Hundreds Expected for July 4th Talent Contest, Fireworks Show

Hundreds of persons from throughout West Texas are expected to flock to Benny Douglass stadium near the high school tonight for the third annual July 4th talent show and fireworks display, the concluding feature of Muleshoe's observance of its Golden Anniversary.

Indications are that talent for the big talent contest will be "plentiful," according to Roger Albertson, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce committee sponsoring the big free event. However, there's still a spot on the program for late contestants.

The big event kicks off with family basket picnics on the gridiron of the field. People are expected to start gathering as early as 5 o'clock for their suppers, many turning that feature of the program into a family-reunion event, Roy Davis, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, said Thursday.

First activity listed for tonight, after the picnic supper, will be the presentation of colors by an ROTC honor guard from Texas Tech. Clifford White, Muleshoe, is a member of the unit.

After this will come an elaborate field drill by a Cannon Air Force Base unit from Clovis, followed by the presentation of winners in the beard-growing contest. Beards were judged Wednesday evening by members of the ESA sorority, but names of the winners will not be announced until tonight's program. Trophies are to be awarded for the ugliest beard, the most handsome and the longest beard.

Then will come ceremonies for old-timers. The pioneers had their own day Wednesday when a reception was held at C&H Chevrolet Co. showrooms, sponsored by the Bailey Co. Historical Society.

Gift certificates were presented by Muleshoe firms for the oldest pioneer man and woman, the one who came the farthest to attend the event, and to the first baby ever born in Bailey county.

Another prize goes to the person who has lived in the area the longest.

The big talent contest itself will get under way later in the evening when talent from throughout the area will participate in amateur and professional divisions. Cash prizes of $500 are to be awarded by the Chamber of Commerce. This contest last year drew 41 contestants.

The program will conclude with a huge fireworks display, presented by the Muleshoe Fire Department directed by Earl Ladd, chief.

The Jaycees will operate concession stands for the Chamber of Commerce at Thursday night's stadium events.

The entire Golden Jubilee program has been a huge success, and scores have flocked to Muleshoe for the events which included street demonstrations, music, speeches and big jubilee sales events at all stores.

Wednesday night was an especially full one for the jubilee. Following the pioneers' reception, ESA sorority auctioned off "home-grown beef on the hoof," and the same sorority, dressed in Gay '90's costumes, judged the contestants in the beard-growing contest.

One of the highlights of the entire program also came when Main Street was the scene of a mock gun battle, presented by the famous Terry County Rangers, a fast-draw group from Brownfield.

By RAY MARTIN

Every newspaper — including this one — gets reams of material of one nature or another every week which, while often very interesting can't possibly get into print; there just isn't enough space.

So, today I thought I'd pull out a few of them and combine them, in abbreviated form, into a column. Here goes.

For example, a release from the American Petroleum Institute comes up with some interesting information about the future and petrochemicals — a house that is fireproof, lawns that have to be mowed only once a year and clothing that never wears out. The house, for instance, would be built entirely of fireproof, termite-resistant plastics, from foundation to roof; rugs, drapes and furniture fashioned from petrochemicals; and oil burners no bigger than a typewriter. That slow-growth lawn would be stunted by petroleum-based growth inhibitors.

The same article sees gas turbine engines and fuel cells which will replace internal-combustion engines; long-lasting lubricants, and service stations equipped with "stethoscopes" to make complete diagnoses of engine flaws; safer and longer-lasting fires, and highways that will be non-skid, flexible and virtually indestructible.

API sees more efficient irrigation through use of petroleum-based sealants; sprays which vastly increase crop yields, and edible foods produced from petroleum itself. In fact all these things, API says, are practically here right now — some of them are.

And another of the releases, this one from Texas A&M Extension Service, says they've now come up with a substance produced by the cotton plants themselves, that will repel boll weevil, the pest of the southland which has sen more than one old-time cotton grower straight to the poorhouse.

Seems the scientists have discovered that the cotton plant contains a Jekyll and Hyde substance that both attracts boll weevils and repels them. By stepping up the repellent and cutting down on the charming substance at the same time, they can make cotton plants suddenly unattractive to the boll weevil which, for centuries, has made his living out of an attractive cotton plant.

Speaking of oil (which we were just a few paragraphs back) API has another release telling about the difficulty in Cuba these days automobile-wise. Seems that everything isn't as rosy under Castro's communism as some of the Cubans had thought it was going to be. Mrs. Ruth Sheldon Knowles, petroleum consultant to three nations, used to do a lot of petroleum exploration in Cuba in the pre-Castro days. Recently she returned for a look-see at conditions under the bearded leader of Communist Cuba, and the picture had changed greatly — and NOT for the better. For instance Mrs. Knowles says garages will not repair a car unless the driver brings his own spare parts. And lubricating oil is so scarce these days in Cuba that it is forbidden to change the oil in a car.

She visited two American-Built oil refineries which Castro took over in 1960. Now Mrs. Knowles found the refineries in disrepair and facing shortages of both spare parts and technical personnel. All gasoline being processed is of low octane rating. She adds: "The Cuban government is attempting See RAY'S, Page 4

BOOSTER TOUR — Rufus II, the Jaycees' mascot, got "prettied up" with a hair cut before the start of last Monday's Jaycee booster tour (top) got under way. Many nearby towns and communities were visited to promote Muleshoe's Golden Anniversary. Unappreciative Rufus, incidentally, bit his groomer, Jimmy Jones, right after this picture was made. It's Capias Profine! As The Lawyers Say

Last April a Houston school teacher was tagged in the Muleshoe area for speeding. He was given a ticket.

