'Ritin'

By RAY MARTIN

The egghead, that often unpopular pupil whose high grades win praise from the teachers but seldom from the pupils, is coming into his own these days more than ever before.

One of the best TV shows I've seen in a long time was last week's edition of "My Three Sons." It was the story of a bright lad (one of the three sons in that very good Fred MacMurray show) who was the egghead of the yarn. He was a "brain" in science, and accordingly his teacher wrangled a "letter sweater" for the boy.

Almost immediately Bobby was ostracized by his schoolmates. So seemed to consider it some sort of a disgrace to make good grades in classwork. And to overcome this disdain from his fellow pupils, he had tried to play ignorant, and thus prove himself just one of the regular guys — not an egghead. Even so, he won the award, and all ended well when Jimmy Stewart, who is a colonel in the U. S. air Reserve, appeared at school assembly to present the award in person.

Seems once the students found out that so great a personage as Jimmy Stewart considered Bobby a hero, they accepted the boy's achievements with pride.

The idea of letters and sweaters for general academic excellence as well as for athletics and band, is growing in popularity.

Mexia High School in central Texas started giving such awards three years ago, presenting them with considerable fanfare at the start of each school year for scholastic achievements of the previous year.

At the start of this school year, Mexia presented 33 academic sweaters and three college scholarships at a community ceremony in which just about every organization in the town participated. Presidents of 16 of the town's clubs were on hand for the ceremony and the speech-making.

First year 16 award sweaters were presented. Last school year there were 23 and this school year 33. Only two boys were included among the first 16 winners, but at the start of this school year the list included 13 boys.

The event, we understand, is considered the top youth event of the year for Mexia, and winning scholastic awards is now the peak achievement for a Mexia high school boy or girl.

So, why not letters and sweaters for the top bracket boys and girls in classwork the same as we now give sweaters for the top athletes or the hornblowers in the high school band? Why can't all schools do this?

The award would not detract from the honors of the athletes or the band members but there are a number of pupils in every school who make sensationally good grades and yet the only honor they receive is to have their names listed each six weeks in the school honor rolls.

There was Suzy, I recall. Suzy was a brain. She made straight A's in everything yet hardly seemed to try at all. Suzy was about as popular among the students as a firecracker at a funeral, and any boy who ever dated her was considered an oddball. Suzy was an egghead. Her parents and her teachers loved her, but...

Suzy should have won a sweater the same as the 190-pound halfback named Ralph who led good old AHS to district championship in football. Everybody knew Ralph; nobody knew Suzy.

Or there was Homer. Now Homer was not an exceptionally brilliant boy, but he worked hard at his school work and wound up his senior year in the top 2 per cent.

But Homer was not popular. Homer got no sweaters except the ones his parents bought. Homer should have received a sweater the same as Tommy, the lead trumpet player for MHS (See RAY'S, page 5)

Teachers Re-Elected

Muleshoe board of education has re-employed all teachers in city schools except two, it was announced following the board's March meeting this week. Miss Elizabeth Saylor, elementary librarian, had requested that she not be re-elected, and Mrs. Lula Gorrell, school nurse, has passed the automatic retirement age.

Thus those two were not re-named to the staff for the 1963-64 school year. Neal Dillman, superintendent, said:

The board also raised the teacher retirement age from 65 to 68 years, based on the teacher's age September 1 preceding the current school year.

The board was informed that attendance as of March 11 for the six schools now stands at 1,964 pupils, 175 above the same time last year.

Attendance by schools as compared with the same period a year ago, was as follows: Senior high, 445 and 406; junior high 291 and 310; Richland Hills, 559 and 527; Mary DeShazo, 596 and 538; special education, 10 and 8; and Hilltop 63 and 37.

The board set up the schedule for next school year and approved the adoption of new textbooks as selected by the local textbook committee. The board also agreed to pay its pro-rata share of paving, curb and guttering cost on streets on the south and west sides of Richland Hills.

It's Dry, so Watch It! Chief Says

Unless it rains (or snows) before this issue goes to press, it's awfully dry in Bailey county, and winds are high. That's a pretty bad combination, firewise. Fire Chief Earl Ladd warns:

And be especially careful about burning trash. Muleshoe has an ordinance against burning trash, but many people burn trash anyway, the chief says, and "this can be very dangerous at this time of the year," he warns.

The volunteer fire department which Ladd heads, had a busy weekend, and an especially busy Sunday with three fires in a row Sunday afternoon.

First they were called 17 miles north of Muleshoe to extinguish a blaze in cotton burs at the Farmer County Gin Co.

Just back from that blaze, they got a call to King's feed lot, three miles southwest of Muleshoe to put out a fire in an ensilage pit.

A short time later they were called to the Vernon Puckett home three and a half miles northeast of Muleshoe.

That last blaze was the most serious of any of the three blazes, and left the Puckett home in shambles. Ladd said the fire was too far out of control by the time the department could reach the scene to save the structure. Except for a few items which passers-by were able to salvage from the burning structure, the home and contents were a total loss. (See picture below.)

Elliott to Head Rotary Club

Harmon Elliott, vice-president of the First National Bank, is the new president-elect of the Muleshoe Rotary Club, succeeding John Miller of Continental Oil Co. Elliott, along with other officers, was elected at Tuesday's session of the club.

Norman Thomas, vice-president of Muleshoe State Bank, is the new vice-president. Re-elected were Randall Riley as secretary, and Gordan Doss as treasurer.

