Anarchy Threatens Rumania After Bloody Assassinations

Premier Antonescu Hastens To Put Down Further Iron Guard Trouble In Wednesday Purge Of Sixty-four

Violence Starts When Rebel Wing Of Group Inflicts Revenge For Murder Of Ex-Leader; Former Premier, Jorga, Is Victim Of Bullet

BULLETIN

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Nov. 28 (AP).—German troops were brought into the capital today from Pitesti, 65 miles away, to help protect the city as the Iron Guard purge of former members of King Carol's regime continued with the assassination of Former Premier Nicolai Jorga.

By The Associated Press

BUDAPEST, Nov. 28.—Rumanian Premier Gen. Ion Antonescu struggled today to check possible anarchy in his new Iron Guard state as self-appointed execution squads of green-shirted Guardists were reported threatening the lives of every political enemy in Rumania.

The outbreak of vengeance in which at least 64 Rumanians met violent death yesterday, including generals and cabinet ministers under former King Carol, was said to have touched off a virtual reign of terror. Both Antonescu and Vice Premier Horia Sima, leader of the pro-Nazi Guard, pleaded for "legality, justice and order."

These reports slipped past a screen of censorship: The blood purge, started by a rebellious wing of the Iron Guard "legionary movement," struck down not only those incarcerated in Jilava prison but also numerous politicians who never were arrested.

DNB, German new agency, reported from Bucharest that among the victims of the Iron Guard purge was Nicholas Jorga, who was premier from April 18, 1931, to May 31, 1932. He was abducted from his home at Sinalea, the report said, and his bullet-pierced body was found later on a highway.

Antonescu issued a decree providing severe penalties for "violations of personal liberty" and fixing sentences up to death for thefts of public funds.

Despite the decree, however, bands of guardists were reported taking the law into their own hands and driving Jews from shops and synagogues in the Rumanian town of Braila. Heavy guards were posted all around public buildings in Bucharest and soldiers patrolled the streets.

All Is Bedlam Only protest government protection saved former Premier Gheorghe Tatarescu and Ion Gigitu and former War Minister Gen. Gheorghe Iasievici from assassination.

Antonescu himself is considering resigning if extremist guardists cannot be restrained.

The whereabouts of Juliu Maniu, famed leader of the one-time National Peasant party, is not known and fears are expressed for his safety. He has had a strong bodyguard since Iron Guard rule began after Carol's abdication in September.

Antonescu's effort to cool off the Iron Guard extremists are backed by German divisions on Rumanian soil and by Rumanian garrisons, both reported ready for instant action.

Guard Avenges Death A terse government communique acknowledged the purge by bullets yesterday in Jilava prison and said the government "disapproves."

The Iron Guard, in power since it overthrew the regime of King Carol II and chased him from the country, admittedly was settling its chief political score—avenging the death of its founder, Corneliu Zelea Codreanu.

Plans to take the bodies of Codreanu and his 13 slain lieutenants from Jilava for services in the Orthodox Cathedral in Bucharest Sunday a burial in the National Heroes cemetery were announced by Green House officials, who previously had named the last week of November a period of "mourning and revenge."

The green-shirted executioners, it was said, themselves announced to police that they had carried out the Jilava purge but none was held, even for questioning.

A two-ton slab of concrete was said to have been removed from the grave before Codreanu's body could be removed, then the bodies of the slain political prisoners were dumped in and the slab replaced.

Wild Ward Gasser Is Killed With Mud

By Frank Gardner Oil Editor

Ward County's wild gasser, the Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 2-41 Sealy, was brought under control yesterday, ending a five-day struggle of man against nature's subterranean forces.

Since blowing in Thursday midnight, the well had defied efforts to stem flow of gas by pumping in hundreds of tons of mud under pressure and fire hazard had paralyzed traffic in the area, causing re-routing through Wink of westbound vehicles and "coasting" of railroad trains through the gas-permeated area. A shift of wind yesterday forced suspension of operations at the Cabot carbon black plant.

The Magnolia well is the most spectacular gasser hit in the Permian Basin since the old Marland Eaves well in Lea County, N. M. No. 2-41 Sealy, located in section 41, block F, G. & M.M.B.A. survey, blew out at total depth of 2,880 feet in lime and at its peak was making an estimated 70,000,000 cubic feet of gas with spray of from 25 to 50 barrels of oil per day. Engineers estimated rock pressure in the neighborhood of 1,600 to 1,700 pounds per square inch.

