British Move To Tighten Narvik Siege

German Garrison of 4,000 Holding Out Against the Allies

By Associated Press
British naval and air forces were reported today to be tightening the siege on German troops, numbering from 3,000 to 4,000, at Narvik in an attempt to counter the loss of prestige suffered in the allied withdrawal from central Norway.

Meanwhile, the British admiralty acknowledged the loss of the 1870-ton destroyer Afridi by Nazi bombers while conveying allied troops from Namsos. Two attacking bombers were said to have been shot down by British warships.

At Berlin, the German high command reported British artillery forces had been strengthened in the northern Narvik region, adding no more intense fighting had developed.

The high command also said "our troops have started an advance northward in the Trondheim region," hinting the nazis intended to accept the allied challenge for Narvik.

By Associated Press.
Heavier fighting on the Western Front was the loudest whisper of action in Europe's war last night while a spy plot in Hungary lent ominous tone to mutterings in the southeast.

The French high command reported for the second successive day the Germans had been repulsed Sunday morning in increasingly strong stabs at the Maginot Line in the Saar region. Three French advance posts were surrounded, but held their own in a sharp give and take until a French counter-attack drove off the raiders, the French related.

Arrest of nearly 200 spies, reported to be working for both France and the Soviet Union in territory which Hungary got from Czechoslovakia, was disclosed in Budapest.

The tip that smashed the ring was said to have come from the Gestapo, Germany's secret police.

There were reports of unusual German military activity in Slovakia and of Russian troop movements on the Rutenian frontier, coinciding with new expressions of ill will between Hungary and Slovakia.

Slovak planes Saturday dropped pamphlets over the Rutenian town of Kassa, exhorting Slovaks to be prepared for the "day of liberation" from the "Magyar Yoke," adding that "Hitler is with us."

Meanwhile, scattered developments showed that the war in Norway was not entirely dead.

The German official news agency, DNE, said small detachments of allied troops, apparently left in Norway by the hasty departure of the British and French last week, were pushing northward, possibly to attack German-held Narvik.

The German high command announced that "strong enemy forces supported by fliers" were repelled in new attacks on German units north of Narvik.

The Germans said their mopping-up operations in the remainder of Norway were proceeding apace, but that British fliers raided the Oslo airport Saturday night for the sixth time in a week.

A Norwegian report said German fliers Saturday bombed Kirkenes, in far northern Norway.

Two representatives of the fugitive Norwegian government, Foreign Minister Halvdan Koht and Defense Minister Col. Birger Ljunberg, reached Britain aboard a British warship for discussions with officials there.

The British government of Prime Minister Chamberlain was expected to be the target of searching debate in a two-day parliamentary session starting Tuesday, but the government's united front was expected in some political circles to forestall any drastic upheaval resulting from the unhappy campaign in Norway.

Nazi Sea Victory Denied.
The British admiralty denied Germany's boast of Saturday that a British battleship and a heavy cruiser had been sunk by the Nazis' air force. The Germans reiterated their contention almost at once.

Most Britons appeared still more concerned over the Norwegian reverses than over possible developments in the Mediterranean area. Uncomfortable Swedes, however, watched the southeastern situation keenly, knowing full well that any outbreak of war in a new quarter of the globe would ease their own tense position adjacent to Norway.

Birth of a baby daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Barton Kidd, who are now in Evansville, Ind., was announced today by the grandfather, Mayor M. C. Ulmer. The baby, named Helen Christian, was born at 9:15 Sunday night and weighed seven pounds. Mrs. Ulmer and daughter, Ann, are visiting in the Kidd home.

As Lions Convention Speaker Welcomed

Two Men Burned to Death as Hotel Is Destroyed by Fire

KILGORE, May 6 (AP)—Glenn Bassett, 44, and Wilmer Hughes, 23, were burned to death today in a fire that destroyed a hotel, cafe, clothing store and grocery store here.

Mrs. Juanita McKelvey jumped from a second story window and sprained both ankles. The fire began at three a. m. Origin was unknown.

Early Showdown on Oil Expropriation Fuss Believed Due

MEXICO CITY, May 6 (AP)—Informal quarters Sunday predicted an early show-down in the diplomatic discussion between the United States and Mexico over Mexico's expropriation of United States owned oil properties in this country.

They said the Mexican reply to the American request for arbitration of the controversy raised issues which would likely draw a firmly worded answer from United States Secretary of State Hull.

With publication of the Mexican reply, interest here shifted to Washington's reaction. Officials predicted Hull's forthcoming communication would indicate whether a basic change had taken place in the United States' "good-neighbor" handling of the struggle which grew out of President Cardenas' 1938 seizure of the American, British and Netherlands oil properties.

Congressman Freed On Charge He Sold Postal Positions

GAINESVILLE, Ga., May 6 (AP)—Congressman B. Frank B. Welch, Georgia, was acquitted in federal court today of charges he conspired to sell postal appointments.

The verdict also freed Welch's co-defendant, H. Grady Jones, accused by the government as a go-between for the congressman in the alleged job sales.

Anti-Trust Convictions Are Upheld

Twelve Major Oil Companies, and Five Officials Guilty

WASHINGTON, May 6 (AP)—The supreme court upheld today a decision by a federal district court at Madison, Wis., holding 12 major oil companies and five individuals had violated the Sherman anti-trust act by conspiring to raise the price of gasoline sold in ten mid-western states.

The opinion reversed a ruling by the seventh federal district court which overturned the convictions obtained in the federal district court at Madison and ordered a new trial.

Officers Seeking To Identify Man Found Dead Here

Officers today were seeking to identify a body of a man, discovered yesterday about five miles east of town, who had apparently fallen or been pushed from a train Saturday night.

It was believed the man had been dead about 15 hours before his body was discovered by a train crew which notified officers here. A crushed skull was blamed for the death.

The man bore no identification cards of any kind other than a small business card with the name of a Phoenix air conditioning firm. A telegram of inquiry had been sent there but no answer received this afternoon.

The victim stood five feet, one inch high and weighed about 130 pounds. His age was guessed at between 30 and 35. He had blue eyes and dark brown hair. Only mark of identification on him was a tattooed spider in the center of his chest.

Officers took fingerprints of the man and sent them to the Federal Bureau of Investigation in Washington in an effort to identify him, but admitted identity was not probable unless the man had a criminal record somewhere. No other clues were available to officers in establishing identity of the man.

