot of favorable comment from the suffragists following the passage of the equal suffrage bill by the house. Then as soon as the senatorial lobby got settled down comfortably at home the senate killed the measure.

THE BASIS OF PROSPERITY. Trade conditions throughout the country are in a prosperous condition. This is accounted for, not by the booming of a new national administration, nor from the policies of the ruling one, but solely from the fact of agricultural prosperity and its consequent effect upon the industries of the nation.—Altamont, Mo. Times.

GOOD ADVICE. Laugh and the world laughs with you; weep and you weep alone; for the world, while it loves a smile, needs not the pessimist's groan. Take this from one who has been there—'tis better to laugh than to cry; for tears make a puddle of water which friendship can never get by. If you're called to weep o'er a piker, weep o'er him as you would o'er a mule; stand at his head as 'd do your weepin', for a piker, like a mule, is a fool—and ain't to be trusted though dead.—Exchange.

INTEREST IN THE SILK GROWING. A record number of silas will be put up during the coming spring and summer, according to reliable reports. The time is near when no farm on which live stock is handled will be without a silo. Eventually the silo will be a big factor in economic live stock production.

HUMAN FLY ESCAPES DEATH. An Explosion Spoils a Moving Picture "Thriller" Act.

New York, March 15.—A steel rocket containing Rodman Law, the "human fly," in which he intended to shoot 3,500 feet into the air, descending by a parachute, exploded when 300 pounds of powder behind it was fired. Law was hurled twenty-five feet from his seat in the rocket but was unhurt.

LOOMING OF COTTON. Declaring that cotton is "the nation's greatest asset," the Manufacturers' Record, of Baltimore, presents statistical data that go far toward establishing its case and certainly presents interesting information to those who are watching the trend of development in manufactures and agriculture.

FEEDING "SPUDS" TO HOGS. Bedford, N. D., March 15.—Because of the low price offered for potatoes many people are feeding the tubers to hogs. Kansas City buyers here recently would offer only 25 cents and would not take mixed potatoes at any price. The farmers claim the tubers are worth more than that for hog feed.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—Winnie's Easter Clothes Make Her Trouble

EVELYN had a new hat and a nice new dress for Easter. Jack also had a new suit. Daddy smiled when Evelyn told him about her clothes. "No doubt they are very nice," he said, "but I hope you won't think so much about them as little Winnie did last year. Winnie's mother bought her a pretty blue silk dress, and a hat with a blue feather in it for Easter. She could hardly wait until Easter, so anxious was she to go out and show them off. When Easter Sunday came, Winnie prinked and fussed so much over dressing that she was late for church. Her mother was not going that morning, and she warned the little girl she must hurry. The church was only a block away, and Winnie often went alone. When she reached the church door she met no one going in. You see, the services had begun. Winnie smiled. She was rather pleased to be late, for now she felt sure every one would see how nice she looked. She opened the door very gently and peeped in. Away down the aisle she could see the family pew, with grandma and grandpa and a couple of uncles and aunts all sitting very straight and prim. They were very particular about manners in church, and Winnie was always on her best behavior there. The minister had just finished saying something when, with a rustle, the choir got up. They were going to sing an Easter anthem, but Winnie did not know that. They are looking at me," thought the vain little girl as she stepped inside the door and started down the aisle to the pew where she belonged. Then the choir began to sing. "Why, the deuce!" Winnie whispered. "Hardly knew you! Hardly knew you!" she thought they sang. The tenor made awful faces too. "Oh," cried Winnie to the choir. "You are very, very rude!" And the congregation giggled as they saw a little girl run out of church. When church was over grandma stopped at Winnie's house. She explained that what the choir had really said had been "Hallelujah! Hallelujah!" which was part of the anthem and not about Winnie at all. "And if you hadn't been thinking so much about your clothes and late for church you wouldn't have acted as you did. It was very silly, and no wonder every one laughed at you."

six years ago, when, without any war stimulus, the price of this commodity advanced to 14 and 15 cents a pound. It then was realized that the world's demand for the staple had so grown that the price probably never again would drop below 10 cents a pound. Figures presented by the Record, in an advance bulletin, show that, produced on 25,000,000 acres, or 11.9 per cent of the 214,542,000 acres devoted to 12 leading crops of the country in 1912, the cotton crop, including its seed, in that year had a value of $1,899,000,000, equal to 28.4 per cent of the aggregate value, $4,598,499,000, of those crops—against the aggregate value of the 12 crops.

