Dykstra Accepts Director's Post For Army Draft

Senate Confirmation Is Expected Quickly For Noted Educator

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12 (AP)—President Clarence A. Dykstra of Wisconsin University accepted today the post of director of selective service and it was expected efforts would be made to have the Senate confirm his nomination shortly inasmuch as the draft registration is to be next Wednesday.

The 57-year old educator, who attracted national attention as city manager of Cincinnati, agreed to head the nation's first peacetime conscription system after the university board of regents granted him a leave of absence. It was disclosed earlier this week that President Roosevelt had asked him to take the post.

It was anticipated in military circles that Dykstra's nomination would go to the Senate Monday. Unless opposition developed, informed sources said, there was no reason it could not be approved the same day.

To Get $10,000 As head of the draft, Dykstra will receive $10,000 a year. At selective service headquarters, officials said everything was in readiness for the gigantic task of registering 16,500,000 men between the ages of 21 and 35 inclusive, for possible military training. One of the final steps was an effort to make sure that an estimated 4,000-000 migratory workers and itinerants were not overlooked in the tally.

While emphasizing that it was the duty of local officials to see that men were registered, selective service officials said they had appealed to federal, state and municipal agencies to cooperate toward that end.

Gambling Czar Of Chicago Is Found Guilty By Court

CHICAGO, Oct. 12 (AP).—The government's campaign against bet barons was capped today by the conviction of William R. "Big Bill" Johnson, alleged "czar" of Chicago's gambling, and five of his aides.

A federal court jury convicted them of conspiracy to violate the income tax laws.

Johnson, 45, tall, suave and dapper, was found guilty on all five counts of an indictment accusing him of failure to pay $1,887,864 in taxes on a 1936-39 income of $3,377,615. The maximum penalty would be 22 years in prison and a $50,000 fine.

Also convicted on five counts were Jack Sommers, James A. Hartigan, John M. Flanagan and William P. Kelley. They were charged with aiding the evasion and identified as house managers.

Found guilty on three counts was Stuart Brown, portrayed as the operator of the syndicate's currency exchange.

Three acquitted—Edward Wait, Andrew J. Creighton and Reginald Mackay—were acquitted at the conclusion of the biggest trial in the city's recent history.

Judge John P. Barnes set Oct. 17 for arguments on a motion for a new trial.

Prosecutors contended that Johnson was the "overlord" of a chain store style system that rivaled the "Federal Reserve Bank." They averred that it embraced 23 gambling clubs, a central "bank," six service stations, and a school were employees learned the fine points in handling dice, cards and wheels.

Johnson, who resides on a country estate once owned by the grain trade titan, Arthur Cutten, denied that he had a proprietary interest in the resorts and maintained that he was a professional "crap shooter."

Tom Mix Killed In Arizona When Car Wrecks On Detour

FLORENCE, Ariz., Oct. 12 (AP).—Tom Mix, hard-riding star of the silent films and noted circus performer, was killed when his automobile went out of control and overturned 18 miles south of here today.

Mix, traveling alone, was en route to Tucson, Ariz.

The accident occurred on a detour skirting a road construction site. Mix was pinned under his automobile.

Mix was dead when two highway employes, John Adams of Oracle, Ariz., and E. A. Armenta of Casa Grande, Ariz., discovered the overturned vehicle. The body was brought here.

As the colorful star of scores of silent western thrillers, Mix was the idol of millions of young Americans. In recent years, he has been the featured performer in circus-riding exhibitions.

Coroner E. O. Devine said Mix apparently was killed instantly. The will was no inquest.

Mix was carrying $6,000 in cash, $1,500 in travelers' checks and a considerable amount of silver. He also had several valuable diamonds on his person, police investigators said.

Mix's former son-in-law, Harry Knight, rodeo performer, lives here and the former film actor was a frequent visitor in Florence.

His badly wrecked automobile was towed to Florence.

Four persons were under charges tonight in connection with an alleged insurance fraud racket in the Rio Grande Valley.

Postal authorities have been asked to investigate.

Assistant District Attorney Arthur Klein filed charges of swindle today against Pedro Banda, 65, and his wife, Mrs. Felipa Banda, who are being held in the Cameron County jail at Brownsville in default of $500 bonds.

Charges of swindling over $50 and making false affidavit were filed against Francisco O. Garcia, 40, La Feria garbage collector and Mrs. Guadalupe G. Gonzales, 45, La Feria housewife.

North Pecos Interest Rises As New Ordovician Wildcat Announced And Another Deep Test Cores Pay Sand

By Frank Gardner Coring of 10 feet of oil-saturated, fairly porous Simpson sand by the Taubert, McKee & Siemonek No. 1 Mrs. Virginia W. Crockett and announcement by a Midland firm of location for a 5,500-foot test increased interest yesterday in Ordovician exploration in northern Pecos County.

Culbertson & Irwin, Inc. of Midland announced it will start drilling soon No. 1 Mary Heiner, 660 feet of the northeast corner of section 589, G. C. & S. F. survey. The drilling contract has not yet been awarded, but the well is slated to go to 5,500 feet unless production or water in the Ordovician is encountered at lesser depth.

Location of No. 1 Heiner was influenced by a well-known Permian structure in the area, on which gas and oil production have been developed. It is thought probable the shallow structure will reflect a similar condition in the lower horizons.

Culbertson & Irwin originally had a block of approximately 2,000 acres surrounding the well. Phillips Petroleum Corporation bought from them a spread of protection, creating Texas Pacific Coal & Oil Company donated some leases, and Anderson-Prichard Oil Corporation donated acreage out of its own block farther south and also bought a spread close to the new well. No. 1 Heiner is nine miles west and slightly south of the Apco pool, which produces from the Ellenburger, lower Ordovician, dolomite.

Crockett To Drill Test In the McKee area near Imperial in northern Pecos, Taubert and associates' well has reached to bottom at 5,283 feet in shaly lime and now is preparing to take drillstem test. Wall-packer will be set opposite hard lime section above 5,270 feet. After drilling into Simpson, middle Ordovician, sand pay at 5,270 feet, No. 1 Crockett was cored from 5,271-83 feet, a 20-foot core-barrel being employed. Five feet of oily, fairly porous sand was recovered. Second core was from 5,283-93 feet, with recovery of 12 feet. Extra two feet were portion of core cut in run from 5,271-83 feet which core-catcher had failed to hold. Top foot was fine, oil-stained sand, and the rest shaly lime. Fast drilling time indicated about 10 feet of sand having been logged.

The Taubert et al well is located 660 feet out of the southwest corner of the Crockett tract in section 4 1/2, block 3, H. & T. C. survey. Three years ago, Magnolia Petroleum Company and Tex-Mex Petroleum Company were in the area.

President Voices Momentous Words Before Audience At Dayton, O.; Navy And Air Force Are Pledged

Roosevelt Renews Assurances Of Help To Britain And Insists On Peaceful Use Of Atlantic And Pacific Oceans For Trade

DAYTON, O., Oct. 12 (AP).—President Roosevelt enunciated a policy of total defense of the Americas against a total attack from any segment of the world tonight and pledged the United States Navy and air force to the defense of all the Western Hemisphere.

The President's address, one of his most momentous declarations on international policy, was broadcast to every nation of the hemisphere.

He said that this country, as in 1798, insists on the peaceful use of the Atlantic and Pacific for trade and commerce. He said the Americans nations were united in their determination to resist the threats of dictators and rejected the doctrine of appeasement.

He renewed assurances that Britain would receive all aid short of war.

He voiced confidence in the ability of the Americas, bound together in the spirit of good neighbors, to resist any infiltration of "alien political and economic ideas which destroy our freedom and Democracy."

"When we speak of defending this western hemisphere," Mr. Roosevelt declared, "we are speaking not only of the territory of north, central and South America and the immediately adjacent islands. We include the right to peaceful use of the Atlantic and Pacific oceans. That has been our traditional policy."

"We of the Americas still consider that this defense of these oceans of the western hemisphere against acts of aggression is the first factor in the defense and protection of our own territorial integrity. We reaffirm that policy lest there be any doubt of our intention to maintain it."

The address was made from a dining car as his special train stood in the Dayton station. It combined a stinging critique of the methods of what he termed totalitarian and dictator nations with a firm declaration of the determination of the United States to prepare for war as the best insurance of continued peace.

Denounces Battle Cry The chief executive said that "divide and conquer" had been the battle cry of the totalitarian powers in their war against Democracy, that it had succeeded in Europe, but that "on our continent it will fail."

"The core of our defense is the faith we have in the institutions we defend," the president asserted. "The Americans will not be scared or threatened into the ways of the dictators who want us to follow. No combination of dictator countries of Europe and Asia will win us in the path we see ahead for ourselves and for Democracy."

"No combination of dictator countries of Europe and Asia will stop the help we are giving to almost the last free people fighting to hold them at bay."

"That, in its essence, appeared to be his answer to the creation of the German-Italian-Japanese alliance. "We arm to defend ourselves," the president said. "The strongest reason for that is that it is the strongest guarantee for peace."

Willkie Declares "Punitive Laws" Block Recovery By The Associated Press Wendell Willkie finished a campaign through industrial New England yesterday with a charge that "punitive, restrictive laws" blocked the nation's economic recovery, while in Ohio campaign—conscious crowds greeted President Roosevelt.

The Republican nominee told a Lowell, Mass., audience that the government should prevent "dirty play" in the country's economic life, but that at the same time there should be fixed rules "which can't be changed in the middle of the game."

"I would like to see the competitive teams of business start to play again," Willkie said. "I want them to play under rules. I want the rules to make the game faster and cleaner instead of stopping it altogether."

President Roosevelt traveled through Ohio during the day, visiting army and air bases and getting ovations from crowds.

Both Democrats and Republicans joined the Roosevelt party in Columbus. Republican Governor John Bicker welcomed the President and then with Floyd P. Green, the Re-

"Big John" Whozit was born right here in Midland—enough years ago that he recalls when the petroleum industry first invaded this section of the country. He went to the Midland public schools and attended Mosely's private academy. After his formal educational period, he set out in the jewelry business in which he stayed eight years. However, in 1923 he turned from tangible investments to the intangible, and has been handling insurance and real estate ever since. When the United States got into the first World War, Mr. Whozit was the correct age, so he got an expense-paid tour to France for almost two years. Since returning, he has been a member of the American Legion Post No. 19, the Woods W. Lynch post. One of Midland's foremost boosters, he is always ready to give his time and energy for the building of a greater city. He belongs to the Rotary Club, the chamber of commerce, the Masonic Lodge, and is an outstanding vocalist. He has served on the chamber of commerce highway committee for six years. He is a deacon in the Baptist Church. Mr. Whozit and his associates will appear together later on the Get-Acquainted page of The Reporter-Telegram. Yesterday's Mr. Whozit: Bill Collins.

On Whom Does U. S. "Put the Touch"?

Uncle Sam—which means the United States government, which means you and your neighbor—is now about 50 billion dollars in the red.

To get a rough idea of how much money that is, consider the fact that there are only about 6 billion dollars actually in circulation in the United States today. To get a clearer conception of America's debt, just do a little simple dividing. You will discover that every man and woman and child in the country, as part of the government, owes somebody else about $385.

Whom do we owe? Where did Uncle Sam get all this money in the first place?

Creditors for more than half of the national debt are holders of treasury and savings bonds. More than 30 billion dollars worth of such bonds are now outstanding.

Another way in which Uncle Sam has managed to get his hands on active capital is to take over the reserves in pension funds, including payments of workers and employers to the Social Security kitty, and to deposit bonds in their place. Up to now, this procedure has netted the government $8,900,000,000.

Short-term notes and bills, sold to banking institutions, have brought in $7,682,000,000. The government is especially fond of this method of borrowing because the interest rates are low—often only 1 per cent. Only trouble is that short-term paper runs out within anywhere from one to five years, and the notes must be redeemed.