Swedes View Moves In Mediterranean By Allied Fleets

STOCKHOLM, May 6 (AP)—Swedes aware that war on a new front would diminish the dangers of further incursions in Scandinavia Sunday night gave the keenest attention to reports of Italian and Allied fleet movements in the Mediterranean Sea and, in effect, seemed to regard the conflict in Norway as ended with a German victory.

Men close to the government, foreign observers, Stockholm citizens and the press voiced the belief that a Mediterranean conflict would greatly enhance the chances of Sweden and Finland for continued peace. Swedes also said the two nations ought to work together in pursuit of new trade avenues which would lead naturally to Germany and Soviet Russia.

There was no substantiation from Norway or in Stockholm of reports broadcast from London that the British who had abandoned central Norway has surrounded German forces in the Arctic ore port of Narvik.

News dispatches here told only of guerrilla fighting by small Norwegian units against the Germans around Roros, southeast of the west-coast Norwegian port of Trondheim, held by the Nazis.

The British war office reported operations were continuing in the Narvik area while a Paris official French advised said operations in northern Norway are proceeding "most satisfactorily."

A French war ministry spokesman said that both Allied fleet and land guns were shelling some 3,000 Reich troops holding the Narvik port. The spokesman declared that German planes attempted to relieve the garrison Saturday by bombing nearby villages. He added that the German position in Narvik is precarious and an early surrender was foreseen.

A Norwegian news agency report, broadcast in Stockholm, said Norwegian detachments defeated and drove back a German force after fighting in the Osterdal (Eastern Valley) Saturday, about 25 miles southeast of Storen, which is 35 miles south of Trondheim. Two hundred Germans were reported killed.

The Stockholm radio also quoted the Norwegian agency as reporting the capture of Roros, in the Osterdal 50 miles south of Storen, by the Germans. Last week the Germans were said to have penetrated beyond Roros but had been forced to fall back.

300 LIONS ATTEND CONVENTION

As District Lions Club Convention Opened

Claude O. Crane, president of the Midland Lions club, is shown above just after he had dropped his gavel this morning, turning the district 2-T Lions club convention here over to District Governor A. G. Bearden of Lamesa. Seated at the table is Miss Lynn Coleman, Bearden's secretary. Standing, left to right, Ralph Randle, Panhandle; George R. Jordan, Dallas; Sam Braswell, Clarendon; Julien C. Hyer, past international president, Fort Worth; Del Harrington, El Paso; Joe Pond, Big Spring; Rev. W. C. Hinds, Midland.

Model Luncheon by Odessa Lions Club Fetes Noon Crowd

Characterized as "a super-abundance" of entertainment, a model luncheon was staged by the Odessa Lions club at noon today at the Methodist annex building. Approximately 175 of the delegates to the district Lions convention here attended.

John Head, president of the Odessa club, presided, introducing Judge A. H. Henderson who acted as master of ceremonies, or program chairman. Singing was led by Pascal Buckner of Big Spring.

Speakers on the program were Lion Sam Braswell, past district governor and past director of Lions International, who chose for subject, "Live All of Your Life."

"Stuttering Sam" act under the guise of Olaf Johansen, a Lion from Norway, who also interspersed his speech with operatic singing, radio imitations and "nasal" musical numbers; and W. T. "Tanlac" Strange of Lubbock, who brought forth roars of laughter at his humor and then concluded his time with a stirring patriotic address.

Entertainers included the Tucker Twins of Winters, Virginia; Clary, youthful Odessa soprano, with Miss Killian at the piano; a boys' orchestra from Odessa high school; the Big Spring Melody Males; the Colorado Cowboy Band; an Odessa trio composed of Margaret Owen, Charlene and Norma Lee Bulley, high school girls; the Fairie Bros, youthful entertainers of Odessa; Elaine Williams, accordionist and "sweetheart" of the Amarillo Lions club.

Body of Girl Found On Lonely Road Near Co-Ed Slaying Scene

BELLEFONTNE, Pa., May 6 (AP)—Waylaid on a lonely road, Fay Gates, attractive match factory worker, was found brutally slain Sunday about 12 miles from the spot where co-ed Rachel Taylor died under similar circumstances five weeks ago.

The body—clothes and hair disheveled and bleeding profusely at the head—lay beside the girl's automobile on a muddy detour road about a mile from her home in a section known as "spook hollow."

Miss Gates, about 25, had driven two girl companions to their homes and was returning to her own home where she evidently was attacked. Her companions, Maude Racer, 17, and Ruth Robinson, 19, told police a "tan car" had been following them, the driver tooting his horn (See SLAYING, page 8)

Flynn Interviews The Candidates

John T. Flynn, famed economist and writer, has interviewed the presidential candidates, obtained their answers to the one big question: What's to be done to put an end to borrowing, to revive private investment, to create jobs in industry? Flynn presents the answers in six penetrating, exclusive articles, the first of which appears today in The Reporter-Telegram.

Responsibilities Of Individual Are Depicted by Hyer

Addressing a packed house at the First Methodist Church auditorium Sunday night, the Hon. Julien C. Hyer, Fort Worth attorney and former president of Lions International, exhorted his hearers to maintain the principles of Christianity on which the nation has been founded, and to maintain regard for the higher things rather than for material gain.

Reviewing the present European conflict and the unrest in other nations, not excluding that of the United States, he said "these countries probably would not want to be rescued, as they have become involved through seeking material gains. He said that in America there has arisen a standard of materialism which has influenced even education, and that the nation probably doesn't want to be rescued from this situation."

He called upon Lions and those of the audience to remember the true principles of Christianity and to realize that materialism cannot endure.

His subject, "Is the Business of a Lion a Lion's Only Business," was developed to show that each individual citizen has a responsibility to humanity as well as to his own (See SPEAKER, page 8)

Atlantic 1 Wicket-University Is Opener of New Ward County Oil Pool

BY FRANK GARDNER.
New pool for Ward county two and one-quarter miles west of the south end of the North Ward field was opened today by Atlantic Refining Company at No. 1 Wicket-University as it started flowing oil on drillstem test.

With total depth of 2,920 feet and packer set at 2,842, the testing tool was opened at 10 a. m. today. At 10:06 the well began flowing an estimated 20 to 30 barrels of oil hourly through 2-inch top-hole choke. It then was shut in to connect line to pits, and was opened at 11:35. Five minutes later, the well was flowing a solid 2-inch stream of oil into pits.

