Daddy's Bedtime Story

Mr. Swallow
 And His Bedtime Story.

THE smiling faces of Jack and Evelyn were presented to daddy. "Well, sweethearts, here we are again," said he; "bedtime at hand, two little folks waiting for me to begin a story and poor daddy without an idea in his head. "I wish I were as carefree as Mr. Swallow seems to be out there as I saw him flying home to the wife and little ones that he has over there in the barn. I wonder if Mr. Swallow has to tell bedtime stories to his little fledglings?" "What do you suppose he would tell them?" the children asked. "Well, let me see," daddy said. "I should fancy Mr. Swallow might spin a yarn something like this: "My little downy darlings, be very careful to cuddle close together in your nice nest up here among the beams of this quiet barn. "Old Dobbin and Mrs. Bossy are our kind friends. They like to have us about because we catch and kill the horrid flies that annoy them. "Sheppie, the big shaggy dog who sometimes comes in here to sleep, would not harm us, but beware of the dog cat that eats little birds alive. "Puss is out in the barn a great deal of her time because she can get so many rats and mice here. I do not mind her killing the rats, for rats eat birds' eggs and are very disagreeable creatures; but, though she seems to be so gentle, she is a very great hunter, and I have heard that unless she has been taught to let them alone will catch birds as well as rats and mice. "You must be careful not to go too close to the edge of the nest lest you fall over and the cat get you. She cannot climb up here, so you are quite safe as long as you stay at home. "Mrs. Swallow says very mildly: 'Perhaps if the children who live in the house know about our babies they would watch the cat until we can teach our little ones to fly. They come out here sometimes to play, and I've found them to be very nice children. They feed the birds on the lawn every day, and Mrs. Purple Martin told me that the dear little bungalow on top of the pole in the yard where she and her family are living this year was put up by the children.' "You may be right, my dear," Mr. Swallow answers mildly. "I have not been home so much as you and have had no chance to get acquainted with the children, but how are we to let them know that we would like them to watch the cat?" "Don't you see the children's daddy down there feeding the horse?" Mrs. Swallow answers. "Perhaps if we ask him to tell them he will do so." "A splendid idea," Mr. Swallow exclaims. Then both of them tuck their heads under their wings and go to sleep. Wasn't it a good thing daddy was not there and understood swallow talk?"

 Take a Ten-Inning Contest from the Drummers by a Score of 10 to 9.
 In a see-saw contest, in which each club used three pitchers, the Hollanders were beaten yesterday by the Drummers in a ten-inning battle, the score being 10 to 9.
 The Drummers secured an early lead of five runs in the first inning, but lost it in the eighth when the up-river boys forged into the lead by one run. Four scores were made by New York in their half of the ninth, but the Omahogs came right back with three, tying the count, and pushed the winning run across in the tenth, St. Joseph having failed to register in their half.

MUCH VIRTUE IN GOOD YAWN

Beneficial Exercise, Though It Might Be Well for One to Select the Time and Place.
 Yawning may be rude—especially in company—but it is a good thing for you to do.
 For one thing, it ventilates the lungs. When you take an ordinary breath the lungs are not completely filled, nor are they thoroughly emptied by an ordinary respiration. There is a certain quantity of air left in the lungs always, which physiologists call "residual air."
 This air in time becomes foul and affects the blood, and through the blood the nervous centers. Certain nerves get tickled, as it were, and the result is a yawn, stretching the lungs to their fullest extent, filling them with clean, fresh air and driving the foul air out.
 That's one reason why it is good to yawn. For another, yawning opens and stretches and ventilates all the various passages leading to the lungs. You will perhaps be surprised to know that yawning is even beneficial to your hearing.
 The cracking sound which you so often hear when giving an extra big yawn is due to the stretching and opening of the eustachian tubes. These tubes communicate between the ear and the back of the throat. If they are congested, which happens when you have a bad cold in the head,

FOUND OUT WHO HAD CORNS

Itinerant Merchant's Method of Doing Business Somewhat Rough, But He Got the Money.
 "My stars!" exclaimed a man, pushing someone who stood near him, "you have trod on my corn!"
 The fellow snatched out a box of ointment and replied:
 "I can relieve you air, in a few minutes. Only a quarter. Endorsed by the medical fraternity everywhere. There's no use in suffering. One box? Thank you," he added, as he put the money in his pocket.
 "It was an accident you found him," someone remarked to the salve dealer.
 "Oh, no, it wasn't. If you ask a man if he's got corns he don't want to talk to you; but when you find out that he's got 'em, the chances of selling him the medicine are good. I advertise my medicine by going into crowds and slyly feeling for corns. Yonder stands a fat fellow. When the crowd gets thicker I'll go over and tap his hoof. Oh, yes, it may be painful, but, my dear sir, the business of this country must be carried on regardless of sentiment."