In the last census year, 1909, the value of all factory products in the United States was $20,672,052,000. That year the value of the output of the blast furnaces, iron and steel works and rolling mills, was $1,377,152,000, while the value of cotton manufactures, including hosiery and knit goods and the primary products of cotton seed, was $915,970,000. In the first named industries 278,000 wage earners were employed, and in the second group 474,000.

The value of merchandise exported from the United States in the fiscal year ended June 30, 1912, was $2,294,322,409. Raw cotton and cotton seed and their manufactures exported made an aggregate of $658,769,955, almost 29 per cent of the total value of all merchandise exports from this country.

More cotton now consumed annually by the south's cotton mills than was produced in the south in 1863. Last year the 11,833,600 active spindles in the south spun 1,019,797,812 pounds of cotton.

A few growing plants are an artistic addition to the living room, and, if possible, they should always be in evidence. The artificial lighting should be so situated that reading and writing are done in excellent light. A great number of living rooms have a color scheme introducing green and brown, light and tan and brown, or dark brown and red.

Green walls and inlaid furniture combine well and give excellent service. Tan and brown furnishings with draperies introducing a brighter color are always in excellent taste. In this instance the woodwork must be brown, the paper of brown, tan and dull red, the draperies of tan pongee and the furniture upholstered with red.

The colonial living room in its charming severity is always in good taste. With the woodwork enameled white, the walls papered with drift blue, the polished floors covered with rug rugs and the mahogany furniture in leaves nothing to be desired. Brass candlesticks and mahogany trimmings complete the room.

Another attractive living room is furnished with Chinese teakwood. The walls are covered with grass cloth, and the furniture is inlaid with embroderies. Vases, jardiniere, brass sets and pictures savor of the land of the dragon. Personal taste can be displayed at its best advantage when furnishing the living room. Therefore, take particular pains to make it a comfortable, homey, artistic room, where the family can assemble and enjoy beauty in its surroundings—a great factor of happiness.

LOST ON FAKE RACES. Farmer Declares Miami, Fla., Gang Got His Nine Thousand Dollars.

Miami, Fla., March 15.—Warrants were issued here today for the arrest of a man known as Judge J. M. Bateman, said to be from Atlanta and believed to be the brains of the old J. C. Mabray gang, which for years operated fake poolrooms in Omaha, Kansas City and other cities. The warrant was issued on complaint of Frank Rothlieter of Kilsore, Neb., who charges he was swindled out of $9,000 by Bateman and his operatives by fake horse races. Bateman was arrested at Palm Beach this afternoon.

According to Rothlieter's story to the police, Bateman and his associates induced him to bet on races in alleged poolrooms here. Finally he was induced, he declared, to bet $9,000 on a race, paying the money in Atlanta, with the intention of making a "kill" through the so-called poolrooms there.

TEXAS WILL FIGHT FOR LAND State Disputes Claim of New Mexico Regarding Boundary.

Austin, Tex., March 14.—The attorney general's department of Texas is preparing data for submission to the United States attorney in the case recently instituted against this state by New Mexico. The suit involves border line of Western Texas in the vicinity of the Rio Grande and 15,000 acres of the most fertile land in Texas is at stake.

According to the New Mexico contention the boundary line of the two states has shifted in past years. In 1850 the accepted border line was the Rio Grande, but owing to the condition of the country and the overflows of rivers that have washed out a wide hollow for the stream, the coastline has gradually shifted deeper into Texas territory.

The former boundary line of the state of Texas, as set down in the purchase from Mexico of thousands of acres of land lying between Texas and California and involving some of the richest mining country in the United States, was the Rio Grande. This treaty was known as the Gadsden purchase, and represented the exchange of some $12,000,000.

