

8 FHA Members Attend Meeting

By MRS. JOHN BLACKMAN
BULA — Eight Bula girls represented the Bula FHA Chapter at Lubbock Saturday, March 16, at the Area I meeting.
 Linda Grusendorf was the voting delegate for the chapter, George Ann Bahlman, Joe Linda Robertson, and Diana Cox sang in the chorus.
 The girls agree that the most interesting part of the program was the talk made by the speaker Dr. Walter Karr of Tyler. Dr. Carr is Executive Director of International Youth Crusade. He spoke briefly of his travels to the orient, and what it meant to be a Future Homemaker, and also entertained the group with several guitar selections.

 Mrs. Elwanda Duke, their FHA sponsor accompanied the girls and also two mothers, Mrs. Cecil Cox and Mrs. George Bahlman. FHA girls attending were: Brenda and Beverly Clauson, Linda Grusendorf, Jo Linda Robertson, George Ann Bahlman, Donna Spence and Diana Cox and Barbara Autry.
 Mrs. Jimmy Cannon was program leader when the Bula WSCS met Monday at 2 p.m. at the church for their second lesson from the current study book, "Dimensions of Prayer." A business session was held before the lesson with the president, Mrs. Simmons, in charge.
 Meeting opened with group singing "Take Time to be Holy" followed by Mrs. Simmons leading in prayer and Mrs. Blackman reading scripture taken from Psalm 46. Mrs. Roy Young gave the devotional, a poem entitled "Quietness" taken from the book, "Leaves of Gold." All women took part in the discussion of the lesson, Mrs. Bogard gave the dismissal prayer.

 Attending were: Mrs. Tom Bogard, Mrs. W. L. Clawson, Mrs. E. B. Thompson, Mrs. Roy Young, Mrs. P. M. Lancaster, Mrs. F. L. Simmons, Mrs. Cecil Cox, Mrs. L. H. Medlin, Mrs. Jimmy Cannon, Mrs. Nettie Blackman and Mrs. George Bahlman.
 Following the prayer services Wednesday night at the local Baptist Church the pastor, The Rev. and Mrs. R. D. Thommarson were given a surprise anniversary observance for their 29th wedding anniversary. Individual gifts were presented the Thommarsons. Refreshments were served to the group.

JENNY SLIPPER POINTS—
SPRING; NEW HOMES
REMODELED BUSINESSES

RAY of RAY'S RITIN, wrote of "Spring is Sprung" in Thursday's Journal and on that day Jenny Slipper and a friend took a drive around town. And not only were there new blades of grass but new buildings and remodeling in evidence all around Muleshoe.

From the woman's point of view, the houses (we don't know if they are being built for someone particular or built to sell) are always interesting, educational and fun to look through. Whether it is a new house, new fence, garage enclosure, or what, someone else's remodeling makes feminine minds think about their own "dream homes".

DOWNTOWN, we ladies like to go in nice-looking, clean and friendly businesses. (And Don't Think Most Women Don't Notice The Condition of The Buildings. As Well As The Stock. WE DO!)

We're sure there are other things going on that we missed on our one-afternoon drive, but isn't it good to see both residences and businesses looking so fresh and new? We're proud of them all.

OBSERVATIONS AROUND TOWN

THE RICHLAND HILLS area is sprouting out all over with new homes. One block between 17th and 18th on Ave. E sports six newly-constructed houses. Chatting with Hazel (Mrs. Roy) Dyer, she told us they were respectively: Spud Thomas', theirs, a new family (Petcock) to move from Portales, the new Assembly of God parsonage, and one she didn't know for sure, it's for sale or whose it was. Then a local elevator is building a house right behind these six.

There is a nearly completed house on 18th and B, besides about a dozen new homes already occupied. Muleshoe's first apartment boom may be beginning with Clay and Alex Adams' quad-plex in the building stage on the corner of 18th and Avenue C.