Playwrights Miss Chance.

It is curious that in none of the patriotic plays now running in Paris, all revolving on theme of the lost provinces, is there any representation of life at La Schlucht.
 Its chief feature is its apparently cultivated resemblance to what might be a stage imitation of itself.
 Here France and Germany meet in the middle of the main street, and as the boundary line follows a slanting course it is possible for, say, a German and a French soldier to stand side by side in the center of the road between the boundary posts of their respective countries—the German post on one side of the road, the French post on the other—and pose together very amicably for a joint photograph, each soldier of course remaining carefully within his own territory.

TRULY A VALUABLE HOUND

Visitor From Costa Rica Tells Story Which Some People Might Find It Hard to Believe.
 At last the existence of the banana hound has been shown to be fact!
 A man who just arrived in this country from Port Limon, Costa Rica, not only knows all about the banana hound, but has a drove of them himself. The gentleman is Herekiah Spottiswood, and for many years the owner of a banana plantation in Costa Rica.
 "Is the banana hound a new discovery up here?" he asked in surprise. "My word, how singular! Why, we always have them. They are a very essential adjunct to a banana plantation; indispensable almost, I should say. What is the breed? They are a cross between a pointer and a South American tapir."
 "It's a very necessary thing to know when to pick the bananas from the trees, you know. When they have attained a certain shade of green, then is the time. Now it's very difficult to have a man so thoroughly up in color

 BLACKBERRY BLOSSOMS.
 From a thicket in the corner of the zigzag fence
 Where the succulent pokeberry
 With saffron and sunnich in a wild growth dense,
 The blackberry blossoms through
 The brown rails peep;
 With dew drops shining on their long, white sprays,
 Where the yellow bee buzzes and the redbird flies.
 They travel at the world and its new found ways,
 With innocent wonder in their wild, sweet eyes,
 Magnolias are white,
 And roses are bright,
 And many there be that love them:
 But with dew-sprinkled faces
 And willow graces,
 The blackberry blossoms are above them.
 When pine boughs are swinging in the soft May breeze
 And bumblebees are boasting of their springtime gain,
 And the mocking bird is singing out his happiest notes,
 To the cotton-tailed rabbit in the bend of the lane;
 They lean their faces on the moss-grown rails
 And listen to the melodies the mocking bird weaves;
 While the lizards go a-darting with trembling tails
 Like long, slim shuttles through the last year's leaves,
 Chrysanthemums are fair,
 And orchids are rare,
 And many there be that love them:
 But with dew-wet faces
 And willow graces
 The blackberry blossoms are above them.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

If shoes are wet, stuff them with soft paper and dry slowly.
 Vegetable fiber makes an excellent filling for pillows.
 A rush runner is an excellent thing for the veranda.
 Linens are best bleached on thick clean grass.
 Soften hard water for toilet use by a pinch of soda.
 If paint sticks to glass, remove it with hot vinegar.
 A small cheap vegetable brush should be kept handy to brush out the fringe on dollies.
 A good deodorizer for a sick room is camphor gum and ground coffee burned together.
 Every family should have a supply of round straw mats for seats on grass or veranda. Nothing is handier.
 To prevent glass fruit jars from cracking while filling them, hold a wet dish cloth round them.

TESTED RECIPES.

Mock Rabbit—One pound of corned beef, one pound of veal, two onions, one green pepper. Put through the meat grinder twice. Season well and add one-half cup chopped meat, one cup chopped onion, one cup rolled cracker crumbs and a little minced parsley, mix together thoroughly, add three raw eggs, shape on a dish into an oval shape, cover with egg and bread crumbs. Put into a pan to bake, laying a few strips of pork or bacon over the "rabbit" bake about three-quarters of an hour, basting often, remove from the pan and make a nice brown gravy to pour over it.
Cream of Lettuce Soup—Cut up two large heads of lettuce, put in a saucepan with one tablespoon of butter and cook, stirring constantly, for ten minutes. Add one quart of chicken broth and cook slowly for forty minutes. Put through a sieve, season and thicken slightly with a roux made of one tablespoonful butter and one of flour. Add one cupful whipped cream and serve with croutons.
Spring Soup—Cut one head of lettuce and one onion in slices and cook in boiling water for a couple of minutes. Drain and saute the vegetables in one tablespoon of butter for five minutes. BETTY'S NEW BEAU

Her Successful Scheme to Reunite Aunty and an Old Sweetheart.