The map made at this time, together with the surveys, show the boundaries of the Rio Grande, particularly the extreme boundary to have been several hundred yards further toward the California border than it is at present. In 1850 a map was completed and since that time the lands and surveys have been made from this border line. The Texas patents to lands have been based on the 1850 survey, and thousands of dollars in taxes have been paid into the state treasury by the inhabitants of this strip along the river.

During the past 25 years this land has been cultivated, and is the most fertile of the western section of the state. The possible loss of the 15,000 acres of land and the taxes due the state concurrent with the retention of the land under state supervision would be a heavy loss to the state.

It is understood that the boundary has been disputed for many years. In the case of the admission of New Mexico to the Union, it had been impossible for them to file any suit for the recovery of the alleged acreage in Texas. Land owners in the valley of the Rio Grande have spent thousands of dollars in the cultivation of this land, and have raised a large fund for the retention of an attorney to maintain the situation to assist the attorney general in the suits filed.

The boundary dispute is an unusual occurrence, particularly of this nature, and the case was filed as an original suit by the attorney general of the United States. The case is numbered original No. 13, showing that only 12 previous cases have ever been filed with the supreme court of the United States. The suit was filed on February 1, 1913, and the supreme court has placed a final date of April 21, for the submission of citations.

HOPE TO PASS LEVER BILL Agricultural Measure to Be Ureed at Special Session of Congress.

Washington, March 15.—Among the important measures which congress failed to adopt and in such action created deep regret among many prominent men and interests of the nation is the lever agricultural bill. Probably no measure of wider importance, more beneficial possibilities and direct and indirect bearing on the welfare of the country has before the public.

The plan was simple and logical, it led up to and crystallized a sentiment which has manifested itself in many different operations and plans, conducted independently and by civic, industrial and political organizations and public-spirited individuals. It contemplated bringing directly to the farming population the great knowledge gathered by the Department of Agriculture, state agricultural college and the experiment station. It was simple operation because the fact that it created no new machinery, the federal and state governments uniting in supporting a system, directed and supervised by the state agricultural colleges.

It was simple operation because the fact that it created no new machinery, the federal and state governments uniting in supporting a system, directed and supervised by the state agricultural colleges.

Unfortunately complications arose by reason of the Page vocational education bill, including as one of several different provisions a section designed to cover the same ground as the lever agricultural extension bill. The Page measure was very broad in its scope and revolutionary in its character, and its passage would have been exceedingly difficult to put in practical form for passage. The suggestion was made to divide this bill into the three distinct propositions which, according to its intent, it contains. The first would have greatly simplified and facilitated its passage. The Lever bill was carefully worked out and it passed the house by a vote of 213 to 192 on the eighth month from the date of its introduction and came out of the senate committee with a recommendation that it passed, in December. It is proposed to bring it up at the special session that will convene in April. In the meantime, authorities on vocational education should get together and put this feature of the Page bill in shape for passage, covering both vocational education along the lines of trade and also along the line of agriculture, and report the same either in one or two bills, as seem to be most satisfactory. In a word, the Lever bill, is in shape for passage while the Page bill proved too complicated and indefinite.

GOOD FINISH BOOSTS VALUE Many Farmers Get Rich by Taking Advantage of Others' Poor Work.

Dakota Farmer: How often we have seen good money paid for breeding ewes, or even hogs, simply because they were plump and fat. We have seen dealers in hogs make good money buying up thin ewes of all ages at very low prices, just because they were thin and unrepresenting in appearance, and the extra feed and good pasture, "smooth them out" and almost double their money on them selling them back to men who could never have been induced to buy them when they were thin at the same price. Many a poor framed ram has been sold in this way at a good figure.

The same with horses, and almost any kind of stock. The writer lived for years near a shrewd old German who grew well-to-do by simply buying

MORE AUTOS ON THE FARMS Agricultural Experts Say They Are Common Sight.

Columbia, Mo., March 15.—Missouri farmers are taking to the automobile with all the eagerness of their city brethren. And they are buying good cars, too. This is the observation of College of Agriculture professors whose work in advising short courses takes them into all parts of the state.