Hole Cemented. An imposing array of Halliburton trucks was ordered to the scene yesterday. There were six power-driver trucks, two steam-driven trucks and the well's two mud-hogs. Six "pots" or boilers were tied up, three on the east and three on the west side of the well as precaution against change in direction of wind.

Heavy mud was pumped into drillpipe through four lines and the well showed signs of subsiding at 10:30 a.m. yesterday. It was dead by 11:20 a.m. but crews continued to pump in mud until 3 a.m. today. No returns were obtained, indicating that an enormous cavity had been penetrated. Early today hole was cemented with 4,000 sacks of cement, and 100 sacks of calseal were pumped in between drillpipe and casing.

It is doubtful that Magnolia ever will try to drill out cement and complete the well as an oiler. No. 2-41 Sealy is only 1,320 feet north of the firm's No. 1-41 Sealy, second and larger of two producers in the Magnolia-Sealy (South) pool. No. 1-41 Sealy showed only a nominal amount of gas in the same horizon in which No. 2-41 struck the tremendous flow.

Dean To Plug Back. Drilling was halted at 5,150 feet in Atlantic Refining Company and Ray R. Rhodes of Midland No. 1 C. S. Dean, three-mile west outpost to the Duggan pool of Southeastern Cochran County. Owners will plug back with lead wool and cement to 5,114 feet to shut off bottom-hole salty sulphur water. They then will acidize porous, oily lime from 5,078 to 5,114 feet from which the well had bled a barrel of oil hourly. Water zone was entered at 5,114 feet.

RAF warplanes carried out a "heavy and successful" attack on Cologne, in the German Rhineland, the British said, and renewed forays against the Nazi "invasion" ports of Le Havre, Boulogne and Antwerp.

London had an air raid alarm lasting an hour and a half shortly after dawn today.

A Greek government spokesman said Greek troops had broken "systematically fortified" positions at Pogradetz, about 20 miles north of Florina.

High-flying German raiders returned to the attack on England shortly after dawn, stirring an hour-and-a-half alarm in London.

A bomb tore off the roof of a London hospital, it was reported, killing patients and a nurse, while other explosives started a fire which could be seen for miles.

British censors permitted disclosure that two of London's most famous hotels—the Savoy, near Charing Cross in the Strand, and the Carlton—have been damaged in recent raids.

From the Yugoslav border, near one of the fiercest battles in the Greek-Italian war, reports said that Greek troops attempting a flanking movement had broken through, been pushed back and that the Italians were holding their lines along the Cerava River, five miles to the south.

Airport Project Construction To Start Saturday

Work scheduled to start today on Midland's $151,003 airport improvement project was postponed to Saturday as the city purchased two new trucks to transport workers to the project.

Transportation of workers must conform to safety regulations and we are having the trucks fixed to accordance in every detail as a matter of safety," City Engineer L. A. Rodenhiser said.

It was learned that a street repair project in the city will be stopped to allow 43 workers to transfer to the airport project.

Materials Figure. Rodenhiser has drawn specifications for materials that the city will furnish. Bids will be accepted later, he said.

Materials bought by the city will be purchased in Midland while federal materials will be purchased through the WPA state procurement office, Rodenhiser said.

Eighty-five men are expected to start clearing land at the airport Saturday. The project calls for 125 employees, and a nine months contract schedule.

The landing field will be increased by 240 acres. The project calls for construction of a 120 by 120 foot tie hangar; a 4100 foot runway, paved, and flanked by contact lights; a new drainage system for the entire field; and paved taxi strips.

This informant says strict censorship kept the invasion a secret. The paper says the invaders were supposed to have come from the German raider which sank the British freighters King John and Davistonia last July 10 about 240 miles northeast of the Virgin Islands.

Survivors of the British ships have said the raider was disguised as a Swedish ship with the name "Narvik" painted on her sides.

Administration To Renew Pressure For Regulatory Laws In Congress, Secretary Declares In Conference

Explains Legislation Needed More Than Ever Because Of War Demands On World's Supplies; Cites Viewpoint Oil Belongs To Government

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28 (AP).—Renewed and increased administration pressure for passage by the next Congress of oil production regulatory laws was foreseen today in remarks of Secretary Ickes.

Answering questions at his press conference as to whether the Interior Department would resume its support of the principles embodied in the Cole bill to grant partial federal control of petroleum production, Ickes replied: "More strongly than ever."

