Allies Strive To Strengthen Norway Lines

Germans Facing Big Problem in Breaking Through Defenses

STOCKHOLM, Apr. 29 (AP)—Strong allied resistance was apparently developing today as a Nazi blow at the strategic Norwegian railway threatened to isolate allied troops in central Norway.

Reports said Germans were now facing the problem of breaking through supposedly strong machine gun and artillery lines the allies have drawn across the rocky Gudbrandsdalen valley and the Glomma river valley.

Late in the afternoon a British communiqué said the Germans had attacked heavily from the air the towns of Alesund and Mo i Rana, allied landing places below Trondheim, but no details were given.

The British admiralty announced three German supply ships had been sunk. The announcement denied German claims bomb hits had been scored on a number of British cruisers and transports in the last two days, but admitted two trawlers were destroyed.

The German high command said 11 British transports totaling 50,000 tons had been severely hit by German bombers.

German troops, driving over mountains, were reported to have reached the railway linking the British bases at Dombas and Storen.

By THOMAS F. HAWKINS

STOCKHOLM, April 29 (AP)—Germany's blitzkrieg advance up Norway's eastern valley was reported halted last night to give a Nazi force from Oslo an opportunity to catch up with the mechanized advance before attempting to press onward to the important German-held port of Trondheim on the western coast.

Apparently seeking to consolidate their gains in the Osterdalen (eastern valley), the Germans were said in a Swedish dispatch to be fortifying the Roros sector, about 50 miles southeast of Storen, a town on the Trondheim-Dombas railroad held by the British.

The movements of two other German forces—one a column advancing up the Gudbrandsdalen, a valley paralleling Osterdalen, toward Dombas, 75 miles below Storen, and the other an offshoot of troops in the Roros sector aiming at Storen—were not reported here.

A German attempt to connect their Oslo base with the Nazi-held port of Bergen on the west coast was disclosed in a Norwegian communiqué which reported that the Norwegians had fallen back in the Numedalen and Hollingdalen (valleys) to the northwest of Kongsberg and Honfoss, and that the Germans had captured Voss, 50 miles east of Bergen on the Oslo-Bergen railroad.

The communiqué also said the Germans continued to bomb communication lines. One plane was reported shot down, three made forced landings and two "uncertain cases" were reported.

However, a Norwegian communiqué distributed by Reuters, British news agency, said the Norwegians had checked at Kvam the German column advancing from Oslo toward Dombas in the Gudbrandsdalen, Kvam is about 35 miles south of Dombas.

(The communiqué also said a German force apparently pushing west from Gjøvik on Lake Mjøsen had been checked between Etnedal and Southern Aurdal, about 40 miles west of Gjøvik.

A third report in the communiqué said Norwegian troops at Alvdal, about 45 miles south of Roros, had stopped a German push toward Foldal, which is on a road connecting with the Soten - Dombas railroad. This report indicated Norwegians still were fighting south of Roros though the German advance guard was in control of the Roros section.

There was no report on the German mechanized unit which was said to have braved the dangers of a winding mountain road and dashed 50 miles in less than 24 hours from Tynset, on the road from Oslo to Roros, to Inset, about 15 miles south of Storen and within striking distance of the Storen-Dombas railroad.

That flanking movement was executed by an offshoot of the German force which sped to Roros. Its success appeared to threaten the British at Storen and at Dombas. Allied troops at Dombas already faced a German column advancing up the Gudbrandsdalen toward Trondheim.

Bellanca, Curtis Land Here Today

Two landings were reported for today in a checkup with Midland Municipal Airport staff members early this afternoon. They were: A Curtis, flown by Major Crawford, which came from Abilene en route to El Paso, and a Bellanca of the Bellanca Aircraft company flown by Lou Reichers, who came from San Antonio and went to El Paso.

Geo. McIntire, flying a Beechcraft, made a roundtrip to Artesia, N.M., Sunday, via Abilene.

Duce Appoints Pro-German as Envoy to Berlin

ROME, Apr. 29 (AP)—Dino Alfieri, considered one of Italy's more strongly pro-German figures, today was appointed ambassador to Germany, succeeding Bernardo Attolico. The two envoys exchanged posts, Attolico replacing Alfieri as ambassador to the Vatican.

Some foreign circles saw in Alfieri's appointment an indication of new strengthening of relations between Mussolini and Hitler.

BRITISH, ITALIANS MAY RESUME TALKS

LONDON, Apr. 29 (AP)—Britain and Italy have discussed resumption of their negotiations for increased trade, it was disclosed today.

Negotiations were discontinued in February during a dispute over the seizure of coal being shipped from Germany to Italy.

North Ward Students Will Present Play Tuesday Night at 7

Students of the North Ward school tomorrow night will present at the high school auditorium the first of the 1940 closing exercises that will be offered by any of the local schools.

The play will get underway promptly at seven o'clock and will be over by nine. An invitation to all citizens of the town, particularly parents of students in the North Ward, has been tendered by officials of the school.

The students will present the well-known Walt Disney book and movie production, Pinocchio. Following is a story of the play: Act I. Geppetto, the wood-carver, is working in his shop. Red-nosed Master Cherry enters carrying a large stick of wood. It jumps from his arms as if alive, and knocks him sprawling on the floor. Geppetto begins carving a puppet out of it. To his surprise, as he works it moves its head and arms, rolls its eyes, and laughs saucily at him. While this is going on, other puppets come forward, and with clackings and clackings dance and sing. As soon as Geppetto has completed the figures, he places it on the floor and names it Pinocchio. It runs madly around the room and suddenly darts out thru the open door, but is soon caught and brought back by a soldier, kicking and squealing. Geppetto is then accused of being cruel to Pinocchio and is taken to prison.

