ITEMS IN BRIEF

J. P. MORGAN DEAD

MARKET IS NOT AFFECTED

Little Was Known of Morgan, the Man—Carried Money in Big Rolls—Formed Billion Dollar Trust.

Rome, April 1.—J. Pierpont Morgan, the New York financier died here yesterday.

Last night his body, lying in the death chamber, was surrounded with flowers.

The death of Morgan was not known in Rome until several hours after it occurred.

The official statement prepared by Dr. Giuseppe Bastianelli, Dr. Mallon Starr, and Dr. George A. Dixon, the attending physicians, indicates that a gradual general collapse followed a condition of nervous prostration which prevented the digestion of food.

For five days Morgan received artificial nourishment, but was unable to assimilate the food as a result, he rapidly lost strength.

His end was without suffering. Morgan's daughter, Mrs. Herbert L. Satterlee, Jr., who has been in constant attendance, was at the deathbed.

She held the hand of her father and tried to obtain some sign of recognition. She thought that when the supreme moment came he faintly pressed her hand.

Settle is prostrated by grief and has no statement to make last night regarding future arrangements.

The American ambassador and Mrs. Thomas J. O'Brien and Secretary of the Embassy, George Post Wheeler and Mrs. Wheeler, who went to the hotel yesterday to inquire about Morgan's condition, were there when his death was announced.

Little is known of Morgan, the man. He was a riddle, associated with the early in his career he negotiated for the purchase of a shipload of coffee for purposes of speculation.

Morgan walked away without replying. Twenty minutes later he returned and placed on the merchant's desk a check for the deal.

He fought to a finish. Morgan was stern always, and the expression of his face was the least of it. He was more inclined to make men than to break men.

He was a great thinker, spoke little, smiled seldom, and in the midst of his great wealth and his numerous business activities appeared like a man lonesome, alone.

Carried Money in Big Rolls. While Morgan made no undue display of his philanthropy, he was generous in the same as other men.

He carried currency around in his pocket in great rolls. He seemed to enjoy talking out his ideas on treasury notes when he had to meet an immediate expense.

His diversions included shooting, fishing, yachting, and the playing of solitaire. He didn't bet on horse races, and he never speculated on a margin.

When in town, he got to his office early and did a tremendous amount of work. He hated to be interviewed and he hated to be photographed.

A Man of Commanding Presence. Morgan was 6 feet tall. His eyes were gray and amoldering. He wore a 7 1/2 size hat. His hair was white as snow, yet his mustache was almost black.

Morgan's face was almost terrifying in its ferocity. His voice was loud, strong, compelling. He liked attractive clothing. He loved dogs. He was famous throughout the cultured world as an art connoisseur.

He was a genuine student in many lines, a great reader. Personally, he never gambled in any form. At work, or at what he called play, he was in deadly earnest every minute of every day of his life, and in that earnestness was one of the chief elements of his personal success.

Forms Billion Dollar Trust. Six years after he saved the country's finances, in the second Cleveland administration, Morgan formed the "billion dollar trust," the United States Steel corporation. He formed immediately thereafter the International Harvester corporation and the International Mercantile Marine company, the combination of Atlantic steamship lines, which of all his great undertakings was only a partial success.

He continued augmenting his banking and mercantile power. In the near panic of 1907 he again came to the rescue of the country. He received a personal check for a million, his act rendered the confidence of the people.

For the amount of money invested in the poultry business, it pays a large profit than any other farm specialty.

FARMERS' MOVEMENT.

The great national conference of farmers that has been called to meet at Chicago, April 8-10, is one of the most important gatherings in the history of American agriculture. It is important not only to the farmers themselves, but to the people at large.

This conference has been called by the farm press of the country and will mark another mile post in the farmers' forward movement, according to Farm and Home. At no time has there been so much interest taken in the cost of living, at no time have the people been so ready to adopt measures which are designed to work out the relief of the situation.

SCAR REUNITES A FAMILY.

Barber Shaving Lost Son Recognizes Him by Facial Mark.

Seattle, Wash., April 1.—By a peculiar scar on the left cheek of a man he was shaving, Peter Vorse, a barber, recognized his son who had been given up as dead for more than fifteen years.

In 1887 Albert Vorse left his home in DeKalb, Ill., to seek work in the Dakotas. After writing several letters all news stopped and the elder Vorse ceased to hear from his son. They believed him dead.

