Cows and Heifers Hold Firm-Choice Yearlings in Demand-Calves, Bulls and Stockers Steady.

Local receipts of cattle were 1,600 and supplies in sight at the five big markets were over 42,000, an increase over the run a week asd a year ago. Chicago had considerably over half of the total receipts and early advices from that point indicated a weak and lower market. Locally, there was a fair showing of beef steers included in the run and general quality with few exceptions was nothing extra. Buyers took hold as if they were in need of cattle, and while the feeling was weak there was some spirit to the compethere was some spirit to the compe-tition. Light weight steers with qual-ity were the first to sell and for such kinds sellers got out at about steady prices with the close of last week. Buyers were disposed to fight shy of the strong weight offerings and for these and medium and plain heavy steers the market was a little slow at weak to a dime lower prices. Not much trading was done during the first hour but the market become fairly active towards noon and by midly active towards noon and by mid-day bulk of cattle were out of first ands. The early top on steers was

COWS, BULLS AND MIXED. A very small percentage of today's cattle receipts consisted of cows and cattle receipts consisted of cows and heifers, the big end of the supply running to beef steers. While the supply of butcher classes was not large enough to bring out much competition. Buyers were looking over the field early and seemed disposed to take over the supply at steady prices with the close of last week Arrivals. were mostly odds and ends, not many big lots being available. The market was active to the extent of the supply and an early clearance was made on the basis of last week's closing quotations. Sales of cows above $7.00 were scarce and on helfery stock the big by the tragic death of his little chum, end sold under $7.75. Good to choice Tillie Post, who had ridden daily on end sold under $7.75. Good to choice heifers and desirable mixed yearlings were in good request and sold at firm prices. There was no change to note in the market for bulls. Calves were in light supply and the market was fully steady with the close of last week.

A few heavy cattle may be wanted for short feeding purposes but the trade is looking for a very narrow demand during the immediate future. There was a very light supply of stock cows and helfers on sale. The few here met with a ready outlet at steady prices with the close of last week. Stockers and Feeders.

WINELESS STATION

One at Arlington Second to None in the World.

Washington, D. C., April 7 .- It was announced that preilminary experi-ments in radio telegraphy between the ments in radio telegraphy between the scout cruiser Salem, on her voyage to and from Gibraltar and the great wireless tower and Arlington, had proved this station to be second to none in the world, not excepting Eliffel tower and the great German wireless towers. In this first test the contract requirement of the dispatch of messages of the Arlington tower from vessels at least 3,000 miles distant could be only reached at night, but such messages were delivered to Salem by day up to a distance of 2,333 miles. It was demonstrated that by the use of kites on the vessel with wire conduckites on the vessel with wire conduc-tors messages could have been ex-changed throughout the entire trans-Atlantic trip. Results of experiments made during this voyage with new apparatus are said to market a epoch in radio telegraph communica

BONUS FOR BATHS.

Seven Hundred Employes May Raise Their Wages 90 Cents a Week.

Philadelphia, April 7 .- In order to increase health through cleanliness among the 500 employes of Harrison Bros. & Co. the firm has offered to give every man employed at the plant 15 cents every time he takes a bath. All that is necessary is that the bath be taken in the rooms of the concern, fitted up at an elaborate expense, the bather receiving from the attendant in charge a check which he cashes in on pay day.

The idea was suggested by Dr. Francis D. Patterson, formerly chief police surgeon of the city, whom the company employed to look after the welfare of the men.

WHITE PONIES EMBLEMS.

Ancient Saxons in England,

London, April 7 .- A curious interest attaches to the cream-colored horses which drew the state coach of the sovereign on ceremonial occasions. These "ponies" as they are called represent the white horse which was the standard of the ancient Saxons, and which is preserved in the royal shield of the white horse carved on the slope of Uf fington Hill, in Berkshire, is proof that it was known to our Saxon ancestors, who thus recorded their great victory over the Danes.

THIEF RETURNS LUOT.

Parcel Post Used to Send Back Unsaleable Goods.

Louisville, Ky., April 7.—The parcel post was used by a thief to send to Chief of Detectives Carney a package containing a watch and fob and diamond cuff links, representing the unsold portion of loot which the thief took from J. L. Sohn, who was held up in this city more than a month ago. In a note accompanying to the package and bearing the date line, "nowhere," the writer explained that the articles contained could not be disposed of without danger of detection and hence were returned.