Pinocchio, now being alone in the shop with night approaching, becomes cold and frightened. The Talking-Cricket appears and tells him how wrong it is to be disobedient, but this only angers Pinocchio, who throws a mallet at the Cricket and hurts him as he is leaving. Then Pinocchio falls asleep while warming his feet on the brazier and they are burned off during the night. Geppetto returns in the morning and makes new legs for him, and Pinocchio promises to be good and go to school. Just as he is going to follow this fine resolution, the soldiers march in with fire and drum, and although the school boys and girls urge him to come with them, he forgets his promise and marches away with the soldiers.

Act II. We find Pinocchio next at the Grand Theatre of the Marionettes where he meets Harlequin and Punchinello. They have an exciting time with the Fire-Eater, who threatens to use their wooden bodies to cook his supper. They are saved, however, when he sneezes violently, for it brings tears of pity to his eyes, and he retreats. That same night the father of Midland Man Succumbs Today

J. E. Hall, connected with the Osego Drilling company here, and Mrs. Hall are to leave this afternoon for Winters, where his father, W. W. Hall died this morning.

The elder Mr. Hall was 74 at the time of his death, caused by a heart attack. Most of his life had been spent as a rancher in that area.

Funeral services will probably be held tomorrow afternoon in Winters, it was reported today.

The deceased is survived by his widow and eight children.

Heavy Rains In South Texas Damage Crops

12-Inch Downpour Recorded at Taylor Sunday Afternoon

By Associated Press

Torrential rains during Sunday sent streams out of banks, washed out bridges, damaged crops and communication lines throughout Texas.

Regular communication from the south with troops in the East Texas army maneuvers area was disrupted.

Twelve inches of rain were reported in the Taylor section. A 50-mile an hour wind brought an inch of rain at Port Arthur. Six inches fell at Crockett, flooding lowlands, damaging corn and cotton.

Showers in sections of West and North Texas were beneficial to crops.

At Rayne, Louisiana, tornadoic winds early today ripped part of the roof from a new school building.

Two heavy showers, one of "gully-washer" proportions, dumped more than two inches of rain on Fort Worth and brought total rainfall for April to 5.90 inches as compared to a normal of 4.02.

Showers were reported as far west as Amarillo, Lubbock, Clarendon, Sweetwater and San Angelo, the precipitation ranging from light showers to an inch at Memphis and .75 of an inch at Childress.

Amarillo had .17 Clarendon .50, Plainville .25, San Angelo .10, Throckmorton .25, and Abilene .20 of an inch. Hard rain was reported in the general over North Texas. Gainesville received .75 of an inch.

Light showers were reported at Lubbock, Sweetwater and Brownwood, while Haskell had .59 of an inch of badly needed moisture. Most West Texas points reported clearing skies with small prospect of additional moisture.

Thompson Withdraws For Congress Race In 18th District

AMARILLO, April 29 (AP)—Railroad Commissioner Ernest Thompson today withdrew from the eighteenth district congressional race.

He announced for the place after representative Marvin Jones was appointed to the court of claims. He did not say whether he planned to re-enter the gubernatorial race. "I do not want to spend all my life in public office," Thompson said in expressing a belief a congressman "should stay up there term after term so he may gain seniority and influence."

Feud Flares Again As Two Men Killed In Breathitt County

JACKSON, Ky., April 29 (AP)—Two men were killed in bloody Breathitt County Sunday, one from ambush.

Police Chief A. S. Sizemore said County Jailor William Combs, 41, was shot down as he struggled to enter the home of an uncle on the outskirts of Jackson, while a jail turnkey, Bent Sizemore, 23, was killed by a bullet in his back as he hurried to the scene.

Chief Sizemore said three men were suspected of both killings.

The police chief, a distant relative of the slain turnkey, said Rudell Combs, 25, had been arrested by Patrolman Lewis Watkins and taken to the Winchester jail for safekeeping.

Rudell Combs is a distant kinsman of the slain jailer, he said.

Chief Sizemore said orders had been issued by Deputy Sheriff Oscar Deaton for the arrest of two other men. No charges have been filed, he added.

The police chief expressed belief the killings grew out of an argument Saturday between Jailor Combs and one of the men being sought.

At that time Chief Sizemore continued, a patrolman broke up a fight between the men and disarmed them.

ACCIDENT NEAR HERE KILLS WOMAN

And Here's What Little Tanks Are Made Of

Into the machines of Mars go the makings of enough products to stock any well-sized all-purpose drug-store. An ultra-modern, French 70-ton tank, for instance, contains enough metal to make all the peace-time products pictured above inside the outline of one of these mammoth war engines. From the 70 tons of metal in one French tank, as figured by the American Society for Metals, there could be made enough razors (1,280,000) to shave practically the whole British army.

Nuff-Sed Should Qualify on This One in Hollywood

The Mustang Boys Club is expected to have a lot of fun this week celebrating its second Birthday. At the same time these boys are working mighty hard to stir up plenty of fun and good cheer for the people of Midland. This is being accomplished by that stupendous and notorious event—"The Mustang Pet Parade," which will ramble and scramble down the streets of Midland next Saturday morning at 11:00 o'clock. It will be dizzy, dazzling and disconcerting. The press has seldom reported any procession or parade which promises to be quite so delightfully different, quite so decidedly hay-wire or quite so distinctly relaxing. Entirely informal and unrehearsed, it, no doubt, will be the last word in youthful nonsense, garishness, never-the-less, with an inherent love that boys have for pets and for good clean fun.