He added that the legislation was needed more than ever because of war demands on world oil supplies. He declared that domestic reserves would be "affected sooner or later," despite the present "temporary" accumulation of stocks through a falling off of exports.

Wants Land Titles. Commenting on current legislation to give the government title to submerged coastal lands bearing large oil deposits, Ickes said he personally supported such a measure but did not know now whether he would appear before a congressional committee next session in its behalf.

Replying to a question whether the government might go to court in an effort to obtain control of oil reserves off the California coast, Ickes said he "couldn't say now what policy" would be followed.

"Both the navy and interior departments believe that oil belongs to the government, or ought to," he concluded.

State officials of California, Texas and Louisiana, where the principal submerged petroleum reserves are located, have opposed the legislation.

A Cry From Tortured China

For more than three years China has been overrun by Japanese armies, her cities bombed from the air, her ports shelled from the sea. Hundreds of thousands have been killed. Many more thousands have died from exposure, starvation, and disease.

For the most part China has fought alone. She has stood up against awful odds. But there are limits to the agony men and women can endure. To emphasize this, it is only necessary to quote one paragraph from a recent report from Hong Kong by Madame Chiang Kai-shek, wife of the head of the Chinese government and commander of its armies.

This Chinese Christian woman, appealing to Americans of all creeds, said:

"The temporary closing of the Burma Road has so depleted our medical supplies that major operations are still being performed without anesthetics. The sight of men and women and children being tortured in agony, and our utter helplessness to alleviate their pain, are experiences which I hope will never be known by other people."

To try to bring some help to China, a China Emergency Relief Committee has been formed, largely by the same people who a few months ago constituted the Women's Committee of Tribute to China.

That voluntary committee did its bit toward relieving the terrible suffering of Chinese soldiers and civilians. It furnished 200 base hospitals with sterilizers so badly needed when operations are performed, and 50 hospitals with modern surgical implements to take the place of crude ones hammered hastily out of pieces of old iron. It gave 200 hospitals much-wanted microscopes. In addition, it supplied 150,000 doses of abatine for the treatment of 35,000 people suffering from malignant malaria, about one million quinine tablets for the further fight against malaria epidemics and 350,000 doses of sulphathiazole, the so-called "magic bullet" used in coping with bubonic plague.

Even these figures are not impressive when compared with the terrible needs of a stricken people whose numbers run into uncounted millions.

There is, as a consequence, one more urgent call to American charity. Everybody recognizes that the appeals to that charity are seemingly endless. America is asked to alleviate hunger and suffering all over the world.

China has one very big claim to help: in resisting Japan, she is resisting and maybe helping to exhaust a war-making totalitarian state none too friendly to the United States.

Pacific Coast Fans Want Aggies In Bowl

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 28 (AP)—Thousands of transplanted Texans and football observers hereabouts awaited with keen interest the outcome of the Texas A. & M.-Texas football game today, for on the outcome may rest an invitation to play in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena Jan. 1.

Evidence of this interest was seen in an annual "post card" poll conducted by the Los Angeles Times. Strictly unofficial, it invites the public to "vote" a preference for the Rose Bowl bid.

Sports Editor Paul Zimmerman reported he was "snowed" under by votes for Texas A. and M. and that the Aggies were far ahead of other possible participants.

Officials of the Pacific Coast conference Rose Bowl team—which apparently will be Stanford University—naturally have the final say on which team will be invited West. But it seems a safe guess here that the Stanford delegation at Palo Alto was deeply interested in the Aggie-Longhorn game too.

Texas Boxing Czar To Clean Up Sport

By Ray Neuman
Associated Press Staff
Bearing the appellation of "a right guy" from most of the state's boxing and wrestling clans, Travis Cromwell McCall, Texas' "boxing czar," has squared off against dirty work in the ring.
The 34-year-old former fighter, who has trained and handled hundreds of boxers, has the official title of "first assistant to the commissioner of the state bureau of labor statistics" and is chief of he boxing and wrestling division in that department.
No sooner had he taken office by appointment of Labor Commissioner Joe Kunschik, than he drastically revised the state's boxing and wrestling rules and regulations in an attempt to "put teeth" in the code.
To Clean Up Game
His objective, and he works hard at it, is to "clean up and keep clean" the fight game.
"I love the sport," he says simply, "and, unless the customers—the guys who pay the freight—get a square deal, the game will take a dive."