IN THE LENUA ADDITION, there are two new houses, on Austin and Dallas streets. Remodeling jobs, paint, fences are noted all around town. The Country Club has made progress already on the new lounge and storage addition to the clubhouse. Then there are the T. R. Whites' and Jake Diel's new homes on the Plainview highway. Jake Diel also has his garage building freshly painted.) In town Rufus Gilbreath has already moved in his new house on 9th street.

Five new brick homes, two new ones for sale at present, in the Pool addition, then the Sherman Sweetman's new home up on the hill behind Richland as well as the Herb Griffith's are getting new lawns too. In the Harvey addition, there is a new house, one remodeling job and a bright yellow house.

DOWN MAIN STREET, changes noticed: New brick front and interior for Main Street Beauty shop and Sanitary Barber shop, Lane's Furniture expansion, new sign above St. Clair's, the awnings over Lambert's Cleaners, Robinson's Boot Shop, Hamiltons. And in Hamilton's temporarily is the Fair, which is building a new store across the street between Ben Franklin's and Lud's. An addition next to Johnson's Furniture store; the Sante Fe terminal remodelled at the other end of Main. Fowler Automotive Supply new downtown as is Williams office supply; Plains Auto Supply's new sign. Krebb's Real Estate, Thriftway Discount store, Mullin's Appliances by Cashway's, who has added new window display signs. Fry and Cox's clean windows; Singleton Funeral Home chapel remodelled; the Buchanan and Gunn Brothers' stamp centers.

Also the Five Area Telephone Coop. and Bailey County Electric Coop building; Ray Santos' new medical office down the street; Lambert Plumbing with a new paint job; Heathington Lumber with a new yellow paint job; new Ladd Engineering company office; Magby Ditching Service; Paul's new sign for Paul's Cafe, the new Farm Bureau office with Patzer's Clinic, AA and Baker's Fertilizer office.

Then the Dinner Bell is completely redecorated inside and out, with new sign. (Incidentally, this isn't real new — that 1929 Olds coupe with Rena and Joe

Sunday School Lesson

PREPARATION FOR CHRIST'S COMING

LESSON TEXT: Mark 13
The purpose of today's study is to consider Mark's understanding of Christ's coming and its meaning for our day and time. Throughout Hebrew history there was a long succession of prophets who were courageous and dedicated to their God and their country. When these men spoke out, they were warning an entire nation that it was sinning and must repent or else it would suffer God's wrath.

During times of oppression by foreign powers, the prophets needed to arouse the people from their lethargy, but not alarm the foreign rulers. To do this they couched their prophecies in a special style called "apocalyptic." The word means an "uncovering," a "revelation." It disclosed a divine truth, but the truth was presented in a dream or a vision; this was done so the foreign overlords would not understand it.

For their own people, however, the prophets had a message. First, they recounted their history. The people must not be allowed to forget how God had chosen them and led them to the Promised Land, and that ever since he had watched over them, caring for them, disciplining them. Then, when the prophet had reached the point in history where the people were, he would exhort them to action. Having reminded them of their sins, the prophet would call them to repent and seek God's forgiveness. And, finally, the prophet would describe the way God would handle the enemy if Israel would turn away from her sins. There would be signs from heaven — there would be upheavals on earth. Dreadful things would happen to the enemy, and the righteous ones would receive their just reward.

Carroll have bought — but then they plan to "remodel" it too. It is a dilly.) That 50 foot high TEXACO sign is a new landmark along the Clovis Highway, as well as the always immaculate Piggly Wiggly store landmark. Then there is the new Johnson-Pool Tire place in the old Buick building, the Hi-Way Tire Service; Brock Implement rather new on the Plainview highway.

NEXT TO THE JOURNAL(We have also rearranged inside and are "spring housecleaning" in addition to putting out two papers a week now. WHEW) Forbes and Barbour's real estate divided with J. K. Adams' office, all rearranged too.

The list is long, could be longer, should be longer. . . but it certainly all looks good to us! HAPPY SPRING CLEANING to all of you from all of us!

OFF TO LAS VEGAS finally (Mary had had the flu and they had delayed the trip) were Arlene and Bernard Phelps and Marv and "Junior" (W.M.II) Pool, leaving Tuesday morning very early, to return Sunday.