It is believed the public will pardon the highly grotesque, if not ultra-picturesque phrases used to lend attempted circus flavor, atmosphere and ballyhoo to this Barnum-like event. We hope that you may smell peanuts and cracker-jack between the lines and that you will stop at each period or question mark and drink an imaginary glass of pink lemonade—the "Peach that Refreshes," that will give you stamina, heart and courage to read on.

New Unit Planned by Justice Department

WASHINGTON, April 29 (AP)—The Justice Department announced Sunday that henceforth it would exert centralized control over arrests or prosecutions for violations of neutrality laws, with an eye to liberties as well as national defense.

A new division—the neutrality laws unit—will take over the work, Attorney General Jackson said, and will have "responsibility for control of all prospective action growing out of violations or charges of violations of laws relating to neutrality, foreign enlistments, treason, sedition, espionage, sabotage, or kindred offenses."

The department said that the purpose of the new unit was to "assure uniformity of policy" which it said was "not possible when prosecutions are initiated by district attorneys."

Duties of the new unit, the department said, will include a study of each case "with reference to both adequate protection of the national interest and the civil rights of individuals involved."

Prosecutions will not be handled by the unit, but will be turned over to the United States attorney or a special prosecutor.

"Professional Politicians" Blamed by the Governor for "Stealing" His Two Musicians

AUSTIN, April 29 (AP)—Governor W. Lee O'Daniel Sunday blamed "professional politicians" for the loss of Star Singer Leon Huff and Gullarist Kermit Whalin from his famed hillbilly band.

Huff quit Friday and Whalin Saturday.

Referring to the matter in his regular Sunday broadcast, O'Daniel did not say what political camp was responsible but suggested that "we all keep our ears and eyes open."

The program contained as much singing as usual.

"I regret that some few people do not like for us to broadcast these Sunday programs," O'Daniel said, "and have employed many underhanded methods of trying to get us off the air."

"This week the gang of professional politicians struck another blow at your governor, and two of the boys in our band were caught in their snare and induced to quit us without giving the usual advance notice.

"Not one word of discontent had been voiced by either of these boys to us, although we were together every day, and they had each just recently been given increased remuneration without their demanding it."

"It is no major calamity, and I hold no grudge. It is just another case of having the professional politicians strike at your governor."

Neither Huff, the orchestra's former leader, nor Whalin had given any reason for parting company with the governor. Huff suggested "vote for Sadler" after handing newspapermen a brief written announcement of his resignation.

Gubernatorial candidate, Jerry Sadler said, however, that he had nothing to do with the resignation.

Noted Soprano Is Victim of Death

MILAN, Italy, April 29 (AP)—Mme. Luisa Tetrazzini, celebrated Italian soprano who long thrilled opera lovers all over the world, died Sunday morning. She would have been 66 years old on June 29.

Death occurred in a hospital after a long illness complicated by grippe.

For several days Mme. Tetrazzini had been unable to take nourishment other than occasional sips of champagne.

Only a nurse was at her bedside when she died at 8:35 a.m.

Mme. Tetrazzini, who first won great acclaim when she sang in San Francisco in 1904 on her first American appearance, had been living for some years in comparative retirement in her native Italy.

She made a farewell appearance in the United States in 1922 but returned to New York in 1931 for a concert tour which was marred in part by illness. United States music lovers next heard her on Jan. 10, 1938, in a broadcast from Milan.

Resident of Wink Victim Of Collision

Blowout Blamed for Death; Five Others Remain in Hospitals

Mrs. B. F. Grubb, 49, of Wink, is dead, a daughter and sister are in one local hospital while a Big Spring man, Louis H. Posey, and his two sons, Louis, Jr., and Donald Glenn, are in another hospital here as the result of an automobile collision 15 miles east of here about 5:30 Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Grubb died about two hours after entering the hospital, internal injuries being blamed for her death. Injuries to the others:

Mildred Grubb, 10, fractured jaw, severe laceration on cheek, other minor lacerations and bruises.

Mrs. B. J. Walters, sister of Mrs. Grubb, also of Wink, minor lacerations and bruises.

Louis H. Posey, broken arm, injured knee, lacerations around head.

Louis H. Posey, Jr., seriously injured knee, lacerations and bruises.

Donald Glenn Posey, minor lacerations and bruises.

The accident was said to have occurred when a blowout on the car being driven by Mrs. Walters caused it to swerve directly in front of the oncoming Posey car. All the injured were rushed to hospitals here, part of them by an ambulance called to the scene of the accident and the others by a passer-by.

According to Posey, West Texas manager of the Lincoln Tank company, when the tire on the car being driven by Mrs. Walters blew out it skidded to the right side of the road, the driver jerked it back onto the highway but it skidded directly in front of Posey's automobile. Posey said the car was not more than 20 feet in front of him after the skid, he attempted to stop, pulling over as far as possible on his side of the road, but was unable to, striking the other car and causing it to overturn. The blowout was confirmed by Mrs. Walters at the hospital where she remains today.

The body of Mrs. Grubb was taken today to Rotan, where funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at four o'clock. She is survived by her husband, B. F. Grubb, proprietor of the Central Hotel of Wink, two sons, Jerome, Topeka, Kans.; Carlton, Rotan; three daughters, Mildred, Pauline and May Katherine, all of Wink.

It's Easy to Find a "Summer Wardrobe" For Your Bedroom Among New Ensembles

Seersucker, that old reliable washable, is used to make this white, double-ruffled bedspread and pillow sham, the matching draperies and triple-tiered dressing table skirt. The ensemble, finished with scattered roses and bowknits in pastel shades, and the cotton needle-tufted rug, similarly decorated, are perfect for giving a bedroom a cool, frosty look during summer months.