Banks also hold $1,808,000,000 in adjust service certificates.

The remainder of the public debt—$5,788,000,000—is held by citizens in the form of guaranteed obligations. About 80 per cent of this sum is in bonds paid in exchange for mortgages on homes and farms.

There will be no budget-balancing in the middle of a defense program. But suppose the federal government suddenly decided it would wipe its slate clean by taking the deficit out of the national income for one year, how would you come out?

Last year the national income was about 70 billions. In addition to your normal taxes, you would have to pay Uncle Sam about 71 per cent of your income for a whole year. That is where national finances stand right now.

Bundsmen In Defense Industries

It has been whispered lately that members of the German-American Bund are having practically no trouble at all finding spots in the nation's defense industries. It has lots of people worried.

It's hardly likely that all Bundsmen are agents of the Nazi government, especially commissioned to commit acts of sabotage against America's defense machinery. Yet, a munitions plant hardly seems the sort of place in which a professed Hitler-worshiper ought to be working. Even though you may give a Bundsman the benefit of every doubt, you could hardly expect a man to work with great zeal in the manufacture of any war equipment that may conceivably be used some day against a dictatorial government to which he pledges his real allegiance.

Most citizens would feel a lot safer if they could be assured that defense plans were manned by American-loving Americans.

SERIAL STORY

NEW YORK JUNGLE

BY WRAY WADE SEVERN

COPYRIGHT, 1940, NEA SERVICE, INC.

YESTERDAY: Adam is dead, but Marta has only fainted. Revived, she tells Sidney she knows Adam is dead. Nella suggests her uncle may have slipped, impaled himself on the scimitar. But there is a bullet hole in his shirt front. Sidney orders all of them to remain together until police arrive.

MOTIVES FOR MURDER Chapter V

THEY waited in the library for the police, while the storm continued in full fury. Rain beat against the windows. The heavens were a battleground of light and sound. Marta lay on the sofa, her long gown trailing to the floor, while the others tried to make conversation. Braitwood called on each one of them for a detailed account of all actions from the moment the lights in the Jungle went out until the men returned with candles.

Pat and Nella said they had covered their eyes against the lightning; Gundrum and the valet had crossed to the table for matches, neither having any in his pockets. Hugh and Sidney had remained near the door on guard. Apparently no one had been looking toward the lions.

Fat said that Marta had become alarmed when the men remained upstairs so long. Adam had not spoken to them, and they had failed to hear Hugh suggest that he remain with them so they thought he had gone with the rest.

Finally Marta had announced she was going to find out what had happened. They had tried to dissuade her, but she had insisted and had left the table to grope a way through the darkness to the door. Then, they had heard her scream. Marta remained silent.

Although Sidney had telephoned police headquarters as soon as they came upstairs, the officers did not arrive. Probably, he reasoned, the storm had made roads almost impassable. Static would hinder radio reception, if a patrol car happened to be in the vicinity.

"There's nothing to do but wait," the attorney said.

SUDDENLY Nella burst out, "I smell smoke." Hugh smiled. "Nonsense. You're always smelling smoke, Nella," he said.

"But I do smell something burning," the girl insisted. "Don't say that I've a neurosis about smoke. The house may burn down if you do."

"A time-honored method of destroying evidence is by fire," Sidney conceded. "I can't smell smoke myself, but Nella's senses may be keener than ours. It will do no harm to make sure. And none of us has been smoking since—since dinner."

"I look in Jungle. Mr. Braitwood. Maybe burnt match drop on animal's hair down there." "No, Toog!" Sidney said. "Gundrum, will you examine my gun? Notice that it has not been fired. Then run your hand over me and" assure yourself that I'm not carrying any other weapon. Do the same with Hugh."

"My gun had but the one charge, and I fired that at the lock as the cylinders will prove," Hugh added. Gundrum searched them.

"Just as you said," he announced. "Will you do the same for Toog and me? Then if there is a fire and we have to separate we can vouch for each other." No one suggested searching the women.

"Hugh and I will look for fire together," Sidney said. "That is, if you are all satisfied that we should."

No one objected. The two men retraced their way to the Jungle below.

The same darkness enveloped the place. Only the tiny flame under the percolator indicated the table; the animals and other pieces of furniture were shut out by the wall of blackness. Hugh picked up two candles, lighted them, and handed one to Sidney.

"Why should Pat have used that antiquated percolator?" Sidney asked.

"I remember using an electric contraption in the past," Hugh was puzzled.

"Odd, too," Sidney went on, "that only one fuse blew out in the entire house. You know, Hugh, if an electric percolator had been used that flame would not be there."

"Obviously, but where is the significance?"

"There you have me," Sidney confessed. He gazed about the room.

"ORIGINALLY the Jungle was two rooms," Hugh explained. "Adam had the partition removed. That's why the fireplace is in that brick pillar in the center of the Jungle. It may be there are two fuse boxes. There are two light switches. Adam planned to have all new wiring installed down here. But he never did. This is out of date, wires exposed..."

He pressed a button in pillar near the lions and got no result. Then he tried the switch next to the door. A flood of mellow light filled half the room.

"Toog must have turned off the lights when he started to put in fresh globes. He was just putting them in when he came down from the ladder to help Nella open the door," he said.

"Naturally, when the lights went off he would suppose the entire system had been struck," Sidney suggested. "I recall that that happened in a storm when I was visiting here last year. He hurried to inspect the room more closely."

"Nothing is burning here," Hugh said. "Nella is marked by fire. She was badly burned as a child. She often imagines she smells smoke."

Braitwood nodded, paused before the figure of a huge ape. "I never could endure that orang, Hugh. He's an evil brute. Could a man possibly be concealed inside him?"

"The big engineer half smiled. The fellow is solidly stuffed," he replied. "Humans are so differently built they won't fit into animal forms without theatrical devices."

HOLDING his candle high, Sidney made a tour of the windows. They were set high in the wall, all but flush with the ceiling.

"Hugh!" he called. "Here's a broken pane." He pointed up at a broken window.

"A shot could have been fired through this window. It is in direct line with Adam and the coffee table. He might have been outlined."

Adam is facing the wrong way for a hit, Sid," Hugh pointed out. "Though he may have turned," Sidney held his candle over the block against which the dead man still leaned. "There are no marks on the waxed surface to show that he did turn around."

Snooping he examined the gun which had lain so close to Marta's outstretched hand, though he avoided touching it.

"This gun is cocked!" he exclaimed. "Would you believe that possible?"

"Adam would have cocked it readily," Hugh reasoned. "These guns are old. They don't handle readily. This one must have fallen in such fashion that the hammer didn't hit the floor. Seems impossible, but apparently that is what happened."

"It will be tough for all of us when the police get here, Hugh," Braitwood reminded the engineer. "Except you and me, everyone present has what a clever criminal lawyer could construe as a motive for this murder."

Hugh nodded. He looked pale and disturbed. "Marta and Gundrum, and Pat, too, may have been actuated by jealousy. Nella will inherit the estate, I suppose."

"Adam's wife will inherit, too," Sidney reminded him. "But it may be that this very wealth of motives will prove a shield."

"It must have been someone from the outside," Hugh said heavily. "I can't believe otherwise, Sid. I won't believe otherwise."

YOUR NERVES

This is one of a series of special articles revealing typical cases of nervous and mental disorders and their treatment through thought control as carried out by the author and his associates at the Boston Dispensary, famous charitable health clinic.

By Winfred Rhoades

IF you are going to derive lasting benefit from this series of articles you must learn the art of voluntary relaxation—physical, mental, and emotional.

During the last 150 years man has been obligated to deal with more new ideas, more new inventions, more acceleration of the pace of life, more changes in the conditions of life, than during hundreds of years before, and perhaps thousands. The complexities of life—business life, economic, political, and international life—has developed faster than man's nervous strength. The agitated emotions cry out for a bit of calm, the strained body cries for some new vigor, the starved soul for some kind of real sustenance.

Speed at work, at play, speed in thinking and feeling, speed even in sleep—incessant speed lays waste the body's powers and keeps it from storing up reserves. The nervous system needs periods of relaxation, the digestive system needs them, the mind, the emotions, the spirit—the whole man needs them.

You can learn to relax. You must learn to relax. You can make your body just as responsive to the idea of relaxation as it is to the idea of dynamic exertion. If you tell your feet to press down on the floor they do so. If you tell them to rest lightly on the floor they do that. You can teach your entire body to be equally responsive to the power of thought, and to be immediately so.

Lie down upon your back on a hard couch or on the floor, or, if that is not possible, sit comfortably in a chair. Then close your eyes; the mere closing of the eyes suggests relaxation and rest and peace, while it blots out distracting sights and helps to prevent distracting thoughts. Breathe deeply and quietly: slow, full, deep breaths that reach all portions of your lungs. That also helps to relax the body and to induce the mood of peace.

Then, beginning with your toes and continuing up to your face, pick out each set of muscles in succession and tell them to relax. Concentrate your mind upon each set of muscles until you feel the tenseness go and limpness take its place.

When you have thus taken each set of muscles separately in that fashion talk to your whole body. Say: "Let go—relax—rest!" Say it several times, not vocally but mentally. Then say: "I am heavy; my legs are heavy—my trunk is heavy—my arms are heavy—my head is heavy. My whole body is heavy. Oh! how heavy I am." After that say: "Relaxation and peace—quietness and confidence—power through repose."

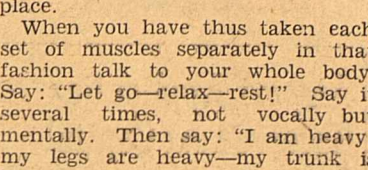

Say the words mentally, and say them slowly. Then consciously open your whole being to the life and vitality that enfold you continually, and draw them in. Take at least 10 minutes for this twice a day, and better still take 15.

Thus you help yourself to get free from nervousness, irritability, depression, fear, and other mor-bific emotions, and at the same time to get relief from your pains and other physical symptoms, and to build up in yourself a new ability to meet the challenge of life.

Incessant speed wastes the body's power, keeps it from storing reserves.

Relax. Sit comfortably, close your eyes, breathe deeply and quietly.

Massed Parachute Jump

This spectacular photo of a mass jump by Soviet parachute troops was taken during the recent celebration of Aviation Day at Tushino, near Moscow. First to introduce this technique in modern warfare, the Russians are still developing it, following Germany's effective use of "chute" troops. Note that many jumpers are using twin parachutes, possibly to permit carrying heavier armament or additional equipment.

U. S. To Sit Tight In Philippines for Next Few Years

The Philippine question is Un-Sam's hot potato in the Far East boiling kettle. Peter Edson, director of NEA Service, who has completed a Pan American tour of the south Pacific, highlights the Philippine situation as of today, in two articles, of which this is the first.

Peter Edson, NEA Service Director, Manila, Philippine Islands—The Philippine Islands are the hot potato in the Far East boiling kettle. Peter Edson, director of NEA Service, who has completed a Pan American tour of the south Pacific, highlights the Philippine situation as of today, in two articles, of which this is the first.

Speaker Yulo is able to learn concrete about his unusual and more important mission. He will have something there most of the American people most of the Filipinos themselves don't yet know.

The whole problem of the Philippines is one big long series most unanswerable questions. The Philippines want independence?

The United States want the Philippines like the bushel potatoes they are? The Philippines want to cut loose, and the U. S. guarantee their independence, spending a few billion dollars?

Will the Philippines ever be independent? The United States cut loose the Philippines, will the Japanese gobble them up?

Is the answer to the last question probably the easiest one of the bunch to answer, and it is very simple, "Yes."