Three years ago Vorse came here and opened a shop. This week a be-whiskered man entered the barber shop and asked for a "scarpin'."

In an instant each recognized the other and after the completion of the shave a reunion was held at the home where Mrs. Vorse was overjoyed on seeing her son. Two brothers and a sister in DeKalb were informed of the return of Albert.

In Valdez, Alaska, Vorse is known as a very prosperous mining man and has a wife and family of four girls.

BABY CARRIAGE RUNS AWAY.

Mother Sees Infant Trampled Under Hoofs of Horses.

New York, April 1.—A baby carriage, in which was seated the 2-year-old son of Mrs. Louis Lemberg of No. 151 Southern boulevard, got under way down an incline through the fearful jumping of the child.

The mother, emerging from a store, was horrified to see the little wagon bump into a horse and become overturned. Before she could reach her baby one of the hoofs of the plunging horse struck the child a glancing blow on the forehead, inflicting a scalp wound. After being attended in a nearby drug store the miraculously saved child was taken home.

Binger, Ok., Lad Wins an Acquaintance Contest.

Binger, Ok., April 1.—Don Evans, a boy living seven miles west of Binger, knows the correct names and postoffice addresses of more unmarried men living within a radius of a few miles than any other person in that section.

In a contest recently he submitted the correct names and postoffice addresses of 172 unmarried men. His leading opponent in the contest was a young woman, Hazel Thompson, who sent in a correct list of 162 names.

Daddy's Bedtime Story — When the Fairies Come To Call.

JACK and Evelyn were not sure that there were fairies. Daddy heard them talking it over. His eyes twinkled. "Well," said he, "I know a little boy and girl that believe in fairies. Their names are Janey and Antony. Janey and Antony have the best reason in the world for believing in fairies.

"Let me tell you about it. The children have a dear grandma of whom they are very fond. She lives with them. Her room is to them the most delightful place in the house. When they are tired they can slip in there, and grandma will cuddle them and tell them stories. When they do not feel very well she will take them on her lap and rock them till they forget the ache of fall asleep. When Janey had a bad cold last winter and had to stay in bed for several days it was on grandma's broad chest by the window that she snuggled during the daytime. Fixed up with soft pillows and a nice cover, it was much more comfortable than Janey's own little bed where she slept at night.

"And when Janey got well she was a bit peevish. Little girls and boys sometimes are after they have been ill.

"Now," said grandma one day, "if you are very good today you may have a nice surprise. The fairies listen to hear how little boys and girls behave. They reward the good, but they take no notice of cross or naughty children."

"So Janey was a very good little girl that day, and when her brother Antony came in from school she told him what grandma had said.

"We'll look and see if the fairies have been here yet," Antony said. "And after searching all over the room they found under a sofa pillow a chocolate caramel wrapped up in a piece of white tissue paper. It was marked 'For a good little girl.'"

"That's you," Antony said, handing it to Janey. "You are the only little girl who lives here."

"But he looked so disappointed that grandma said, 'Why not look around a little more.'"

"Antony began the search again, and after awhile he found another caramel under a book on grandma's table. It was wrapped up just like Janey's, but on it was written, 'For a kind brother.' And, of course, that was meant for Antony because he had been so kind to his little sister Janey when she was ill.

"And since then there is scarcely a day that the fairies do not leave something for the children.

"And this is what happens at Antony and Janey's house, though I am not sure that the fairies will call at all houses. Perhaps the fact that they have such a lovely grandma living with them may lead to it."

IN WOMAN'S REALM

Attention. Ladies readers of the Stock Yards Daily Journal should appreciate the efforts of the Townsend & Wyatt Dry Goods Company and the Hirsch Dry Goods Company in their efforts to promptly fill all mail or parcel post orders. The ladies in the country can shop as well by mail or telephone as though they were here shopping in person, as both firms are well known, thoroughly reliable and merit your confidence. Carefully watch their announcements in the Stock Yards Daily Journal, and demonstrate to yourself that it will be convenient and profitable to use the parcel post by giving them an order.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN.

Aprons Bought Picture—A number of prominent women of Atlanta, Ga., among them the wife of the governor elect of the state, have bought a $3000 Hirschfield painting for St. Luke's Episcopal Church, earning all the money by making aprons. They made all sorts of aprons, butchers', maids' aprons and fancy house aprons. The picture is entitled "The Good Shepherd," but will, no doubt, be known as the "apron picture."