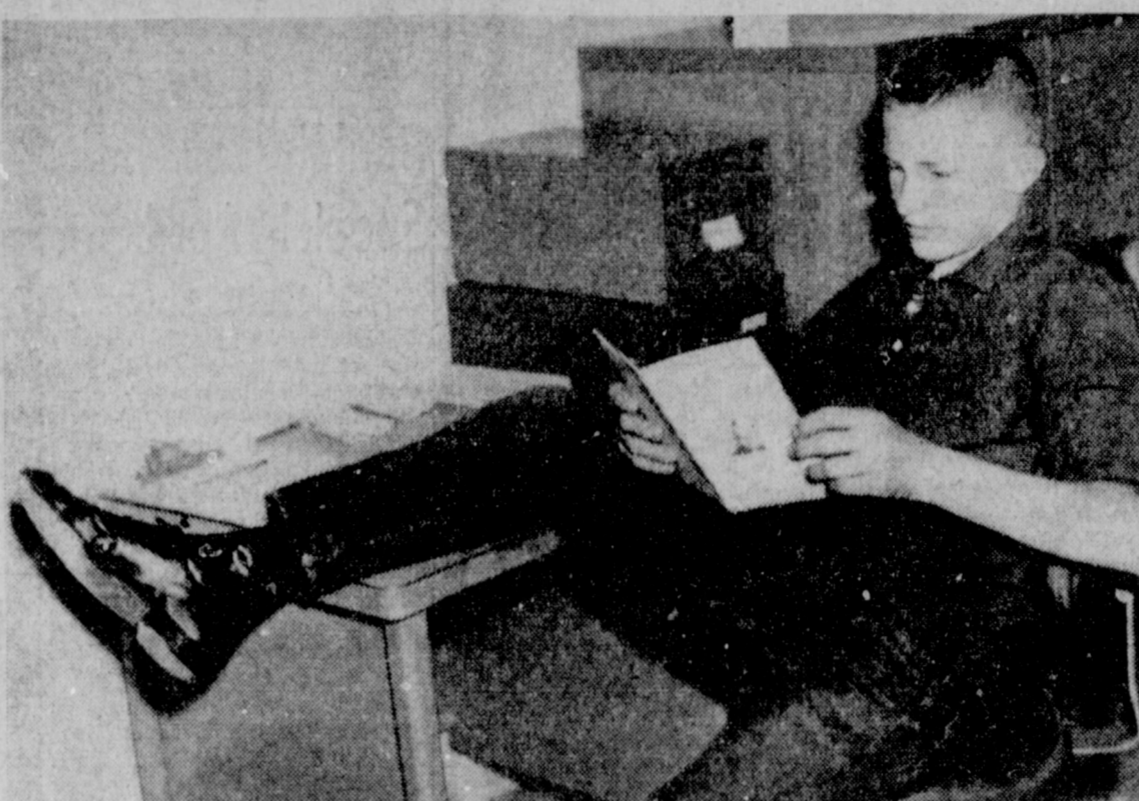

Four new members were introduced at Tuesday's luncheon. They include Dr. William McCoy Dean, a new physician at Green Hospital and Clinic; Marshall Cook, new business manager of the same hospital; Wayne Wash manager of Muleshoe Auto Parts, and Victor Benedict, insurance man.

Mule Trackmen Finish Second

Muleshoe trackmen came out second best for Class A in last Saturday Whirlwind Relays at Floydada with Joe Cabrera of Muleshoe turning in a 20.5 job to break the old 21.1 record in the low hurdles. Coach Bill Taylor's boys wound up with a team score of 95 as compared with Abernathy's 102 1/2. Tullia finished third with 93 1/2, and Floydada was fourth with 60 2/3.

In Class A, Springfield was the winner with 103 1/2; Petersburg finished with 68 1-6; Farwell had 67 1-6, and Crosbyton finished fourth with 51 2-3.

Jimmy Bowman, Lockney, put the shot 47 feet, 7 inches to break the old mark of 46 feet, 10 inches.

Ballots' Order Is Announced

When Muleshoe voters go to the polls in the April 6 school board election they will find names listed on the ballot in the following order: C. V. Riley, W. E. Myers, Eugene Black and A. R. McGuire. A drawing for places on the ballots was held at Monday night's school board election. Three places are to be filled.

Meantime, ballots were being prepared for the two other school districts in the county. Judge Glen Williams said Wednesday:

They include: Three-way: J. F. Furgeson, Carl Pollard, Dale Nichols, Leon Dupler and Melvin Hale. Bula: Ivan Clawson and Elwood Autry. Judge Williams also announced names of persons appearing on the county school trustee ballots. For county at large meeting, only (See BALLOTS, page 5)

Clergy Opposes Racing, Bars

Resolutions expressing disapproval of several proposed legislative bills now in committee or before the Texas legislature were passed by the Bailey County Ministerial Alliance Monday at a meeting of the alliance.

The alliance voted its disapproval of House Bill 89, HJR6, HB76, and HB130.

HB 89 is a bill to re-define "open saloon" and provide for the issuance of liquor retailer permits.

HJR 6 is a proposed amendment to subsection (A), Sec. 20, Art. 16 of the Texas constitution to empower the legislature to regulate the sale of liquor in broken or unbroken containers, for the consumption on or off the premise where sold.

HB 76 would amend the liquor control act to re-define "open saloon" and to provide to sell liquor by the drink.

HB 130 would create a Texas horse race board, providing for the regulation of certain horse races and wagering in Bexar County.

County Spelling Bee Set for March 22

It's spelling bee time again, and come Friday, March 22, the county's best will gather in Muleshoe to spell it out to see what boy or girl will represent Bailey county at the area meet in Lubbock.

The spell-down here will be sponsored by The Muleshoe Journal; the area meet at Lubbock by The Avalanche Journal & locally KMUL will broadcast the entire proceedings which are to take place at the senior high school auditorium, starting at 2 p. m.

That's when the best speller will have to know whether a small pickle is spelled "gherkin," "serkin" or "girkin." (One of those three ways is right.)

And they must know whether its "frivolous," or "frivolos," or "frivelous." (One of those three ways is right.)

Rules are little changed from last year. The contest is open to all pupils in Bailey county's three schools — Muleshoe, Bula and Three Way — who will not be 16 before the time for the national spelling bee this spring and who are not past the eighth grade.