BY MARIAN YOUNG
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK—Time was when "doing over the bedroom for summer" was either quite a chore or else a pretty expensive undertaking. It meant one of three things: finding the material and then spending long hours making bedspreads, curtains and slipcovers yourself; hiring a decorator to have the work done for you; or finding one piece you liked and then shopping for days and days and days to find other items to match it or at least harmonize with it.

FLORAL PATTERNS REMAIN THE BIG FAVORITES

ALL is changed now. It's quite a simple matter to find a decorator - designed ensemble, which includes dressing table skirt and a washable, scatter rug as well as bedspread and curtains.

These new accessories to make bedrooms look cool as mint during the hot months come in a wide range of colors and other combinations. One group, made in a Georgia community which has conserved American arts of embroidery, candlewick and chenille, is guaranteed colorfast and shrink-proof. The actual patterns vary from formal baroque to the simple country cottage type. The favorite motif, however, is the floral nosegay—sometimes with fluttering ribbons and bowknits as well as flowers. The pastel colorings are fresh and clear, the background materials ultra-practical.

White seersucker is used to fashion a stunning bedspread and dressing table skirt with luxurious, full, double ruffles. The curtains are as simply tailored with a ruffled valance, and the harmonizing rug is white with embroidered floral swags to match those on the spread.

Another design is more feminine, with roses strewn across the bed and extra pillow sham. The oblong pillow sham may be ordered in double size to cover two pillows on a double bed. In a large, but not too light bedroom with figured wallpaper, you might use bedspreads with white embroidery on a cool, mist-green ground, matching curtains and harmonizing scatter rugs and dressing table skirt.

Do you like a tailored room or a softer one, it's easy to find professionally chosen ensembles to make any bedroom a brighter, cooler place for summer sleeping. From de luxe organdy and dotted Swiss sets with satin ribbons to more practical ones of chenille or embroidered seersucker, there are the right bedspreads and rugs—right from the standpoint of the budget as well as your personal taste.

Humble Scrubbing Brush One of Best Aids to Beauty

BY FRED BAILEY
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON. — A government inter-departmental committee is searching for a solution to the many economic ills that have forced thousands of southern farm families to near starvation.

The unofficial committee is composed of representatives of the Agriculture, Labor, Public Works departments and the Federal Security Agency. State governments have been asked to assist in a survey of the situation. Dr. W. W. Alexander, Farm Security Administrator, whose many years as Southern minister and social worker have given him an intimate knowledge of the South, declared that "much of the South is close to starvation."

Alexander said 40 per cent of all Southern families have an average of $236 to spend for feeding their families for a full year. That includes, he said, the value of all the foodstuffs they grow for themselves. "You don't need much proof to know that you can't feed a family properly for a year on $236," he said. "Possibly that is not starvation in the ordinary sense of the word, but it's close enough to it to be dangerous."

Foremost of the South's problems is over-population, Alexander said. Eastern and northern factories that formerly took the South's surplus labor no longer offer employment opportunities. Farm machinery has reduced the demand for farm labor. "There are fewer acres under cultivation in the South today than there were in 1860," Alexander said. "That land is far less productive. And yet there are twice as many families trying to squeeze out a living on these acres as there were in 1860."

Extreme Poverty Prevails

There are simply too many people trying to live off the South's soil and out of the income of Southern agriculture, he said. "The result is extreme poverty for

COWBOYS OPEN THREE-GAME HOME STAND TONIGHT WITH AMARILLO

Take Final Game Of Clovis Series By Score of 18-11

The Midland Cowboys climbed back to the 500 mark here yesterday when they outlasted the Clovis Pioneers to cop an 18-11 decision.

Pop flies fell for doubles and high flies went for homers as a sand-storm played tricks with pitchers' deliveries. Six home runs and ten doubles were recorded during the wild affair with the Cowboys getting most of the extra-base blows. Runs were made in every inning except the third.

Pitcher Elliott stayed on the mound the complete game for the Cowboys despite giving up 22 hits. Two hurlers were used by Manager Hale. "Lefty" Mitchell and "Lefty" Miller. Mitchell, who came here in

The Cowboys tonight at 8:30 will open a three-game home stand against the Amarillo Gold Sox, managed by Claude Jonnard, veteran minor and major league hurler. Jonnard will probably start Bus Dorman, one of the league's ace left-handers, while Manager Sammy Hale will likely rely on Rankin Johnson, husky right-hander who has not given up an earned run in 14 2/3 innings.

A trade for "Stud" Raines, was wild and lasted only four innings before being relieved. However, no hurler could be blamed for not getting the ball over the plate. Instead, a hurler was lucky to get one over.

Some of the heaviest hitting ever seen was unleashed by the three Midland outfielders. Kirby Jordan, Ruben Naranjo and Sam Scaling. Together they scored 14 runs and made 15 hits. Scaling drove four runs home and Jordan batted in five.

Top batting honors went to Naranjo who had four singles, a double and a walk in six times at bat for a perfect day. Jordan had a double, two singles and two homers. Scaling had one double, three singles and a homer. Sam Hale also had a homer and a single while Prather and Berndt each had two hits, one of Berndt's being a double.

The Pioneers weren't exactly helpless at the plate, getting two homers and four doubles.

The Cowboys took the lead in the first inning and never gave it up although the Pioneers tied it up in the fourth. After Chandler was retired to open the game, Naranjo walked and Hale slapped one over the fence in left. Scaling singled, Jordan doubled, Keyser struck out but Smith dropped Prather's high fly. Scaling and Jordan scoring.