No. 1 Wicket-University is located 1,980 feet from the north and east lines of section 12, block 16, University survey.

Bulk of pay is believed coming from broken sand at 2,892 to 2,908 feet. The well had shown 400 feet of drilling fluid with heavy tar oil when drillstem test was taken from 2,745 to 2,840 feet, with tool open one hour and 30 minutes. Good showing of gas was present on test.

Gulf Oil Corporation No. 5 Wriston Brothers, southeastern Ward County, was drilling this morning was drilling past 5,988 feet in lime.

Kenneth Slack and Merry Brothers & Perini No. 1 Bird S. Hayes, western Ward Delaware well, yesterday killed 9,500,000 cubic feet of gas by pumping in mud through tubing and today was preparing to set 7-inch casing. Gas originates from the Delaware sand, and present total depth is 5,063 feet in sand.

Moss Area Trading.
It was learned today that John Y. Francis of Midland had sold to the Drilling & Exploration Company the northwest quarter of section 43, block 42, township 2 south, T. & P. survey, Ector county, for $20 an acre cash and $80 an acre to be paid out of oil. The lease is in the Moss area, recently opened by Forest Development Corporation No. 1 Paul Moss, indicated extension producer a mile and a half south of the Foster pool. Mr. Francis also sold, to John V.

Top Entertainment Feature of Luncheon Given by Amarilloans

Members of the Amarillo Lions club, bidding for the 1941 convention of district 2-T, today at noon gave a model luncheon in the Crystal ball room of the Hotel Scharbauer that was attended by an estimated 150 persons.

The luncheon was expressly model in that no "long-winded" speeches were allowed. Throughout the meal, entertainment was furnished by singers and various kinds of music.

Delaine Williams of Amarillo was the first entertainer on the program, giving several accordion solos as persons were taking their seats at the table.

With Roy Stockton, president of the Amarillo Lions club, presiding and Avery Rush of Amarillo serving as toastmaster, the full program got underway. The Melody Girls of Big Spring were next on the program and they presented two musical numbers before giving way to the Colorado City "Cowhands," who presented three numbers, including their own version of "Oh, Suzannah" by changing the words to "On to Colorado City" for the 1941 convention.

The Amarillo quartet of four girls followed and offered two songs that were loudly cheered.

Rush then introduced Sam "Stuttering Sam" Hunter of Amarillo (See LUNCHEON, page 6)

Interest High By Members of 47 Lions Clubs

Spirited Campaigns For District Gov't Add to Activities

Registrations at the eighth annual convention of district 2-T, Lions International, had exceeded expectations before noon today, with approximately 300 members of 47 Lions clubs, their wives and family members, on hand for the gathering which extends through Tuesday afternoon.

Opening with a special service at the Methodist church Sunday evening, more than 150 were in attendance for that session, with arrivals continuing through the night and early today. Many others are expected to be on hand for some part of the program and entertainment events before closing tomorrow.

The group assembled in the Crystal ball room of Hotel Scharbauer at 9:30 o'clock this morning for the first official session. Claude O. Crane, president of the Midland Lions club, called the meeting to order and group singing was led by Lion Horace A. Shaw of Amarillo. The Rev. W. C. Hinds, Midland Methodist pastor, gave the invocation.

Lion M. C. Ulmer, mayor of Midland, gave the visitors a spirited welcome to the city and proffered the services of the entire citizenship in making their time spent here a pleasant interlude. Equally enthusiastic was the response to the welcome address, given by Charles Dean, president of the Plainview Lions club.

President Crane then introduced District Governor A. G. Bearden of Lamesa, who took the chair. Entertaining numbers included a vocal trio from Big Spring, the Melody Males; and an accordion and vocal duo team from Odessa, the Fairie Boys; the Colorado City Cowhand Band; Dalhart Melody Males; the Tucker twins of Winters, official, Texas Lions Sweethearts.

Principal address of the morning was "Materialism" by Joseph H. Mims, Midland attorney.

Appointments of convention committees, announcements and other routine convention matters occupied the remainder of the morning session.

Three luncheons were in progress at noon, one at the Country Club for visiting women, to be followed by golf, bridge and a theatre party; a model luncheon conducted by the Amarillo Lions club, in the Crystal ball room of Hotel Scharbauer, and a model luncheon conducted by the Odessa Lions club, at the Methodist educational building.

At the afternoon session, opening at 2 o'clock, the address of the Hon. George J. Jordan of Dallas, vice-president of Lions International and the official representative of the higher organization to the local convention, was scheduled to be the high spot of the program. Also in the program was the "Neurology" ceremony conducted by Lion J. H. Greene of Big Spring.

Nominations of district governor for the next year were to be made at 4 p. m., with spirited campaigns under way by backers of Wally H. Fly of Odessa, and F. V. Wally Wallace of Dumas. Large delegations supported each candidate with fifteen Dumas Lions having come 400 miles in the interest of "Wally."

Bidders for the 1941 convention city honors were Amarillo and Colorado City, with the invitations to be extended at 4 o'clock this afternoon. A barbecue and entertainment is set for 6 o'clock at Cloverdale, delegates to be admitted on tickets given them when they registered, and this will be followed by the ball for the district governor at the Crystal ball room at 9 p. m. Admission also will be by special ticket.

Tuesday's session opens at 8 a. m. with the full program continuing until mid-afternoon when the 1940 convention adjourns. Sam M. Braswell, of Clarendon, past director of Lions International, will be one of the principal speakers Tuesday.

BACK FROM IOWA.
Ben Dansby was returned from Iowa where he has spent the past four months. He has completed his business there and is back in Midland to stay, he said today.

Man Gets "Seasick," Loses False Teeth

An out-of-town man who admitted he became "sea sick" last night and lost his false teeth without realizing it, was set for 6 o'clock at Cloverdale, delegates to be admitted on tickets given them when they registered, and this will be followed by the ball for the district governor at the Crystal ball room at 9 p. m. Admission also will be by special ticket.

Accompanying the ad was a $5 bill which will be paid to the person who will return the teeth. All the man knew of his whereabouts at the time he lost his teeth was that he was "somewhere downtown." The reward will be paid to the person bringing the teeth to this office.

P. S. The man was not a delegate to the Lions Club convention here, and has already left town.

SO THEY SAY

Relief Is Everybody's Problem

(The Taxpayer's Digest.)