He was supposed to have appeared in Justice Joe Vaughn's court within 10 days.

April passed and no Houston schoolteacher. Then came May and finally June and the gentleman who had been in too big a hurry while crossing Bailey county back in April still hadn't come across with his fine money.

Late in June, Judge Vaughn turned the matter over to officers in Houston to track down the slow-paying schoolteacher.

They found him, all right, and gave him a summons. The gentleman was shocked; he got on the phone and called Judge Vaughn right away.

"I've written you two letters," he told Judge Vaughn Monday via long distance.

"I never did get them," the Judge informed the Houston man, "but if I had I don't know what good it would have done — unless you had included the price of the fine in your letters."

The Houston man admitted that he hadn't bothered to include the money in either of the letters he had written the judge.

"Then I don't know what good it would do just to correspond with you," the justice of the peace told the Houstonite. "I don't have time to carry on a friendly correspondence anyway. All I can do to get all my kindfoks written on in awhile."

The Houston man presumably was on his way back to Muleshoe Thursday. Officers in Houston are seeing to it that he gets up in this part of the state real pronto.

It's what's known as "capias profine" which is Latin for words meaning "get the body, dead or alive." The Houston sheriff gets 10 cents a mile going and coming to pick up the defendant, plus $1 for his arrest plus jail fees. All these little cash items come out of the defendant's pocket.

"It would just have been cheaper and a lot less trouble if he had paid off in the first place," the justice sums up.

The justice of the peace admits it just wasn't his week all the way around. He had to issue two more of those capias profine instruments Monday.

One went to the sheriff in Cochran county and the other to the sheriff of Lubbock county. Both of the defendants had been given tickets in Muleshoe — one on a charge of speeding and the other for drunkenness.

Unlike the absent-minded Houston schoolteacher, these two paid their fines with checks.

The checks bounced!

Council to Study Revised Code For Plumbers

City council will hold its July meeting at city hall next Monday afternoon, Albert Field, city manager, said Thursday.

No agenda had been drawn up late in the week, but Field said "a number of important matters are due to come before the council."

One of the matters being considered is a new plumbing code. The proposed revised code has been studied by plumbers in Muleshoe, and their recommendations are expected to be made at next Monday's council session.

The council also is expected to look over the new financial statement of the City for the year ended March 31. (The condensed statement of receipts and disbursements, prepared by Williams & Merriman, CPA's, appears in this issue of the Journal.)

The statement shows total receipts from all funds as $333,839.51 for the fiscal year with utilities and trash-hauling heading the receipts' list. Utilities provided for $124,542 in receipts; taxes and penalties provided $96,875.12 of the year's receipts. Fines provided $4,344.70 in receipts.

In disbursements, general government operations accounted for $90,059.75 of the year's costs. Water and sewer operating expense ran to $41,221.66, and bonded indebtedness, principal, interest and agent's fees cost $70,190.75.

On April 1 of 1962 the City had on hand a total from all funds of $282,788.76, while on March 31 this year the total cash balance was $97,439.91. Capital outlay, however, during the year was $206,692.18.

Three persons were in county jail at midweek, a check of the jail record, revealed.

One was held on a charge of drunkenness; one with carrying a deadly weapon, and another with allowing a non-licensed operator to drive an automobile.

17 Are Enroled In Latins' School

Muleshoe's summer school for non-English-speaking first graders, which opened Monday, is off to a good start, Superintendent Neal Dillman said Wednesday.

Seventeen boys and girls are enrolled in the school which is being held at East De Shazo schools from 9 a.m. to 12 noon. Originally the hours had been from 8 a.m. until 11 a.m., but the schedule was changed to permit out-of-town pupils to reach Muleshoe each morning in time for the school's opening.

The classes are being taught by Katherine Sanders and are to continue through August 23. Children, to enrol, must be 6 years old on or before September 1, and will be required to show a birth certificate before entering.

The school is free.

Board to Name New Teachers

Muleshoe school board will meet next Monday night at the administration office when one of the most pressing matters to be heard will be the naming of new teachers, Neal Dillman, superintendent, said Wednesday.

Several vacancies have occurred in the system since the close of the 1962-63 term the last of May.

Other matters on the agenda will be a discussion of the 1963-64 tentative budget, and the matter of building and grounds maintenance. Much work has been done on the grounds and the building this summer, Dillman said, and a full report will be given.

The board also must decide what other maintenance jobs should be done before the opening of school. Only one other regular meeting of the board is slated — the August session — before the fall term opens.

Muleshoe's Mighty M band will get ready to kick off its 1963-64 season next Monday, it was announced Thursday by Kathy Phillips, director.

She has called rehearsals for July 8 through July 12 at the high school band hall.

Rehearsals are to be held from 7:30 to 9 a.m. each day.

She said this series will be "to start preparation for the football season," and she urged "strongly" that all band members attend the rehearsals.

