AUSTIN, Jan. 7 (AP).— Chairman Ernest O. Thomp-son of the Texas Railroad Commission said in a statement today the oil regulatory body would continue the current statewide oil production order for February and March unless evidence at a statewide hearing Jan. 16 shows the need for a change.

Thompson added the announcement, unanimously concurred in by other commissioners, was in line with a policy to state ahead of hearings the tentative statewide production plan "so that only those who are requesting a change in allowable, up or down, need be con-

Eleven Baltic Ships Hamper Relations Of Russia And Uncle Sam

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7 (AP) Eleven small ships which still fly the flags of Baltic republics "absorbed" by Soviet Russia remain one of the major obstacles to more friendly relations between Moscow and Washington.

Authoritative sources disclosed today that—aside from the question of perforations. what, if anything, to do with these ships—diplomatic relations between the Soviet and the United States were on a more cordial basis than they have been in years. Since the United States still recognizes Latvia, Lithuania and Estonia as independent republics, however, it has refused to turn over to Soviet Russia the Baltic nations' ships which sought safe havens in American ports.

Russia is badly in need of merchant shipping and wants the vessels but none of the negotiations, here or in Moscow, has yet established a basis for an acceptable solution to the problem.

Bulgaria Masses Troops To South For Turkish War

Numerous Divisions In Thrace Ready For Blow As Nazi Units Threaten

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Jan. 7 (AP). - Bulgaria, hemmed between a big German army across the Danube in Rumania and reportedly-growing Turkish concentrations across her southern frontier, was reported today to have massed almost all her troops to the south-facing Turkey.

Across the southern border, in Thrace, 400,000 Turkish troops were reported ready for any eventuality. Turkish sources asserted that if the Nazis crossed the Danube, the Turks would march into Bulgaria to meet

German sources, however, pressed doubt the Turks would cross the frontier in such an eventuality and predicted, instead, they would remain in their Thracian forts, on the defensive

The U.S. And Peace Moves

Does the United States owe Europe and the world its services as peacemaker? If so, to what extent, and how? No one questions any longer the intense interest of the United States in the war and its outcome. All agree that our own future must be lived out in the world which

It is a war we did not will. True, it has been argued that the United States egged some of the European countries into resisting in 1939. That is sheer bosh. It is inconceivable that either the Germans, in starting the war on Poland, or the English or French in their decision to resist, were influenced to any measurable extent by what the United States thought or might do. It is true that the British undoubtedly counted on being able to obtain supplies from the United States, but that was implicit in her situation as mistress of the seas, not in any promises, policies, or exhortations from this side of the Atlantic.

The war, let us repeat, was not of our making. By the same token, the decision as to how long it is to be carried on is not our own.

It would ill become the United States to put excessive pressure for peace on any country which believes it is temporarily on the short end of a fight for a righteous and vital cause. It would equally ill become the United States to say, "You are fighting my fight, though I prefer to remain aloof. Get in there and keep fighting, no matter what it costs you." The man who draws no cards in the game has no right to kibitz.

As long as the United States continues to feel that its interests are not strongly enough affected to warrant going to war, it must also feel that its interests do not warrant a judgment as to how long the fight shall go on, or what shall be the settlement.

Any move for peace must necessarily come from the belligerents. If such a move should come, bona fide, from both sides, offering a basis of settlement that seemed to give any hope at all of a stable figure, there is no reason why the United States should not be willing to help if a sked But such a situation has not arisen.

Settlement that description this afternoon.

One of President Wilson's reason's for urging neutrality in thought and deed in 1914 was that he felt the United States might become the peacemaker. As late as January, 1917, he made his "Peace Without Victory"

In weights 8.00-9.75, common and sity was to discuss the future of the Farm Credit Administration. He formerly was governor of the FCA.

Peace feelers are a recognized technique of warfare, especially in these days when propaganda is worth many divisions. The United States now faces this hard duty: to take up and further no false peace moves advanced mainly for their possible effect on the war, and yet to avoid becoming more "bitter-end" than the belligerents

Cross-Fertilization Of Science

Even in the laboratory and the scholar's study, the United States can scarcely withdraw into the isolation so wistfully wished and so impossible to attain.