Emphasis needs to be given to the fact that the people generally pay all the costs of all the relief activities of all the units of government. Whatever conclusion one may reach as to the value and necessity of relief on a grand scale, the fact that the people pay for relief ought to be stressed.

The New York State Assembly recently passed a law making it mandatory that appropriate signs giving credit to taxpayers appear on all public works. The idea is to place a sign saying "This Project Paid for by Taxpayers" at the site of every WPA project.

It wouldn't be a bad idea to adopt that idea here in Texas. It wouldn't be a bad idea for every state to adopt it.

Relief is a serious financial problem. It is the people's problem. They're going to have to grapple with it realistically sooner or later.

Scientists report violent submarine earthquakes eroding the floor of the Atlantic Ocean. These eruptions are small stuff compared to what's going on on the surface these days.

An old-timer is one who remembers the McNutt-for-President boom.

On his birthday, Hitler receives tons of scrap metal from the people, Germany having at last found a solution to the used razor blade problem.

By stopping off to get married, a New Jersey man avoided taking a train that crashed. There are those who would have preferred taking the train.

BY GLADWIN HILL

NEW YORK, May 6 (AP) — If you're a man, a wife, or a dog, you are the recipient of some unique new rights established by the courts last week.

A Philadelphia magistrate ruled that dogs don't have to keep to the right — that anybody who shoves them off the sidewalk for being leftist is guilty of disorderly conduct.

A judge in Waltham, Mass., ruled that it's a wife's privilege to go through her husband's pockets.

And then there was the case of a man who was hailed into court in New York City for publicly denouncing a woman's hat as a "baseket" in view of the present state of military the magistrate ruled, such denunciation is any man's right. And the magistrate was—a woman! Courtroom capers led the cavalcade of curioidities gleaned by your weekly guffazette.

Judge Martin Rosenberg of St. Louis found himself confronted by his own parking violation case.

He turned it over to another judge, who dismissed the charge, which relieved Judge Rosenberg considerably, because— "I," he said, "would have fined myself $3 and costs."

A Chicago judge found himself in nearly as cockeyed a situation. Confronted by a woman charged with illegal fortune telling, he said: "Well, if you're a fortune teller, tell me what I'm going to do with your case."

"You're going to discharge me for lack of evidence," the fortune teller said.

And that's what he did. And in a St. Louis case, the defendant was acquitted and the audience was held in custody!

(The spectators applauded the acquittal so vociferously that the judge made them stay in the courtroom an hour as a penalty.)

But the screwiest case was that of a Memphis man accused of being drunk. The judge dismissed the defendant—and found the plaintiff and one of the lawyers drunk!

BRING RECOVERY BY TAKING CHAINS OFF BUSINESS, RESTORING GOVT. TRUST-DEWEY

This is the first of six articles in which leading presidential candidates tell John T. Flynn, noted economist and writer, how they propose to bring about recovery if elected.

BY JOHN T. FLYNN NEA Service Special Correspondent

RECOVERY is the one great issue which transcends all others in this presidential campaign.

The economic system is stalled on dead center.

There are at least 10 million workers unemployed. Private investment is at a standstill.

The nation sinks from two to four billion dollars a year into debt. It is sustained only by the borrowing of billions.

This cannot go on. What will the next President do to put an end to the borrowing, to revive private investment, to create jobs in industry? I asked this question of all the leading candidates.

When I talked with Thomas E. Dewey of New York, candidate for the Republican nomination, I found that, like several other candidates, he too believes the atmosphere of the nation has to be changed before there can be recovery. But he put it differently.

"This economic system," he said, "is a delicately balanced one. It depends on confidence—not foolish confidence that there is a boom around every corner, but confidence in the integrity of the government and the integrity of business men. There are business men who are not honest, of course. But there are two million business men who could not operate unless they could trust each other's promises and agreements. But they must also be able to trust the promises and assurances of the government."

"Once let the idea get lodged in the minds of business men—manufacturers, merchants, financiers—that the government cannot be trusted, that it will not respect its promises, that it will say one thing today and another thing tomorrow and the system will get out of order like a watch that has a broken hair-spring."

"If men who have to invest money once get the notion that the President can change the value of that money at his own sweet will, that they may be suddenly subjected to some new tax attack, that some bureau may be turned loose on them, that promises of a balanced budget, of a breathing spell may be made one week and violated the next and the very atmosphere in which business is done becomes stifling.

"A cheerful, insouciant shifting from one policy to a contradictory one puts an end to that atmosphere of integrity without which business cannot function."

"When we add to this an atmosphere of hostility to business, no one need look further for the reason why a nation of 130,000,000 people, with the greatest endowment of money, credit, machines, resources in the world, stands still."

"WE DO WORSE THAN STAND STILL"

"BUT we do worse than stand still. Our great plant wears out at the rate of six billion dollars a year. We have to put that much new capital into it just to stand still. We do not. We fall short of this by a billion a year. We are actually going backward. If we keep it up we shall face a great crisis if we are not already there.

"The problem can be solved and solved surely by a government that realizes this fact and wants business to expand instead of contract. It will never be done by a government which has a vested interest in depression. It will never be done by a set of men who preach a doctrine of defeatism—that we are through building America, that our plant is overbuilt, that our economic system is doomed."

"Here then is what we must do: We must re-introduce integrity into government—organize a government that men can trust to do tomorrow what it promises today.

"Next we must elect a government which is eager to find the means of enabling business to function, which is not hostile to business—really wants to put business men to work.

"Then we must find means to aid small business men. There are 2,000,000 business men and 1,750,000 of them are little business men—men who employ less than 20 men.

"To help them we must do at least three things. We must recast the tax structure so as not to penalize them for expanding. The undivided profits tax was a terrible penalty on small business corporations which almost always finance their growth out of their profits. Fear of a return to that is a fatal deterrent.

"Second, we must make it possible for a small corporation to issue certificates without the terrible cost involved in the present SEC rules. A big corporation can put out a $25,000,000 security issue at a registration expense of 31 cents for $100; but a small corporation to register a $250,000 issue will be subject to an expense of $3.01 per $100. Therefore we must change the personnel of the SEC and recognize its rules.

"Finally we must provide credit institutions for small business men—private and corporate—from which they can obtain funds in that interim between short-term and long-term financing.