College Girl Reporters—Nine young women students of Wellesley College have formed a Press Board, and each has a Boston paper to which she writes or telephones the news of the college. The girls meet each day and go over the news in each department so that there is no favoritism shown, but, of course, much depends upon the way in which the news stories are written.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

A sewing screen with top handles is a handy thing to carry from room to room. It should be covered with cretonne, should stand strongly on its feet and be hung on one side with sewing needles.

The good housekeeper has a confidence in cooking—that is, she provides just enough for each meal, harmonizes the right dishes and has everything cooked at the last moment, so that nothing is spoiled by standing.

DUCK DINES ON 13-INCH FISH.

Hunter Finds Big Pickerel in Crop of Bird He Shoots.

Boonton, N. J., April 1.—Frank Van Duyn of Passaic Valley Farm shot a fish duck or shell drake on the flooded lowlands bordering the upper Passaic river near Pine Brook the other morning, in the crop of which was found a pickerel 13 inches in length. The dead bird containing the fish measured 25 inches from the end of the bill to the root of the tail.

When Mr. Van Duyn picked up the duck the end of the fish's tail protruded from its mouth. The crop of

WHEN WIZARDS CUT LOOSE

Compete Among Themselves in Performance of Wonders at Banquet in London.

The wizards at Anderson's hotel at the seventh annual banquet of the Magic circle, under the presidency of Nevil Maskelyne, bore themselves like ordinary citizens for the greater part of the evening. Their real and extraordinary nature came out, however, at last. The magicians began competing among themselves in the performance of wonders.

Cecil Lyle started hat trimming by magic, causing an ostrich plume and some white fox trimming to drape itself on an untripped hat without the agency of human hands. Chris Hilton manufactured Union Jacks and other flags out of plain colored handkerchiefs. William Dawkes fused a number of billiard balls into one. Herbert Collings produced out of an empty sealed envelope replies to advertisements taken at random from a daily newspaper, while Dr. Herschell carried out a series of uncanny tricks with cards. In an interval, when the normal reigned for a time, Miss Sybil Goodchild sang one or two songs. Immediately afterwards, however, the magicians recommenced competing one against the other in bewildering exhibitions of magical skill.

It was self-evident that evening dress, so far as modern magicians are concerned, is a mere deception. Even without the wand, the pointed shoes and the cabalistic signs upon their clothes, there are unquestionably magicians still.—London Telegraph.

TOUCH AND QUICK DEATH

Theater Owner Mourns Sudden Demise of His Friend, the Press Agent.

Jake Tannenbaum, who owns a big theater in Mobile, goes to New York two or three times a year and there meets a lot of his friends. One morning before he had left his hotel for a stroll on Broadway, a press agent who had met him in Mobile rushed in and engineered a swift touch.

"Mr. Tannenbaum," he said breathlessly, "I've got to have $20! It's a matter of life and death. Lend me that twenty, will you?"

"That's all very well," replied Tannenbaum, "but when do I get it back?"

"I'll give it back to you at 2 o'clock this afternoon," the press agent reassured him.

"But will you?"

"Mr. Tannenbaum, I'll give it to you at that time if I'm alive."

The theater owner handed out the money.

At 2:30 that afternoon Jake walked down Broadway, displaying on his coat sleeve a tremendous band of craps. There were tears in his eyes, and if Niobe had been living he would have made her grief look like a fit of laughing hysterics.

"It's a sad thing," he lamented. "I'm all broken up. A young friend of mine, a press agent whom I knew well in Mobile, died some time before 2 o'clock this afternoon."—Popular Magazine.

ARE THEIR CURES PERMANENT?

United Doctors Refer to People Cured, Long Ago.
Who Still Remain Well, Thanks to the New System of Cure.

"Doctor, will I remain well after I am cured by you?" is a question sometimes asked by the anxious patient who is seeking relief from years of suffering. It hardly seems possible to those who have been afflicted so long that they are not only to be relieved but to be cured entirely and be kept well thereafter. That after they are pronounced entirely well the sun is never to rise on another day of suffering; so long as they follow the simple plan of life laid out for them by the United Doctors, who never lose interest in patients after they have been discharged cured.