"I have been constantly impressed with the growing use of the motor car by farmers," says M. F. Miller, professor of agronomy. "Especially is this true of the northwestern part of the state, a section of big, prosperous farms. Men are buying cars not only for the use of their families on pleasure jaunts, but for the utilitarian purpose of getting around over their places in quick time.

More and more, too, the gasoline-engine tractor is taking the place of horse power on farms in the level sections. The tractor was developed in the Canadian northwest, where the farmers found that plowing their immense acreage with horse power was becoming too expensive. In the last five years the use of the tractor has spread rapidly through the middle west, and many machines are now being used in Missouri for plowing, disking, harrowing, cutting ensilage and other farm operations.

M. A. R. Kelley, farm machinery expert of the college, says that agriculture, has estimated that under average conditions, on level lands, plowing can be done 35 cents cheaper to the acre with the tractor than with horses and mules.

So far, he says, the tractor, which costs from $1,500 up, can be used economically only on farms of 250 acres or more. But he believes a small tractor will be developed in the near future that will be adaptable to conditions on the small farm, which is still dependent on horse power for the major farm operations. Such a tractor costing from $600 to $1000, would find a wide market. The tractor enables the farmer to plow when he pleases and to plow deeper.

OLD SETTLER TELLS EXPERIENCE Over Half Her Life Spent in Misery and Pains Doctors Couldn't Cure.

At Last She Went to United Doctors and Was Quickly Relieved by New Treatment.

Mrs. H. D. Gould of 419 Ankey street, Waterloo, Iowa, is one of the old and respected citizens of that city. She is 65 years of age, was born and raised in Waterloo, and it is widely known among the people of that city how she has suffered from rheumatism, over half her life, therefore the following letter from her is of special interest:

"I have suffered with cramps so badly that my legs and arms would draw up and become very painful. This has gone on for nearly thirty years every time there was a change in the weather. I have tried everything that was suggested but got no results. I tried all the doctors but all they could do was to relieve my pain with morphine.

At last I concluded there was no help for me and then, a friend recommended that I go to the United Doctors, and as a last resort I went. I found the reception room full of patients but waited my turn and then went into the consultation room where, after a careful examination, the doctor said he could help me. I consented to treatment and now, after treating two months, I am better than I have been for years. I have no more cramping pains. I eat and sleep well and feel that I will soon be well."

"MRS. H. D. GOULD, Waterloo, Iowa."

The above is only a fair sample of the work of relieving suffering and distress that is being done by the United Doctors who have their St. Joseph institute located on the second floor of 720 Felix street.

Thousands of such cases is what has given the United Doctors a national reputation for being able to cure old chronic and deep seated diseases of the blood, skin, kidneys, liver, bowels and other organs. These great specialists cure many, many such diseases which could not even be helped by ordinary doctors and ordinary medicines. Their new system of medicine is a revelation to the medical world.

"I have suffered with cramps so badly that my legs and arms would draw up and become very painful. This has gone on for nearly thirty years every time there was a change in the weather. I have tried everything that was suggested but got no results. I tried all the doctors but all they could do was to relieve my pain with morphine.

At last I concluded there was no help for me and then, a friend recommended that I go to the United Doctors, and as a last resort I went. I found the reception room full of patients but waited my turn and then went into the consultation room where, after a careful examination, the doctor said he could help me. I consented to treatment and now, after treating two months, I am better than I have been for years. I have no more cramping pains. I eat and sleep well and feel that I will soon be well."

"MRS. H. D. GOULD, Waterloo, Iowa."

The above is only a fair sample of the work of relieving suffering and distress that is being done by the United Doctors who have their St. Joseph institute located on the second floor of 720 Felix street.

Thousands of such cases is what has given the United Doctors a national reputation for being able to cure old chronic and deep seated diseases of the blood, skin, kidneys, liver, bowels and other organs. These great specialists cure many, many such diseases which could not even be helped by ordinary doctors and ordinary medicines. Their new system of medicine is a revelation to the medical world.

HER QUEENLY STYLE

Cream and Peaches Complexion Temporarily Wrecked by Use of Beauty Mask.

By GENEVIEVE ULMAR.

Mrs. Laura Peaslee sat in a comfortable rocking chair in the broad, airy hallway of her home, listening idly to the gay chatter and laughter of a group of merry girls.