Two Pay Fines In Justice Court

Two drunks paid fines and costs of $20.50 each and another drunk paid $25.50 in justice court here this week, a check of the blotter Wednesday revealed.

The additional $5 paid by one of the defendants was for second offense, Justice Joe Vaughn explained.

A licensed driver who permitted someone without a license to drive his automobile was fined $16.50; two other defendants paid the same fine and costs in justice court. One was charged with driving an automobile with defective lights, and the other was fined for having no valid inspection sticker.

'Freedom' Bells To Sound Today

Muleshoe bells will ring at 1 o'clock today, and the public is invited to join in with a bit of bell-ringing at home.

It's a part of the "Make Freedom Ring on the Fourth of July" program, sponsored by the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

Here in Muleshoe, the bells will ring for four minutes as part of the national bell-ringing program sponsored by the 16,500 federated women's clubs in the United States.

Mayor Arthur Crow issued a proclamation recently, urging people to join in the observance. "... whereas the people of Muleshoe should feel it a privilege to join in this great campaign to make us conscious of that great freedom which is ours.

3 Enter Pleas In County Court

Three persons were brought before County Judge Glen Williams this week for pleas. Two pleaded guilty and the other defendant entered a not guilty plea.

Dwight Williams pleaded guilty to giving a worthless check June 12 and was fined $11 plus costs. In another action, Donald Williams

The Legend of the Sandhills — Part I

Sandhills, Those Mystical Hills, Came Suddenly, Indian Lore Says

Editor's Note: Did the sandhills which stretch east-west across Bailey County and into New Mexico, form suddenly or were they always there? There have been many answers to that question, but "Zep" whose real name was Jess Mitchell, did some research on the legends of the sandhills, and in the '30's Mitchell, who was then editor of the Journal, compiled the legends into booklet form, printed in the Journal shop. The booklet is being reprinted in three installments. Here is the first in the series.

By ZEP

Scarcely a mile south of Muleshoe there is clearly visible a low range of Sand Hills that run diagonally across the South Plains country into New Mexico. The hills are not very high and their width in most places will not average more than a mile or so, though at some points the sand gradually slopes off to impregnate the surrounding soil with its particular characteristics. Real old maps now on file in the capitol building at Austin, and which were made by the early Spaniards, show a river once ran where these sand hills now are.

Just how these piles of silty sand came to take the place of the once beautiful flowing river, transforming the area of paradise into one of desert is not definitely known, yet there is more than one legend that seeks to answer that query.

According to one of these legends See SANDHILLS, Page 4

Many Things Inspires An Artist To Develop Their Natural Talent

Many things inspire people to develop the natural artistic talents, a hobby which Mrs. Dana Arnold started in 1952. Since that time, she has painted many types of oils, scenes, flowers, fruit animals, objects, and many others.

A jug collection she has had for a long time inspired her to do a painting of still life with jugs for which she was awarded Grand Prize in her first out-of state showing in the eight annual Spring exhibit in Belen, N. M., in early May.

Mrs. Arnold's collection of jugs includes all sizes and designs, from a half-pint to one of three-gallon capacity, the focal point in the den of her home in the Needmore community.

After Mrs. Arnold's painting took the grand prize, the Belen Art League, sponsors of the show, ask her to conduct classes on techniques for them during the summer months. This will be done in two sessions, each running for two weeks.

Of her work, she said that she has no idea how many paintings she has completed as so many were given to friends and relatives, and has painted some for homes and business places in town, one of her favorites is the western scene in W. Q. Casey's office at Muleshoe State Bank. She has shown some of her work at different exhibits staged in Muleshoe.

Mrs. Arnold said when she attended school in Dickens, art was as much a part of their pell and she recall out-door sessions with their class and sketch books and the teachers directing their work on out-door life. She has been instructed by Mary Lee Garrett, Clovis, N. M. and Dr. Emilio Cabellero. She is presently taking a course under Mary Garrett.

The Arnolds came to the Needmore community in 1933. Mr. Arnold died April 29, 1961. They have four daughters, Mrs. Earl Smith, Needmore, Mrs. Wilcy Moore, Mrs. Kenneth Hall, Muleshoe, Mrs. J. D. Stevenson, Belen, N. M., and one son, Neal Ray Arnold, Needmore.

gends, it was several hundreds of years ago that the placid river flowed across the virgin area then known only to the original tribes that inhabited it and the wild beasts who roamed its wide extended prairies. Here and there little islands dotted his stream for it was no little water way and these small patches of surrounded land were covered with a rank growth of vegetation. Along the banks of this unnamed river there were scrubby trees of oak, hackberry, and cottonwood, while tall grass that would even hide the mighty buffalo, grew in the surrounding lowlands.

At a point not very far from where this town now stands, there was an Indian village, occupied by one of the most powerful tribes of that day. Within that village all is commotion, and the inhabitants, their faces and bodies weirdly painted and adorned, are running wildly about as though some great catastrophe was impending. Weird shrieks rend the air. There is much moaning and groaning. On the face of each inhabitant there is an expression of anxiety. Their eyes take on an insane look, while their bodies are racked with contortions of agony. The squaws are bowed down in humility before their tepees, while the braves hurry to a large open space, gathering about the lodge of their chieftan.