Each school may send three spellers to the event. Here in Muleshoe this means that each of the four schools here (Junior high, DeShazo, Hilltop or Richland Hills) may each send three of their best spellers to the March 22 spell-down, and with three each from Bula and Three Way, as many as 18 of the county's top spellers may take part in the bee.

Child Recovering From Broken Ankle

Mickey Merriott, 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Lonaie Merriott, is recovering at home from a broken right ankle, suffered when a Muleshoe girl backed her car over the boy as he rode his tricycle across her driveway.

His mother, who works in the district-county clerk's office here, said it "just wasn't Mickey's month." He had just recovered from the mumps and was outside playing for the first time since recovering. In fact, three generations were ill with mumps at the Merriott home at the same time.

Cautious Pricers To Work

Five appraisers are studying troublesome U.S. 84-70 northwest of Muleshoe and one or more (and maybe all) will submit proposals for the job later this month. After that it will be up to the county commissioners to pick the appraiser who will estimate the costs, tract by tract, for widening the mankinner road.

But County Judge Glen Williams says the appraiser will face many problems, not the least of which will be deciding just how much half a building is worth. That tricky problem will come up when the appraiser tries to figure out just how much the Progress Baptist church is worth — or, rather, half of the church.

That's how much land the highway will need.

Of course the highway department won't be able to buy half a building, but the appraisal must be made on just such a basis.

The appraiser must not only know how much each particular piece of land is worth (there are 65 different tracts altogether) but he must know how much comparable property in the same area is worth, including improvements.

And he also must be a photographer; he must not only describe the tracts down to whether it's sandy loam or clay, but he also must take pictures of each tract. If a comparable piece of property is used as the basis for his estimates, then he must also take a picture of that property, too.

Elaborate field notes must be kept by the appraiser chosen. His field notes, plus reams of descriptions, cost estimates and the like, must be included in the entire (See CAUTIOUS, page 5)

Deported Missionary To Speak in Muleshoe

One of four Methodist missionaries to Angola who was deported last year by the Portuguese Government, will speak at First Methodist church here Friday March 22 at 7:30 p. m., the Rev. J. Frank Peery, pastor, announced today.

The Rev. Edwin Lemaster, 39, of Lexington, Ky., was deported by the Portuguese Government after being accused of "activities subversive to the government." Although no proof of the charges were ever made, he and the three other missionaries were imprisoned in Lisbon for 90 days before their deportation.

Denial of the charges were made by the missionaries and efforts to get the Portuguese Government to make public their charges and proof of these charges, are being made by the (See DEPORTED, page 5)

Twice-a-Week Publication

We'll Become a Semi-Weekly!

The Muleshoe Journal will become a semi-weekly on a trial basis the last of this month, Publisher L. B. Hall announced today.

The 41-year-old newspaper will be published on Thursdays and Sundays, starting with the March 28 issue, Hall said, in announcing the forward step by the Journal. First Sunday issue will appear on March 31.

This will mean deadlines will be changed to permit the semi-weekly Journal to reach its readers as soon as possible.

For example: News copy, including society, for the Thursday issue will be Tuesday noon for society and Tuesday at 5 p. m. for top news and advertising.

Deadline for the Sunday issue will be Thursday noon for society and Thursday at 5 p. m. for major news and advertising.

"We have been considering this move for some time, feeling that the Muleshoe area now has grown to a sufficient population level to justify an expansion of our services to the Journal readers," Hall explained. "Thus we are expanding to a twice-a-week publication on a trial basis to determine whether such a plan is feasible."

"We believe," Hall continued, "that we can be of much greater service to our readers in the news field especially. Events can be printed while they are still news, and advance announcements can be aided greatly by our doubled media."

A number of newspapers in this area are semi-weeklies. It was pointed out, Littlefield has had a semi-weekly for some time, and the same thing is true of Herford. Denver City expanded from a weekly to a semi-weekly early this year. Kermit has issued a semi-weekly for several years.

"We greatly appreciate the loyal support which subscribers and advertisers have given The Journal through the years," Hall said. "and I feel certain we will continue to receive that same loyal support in our new, expanded venture."

"Not only appreciate the support of our advertisers, but those who aid us in news coverage as well," he summed up.

Doctors Set Type 3 Polio Immunization

Bailey County Medical Society announced Wednesday that Type III polio immunization will be given here Sunday afternoon, March 24, at the Junior High School building.

As at the other two mass immunization programs, the third dose in the series will be given free of charge to those who can not pay for the immunization, although those who can do so are asked to give 25 cents to help finance the project.

Type III also is to be given on sugar cubes, and doctors, nurses and pharmacists will donate their services.

Giving of the final vaccine had been delayed throughout Texas after Canada banned type III for a time until further checks could be made. However, the final type has been "cleared" by physicians.

Those who are especially asked to take the vaccine are pre-school children, school boys and girls and adults to age 30. Those older than 30 also may take the vaccine if they desire to do so, and they have the word of Dr. Luther Terry, surgeon general of the United States, that those over 30 can take the final vaccine with a minimum risk.

TOTAL LOSS — Fire which broke out Sunday afternoon while the family was away from home destroyed the Vernon Puckett home three and a half miles northeast of Muleshoe. A high wind fanned the flames out of control before it was discovered. A shower was held by friends and neighbors Tuesday night for the Puckett family. (Journal Photo & Engraving)

Daytona is no "private" test arranged by a manufacturer to favor his car's strong points. It is open competition—anyone can enter—and the one thing that is proved by its searing 500 miles is just exactly how well a car hangs together. At Daytona, Florida, on February 24, five brand-new 1963 1/2 Fords showed the world what durability means by sweeping the first five places. And that has never been equaled in Daytona history!

The box score at the left tells the true story...car endurance that takes brutal punishment and comes back for more.