Army Gives Present To 60,000 Prospects

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28 (AP)—The army is going to give a lot of prospective citizen soldiers a Christmas present, officials said today, by not taking any of them away from their homes and into the service between December 15 and January 3.
The original working schedule called for some 60,000 to be summoned during this yuletide period.
Two reasons were mainly responsible for the "Christmas present" decision, officials explained:
1—The situation did not appear so compelling as to require induction of the selective service trainees during the holidays.
2—Many of the units to which the new men would be sent would be depleted by Christmas furloughs, and time spent with them might be largely wasted.

Britain And Spain In New Trade Agreement

LISBON, Portugal, Nov. 28 (AP)—Diplomatic sources in Lisbon reported today that a new trade pact between Great Britain and Spain had been completed in Madrid negotiations.
They said the text had been agreed upon and initialing of it by representatives of the two countries was expected momentarily.
While provisions of the treaty were not divulged, it was described as considerably broader than a previous agreement, with a clearing arrangement permitting Spain to purchase commodities in the entire "sterling" area.

It is the same with Paris in District 2 against Denison tonight at Denison.

Ties are in prospect for Districts 11 and 12.
Tyler plays Marshall and if the former wins it will clinch at least a tie for the leadership. Longview can do the same with a victory over Gladewater tomorrow.

Jacksonville, Lufkin and Mexia, deadlocked for the top in District 12, play Palestine. Henderson and Nacogdoches respectively to finish the campaign.

CAMACHO TO REORGANIZE MEXICAN PARTY, PRM

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 28 (AP)—Political circles reported today that president-elect General Manuel Avila Camacho had decided to reorganize Mexico's dominant political party, the Mexican Revolutionary Party, (PRM), and rename it the National Democratic Party, (PDN).

They said it would be stripped of its centralized powers to name candidates for state and national offices and to supervise elections, count votes and carry on similar other activities. These powers would go to the ministry of interior.

Texans Influence To Increase In Congress

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28 (AP)—The seventy-seventh Congress will find Texans more entrenched than ever in their positions on important committees in the House.
The Democratic landslide in the Nov. 5 election assured those who are already chairmen of committees retention of their positions. Except in the case of Representative Marvin Jones of Amarillo, who returns from Congress to become a Federal Judge, there will be no decrease in the number of Texans assigned to the important or so-called "major" committees. Jones is chairman of the agriculture committee.

33 Won't Return
Defeat in either the Democratic primary elections or the general election or failure to seek re-election, accounted for the fact that at least 33 incumbent Democrats will not answer the House roll call Jan. 3. Their absence will automatically cause the elevation in committee rank of five Texans, and may make possible the promotion of others to major committees who now are assigned to those considered less important.
Texas Senators Morris Sheppard, chairman of the Military Affairs Committee, and Tom Connally, chairman of the Public Buildings and Grounds Committee, should retain those positions in the next Congress.

Death Takes Largest Toll Last 3 Months

AUSTIN, Nov. 28 (AP)—Death

reaps its biggest harvest on Texas highways during the last three months of the year.

The Texas Safety Association reminds motorists and pedestrians of this condition in pleading for extra precaution in November and December.

This trend has been evident since 1937, as the accompanying graph shows. Statistics show the first nine months of 1939 took an average toll of 125 lives monthly. Yet the fatalities jumped to an average of 154 in the closing months. The reason for the increase, the experts say, is concentration of traffic at football games, the exhaustion of cooler weather

ANY NIGHT'S THE NIGHT FOR

Chocolate Marshmallow FUDGE

By MARY BLAKE
Home Service Dept., Carnation Co.

If you haven't tried fudge made the Carnation way, you've missed something. The milk adds a fine-grained smoothness that stamps you as an artist in candy making. The orange rind contributes a zesty note—and the marshmallows make your fudge different from the common or garden variety.

2 cups sugar
3 tablespoons butter
1 cup Carnation Milk, undiluted
Put sugar, milk and chocolate in saucepan. Heat gradually to the boiling point and let boil until mixture will form a soft ball when tried in cold water (240° F.) Remove from fire, add butter, and when cool, beat until creamy. Add grated orange rind and just before turning fudge into pan, fold in marshmallows, cut in quarters. Makes 30 pieces.

America's Card Authority.