Suddenly the human shrieks and cries are drowned out by the boom-boom of the tom-toms, and the Indian braves throw off their gaudy blankets, revealing their strangely painted, muscular bodies. The cries become shriller, the noise louder, the beating of the tom-toms is faster. The red-skinned warriors now worked up to an unknown frenzy, begin leaping and running about a circle in except the prisoners who like their "sunny side up" have to eat them scrambled or in omelets. And the inmates like it better this way because they now can get more eggs. And Biddy, of course, is happy because the new system doesn't disturb her routine of laying them in the summer and sitting around by the fire in the wintertime when she's in no mood to turn out her quota.

the center of which sit the chiefs around a little fire of peculiar color. They wave their arms wildly, gesticulating in a peculiar way. Their heads jerk and nod in every direction as though their necks were entirely loose in their sockets. Eventually their disconcerted cries drift into harmony and the barbarous chant is heard more distinctly. "Ah-ya, ah-ya," they cry in their native dialect, "great is Manawak, mighty man of medicine. Manawak brings victory to his people for many moons, makes them mightiest of all tribes."

Faster and faster they leap about the circle. The tom-toms booming with increasing cadence. Exhausted braves fall out one by one while others leap into take their places. About and behind them the squaws still bowed down with their faces to the ground keep up their moaning, while the weird dance of the enchanted circle continues.

From above, the Great Spirit looks down upon his red-skinned children and is mightily grieved, for he realizes his creatures have gone astray and he is a jealous Spirit. Some of the braves are wearing wolf heads on their shoulders, but somewhere in the tribe is a member who, outwardly like the rest, wears the heart of a wolf. He is a bad medicine man and has deliberately deceived fellow tribesmen, making them believe he was the cause of all their victories and prosperity; and he must be punished.

The Indian braves and their squaws have long ago sensed something was wrong. Childlike in the simplicity of their faith in the tribal medicine man who posed as a representative of the Great Spirit, yet they realized some mighty tragedy was impending. Several hours ago they looked off toward the south where the horizon seemed to be filled with a murky red atmosphere of an angry threatening nature. In the experience of their oldest members they had never before seen such a phenomenon. Slowly but surely it was approaching their village. The entire tribe was aroused and anxious. All the leading braves had gathered about the tent of their young chief to inquire the cause of such peculiar appearance. But the young chieftan could tell them nothing. In his few years he had never seen such before. Then they turned to their medicine man — the earthly representative of the Great Spirit — but he either could not or would not enlighten them. Sinful and selfish as he was, perhaps he would rather his people should perish than to reveal to them his own hypocrisy.

The atmosphere grew thick and murky. The sun was bedimmed and turned red with an ominous foreboding. Great clouds, the like of which they had never before seen, were drawing near. There was a strange silence passing over the plains causing the shrieks and cries of the bewildered dancers to early in June.

penetrate more keenly the deadening atmosphere which was rapidly becoming surcharged with an unknown danger. Looking off into the surrounding prairies it could be seen that all wild animal life had deserted it. The river took on a strangely colored hue. The birds, that a little while ago were singing sweetly in the bushes growing alongside the stream, had forsaken their nests and fledglings and flown away to safety. Still the atmosphere grew denser. The ominous red clouds were drawing nearer. As far as the eye could penetrate toward the south there seemed to be a convergence of the agitated elements toward the spot where the Indian village lay.

Suddenly and with a mighty roar the storm was upon them. A red darkness enveloped them and the air was filled with stinging, blinding and suffocating sand. The Indians, realizing their blasted hopes, broke up the dance and fled for their lives. The squaws fell flat upon the ground where they had been kneeling and covered their heads with their blankets. The cries of helpless children and little papooses were soon stifled in the onslaught of the maddening holocaust. The wind, now sweeping with hurricane force, uprooted the teepee stakes and swept the buffalo hides and conical shaped wigwags before them with unabated vigor. Here and there the sand began to lodge and drift. Small mounds were visible where suffocated Indians lay, and the sand had already begun to sift over them their final entombment. The mounds grew larger with greater rapidity as the beginning obstructions increased, until finally there were great hills of sand.

(Next week: The storm ends, peafeces come with machines to dig water out of the ground.)

who are in great demand for demonstrations.

The evening concluded with square dance demonstrations presented by Muleshoe and area clubs when Bob Glass was the caller.

Other events of the week have included sidewalk art demonstrations by the Muleshoe Art Club, and elaborate window displays of relics from the past. Many persons also appeared before the downtown microphone to sing, dance or speak. Old-timers had been invited to the platform to be interviewed on their experiences in early days of West Texas. A local band also played.

Altogether the Golden Jubilee celebration has been one of the most successful affairs ever staged in Muleshoe.

STATE CAPITAL

Highlights AND Sidelights

by Vern Sanford

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — Creation of many new lakes in Texas has resulted in a money problem for the State Highway Commission.

Commission Chairman Herb Petry Jr. of Carrizo Springs expounded on the situation when a Nacogdoches delegation headed by Carl Monk and County Judge F. L. Harris came to Austin to ask for a farm-to-market road from Nacogdoches to McGee Bend Reservoir, now 59 per cent complete.

Petry said cities and lakes are draining heavily on state road funds. He pointed out that the State Highway Department worked up a plan for access roads to McGee Bend in 1959. That work has been proceeding in cooperation with the surrounding counties. But there was no new Nacogdoches County road in the plan.