P.S. Jenny's Slipper's extra special recipes, with our secret, COOK OF THE WEEK, will be in Thursday's Journal. See you then.

Because wheat germ affects the gluten in flour, be sure to use a carefully tested recipe when you want to prepare yeast-risen bread with wheat germ added.

The New Testament never claims that this world's history will continue eternally. Our history is timebound; it is temporal, and therefore has an end. The signs given in apocalyptic literature (and there are several Books of this type in the Bible) indicate the disruptive nature of the end. The faithful may have to endure calamity, but beyond the calamity there is God. Christians always live in expectation that God's kingdom will come in its fullness. With eyes of hope we look forward to the complete manifestation of God's sovereign rule.

And how badly we need that hope, when television, radio, newspapers, bring all the world to our doorstep — all the tensions, the strains, the strife of all humanity!

What does the New Testament have to say about these conditions? Is there any word of hope? Is there any consolation?

It is to us and to our time that this chapter of Mark speaks. We are reminded that the sovereignty of God is absolute. Beyond the present, beyond the temporal, there is God. And he shall reign, and there is no end. He is the Alpha and the Omega, the first and the last, the beginning and the end.

History, for all its apparent headlong flight to destruction, has not gotten out of his control. The end, as well as the beginning, is still under his providential rule. The "kingdom of the world" shall become the kingdom of our God and of his Christ, and he shall reign forever.

Therefore, we trust ourselves to his keeping, and pray: "Come, Lord Jesus!" (These comments are based on outlines of the International Sunday School Lessons, copyrighted by the International Council of Religious Education, and used by permission).

IT'S FOR THE BIRDS

By MELVIN R. EVANS
Refuge Manager Muleshoe
National Wildlife Refuge

Many methods can be used to determine the population of birds and mammals on a certain section of land. Many techniques can be used on one area sometimes; and on still a different area, only one technique will work.

During the past waterfowl season many hunters felt that their small bag and possession restrictions. But generally speaking those who were interested and had it in their blood to hunt waterfowl got their share of the birds.

How do we determine the length of seasons and bag limits? How do we know that Mallards are going to be up, down or stable? How do we know that we can kill more birds west of the Continental Divide (Pacific Flyway) than we can in the area immediately east of the Continental Divide (Central Flyway)?

These are questions that are faced annually. Many of our local field men, such as myself, only play a minute part of this program.

We census birds year long. We record when the last and/or first representatives of each species are seen in the spring or fall. But are these censuses the only things we use to help us set seasons?

I should say not. We make special breeding ground counts, banding studies, wing collection surveys, waterfowl kill surveys and winter inventories or surveys.

Some of these programs give us an idea of the total population of birds and still others give us sex, age, and migration information.

The winter inventory was completed during early January. We made the count in the Muleshoe area on January 9.

This survey was conducted in Canada, Mexico and the United States. Information is gained about winter habitat condition; and to gather data on long term waterfowl trends.

A total of 47,288 miles were traveled by 309 observers in the Central Flyway. New Mexico, Oklahoma, and North Dakota each showed more than twice as many birds as were seen during the 1962 Survey. In Montana, 19 percent more waterfowl were observed, while fewer waterfowl were seen in South Dakota, Wyoming, Nebraska, Colorado, Kansas and Texas.

The survey this year showed encouraging signs that the curtailed 1962 season had served its purpose in preserving our waterfowl breeding stock. Observers reported 15 percent more waterfowl observed this winter than in 1962.

Mallards, the preferred duck for most Central Flyway hunters, tallied 14 percent over 1962; however, this is still 26 percent below average numbers for the past eight years.

More Pintails were recorded in the Central Flyway, but the total seen was 40 percent below the long term average. The closed hunting season on Redheads the past few years has helped to slow or stop their decline.

More geese were observed this year. The Snow and Blue Geese tallies were up 72 percent over 1962 and up 23 percent over the long-term average. White-fronted Geese were also observed in increasing numbers.

10-YEAR-JOB
LITHGOW, Australia (AP) — In 1953 Mrs. G. Clark took an umbrella to a local store to be recovered, and later the store said it had lost it. In March 1963, Mrs. Clark had a bill for 25 shillings ($2.80) from the store, went along, and there was her umbrella recovered.