By CHARLOTTE HINES. "Betty, what is that I hear about your new beau?" asked her Aunt Jessie indulgently. Jessie Minturn was thirty-two and not pretty. She lived with her widowed sister, Mrs. Charters, and her only child, over whose madcap nature she exercised what restraint was possible.

OUTWITS MEXICAN BANDITS

Rancher Passes Through Picket Lines Dressed as a Woman.
Douglas, Ariz., June 10.—George Bogart, a Mexican-American rancher of wealth, attributes his personal safety and the possession of his money to his success at feminine impersonation. He arrived here to relate how, by donning women's clothes, he escaped bandits who had demanded his money.
Captured near Oquito, Sonora, Bogart was ordered to pay $5,000 for his life. He took the bandits to his ranch house and told them to wait outside while he fetched the money. In the house he put on woman's clothing and, secreting his money about him, boldly passed through the picket lines which had been placed about the premises. The bandits doffed their big hats as the supposed woman was passing, and the rancher safely made his way to the border, depositing his money in a bank here.

STRAWBERRIES BY CARLOAD

Wathena District Sending Out More Than 10,000 Crates Daily.
Wathena, Kan., June 10.—The combined daily export of strawberries from Wathena, Blair and Troy for the last week has been from 20 to 24 carloads, averaging about 500 crates to the car. Twenty-four carloads would make about 14,400 shortcrates, or about 288,000 quarts of berries.
Troy is shipping from four to five cars a day and Blair is sending out from two to three cars daily. The officials at the local station have been so busy handling the fruit that they haven't taken time to estimate, but sixteen cars daily wouldn't miss it far.
The recent rains here mean an addition to the profits of strawberry growers in the vicinity of Wathena of $3,000 daily for the next ten days.

FARMERS FIGHTING CHOLERA

Serum Being Used Liberally by Nodaway County Growers.
Maryville, Mo., June 10.—Nodaway county hog raisers are working hard to stamp out hog cholera, which for the past two years has cut deep into the profits of the business in this vicinity. Both single and double treatments with anti-cholera are being used extensively.
An extensive shipper near Arkoe has fitted up a pen near the depot for demonstration of the serum, in hopes of awakening interest in the preventive campaign.

CONFIDENCE A GREAT FACTOR

Keynote to Success in Any Business—World Ruled by Confidence.

United Doctors Have Gained Confidence of All Since They Came to St. Joseph.

All business in the world is built on confidence. Great business sections are founded merely on the confidence of one man in another. Many merchants have thousands of dollars in stock capital, obtained from the confidence of the people of the manufacturer because the manufacturer has confidence in their honesty and business integrity. Likewise, the same merchants have a great deal of money coming to them from their patrons which they can list as capital, so certain are they of payment, because their patrons have gained their confidence.

Confidence—what a world of meaning that simple word implies. It is the most potent factor in the social and business world because the manufacturer has confidence in their honesty and business integrity. Likewise, the same merchants have a great deal of money coming to them from their patrons which they can list as capital, so certain are they of payment, because their patrons have gained their confidence.

The United Doctors, who have their St. Joseph institute on the second floor of 720 Felix street, have gained the confidence of the people of St. Joseph and the surrounding states. When they established their permanent institute here a year or two ago they were practically unknown in this community.

This is not exactly true in fact, for the United Doctors have a national reputation, and in long years of dealing with the people of the United States in their institutes in the east and other western cities. But it was their intimate acquaintance with the people of this vicinity, since establishing their institute here, these famous gentlemen have gained the confidence of the people. Why? Because they have always shown themselves to be honest and honorable in their dealings—both with their creditors and with their patients. Every promise made has been fulfilled to the letter. The result of these upright business and professional methods can be seen at their offices. People are coming from all over the great west to consult with these celebrated specialists. They have the confidence of the people, who know that when they consult with the United Doctors they will be told plainly and kindly whether they can be cured or not. If the case is a curable one, it will be accepted for treatment, if it is not curable, it will be greatly but firmly refused. No amount of money would tempt the United Doctors to take a case for cure that they cannot cure. This has been proven scores of times here in St. Joseph by the many cases they have felt it necessary to refuse.

Some one is testifying every day about the relief and cure they received from the United treatment. Hundreds of grateful letters are on file at the United Doctors' offices and more come every day.

"One month of your treatment has certainly helped me wonderfully," writes James Street from far off Kirk, Colo., "and I am going ahead with it until entirely well."
"Ever since you cured me last summer," says H. L. Perkins, Mo., "I have remained perfectly well in every way."
"An operation did not cure me of gallstones," writes Bruce Marshall, Smithfield, Mo., "but the United Doctors' treatment did."
"Still feeling fine," says S. B. Kunkel, Forest City, Mo., "and doing as much work as anybody now."