In winning the Metropolitan team-of-four championship, the Mayfair Bridge Club team of New York, consisting of Harry Fishbein, Phil Abrams, Morrie Elis and Fred Kaplan, successfully defended the title they won last year. This is, in fact, the third time that each of these players' names appears on the trophy. The team is one of the outstanding foursomes in the country.

Harry Fishbein, one of the holders of the world championship Masters pair title, is an accurate reader of distribution and uncannily places the high cards. When the king of diamonds was opened, he refused to win the trick and North continued with the jack. Fishbein then went up with the ace, took two rounds of trumps and ruffed out the third diamond. He felt confident that South held the king and queen of hearts, otherwise he would not have had sufficient high cards to justify an opening bid.

At this point Fishbein led the five of clubs, North played low, dummy's ten-spot went on and South was forced to win the queen. As South had neither spades nor diamonds, he had to lead a heart or a club. If he led the king of hearts, Fishbein would refuse to win, conserving the ace-jack, while a club lead would be up to dummy's king, giving Fishbein the extra trick he needed for his contract.

Of course, South scooped his partner for not shifting to a club at once after the diamond king held. Such defense is always easier to see after the hand is over.

DIPLOMATS CONFER

SERIAL STORY

DUDE COLLEGE

BY OREN ARNOLD

COPYRIGHT, 1940, NEA SERVICE, INC.

YESTERDAY: When Wesley's stammered explanations fail to explain anything, Ronnie rushes him away, leaving Andre and Lona together. Carefully Andre reveals the ring that is to identify him to his confederate. Lona glances it, then turns on him, furiously. “Why did you delay? The high ones demand action?”

WESLEY EXPLAINS Chapter XI

They climbed the stone stair with the beautiful wrought iron railing, passed through the gymnasium balcony and out an arched door onto the roof of another arched colonnade such as connected the Pueblo University buildings around a large patio. The roof here made a promenade with a knee-high rail, and Andre led Lona Montoya into a moon shadow cast by a high, rustling palm tree.

She put aside her crutch now because they were quite alone. Music from the dance floor seeped out and up to them suggesting a subtle background for romance, but only Andre responded to its suggestion. He looked at Lona with a sudden amused, half-smirking smile.

“You’re beautiful when you are angry,” he informed her.

“Did you come here on business or on pleasure?” Her voice was snappish. “You have taken too many drinks already tonight.”

“Oh, take it easy kid. I think we could get along fine!” He fingered her arm, up and down. “Would you like a drink yourself? Now?”

“I am being paid to do a job and you are being paid to do a job. Mr. Girardeau. And we both know we can be found murdered if we fail. Why do I have to remind you of that?”

Andre laughed. “This isn’t the moment for business! This is a lovely autumn evening! Look at the stars, my dear.”

“I am not your dear.” He smiled genially at her. He had been walking slowly, with an arm around her as if in deference to her sprained ankle, which both knew was pretense. He held her a little closer, noting with satisfaction—that she did not resist.

“I beg pardon, but this is hardly a safe place for—”

“You again, eh?” said a voice, unmistakably Andre’s. “I suppose you’d prefer to kiss her yourself?”

“You—really would have gone to the dance with me? Me?” Wesley held out a hand as if in supplication.

“Certainly!”

He looked away, contrite. Ronnie sensed his mood.

“Wes,” she resumed, kindly, “why did you think I might not? Didn’t you—believe me?”

He nodded. “At first. But—oh goodness, Ronnie, you really are a lady in every way! To be very frank, I was scared. I, uh, have not had many dates. Not in years. I have but little money, whereas you, the Baileys, and this Girardeau—” He paused, still looking off.

“I think I understand Wes. But it’s foolish, I mean, unfair.”

despite her words. He wanted her to feel his strong arm.

“Like it out here?” He purred that ever so intimately. “Like me?”

She didn’t answer.

But she sat on the low railing, 20 feet above the patio grass, and listened while he paid her numerous complaints. It was exceedingly easy to listen to suave Andre Girardeau. His technique was a studied one that he had used many times before.

The patio there was really a half-acre courtyard, landscaped with grass as rich as a golf green, with shrubs that banked impressively against the tan buildings, with tall curved palms and with vines that somehow managed to bedeck themselves with flowers even in fall.

It had been an obvious place for Ronica Bailey, to lead her distressed professor friend when she wanted privacy. They had found a rustic bench beside a trickling fountain, and Ronica was sitting in the dim moonlight, hands behind her neck and head back so that she looked up at him. She was Beauty itself in this perfect setting, but Wesley was too upset to observe such things now.