This is why old patients who have been cured by the United Doctors are continually sending their friends to these specialists for relief. They themselves having been made well again, are anxious to see those near to them in the same happy condition, and they know from experience that the United Doctors are reliable and conscientious, honest in telling any patient exactly what the trouble is and whether curable or not. Having tried the United Doctors themselves people are not only willing but glad to place their families, loved ones and friends in the hands of these famous specialists, knowing by experience that no better, no safer, no more effective treatment can be obtained anywhere.

One year Louis Gregorie, who lives on Route 4, Troy, Kan., was cured by the United Doctors of a complication of diseases after he had lost all hopes of relief. The other day he called at the office of these specialists, located at 720 Felix street, second floor, and made a statement for the benefit of the world:

"No, I am not in need of any more treatment," said Mr. Gregorie as he came in smiling. "I just dropped in to tell you how well and strong I have remained after you cured me last year. It seems like I am feeling and looking better all the time, and I have napped out a bigger line of farm work for this season than I ever hoped to be able to do again in this world. Last year I had to give up work entirely, but this year the world looks bright and I am doing as much if not more work than my neighbors. I would have saved hundreds of dollars and much loss of time if I had found the United Doctors before I did, but that isn't your fault. I am certainly grateful to you for giving me back my life and health, and there is nothing I won't do for you. You have permission to use my name in any way."

Nearly all the United Doctors' many patients talk in this way, which accounts for their offices always being busy with patients from far and near. Their success has been marvelous in chronic diseases of the stomach, liver, kidneys, blood and nerves, rheumatism, constipation, indigestion, catarrhs, catarrhs, bladder complaints, headaches, nervousness, epileptic fits, restless sleep, neuritis, asthma, goitre, skin diseases, diseases of women and of men. An examination by these specialists is always free, this has proved to be the stepping stone to a new life to thousands of people. With the true cause of disease thoroughly understood the road to health is an easy one through the United treatment.—Adv.

FARM EXPERTS IN WYOMING

Park County the First to Secure One's Service.

Cody, Wyo., April 1.—Unless unforeseen difficulties arise Park county will be one of the first of the counties of the great Northwest to secure the services of an agricultural expert. No definite arrangements to this end have been made, but an organizing committee presented hereby under certain conditions, the services of a scientific man who will give aid and counsel to the farmers of the county may be secured, and every possible effort put forth to accomplish this much desired end.

The matter was primarily in the hands of Park County Farmers' Association but as soon as the Cody club learned of the move that was being made by the farmers, assistance was volunteered, and organizing committees are now working together harmoniously and energetically and with a fair prospect of being successful.

"DEAD" BUY CONES TO LIFE

Sympathizing Neighbors Stampede at the Unusual Sight.

Chester, Pa., April 1.—Pronounced dead by a reputable physician, a 18-year-old boy "returned to life" here. At the uncommon apparition relatives and sympathizing neighbors gazed in terror and a stampede followed.

The corpse is or was Frank Moore Jr., of Burnside, Delaware county. The young man had been ill for several weeks, when he suddenly lapsed into unconsciousness and lost all semblance of life.

A physician was summoned and made an examination.

Moore's heart had stopped beating and he showed every indication of having died.

About a dozen persons were in the room when the corpse sat up, threw the winding sheet and said, "What the dickens is that for, I'm hot."

PACKING FOOD IN FERNS.

In Germany the use of ferns is coming into more and more favor for packing food which is transported either short or long distances. The practice became common in England before it gained equal vogue in Germany, and the results are said to be excellent, especially in shipping fresh fruit, butter, fish and other food products which require unusual care.

Angora goats cannot thrive if they are crowded into small space, hence they should not be kept in large flocks on the smaller farms.

You Will Receive

provided you send us a shipment of hides or furs before April 1, 1913, and are not already entitled to one by virtue of having sent us a shipment since December 15, 1912, when the offer was first made.

This Special Offer

Will Extend Only to April 1, 1913—But One Thermometer Will Be Sent to a Party.

Realizing the necessity of a Thermometer in every home, especially on the farm, we have decided to give parties who send us a shipment prior to April 1, 1913, a temperature indicator.

Knowing that a thermometer is useless unless accurate, and not a desirable ornament in the home unless artistic in design and finish, we have purchased a Thermometer very much better than is ordinarily distributed free. This thermometer cannot be bought in a retail store, for less than 50c. It would be too expensive an article for general distribution; therefore, we are confining the distribution entirely to parties who send us a shipment of hides or furs before April 1, 1913.