State Highway Engineer D. C. Greer stated that the farm-to-market road law specifically authorizes use of that money for building roads to recreation areas. Petry said some people call these fish-to-market roads.

PADRE'S DEED — Lawyers have drawn up the deed by which state-owned land in Laguna Madre will be transferred to the United States. This land is to become a part of the Padre Island National Seashore.

But deed can't be signed by the School Land Board until the law authorizing the transfer takes effect on August 23.

VACATION — Gov. John Connally and his family took off for the family ranch at Floresville for a brief vacation.

So far his vacation has been interrupted twice for speeches in Austin and Dallas.

Connally also took along a pile of work to do. He has many appointments to state boards, commissions and courts to make. He gathered up a file of letters containing recommendations. These will help him decide whom to name to the two new Courts of Civil Appeals (at Corpus Christi and Tyler), to the new Parks & Wildlife Commission, and to many other state boards.

He also obtained an opinion from Atty. Gen. Wasgoner-Carr, saying that the six new justices he will name need not live in the districts at the time of their appointments. Only requirement is that they move into he district liams and was given a 30-day jail sentence.

Charges against two other persons also were filed in county court this week; Willie Lee Nichols was charged with carrying a deadly weapon, and Jetse Castillo with giving a worthless check.

before they take oath of office. RED REGISTER — Attorney General Carr is taking steps to force Texas' only known communist to register. But he has not decided where to bring suit.

A 1951 law requires any communist remaining in Texas as long as five days to register with the Department of Public Safety. No one ever has registered.

Two weeks ago, U. S. Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy notified the man, a resident of San Antonio, to register within 20 days under a Federal registration law, or face prosecution.

Carr picked up the ball and decided to try to make him register under the unused state law, too.

LIQUOR FINES — People still keep violating the liquor laws.

Liquor Administrator Coke Stevenson Jr., reports last month. There were 738 convictions, with 28 jail terms, for violations. Fines came to $46,172 during the month.

The Lubbock district, mainly dry, was as usual the location of the largest number of cases among the 18 enforcement districts.

INSURANCE UP — Recommendations for higher auto insurance rates have been made to the State board of Insurance, by insurance companies, and the Board's own staff.

Losses under current rates prompt a general statewide increase averaging 8.6 per cent. But there are variations.

Farmers and ranchers, who have chalked up a good no-accident record, will get substantial cuts. They will range from 20 to 36 per cent, in various parts of the state.

City drivers will face higher rates for their public liability insurance. Statistics show that where there are more cars there are more accidents.

State is divided into 26 rating territories. Drivers living in safer areas will pay less for their insurance.

Board will announce its decision soon, and new rates will take effect on August 1.

SEWER AID — State Health Department has compiled a list of 37 cities awaiting word that Congress has appropriated money to continue the federal-aid program for construction of sewage treatment facilities.

These cities have applied for $4,067,626 worth of grants to help them build $15,980,384 worth of projects.

Expected Texas allocation is about $3,200,000. So some will have to do without federal aid — or wait for next year.

ETHICS — Three representatives who piloted a tough code of ethics bill through the House of Representatives still are trying. Reps. James E. Nugent of Kerrville, Robert C. Eckhardt of Houston and Travis Peeler of Corpus Christi presently are seeking help from the Attorney General in drafting a new version for the next session of the Legislature. Later on they hope to talk with Governor Connally about it.

Their bill zoomed through the House. But it was killed in the Senate.

It would prohibit state officials (and legislators) from having extensive business holdings in areas they regulate — or legislate.

SWEDES CELEBRATE — Some 1,300 Texans of Swedish descent gathered in Austin to observe the 125th anniversary of the arrival of the first Swede in Texas.

He was S. M. Swenson, who became quite a power in Texas affairs, and then brought hundreds of other Swedish immigrants to Texas.

Swenson family still operates a large ranch in Throckmorton and Jones Counties.

A program in two languages marked the observance.

CLERKS — Folks who keep the official records in the 254 courthouses of Texas had a convention in Austin.

County Clerk Val D. Hivar of Victoria County wound up as the new president of the County and District Clerks' Association of Texas.

Runnels County Clerk Frankie Berryman was named first vice-president, and will move up to president in 1964.

The late Albert Einstein, noted physicist, became an American citizen in 1940. He was a native of Ulm, Germany.

to convince Cubans that private transportation is an unnecessary frill. . . as present automobiles wear out, they will not be replaced; the Cuban government is importing only trucks and buses from the communist nations." And she sums it up with: "To be deprived of freedom of personal movement, the Cubans are told, is a communist-virtue and a sign of progress."

Another handout is a much more grim one than the plight of the Cubans under communism (and communism is no bowl of cherries anywhere). But this release came from the Texas Association for Mental Health, and it contained some rather alarming figures. It says: "One out of every four families in Texas (as in the rest of the nation) is touched by mental illness. The enormous incidence of the disease recently prompted the American Medical Association to declare mental illness America's most pressing and complex health problem."