No proving ground can equal this kind of torture. Daytona was a challenge we welcomed, a chance to prove in open competition the essential durability that makes possible the silence, the solid road-grip, the ease of control, the balanced braking... and all the other things that go into Ford's concept of total performance.

These were the same '63 1/2 Super Torque Fords that made styling history at their preview at Monaco, and which were recently announced at your Ford Dealer's. They're yours now; get behind the wheel and find out for yourself what total performance means!

IF IT'S FORD-BUILT, IT'S BUILT FOR PERFORMANCE...TOTAL PERFORMANCE

JENNY SLIPPER POINTS—

Have you ever thought that people were really shy and modest? Sometimes we feel some of the localities are "demure" and "I just don't know any news" and "I'm too busy to know anything" . . .

But, we heard a complaint the other day that we never print much about a certain person, her church, and one of the clubs she belongs to. In the first place it's not true, and in the second place, if we fail to write something up it's because, most of the time, we didn't know about it (And that church secretaries, reporters, et al to turn in news.)

We print all of your news we can get and we don't play favorites or have grudges against anybody, organization, church or anything else. If it's news—well—

You've heard about the New York Times' slogan, haven't you? "All the news that's fit to print." Here at the Journal we have a different version of it:

"All the news that fits, we print." The Journal staff does its best at calling clubs, churches and individuals but the few of us can't know everything and we depend on you to help us by calling about meetings, parties, plans for special events, out-of-town guests, trips you take, news of new grandbabies, graduations, awards won or honors bestowed, engagements, weddings, deaths of relatives, new business buildings or additions — it's all news, and there are probably categories we are forgetting.

Then, the other side of the fence: being somewhat limited and human too, The Journal force has a little trouble at times getting everything in the paper that the times we are so crowded that we must leave out news items. At other times there just isn't enough time and help to work up news stories that are worthy. And sometimes, it is rather hard to be several places at the same time to cover different stories. Then too, we do have families and friends and "off hours" from the office, although that doesn't mean our nose-for-news still isn't working, even then.

Just another way of saying we'd like to have all the news, and we appreciate your help in gathering the news.

We thank you.

COOK OF THE WEEK

The other day Tiny Forbes commented that Zilpha Zimmer was a wonderful cook, and we should contact her for one of her excellent dishes. That we did.

While sniffing aromatic air from her kitchen, thumbing through the new Lubbock Christian College Associates' cookbook, and listening to Mrs. Ola B. Jones tell of her friend's talents of sewing, boarding children, teaching Sunday School (until last year) at the Muleshoe Church of Christ — yes we did get the recipe for barbecued chicken so many have enjoyed. (On the way into her home, we noted a green thumb apparent: greenery and plants galore.)

MRS. ZILPHA ZIMMER'S BARBEQUED CHICKEN

The Lemon Basting Sauce for chicken:

- Melt ¼ c. butter or margarine, mix and stir in
- 2 tsp. paprika
- 1 tsp. sugar
- 1 tsp. salt
- ½ tsp. black pepper
- A few grains cayenne pepper.

Blend in thoroughly:

- ½ c. lemon juice
- ½ c. hot water
- Few drops tobasco sauce
- 2 Tbs. grated onion, if desired.

Makes about 1½ cups of sauce. (The sauce not used may be stored in the refrigerator.)

Brush two or three chicken halves if small chicken, quartered if large, 8 to 10 times during broiling for one hour. Turn as often as necessary.

Mrs. Zimmer added that she served this recipe with a mixed vegetable salad, baked potatoes, whole wheat rolls, butter, iced tea, coffee and fruit. (Mrs. Jones said "It's delicious".)

IT'S A WOMAN'S WORLD

This quote just came to us as we heard the possibilities of "the six or seven full rich, delightful decades that a female who is fortunate to begin life in these times has ahead of her." Quotes is Mrs. Ed Johnson from her excellent program given at The American Association of University meeting Tuesday night.

YOUNG GIRLS, PLEASE NOTE

"The college woman is better prepared to live her life . . . as a happy interesting person. Because of her many and varied experiences she has developed what we call a personality, which includes first her intellect, then abilities, physical traits, temperament and interest.

"She has a developing pattern of living. She goes on developing by reading, interest in world af-airs, a habit of thinking about people and events, enjoying them in anticipation, in actual experience and then in recall.

As college has given her the desire, her learning can move fast or slow, for vocational skill or pure enjoyment. She will use her experiences of work and social interaction to fortify and diversify her ripening maturity. She will know what to expect of herself and of other people. Over seven decades, she will develop her own happiness in her own time and in her own way . . ."

The goal of higher education, Mrs. Johnson stressed, is to develop self-esteem which will ultimately lead to a sense of who and what one is.

May we add that in contemplating your 70-year or more life span, we women have plenty of time for all of it. Why hurry from school? There is so much more to be gained by continuing education, formally at college if possible, and in the wife-mother, club-civic-church, employee-employer, et al, cycles. . . .

Let's "Be Prepared."

Congress couldn't do it. The President of the United States couldn't do it. Even the courts can't do it. Only a striking union abated by other unions could close down the newspapers in the nation's largest city, not to mention the newspapers in the nation's eighth largest city.

TRIPPING AROUND down in Old Mexico "for a couple of weeks just where we want" are the Pat Bobos and the Sam Foxes. "Sounds like fun.

WEEKEND VISITORS in the home of Ruth and Dudley Malone this weekend will be Dr. and Mrs. J. T. Reid, Albuquerque, N.M. and Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Reid, Carlsbad, N.M.

SNOWBOUND VISITORS Sunday through Wednesday were Bill, Joan Barbour and children of Farmington, N.M., and snowbound because Farmington had a closed airport Monday and Tuesday and a fresh one inch of snow Tuesday. However, parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Barbour and Mrs. Annie Hill, Progress, were delighted to have them for a longer stay.