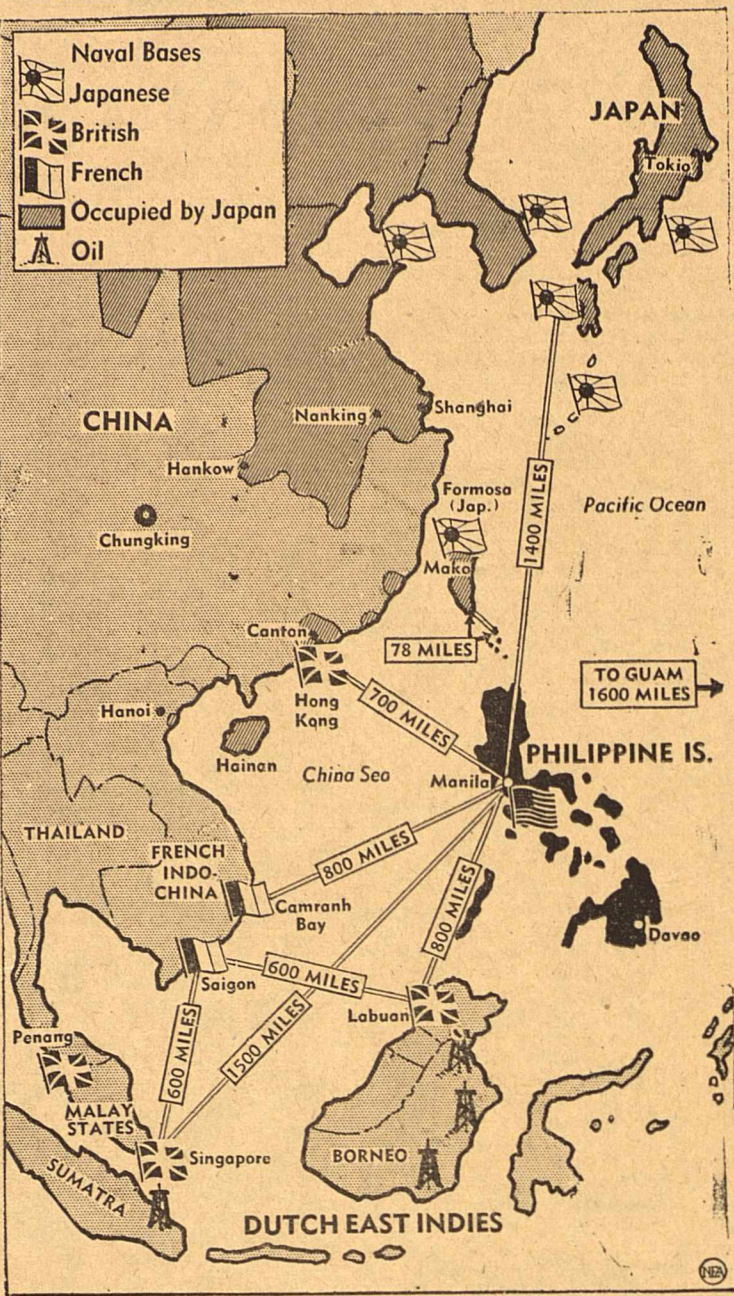

CHINESE AND CITIZENS

The story of Japanese filtration of the Philippines has been told in the past. The northern-most of the Philippines is only 78 miles from Formosa, southernmost is now restricted, but over the Japanese have built up an anti-colony in Davao, southern Mindanao, where they raise things that rich countries raise, in a soil so fertile and a so hot that it will grow three of corn in a little over a year. These Japanese make good citizens. They work like bees, they know how to get along with Filipinos, they are law-abiding and they are good. Japanese good-naturedness pour into the islands times—official overseers, trade tourist bodies, delegations of selected students on vacation, serve conditions. All of them apparently, building up progressive sentiment and looking to stay when they can walk in and themselves.

There is loose talk among some means long resident in the islands, to the effect that the Filipinos really like the Jap better than white man. But to offset that, is good substantial talk from the Filipinos that they don't want to be cut loose from the United States, in 1946 or any time thereafter. This talk has crystallized into a movement with a name, the Re-examination Movement.

A number of the leaders of the Re-examination Movement to find you will hear surprising things. These leaders are, they or less openly admit, the Tories of the Philippines. They include a number of high government positions. There are business men, planters, bankers, mine operators, professors, newspapermen and a few others. These are the men who, in 1946, 70 per cent of the Philippine trade of about $250,000,000

Map shows key placing of Philippines in Far East strategic lineup.

000 is with the United States, just don't want to see it kicked out the window for the Japanese to pick up.

POLITICAL FOOTBALL

THEY further maintain that the Independence act was passed too soon, that the Filipinos don't really understand its consequences, and that the status quo of U. S.-Philippine relations should be maintained for some years to come. Leaders of the movement have in recent months openly made speeches on the floor of the National assembly to further this point of view. A few years ago it would have been political suicide to espouse openly this cause.

The most confusing point about the entire situation is that the Independence issue has been kicked around like a political football by the Filipino nationalist leaders and like an economic football by American business men and politicians so short-sighted as to be almost blind. The result is a Grade A mess which is the Philippine problem.

Reconsider, for a moment, just what the Philippines are. The entire archipelago consists of 7000 islands, 466 of which are a square mile or larger, 4600 of which are still unnamed. Their total land area is slightly larger than Great Britain, slightly smaller than Japan. They stretch 1150 miles north and south, 660 miles east and west. They are inhabited by 16,000,000 people who produce for export principally gold, sugar, copra, hemp, cocoa oil and tobacco.

To weld this scattered semicivilization, the Filipino leaders had to have an issue. They made that issue Nationalism, and Uncle Sam altruistically encouraged them in this ambition.

BEST COURSE: SIT TIGHT

AIDING and abetting these nationalists has been an American lobby made up of four strange bed-fellows:

1.—The sugar lobby, which resented and would like to freeze out competition from Philippine sugar.

2.—The dairy products lobby which resented the competition that cocoa oil, going into the manufacture of margarine, gave to U. S. dairy products.

3.—The pacifist lobby which fears the Philippines may lead us into war with Japan.

4.—The isolationist bloc which would have the United States get out of every inch of land not North American, and stay out.

All these elements combined, in 1934, to obtain passage of the "Independence act." There is provision in the act that a conference shall be called in 1944 to consider how trade shall be conducted if independence is granted, fully and finally, in 1946. But the whole problem of Philippine independence can be reconsidered at this 1944 conference if both the United States and the Philippines signify they want the act repealed. If neither signifies any desires, the law will stand as it is on the books now, and the U. S. will then kiss the Philippines goodbye.

Solving the problems of the Philippines probably involves sitting tight for the next four years. The result of war in Europe, the possibility of more trouble in the Pacific, will have no small bearing on the outcome, regardless of internal affairs.

Stidham Declares Longhorns Best His Sooners Have Faced

DALLAS, Oct. 12 (AP).—"The best Texas team we ever played," ponderous Tom Stidham, coach of the Oklahoma University Sooners, boomed at Dana X Bible, gridiron generalissimo of the University of Texas.

The two mentors met in the center of the Cotton Bowl gridiron today after their teams had kept a crowd of 35,000 in an uproar with a football spectacle such as Dallas had never seen.

The Longhorns won the game 19-16 with a last-quarter surge. "It was a tough one to lose," Stidham said, "but if I had to lose it I had rather lose it to you than any man I know."

"A fine game and a fine Oklahoma team," Coach Bible smiled. "We had a tough break there but we lost to a great Texas team," Stidham said.

He referred to a bad pass-back from Center Clifton Speegle that gave Texas the ball on fourth down deep in Oklahoma territory.

From there Texas marched to the winning touchdown. Speegle came out of the game in tears. He flung himself on the sidelines and sobbed.

"It was regrettable this had to happen to him," Stidham said. "It was tough but it happens to the best of them."

Coach Bible replied to what he thought of the game with: "It was Jacobs and Crain wasn't it?"

And he grinned as he came to the name of Crain.

Jack Crain's runs beat Oklahoma today and Jack Jacobs' runs came close to beating Texas.

"Jacobs is a fine boy and a fine football player," Stidham commented. "Crain is also a great football player."

As the two coaches parted company in the center of the field Coach Bible smiled:

"That kind of game ought to bring them all out when we play next year, shouldn't it?" he asked.

"You bet," replied Stidham.

EX-SENATOR DIES

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 12 (AP).—William H. Dieterich, 64, former United States Senator from Illinois, dropped dead tonight of a heart attack in his hotel room.

He was born in Illinois and served in the United States Army during World War I.

Dieterich was a member of the United States Senate from 1917 to 1921. He was re-elected in 1925 but resigned in 1927 to become a lawyer.

He was a member of the House of Representatives from 1931 to 1933. He died of a heart attack while on a trip to Chicago.

Swastika Planted In Bucharest As Invaders Arrive

By The Associated Press. BUCHAREST, Rumania, Oct. 12.—German troops under command of a central cavalry, accompanied by six officers wearing the red-striped trousers of the general staff entered Bucharest today and planted the Swastika firmly and formally in the capital of Rumania.

Established, too, was an "advance command" of the Nazi air force under German Aviation General Speidel.

A long column of field gray motorcars carried German soldiers with fixed bayonets through the streets and squadrons of airplanes, some with Nazi insignia, roared overhead.

German flags flew from unaccustomed standards; bands played Deutschland Uber Alles, the Horst Wessel song and the Rumanian national anthem.

The implications of this triumphant entry—this incontestable German military penetration of Rumania—were many.

Foreign observers speculated at new German-Italian moves in southeastern Europe and recalled the declaration of pro-British Turkey that 2,000,000 bayonets would stand athwart any Axis attempt to move in Turkey's direction in the Near East.

Amid the parades, the band music, the stir in the city, British crisis—quietly packed and hurriedly left. German circles rejoiced privately that the Reich had now established an air patrol of the Rumanian oil fields so vital to Germany's war efforts and declared—as other German had done when the Nazis marched into Norway, into Denmark, into the low countries—that the Reich had again taken the initiative away from the British.

It was made clear, incidentally, that still more German troops are to come.

Turned Down For Age, Boy Enlists On Order

HOUSTON, Oct. 12 (AP).—Put down the name of Norman Peary Anthis of El Campo, Tex., as that of a lad who will go far in Uncle Sam's navy.

In June, when he tried to enlist, he was told that he had to be 18 years old.

Today was Norman's eighteenth birthday. When the staff of the Houston recruiting office arrived to open the office for the day, there was Norman waiting for them.

He had hitch-hiked from El Campo, leaving home shortly after dawn so he would not fail to get here on time.

Now, today was not an enlistment day. The navy in its efficient way sets aside certain days for enlistment, certain days for taking applications, and certain days for other business.

But when Lieut. Commander V. W. Michaux heard of Norman's eagerness to be enlisted on his eighteenth birthday, a special order of the day was issued to permit him to do so.

The War Today

By Kirke L. Simpson.

Not many men have witnessed at close hand within a span of less than three years what might prove the death agonies of three free nations.

Lloyd Lehrbas, roving the war fronts on Associated Press assignments, had done just that. He watched China survive, bloodied but unbowed, the first dreadful Japanese onslaught at Shanghai. He saw Poland smashed by Germany's massive war machine, and fled with defeat-stunned Polish refugees into Rumania. Then in France he watched again while "the light went out of a nation's eyes" in its numbered realization of utter disaster at German hands.

That the somber scene passing before his own eyes drew from Lehrbas so poignant a description of French despair tells more than any factual narration of the tragedy of that moment for France.

Yet, if the light of liberty is dead in French hearts as well as in defeat-dimmed French eyes, history is a lying jade. Her interpretations of the past are a mocking travesty of the truth about man, which disclosed him sunk to the level of the lesser beasts with self survival, the desire to live on under whatever conditions, the only law that guides his action.

That is the cynical assumption that seems the foundation stone of the projected German-Italian-Japanese new order in Europe, in Asia, and in Africa. It is the thesis of the law of the jungles, of sheer force, abroad in the world; but it challenges every lesson of the recorded or legendary history of man.

Britain's sturdy fight and China's stubborn refusal to be vanquished are symbols that the apostles of force have misread history—and of hope that the light of liberty will again kindle in French eyes.