"WE MUST FREE BUSINESS"

"GENERALLY we must free business. There will be more jobs when business men hire more people. There are 2,000,000 business concerns which now hire 45,000,000 men and women. We want them to hire another six or eight million people. These people will not go to work until these business concerns hire them.

"Therefore the thing to do is to free these concerns—take the chains off—give them the signal to go. The New Deal has enacted 49 separate laws to hamper, restrict, regulate and slow up business. The job of recovery is to emancipate business from these chains.

"Of course in a great populous country there will always be abuses to be dealt with. We must deal with them. But we must deal with abuses without using them as an excuse for seizing power."

NEXT: McNutt.

BRUCE CATTON IN WASHINGTON

BY BRUCE CATTON Reporter-Telegram

Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—After months of investigation, the famous Union Electric case before the Securities and Exchange Commission is about to come to a boil.

Union Electric is a Missouri utility accused of maintaining a slush fund for hungry politicians. It may shortly become exhibit A in a demonstration of the unpleasant things that can happen to a public utility accused of dabbling in politics.

Having investigated privately for a year, SEC may now, if it sees fit, order a full-dress public hearing. If it proves to its own satisfaction that a secret slush fund was raised and dipped into, it could then:

- 1. Move to de-list Union Electric securities on the stock exchange.
2. Issue stop orders against the issuance of new securities.
3. Demand the filing of additional information.
4. Turn the whole business over to the Department of Justice for criminal proceedings under the utility act.

NEW UTILITY LAWS PROVIDE PENALTIES

SEC gets all this power because of the various teeth Congress put in utility-regulating laws since 1933. These provide heavy penalties for the filing of false or misleading financial statements; and the accusation is that the slush fund, built up by devious means, didn't show up in any of Union Electric's balance sheets.

Further, there are criminal penalties for willfully making such false or misleading statements; there are other penalties for violations of section 12-H of the Utility Act, which prohibits campaign contributions by a holding company or its subsidiary.

On top of that, Union Electric is in a jam with Missouri law, which provides that the corporate charter of a utility contributing to political campaigns may be revoked.

Two former Union Electric officials have been given sentences for perjury, because of false testimony given during the early stages of the SEC probe.

Because of Wilkie's prominence in the GOP presidential picture, this brought charges that the whole business was a "smear" proposition. SEC insists it doesn't think Wilkie had a thing to do with what was going on—if, indeed, anything really was going on—but somehow nobody listened to it much.

At any rate, the Union Electric case followed by Georgia Power, followed in turn by a quiet probe SEC is making into a similar utility in the Wisconsin-Michigan area, indicate that SEC is out to use to the full the powers given it under the famous utility act.

Wartime Timber Prices Rise 40 Pct. in Britain

LONDON (AP)—The cost of timber in this country since the outbreak of war has risen 40 per cent, although the timber has been in the country all the time.

The maximum prices fixed by the Timber Control have in most cases become the minimum prices also. Contracts have been cancelled and remade at the maximum prices officially allowed.

Moreover, it takes about seven days of form filling to obtain permission to buy $100 worth of timber. The purchaser returns the finished form to the area officer. After that he can go ahead and buy the timber.

It was erroneously stated in The Reporter-Telegram Sunday that Ross Williams and W. Preston Dickson, who succumbed here Friday, were partners in business. Although the two had offices in the same Bank Building suite, there was no connection in the businesses of the two. Williams is an independent operator and broker while Dickson was proprietor of an oil well report service.

A CORRECTION.

It was erroneously stated in The Reporter-Telegram Sunday that Ross Williams and W. Preston Dickson, who succumbed here Friday, were partners in business. Although the two had offices in the same Bank Building suite, there was no connection in the businesses of the two. Williams is an independent operator and broker while Dickson was proprietor of an oil well report service.

Scouts to Participate in WTCC Convention

BIG SPRING—Largest single marching group in the Youth Americanization parade, a feature of the WTCC convention, May 16, 17, 18, will be Boy Scouts from the Buffalo Trail and neighboring councils. The scouts' participation is being organized by Spurgeon Gaskin, Buffalo Trail executive, and C. E. Paxton of Sweetwater, council president. Details will be worked out at a conference in Big Spring tonight.

The Buffalo Trail council is holding its annual Roundup in Big Spring, a two-day affair, May 17-18, the dates coinciding with the WTCC convention. That will insure the presence of 700 to 1,000 West Texas scouts in the Americanization parade expressing the convention's theme, the "American Way of Life," and at the Americanization mass meeting following, at which the speaker will be O. H. Benson, national director of rural scouting.

Among the scout detachments in the parade will be Troop 33, from Rotan (pictured above). This troop has a fine record for scouting, having topped all A-class troops at last year's Roundup. It is also outstanding in community service. Its leaders are W. C. Carter, scoutmaster; Boyd E. Powers and J. O. Brown, assistant scoutmasters; L. E. Newton, troop committee chairman; and C. G. Campbell, J. B. Day, Joe E. Boyd and Lee Martin, troop committee men.

Midland Teachers Attend Sorority Banquet Saturday

Four members of Delta Kappa Gamma from Midland were among those attending the Founders' Day banquet of Beta Kappa chapter which was held in the Settles Hotel at Big Spring Saturday night. Going from here were Mrs. Alma Thomas, Miss Gladys Pinson, Miss Theresa Klapproth, and Miss Iva Butler.

Miss Pinson and Miss Klapproth took part in the commemorating ceremony in which a candle was lighted in honor of each of the twelve founders of Delta Kappa Gamma, teachers' sorority.

Supt. W. C. Blankenship of Big Spring was the guest speaker, discussing "Teacher Tenure and Retirement."

Miss Margaret Logsdon of Odessa, chapter president, presided and Mrs. Grace Loveless Jones of Stanton was toastmistress.

Fifty-three members and guests were seated at the banquet table which was decorated with the sorority flowers, red roses, and lighted by red candles in brass holders. The table was spread with a white cloth down which ran a wide streamer of red.

The banquet was the last meeting of the sorority for this year.

WHEN

Your Boy Grows Up!

All mothers and fathers want their children to have worthwhile employment when they grow up.

The Texas oil business is manned by Texans . . . the Texas boys and girls of yesterday. 225,000 of them earn good livings for themselves and their families—a yearly payroll of $271,000,000.

Oil pays good wages . . . maintains reasonable working hours . . . and offers opportunity for promotion.

Old age retirement and unhampered development of the oil business will provide many new jobs each year for our young Texas workers.