PHOENIX, ARIZ. as the scene of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Briscoe's family reunion around a swimming pool and patio of their daughter Joy, R. L., Ram and Ricky Freeman. Joining the trip was Briscoe's son and family, the Rex Briscoes, from Cloudcroft, N. M., as well as their grandchildren and families, the Johnny Heads and Don Freemans, both of Phoenix.

 Oddly enough, however, frequently the eggheads and the top athletes are one and the same, but only the teachers and the boy's parents know this. The reason? Well, it's simple; people pay good money to see Joe Bloer run his legs off for dear old Podunk High's football team, but they wouldn't walk across the street to see the same Joe Bloer ring up touchdown in history, English, language or science for the same dear old Podunk High. There's no glamour to making good grades.
 Not, that is, unless folks start putting more emphasis on grades, and one of the best ways to do that would be by giving sweaters to pupils who tally for Podunk High in the brains department as well as in the brawn. Mexia does it, and 26 other Texas schools are studying the Mexia plan and some will launch such an award system next school year.

 picture. After he has completed his tedious work, which probably will take several weeks, the entire works must be sent to Austin and studied by engineers there, tract by tract.
 Judge Williams pointed out that on one such project in this county a few years ago, removal of a power line caused the appraisers' estimates to be returned three times by the experts in Austin. "It seems that two ground braces, costing $1.29 each, were acceptable, but a similar brace atop the pole itself that cost 50 cents more was rejected," Judge Williams explained. "We had to go back to the power company and find out why ground braces and poletop braces were not priced the same. We found out that the extra 50 cents was the company's estimate of the cost for scaling the pole to put the brace in place."

Sandyland Ranges Quick to Respond To Management, SCS Official Says

By DALE FISHGRABE
SCS Work Unit Conservationist
Sandyland range sites respond faster to good range management than any other range site in the Blackwater Valley Soil Conservation District. Several years ago the sandy rangeland supported a "high caliber" type of vegetation. These lands grew Indian-grass, switchgrass, sand bluestem and little bluestem to name only a few of the more dominant species.

These grasses plus a wide variety of desirable forbs carried the blunt of the grazing load. As a result of heavy grazing these more desirable grasses almost disappeared and gave way to the less desirable types of vegetation. Less desirable types of vegetation such as shinnery and sage, sandroneed and threeawn were about all that was left to carry the grazing load.

Through the application of one-half pound of 2,4,5-acid per acre shinnery oak may be controlled. To obtain maximum benefits from spraying shinnery oak grassland should be deferred during the summer months to permit the "high Caliber" grass to make sufficient recovery to carry its share of the grazing load. Other benefits of brush control includes:

controls weeds, increases carrying capacity of the grazing lands, reduced cost of handling livestock and more efficient use of other range improvement practices. A good competitive grass cover will help reduce the survival of the shinnery oak sprouts.

The conservation rancher uses these conservation tools to wisely manage his range so that sustained high level forage production can be maintained. Shown are two pictures of before and after pictures of benefits of spraying Shinnery oak. H. W. Golden has sprayed several acres of shinnery oak and obtained some of these results.

Technicians of the local work unit of the Soil Conservation Service are available to help ranchers and stockmen with range management and can be contacted at the Soil Conservation Service office.

LUXURY CAR: RIDES, RESPONDS AND LOOKS LIKE IT OUGHT TO COST A RANSOM

You're looking at our Impala Super Sport Convertible which, along with its cousin the Sport Coupe, absolutely embarrasses higher priced cars.

That special trim and those front bucket seats merely hint at the comforts you find built into every Impala Super Sport.

If you want an extra flourish or two, mul-

Just before you rush off to your Chevrolet dealer, may we remind you that both Impala Super Sports offer the new Comfortilt steering wheel*. You adjust it to suit your driving style, flick it out of the way for easy entry and exit.

All three Chevrolet series—Biscayne, Bel Air and Impala—deserve a long look. Super Sports demand it.

SANDHILLS PHILOSOPHER

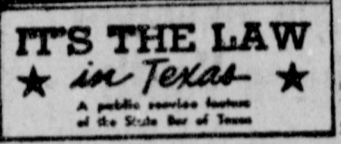

Light Poles Irk Hunters, Our Sage Likes Light Poles in the Country

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm gets his mind off the international situation this week, for a change.

Dear editor:
You hear so much about Cuba these days you'd think it was the only problem facing this country, but I read about a problem last night that will get your mind off international affairs.
According to it, a bunch of fox hunters in the horse country in Virginia are up in arms over the plans of a utility company to run transmission lines across their fox hunting territory. The utility company says it's the most economical route to run the lines, and the fox hunters say they aren't interested in economy; they don't want the light poles ruining the scenery.

Mying than getting a drink out of a gurgling spring on a hot summer's afternoon, but I tell you turning a handle and getting a glass of water out of a hydrant inside your own house is hard to beat, summer or winter.
Hauling a horse to a fox hunt in a man-made trailer pulled down a man-made road by a man-made car and then complaining because there are some man-made electric light poles in the area, is a little out of my field of comprehension.
Me, I'm all in favor of electric light poles in the country. They improve the scenery. I like electricity. I'm in favor of it. The only thing I don't like about it is the electric light meter, but then the only thing I don't like about paved highways is the gasoline tax.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

TRUST ARRANGEMENTS

When property is placed in trust it is turned over to a trustee who will see to it that it is properly managed for the benefit of a person or persons you name as beneficiaries. It is a method of disposing of your property and may be used in conjunction with a will.

Trusts have many advantages. A trust may be used to provide income for persons unable to support themselves, to provide funds for a child's education, as a means of establishing an annuity or to provide a gift for a charitable institution.

In these days of high taxes, a trust may be utilized to minimize the tax burden. If carefully planned, a trust may decrease income and inheritance taxes.