The American Association for the Advancement of Science heard a doleful story the other day of the fate of learning in Europe: The University of Warsaw has strategic nignways and access loads to camps, airports and defense factories, and then appeal to Conceased to exist; the faculty of the University of Cracow gress to finance the work.

Named to the special committee in a concentration camp; the University of Madrid in ruins; the University of Prague closed, with half the universities of Germany; the University of London uprooted conference chairman, were W. R. and dispersed, with 100,000 of its books destroyed by Hutchins, Arizona State Highway bomb and fire.

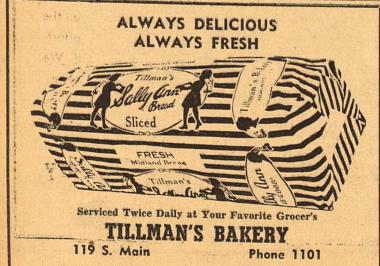

What is that to us, if American universities can be preserved? Just this, according to the Rockefeller Foun- Engineer, and Robert A. Allen, Nedation: Scientific progress results from a sort of crossfertilization of the laboratories and halls of study of the world; one group alone tends to become sterile just as a completely isolated fruit tree, denied cross-pollination, bears no fruit.

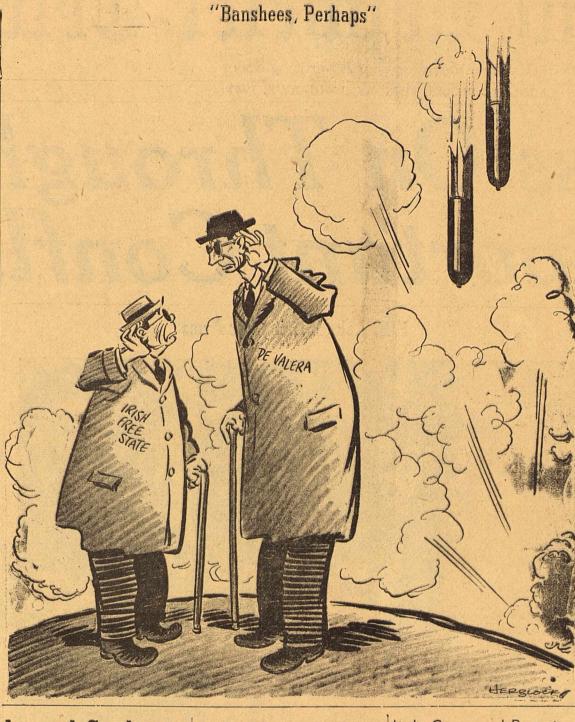

Which is just one more of the things Germany for-

Strong Spots In Market Fail To Indicate Trend

NEW YORK, Jan. 7 (AP). — Despite strong spots here and there, leading stocks were unable to get a definite trend out of today's market. Ragged tendencies, prevailing at the start, persisted throughout a slowgoing session and closing prices were narrowly irregular in virtually all departments.

Scattered specialties, including a few senior stocks, exhibited rising inclinations but the majority of steels, motors, rubbers, coppers and aircrafts never got far out in front and most were in minus territory at the final gong.

Activity slackened after the opening and transfers for the full proceedings approximated

Appeal For U.S. Would Come Soon By DeWitt MacKenzie Associated Press Staff Writer Should there be any crisis which yould impel Britain to appeal to the United States to join in the war, it is likely to come within the next few months, so it seems to me, and will be based on the need of naval

I have in mind specifically Hitler's projected invasion of England.
That must remain the gravest threat to Britain, and therefore the number one military operation of the war, until the question of its feasibility has been settled once for all under the chalk cliffs of Dover, or the attempt has been abandoned as a bad job.

If and when the assault is made it will call for a great fleet to re-pel it. That engagement, fought over and on and under a seething English Channel, and up against the beaches of both shores, bids fair to be the most colossal thing of its kind in history.

The British will need every man o war, and every second cousin to a man o' war, on which they can lay their hands. They believe they can defeat the attempt, and so do most neutral military experts, for Hitler will be making a long-shot.

Many Warships.
Still, circumstances might be such as to necessitate the use of an unusual number of warships elsewhere to meet an emergency. It is possible for instance, that Hitler might use the army he has massed in the Balkans in an effort to force the Dar-danelles and thereby create a diersion which would demand Briish sea-power.