The Pioneers got three of the tallies back in the second when Stone walked, Williams reached first on an error and Schmidt hit one out of the park.

The Cowboys bounced back with four more in their half of the second. After Mitchell singled, Chandler went out, Naranjo singled, Hale doubled to send him home, Scaling singled to score Hale and Jordan hit one over centered field fence to score behind Scaling.

Both sides went scoreless in the third but the Pioneers tied it up in the fourth. Two errors and two walks sent one man home and then shortstop Adkins hit one that cleared the left field fence, being fair only by inches.

The Cowboys got two more in their half when Scaling again singled and Jordan hit another out of the park.

Clovis got one in the fifth on two singles and two walks and the Cowboys were retired in their half. Miller relieved Mitchell in the fifth and struck out two men with three on base to retire the side.

The Cowboys started running again in the sixth when Scaling doubled and Jordan singled. After Clovis had made one run in the seventh to stay one behind, the

STARLINGS GIVE COUNTRY THE BIRD

Nobody Knows What to Do About This Feathered Nuisance, Now Winding Over the Entire Nation

By NEA Service

WASHINGTON.—Noisy as a war argument, persistent as a spring cold and just as welcome; unpleasant, disagreeable, messy and cantankerous, the starling is never the less here to stay.

Gradually spreading from the Atlantic to the Rockies, in cities whose buildings it has turned into teeming bird roosts, the starling has in 50 years succeeded in becoming a major nuisance. But nobody knows what to do about it.

Some peanut-brained attendants turned the first ones loose from New York's Central Park Zoo on the 14th at unlucky day in the 90s, experts of the U. S. Biological Survey believe.

Until 1926 the birds stayed pretty close to the eastern seaboard, but the rest of the country snickered at arch stories telling of vain and ludicrous attempts in New York, Philadelphia, Washington and Baltimore to shoo the pesky starlings away from their nightly conchaves around the cornices of all the more elaborate public buildings.

The nightly din, the defacement of marble colonnades, was subject for many a jest. But it isn't so funny now, for the starlings are moving west, and have appeared as far away as Utah. West coasters Cowboys teed off on Elliott again for four more tallies. With one out, Naranjo walked and stole second. Time was killed for about 15 minutes during which Clovis players and manager argued with the umpires, third baseman Williams finally being given the old heave-ho by Umpire Levine. Hale then walked and the bases were loaded when Adkin's muffed Scaling's grounder. Jordan sent Naranjo home on a fielder's choice and Prather scored Hale with a single. Berndt then scored Scaling and Jordan with a single into left, but was out trying to stretch it into a double.

The final Cowboy runs came in the eighth. Naranjo singled, Hale walked and Sam Scaling got one over the center field wall. The Pioneers managed to get one run in the ninth on an error, walk, fielder's choice and a single before the game could be ended.

open, but in downtown buildings. They don't bother pigeons, because they eat insects and fruits and shun the peanut-and-grain diet of city pigeons.

Every effort to get rid of the starlings has flopped. And since London has tried vainly for 100 years to scare them off with Roman candles or balloons, to annoy them by heating dishes, to drown them out with fire hose, it appears that a better trick must fear it is only be found here. Only one bird scares them, the owl—even a stuffed one will do it. But it's tough to get enough owls together to do the trick—and anyway substituting owls for starlings is merely leaping from frying-pan to fire.

Poisoning them won't do, for the starlings dine out. They leave their downtown nests at crack of dawn, and scour the countryside as far as 15 miles away for insects. They return, like a crack bombing squadron, at night, to jabber themselves into sleep atop the city buildings.

Farmers and fruit growers generally don't mind them. The birds eat the insects that eat the grain and fruit. A few cattlemen, however, have complained lately that

Pirates Raise Hopes of Fans With 3 Names

NEW YORK (UP).—The 1940 baseball season is only a few days old and the Pirates haven't had much chance to show their stuff, but already Pittsburgh fans have voiced solid approval of their team for the first time in several seasons. Not one but three good reasons—new manager Frankie Frisch and rookie outfielders Bob Elliott and Maurice VanRobays—brought about the change.

Frisch's major league record both as a player and a fiery manager is nothing new, but the new manager's prize pair of power hitters are, so let's scan the pre-1940 statistics.

Elliott went to school in El Centro, Cal., and his home town is Plaster City, so he automatically fits in as a pill-plastering centerfielder. Van's baseball background was all Canadian border before he joined the Pirates. After starring in Detroit sandlot ranks, he joined Ogdensburg in the Canadian-American League in 1937 and became league homering king with 43.

On Farms For Two Years.

VanRobays the Detroit and Elliott the Californian have been Pirate farm-hands the past two years. Both were power-hitters in the International League last year, Van at Montreal and Bob at Toronto.

Both spent last September in Pirate uniforms. Bob hit 333 in 32 National League games after batting 328 for Toronto in 115 contests. Van's National League average was 314 for 27 games. With Montreal he hit 320 in 136 games.

The edge presently goes to Bob on defense. He is not only a hitter but a rapid-roving player who can go far for balls and ship them back swift and accurate. Scouts called Elliott "the best young outfielder in the country" when the Pirates bought him from Savannah in 1937. He made good. Fanned out to Savannah again for 1938, he hit 325, including 30 two-baggers.

VanRobays Money Player.