A trust arrangement works roughly in this manner. A person who desires to create a trust is called a grantor. The grantor chooses a trustee. The trustee may be a bank, an individual, or a trust company. The grantor through a trust instrument tells the trustee how to distribute the trust proceeds or property in whatever manner the grantor desires.

A very common arrangement is to place the property in trust with directions to pay the income from the property to a wife for her lifetime, and upon her death the trust to end and the property to be distributed to the grantor's children.

An interesting type of trust is that which is sometimes called a spend-thrift trust. This is an arrangement whereby one sets up a certain sum of money to be given out to another at a definite rate per month or per year, or under definite restrictions.

This type of trust is generally

MEDIUM WEIGHTS — This is a picture of judging in the medium-weight steer division at last week's junior livestock show. Eleven animals were entered in this division.

used in wills where a person desires to leave money to an individual, but feels that the individual is not capable of properly caring for the money and that to him in full that the person receiving the money and not receive the maximum benefit from it.

Trust property quite often consists of securities. The law regulates the type of property in which trust funds may be invested. However, the grantor may designate the type of investments the trustee may make.

The effectiveness of a trust is dependent largely on its proper creation. To avoid the pitfalls and dangers of lawsuits and ineffective trust operations, a trust instrument should be properly prepared. A poorly planned or carelessly drawn trust instrument can not only defeat the objectives of its creator, but may prove costly as well.

Your lawyer can advise you whether a trust arrangement will be advantageous in your particular situation, and is qualified by education and experience to prepare properly the legal papers necessary to set up a trust. If you have in mind some bank or trust company to act as trustee, that firm's trust officer will be glad to discuss the matter in

You are less likely than you once were to hear someone say "Cooked cabbage always gives me indigestion!" That's because nowadays the vegetable is usually cooked briefly and in this state it is mild in flavor.

INFAMOUS ADMIRAL — The hard-headed 21-month-old Fawn Boxer belonging to S. M. Ethridge, south of Muleshoe, and DVM Jerry Gleason have had their pictures flashed in newspapers all over the U.S. and many other parts of the world, including Germany, England and Canada. Dr. Gleason has received many letters with the picture enclosed—some from college and service buddies overseas, and some from total strangers. One from Evanston, Illinois wrote, "We got a kick out of this and thought you would like the clipping. We're dog-lovers and Texans and have had that, plus all the other things to happen to our dogs. Good luck. The Arnold Vails" (The Vails, incidentally, are cartoonists). Among some of the papers in which the picture appeared were "The Stars and Stripes", coming from Wiesbaden and Berlin Germany; the Grit newspaper published in Williamsport, Pa.; newspapers in Minneapolis, Minn.; Duluth, Minn.; N. Y. Mills, Minn.; Brookville, Ontario, Canada; Fayetteville, Ark.; St. Louis, Mo.; Cedar Hill, Mo.; Richmond, Va.; Newark, N.J.; Farwell, Michigan; Omaha, Neb.; Chicago, Ill.; Evanston, Ill.; Ft. Modern Jazz Quartet May Be 'Cool' But Expert Says it's 'Just Music'

By MARY CAMPBELL
LISTENERS may correctly call the quiet, disciplined sounds of the Modern Jazz Quartet "cool" and "third stream," but John Lewis, the MJQ's pianist, musical director and composer of much of its repertoire, just calls it music.

"In the beginning," he says, "we were searching for a personal way to play with Dizzy Gillespie and Charlie Parker as our inspiration. But you don't try to find yourself; it just happens. We really couldn't play any other way."

Lewis says the MJQ tried — and failed — at both cocktail music and dance music. Now and arranger for the Gillespie bass and drums had to play a great deal of the time to give the winds a rest," he recalls. "No one could afford to hire the other, so we made up a collective group." Lewis confesses the quartet started without much struggle, since the members all had jobs.

On the first record, in 1952 for Prestige, they were known by the name of their virtuoso vibraphonist, as the Milt Jackson Quartet. The name has changed; Percy Heath early replaced Ray Brown on bass; Connie Kay replaced Kenny Clarke on drums in 1955; they have been recording on the Atlantic label since 1956; but Lewis says the quartet hasn't greatly changed.

"We haven't changed for the sake of change. But we have evolved." The four parts still are integrated to form one musical expression, but Lewis says, after years of playing together, "the four men no longer have to work so hard to make that happen. "Each player is more in control of his instrument now and the personalities of the four members play a greater part in the music than before.

"We do work at trying not to fall into a rut. We change tempos so the pieces are always a surprise to play and we give ourselves challenges like putting two slow pieces together and not being dull."

Though Lewis composes for the MJQ, he leaves space for "great big whacks of improvisations — to build up tension." All four improvise, sometimes all at once, sometimes one improvises while the other three play parts that have been written.

"Jackson is great at contrasts," Lewis says. "I can improvise related to what the piece started out about."

Lewis says the sections of improvisation are different at each rehearsal and each performance. "Some musicians work out an improvisation they like and keep using it, but we don't. When we improvise, the subconscious takes over. What I'm thinking right now won't affect how I play tonight — it may six months from now. But tonight my subconscious will figure out how I'll play."

Lewis isn't offended that some listeners think the MJQ doesn't improvise at all. "If we have enough technique to be able to improvise something that sounds as perfect as something that is written, now that is quite a satisfaction."

A music theory graduate from Manhattan School of Music, Lewis believes in a musician being educated for his profession. He started piano lessons at 6 in Albuquerque and soon was picking up pointers from traveling jazz performers who visited his musician relatives in their home.

"They were influenced by Earl Hines, who was popular then," Lewis remembers. "I was supposed to be playing salon music, but jazz was much more exciting."

"When I was about 14, I started composing. I'd play my pieces on the piano; a man who played in local bands would write them down, and they'd play them."

His arranging began while he was attending the University of New Mexico. "I'd take basic things off records and improve on them a little bit."