Such a situation might result in in appeal to America for naval help. However, it is equally possible that the allied successes in the Mediterranean will prove so profi-table as to release both naval and air forces for the defense of the British Isles. In any event, if Britain can handle that crisis—and it might come at any time, by the way—she likely will be able to wea-ther the rest of the war storm, with the material aid from our "arsenal of Democracy." As President Roose-velt pointed out in his message to Congress, she doesn't need man-the Nazi submarine campaign has created for Britain. Much of her Court decision upholding the labor trouble is due to lack of sufficient board's authority to require written warships for convoys.

Still, one would expect her to solve that difficulty without asking anyone to enter the war to help her out. The admiralty announced today that in the week ending December 30 only 37,556 tons of shipping was lost-about half the verage weekly loss since the war

Leaders Prepare New Health Bill

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7 (AP). -A comprehensive proposal for an expanded national health program in line with President Roosevelt's call for widened "opportunities for adequate medical care," was being prepared today for introduction in Congress

Senator Wagner (D-NY) said the plan which he and others would sponsor provided for federal and state cooperation in the broad program calculated to cost $98,000,000 in the first year.

Similar legislation was approved last session by the Senate education and labor committee but never reached a vote in the Senate. Wag-ner said some changes would be made in drafting the new bill.

Mr. Roosevelt in his message to Congress yesterday, said that the widening of opportunities for medical care was one of the many subjects connected with our social economy that called for "immediate improvement."

Mckenney ON BRIDGE

By Wm. E. McKenney America's Card Authority. An interesting fact about this year's women's team-of-four champions is that the team was made up at the last minute. Mrs. Lottie Zetosch of New York and Mrs. Helen Levy of Jersey City had come to the Philadelphia Nationals with-out partners, and at the last minute they paired up with Mrs. Ade Neuwirth of New York and Mrs. Humphrey Wagar of Atlanta, This is not unusual, however, for the women's team-of-four. In 1935 a player from California, one from Chicago, one from Cleveland and one from New York formed a team at the last minute and won the title. The same team assembled again in Chicago in 1936 and sucessfully defended their title.

Today's hand was played by

Mrs. Wagar, the only member of this year's winning team whose name has appeared on a national trophy before. In 1933 she held the mixed pair title. Mrs. Wagar's bidding is very accurate and her play of the dummy is excep-

The opening lead was won by the ace of hearts. Dummy led the even of diamonds and West won the jack with the ace. West led a low heart and South ruffed with the four of trumps. The queen of diamonds put dummy back to lead another heart for South to Next Mrs. Wagar cashed her two remaining trumps, went over to dummy with the queen of clubs to cash the jack of trumps. this trick East was squeezed in the minor suits, and South, discarding after East, was able win the rest of the tricks.

Chicagoan Beats Thomson To Win $10,000 Tourney

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 7 (AP)— Make way for the poor man's golf champion — 26-year-old Johnny Bulla, who won the richest even California's winter tournament trail and did it with a 35 cent golf ball. This cocky son of old North Carolina-Greensboro, to be exactput together rounds of 71-66-75-69 for a 72-hole score of 281 and cap-tured the sixteenth annual Los Angeles Open and the $3,500 top prize of it's $10,000 purses.

Bulla, son of a preacher and shooting at his first tournament victory, passed pace-setting Jimmy Thomson in yesterday's final round, neld off the pressure on the tour home and knocked two strokes off par 71 for the day.

Thomson was the first round eader with a 68, three shots ahead of Bulla. Johnny, a tall, 210-pounder, moved to the front in the second round with a 66. Thomson again took over on the third round with a 71, while Bulla was bringing in a 75 that included two penalty strokes imposed for playing the wrong ball.

Long hitting Thomson went into over Bulla, who now calls Chicago home. He couldn't keep it. In the windup, Bulla surely and confidently dropped a four foot putt on the 18th green for his 69, well knowing that Craig Wood, of Mamaroneck, N. Y., had previously come in with a 68 and supplanted Thomson and the stretch-charging Clayton Heafner and Benny Hogan as his chief challenger.