Looking at WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The new NATO defense concept Washington is pushing is catching on in some NATO capitals, though project is certain not to be accepted by all, or even all except France. Britain is holding back on financial contributions. In West Germany Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and the Defense Ministry are in favor of a quick start on the plan — to build surface ships which would carry Polaris missiles. Germany would share in crewing these ships and they would contain at least 200 Polaris missiles. All nations would have a veto on the firing of the missiles under the present plan. There might also be some Polaris subs in the NATO fleet but it is reported in Washington that some U. S. admirals were not very keen on the earlier proposal to place multi-national crews aboard our atomicpowered subs. The French are being cynical and even downright nasty about the new Washington plan, and one aide of President Charles DeGaulle recently told reporters openly that the new U. S. plan was not a multi-nation force but a "multi-nation farce."

The French say the ships would be easily sunk — as do other critics. But President John F. Kennedy has personally answered this criticism, at least in part. He said it took the United States some time to locate two merchant ships recently, when seized by their crews. And the President said it wouldn't be easy for any other power to keep track of all of NATO's surface ships once they are moving about. It would not be so simple to sink all of them at once either, in the opinion of U. S. Defense experts.

Of course they would be vulnerable to attack. But an attack on any one of them would be the beginning of nuclear war, in all probability, and it might be hard to simultaneously attack all these ships (or even to have all of them accurately pinpointed) at once.

In any event, the retaliatory threat is great and it would appear that there are several advantages the ships will have that land-based missile sites do not have. For one thing, the gold drain and the strain on the U. S. dollar is causing grave concern in the national capital — more than is being generally talked.

It is far cheaper to have surface ships on the high seas, ready with Polaris missiles, than it is to maintain bases in foreign countries, where so many dollars are spent by U. S. personnel stationed at the bases.

As the missiles are stationed at sea, Air Force bases, each requiring the services of thousands of officers and men, can be closed down and this will alleviate the international balance of payments strain to an extent.

There is no talk of a pull-back of U. S. troops stationed in Europe, and West Germany, but if the gold and dollar crisis cannot be over-come in any other way, eventually this recourse will have to be considered. Foreign aid, of course, could be drastically cut, and it appears it will be cut sharply by this Congress, but the cut in foreign aid alone is not enough.

There must be reduced spending of dollars abroad if some other solution is not found to the present dilemma, sooner or later. All this may be a question which will get involved with the coming presidential election of 1964.

President John F. Kennedy's popularity is very high according to all the polls. But the President faces several dangerous and possibly disastrous situations. He is gambling on cutting taxes and losing revenue to get the economy moving again.

If he doesn't succeed and if the budget deficit and adverse international payments soar, he may be forced to withdraw mili-

Texas Voters Can Now Wire Officials At New Flat Rate

Governor John Connally, Lt. Governor Preston Smith, and Texas' 181 state legislators can now be told by telegram what Lone Star State voters think of public issues in 15 words for just 75 cents, it has been announced by O. J. (Bo) Sexton, Western Union manager in the Lubbock office.

Prompted by the increasing use of its national Personal Opinion Message (POM) service in Washington, D.C. inaugurated last year, Western Union has started a similar service to Austin on an intrastate basis.

Anyone in Texas may call at, or telephone a Western Union office and send a POM stating his attitude on any issue of local, state, national, or general interest. The telegram may be charged to his personal telephone, or paid for at the branch office from which the message is sent at the flat 75 cent rate.

The name and address of the sender of a POM is considered essential to the recipient and is included in the cost of the wire without any additional charge. If desired, the sender's title and organization may also be added free-of-charge. All Western Union offices have been equipped with complete and up-to-date lists of Texas state senators and representatives.

POM was inaugurated by Western Union in 1962 on a national basis, permitting anyone to send the flat-rate 75 cent message to the president, vice president, senators and representatives. An increased volume of telegrams sent to congress during the regular session from February to October indicated many people wish to express their opinions by this method.