The scene in conquered France which Lehrbas reports recalls all other moments in a French setting two decades ago. At Versailles, where the world-war peace-makers met so fruitlessly, the "big three"—Wilson, Lloyd George and Clemenceau—faced a proposal by the allied Generalissimo, Ferdinand Foch, for a "cordons sanitaire" about Bolshevik Russia to imprison the virus of "Red" world revolution. Foch planned a military quarantine of Russia to save Democracy, otherwise made "safe" by the war.

Wilson called for General Tasker Bliss, No. 2 American soldier in France. Bliss was a professional soldier who loved his trade, and was more accustomed to the lurid language of the barracks and saddle-blanket bivouacs than to the uses of diplomacy. But he was also a thinker, a deep student of history.

Wilson knew that. The shorlary statesman and the hard-bitted soldier met at elbow touch on a common ground in the history books.

Bliss brushed aside discussion of the Foch plan from a military standpoint. He approached it as a philosopher, an interpreter of history. The Russian world revolution dream would die of its own weight, by the verdict of history, he said, unless it embodied a new idea that would better man's relations with man and the common lot in life. If it did not contain such an idea, he said, the Foch quarantine would not halt it.

"Bayonets never stopped an idea in the history of the world," added this life-long man-at-arms.

Three Injured When London Train Wrecks

LONDON, Oct. 12 (AP).—Three persons, or more, were killed tonight and many injured in the mysterious wreck of a London-bound express which railway workers thought was caused by a bomb.

There was some doubt, however, as to whether the express—speeding toward London in the blackout—had in fact been hit by a Nazi bomb or had been wrecked by something else.

Escaped Inmate Of Hospital Wants To 'Clear Things Up'

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 12 (AP).—Howard M. Pierson, accused slayer of his parents, who escaped the Austin, Texas, State Hospital, was quoted here today as saying he wanted to "go back and clear things up."

Officers said the 26-year-old fugitive told them that he was considering such a move when he was arrested here yesterday. He was committed to the Austin institution after the slayings of his parents, Supreme Court Justice and Mrs. William Pierson. He escaped April 16, 1938.

Two Texas Rangers were enroute here with extradition papers for Pierson's return to Austin, where District Attorney Edwin G. Moorhead has filed an affidavit charging Pierson is sane and asking for his trial.

If a court finds he is sane Pierson could be tried on indictments charging him with the slaying of his parents.

He had been living here quietly for a year as a collector for a weekly magazine when arrested by Detective Captain Clarence McLaskey who said he recognized the fugitive from a notice sent out by Texas police.

Bulgaria Strengthens Anti-Aircraft Defense

By The Associated Press. SOFIA, Bulgaria, Oct. 12.—Bulgaria was reported tonight to be strengthening anti-aircraft defenses on her Danube river frontier facing Rumania and on the Plovdiv railway line to Turkey.

Especially strong installations were said to have been made across the river from Giurjuiu, Rumanian oil port where German troops are being garrisoned. Anti-aircraft equipment made in Germany, complete even to sound detectors, was reported appearing at other Bulgarian points.

Authoritative sources pointed out that Germany has been selling Bulgaria considerable armament recently in a plan of "military coordination" among Bulgaria, Hungary and the Axis.

Crashes Over In First Period For Lone Tally

By Robert Myers LOS ANGELES, Oct. 12 (AP).—The big maroon touchdown machine of Texas A. & M. ran into a heat wave and a band of fired-up Bruins of the University of California at Los Angeles today, but managed to achieve a 7 to 0 victory.

The Aggie eleven from the southwest conference, ringing up its fourteenth consecutive victory and its third straight of the 1940 grid campaign, showed a powerful defensive squad to the 60,000 sweltering fans.

In the end A. & M. had far out-gained the Pacific coast conference team, and doubled the first down count, but the only score of the day came in the first quarter.

Big John Kimbrough, the Cadets' All-American fullback of 1939, intercepted a pass a few minutes after the kickoff, and the maroon eleven began to roll. It rolled 44 yards in eight plays, with Kimbrough cracking the Bruin line for five, six, and hand with more such smashes until the ball was on the nine yard line.

Here Kimbrough hit the left side of the Bruin line, cut over and charged on across the line standing up for a touchdown. Pugh kicked the extra point.

U.C.L.A.'s couldn't work up much of an offensive. The lone ball carrier, Jack Robinson, went out of commission and out of the game in the second period, and didn't come back. Messrs. Kimbrough and his mates, meanwhile, roamed up and down the field, eating up yards in huge chunks, but fate and fumbles stepped in no less than four times to thwart a score.

Twice the Bruins penetrated deep into A. & M. territory, once on a pass good for 47 yards from Leo Cantor to halfback Ray Bartlett. The threat ended on the Texans' eight, however, when charging Cadet tackles smothered the Bruin offense.

FEWER UNDEFEATED TEAMS AFTER MANY GRID UPSETS

By Herb YORK. NEW YORK, Oct. 12 (AP).—Northwestern's Wildcats bounced Ohio State, defending Western Conference champion, out of the undefeated football list today as mid-sectional pace in intersectional warfare.

The southwest took two severe jolts on foreign fields, and Cornell's great array found Penn rising to challenge its Ivy League leadership.

Faced by Bill De Corvoent, Northwestern upset the big Buckeyes, 6-3, before 42,000, roaring from behind in the fourth quarter on a touchdown by De Corvoent after Charley Maag had put Ohio State in front with a 28-yard field goal.

Meanwhile Notre Dame and Michigan scored major intersectional triumphs for the mid-west to offset Illinois' 13-7 defeat by Southern California. Notre Dame, flashing a first class offense, both on land and through the air, bowled over plucky Georgia Tech, 26-20 in a game, witnessed by 50,000, that really wasn't as close as the score indicates.

At Cambridge, it was Tommy Harmon again when Michigan sank Harvard, 26-0. Harmon scored three touchdowns, kicked two points and tossed a pass to Paul Kromer for the other Wolverine score.

Southwest Christian and Southern Methodist carried the southwest's banner into the south and east, respectively, without much luck. T. C. U. fell before North Carolina's dazzling play, 21-14, as the Tar Heels scored all their points in one great second-period surge.

Southern Methodist, picked by some to battle Texas A. & M. for the Southwest Conference crown, was lucky to escape with a 7-7 draw against Pitt's Panthers. Cornell, unbeaten a year ago and with a veteran squad back, looked little short of colossal in a 45-0 rout of Army, worst defeat in the Cadets' history. Penn, touted as a powerhouse, looked the part in a 50-7 defeat of Yale, a licking unprecedented in Eli football history.

Away to a fast start when Jim Noble dashed 81 yards to a touchdown, Fordham's Rams gave Tulane its third successive defeat, 20-7, and moved into the front rank of eastern powers along with Boston College.

33-20 conqueror of Temple and Navy, which spotted Princeton a touchdown and then rolled over the Tigers, 12-6.

Columbia's well-trained Lions bowled over Dartmouth, 20-6; Syracuse rebounded from the Northwest-ern rout to shellack New York University, 47-13; Penn State nosed out West Virginia, 17-13; Colgate won from Brown 20-3, and Holy Cross stopped Carnegie Tech, 18-0.

Wake Forest Drubbed. The Wake Forest boom suffered an abrupt collapse as Clemson rolled up a 39-0 count in a Southern Conference struggle.

Virginia Military halted Davidson, 13-7, and William & Mary won over Virginia Tech, 20-13, in other conference games. Mississippi gave new evidence of terrific power as it romped over Georgia, 28-14, in a Southeastern Conference clash.

Auburn and Mississippi State, Vanderbilt and Kentucky, played 7-7 draws in the same sector. Alabama and Tennessee rolled over minor foes in preparation for their pivotal game next week.

In the Big Nine, Iowa Hawkeyes hurled their first conference hurdle, Wisconsin, 30-12. Indiana and Purdue both were beaten by outside rivals, Indiana bowing to Nebraska, 13-7, and the Bolleymakers to Michigan State, 20-7.

Texas Longhorns remained undefeated, thanks to a closing rally that tripped Oklahoma, 19-16. Arkansas upset favored Baylor, 12-6, in a Southwest Conference game. Paul Christian passed Missouri to a 24-13 victory over Kansas State in a Big Six engagement.

Kansas won over Drake, 20-6. The Texas Aggies helped bolster southwest prestige by earning a hard-fought 7-0 decision over U. C. Georgia, 28-14, in a Southeastern Conference clash.

North Carolina 21-14 Winner In Game With Frogs

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., Oct. 12 (AP).—A favored Texas Christian football team making its first invasion of these parts got a dose to do of the wide-open stuff it usually dishes out as North Carolina's Tar Heels marked up a 21 to 14 upset victory.

Two breathtaking runs, a 59-yard dash by Jim (Sweet) Lelanne and a 70-yard sprint by Don Baker, touched off the fireworks for the Tar Heels in the second period into which they jammed all their points.

A fumble set up things for North Carolina to march 37 yards for the other tally. About 19,000 saw the game. The Horned Frogs put on the aerial show for which they are famous in the fourth quarter and netted a touchdown. It followed one they rolled out in the third period after Joe Austin of the Tar Heels fumbled the kickoff on his own 30 for Joe Rogers of the Frogs to cover.

The game had been nip and tuck through the first quarter and nearly three minutes of the second. Lelanne, who had replaced Pecora, spun in the tailback position as if taking a pass, streaked off to his left end and with the aid of blocking of Don Baker raced 59 yards to score untouched. Harry Dunkle made a perfect placement point.

The Frogs made a first down on a pass after the kick-off. Then on another flip, Connie Sparks fumbled for Bob Smith to cover for the Tar Heels on their 35. An off side penalty put Carolina back five.

Don Baker, starting slow to his left, worked in and out by T. C. U. players across midfield and then Dunkle blocked out Kyle Gillespie about the 15 and Baker scored standing. Dunkle again converted from placement.

Two minutes later Gillespie was tackled from behind after he had faked a pass and was starting to run. The ball bounded into the arms of Gates Kimball of Carolina at the T. C. U. 37. Lelanne ran 13, tossed a pass for 18 to Roy Connor on Connor's first play of the game, and after some line gains, Lelanne sliced right tackle on to score. Bill Sigler, fullback, added the placement point.

ABILENE, Tex., Oct. 12 (AP).—There were only five minutes left before Thurman (Tugboat) Jones hit his stride and scored two touchdowns to give Abilene Christian College a 20-10 victory over the Trinity Tigers today.

Fulback Jones pulled the Christians from behind when he circled his left end for 42 yards, then kicked point. Two minutes later he intercepted quarter back Kunkel's pass and lumbered 72 yards for another score.

Fulback Herman Nolen had placed kicked a field goal from the four-yard line late in the fourth period to give the Tigers a meager lead. Trinity's other touchdown came on a two-yard pass, Kunkel to Waller, in the second quarter after Higgins, Tiger tackle, had blocked an ACC punt.

Buster Dixon rifled a long pass to Hulen Stromquist, reserve end, for a total of 44 yards and the Christian's other touchdown earlier in the second period.

Ellis Makes Long Runs As Monahan Wins Over Ysleta

MONAHANS, Oct. 12.—Scott Ellis ripped off touchdown runs for 70 and 90 yards here last night to lead the Green Wave eleven to a 13 to 13 football win over Ysleta in a non-district game. Monahan is in 7-A district and Ysleta in 4-AA. The other Monahan score came in the second quarter on a pass from Fiedling to Funk for 17 yards.

Mustangs Turn To Air In Fourth Quarter To Gain Tie With Pitt

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 12 (AP).—Outplayed at every turn, Southern Methodist's favored Mustangs flashed their famed aerial wizardry in the fourth period to deadlock Pitt 7-7 in an intersectional football battle before 39,000 today.