Lewis says he isn't nervous while the MJQ is giving a concert or making a record. Externals don't distract him because he can't see very far and doesn't wear glasses. "And then, I soon get absorbed in the music."

"Musical emotions don't have names like other emotions, but

WASHINGTON NEWSLETTER FROM SENATOR JOHN TOWER

Committee Banking and Currency Labor and Public Welfare

Recently, the President's Office of Emergency Planning recommended a relaxation of controls on the import of foreign residual fuel oils.

The controls were placed into effect during the Administration of former President Eisenhower as one means of assisting the domestic oil industry. It was designed to prevent the importation of excessive amounts of foreign residual fuel oils.

I do not need to remind you Texans here of the tremendous benefit that the state receives from the production of oil: in terms of productivity, in terms of jobs, in terms of revenues produced, both private revenues and tax revenues. For many years the revenue derived from oil has been a major factor in paying for the cost of our state government and our schools. When this revenue goes down, the state has to make up the difference in taxes from other sources. In short, when the oil industry prospers in Texas, the entire state benefits. Workers have jobs, the state has tax revenue, and the education of our children is made secure.

Because of this, any legislation I'm very emotional about my children." The latest of Lewis' "children" to be recorded is "The Comedy," a seven-part suite inspired by the characters of the Italian commedia dell'arte. Lewis wrote it three or four years ago and has been revising it ever since. "We'd find something we couldn't do well, and then it'd be necessary to do something that sounded better and still was near the same idea."

"The Comedy" has been in the MJQ's live repertoire for some time, but Lewis says, "We get these things to a certain standard before we record them."

Now that the quartet is a financial success and all the members are married, they work only half the year. Lewis was the last to marry, at 42, last August. His wife, Mirjana, is a classical pianist and harpsichordist. Lewis was introduced to her during a European concert tour by her brother-in-law, the pianist in Yugoslavia's counterpart to the MJQ, the Zagreb Jazz Quartet.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

AUSTIN — Legislators have received two proposals for spending the state's money during the two years starting September 1. One came from Gov. John

Connally, the other from the House Appropriations Committee. Governor Connally's suggestions marked the first time a new governor had tried to work out a budget after taking office. In his message he dealt in detail with 19 of the major state departments. These are mainly the ones over which the Legislature has direct control.

Connally trimmed fat out of some agencies to provide new money for others. His stress came on higher education. Here he suggested $14,000,000 worth of salary increases for faculty members and more research and library facilities, as a means of holding good professors and attracting new ones.

To finance his program, Connally suggested that the "temporary" corporation franchise surtax, which has been extended twice before, be retained. It would provide about $11,000,000 a year.

He also suggested that the 1961 sales tax law be revised to begin taxing clothing under $10, farm implements and all sales of food by restaurants, and to raise the sales tax on cars and trucks from 1.5 to 2 per cent.

Clothing tax proposal would bring in $10,000,000 a year. Motor vehicle tax increase would provide $2,500,000. Farm implements tax would run $1,000,000.

Fire quickly developed from rural legislators over the proposed farm implements tax.

Both Connally and the House Appropriations Committee proposed expenditures totaling about $3,100,000,000 during the coming two years.

Before Connally laid out his proposals to the Legislature, he invited Texas newspaper editors to Austin to show them how the state's complicated fiscal structure works. His "Illustrated Lecture" revealed that the Legislature has actual control over only 16 per cent of the $3,100,000,000. Rest already is earmarked by constitutional and statutory provisions.

EDUCATION BOOST
When Rep. Don Garrison of Houston spread before the House Revenue and Taxation committee his bill to boost the Available School Fund by $3,000,000 a year, a spokesman for Texas farmers and ranchers registered a strong protest.

Garrison plans to get the additional $3,000,000 by amending the state law that allows a 98 per cent exemption refund from the State Motor Fuel Tax for gasoline not consumed on the highways. His bill would cut the refund to 73 1/2 per cent.

That 25 per cent cut then would be credited to the school fund.

Charles H. Huff of the Texas Farm Bureau said almost half of the new school fund money — about $1,500,000 a year — "would be coming out of the pockets of farmers and ranchers."

They get motor fuel refunds of about $5,700,000 a year — or 49.11 per cent of the usual total refunded. Much of their refund comes from motor fuel taxes paid on farm machinery.

Airlines and private plane owners, who get about 3 per cent of the refunds, would be the second biggest contributor to education under Garrison's bill.

Four members of the subcommittee named to study the bill are from ranch or farm country — Reps. George Cook of Odessa, Ben Barnes of DeLeon, William Davis of Midland, and James L. Slider of Naples. Rep. F. Lee Duggan Jr. of Houston is the fifth member.

ELECTION
As soon as government officials began recovering from the shock of the news of the sudden highway death of Rep. James L. Latimore of Corpus Christi, they began studying the election code to see what must be done about filling the seat he left vacant in the House of Representatives.

Customarily, if a vacancy occurs in the legislature when it's not in session, the governor leaves the calling of a special election up to local officials.

But since the 58th Legislature will be in regular session until May 27, Governor Connally is expected to move fast to provide Nueces County with a needed voice in legislation. A late-April election date has been predicted.

Law states that the governor must call an election within 20 days. But it also provides that candidates must file 30 days before the election.

Last time a tragic death crippled the Legislature was on March 23, 1957, when the late Charlie Heitmann, representative from the Nacogdoches area, died. Gov. Price Daniel gave election notice on March 28 of that year. A new representative was elected in May, in time to spend some three weeks with the 55th Legislature.

Proposals to set up tax procedures on mineral estates, severed from the land, have been filed by Reps. Emmett Lack of Kountze and Clyde Haynes of Vidor.

Proposals are part of a package that should be favored by small-tract landowners and independent oil and gas producers.

One piece of the package is a constitutional amendment to increase the Railroad Commission from three to five members.