And the article says that there are more people in Texas hospitals with mental illnesses than with all other illnesses combined including cancer and heart disease." Mental illness, taxwise, also is expensive. The article says it costs more than $1.5 billion dollars in tax funds each year to care for and treat patients in local, state and federal mental hospitals over the nation. In Texas alone, the tab for state mental hospitals alone runs to $25 million annually, despite the fact that Texas' daily expenditure for each patient still ranks 39th among the 50 states. The article says that "Texas is below the national average in every single aspect of psychiatric and hospital care of the mentally ill."

And a final hand-out this week comes from Huntsville from the Texas Department of Corrections which says that the prison system's 40,000 laying hens don't produce enough eggs at the right time and too many at others.

So Sam Bradley, food service supervisor, came up with the answer: Since they couldn't persuade Biddy that she could do just as good an egg-laying job in the winter as in the summer, they have started freezing the eggs in summer and thawing them out in winter when Biddy gets too chilly to lay her monthly quota of eggs. Seems it's working out real well

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Editor:
My sincere congratulations upon the 50th anniversary of Muleshoe and of the Golden anniversary edition of the Journal. My best wishes go to your staff and to all who made this gigantic edition such a success. Again my congratulations for a job well done.

Bill Clayton, Representative,
91st Texas district

Editor:
My sincere congratulations upon your 50th anniversary; may the paper meet many more deadlines. I have often thought that our local newspapers, reflecting as they do the events, the thoughts and the aspirations of our people, are a most valued treasure of our times. They reflect our communities; they portray our history. In all this, the Muleshoe Journal has done its part most ably. The Muleshoe area has been a leader in agriculture and ranching. Its people believe in freedom and initiative. The result of this happy combination of virtues has been manifold progress. Let us pray that it continues, and I am sure it will.

John G. Tower,
United States Senator, Texas

Editor:
Please extend my congratulations to the people of Muleshoe on the occasion of the 50th anniversary of Muleshoe, marking half a century of progress and success in the agricultural and business fields. It is with a deep sense of pride that the people of Texas, and particularly Bailey County, take note of the anniversary of Muleshoe, a model American town.

My congratulations go also to the Muleshoe Journal for its many years of dedicated service to the people of Muleshoe and for this special anniversary edition, the largest ever published in this Bailey County. I remember well the fine welcome and warm friendship extended me on my many visits there.

With best wishes for the continued success and prosperity of the Muleshoe area, I am
Ralph W. Yarborough
U. S. Senator, Texas

Editor:
I am pleased to learn of the Golden Anniversary Celebration planned for Muleshoe and of the special anniversary edition of the Muleshoe Journal commemorating the occasion.

The growth of Muleshoe and the surrounding area has been tremendous. The phenomenal growth has added greatly to the economic strength of the Southwest. It has not been brought about by chance, but by sturdy people who have faced their problems with resolute purpose. Challenges lie ahead and much remains to be done, but the future should be as bright as we earnestly strive to make it. Strong communities make a strong nation and each community has an important part to play. We have a great country and it is our responsibility to keep it so. We can and I believe we will.

Congratulations to the Journal and to the people of the area upon this Golden Anniversary occasion! I look forward to visiting your city later in the year.

George Mahon
U. S. Congressman,
19th District, Texas

Editor:
Enclosed please find $2 for four of your anniversary editions.

Needless to say I am very interested in Muleshoe, its growth through the years and most of all the people there and around Muleshoe.

Almost 31 years ago I was born there in Muleshoe right on Main street to my parents, Bill and Margaret Collins; I attended school in Muleshoe and was in the first class to graduate from the new high school, 13 years ago.

I have lived in only two towns in my life time thus far — 20 years in Muleshoe and 11 years here in Springdale in the heart of the beautiful Ozarks.

Bill and I now have four children — Earl (Butch) 11½ years, Nannette, 7 years; Brent, 5 years and Brad, 9 months old.

Bill is a building contractor and has as his partner Chet Miller, husband of the former Noretta Harrison of Muleshoe.

Noretta and I love Springdale and Arkansas but Muleshoe will always be home to us — especially as long as our folks — The Collins and The Walter Harrisons live there.

We here in Springdale are getting ready for our big Rodeo next week which will be the 18th annual Rodeo. One of the largest in the RCA.

There are about eight families here in Springdale who come from Muleshoe, and needless to say, we all enjoy visits from anyone from Muleshoe. So come see us!

Editor:
As Governor of Texas, I am pleased and proud to congratulate the citizens of Muleshoe on this 50th anniversary.

Anniversaries are important not only for the memories they evoked of past glories and achievements, but also because they form a base for the stepping-out to forward new and further accomplishments.

The City of Muleshoe is a vibrant example of the progress and potential of agriculture and ranching. I am confident that this tradition of growth will be sustained through your further achievement.

John Connally
Governor of Texas

Editor's note: The following is a letter to the Journal from Maudine Barnes who is on a foreign tour with a church group.

Dear Sir:
I hadn't forgotten that I said I'd write but we've been on the go constantly since we left June 17.

We stayed in Honolulu while in Hawaii. Honolulu is located on the Hawa Island. It is the capitol of Hawaii and has a population of 350,000 people.