Daddy's Bedtime Pinkie Squealed

Right Time.

TACK had had a great many different kinds of pets. When daddy said he would tell the children a story about a pet pig, Jack and Evelyn opened their eyes with interest.

'Jerry, to whom the pig had been given when he was a little pink creature, with the cutest little curly tail in the world, was very fond of him. He named the pig Pinkie," said daddy,

"Pinkie had a wonderful appetite. He was always hungry and be ate a great deal. So, of course, he grew very fast and soon became fat. "Jerry taught Pinkie many clever tricks. When Pinkie got so blg that Jerry's mother would not allow him to run about any more, Jerry and his brother made a nice pen for him. It had a trough and a little house in which Pinkie could sleep

'No doubt Pinkie got quite lonesome living by himself. Whenever he saw Jerry or any of the family coming into the barnyard he would run to the side of the pen and, placing his two front feet on the rail so that he could look over, would squeal a merry welcome.

"Perhaps Pinkle was glad to see Jerry, because he knew the little boy always brought him something nice to est. Now it would be a cold boiled potato, again it would be an apple. Pinkie liked good things to eat.

"One day Jerry's father came home and said that a party of gypsies had amped over in the woods. This band of gypsies went about the country. They stayed in tents wherever they happened to stop. They made a living, or said they made a living, by trading horses. The women told fortunes and went from door to door selling cheap laces.

"One day some of the women came to the door of Jerry's house. Jerry's other was sorry for the women. They carried heavy baskets, and they looked very tired. She asked them to sit down on the porch and rest and she gave them something to eat.

"That evening as the family sat in the sitting room Jerry raised his head from the book he was reading. "'Just bear Pinkle squealing,' he remarked. 'Somebody is out there!'

"'Nonsense,' Jerry's mother replied.

"'I'll just take a look.' Jerry's father said, lighting a lantern. "Jerry went out with him. When the lantern was swung outside the barn-

gard gate, footsteps were heard running away from the barn. "The barn door had been broken open and so had the door of the chicken

Official Data on Various Uses of Great Cereal, Washington, D. C., April 7 .- In an article commenting on the importance of corn production in the United States, the Coop Reporter says: The corn crop is by far the mos valuable single crop grown in the United States. It is distinctly an American crop, about 75 per cent of the "world" yearly production of approximately 3,500,000,000 bushels beng grown in the United States. What becomes of this vast quantity of corns frequently asked. Answers to inquiries sent to crop correspondents of he bureau of statistics to the United states department of agriculture per-nit some interesting deductions to be nade upon this subject.

The average annual production of corn in the United States in the last few years (not including the bumper crop of 1912) was about 2,700,000,000 bushels. Of this it is estimated that about 26 per cent, or 702,000,000 bushels, were marketed, eight per cent (216,000,000 bushels) remaining the recent toward to the nearby towns, 11 per cent 97,000,000 bushels) going to diser cent (189,000,000 bushels) going distant farms.

IF YOU WANT A KISS.

There's a jolly Saxon proverb
That is pretty much like this:
That a man is half in heaven If he has a woman's kiss, There is danger in delaying,

For the sweetness may forsake it; If you want a kiss, why, take it.

Never let another fellow Steal a march on you in this; Never let a laughing maiden
See you spoiling for a kiss.
There's a royal way to kissing,
And the jolly ones who take it
Have a motto that is winning— If you want a kiss, why, take it.

Any fool may face a cannon, Anybody wear a crown, But a man must win a woman If he'd have her for his own.

You must find the tree and shake it; If the thing is worth the having And you want a kiss, why, take it.

Who would burn upon a desert
With a forest smiling by
Who would change his sunny summe
For a bleak and wintry sky?
Oh, I tell you there is magic, And you cannot, cannot break it; For the sweetest part of loving Is to want a kiss and take it.

The Mongolian physician, after feeling one pulse, then the other, perhaps both together, possibly may decide that a little dried grasshopper is the proper medicine to be used. On the other hand, if the Celestial of the native school supposes, by the action of the pulse, that the diseased conditreatment, the Chinese drugstore near at hand possesses almost everything under the sun as a prescription. Oftentimes the debilitated patient is said to need a particularly rare and unusual medicine, as for example, some preparation consisting of the pulverized dry bones of a tiger; treatment is considered very commonplace when the native physician prescribes only such ordinary things as dried leaves, roots, stems, dried flowers, the bark of trees, etc.