But the growing tax burden is a serious factor in wages and employment, since the Texas oil industry now pays taxes equal to 36 per cent of its labor payrolls.

Unwise laws and excessive taxes can retard and stop the growth of this industry which means so much to the future employment of our boys and girls.

EARLY LEAD GIVES CLOVIS PIONEERS 9-7 VICTORY OVER COWBOYS

Team Departs For Amarillo And Two Games

CLOVIS, May 6, (Special) —The Clovis Pioneers took a seven-run lead in the first two innings Sunday, was crept upon and tied by the Midland Cowboys in the late innings but finally pulled ahead to win a 9-7 decision and win the series two to one.

Grant homered for Midland in the sixth for the third run made by the Cowboys after Scaling's single had scored two men in the fifth. Four singles and a double in the seventh brought in four runs to tie the score but Walter Schmidt, Clovis catcher, doubled to bring Steiner home in the eighth for another run.

Johnny Stone, Clovis outfielder, singled to score C. Harrison in the eighth with the ninth run and sew up the game.

Left-handed Ernest Mitchell hurled the first seven frames for Midland but was knocked out in the eighth and his brother, Bob, hurled the rest of the way.

The Cowboys left here today for Amarillo where they will play today and tomorrow. They then play three games in Lamesa before returning to Midland Saturday.

The PAYOFF

BY HARRY GRAYSON
 NEA Service Sports Editor.

NEW YORK — Maurice Harris furnishes the newest evidence that the Giants could use a talent scout who knows a young ball player when he sees one.

Mickey Harris, the wiry southpaw who won his first two games for the Red Sox with such eclat, comes from Queens Village, right across the river... not far from Belmont Park.

Harris, who has been in professional ball only two years, spent two months at the Polo Grounds in the summer of 1937 trying to convince Bill Terry and his then coach, Tom Clarke, he could pitch.

Frank McCormick resides near the Polo Grounds. He was a violent Giant fan, but after taking a look at him, Terry advised Buck McCormick to stick with his job as a shipping clerk in an antique shop.

Two years ago the six-foot, four-inch McCormick took his place among the great first basemen. He has led the National League in total hits the past two campaigns, and in 1939 showed the way in runs batted in with 128 in helping the Reds to their first pennant in 20 years.

Terry still isn't sure he has a first baseman.

Washington Club Disagrees With Giants' Manager on Buddy Lewis.

HIS play with the Gastonia, N.C., American Legion All-Stars in 1932-33 earned John Kelly Lewis, Jr., a six weeks' trial and a western trip with the Giants in '34.

Terry told Buddy Lewis he was too slow and lacked pep.

Lewis has hit from .291 to .319 for Washington for four seasons.

He switched from third base to right field this spring to make room for Cecil Travis, who moved over from shortstop when Jimmy Pofahl checked in.

Terry would have been in sorry straits for a third baseman this spring had not Burgess Whitehead shaken off completely the effects of last year's nervous breakdown.

But to get back to the 22-year-old Mickey Harris, who so quickly took his place as a starting pitcher for the Red Sox.

Harris, Tired of Pitching Batted Practice, Returns to Amateur Ranks

"ALL I ever got to do at a sort of school the Giants ran in the morning at the Polo Grounds was pitch batting practice," says Harris. "Sometimes Bill Terry would show up, sometimes he wouldn't."

"I finally quit and went back to pitching amateur ball. I pitched for the Belair Civics in the Queens Alliance League.

"That was where Jack Egan, the Red Sox scout, picked me up."

Last year with Seranton, Harris led the Eastern League with 17 victories and only four defeats. He topped all rivals with 147 strikeouts.

He is not a big fellow at 5 feet 11 and weighing 167 pounds, but he has the speed, a crackling curve and poise.

Eddie Collins, Frank Frisch, Walter Hoyt, Lou Gehrig, Mule Haas, Tony Cuccinello, Hank Greenberg, Joe Medwick, Johnny Murphy, Bill Jurges, Buck McCormick, Buddy Hassett, Harry Eisenstat, Marius Russo, Phil Rizzuto and some more also were developed in the metropolitan area.

To Correct Faulty Golf Stroke, Start With the Hands and Do Not Experiment

Fifth of six informative articles by Jimmy Demaret, greatest golfer of the day and one of the foremost teachers.

BY JIMMY DEMARET
 Winner of the Masters

WHEN John Q. Dobb sees professionals in a major tournament hit tee shots 200 yards or more down the middle and bang second shots to the green, he calls it perfect golf. But there is no such thing as perfection in golf.

I don't believe any golfer, regardless of his score, is not faulty in some department of his game. Perhaps his putts are not going down. Maybe he is not getting that little hook which means a 20-yard roll on tee shots. He may not be picking up iron shots cleanly. There is always something.

How do you correct mistakes? How do you get your swing back in the groove? Well, I'll tell you what the playing professional does. He hies himself to the nearest practice tee.

Then, if he isn't satisfied, he consults a fellow professional. I've hit 50 balls or more between morning and afternoon rounds just to get my brassie working good again.

Above all things, don't experiment.

If your stroke is sound, don't change your grip, stance or backswing.

If these elements were sound before your trouble they must be sound after you find yourself off your game.

DO NOT TRY SEVERAL CORRECTIONS AT ONCE

HAND action is the cause of trouble 99 times out of 100.

To correct a faulty stroke, start with the hands.

Possibly you are gripping the club too firmly with the right hand.

Maybe one of your hands is in a bad position.

Possibly you are coming back too fast, or out of the groove.

Once convinced the hands and forearms are not the source of the difficulty, check your stance, then the pivot, and back to the hands again as they come into the ball, then the follow through.

Break down your stroke.

Check one factor at a time.

Do not attempt to make several corrections at once.

If you do, you'll wind up with the worst stroke you ever saw.

Once you're straightened out, mental attitude plays a big part through each round.

And your mental attitude can't be right when you are tired or Jimmy Demaret, idol of the caddies, always has time to give one a hand. Here he starts young Ray Ayles off with proper grip.

To have a good round, you must have the feeling you will play each shot the best you can play it, without thinking too much about results.

FORGET THE RESULTS WHILE MAKING SWING

YOU must be keen, but not too keen. Keep as relaxed as you can, which isn't always an easy job. It is much more difficult for some golfers than for others.

One of the more difficult things is to keep yourself free of outside distraction.