We were told four reasons why Hawaii wanted statehood so badly and they were: (1) Federal taxes — they had paid taxes since August 12, 1898 and the citizens of the islands were drafted into our armed forces; (2) Federal aid — as a territory they received some aid but not enough for a state of this size, but now they are matched dollar for dollar for highway construction, etc;

(3) Governor — while they were a territory the governor was appointed by the president but now they can elect governor just as we can and do; (4) Representation — while they were a territory they had one delegate with a voice but no vote now they have 2 senators and 2 representatives with a voice and a vote. In the first vote for statehood was 3 to 1 in favor of statehood.

We visited Punchbowl Crater at which is located the National Memorial Cemetery of the Pacific. There are some 17,000 -18,000 buried here including Earnie Pile. The graves are marked in this way: Cross - Christian, Wagon wheel - Buddhist, Star of David - Jewish. Also located here is the memorial for the navy men with over 36,000 names carved into the stones.

We also visited Pearl Harbor and saw much of the base and were given the history of the actual happenings on December 7, 1941. We saw the memorial built for the U. S. S. Arizona. This was very interesting and very educational.

We arrived in Tokyo, Japan, on June 19, 1963. The following morning we left for a tour of Tokyo. Tokyo as of March 1 had a population of 10,250,805. The housing and traffic are the two most serious problems in Japan. Since the first of the year 5,000 people have been killed in traffic accidents. We visited the Buddhist temple and observed the people as they came and left as well as the ritual inside. At the entrance was a large black pot from which smoke was coming forth; as the people entered they put the smoke over themselves and children as an act of purification. Inside before prayer was begun they would clap their hands. At the end they would toss coins into a large container.

Japan is a very literate nation, the rate is 99.9 percent literate. They are taught to read and write English from the 7th grade up, but very few speak English. We learned that it is compulsory for the dead to be cremated in the cities. There are two reasons for this (1) to save space and (2) to have more sanitation. The cost of cremation here is about $3 in American money and the total cost of a funeral is $30 minimum.

At Nikko we saw the sacred bridge of the Buddhist. The legend of the bridge is that 200 years ago a Buddhist priest came to the wilderness to begin a Buddhist center. One day as he came to cross the river and found it flooded so he prayed and two large snakes appeared and made a bridge for him to cross on. So it is said that the bridge is the spot of this happening.

We visited in the Oi Baptist Church Sunday and had a wonderful time. The whole service was in Japanese but we had about 5 interpreters who interpreted the whole service. Their order of service was a youth Sunday school from 8 to 10 and adult worship Sunday School from 10 to 12. The worship service begins with the sermon and invitation then the offering and announcements. There are about 150-200 members of this church and by observing I would venture to say that they had 200 in the worship service that Sunday. The young people are the most active group in the church having set and reached a goal of 50 young people per worship service; they have now set their goal as 100.

We have seen many temples and shrines in Japan. We learned that the five-story Pagoda is the symbol of Buddhist temples and that the Tari Gate is the symbol of Shinto Shrines.

In the Kyoto area there are 1,500 Buddhist temples and 600 Shinto shrines located. The Baptist have 2 churches and about 16 missions in this area. The Protestant and Catholic have about 300,000 each.

Last evening we were able to witness one of the student demonstrations against the nuclear subs to be stationed here. It was really something to see.

I've had such a wonderful time so far that words can't really express my joy at having this privileged. The group with which I'm traveling is just great and that goes a long way. I'm now coming into Hong Kong so I'll close and write again later.

Here's the REAL Betsy Ross Story

By GENE AYRES
 ELDON, MO. (AP) — A silver-haired matron sits in her parlor and calmly relates how her great-great-grandmother straightened out Gen. George Washington in the matter of a flag — where to put the stars and where to put the stripes.

It's all part of the family lore for 72-year-old Mrs. Carl Buehler, long-time resident of this central Missouri town.

She heard the story from her grandmother who was born and reared in the Philadelphia home of her own grandmother, Mrs. Elizabeth Claypoole — better known as Betsy Ross.

So, Betsy is no legendary Revolutionary figure for Mrs. Rachel Buehler. Instead, the family grapevine passed her down as a bit of a black sheep, a strong-willed woman who left her family of Quaker Tories to marry John Ross, proprietor of an upholstery and flagmaking shop.

Ross was not only an Episcopalian but was involved in that Revolution business as well, and when he died of wounds received in a skirmish, he left his 24-year-old widow to run the business.

Betsy Advises
 As Mrs. Buehler heard it from Betsy's granddaughter, one day Gen. Washington, a man named Morris and a Col. Ross (John's uncle) came into the shop. "Washington wanted a flag," she says. "and he had a six-point star in mind. But Betsy said a five-pointed star would be more symmetrical. She showed them how she could fold a piece of paper and with one snip of the scissors make a perfect five-pointed star."

"Betsy suggested they put the stars in a circle so no state would be ahead. Then the men suggested adding a new stripe for each new state. But she proposed instead to add a new star and keep the stripes for the original 13 states."

Thus, this nation does not now have a 50-stripe flag, which would look, as Betsy may have sensed, like a seersucker suit flying from a flagpole.

She Made More Flags
 It's not known whether Betsy was ever paid for her work on the first Old Glory. But she did make more flags, Mrs. Buehler says, and a receipt for payment to her exists, dated 1777.

Betsy stayed on at the upholstery shop, marrying Joseph Ashburn who was captured and died in a British prison. Another Philadelphia in the prison, John Claypoole, was released and later married Betsy.