Daniel Agency Adds New Service

Ray Daniel, Independent Insurance Agent, who has provided the Muleshoe area with professional insurance services for the past four and one half years, announces the addition of mortgage loans to his agency services.

Daniel will handle farm, ranch, commercial and industrial loans, including grain elevators and cotton gins.

He has just returned from a trip to Detroit, where he secured outlets for financing the needs of the grain and cotton industry.

Farm and ranch loans will be placed with major life insurance companies.

Diversion Dam Bars Water From Foundation

Life-Giving 'Rock' Takes Shape on Canadian River

Flood Control Pipes Dwarf Man

Work Progresses On Sanford Dam

By TOBY DRUIN

Slowly, but inexorably, a monument is taking shape across the Canadian River a few miles northwest of Borger in the Texas Panhandle. And from this man-made "rock" in what many might call a wilderness, 11 Panhandle and South Plains cities, taking their cue from Moses, hope to tap life-giving water.

The monument is the Sanford Dam which, when completed, will be a symbol of cooperation among the cities of the Canadian River Municipal Authority.

A little over two weeks ago the H. B. Zachry Co., of San Antonio, contractor on the dam construction project, announced it had completed 30 per cent of the work required to ram the dam some 200 feet above the bed of the meandering Canadian. As of now, the Zachry firm is approximately seven days ahead of schedule. Target date for dam closure is 1964.

Thirty per cent of the work required on the dam isn't too impressive to the casual observer, who makes his way to the observation platform provided by the Bureau of Reclamation high above the stream bed almost a quarter of a mile away from the dam site. But that's as close a look as most people get. The Zachry firm, zealous in its efforts to avoid accidents, has posted guards at the entrances to the working area, and only authorized personnel are permitted. Elaborate safety precautions promise to make the Sanford project one of the safest on record.

The work site is usually a beehive of activity with giant bulldozers, carryalls and other heavy machinery darting across the area like ants preparing for a long winter. The carryalls, some bearing 30 yards of earth loaded in less than a minute, sprint along at speeds approaching 40 miles per hour. Last Saturday, however, was a "repair" day and this reporter and two friends got a close look at the works without fear of being overrun by the massive machines.

Leon Marcell, a concrete inspection engineer, took us on a guided tour of the work area and Phil Kensley, resident engineer, later explained many of the facets of the tremendous operation. With 30 per cent of the work complete, there actually is little above ground to denote that in two years a dam over a mile long, a third of a mile wide and 200 feet high will back a lake up more than 20 miles.