I try only to concentrate on the simpler things.

Be sure of enough body turn to the right hip.

Be sure to get around, well around, on the backswing.

Don't hurry any part of the swing.

In starting the downswing, let the body weight move with the swing, from the right foot on to the left.

If the backswing is made correctly, and you don't try to hit too quickly from the top of the downswing, there won't be much to worry about.

Just think of making the shot as well as you can, without trying to steer the ball.

A good swing will take care of the results you want.

So forget the results while making the swing.

Pistol Title Again Won by Texas Aggies

COLLEGE STATION, May 6. — Those Texas Aggies can do more than win a National football title, for the pistol team from Texas A. & M. College duplicated the feat of the grid team and went through their season undefeated and united to capture the national intercollegiate pistol championship for the second consecutive year.

To repeat as champions they issued challenges to every college in the United States which was listed by the U.S. Army as having R.O.T.C. pistol teams and then defeated all of the 20 schools which accepted the challenges.

Their score of 1425 of a possible 1500 fired the week ending April 27 was the best of the season and defeated the University of Wisconsin's 1310 and St. Xavier's 1387. The lowest Aggie pistolman shot an aggregate of 284 to best Wisconsin's best man by 17 points and St. Xavier's best by two points. In that match Louis Kenemer, a junior, shot a 288, another member shot a 285 and the remaining three tied at 284. Kenemer shot a 292 earlier in the season for a new college record and the team total of 1425 left a new mark for all future teams to aim at.

Teams defeated this season included: Ohio State, Penn State, Harvard, University of Illinois, Cornell, Arkansas State Teachers College, East Kentucky Teachers College, Michigan State College, University of Utah, Massachusetts Institute of Technology (M.I.T.), Yale University, Colorado State College, United States Military Academy (West Point), Virginia Military Institute, Iowa State College, St. Benavente College, St. Xavier College, University of Wisconsin, and Purdue University, and Oklahoma.

Utah gave the Aggies the closest call by shooting a score of 1396 as the Cadets hit for a 1402 total. Michigan State was another close match with the scores showing 1389 for A&M and 1380 for Michigan.

Aggies in 1933, was badly defeated this year.

Members of the team this year included: Bob Bauer, Jr., Dallas, captain; W. E. Lewis, College Station; Eugene Shiels, Dallas; C. A. Lewis, College Station; Burt Burns, Port Arthur; Louis Kenemer, Sulphur Springs; W. D. C. Jones, Temple; J. M. Singleton, Lufkin; and H. C. Warner, College Station.

The pistol team is recognized as official by the college and all members must satisfy the same scholastic regulations as any other team representing the college. No freshmen can be members of the team.

We, the Women

BY RUTH MILLETT

THE mother who wants her daughter to get along with boys and girls her own age (and what mother doesn't?) should guide her in the right path without ever letting the daughter catch on to what she is doing.

If her daughter realizes, she will become self-conscious and the whole campaign will be ruined.

To begin with, she should encourage the daughter to care about her looks. The further she is from being a raving beauty, the more important it is for her to walk gracefully, wear clothes that do the right thing for her, and faithfully follow the simple beauty routines suitable to a young girl.

Then she should make sure that she learns to dance exactly when the other young folks in her crowd begin to learn. If she starts with even a six months handicap, it will be that much harder for her.

And she should be encouraged to play at least one sport, and to play that as well as possible.

LEARNING DUTIES OF HOSTESS

If she has some talent, she should be encouraged to spend time on that.

Then, too, the mother should see that her home is a place where she can bring her friends any time—not just when she is giving a party.

She should give parties, though, so that she can learn to feel at ease in the role of hostess—a role she will have to fill the rest of her life.

And it should be impressed on her at an early age that it is as important for a girl to be liked by other girls as by boys.

A girl can be miserable for years over the inability to get along with young people. So it is a problem no mother of a young girl can afford to take lightly.

Gallahadion Upsets Dope to Win Kentucky Derby

Col. E. R. Bradley's Bimelech comes up from behind to give "The Colonel" his fifth derby victory, but cannot quite make it, and Gallahadion comes in a length and a half winner to upset the dopesters who had him rated a 36-to-1 long shot. Bimelech is running second, followed by Dit and Midland.

Golf Stylists To Find Tulsa Layout Tricky

TULSA, Okla. (UP).—The 1940 men's Trans-Mississippi golf tournament will be played over one of the toughest layouts in the country. It's one of the most beautiful, yet one of the most exacting of the nation's many courses.

It's perched high and has a rolling, sloping terrain. Many of the greens are as undulating as waves on a rough sea and the tournament entry of 200 to 250 players will find a 6,600-yard 18-hole trek. Southern Hills Country club of Tulsa is a youngster in years and fools the old masters in competition. Its clubhouse, course and equipment represent a $750,000 investment being augmented by a $25,000 improvement program to be completed before the tournament opens here June 13.

Tree-lined and well-trapped, the links has few fairway bunkers. Its par is set at 71 with a breakdown of individual holes as follows:

 Par out 444-453-434-35.
 Par in 434-534-544-36-71.
 Par Broken Only 3 Times.

The course is just tough enough that only three men among good, high-ranking veterans playing the links have bested part and one of them is the course record-holder, Bill Wotherspoon, Southern Hills pro who solved the maze with a 68. The others are Ralph Guldahl, top pro player in 1938, and Johnny Goodman, national open titlist, both of whom hit 70.

Among the golf notables in tournament competition falling to best perfect figures at Southern Hills are Horton Smith, Harry Cooper, Jimmy Thomsen, Dick Metz, Ky Lafoon, Lawson Little, Bud Ward and Don Schumacher.

Guldahl said after playing his first round, in which he three-putted three greens, that a national amateur tournament would not be won here with less than 292. When Bud Ward won the amateur in 1939 his score was 284.

The Trans ranks behind the National Amateur and the Western Amateur in national importance. It doubtless will be excellent for the Trans entrants—those who intend to compete in the other tournaments—to find such a links as Southern Hills to practice on. Setup Shots Tricky.

Of course, they may find room for an inferiority complex after they direct a second shot at a four-par hole and find that they've missed what seemed to be a perfectly simple target. But, on the whole, they'll find plenty of company for their feelings in their fellow-players.

The fairways are rather expansive for a championship course. But there also is a bit of acreage called "the rough," and one bad shot makes one need all his skill and extremely good fortune to find the green from there.