The time for final shipment of furs from this country to the last London Fur Sales of the season has passed, resulting in the demand from exporters materially easing up. This, of course, is a yearly occurrence and every one from the trapper up to the big dealer expects it. This condition has not affected values as seriously this season as in former years; however, prices all along the line are declining. On some grades the reduction is more than on others. The quick shipment of furs from this time on cannot be too strongly impressed on you.

WAS "HERO" OF THE SHORE

Thrilling Narrative of a Narrow Escape During a Squall on Firth of Forth.

In the days when the late Sir Edward Moss lived at Edinburgh's seaside suburb of Joppa, it was his custom to invite friends to test the sailing qualities of his yacht on the Firth of Forth. One day a sudden squall arose, and from the shore the yacht could be seen laboring heavily. All on board had a narrow escape, and a local reporter scented good "copy" in the occurrence. In glowing colors the scene was described, and next day Sir Edward came in for much congratulation on his providential escape.

To a select company he recounted how he saw the waters sweeping the decks, pouring into the cabin, and subjecting the craft to imminent peril of being smashed against the pier. "Dreadful!" exclaimed one of the agitated listeners. "Were you not afraid?"

"Afraid? No! Why should I have been?"

"Did you stay on deck all the time?"

"On deck? No."

"Then not down below, surely?"

"Oh, no!"

"Where were you, then?"

Sir Edward Moss allowed a quiet smile to creep over his face. "I was sitting on the shore," he said.

CACHE FOOD FOR CASTAWAYS

Depots of Supplies Established by Various Governments on Most of the Dangerous Islands.

Caches or depots of food and clothing have recently been established by the various governments on most of the dangerous islands under their dominion. And on many of others there are signposts and instructions as to how to get to the nearest island where there is such a depot. They are in huts, built expressly for the purpose, or in natural caves in the cliffs, where all the provisions will remain dry and keep for a long time. As an example, down in the Indian ocean are the islands of Amsterdam, St. Paul and Kerguelen, all dangerous spots for vessels in a storm. On each of these the French warship Eure has established depots containing necessities of all kinds for castaways, no matter what their nationality may be. At Amsterdam Island, in a large cavern on a hillside, there are supplies

BARGAIN SALE OF COFFINS

Farmers Buy Steel Caskets at 10 to 35 Cents Each.

Boyetown, Pa., April 1.—Farmers for miles around came here and attended a bargain sale of heavy steel burial caskets, some of which has been used for the transportation of bodies across the sea. They sold for 10 to 25 cents each.

The Boyetown Burial Casket Company purchased the caskets fifteen years ago, but they were too cumbersome for use and the entire lot was dumped on the land of Mahlon F. Cleaver, sexton of the Union Cemetery Company. He used some of them in building a grain storage house.

It is best to build a round silo, because in the square silos the silage spoils easier.

DAKOTA MAN REWARDED.

Kindness Shown an Aged Woman Remembered in a Will.

Sioux Falls, S. D., April 1.—As the result of kindness shown an old lady on a Northern Pacific Railroad train a few years ago, William Vertz, a well-known citizen of Ramona, now is richer by $2,000. James Stewart, an attorney of Portland, Ore., administrator of the estate of Mrs. Floyd Wood, of that city, who was the woman befriended by Vertz, came all the way to South Dakota to find Vertz and inform him that because of his kindness he had been remembered in the will of Mrs. Wood to the amount of the $2,000.

HORSE A SUICIDE IN AGONY.

Wilmington, Del., April 1.—Meeting with an accident in which its back was broken, a $250 horse, owned by Andrew J. Travis, a liverman, committed suicide. The horse, walked from its stall and fell into a 12-foot pit. Evidently in agony from the fractured spine, the animal beat its head against the cement side of the pit until it was dead.

WRITES HIS OWN EPITAPH

Old Detective Pens It After Watching Tombstone Cutters.

Svedeshboro, N. J., April 1.—Henry Clay Garrison, familiar in detective fiction as "Garry, the Jersey Hawkshaw," who is dead after a long career in the police service, wrote his own epitaph a few days ago. "Garry," as he was familiarly known in this region, watched a man carving epitaphs on grave stones at a local marble yard, and, commenting upon the insincerity of the passing age, went home and penned his own. The epitaph reads:

"Poor old Garry, here he lies Nobody laughs and nobody cries Where he has gone or how he fares, Nobody knows and nobody cares."

For stallions, brood mares, young horses and horses at light work, good quality clover or alfalfa hay cannot be excelled.