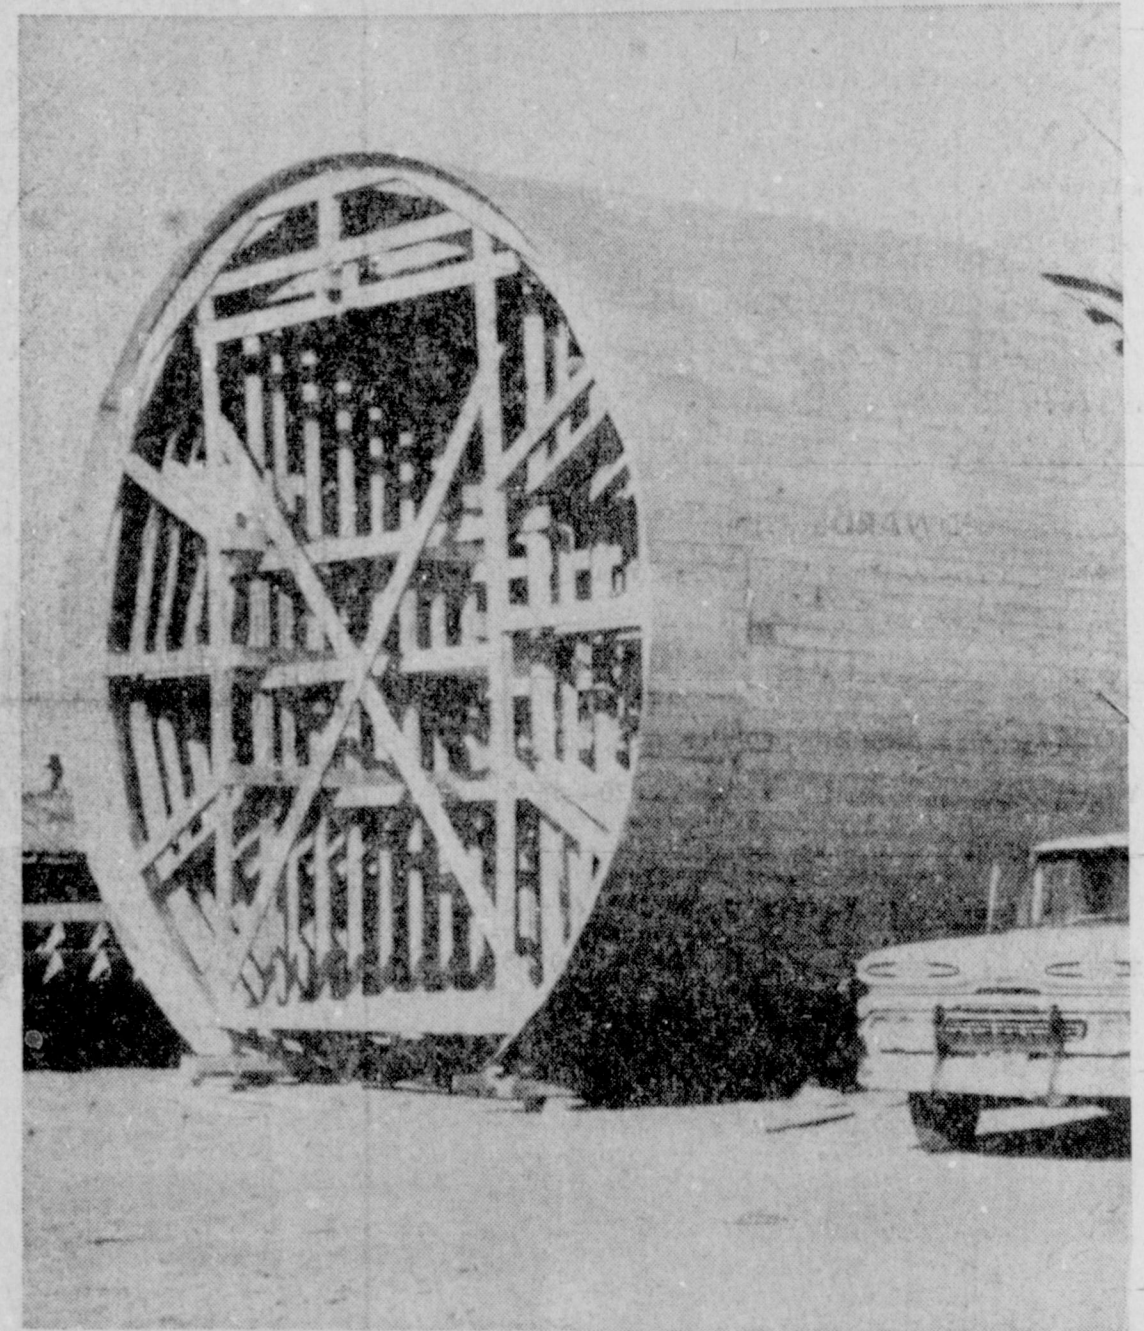

Since construction began a little over a year ago, the work has dealt largely with building a coffer dam to shunt aside any flood waters that may roam down the stream bed during construction and in putting down the foundation for the dam. The foundation and coffer dam are now complete and future work will take its place on the horizon.

Almost complete is a tunnel to carry water from the reservoir into the first pump station and on to the cities of the CRMWA. The massive tunnel is 15 feet in diameter at its entrance and 16 feet in diameter on the downstream side where huge steel pipes will carry its precious fluid to the pump station. The tunnel is over 1100 feet long and work is now underway cementing its walls.