Except for the loss of her husband, life had been very pleasant to the wealthy widow. She had an ample fortune and many valued friends, and in adopting her favorite niece she had added a new joy to existence.

It was concerning him that the bright quartette of young ladies were making so much noise. They all knew Deslyn except Miss Virden.

She Paused With a Smile.

lons regarding the rising young professor.

"We must all look our prettiest, you know," laughed Agnes.

"Well, don't flatter yourself, plain homebody sister of mine," retorted the mischievous Frances.

"Yes," remarked Miss Virden in her peevish way, "with that cream and peaches complexion of yours, Nellie, ordinary and artificial charms like ours will stand little show."

"Oh, on that score the reference was exclusively to myself, dear," explained Blanche.

"Is 'ye' bilin' potatoes, Mis' Green?" asked Rose Matilda, coming down from the roof with a basketful of dry clothes.

"Yes," said Mrs. Green. "How did you know?"

"Oh, I've got a mighty sharp smell," replied Rose Matilda, "an' no one can't cook nothin' round me dat I don't know 'bout. W'y, de' o'er night w'en I went to church I ast Mis' Johnson, mah nex' neighbor, to come an' stay wif de baby w'ile I's gone. Mis' Johnson, she one o' dem folks dat ain't awful partic'lar 'bout wot's hers an' wot's mine, Mis' Green. Well, w'en I's comin' home I felt like in eve' bone in mah body dat Mis' Johnson she cook a supper fo' herself wif mah 'greddies w'ile I's 'way. And sho' nuff, w'en I come in, I knowed sho' eat up all mah fresh aigs, 'cos I jes' could smell de o' bilin' aigs befo' I so much as open mah do'!"

All these maneuvers Blanche went through again that evening when she and Nellie retired.

"That boy used to be the worst boy in school and now he's the star pup!"

"How did they make him so?"

"They took out his asteroids."

CUPID IS GIVEN AID

Miss Winthrop Will Build $15,000 Trusting Place.

Woman Sees Woes of Street Corner, Cafe and Dance Hall Courtships in Gotham and Becomes a Philanthropist.

New York.—There's no use in denying the fact that young lovers of New York City have a pretty hard time in getting away with it.

But before launching into Miss Winthrop's solution, let's see just what is this problem of the young lovers of New York. The answer is: "Where are they going to do their courting?"

With a few million people trying to occupy the narrow confines of Manhattan Island, it goes without further elaboration that every family cannot place at the disposal of Sal and Jane a parlor each for the entertainment of their young man friends over an evening's call.

So when Freddie makes a "date" with Sal, Sal must make answer to Freddie something to this effect: "All right, Freddie; meetcha at the corner of Hundred and Twenty-fifth and Eighth."

There's little in the way of a choice for Freddie and Sal. They might walk a while, yes; but more than love's young dream is necessary to make a lovers' lane out of a New York street.

They have another choice, and only about one more. It's the noisy dance hall down the avenue.

Two weeks later Nellie's disfigurement had totally disappeared.

"Cream and peaches," quoted the ardent lover. "Yes, Nellie, and roses and lilies, and all things that are pretty and sweet—that's you!"

Nellie had learned her lesson. At the wedding she did not use even the lightest touch of face powder!

DULUTH'S MANY ODD POINTS

Enterprising and Busy City Has Been Called the Queerest in the United States.

The queerest city in America is believed by many persons to be Duluth, guardian of the great port at the head of Lake Superior.

Duluth is the greatest outdoor town in the world. One can catch trout and shoot bear, moose and deer within its limits.

Duluth is boastful. It has the biggest boat club and the second biggest wholesale house in America.

"I have been over every section of this country studying its social evils," Miss Winthrop said, "and I think I have found now what will be a great remedy for the young in this great city."

DEEP LAND DIVING.

Most Hazardous Job That of Lifesaver in Mining Bureau.

From the Survey: "The most hazardous occupation known to man," says a recent bulletin issued by the bureau of mines, "is that of life-saver in the mine."