Trailing 7-0 and showing little defensive punch early in the fray, the southwest conference title aspirants took the ball on their 41 and Ray Mallouf heaved to Bob Bacus on the 34 as the final stanza opened.

Johnny Clement picked up a yard and then Mallouf pitched a 33-yard aerial to substitute Bill Thomas for the touchdown, Thomas booting the extra point.

Pitt twice advanced beyond unbeaten SMU's 15-yard line in the first and second quarters before guard Rudy Gradisek put the Panthers in scoring position by recovering Clinton McClain's fumble on the Mustang 31.

Bob Thurbon ploughed to the 16 for a first down and "Special Delivery" Edgar Jones heaved to Jack Goodridge on the two. Jones then rifled a pass to Thurbon for the score seconds before the half ended. Mike Sekela picked the point.

Cornwell Wallops Army Team 45-0 On Cadet Field

WEST POINT, N. Y., Oct. 12 (AP).—A colossal Cornell football team, full of drive and savvy, handled Army, the most colossal licking in 51 years of Cadet gridiron history this afternoon.

Operating with even more controlled fury than last year's all-winning combination, the big red team from Ithaca scored in every period, piled up seven touchdowns accredited to seven different men, and wound up on the very large end of a 45-0 score.

It bettered by 26 points the previous high for an Army shutout, set by Harvard in 1900, and by 10 points the previous high score run up on Army, 36-4, by the Princeton team of 1893.

Cornell got possession of the ball 13 times during the game, and six times it went down field to touchdowns. The seventh and last touchdown came as the result of a blocked kick, and at least three other times the Ithacans didn't even try very hard, but punted on second or third down.

They had half a dozen passers who connected with 13 out of 19 aerials for 201 yards—three touchdowns covered 45, 65 and 35 yards, respectively. They had hard-hitting, free-wheeling runners who operated scythe-like blocking to pile up 220 yards rushing.

They had linemen who simply carted the desperate-fighting Army forwards out of the way on offense and smothered practically everything on defense. The secondary was so efficient that while the Cadets completed 11 of 22 passes, at least half of those were for no more than two or three yards.

Army's running attack, a phrase which was purely complimentary today, was held to 38 yards.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 12 (AP).—Sparked by Halfback Frank Reagan and his understudy, Paul Wexler, a powerful University of Pennsylvania football team crushed Yale 50 to 7 today—the largest score ever run up against the Elis in college gridiron competition. The victory was Penn's third straight in a 20-game rivalry with Yale.

Abilene Defeats Trinity As Jones Makes Two Scores

ABILENE, Tex., Oct. 12 (AP).—There were only five minutes left before Thurman (Tugboat) Jones hit his stride and scored two touchdowns to give Abilene Christian College a 20-10 victory over the Trinity Tigers today.

Fulback Jones pulled the Christians from behind when he circled his left end for 42 yards, then kicked point. Two minutes later he intercepted quarter back Kunkel's pass and lumbered 72 yards for another score.

Fulback Herman Nolen had placed kicked a field goal from the four-yard line late in the fourth period to give the Tigers a meager lead. Trinity's other touchdown came on a two-yard pass, Kunkel to Waller, in the second quarter after Higgins, Tiger tackle, had blocked an ACC punt.

Buster Dixon rifled a long pass to Hulen Stromquist, reserve end, for a total of 44 yards and the Christian's other touchdown earlier in the second period.

BULLDOGS COME FROM BEHIND TO WIN

Passes Click To Give Light Midlanders Win

And the scrappy Bulldogs of Midland high school did it again—upsetting the proverbial dope pall for the second time in as many weeks by bopping the highly favored Sweetwater Mustangs, defending district champions, 14 to 7, in Sweetwater's classy bowl Friday night.

By virtue of the victory, the Bulldogs of Coaches Taylor, Clark and Johnson took a lead in the scramble for the district flag.

The courageous little Bulldogs, on their toes, continuously fighting gamely against great odds until the final whistle had sounded, took to the air in scoring 13 of their 14 points in Friday night's setto.

And the 500 or more Midland fans who followed the Bulldogs to the Nolan County capital more than got their money's worth in the new-tingling bout which kept everyone present on the edges of their seats most of the way. At the conclusion of the game, the fans were almost as worn out as were the Bulldogs who had staged such a valiant battle.

The Mustangs took a 7 point lead in the initial quarter when, late in the chukker, they advanced the oval from their own 11-yard stripe to pay dirt, with Flanagan, Hudkins and Rogers sparking the attack. Taking over on the eleven, Flanagan reeled off 30 yards, followed by a 41 yard gallop by Hudkins, Mustang fullback. The Mustangs were on their way. From the Bulldog 14, Rogers and Hudkins alternated in carrying the ball to the three yard line from where Rogers, hard driving quarterback, plowed through for the touchdown on three attempts, the tally being made from the one yard marker. Flanagan converted from placement to make the score 7 to 0, Sweetwater.

But the Sweetwater touchdown failed to dampen the spirit of the determined Bulldogs who were out-classed in both weight and experience. They came right back on the first play of the second period to tie up the score. The second quarter got underway with the Bulldogs in possession of the oval on their own 21 yard line. It was on the first play of the second quarter that Odie Kelly stepped back a few paces and tossed a 24 yard pass to Wendell Williams who was out in the clear and who raced the remaining 55 yards for the first Midland tally. It was one of the most beautiful passes attempted and completed by the Bulldogs in many moons. A pass, Williams to Jim White, added the extra point to make the score seven all. The half ended with the score remaining tied.

It was Williams who, on a beautiful 57-yard punt return in the third period, set the Bulldogs up for the next counter. Williams was pulled down by Hudkins on the Sweetwater 14 but on the next play Williams passed the remaining distance to Maurice Bratton for the touchdown. Williams converted from placement. Score Midland 14, Sweetwater 7.

Late in the game, the Mustangs started on another rampage which would have netted them another touchdown had not Rogers fumbled the ball after crossing the goal line. The drive started on the Midland 30 with Rogers, Flanagan and Hudkins logging the oval, mostly through tackles, up to the Bulldog one yard line. Just a few seconds before the gun sounded to end the game, Rogers slashed through left guard across the goal line but fumbled, with Williams picking up the ball and lugging it out to the Midland nine. Williams was in the clear and it would have been another touchdown for Midland had not one of the officials been directly in the line of march. Two plays later the game ended with the score Midland 14, Sweetwater 7. The fans were limp after the thrilling close of a spectacular game.

There isn't a great deal more to say. The Mustangs, as shown by the statistics, were superior in so far as ground gaining was concerned, but the Bulldogs had the better passing attack and were out in front in the scoring. It was simply a case of "never say die," with the game little Bulldogs never once letting up even until the gun had sounded.

The Bulldogs avenged their 36 to 13 defeat at the hands of the Mustangs in Midland last year.

The Bulldog special train which left Midland Friday afternoon at 4:15 o'clock transported 300 band and pep squad members and fans to the game. Approximately 200 more fans drove to Sweetwater late yesterday afternoon. The special arrived back in Midland shortly before two o'clock Saturday morning.

The large group of Sweetwater citizens meeting the special furnished transportation to the football field, the courtesy having been arranged by the Sweetwater Board of City Development. The high school band paraded through Sweetwater's downtown section following arrival of the special train.

Arkansas Upsets Favored Baylor By Score Of 12-6

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Oct. 12 (AP)—Arkansas' underdog razorbacks dimmed the southwest conference title hopes of the Baylor Bears before 6,500 fans today, winning a stunning upset, 12-6.

Striking a lightning blow in the second period, the porkers, badly beaten by Texas Christian last week in their conference opener, scored on a 40-yard sprint down the sideline by quarterback Aubrey (Pug) Neal. Neal was given perfect interference by a half dozen teammates after taking the ball on a reverse from Tiny Harold Hamberg, a substitute fullback. Howard "Red" Hickey, Porker end and co-captain, had two chances to place kick the extra point, the Bears being in gofside on the first attempt, but both kicks sailed wide of the uprights.

Baylor reached Arkansas' 29 in the first period when they rung up their only first down of the opening half on a 17 yard run by Milton Merka, who lateraled to George Koch, who raced an additional 13 yards before the Porkers overhauled him. The Bears couldn't budge a strong Arkansas line and a surprisingly alert secondary.

A recovery of a Porker fumble by substitute tackle Bubba Barnett on the Arkansas 30 gave Baylor a chance in the third period. A pass, substitute halfback Dwight Parks to substitute end Jack Russell, was good for 18 yards. The Bears kept right in going through the air as Jimmy Witt, grabbed another aerial from Parks and ended up on the three after a 16 yard gain.

Milton Crain, big Baylor sophomore, plunged a yard at a time, crossing the goal line on third down. Robert Nelson, Bear center, missed the uprights by yards on the attempted extra point, but was hindered on a pass from center.

Arkansas drove 67 yards for the winning score in the final quarter. Hickey reached almost to the ground to snare a 30 yard aerial from Hamberg and then galloped the remaining five to the goal line with Curtis Byrd, Bear halfback, riding his shoulders. Guard Milt Simington tried his hand at placekicking the extra point but his attempt was low and wide.

The Irish, looking more like potential national champions than in any recent campaign, rolled over the invaders for three touchdowns in the second period after the varsity had relieved the second stringers who started the game.

They held this margin until the final period when a gallant Tech rally netted two touchdowns, the final one coming in the final minute of play.

Big Spring, Odessa Battle To Scoreless Tie Friday Night

BIG SPRING, Oct. 12. — Big Spring Steers and Odessa's Bronchos fought to a 0-0 deadlock here Friday night. Big Spring's initial game in District 3-AA.

Neither team made a serious scoring position threat. Big Spring's advance to Odessa's 24 yard line being the closest approach made during the duel.

Taking to the air once in the closing minutes of the first half when Odessa cut loose with a flurry of passes, the tie was featured mainly with line plays. Both crews were unable to make extensive gains because of the forward walls that appeared to be evenly matched in weight and speed.

Outstanding performance of the evening was turned in by Pete Presley, 170 pound Steer fullback who made the longest single run when he returned an Odessa punt for 20 yard gain.

A crowd of 4,300 turned out for the engagement despite threatening weather.

Two Long Runs By Jack Crain In Last Period Give Longhorns 19-16 Victory Over Oklahoma University

By Felix R. McKnight

DALLAS, Oct. 12 (AP)—Cowboy Jack Crain clattered down shadow-swept sidelines when all seemed lost today to pull the University of Texas through to a dramatic, 19-16 triumph over numbed Oklahoma.

Forced to the knees at the outset by bronzed Jack Jacobs, a Creek Indian brave and a football player if one ever suited out, Texas finally grabbed Crain's coat tails and a vital break to pull it out of the fire before 35,000 screaming fans.

The two Jacks—Crain and Jacobs—dueled all afternoon in an offensive show that made this game far and away the tingler of the 40-year rivalry of the neighboring state schools.

Ironically, a grand player and the steadiest man on the Oklahoma club gave Texas the final chance at victory. Deep in the fourth period, with Oklahoma backed down to its 25 yard stripe, the veteran center, Clifford Speegle, bobbled his snapback to Jacobs for a fourth down kick and it skittered between his legs.

The Texans swarmed in on Jacobs on the Sooner 17 and took possession. Five yards for a defensive holding penalty pushed them closer to the goal and then Crain swung out deep around his left end and headed for the flag and the winning touchdown.

Only a few minutes before, just as the third period ended, Crain twisted his lagging Texans with a typical Crain dash—a 68-yard chunk of magic through the Oklahoma team he cooked up after bagging a lateral.

Oklahoma led 16-7 and Jacobs was choking Texas with his dashing runs, errorless passes and direction kicks. The Sooners had just tackled Glenn Jackson, came in for a bit of ill luck on his own part by shooting his snapback over fullback Pete Layden's head in the end zone for a safety.