Second would give the Legislature the authority to "establish the duration of any interest in an undeveloped mineral estate."

Texas Landowners and Independent Oil & Gas Operators Association contends that some major oil companies hold onto undeveloped mineral interests for an unreasonable length of time.

Two other bills by Lack and Haynes are aimed at forcing development of mineral interests. One provides that mineral interests would revert to the owner of surface land if no development attempt is made for 10 years.

Second provides for a county tax assessment of no less than $5 an acre, if the mineral estate isn't developed.

Rep. Bob Bass of DeKalb proposes a 25-cent minimum tax assessment on each acre of undeveloped mineral estates.

SCREWORM BILL
Rep. Jack Crain of Nocona had 50 co-signers lined up when he introduced a bill to provide $2,840,837 as the State's matching share of the $12,000,000 federal-state-private screwworm eradication program.

Since it is backed by Governor Crain the bill should be off to a good start.

But the House Appropriations Committee didn't include a provision for screwworm eradication in its 300-plus page appropriations bill.

Crain said Legislators would seek a separate appropriation to cover the proposed state contribution.

CARS FOR COMMISSIONERS
When county commissioners stopped asking the Legislature to authorize horses and wagons and won the right to drive pickup trucks on their appointed rounds, they thought they were thoroughly mechanized.

As their operations became more streamlined and pickups no longer were necessary, some switched to automobiles. But a pickup is not an automobile, Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr ruled. So Williamson, Cochran, Hockley, Terry and Yoakum counties are asking authority from the 58th Legislature to buy cars for their commissioners.

Harris, Tarrant and some Panhandle counties discovered the difference for themselves some time ago. They already have authority to decide whether pickups or autos would be best for commissioners' transportation.

BLANKET HOSPITAL BILL
Last November, Texas voters decided to let the Legislature authorize the creation of hospital districts. Already many bills have been filed to create individual districts.

Now Rep. H. G. Wells of Tulla proposes legislation to give every county the right to create a hospital district within its own boundaries.

PRICE HIKE ASKED
Sen. Criss Cole of Houston proposes to increase the annual motor vehicle registration fee by $1 with the income going to our state parks.

If the Legislature approves Cole's license plate cost increase, the question will be submitted to voters at the general election of November, 1964.

MOTOR EXPRESS
Sen. Franklin Spears of San Antonio has introduced a bill to expedite freight shipments in Texas.

Bill permits the creation of a special class of motor vehicle carriers to be known as "restricted Motor Express Common Carriers."

Service would follow regular routes and schedules, using van-type equipment. Special emphasis

With the increased use of these highly toxic materials, both at home and in industry, it is essential that we stress safety measures at every opportunity.

Lazbuddie Folk Leaving for New York To Attend Farmers Union Convention

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Smith, Sr., their daughters, Tony Ellyn, and Deborah Bullock of the Lazbuddie community will join farmers from other areas of Texas on a bus trip sponsored by Texas Farmers Union to the National Farmers Union Convention in New York City. They will catch the bus at Tulla, on March 13 and spend four days enroute to New York, and will travel by way of Niagara Falls where they will spend the Saturday night prior to arrival in New York City. The return trip will be made via Washington, D. C. where the bus trippers will have an opportunity to sightsee and visit the Congress in action.

Mr. and Mrs. Luther Ham and Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Graeff of Farmer County will also make the convention trip.

Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman heads the list of topnotch speakers scheduled to participate in the 1963 annual convention of National Farmers Union to be held March 17-21 in New York City.

Other nationally and internationally-known leaders already listed to speak at the meeting include B. W. Biesheuvel, President of International Federation of Agricultural Producers (IFAP), New York City Mayor Robert Wagner, Assistant Secretary of Agriculture John A. Baker, and Homer L. Brinkley, retiring Executive Secretary of the National Council of Farmer Cooperatives.

James G. Patton, President of National Farmers Union, said the annual meeting this year promises to be one of the most important in the organization's 61-year history.

"Farmers Union considers this a 'do-or-die' year for farm legislation," he said. "We can either put permanent, practical farm programs on the books that will strengthen and stabilize the family farm, or we can do away with farm programs altogether as some self-seeking groups would have us do, and throw the entire economy into a tailspin."

Patton, who is a former President of IFAP and is presently head of the Freedom from Hunger Foundation, emphasized also the importance of the convention site in New York to achieve the "international flavor" of current farm discussion.

"American farmers must face up to the growing part they play in world trade and world development," Patton said. "Holding our convention near the seat of our world government and at the shipping center of the world will help us appreciate this."

An estimated 1,500 delegates and guests from throughout the nation are expected to be on hand for the New York meeting. They will arrive by bus, car, railway and chartered plane. Convention headquarters will be at the Henry Hudson Hotel.

In addition to regular convention business, tours are planned for those attending, including visits to the United Nations building and Statue of Liberty.

A highlight of the convention will be the annual Farmers Union awards to those who have made the greatest contribution to agriculture during the past year.

Today's Meditation

MORE THAN CONQUERORS
Romans 8:37

Today when we think of conquerors we think of perhaps a dictator or a person who has gained control of a group of people or a nation by unwholesome tactics.

We as Christians should be conquerors but more so. This may seem like a strange thing to say, but let us examine our lives more closely. Why is a Christian a conqueror and yet more so? A conqueror is a person who becomes victorious over many obstructions in the course of a human life. All men may be conquerors, but a Christian is more.

A Christian can not stop here, but must go on. A Christian must not only be the conqueror, but must turn the "stumbling-block" of which he is conqueror into a "stepping-stone." Stumbling-blocks are common to all men, some try to evade them; while others are defeated by them. Still others become victorious or conquerors over them and stop here; but a Christian then uses the "stumbling-block" as a "stepping-stone" in his Christian experience.

A Christian moves from one stepping stone to another and lifts himself to higher ground and a closer relationship with God.