“Stand if you prefer, Wes. But please start talking.”

“I, uh, Ronnie, I—” He took out his handkerchief to mop his chin, although he could hardly have been perspiring.

“Yes?” she encouraged. “We are out here to explain things. Aren’t we?”

“Quite so. I mean—yes, Ronnie. He sat down beside her. “I hope you will not stay angry at me. I—I came to your home. But your father said—he said that this, uh, Girardeau was taking you to the dance, and Girardeau was just ahead of me.”

Ronica’s knees were crossed and she was swinging one very shapely lower limb as if to express impatience.

“On the contrary, Wes, you arrived just ahead of Andre. He even ran into your car, Daddy said. He had been drinking. You could have come in first. Besides, I don’t care what Daddy told you. He’s an old dear, but you didn’t have to listen to him. You made the date with me, not with him!”

“You—really would have gone to the dance with me? Me?” Wesley held out a hand as if in supplication.

“Certainly!”

He looked away, contrite. Ronnie sensed his mood.

“Wes,” she resumed, kindly, “why did you think I might not? Didn’t you—believe me?”

He nodded. “At first. But—oh goodness, Ronnie, you really are a lady in every way! To be very frank, I was scared. I, uh, have not had many dates. Not in years. I have but little money, whereas you, the Baileys, and this Girardeau—” He paused, still looking off.

“I think I understand Wes. But it’s foolish, I mean, unfair.”

“I know. But this Girardeau mistook me for a servant and said so. I was trying to apologize for any car damage, when—”

Under the spell of her kindness there the young professor talked himself out. He told more than he had meant to, really; more of his inner feelings.

But he found this good, and it somehow warmed him to Ronica Bailey more than ever, although to keep from revealing this new warmth of feeling he presently lagged back into a formal manner and tone. Then they had talked for perhaps half an hour Ronnie stood up.

“I’m so happy we understand each other,” she said, “and I think I shall go explain more to Andre now.”

“No,” said Wesley, with sudden determination. “I shall go myself. I—I wish to demonstrate that I am not, uh, afraid of him. Not afraid.”

He left her at once. She was smiling at his boyish way, which could be in such contrast to Wesley York, the professor. She sat down again to wait, and with arms still behind her head, she gazed at the gymnasium with its lights inside and at the arched colonnade bathed in moon glow.

Her attention was attracted by two figures on the colonnade; man and girl, on the roof. Apparently the girl was sitting, the man standing over her.

Ronica leaned forward, straining to see. The two on the roof wore no more than black forms, not quite clear even in silhouette. Curious, she strolled over toward the colonnade to stare upward, and began to hear talking although words were indistinguishable in the music from the dance floor.

Then all at once a door from the gymnasium balcony opened and Wesley stood in unmistakable outline up there. He saw the two figures at once and hastened to them and spoke.

“I beg pardon, but this is hardly a safe place for—”

“You again, eh?” said a voice, unmistakably Andre’s. “I suppose you’d prefer to kiss her yourself?”

“You—really would have gone to the dance with me? Me?” Wesley held out a hand as if in supplication.

He looked away, contrite. Ronnie sensed his mood.

Midland Wins 26-13 Game From Andrews

Led by speedy little Ivan "Lizard" Hall and plunging Windell Williams, a mixed eleven of reserves and seniors—Bulldogs yesterday ran over stubborn Andrews, 26-13, to close the 1940 season and earn a trip to the SMU-TCU game in Dallas Saturday.

Halfback Hall scored three touchdowns—the first from 7 yards after a penalty nullified his first dash across the double stripe; the second on a 40-yard canter after taking Williams' 13-yard pass; and third in the last stanza with a twisting run of 15 yards.

Williams Effective
Williams, leading scorer in District 3-A, engineered the Bulldog offense but did not try to score. He talled the extra point after the last touchdown. The big back accounted for most of Midland's 22 first downs, and threw one touchdown pass.

The outstanding play of the game was the tricky execution of a double lateral after a compelled pass just before the gun signaled the half. Williams passed to Foster, who lateral to Ward, then Ward lateral to Williams. The play netted 31 yards.

In a rough tilt, Midland drew 115 yards in penalties, seven times for 15 yards.