Texas came back to its 35 with the kickoff. R. L. Harkins started a sweep, pitched a lateral to Crain. Twisting through the big Sooner line, Crain found the open spaces and his favorite sidelines. But out charged Orv Mathews, Oklahoma's sprinter-back, to drive the little man out on the two-yard line. Twice Crain tried to bore through Oklahoma's line, then he gave the touchdown making chore to Harkins.

Bewildered Texas caved in before the driving speed of Oklahoma's backfield in the first five minutes. Jacobs did as he pleased in a stunning 82-yard drive that started on the first play after the opening kickoff.

Smack over the guards and tackles drove Jacobs and Johnny Martin for first downs to the Sooner 40. Suddenly Jacobs abandoned his successful ground assault and caught Texas snoring with a couple of flat zone heaves to Smith and Jennings that gained 30 yards. Martin tumbled to the Texas 18, Jacobs powered to three on three jabs and Martin scored. Sophomore Jack Haberlein kicked the point.

Once more Oklahoma rolled, this time on Jacob's magnificent passing to Jennings, Martin and Smith that carried to the seven just as the first period ended. But Jacobs was jerked and sophomore Boyd Bibb went in to

Courtney Ekes Out 13-12 Victory Over Coahoma In Six-Man

The Courtney Eagles eked out a 13-12 decision over the Coahoma six-man football team Friday night in a game played on Lackey Field.

The Eagles had to come from behind, scoring in the last period, to remain in a tie for the league leadership with the Sterling City team. Quarterback Wise paced the Courtney team to the win by making the final touchdown, also exhibiting some excellent passing and punting.

After Halfback Baker had scored for Coahoma in the first period to give his team a six-point lead, Fullback Kelly of the Eagles crashed over for a touchdown, then kicked goal to put his club one point out in front. The Coahoma team came back with another score in the third period when Baker again slipped over for a touchdown.

Rain and the absence from Midland of a large number of football fans that accompanied the high school team to Sweetwater kept the crowd down to a bare 150. Those present received a large number of thrills in watching the lightning-fast abbreviated game.

The Coahoma and Courtney pep squads put on interesting shows at the half, the Coahoma group gaining loud applause from the spectators present.

The Courtney team has two more games scheduled to be played here this year.

Young Corbett Hangs Up Gloves At Last

FRESNO, Cal., (UP)—Young Corbett III, Fresno's veteran southpaw boxer, tagged by experts as one of the greatest of the ring's left-handers, says he has hung up the fighting gloves for keeps.

In the last 21 years Corbett has fought 185 times. He will be 36 next May. A ruling by the California State Athletic Commission prohibits professional appearances by boxers past 36 except by special permission.

Corbett was christened Raffie Giordano. He was dubbed "Young Corbett" at a bout in Fresno for the championship of the Fresno newsboys' organization when he was an 80-pound youngster of 14. The name stuck.

Corbett says he feels he's doing the best thing for himself and the game he loves. He has romped in and out of rings since his first "retirement" seven years ago.

Bomb Strikes St. Paul's Altar

This cable-telephoto shows the jagged hole in the center of the arched roof of St. Paul's Cathedral in London after a bomb struck the historic English shrine. FEMINE FANCIES By Kathleen Eiland

Gayest of the gay little household novelties is the teapot which plays "Tea for Two" when it is lifted. We can think of nothing more highhearted than pouring tea from such a melodious pot—which, by the way, holds enough of the delicious drink for four cups.

Latest fashion-fad for the subdeb is to wear sweater, socks, hair, bow and shoe laces all to match. Red, yellow, blue or green—such a combination is bound to give that "certain something" to a girl's appearance.

We should think that almost any parent would like to have the baby's first shoes preserved as a memento. We first read of this earlier in the year and now such service is made available to Midland people.

And speaking of babies, the town is to have what is, we believe, its first baby show since we've been a citizen. There'll be a number of the judges' decision on the little king and queen—but the onlookers will surely get to see some attractive babies. We'll warrant that. And further speaking of babies, aren't the photographs used in the high class magazines (women's magazines) these days, the most appealing things ever? Absolutely lifelike.

For the miss or madam who likes leather, there's a cigarette case and a compact in light-beige leather to match her shoes with their platform soles and Dutch-boy heels.

Club To Sponsor Book Review And Silver Tea

Mrs. Shultz Hartgrove of Paint Rock will be presented in a review of "How Green Was My Valley," Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Crystal Ballroom of Hotel Scharbauer, under auspices of the Twentieth Century Study Club.

Mrs. Hartgrove is not a professional book reviewer. She is a ranch woman but recently has given a number of reviews.

The story that she has chosen for presentation here was written by Richard Llewellyn. The New York Times book review section says of it: "It is a nostalgic novel, pregnant with judgment upon the 'progress' that can turn such a green valley into a 'depressed area.' But it is no mere lament for a lost paradise. It is a story of exquisite distinction and vibrant interest, clear strong as the music under the sky."

"How Green Was My Valley" is a novel of the Welsh mining country told by Huw Morgan, youngest son of a miner's family. In his boyhood in the '80's the valley was green and beautiful but gradually the countryside changed to a place of devastation as slag-heaps of mine refuse covered the mountain slopes. Hard times, strikes, layoffs and sufferings brought to destruction a wholesome way of life.

The Twentieth Century Club is combining the review with a silver tea. Everyone interested is invited to attend.

Fairy Story Is Plot Of Play To Be Given Monday

"Seven Wishes," the play by Maurice Maeterlinck which will open the Clare Tree Major Play series here Monday evening is a fairy story complete with cruel king, beautiful princess, disguised prince, and the other elements which delight children.

Briefly the story is this: King Chermamor ruled a country that was prosperous, with plenty of food and coal. But he wished to rule the whole world and picked a quarrel with a weaker neighbor.

When the King's and Queen's baby daughter was born, she was given seven gifts by fairies and then presented with a gift of bread and coal by old women. These two old women enraged the King who grew so violent that the old women said the baby should sleep until the King's eyes were opened to the evil of his ways. When the sleeping Princess was ten years old, the Queen sent for the two women to beg them to waken the child. They promised to waken her if the King would cease war and relieve the people of their taxes. He half-promised but a squabble arose when the King tried to drive away a ragged lad from the palace garden, and the women took the Princess away and left her with a forester and his wife. Here she and the ragged lad became friends. When the Princess was fifteen, the King and Queen went hunting and in the forest found their daughter and took her home. The King tried to make her marry a man of his choice but she would not. The ragged boy, Guidon, came to marry her but the King tried to drive him away. His subjects revolted, shut him up in the castle without food and kept him there until he decided to rule righteously. Then he was released and the Princess married Guidon who was a Prince in disguise.

Presentation of "Seven Wishes" and other plays by Miss Major's Children's Theatre out of Chappagua, New York, is sponsored by North Ward P.T.A.

Midland Students Attend Game At Dallas Saturday

By Billy Noble

Attending the Texas-Oklahoma football game in Dallas Saturday were the following students from Midland: Jeanne Davis, Freda Fae Turner, B. C. Girdley, Jack Carroll, Paul Anderson, Gerald Self, C. A. Goldsmith, Harold Barnes, Jack Walton, Elbert Leggett, Bill Noble, and Bob Thronton.

Aldredge Estes, Jr., now in Texas Tech but formerly a Texas University student, evidently retained his TU ties for he and Jessa Lynn Tuttle, Courtney Cowden and Moniez Downey met University friends Saturday and joined in the spirit of the occasion.

Jack Walton, who made the trip on the Longhorn Band special, has been officially announced. The appointment of the three permanent drum majors for this year came after try-outs during September. Walton twirled in front of the band during the Texas-Colorado game two weeks ago.

James Frank Nixon, Jr., ex of '38, Nixon Sr., of Midland, following his Nixon Sr., of Midland, following his interest in the Fine Arts, was one of the many University students who heard Lily Pons sing in San Angelo Monday night.

Nixon has always been prominent in musical circles. As a student of Wallace Wimberly in Midland, he was presented in a piano recital in the spring of 1938. While in high school he was a member of the band and accompanist both for the high school assembly and for the school choruses.

In his freshman year at Texas, Nixon was accompanist for the Glee Club and for Frank Gardner, noted University tenor. Last year, besides continuing his work with Gardner, he played in an orchestra and was in the Glee Club.

In this his third year in Fine Arts, Nixon is in the Experimental Theatre, with a part in a Greek Drama for student presentation, and has played several accompaniments, especially for Miss Rosemary Ester, leading soprano in the School of Fine Arts.

We, the Women

Recently Ruth Millett wrote an amusing column on the premise that "wives are strange people." Husbands who read it and have been going around looking smug ever since, might return to normal after reading the article below.

By Ruth Millett

HUSBANDS, too, are strange people.

A husband is a man who thinks his wife is lucky and doesn't know it.

A husband is a man who is convinced he can read the paper while his wife talks to him, and still not miss anything important.

A husband is a man who thinks a hunting lodge is where a woman would love to spend a vacation.

"You Son" or "My Son"

A HUSBAND is a man who likes the new cut-out-in-front evening dresses on any woman but his wife. A husband is a man who reminds his wife of the no-goods he saved her from marrying.

A husband is a man who says "your son" when Junior wrecks the family car and "my son" when he is elected captain of the football team.

A husband is a man who gets someone else to shop for his wife's Christmas present.

A husband is a man whose wife can drive all right—when he's not in the car.

A husband is a man who wants his wife to have everything she wants.

A Husband Is A Man Who . . .

A HUSBAND is a man who would rather spend an evening reading a murder mystery than dancing with Hedy Lamarr.

A husband is a man who will wear any necktie his wife picks out.

A husband is a man who says brightly, "Honey, why don't you get me biscuits?" but would be insulted if his wife said, "Why don't you get Mr. Jones to tell you how to handle your clients?"

A husband is an ordinary sort of guy who would have led an exciting, dangerous life if he hadn't married.

A husband is a man who has never been known to say "Well!" when told that company is coming.

A husband is a man who never grows too old to notice a nice figure.

A husband is a man—PERIOD.

Primary Pupils At Warfield To Have Holiday

Pupils of the primary grades at Warfield School will be given a holiday, Wednesday, October 16, so that conscription officials may use their room for registration purposes.

Mrs. Marvin Bryant, Miss Imogene Hale, A. G. Bohannon and probably others will volunteer their services as registrars. The house will be open from 7 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Billy Houston was absent from school the past week. Bad tonsils had caused leakage of the heart. He was treated in a Lubbock hospital during the summer but has not yet fully recovered.

A new pupil, Jeraline Miller, enrolled in the eighth grade the past week.

Good rain falling Thursday night, Friday, and Friday night was welcomed even though it did damage to cotton and was practically too late to benefit the feed crops.

"Loosen" means the same as "unloosen."

McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

By Wm. E. McKenney

America's Card Authority

HENRY CHANIN of Atlanta, Ga., has to travel a long way to participate in the major tournaments, but he seldom misses one of them and his success has rated him as probably the outstanding player of the south.

This year, Chanin, playing with Mrs. Olive Peterson of Philadelphia, was a member of the team winning the national mixed team-of-four championship. Henry enjoyed the defense on today's hand.

He won his partner's opening lead with the king of hearts and returned a spade. Mrs. Peterson won the spade. Declarer finessed the nine and Chanin won with the ten.

The jack of diamonds was returned. South played the queen. West the king and declarer won with the ace.

Declarer found it embarrassing to be locked in the dummy, so he played the queen of clubs and Chanin overtook with the king, returning the six of hearts. The nine was played from dummy and West, realizing it was useless to cover, played the four-spot.

Declarer led the ten of clubs, taking the finesse, and Chanin won with the jack. He then led a diamond, his partner won with the ten-spot and returned a diamond, the nine-spot winning.

Declarer was forced to lose a spade trick to Chanin's queen and the contract was down one for a win on the board for Chanin's team.

Weeks Tests Are Here!