"I expect they all knew each other before," Mrs. Buehler says. "Philadelphia was a small town then."

Had Five Daughters
 She has received letters, Mrs. Buehler says, usually from persons named Ross, trying to establish their own lines of descent from the heroine of Revolutionary times.

"They always seem a little disappointed when I tell them that there were no children from either of Betsy's first two marriages," Mrs. Buehler says with a chuckle.

But Betsy's marriage to Claypoole produced five daughters, the eldest, Clarissa, going back to Betsy's home to bear a child after her husband died in an accident.

The new baby was Mrs. Buehler's grandmother.

"My grandmother grew up in Betsy's home and remembered her," Mrs. Buehler says.

Later the child, who became Rachel Wilson Albright, lived for many years with other family members in For Madison, Iowa.

Her youngest son, Daniel, moved to St. Louis where Mrs. Buehler was born.

Inherits Teapot
 "Every summer from the time I was about 6 until I was 16 or 17, I used to go up to Fort Madison and stay all summer long."

says Mrs. Buehler, "and he had a six-point star in mind. But Betsy said a five-pointed star would be more symmetrical. She showed them how she could fold a piece of paper and with one snip of the scissors make a perfect five-pointed star."

Sue Ann Bryant Rites Planned

Funeral services for Sue Ann Bryant, 23, who died in Methodist Hospital, Lubbock, Tuesday at 7:40 a.m. are to be held at 10:30 this morning at the First Baptist Church in Muleshoe, conducted by the Rev. G. W. Fine of Hereford. Burial will be in Littlefield cemetery.

Singleton Funeral home is in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. Bryant, the wife of Kenneth R. Bryant, lived at 210 Morrow, Levelland. She was born in Littlefield April 26, 1940.

She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mooney, Muleshoe. Her grandmother, Mrs. J. M. Phillips, Stegall; a sister, Mrs. Jerry Garlington, Muleshoe, and a brother, Cecil Cunningham, Muleshoe, also survive.

Rites Held Here For C. M. West, 91

Funeral services for Charles Marion West, 91, were held at the First Methodist Church here Tuesday, conducted by the pastor, the Rev. J. Frank Peery. Burial was in Bailey County Memorial Park with Singleton Funeral Home in charge of arrangements.

West died at the ranch home of his daughter, Mrs. Robert A. Sone, Barksdale. Other survivors include two other daughters, Mrs. C. D. Gupton, Muleshoe, and Mrs. Cecil McLaury, Houston; one sister, Mrs. Oral Myers, Barnard, Kans.; 13 grandchildren and 26 great grandchildren.

Bearers of the body were Arnold Morris, H. H. Carlyle, Cecil Davis, Bill Elrod, David Anderson and Tom Smith. Honorary pall bearers included A. C. Gaede, I. W. Haney, Bill McAdams, Claude Beavers, Ira Smith, Byron Waller, R. J. Klump, Ray Smith, Clifton Finley and Jay Wyer.

West, who was born in Mercer Co., Mo., Sept. 10, 1871, had lived here since 1916 until four months ago when he went to Barksdale to visit. Before coming here he had lived in Lincoln Co., Kans. His wife, Nellie Blanche Hoyt West, died in 1962.

the story over and over again. I'd help her polish the silver and she'd tell me it was to be mine."

But, of the full silver service which had belonged to Betsy, Mrs. Buehler only has a stag-handled teapot.

She occasionally excites the ladies of the Daughters of the American Revolution when the local chapter meets at her modest two-story home, by pouring from Betsy Ross's teapot.

Mrs. Buehler tells the narrative in an easy going way without a hint of superpatritism.

She is neither Quaker nor Episcopalian, but Baptist. She and her husband are quietly part of this town of 3,100 where he operated a drug store 45 years until retiring last year.

The Buehlers have a son, an Eldon physician, and two grandchildren, including Elaine, 15. That's where Betsy Ross's teapot is going.

"But she doesn't seem very interested in it right now," M. S. Buehler observes.

TIPS... FROM THE OFFICE OF HOME DEMONSTRATION AGENT JEAN MARTIN

Tuesday, while I was giving a lesson on Nutrition to a group of young homemakers, I decided to pass along some of the same hints to you.

When buying bread or cereal products one should always check to see if they are enriched, whole grain, or restored. Modern manufacturing processes often remove all the food value from cereal products except the calories. If the vitamins and minerals are not returned to the product (enriched) we aren't getting anything but fat.

The reason for this is that a vitamin called thiamine is necessary for carbohydrate to be utilized as energy. When this vitamin is not present, the carbohydrates are stored as fat until enough thiamine is available to convert it to energy.

Vitamin C is the vitamin more Americans are deficient in than any other. This could be explained by the fact that few foods are high in the Vitamin C, and these, such as orange juice, are consumed chiefly at breakfast. Many people neglect to eat breakfast or only eat a doughnut and drink a cup of coffee. This lack of vitamin C in the diet is the reason many people lose their teeth at an early age due to gum trouble.

Dusters Whip Colts In Little League Play

The Johnson-Pool Dusters batted the Plains Auto Colts out of the Babe Ruth ball park in Little League action Friday night, when they bested the Colts 12 to 6.

John Thompson's pitching arm won the game for the Dusters, while Bobby Morris' pitching lost the game for the Colts.