Score Start
The two elevens battled to a scoreless draw in the first quarter. But Midland came back in a rush to score early in the second. Hall swept 7 yards to climax an 80-yard drive. He went over from the 2 but an offside penalty carried the ball back to the 7 and on the next play, to the other end, Hall countered.

Billy Hall's place kick attempt for the extra point struck the crossbar and bounded through for the one-pointer.

The Bulldogs tallied again in this quarter with Green intercepting an Andrews pass on the Midland 43. Williams tossed 13-yards to I. Hall, and the latter scampered over. Williams' place-kick for extra point was low.

Registers After Kickoff
Midland brought the second half kickoff back to a touchdown. Williams carried from the 15 to the 32. There a goalward drive began. Payton Anderson nudged over from inches away. B. Hall's place-kick was low and blocked.

Scrapping Andrews retaliated on the next kickoff. Two 15-yard penalties on Midland aided a 66-yard advance. Echoles, fullback, and Kate Thompson, quarter, gained on running plays, and Joe Dillard, in two plays scored from the 25. His payoff run was for 5. Dillard booted the extra point.

Promoter Thomas said only 3,200 tickets were available. Orders for seats already are being received, he said.

good for 1, and then Dillard loped 25 yards around to the goal. His point kick was low.

The Bulldogs waited until the last quarter to clinch the game. Williams and Hall alternated at carrying to the 15. From there Hall threaded his way to the goal zone. Williams, attempting to place-kick, had to run, but he circled end for the point.

Heisman Trophy Goes To Minute Man Of Michigan

NEW YORK, Nov. 28 (AP)—This year's Heisman Memorial Trophy has been won by Thomas Dudley Harmon, the minute man from Michigan, and besides proving that your Uncle Dudley is quite a halfback, the voting also showed linesmen still don't get much attention when honors are being passed around.

Harmon received the unprecedented total of 1,393 points in the balloting of sportswriters and broadcasters for the annual award of Downton Athletic Club of New York to the nation's outstanding college gridders.

Of the nine other players who were given something more than passing mention, seven were backs, John Kimbrough of Texas A. and M. topped this contingent with 84 points followed by George Frank of Minnesota with 102, Frank Albert of Stanford with 90 and Paul Christian of Missouri with 66.

The only linemen given recognition were Bob Suffridge, Tennessee guard, and Marshall Robnett, big Texas Aggie guard, who were rated right behind Harmon and Kimbrough in the Southeast and Southwest regional voting.

Cowboys Face Final Hurdle In Contest With Howard Payne

The Hardin-Simmons Cowboys face their final hurdle Saturday in the drive to an undefeated, untied season and a possible bowl bid.

The only Texas college team outside of Texas A. and M. with a perfect record, the Ranchers face Howard Payne at Brownwood seeking their thirteenth victory in a row.

Texas Tech, undefeated but once tied, meets its semi-final test against New Mexico University at Albuquerque Saturday.

Tech To Play Dons
Tech has another game after this week, tangling with the San Francisco Dons at San Francisco Dec. 7. Hardin-Simmons defeated the Dons 28-18 last week.

All told there are eight games on the schedule this week for Texas minor conference and independent college teams. One of them—the clash of West Texas State and St. Mary's at San Antonio—will decide the Alamo Conference title should West Texas win.

McMurry plays Oklahoma City University in a game of 12-man football at Oklahoma City today.

Houston Youths Lost In Yacht Are Found

HOUSTON, Texas, Nov. 28 (AP)—Three youths missing from a yacht in the Gulf of Mexico have been found. Houston relatives learned early today, but the owner of the vessel, Ray Bogges of Houston, is still missing.

Carlton Bogges, 17, son of the yacht's owner, Denzil Hollis, 17, of Houston, and George Erickson, 21 Galveston seaman, reached Brownsville last night after being picked up by Mexican fishermen from the beach about 150 miles south of there.

A fourth member of the party, W. D. Nolan of Houston, was rescued from the drifting yacht by the crew of a coast guard boat.

Aggies And Steers Start Classic Tilt

AUSTIN, Nov. 28 (AP)—Cloaked in a jinx that has held good for 18 years, a University of Texas team today set out in the sunshine of a crackling, chilly day to do what 19 teams before them have failed to do—beat the robot Texas Aggie football machine.

The largest college football throng in all Southwest history—45,000—were on hand to watch the challenge of an underdog Texas team carrying a heritage handed down since 1922.

It was that long ago that an Aggie eleven beat a Texas team in Austin.