On the opposite north side of the stream bed, work is progressing on the flood control outlet works, a system of three huge conduit-type outlets which will enable flood waters to be freed. Each of the three outlets is 15 feet in diameter and will be placed side-by-side near the dam spillway. Forrest Dickerson of Borger, stands in one of the huge pipes in the photo at top left. The photo at lower right shows the great amount of earth which has been excavated where the outlet works are to be located. And more will have to be moved.

But probably the most impressive, and maybe the most exacting work being done at the site now is the construction of forms for the pouring of the walls of the spillway and flood control outlet works. The forms are built by Zachry carpenters to exact specifications as outlined by the Bureau of Reclamation. So smooth must the sides of the completed passageway be that the forms are built in one piece and then sawed apart to assure an exact fit when set in place to receive the concrete.

The work pace, already feverish and carried on around the clock much of the time, is soon to be quickened. A rock crusher is being moved into place on the north side of the dam and soon will begin preparing base and rip-rap for the face of the dam. And a huge new crane is being put together south of the dam site for use when the dam begins to gain altitude.

JERRY DON HASKINS
—Eagle Scout

Jerry Don Haskins Makes Eagle Rank

Muleshoe has its first Eagle Scout in three years. Jerry Don Haskins went to Levelland on March 18 before a District Board of Review and passed his test for Eagle Rank.

Jerry started in Cub Scouts at the age of 8. He went through Cubs and has acquired 21 merit badges for his Eagle. He has held the offices of Quartermaster, Assistant Senior Patrol Leader and is presently a Patrol Leader in Troop 620.

Jerry is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Haskins, Jr. He has one sister, Jean. He attends the First Methodist church in which he is working on his God and Country Award, and is a Den Chief for Den 1 of the Cub Scouts. He will receive his Eagle Badge on April 28 in Lubbock.

'Six Flags' Set For '63 Opening

The 1963 season for SIX FLAGS over Texas will commence on Saturday, April 20. The third operating year for the historical theme park, located midway between Dallas and Fort Worth, has been set up to begin on a Saturday and Sunday basis only until June 1. For the months of June, July and August, SIX FLAGS will be open seven days a week. Following Labor Day in September and continuing through December 1, the Park will revert again to a weekends only operation.

Following a siege of bad weather a few weeks ago, which hampered the nearly $1,000,000 expansion program, balmy days have followed bringing smiles to the engineers and construction workers who are charged with having the Park in tip-top operating shape by April 20.

Projections on attendance for this year indicate an even higher figure than the 1,272,000 visitors who clicked through the turnstiles in 1962. Part of the heavy expansion program is centered around a new six acre site added to the U.S.A. Section of SIX FLAGS. It will be known as "Boom Town," depicting the days of the exciting oil discovery finds in Texas during the late 1890's and early 1900's.

David St. Clair On Honor Roll

The midterm honor roll for the University of Texas has been released to the students in the department of Business Administration. Listed as receiving the highest honor is David Edward St. Clair.

David is the son of Dan St. Clair, Seymour, formerly of Muleshoe, who has been on the honor roll since his enrollment at the University of Texas.

New Booklet Promotes Texas

AUSTIN — Tourists unfamiliar with Texas are expected to get an eye-opening look at the state as the result of a colorful new travel brochure released today by the Texas Highway Department.

The 32-page booklet, "Texas—Today's Fun-tier," is one of several devices used by the State Highway Department to assist Texas in winning a fair share of market.

"Texas realized $471 million from tourism in 1962, an increase of $31 million over 1961," explained D. C. Greer, state highway engineer. "But the potential is far greater."

"Before our state can command this potential, however, we must overcome some unfortunate misconceptions about Texas. This new brochure is dedicated to this end."

One of the most prevalent misunderstandings is that Texas is all a vast desert, arid and highly uninviting as a vacation land. The new brochure, coupled with the state's first series of travel posters and the holiday-oriented 1963 highway map, punctures this idea.

Together they emphasize Texas as a land of infinite variety with its roots in gaiety and excitement. The concept is embodied in the theme that yesterday's frontier has yielded to "today's fun-tier."

The new line was adopted by the Highway Department's Travel Division after scores of suggestions had been studied and re-studied.