Keeping and wailing and gnashing of teeth have started once more. We are entering our sixth week of school and that brings to mind those terrible six weeks tests. Do we know what to expect from a new year? Most certainly not, but we know what she expects from us. All-written paper with no mis-spelled words, no minus fifteens, and no splashes. Easier said than done, of course. But if we apply ourselves, don't you think we could have minus five instead of fifteen? If we make an "A" the first six weeks, you know the old adage, "first impression is the lasting impression." Maybe an "A" the second week would be a lot easier to make if we already had another to back up. And anyway, hadn't you rather show a straight "A" record to "mom pop" than have to try to forget their names. And so I say, "Let's get ready for the coming six weeks tests and be a school of lars."

You a Good Sport?

Oh, the lines aren't straight. "Did you hear that discord?" "My, oh, has happened to our football team?" Those are some of the things heard from the sideline "boosters." If every one who says something about our school would go out and do better than the ones in the positions, they would have the right to say those things, but I doubt if anyone who criticizes would even try to do anything at all. It is just as easy to condemn and to be appreciated much more. Confide in our team, our band, and our pep squad inspires them to do their best, but if all they ever hear is criticism, they don't have any reason to work for the school. Every person who is not in an organization can only help that organization by lending his support and interest to it.

A good theme song for the pep squad girls when they get out of line is "Oh, Where Was I?"

Transportation For Band Furnished By Al C. Of C.

The Midland High School Band will be transported by special train to Sweetwater, October 12, to the football game between the Midland Bulldogs and Sweetwater Mustangs.

Bulldogs Fight 5-AA Champion Buckaroos Oct. 18, Lackey Field

The Breckenridge Buckaroos, one of the mightiest football powers in the state, will come to Midland Friday night to trade licks with the Bulldogs in a non-conference game. The Breckenridge team so far this year has lost one game, that being to Arlington Heights from Fort Worth and has had victories over Wichita Falls, reputed to be the early State favorite, and the Abilene Eagles, the early 3AA favorite.

The Buckaroos this year have a team that averages 190 pounds to the man with a fast, large backfield headed by Herman Cain, slated to be all-state half-back.

Juniors-Seniors To Have Pictures Made Before November 1

As Sudy Cowden entered the gate at the El Paso game Mr. Stark, former D. O. teacher here who is now located in El Paso, left her speechless by responding to her greeting with, "Why, hello. Is this Mrs. Bud?"

SENIOR THINKS UMPIRE NEEDS A PROGRAM!

Gene Ann don't you know a striped shirt when you see one? Gene Ann tried to sell the football umpire a program at the San Angelo game.

ABSENT MINDED PROFESSOR

Is Miss Hester getting absent minded? It seems that way, because she drove a car to Lackey Field last Wednesday morning when she went over to practice the stunt, but she walked back to high school and completely forgot said car until Mr. Shiflett reminded her of it. Then followed a weary trudge back to the field.

Someone's Daughter Needs Help

EDITOR'S NOTE: A. J. Wittamer, a native of Belgium, who has been working in the United States for several years, and visits Midland, is the writer of the following article. His family is in Belgium now and he has not heard from them in several weeks.

All of us have seen the Red Cross poster showing a little girl lost among the wreckage of what was her home. We've seen this poster so often that we are beginning to take it for granted. It has ceased to make our hearts heavy, to make us open our pocketbooks as it did a few weeks ago when we were so anxious to help the millions of refugee children of battered Europe.

And yet, the plight of these children is far worse today than it was when we last heard of their pitiful and our kindness on them.

The next time you see this poster, please try to visualize once more what has happened to this little girl. Look at her, standing there, alone, surrounded by destruction and the sorrow of the most implacable war her country has ever known.

A few weeks ago she was going to school or playing with other children just as your boy and your girl are doing today. Grownups talked about Hitler and Nazis and Democracy and Tyranny and Fascism and things like that, but she didn't know what they meant.

Then suddenly airplanes came and there were terrifying noises and fires and soldiers and strange looking monsters on the road. Her mother wrapped her in a shawl and carried her into the street. Her daddy was a soldier, and he wasn't there to help her. Her mother is gone now. Nobody knows where she is or maybe nobody wants to tell her. Look at her—she is afraid and her eyes and throat hurt because she has been crying so much.

There are millions like her in Poland, in Holland and Belgium and France, millions of these children who do not understand why they are hungry, why they have no home, why they cannot pray anymore.

There are millions like her in England. Children who never harmed anyone, who night after night are pushed or dragged underground in shelters where people huddle together in silent terror while explosions and fires rage over them.

Ask any veteran who saw service overseas to tell you what it feels like to spend hours in a cellar, waiting for the most inhuman death that man's cruelty has yet been able to devise. He'll tell you that no one speaks during an air raid, that the most hated sound is the drone of the plane's motors, the plane that has you so completely at its mercy. You wait in darkness for the whine of the falling bomb and then you hear it, faintly at first, then louder as it rushes toward you, whistling, howling, screaming, louder, closer and closer, and your heart stands still and your body stiffens until the explosion rocks the earth under you and the smoke and the rain of debris tells you that it was close—you're still alive—but here comes the next one.

At daybreak when the raiders have gone you crawl out of your shelter, into a world that you do not recognize. Smoke still hangs around the windowless buildings and you literally walk on carpet of broken glass.

That's what the children of many lands are facing night after night, little children who are too young to understand why someone wants to kill them.

That is what the little girl of the Red Cross poster will face again tonight.

If you could reach across the ocean you would help her, wouldn't you? You'd take her to your home, where she could play as she used to, away from all that horror, and you would try to make her forget how cruel grownups can be by showing her how loving and kind and helpful grownups can be also.

Several organizations are trying to help this little girl. They need your help if they are going to succeed. One of them is the American Red Cross. Find out from your local chapter if you can help and how you can do it. Perhaps you will be told that very little can be done now, that you'll have to wait, but whether you can help now or later, be ready to help.

And tonight, when you tuck your small son or daughter in bed, think of the hungry, frightened children of Europe and resolve that you will do everything in your power to make our country so strong that no child of America will ever be The Little Girl on the Red Cross Poster.

So we hitched our wagon to a FIREBALL

THE FIREBALL DOES IT!

Modern gasoline have high octane ratings to permit higher compression without "ping." Note how this piston, which can be used only in valve-in-head engines, rolls the fuel charge into the shape of a flattened ball that centers around the new, smaller, racing-car type spark plug. Fired at its very heart, this more highly compressed fuel lets go with such full-force, "ping-free" wallop that any gasoline of 75 octane rating (now available at standard-fuel prices) may be used in the 115-hp. engine. Any fuel of 80 octane rating serves in the 125- and 165-hp. engines.

delivers more miles per gallon throughout the whole performance range on regular-priced gasoline!

This is the Buick FIREBALL principle, latest development of Buick's exclusive Dynaflash design.

There's still more to the story in the wonders worked by Compound Carburetion.

A standard part of Buick SUPER, CENTURY, ROADMASTER and LIMITED engines, this fuel-supply system lets you travel at fifty on the same meager fuel ration you ordinarily expend to get thirty, and delivers up to 10% or 15% more miles per gallon of gasoline.

You can have it in your Buick SPECIAL for a small extra charge—and step up your 115-horsepower engine to a wallowing 125.

But in big engine or bigger, you get plus-power from less gas—even the 165-hp. 1941 engines giving more miles per gallon than last year's 107-hp. engines at speeds above 40!

**According to the Encyclopaedia Britannica, a super motor which travels with a series of explosions like the shock waves of a great projectile is called a "FIREBALL."*

Home Building Pace Permits the Use Of Many New Materials

The accelerated pace of home building in the United States is making possible the use of many new materials produced by industries not usually identified with residential construction.

Such familiar items as wood, brick, stone, and stucco are still standard for major residential construction, as most of the new materials are used for minor purposes and the public is not quick to accept them. Nevertheless, progress in the use of these new materials is steady.

Women Want More Convenience, Space In Building Closets

Convenience features voted for by Cleveland club women in a poll of "What Do Women Want in a Home?" included: plenty of closets with the right kind of built-in shelving for each one; adequate electric outlets for lamps and appliances, as well as for light on dark stairways and in closets; noiseless plumbing equipment; uniform window sizes throughout the house; complete copper piping; automatic heat and hot water; insulation; a first-floor lavatory; shower in the bathroom; plenty of surface work space in the kitchen; and built-in features including a clothes chute, desk and filing space in the kitchen, the dinette buffet, and medicine cabinets in the bathroom.

Geo. Washington, British Soldier

Meet George Washington, who is going to fight for the British, instead of against them, like his namesake. A member of the British branch of the Washington family, he's pictured as he arrived in New York from South America, en route to England to volunteer.

A Home Suggestion

A home planned to look to the future, makes allowance for addition of a convenient porch, and adequate garage. Almost-square living room, two bedrooms and kitchen with utility or dining area adjoining, assure year-round comfort.

Here Are Things Which Men Complain About In Women

By Alicia Hart
NEA Service Correspondent

THE complaints and comments of the men in the office make the beauty column for today. Here's what they have to say:

No woman is beautiful if she is late. The later she is the less attractive she looks when she finally arrives. (This from a man who is tired of having all the women he knows always late—and arriving a bit harried-looking—for their appointments.)

Ought To Brush Up On These

THE average woman isn't on good enough terms with a clothes brush. She whisks bits of hair and dust off the shoulders and the front of her dress with her gloves but doesn't do anything at all about the back. And lots of them never suspect that a felt hat needs brushing. The man who issues this complaint would like to see women keep clothes brushes in the hall closets and desk drawers as well as in the bedroom.

Lipstick is fine and dandy on the mouth. It's anything but pleasant on the teeth, napkins, rims of glasses and back of gloves. (This is reminder always to blot lips with cleansing tissues after application of lipstick.)

Unpolished leather shoes and unbrushed suede ones are women's most prevalent sins against good grooming.

Sloppy grooming. A blouse button off, a broken seam, a ripped skirt-hem dangling, a blouse collar half inside, half outside the jacket—such things as these make the boys grit their teeth.

Nagging women annoy a lot more men besides the poor guy who's receiving it. One chap said that when he visits friends and hears the wife sniping at her spouse, he feels like crowning her for doing it—and the husband for taking it.

No One Likes A Sourpuss
ALTOGETHER too many women walk around with almost bad-tempered expressions on their faces. You don't need to be a constant grinner, but you could manage to look content if not actually pleased.

A number of males at nearby desks had much to say about sourpuss and dead-paen faces. They would have us look alive—really pleasant, good-naturedly so.

There you are girls—"a word, to the wives. . . ."

Average length of life today is much longer than ever before since accurate records have been kept.

General Election Ballot In Texas Will Be Smaller

By Howard C. Marshall

AUSTIN, (AP)—The general election ballot in Texas this year will be smaller than four years ago.

In 1936 it was eight columns wide, listing the Democratic, Republican, Socialist, Communist, Union, and Prohibition parties in that order, and also having columns for Independents and "write ins."

The ballot to be used Nov. 5 will show the same lineup except for the Unionists, who made no nominations.

Secretary of State M. O. Flowers has certified the names of presidential electors and candidates for statewide and certain district offices to county clerks, who prepare the ballot finally.

Also shortening the ballot is the fact four constitutional amendments will be submitted, compared with six in the last general election.

While five parties put presidential electors in the field, only the Democrats offered a full state ticket. The Republicans made nominations for all state offices except commissioner of agriculture.

For some reason the Communist party nominated eight electors although the law provides for 23 from this state (one for each Congressional and U. S. Senator) and no other parties chose that number.

One woman is a candidate for statewide office. She is Mrs. M. Brents Witly of Hamilton, Republican nominee for State Superintendent of Public Instruction.

The Republican party entered seven candidates for Congress, and the Communists one. The latter is Mrs. Emma Tenayuca of San Antonio, who opposes the re-election of Rep. Paul J. Kilday, also of San Antonio.