He hit safely in 24 of his 32 National League games and struck out only four times. He had to be that good to keep pace with VanRobays. In that Sept. 7 game against the Reds when Bob clouted a homer, two doubles and a single, Van hit only singles, 3 for 3 his last three times up. No. 2 brought home the tying run in the ninth. No. 3 knocked home the tying run again in the 11th and when the hit got away from the Cincinnati fielder, Van raced home with the winning run. Sept. 11, Van's punch-in-pinch talent worked again. He had already hit a double and a single, but in the eighth, with the bases filled, he shook another single out to bring in two runs for an 8-6 Pittsburgh triumph.

That's why McGraw—trained Frisch believes Pittsburgh's sixth-place status of 1939 today looks like a springboard instead of a rut.

Telephone Girls Object To Latin Word Quiz

DETROIT (UP).—Five women telephone operators protested to the Detroit civil service commission when they failed qualifying examinations that included questions asking the meaning of the terms "et al" and "in re."

They contended they had competently plugged in right numbers for years and there was no need for them to know Latin terms used in business. Only 2/17th of the tests were concerned with switchboard work, they said. The commission countered that the examination was standard. But just the same it took the complaints under advisement.

Two-Ton Must Beat Baer Sans Aid of Jacobs, Who Performed Greatest of Managerial Feats

BY HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK.—Tony Galento continues to work at Madame Bey's famous training camp near Summit, N. J., but the place isn't the same. No Galento camp ever will be the same.

There is a missing link in the amazing chain of circumstances which put Galento, a fat and fantastic barkeep, in the ring with Joe Louis last summer.

It easily could be a vital one, for Joe Jacobs is dead.

Galento only supplied the music. Little Joe Jacobs wrote the words. Jacobs parlaying Galento and a keg of beer into a world heavyweight championship match unquestionably was the slickest managerial feat in ring history.

And Jacobs didn't stop there. He was not one to fail to capitalize on Galento jarring Louis in the first round and knocking him down in the second.

So it is not surprising to learn that Galento has for some time been signed to meet Louis again at Yankee Stadium in September.

All Old Two-Ton has to do is get over Maxie Adelbert, Baer in the

Joe Jacobs Tony Galento

Jersey City ball park, May 28. And if Jacobs, as smart a matchmaker as there ever was, hadn't believed the corpulent signor could do that on little more than courage alone, he would not have accepted the date.

GALENTO VIEWED JACOBS AS MAGICIAN, AND WITH REASON

BUT Galento, who is 30, had been knocked out and beaten innumerable times when Jacobs picked him up for want of a better meal ticket after several managers, including Jack Dempsey and Max Waxman, had given the signor up as a bad job.

It remains to be seen how Galento will go without his Svengali.

Like Max Schmeling, whom Jacobs shouted into the championship as the Perocious Frankfurter growled on the floor, Galento viewed the high-rolling Hebrew from Hell's Kitchen as a magician.

The shrewd Jacobs did the only thing possible with Galento... made him a throwback to the days when John L. Sullivan cowed barflies. Little Joe put Galento on a diet of beer and big black cigars. He made the Orange Oval a comic strip character.

If the signor had to be a joke, he'd make a joke out of the entire business.

While Jacobs was ruthless in building Galento, the Italian's present position is a striking example of the power of ballyhoo.

There was a strong bond of affection between Jacobs and Galento. Jacobs admired the over-stuffed proprietor more than any fighter he ever handled, perhaps because he was able to take him so far on so little.

LOUIS IS STILL MIFFED ABOUT JUDGE GIVING GODOY NOD

LOUIS' outdoor program now shapes up as Arturo Godoy at Yankee Stadium, June 27, and Galento in the fall, although neither the Brown Bomber nor his handlers are exactly crazy about the Chilean.

Louis likes to have the boys stand up straight.

This Godoy refused to do when he made something of a show of Smoky Joe in Madison Square Garden in February.

Personally, I thought Louis was extremely fortunate to get off without the loss of his title on the strength of a split decision following a very bad fight, but John Roxborough and Julian Black are still miffed about Tommy Shortell, the old lightweight and boxing instructor who was a judge, giving Godoy 10 of the 15 rounds and Louis only two.

For this "rank injustice," they threaten to make Mike Jacobs take the second edition out of New York, but they'll change their minds when the promoter once more reminds them that Manhattan is where the more important money is.

Meanwhile, Joe Louis and Mike Jacobs will miss Joe Jacobs almost as much as Tony Galento misses the man who made him, for—

Joe Jacobs was such a natural showman that he couldn't help beating the tom-tom for productions in which he had no interest at all.

Survey Shows Average "I. Q." For Criminals

CHICAGO (UP).—The average American criminal is as intelligent as the average American soldier, according to Simon Tulchin, University of Chicago psychologist.

The findings of an 11-year study, made available in Tulchin's book "Intelligence and Crime," assail the oft-expressed theory that criminals as a class are of exceptionally low mentality.

"Only criminals who commit violent crimes—sex offenses and murder—are inferior in intelligence," Tulchin contends. "But there are many criminals of superior minds—the perpetrators of frauds, for instance."

Cautiously, Tulchin arrived at another conclusion, that criminals are not inferior in intelligence to the general population.

"The intelligence quotients of penitentiary inmates are in close agreement with the army draft—a sample usually considered representative of the general public," the author writes.

Tulchin found 4 per cent of both criminals and soldiers were "definitely inferior."

board work, they said. The commission countered that the examination was standard. But just the same it took the complaints under advisement.

Narragansett Bay Span To Replace Historic Ferry

JAMESTOWN, R. I. (U.P.) — Completion of the new $3,000,000 Jamestown bridge, which will span Narragansett Bay from Saunders-town, R. I., to Jamestown, will retire the ferry across the west passage of the bay, which is said to be the oldest transportation system in the United States in continuous operation. Founded before 1670 by Gov. Caleb Carr of Rhode Island, and afforded a kings grant in 1700, this ferry has been in continuous operation ever since. Another interesting fact is that since its founding there has always been a member of the Carr family in the Jamestown-Newport Ferry service, the present generation being Miss Lucy Carr, clerk in the ferry office. The new bridge will be dedicated and opened to traffic in late June or early July.