Possibly the toughest hole on the course is No. 17, a 325-yard setup that calls for an exceptionally straight drive and an accurate approach. If you over-shoot the green, you're back behind it shooting up a cliff from a blind lie. Trees and traps haunt you if you dub one.

Three five-par holes are on the links, and only one can be reached in two shots from tee to green. One extra-special hazard directly ahead of the green on one of these holes is a lake. If you're short of the green—you're in the lake.

The tournament is the second to be played at Southern Hills.

Well Formed. The comb cell of a honey bee is an engineering masterpiece. Each hexagonal chamber shares its part, it six enclosing sides and three-fold base, with nine other cells, with which it is in contact.

Only other was the Oklahoma State Amateur in 1939, and of 261 players only the champion, Walter Emery of Tulsa, former Davis cup player and national championship runner-up, cracked par in a week. Emery bettered it by two strokes in the second—shortened to 14 holes—round of the finals.

BORN THIRTY YEARS TOO SOON

Germans Continue To Harry Northern Norwegian Regions

STOCKHOLM, May 6 (AP)—German warplanes continued today to penetrate over northernmost Norway in such numbers as to indicate Nazi plans to make the victory in Norway complete to the last detail if possible.

Observers here believe the Germans will push an offensive against Narvik without delay, matching warplanes against the British fleet, and also try to force capitulation of such far northern points as Hammerfest and Kirkenes.

The farm population of the United States is estimated to be nearly 31,897,000.

Health Conservation Gaining in Country

AUSTIN.—"Especially where the young child is concerned, health conservation in recent years has represented a major interest not only of health officials and the medical profession but of civic groups also," Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, states.

"Educational efforts, public health activities and the direct influence of the family physician have emphasized the value of prenatal care, protection against the childhood disease hazards, sound nutritional programs, and the removal of remediable physical handicaps in the preschool child.

"The result is that today, as never before, the protection of child health occupies an important part in public and semi-public endeavors throughout the year," Dr. Cox pointed out.

"That children of Texas have an inalienable right to be well-born and raised healthy is self-evident to everyone. To deny the youngsters safeguards available through medical science would not only be unfair to the children themselves, but to the future of Texas. Healthy children set the stage for healthy adults. And it is the healthy, vigorous, vital and clear-thinking adult of the coming years who must carry on when the leaders of today no longer are active.

"In the child-health program parental interest is vital. Physicians and public health officials may point the way through education and correction of physical defects. The direct concern of the parent, however, is to see that the children are protected against the communicable childhood diseases, that physical defects, if present, are discovered early and remedied, and that nourishing food is made available. Without this personal interest, intelligently and generally applied, the child conservation program cannot achieve its goal."

President Opposes Bombing Civilians

WASHINGTON, May 6 (AP)—President Roosevelt, who has asked warring European nations to refrain from bombing non-combatants, pledged his support today for any international agreement endorsing that principle.

Writing to the annual convention of the American Red Cross, the president pointed out that the International Red Cross in 1938 urged nations to take steps "to prevent such outrages in the future," but expressed regret this had never been done.

Dallas Pilot Dies When Plane Crashes

NEWKIRK, Okla., May 6 (AP)—Herbert Brokey, 26, a Dallas pilot, who was attending the annual thunderbird aviation show at nearby Ponca City, was killed Sunday when his ship crashed into the roof of a schoolhouse five miles east of here.

Witnesses said the craft apparently developed motor trouble. It rolled about 60 yards after striking the school building.

STORY OF THE PLAY

The Indians of the tribe suffer as a result of a long continued drought. As the curtain rises, all enter anxiously, looking for signs of rain. They fear that the Rain God is angry with them, as he sends no rain. The efforts of See-All, the Medicine Man, to bring rain are unsuccessful. Storm Dancer, an old woman of the tribe, urges that one of them go to intercede with the Rain God. Dawn Boy, a young brave, volunteers to go. See-All, not wishing to be left out, follows him.

After many hardships, the two arrive at the end of their journey, exhausted. Spirits of the Rainbow, the Winds, Thunder and Lightning, greet Dawn Boy. At last the Rain God appears and tells Dawn Boy that the reason he has withdrawn his favor from the tribe is because the land they occupy was taken by force from a peaceful tribe. He promises forgiveness and the blessing of rain upon the fulfillment of certain conditions.

The tribe anxiously awaits the return of Dawn Boy. They fear he has perished. But Silver Dew is sure that he will return. The Water-Carriers and Hunters return from their tasks. All gather together at close of day. At last one is seen approaching. It is See-All who has returned in advance of Dawn Boy. See-All poses as their deliverer but is exposed as a fraud. Dawn Boy returns, successfully shoots an arrow so high that it does not return to earth, thus fulfilling the Rain God's requirement, and the curtain falls as the rain approaches.

The stage scenery was painted by the members of the art department of the Junior High School. Many of the properties used were made by the students of the seventh grade.

Nazi Bombs Lay Norwegian Village in Ruins

(NEA Telephoto.) The first picture of Norwegian war ruins was made in the small village of Rena, Norway, after the Nazi bombers had dropped hundreds of pounds of high explosives on the city. Germans were admitted to have caused the British forces to retreat in central Norway by their superiority on land and in the air.

Candidates for District Governor

To the constant roar of "We Want Wally" and to the tune of "Ding-Dong Daddy from Dumas," 15 Moore county Lions are boosting F. V. Wallace, top, president of the Dumas club, for district governor at the convention here today. Another candidate is Murry H. Fly, Odessa school superintendent, who also has a large group boosting his candidacy. Fly is shown at the right.

MIND Your MANNERS

T. M. Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

Test your knowledge of correct social usage by answering the following questions, then checking against the authoritative answers below:

1. Is it better to speak of them as girls or women when you are talking about persons in their thirties?
2. Is it good taste for an American to use expressions typical of the English like "Nice sort of chap?"
3. What is a better term than saleslady?
4. Which is preferred, drapes or draperies?
5. If possible, should you try always to top the other person's story?

What would you do if—
Your companion fumbles for the right word — and you know just what he is trying to say—
(a) Finish his thought for him?
(b) Keep quiet until he has finished his sentence?

Answers

1. Women.
2. No. It sounds affected.
3. Saleswoman.
4. Draperies.
5. No. It is a quick way of becoming a bore. Best "What Would You Do" solution—(b).