It is popularly supposed that deep-sea diving has the highest mortality rate among all the dangerous callings, but it is not to be compared with rescue work. In the first year of this service two out of twenty-four experienced miners employed by the bureau in this desperate work have given their lives while attempting to save others.

The mortality rate among bureau of mines rescuers is on this basis, eight in 1,000.

With such a fearful record before them, it might be thought that miners would hesitate about engaging in such a business, but this is not the case.

Miners are as brave a body of men as can be found in any industry, and those who have been trained in rescue work by the bureau of mines and have sought employment as life-savers are imbued with the spirit that they are engaged in a great work, which promises to materially reduce the death rate in American mines.

That the life-savers have made a good beginning is shown in the records of the bureau of mines. In the period of one year forty experienced miners have been rescued directly through the efforts of the bureau's men, and perhaps as many more by individual those who have been trained in rescue work by the bureau of mines. Best of all, the federal rescuers have stopped the death roll among volunteer life-savers at disasters. In the past it is said that a rescuer has given up his life for every man saved.

Forty volunteer rescuers were killed at Hanna, Wyo., two years ago, trying to save fourteen entombed men. At the same time, a rescuer has given up his life for every man saved.

Forty volunteer rescuers were brought up on the case lifelines.

Since the bureau of mines took up this great work, the only volunteer rescuer in the last eight or ten disasters has lost his life.

WILL GIVE AN OSTRICH FLIP TO EL PASO PLANS NOVEL FEATURE FOR ENTERTAINMENT OF TEXAS CATTLEMEN.

El Paso, Tex., March 15.—Cuero had its "turkey trot," El Paso will have its "ostrich flip" for the Texas cattlemen when they come out for the big roundup on March 15, 19 and 20.

Down the valley below El Paso is an ostrich farm. There is a drove of fifty big long-legged, walking ostriches that are being trained to perform the feat of carrying a rider on their backs.

The entertainment that is being arranged for the visitors to the big roundup, it is but one item in a list of feature entertainments for the visitors and their wives which is expected to keep them "milling" for the three days of the association meeting. Visits to the Juarez battle-field, trips to Fort Bliss, the bull ranch and the race track are being planned as a part of the diversion during the three days' session of the cattle raisers.

A roundup ball is to be given as the closing feature, at which old-fashioned square dances will be given between the more fashionable turkey trots and bunny hugs.

Car fare will be refunded to all the delegates at the convention who do not get their money's worth during their visit. No time has been allotted for sleep and the program runs twenty-four hours for each day.

TOO MANY SWEET POTATOES WITH NO MARKET, WAMEGO GROWERS FEAR TULERS WILL ROT.

Wamego, Kan., March 15.—Wamego has a corner on the supply of sweet potatoes in this part of the country. But the corner hasn't proved a desirable one this spring.

Growers estimate that there are still from thirty to thirty-five cars of the sweet potatoes in storage around Wamego. This amount includes only table stock. There are also a number of cars of seed sweet potatoes in storage.

Generally at this time of the year there are not more than a third that many potatoes left here, and by April 1 every grower expects to have shipped at least the greater part of his product. Also, generally about this time the market is high, ranging from 75 cents a bushel to the grower to $1.50 a bushel.

Today, however, the market price to the growers in car lots is 40 cents a bushel and the growers are unable to find sale for the product.

The exceedingly open winter over the country is blamed by shippers for the lack of active market. The supply here last fall was large and the quality good. Early in the season the price also was high. During the holidays the growers were getting 75 cents a bushel for the potatoes.

Many of them refused to sell, believing that the market would go still higher. Instead it slumped after January 1. Unless a market opens in the next two weeks here last fall was large and the quality good.

to tobacco by Mr. Brand, a well known grower there; at Nethwood, Norfolk, Major Whitmore will have six acres planted, and the Brookville Small Holders' Society, in the neighboring village of Stoke Ferry, six acres; and in North Wales, Dorsetshire, Surrey, Warwickshire, Scotland and elsewhere, individual experimenters are putting down a few acres apiece.

A few days ago an order for ten ounces of tobacco seed was sent to Virginia by J. C. Wallis of Peterborough who superintended the cultivation of Lord Iveagh's tobacco. This is the largest order for tobacco seed emanating from England in modern times. There will be 3,000,000 seeds in the ten ounces. So fine are they that it is necessary before sowing to mix them with fifteen or twenty times their bulk of dry ashes or sand.