During 1939, 700,000 more passenger automobiles were registered in the United States than in 1938, bringing the total registered during 1939 to 25,804,340.

Hobo Mission Odd Hub for All Walks of Life; Ex-Governor Was Once a Guest

BY ARNOLD DIBBLE United Press Staff Correspondent

ENNIS, Tex. (U.P.)—Two tattered "knights of the road" stood deep in argument in the "jungles" of a small Texas town. One was a veteran. Deep lines, like rings in wood, told of the years he had followed the hurly-gurdy.

Indian Had Big Roll

Among his visitors of the last 18 months was an elderly Ute Indian, who looked the part of being down and out, all right, but paid his fare the next morning from a roll of bills which "must have contained $1,200."

Not nearly as large a sum, but just as plentiful in bulk, was that carried by a 75-year-old pencil salesman. The salesman carried his entire fortune, $41.30, in nickels and dimes.

Justman, who manages the mission but never divulges the names of his guests, said his guest list included:

A produce man who at one time had been the head of his own company, which had a fleet of 15 trucks hauling produce.

Three doctors, among them one who had once been known as one of the most prominent surgeons in New York.

Seven newspapermen, one of whom had been the head of several publications.

The German piano player and the ex-governor.

A former police chief of Oklahoma City, who told Justman that he had shot Tulsa Jack, notorious Southwestern outlaw.

Wealth Also Represented

One of the guests was the son of one of the wealthiest families in Dallas.

His guests often flock to the mission by the family. The largest family group consisted of a mother and her eight children — all girls. However, the youngest came alone. He was a 13-year-old lad from the East who had no family connection whatever, Justman said.

Midland Group Attends Funeral

—Returning Sunday night from Phoenix, Ariz., where they attended the funeral of Mrs. Frank Norwood, was a group of Midland people including Mrs. Agnes Dietrich, sister of Mrs. Norwood, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Warren and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Van Huss.

Funeral services for Mrs. Norwood, former Midland resident, who died at her home near Phoenix early Friday morning after a long illness, were held in a funeral home at Phoenix Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Interment was also at Phoenix.

Mrs. A. E. Horst of this city, daughter of Mrs. Norwood, and Mr. Horst, both of whom were at Phoenix with her at the time of her death will remain there for some time.

Mrs. W. J. Glenn, mother of Mrs. Norwood, returned early Sunday from Arizona where she visited her daughter a few days before she succumbed.

Besides relative named, survivors include the husband, and a second daughter, Miss Ruth Norwood, both of Phoenix, three other sisters, and two brothers.

Flexible 'Scope Helps Medicine

CHICAGO. (UP).— Visual examination of the human stomach without surgery or X-ray soon may become a commonplace reality of medical science.

Dr. Rudolf Schindler of the University of Chicago has invented a flexible gastroscope.

To the layman a gastroscope is a medical telescope and is employed medically to permit visual observation and examination without resorting to abdominal operation.

The gastroscope is intricate. It consists of an elongated rubber tube containing a series of prismatic lenses, electrical wires and a tiny light bulb.

A single gastroscope, only 30 inches in length, contains 48 lenses and the tube itself is no longer than a man's little finger. And it is flexible.

Invented in 1932.

Realizing the practical limitations and dangers of a rigid telescope, Dr. Schindler conceived the idea of a flexible device in 1932 when he was a physician in Munich. Two years later the invention was introduced to physicians in America.

According to clinical staff members at the U. of C., the gastroscope has many practical applications:

It helps in diagnosis of cancer. According to Dr. Arthur C. Bachmeyer, clinic director, it is of major importance in diagnosing the disease in its early stages, revealing the cancerous tissue transmitting not only the color and shape of the lesion but its texture as well.

The gastroscope also has disclosed existence of different types of gastric cancer, and it is expected that further development of the gastroscope will aid in classification of these types, thereby facilitating treatment.

Two Maladies Linked

It has disclosed the connection between blood diseases and stomach inflammations.

Post-operative patients who develop new symptoms may be shown by the gastroscope to be suffering from renewed inflammation or ulceration, Dr. Bachmeyer said. The patients thus demonstrably are suffering from physical rather than mental disorders, he said.

In conjunction with X-ray it is the only objective method of direct examination of the stomach, Dr. Bachmeyer said. The gastroscope shortens time, required for examination and "makes possible the routine diagnosis and treatment of chronic gastritis, which for more than 30 years baffled scientists because it was impossible to diagnose."

without the aid of glasses was the oldest transient. One of his patrons now shears the locks of movie stars. Justman said he saw his picture in a movie magazine.

Justman's mission, a large, rambling structure, here, provides food in addition to lodging. Meals are ready no matter what time of day or night the bo arrives.

If his visitor has cash, he pays the regular price, $1 a day, room and board. If he hasn't:

"Well, pay me the next trip through. So long, bo, good luck."

Paul Harrison in 'Hollywood'

BY PAUL HARRISON NEA Service Staff Correspondent.

HOLLYWOOD.—Spring in Movietown is a good deal like a new Disney feature. It pays no attention to schedules but lags along, mixing its parts, gathering its full force of charming madness, finally to emerge at one bound and in spectacular triumph.