Extravagant Display Of American Models At Automobile Show

By David J. Wilkie
Associated Press Automotive Editor

NEW YORK, Oct. 12 —A quarter of a million dollars worth of 1941 model automobiles, commercial vehicles, accessories and gadgets were placed on display by the Automobile Manufacturers' Association today in a setting designed to emphasize hemispheric unity and the productive resources of American industry.

It was the 41st annual national automobile show—an "all-American presentation" for the first time in many years because of the absence of any foreign exhibits and participation by Henry Ford for the first time in more than three decades.

Four floors of Grand Central Palace were devoted to the showing. There were 18 makes of passenger cars and eight of commercial vehicles.

In addition there were 40 old-time cars, veterans of some famous speed contest or endurance tour, to dramatize the progress made in four decades.

The show opened this afternoon with greetings from President Roosevelt who wrote to Alvin McCauley, President of the Automobile Manufacturers' Association, that "it is a tribute to this nation's productive ability that the automobile companies, now joined in mass production of armaments for defense, at the same time are providing improved vehicles to meet the needs of the population."

The new models, all longer, lower and wider, with more emphasis than ever on the "eye appeal" displayed against a background of the national colors of the Americans—the red, white and blue of the United States and the flags of 22 American nations.

For the industry the show marks the formal inauguration of the 1941 model year—a year which the car makers generally believe will see the production of approximately 4,600,000 vehicles in excess of $3,000,000,000.

During the model year just ended the industry assembled 4,285,000 units with a wholesale value of $2,827,000,000.

Better Homes Better Living by the Housing Editor

The windows of a home are no longer viewed only as functional units. Today they are called upon to serve important architectural and decorative uses as well.

Architects today are achieving interesting results by placing a prominent window to frame a tree in the manner of a "living picture." Its changing pattern from Spring to Fall and throughout the Winter makes for a scene that is always refreshing. Similarly pleasing effects are obtained if the surrounding landscape permits a view of a sweep of river, a winding creek, or even a broad expanse of rolling land.

Like so many other functional parts of a modern small house, windows today have improved considerably in design and construction.

Wisely chosen window designs improve the exterior appearance of the home and add cheer to the interior.

Among the wide variety of window styles from which the home builders can select are double-hung windows having sash which move up and down and casement windows whose sash are hinged at the side and open in or out. Bay windows are available in many sizes and attractive styles. Dormer windows can be used to lighten, attic or bedrooms under the roof. Where wall space is at a premium the use of corner windows is often found advantageous.

Careful thought should be given the placing of the windows not only to obtain an attractive exterior appearance but also to assure sufficient wall spaces in the living rooms which will permit convenient placement of furniture. The glass area should be sufficient to insure good light and ventilation in proportion to the size and character of the room.

Old Houses Can Be Remodeled With Excellent Results

Houses that are 20 to 30 years old, with paint falling off, having dingy and outmoded bathrooms, obsolete heating systems, inadequate wiring and poorly arranged kitchens, are often houses which are structurally sound and well located and therefore offer good possibilities for modernization.

The old house can be rejuvenated and yet not robbed of any of the charm it may have acquired through the years. Mechanical equipment which a few years ago was considered to be in the luxury class is today looked upon as a necessity.

The remodeled house can be as durable as the new house if the work is intelligently planned and properly executed. Space is often available for uses which cannot be economically provided for in a new structure. For instance, almost every outmoded house has considerable extra space that can easily be converted to some use which increases the livability of the house—an extra guest room or bathroom, a playroom for the children, a powder room, a sports-equipped closet, a breakfast nook, a downstairs washroom, or some other item that is not essential and, therefore, ordinarily not included in new small homes.

In small homes it is so wise to have at least one proofed room for study and work. Fair results are obtained by soundproofing a room by lining walls and ceiling with a resilient board. ### Possible Seekers For '42 Political Places Stirring

Associated Press Staff

Ho! Hum! Texas voters no sooner put out one fire than smoke from another starts rising.

Debris from the year's campaigning still litters the ground, but already Austin is talking about 1942.

One of the most important potential candidates has just finished what some consider the first speaking tour of the next battle for governor. He is Attorney General Gerald C. Mann.

United States Senator Morris Sheppard has announced he will ask re-election two years hence.

An Austin lawyer, Jefferson G. Smith, has declared his candidacy for Chief Justice of the Supreme Court.

Meanwhile, the men who will hold most state offices in the next two years, who are just wiping the perspiration of a hard campaign from their brows, have not even been formally elected. The Democrats have nominated them, which is usually the same thing as electing them, but the actual election will be Nov. 5. They will assume office in January.

No speculation on the gubernatorial melee in 1942 fails to mention Governor W. Lee O'Daniel. Whether he will seek a third term is not, and for a long time will continue to be one of the big questions in Texas political circles.

Every other candidacy for the governorship, and for some other races as well, will be affected by the governor's decision.

It is not the first time interest has focused on the post-second term plans of a governor. Certainly many, and probably most, other governors likewise have been objects of such curiosity.

It is true of Governor James V. Allred. Until he had announced he would not seek a third term, guns of prospective gubernatorial candidates were trained upon him and shooting broke out from time to time. It was true also of Governor Dan Moody, who, many believe, almost yielded to the great lure and attempted to break the second-term tradition.

Some observers say the result of President Roosevelt's attempt to win a third term may bear on O'Daniel's plans. If the president should be re-elected, O'Daniel would have excellent precedent for making another bid.

But if Mr. Roosevelt were defeated, especially if decisively, the long-time barrier against third terms might be lifted even higher and definitely deter the governor from any effort to hurdle it.

Action of the legislature regarding Texas' social security program probably will have weight when O'Daniel ponders seriously whether to stand again.

Attorney General Mann, recently re-nominated without opposition, generally is considered a sure-fire candidate for governor in 1942. Some speculate that if O'Daniel ran again Mann might also seek a third term as attorney general, but that is not, apparently, the majority belief in the capital.

The attorney general has returned to his office from a five weeks trip over the state on which he delivered 163 speeches. Officially he states he was giving an accounting of his stewardship as attorney general and now has only one ambition, "to do the job well that I have been given to do." He began the tour just after the July primary.

Many friends have urged Lieutenant Gov. Coke Stevenson to run for governor and claim he would make the greatest governor in Texas history because of his personal characteristics (some call him the Abraham Lincoln of Texas) and his business and legislative records.

In January he will enter on his second term as lieutenant-governor, in which capacity he will continue to preside over the Senate.

As usual every two years, there will be a place on the Railroad Commission to be filled. Next time it will be the place of Thompson, who is rounding out his second term. Will Pierce Brooks run again for

With a million-car model year just behind and a goal of 1,100,000 for the new selling year, Chevrolet announced production of its 16,000,000th unit, built in less than ten working months after No. 15,000,000. Announcement of this latest "milestone car" spotlights attention on Chevrolet's unique record in the automobile industry of having built and sold an average of a million units per year during the past seven years. ### Federal Grants To State During Year Over 10 Millions

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12 (AP)—Texas received $10,680,000 in federal grants during the last fiscal year to aid in financing various social security programs, the Social Security Board reported.

Grants to the state during the preceding fiscal year amounted to $11,843,900.

Included in the grants for the last fiscal year were $7,904,000 for old-age assistance, $1,906,100 for unemployment compensation administration, $446,000 for public health work, $213,200 for maternal and child health services, $153,300 for service to crippled children and $57,300 for child-welfare services.

Texas employers and employees paid $16,698,600 in Social Security taxes to the federal government during the fiscal year. These included insurance contributions totaling $14,717,300 paid by employers and employees and unemployment taxes amounting to $1,981,400 paid by employers.

From the time the Social Security act went into operation until June 30 of this year, Texas employers and employees paid $44,377,600 in insurance contributions and the state's employees paid $6,629,200 in unemployment taxes, making a total of $50,906,800.

Between June 1 and June 28 a total of 3,162 railroad workers living in Texas received unemployment insurance payments amounting to $45,348. A total of 46,053 railroad workers living in the state received such payments amounting to $680,599 between July 16, 1939, and June 28 of this year.

Social Security account numbers were issued in June to 22,724 workers in Texas, increasing the cumulative net total for the state to 2,157,407.

Officers Posse Trails Man Wanted In Slaying

HUNTSVILLE, Oct. 12 (AP)—Officers took C. M. Buddy Acker back to Lamar County today while a posse swarmed through this section on the heels of T. R. Fowler Jr., like Acker charged in the slaying of Deputy Sheriff George Robertson of Paris, Texas.

As bullets splattered, Fowler fled into dense undergrowth yesterday when officers surprised the two in a shanty hideout between Oakhurst and Willow Springs. Acker was captured.

Walker County Sheriff C. L. Mitchell said once today bloodhounds from the Texas prison had picked up Fowler's trail, and that Fowler's father had come close enough to his son to hail him, advising the youth surrender.

But Fowler was "off into the thicket like a scared deer," the officer said and had not been seen again.

Handcuffed to Constable Grover Taylor of Paris, and accompanied also by Sheriff J. H. Radtiff of Lamar County, his Deputies C. O. Shelton and Jack Reeves, and Sheriff Jim Greer of Red River County, the 20-year old Acker was wedged into the back seat of a car for the

Dayton Area Of Eddy County Holds New Mexico Spotlight During Week As Two Semi-Wildcats Are Started

HOBBS, N. M., Oct. 12. — Eddy County's Dayton area in the Lake McMillan region drew attention of Southeast New Mexico oilmen this week as two semi-wildcats were started in the vicinity of the discovery producer and large flow was registered by a one and one-half mile southwest extension well.

The old Maljamar pool of western Lea County also came in for interest as Maljamar Oil & Gas Company staked a trio of tests. No. 4-B Baisch, 660 feet out of the southwest corner of section 22-17s-32e, already has spudded and is drilling at 630 feet in anhydrite. The firm's No. 5-B Baisch, now drilling past 150 feet in red rock, was spudded at location 660 feet out of the southeast corner of section 21-17s-32e. The No. 6-B Baisch, 660 feet from the south, 1,980 from the east line of section 21-17s-32e, as yet is just a location.

Martin Yates, Jr., Bassett & Birney et al No. 1 Fedell, 330 feet from the north, 2,310 from the east line of section 35-18s-26e, definitely assured extension of the Dayton area a mile and a half southwest of the discovery. Martin Yates, Jr., et al No. 1 E. L. McCall, when it flowed an estimated 100 barrels of oil daily through 2-inch tubing set at 1,152 feet, with perforations at 1,122 feet. Bottomed at 1,180 feet in sandy lime, it had been previously shot with 420 quarts of nitro from 1,040 to 1,150 feet in the sand pay horizon. Testing continued.

Moving In Spudder

A mile south and slightly west of the McCall well, Bassett & Birney et al are moving in spudder to No. 1 Kimball, 330 feet out of the southeast corner of section 26-18s-26e.

Depth of 100 feet in shale had been reached by Jones, Yates & Nix No. 1 Crozier, about three-quarters of a mile southwest of No. 1 McCall. Location is 990 feet from the north, 2,310 from the west line of section 26-18s-26e.

J. B. Mulcock No. 1 Etz, Eddy County, 660 feet from the south and west lines of section 25-17s-30e, encountered 1,000,000 cubic feet of sweet gas in sand from 2,958 to

C. Of C. Directors In Meeting Monday

Directors of the Midland Chamber of Commerce will meet in regular monthly session at the organization's office in Hotel Scharbauer Monday night at 7:30. It was announced yesterday by John W. House, president.

A complete report on the membership drive held during the past week will be made and other matters attended to at the session, he said.

2,962 feet and now is temporarily held up while fishing for tools lost at depth of 2,981 feet in lime.

In Eddy's High Lonesome area, Powell & Matthews No. 2 Leonard-Levers has been completed as a gasser, making 225,000 cubic feet of sweet gas per day. The well went originally to total depth of 2,505 feet in lime and was shot with 60 quarts from 2,480 to bottom.