TWO BIG LAND DEALS. Three-Thousand-Acre Ranch Figures in a $300,000 Trade.

Kansas City, Mo., March 15.—By the trading of two big apartment buildings in Kansas City and $100,000 in cash for a 3,200-acre irrigated ranch in Colorado, M. J. Reitz of the Reitz Investment Company, 1302 Commerce building, closed the biggest real estate deal of the year, the consideration being $300,000 on each side.

Thomas B. Lee, Albert Parker and J. W. Smith traded the Heidelberg, a twenty-five apartment building, Eleventh and Forest avenue; the Murray Hill, twelve apartments, Tenth street and Benton street; the Newport, twelve apartments, Thirty-third street and Baltimore avenue; and the Laurette, six apartments, Linwood boulevard and Chestnut street, with a further consideration of $100,000 in cash for the Graham ranch in Powers county, Colorado.

This ranch consists of 3,200 acres of irrigated land, which is in alfalfa, and is one of the oldest developed ranches in Colorado. It is in the famous Arkansas valley.

The Chase Land Company, a Nebraska corporation, will hold the apartment buildings as an investment. Mr. Lee and associates expect to colonize their land during the coming season.

CREATE NINE STATE BOARDS Kansas Legislature Appropriates Excessed Those of Two Years Ago.

Topeka, Kan., March 15.—Nine new state boards were created by this legislature. They are: Board of corrections, osteopath board, barber board, chiropractic board, board for registration of trained nurses, single board of administration for educational institutions, board of irrigation, board of state fair managers, hotel commission.

A total of 343 bills passed both branches of the legislature this session.

The senate passed 245 senate bills and 181 house bills, and the house passed 182 senate and 338 house bills. A total of 593 measures were introduced into the senate this session, and 845 in the house. From the figures compiled today by the ways and means committee the legislature appropriated $462,657.12 more for the next two years than the legislature of 1911 appropriated for 1912 and 1913. The present legislature appropriated a grand total of $8,838,551.12. The legislature of 1911 appropriated a grand total of $5,375,334.01.

MAYOR'S JOB GOES BEGGING No One Wants Office in "Injunction Ridden" Scammon, Kan.

Columbus, Kan., March 15.—With a perpetual injunction hanging over the town of Scammon and several of the present officials now awaiting hearing on contempt charges, with a possibility of being fined $1,000 each, the Democrats and Republicans refused to accept the nomination for mayor. Another convention has been called for tonight.

The injunction forbids Scammon from collecting a license from joints either directly or by any subterfuge, such as collecting fines at regular intervals and permitting the joints to run. This injunction was granted some years ago. A few months ago the attorney general filed contempt proceedings against the mayor and city attorney and several other officials in Missouri. The measure was collected in violation of the injunction. These cases are still pending.

RACING MAY BE REVIVED. Rogers Measure, Passed in Senate, Would Permit Betting.

Jefferson City, March 15.—A bill passed by the senate this afternoon may have the effect of reviving horse racing in Missouri. The measure was introduced by Senator Rogers and creates a commission of five which will have charge of county fairs, the regulation of live stock exhibits and horse racing. It was drafted by men interested in the production of fine horses but is so worded that under its provisions there may be a revival of racing under fairly liberal conditions and in fact, its provisions are so broad there is no doubt that the perpetuation of betting on horse racing can be used in this state should the bill become a law. This is the system in vogue in Kentucky. The bill has yet to pass the house.

Senator Rogers said tonight he knew nothing about the bill and introduced it at the request of a number of horsemen of Audrain county.

MOTHER OF 11 ASKS DIVORCE Kansas Woman, Married 40 Years, Sues for Freedom.

Columbus, Kan., March 15.—After forty years of married life, during which she reared eleven children, Mrs. Joanna Morgan has filed suit for divorce from S. P. Morgan. Among other allegations made by her is that her husband, who is one of the most prosperous farmers in Cherokee county, would not let her or the children use conveyances to attend church and Sunday school.