The weather isn't wholly responsible for the premiere of spring, but it helps. Comes a hot spell that lasts long enough to overcome nature's shyness, and everything fairly pops into bloom—studio gardens, Rosalind Russell's hats, Myrna Loy's freckles, Cesar Romero's wardrobe, and love all over the place.

Other events confirm the vernal advent: Errol Flynn and Lili Damita stop quarreling, Alice Faye rides around the lot on a bicycle. Twentieth-Fox announces that its fall crop of pictures will be the greatest from any studio in the history of Hollywood. Bette Davis gets hay fever.

Joan Crawford plays tennis in a pair of shorts that establish a new high. Ann Southern's new evening gown reaches an all-time low. A press agent writes a blurb in verse. Dorothy Lamour puts her winter romance (with Robert Preston) in storage and sails for Honolulu alone.

M-G-M announces that its fall crop of pictures will be the greatest from any studio in the history of Hollywood. A sparrow tries to build a nest in Jim Tully's hair.

FUR COATS, SKYROCKETS USHER IN SPRING.

ARLEEN WHELAN poses in fur coats for fall publicity pictures. Nancy Kelly puts on a bathing suit and straddles a skyrocket for Fourth of July art. Waitresses in drive-in sandwich stands switch from sleeks to shorts, and business picks up immediately.

The Warner Brothers announce that their fall crops of pictures will be the greatest from any studio in the history of Hollywood. Spring housecleaning in Beverly mansions brings to light several skeletons in the closets.

Greta Garbor goes to a night club and drinks something besides carrot juice. Eleanor Powell zees bicycling on the Sunset, bridal path. Studio writers leave the stuffy little cubicles where they have hibernated, blink at the bright sun and ask what month this is.

A horned toad crushes the Warner lot and is tested for "The Desert Song." Universal announces that its fall crop of pictures will be the greatest from any studio in the history of Hollywood. Rudy Vallee goes into a flower shop and orders three orchids, but leaves in embarrassment because he can't remember which gal he intended sending them to.

MORE SIGNS OF SPRING—NEW RHYME FOR LOVE

MARY PICKFORD tosses a party to celebrate her birthday. Buster Keaton smiles. Movie songwriters get into a joyous dither over the report that a New York etymologist has found a new word that rhymes with "love."

Paramount announces that its fall crop of pictures will be the greatest from any studio in the history of Hollywood. Boris Karloff gets up at 5 a.m. and sets out 120 zinnia plants before going to the studio to commit a triple murder.

Real estate agents begin advertising their spring line of houses, priced from $75,000. Anne Shirley finishes "Anne of Windy Poplars" just a jump ahead of the stork. Ann Sheridan takes a sunbath and an aviator circles around until he runs out of gas.

Hedy Lamour puts the top down on her car. Victor McLaglen lovingly sprays his rose garden.

PARTY AT THE RHODENS'

Senior League party will be held tonight at 8:00 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Rhoden Jr., 906 West Kentucky.

TO MEET AT HOTEL

A meeting of WPA representatives and others will be held this evening at 7 o'clock on the mezzanine of Hotel Scharbauer, according to Miss Josephine Sken of the welfare office. A committee will probably be appointed for Professional and Service Week which is to be observed by WPA.

GUESTS OF HANNAFORDS

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Bates and daughter of Odessa and Mr. and Mrs. Garland Hannaford and children of Big Spring were guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Hannaford here Sunday.

VISIT L. M. SHORTS

Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Short have as their guests her mother, Mrs. J. W. Hobbs of Sherman, and her sister, Mrs. James Reading of Dallas and the latter's daughter, Kay.

Midland Girls Shown In Camp Pictures

Sound motion pictures of Camp Waldemar at Kerrville were shown Sunday afternoon in the Crystal ballroom of Hotel Scharbauer. Midland girls who have attended the camp were shown in the films which were presented by Miss Ellen Easley, camp secretary.

Mrs. Alma Thomas, principal of North Ward school, who has been associated with the camp for several summers, will go there briefly this year before traveling north to the University of Wisconsin for study, and southward on a trip to Mexico via Panama.

Several Midland girls are expected to attend the camp this year.

Fox and the Cat attempt to rob Pinocchio of his gold, but he climbs a tree and jumps over their heads as they build a fire under it to drive him out. He runs quickly to the home of the Blue Fairy, where he falls in a faint. The Blue Fairy sends her Bearded Dog for the three doctors, Crow, Owl, and Talking Cricket, to learn if Pinocchio is dead or alive, but they all disagree. Four Black rabbits solemnly enter to bury him, so he decides that he will take the medicine Blue Fairy offered him earlier. He tells a lie, and his already long nose grows a foot longer, but Blue Fairy restores it when he promises to be truthful in the future. Later, he goes with other idle schoolmates to the Country of Playthings, where vacations begin on the first day of January and end on the last day of December. Leading such a lazy life, they all change into donkeys with long ears. Finally Pinocchio is swallowed by a huge Dog-Fish which is a mile long without counting his tail. Here he meets Geppetto, who has also been swallowed. They both escape from this plight while the Dog-Fish is sleeping with his mouth wide open, for he is troubled with asthma and palpitation of the heart. They reach land easily, for Pinocchio, being made of wood, floats without any difficulty and carries Geppetto on his back.

Act III. After journeying many weary miles, Pinocchio and Geppetto reach their old home, where the Blue Fairy, Schoolmaster, Talking-Cricket, Soldiers, and others are found. When they see that Pinocchio has really mended his ways, they forgive him, but, best of all, the Blue Fairy rewards him by turning him into a REAL BOY, with no desire to ever do wrong things again. Geppetto is very happy, for now Pinocchio is going to take care of him in his old age and is going back to