The Chinese doctor possesses many ideas particularly his own. There is much mystery and impressiveness in his manner of treatment.

According to Mongolian medicine the Chinamen believe that the human heart is more likely to become inflamed at noon during the summer season than at any other time. Likewise they regard the human ear as suggesting the condition of the kidneys, while the mouth and lips indicate the condition of the spleen and the stomach.

"Doctor" "John" Chinaman has evolved a wonderful system of diagnosis that depends on 24 main varieties of pulse, but entirely aside from these there are 27 other special and minor varieties that prognosticate death. One fundamental reason why the Chinaman of today is utterly ignorant in knowledge of human anatomy is because of the ancient custom of the yellow man neither to dissect nor to study the muscles and internal organs do, and supplement the slender ring of the human body. The basis of this reluctance to investigate the human body is in the ancestor worship which

MODERN WEDDING IN JAPAN

Seldom Nowadays That Bride and Groom From Best Families Are Married in Old Way.

Near Hibiya Park, Tokyo, Japan, is the Hibiya Diajinga, or the great god shrine, the most famous place in the empire for the celebration of mar riages. Twelve years ago such a custom, that of performing wedding services at shrines, was unheard of and it was Dr. Baron Takagi who established the practice, following that of the western marriage rites in most respects. Since this innovation the Daijingu wedding has become most popular, and it is seldom nowadays that any bride or groom from a family of good standing is married in the old fashioned manner with the ceremony of three times three cups of sake.

When the bride and groom and the relatives have assembled at the shrine the head priest advances to the altar of the gods and says a prayer to the ancestors of the country and then makes the couple promise that they will never separate. The priest then serves the gods with sake, after which it is given to the bride and groom who make a vow before the gods that they will be constant to each other, and such a promise given before the gods is one that does not admit of any lapse on the part of either party con-

Then the sake is given to the relaives, and the signal is made to repair to a western hotel for a foreign banquet or perhaps to a native restaurant where a purely Japanese menu

James B. Hammond Commiserates With Son of High Financier Who Went Wrong.

The late James B. Hammond was, though a millionaire himself, no friend to "high finance."

The son of an ex-high financier went wrong some years ago, and one afternoon sent for Mr. Hammond Real Estate Advertising from the Tombs.

The young man, with sighs and tears, confessed in his cell in the Tombs that he had stolen a dollar.

Mr. Hammond did not upbraid the Mr. Hammond did not upbr youth; but, clapping him on the shoulder, said:

"What a come-down! Why, your father would never have dreamed of saletaking less than half a million!"

Its title was "The Game and the Playe of the This was the second printed English book. Caxton left Bruges in 1746, and set up his press in Westminster, England. Such is one account, but other authorities hold that the book on chess was printed at Westminster and was the first book printed in England. There is no complete history of printing in the English language, though T. L. de Vinne's "The Invention of Printing," and Robert Hoe's "A Short History of the Printing Press," might be of use to you. Any good bookseller should be able to get them for you.

Mexico's Easy-Going Newspapers, Mexico, despite its revolutions, is one of the most conservative countries in the world. Few of the poorer people can read or write, and the "public newspaper reader" makes a comfortable living by going the round of the drinking places of the city and reciting the news of the day. News, however, is generally fairly stale before it reaches print in a Mexican Owner of Bird Joyful When Gold Coin paper. "Good news," said one Mexican editor to a traveler, "is like good wine; it improves with age. It is always better to hold news over for a week. If it is true, we get more facts; if it proves false, why should we print Bad Hand.

Lord Wolverhampton's complaint of the burdens added to the cares of heads of departments in official life by bad handwriting recalls an amusing incident which occurred when the House of Lords was in committee on the reform bill of 1867. The clerk of the house intimated that an amendment had been handed in, the writing of which was so illegible that he was unable to say what it was about or who had written it. It was then discovered that Lord Lyttelton was the author, and it turned out to be a proposal disfranchising all persons who could not write! - London Answers.