More than the cracking of that jinx was ahead of Jarrin John Kimbrough and his Aggies, however. First, there was the business of becoming the first team in history to win the Southwest conference title twice in a row; second, nailing down a handsome bid for the Rose Bowl game; third, stretching to 20 a consecutive winning game streak that would carry through two full seasons and Sugar Bowl game.

Incidentally, not since that Sugar Bowl triumph over Tulane on Jan. 1 of this year has the Aggie team been behind in a football game. Southern Methodist held them to a 7-7 half-time tie.

Not since the Texas game of 1938 has Texas A&M lost a football game. On that day they confidently roared into Austin a two or three touchdown favorite; went out a beaten team, 6-7.

Texas has a good football team, one that has won six games and lost only two.

Coach D. X. Bible hinted "that the only way to stop Kimbrough's jolting run and Marion Pugh's poisoning passing was to 'spend the afternoon in the Aggie backfield.'"

Counts On Ends
Two big, fast ends, Malcolm Kutner and Preston Flanagan were the men for the job.

Too, the Texans planned a veritable storm of passes with Pete Layden, great fullback and pitcher, as the wheelhorse. Glaring in the Aggie statistics is that 811 yards the enemy has whipped through them on passes.

But the Aggies have proved both in rain and shine that the passing monkeyshines against them can go just so far. Only three touchdowns have seeped across the Aggies goal line through the air—and, strangely, all were on long, freak completions. The Cadet pass defense has a strange way of getting very good when enemy gets down to the 20-yard line.

Two Casualties
Only one major casualty for both teams was listed before the kickoff. There was still doubt that Marion Pugh, the Aggies' coach play selector and passer who has heaved for almost 700 yards, would be able to play any length of time. He has missed many days of practice while hospitalized with a leg injury.

Texas' Ted Dawson, a fine guard, returned to practice only Wednesday after spending days having an infected hand treated.

Cowboy Jack Crain, the wild Nacoma jackrabbit, was still favoring ailing ankles, but Coach Bible said he would be near top condition. The kickoff is at 2:30 p. m.

Odessa And Wink Start Big Game

ODESSA, Nov. 28 (Special)—The Odessa Bronchoes and Wink Wildcats clashed today in the final game of the season for the former. The kickoff was at 2:30 p. m. on Fly Field.

Wink, winner in District 7-A, plays Ballinger next week in bi-district competition.

Odessa will strive to break a jinx of 10 years standing, held by the smaller school.

Ten regulars will be playing their last game for the Bronchos. They are: Billy Hogan, the passer, Red Coats, defensive ace and center; Ed Thomas, veteran guard; Raymond "Sugar" Evans, tackle; R. D. Slay, tackle; E. J. Hubbrook, tackle; Lon Henderson, pass-snatching end; Fred Christian, Lewis Bewley, and Royce Meadows, starting backs.

To Make a Long Tale Short

An acquaintance of ours recently consulted his family physician regarding a cure for snoring, and the doctor asked him if it disturbed his wife. Harmon To Front In Yard Gaining SEATTLE, Nov. 28 (AP)—A week ago today American football statistical bureau figures showed that Tom Harmon of Michigan would have to stage a yard-eating feat against Ohio State or fall short of his 1939 ground gaining feats.

So Harmon had the feast and topped his feats.

He packed the ball 26 times for 161 yards against Ohio State.

This put him back in first place as the country's leading ground gainer with 1,368 yards.

Knolla Has Chance
Only player with a chance to catch "Number 98" in total offense—gains rushing and passing—is Creighton's Johnny Knolla, who has been hovering around the first ten all season and who led last week.

Open Price of Texas Mines kept his lead as the top punter, although punting averages showed decided shrinkage in all cases except those where the booter had an open date.

Porkers And Tulsa U. Meet In Anti-Climax

TULSA, Okla., Nov. 28 (AP)—With the Missouri Valley championship in the bag, Tulsa's Golden Hurricane faced a thrilling anti-climax to the 1940 football season to day in its traditional Thanksgiving clash with the Arkansas Razorbacks.

The experts predicted Tulsa would win by a one-touchdown margin, thus scoring its first victory over Porkers team in seven years, but up-and-down Arkansas was scheduled to be the "up" this time and the red-clad Ozark giants had plenty of supporters.

A crowd of 10,000 was expected at Skelly Stadium. Clear, crisp weather was in prospect. The kickoff is scheduled for 2 p. m.
