A BIBLE THOUGHT FOR THE DAY
SUFFERING REFINES THE SOUL, WE WILL BE SATISFIED WITH THE RESULT: He shall see the travail of his soul and be satisfied.—Isaiah 53:11.

For Cleaner Elections

The experiment of the Hatch Act—and even its sponsors would be first to admit that it was an experiment, not a final and complete solution of the election problem—has been distinctly white.

The first reaction is likely to be that the act was a failure. After all, one of its chief provisions was aimed at limiting to $3,000,000 the amount that any party could spend on a national election. In this, the act failed. The Senate investigating committee found that the Republicans spent nearly $15,000,000, the Democrats more than $6,000,000. Even those are probably not the entire sums spent, for there is no way to tabulate every dollar that may have been spent by obscure organizations or individuals.

The committee recommended tightening up the act and all federal election laws, and this will probably be done. The old difficulty crops up that attends the making of all law: how can the law be written so as to achieve exactly the results desired, and no others? That is not so easy.

But the general lines are clear. The remedy for most abuses lies in publicizing them. The people are sound. When they know the truth about a situation, they can be trusted to act honestly, and, in the long run, wisely. That was Lincoln's faith; that is the American faith.

What is the danger in campaign contributions and campaign propaganda? It lies not so much in the amounts spent, as in lack of knowledge of just who is putting it up. The scurrilousness of many campaign tracts and dodgers is redoubled by lack of exact information on who is responsible. If that factor is known, the electorate is generally able to gauge the value of the material.

Every campaign contribution of any size, not only to the regular national parties, but to any organizations working in a political election, should be known. Every piece of campaign literature should carry names and addresses of the responsible persons issuing it.

The key to honest elections lies there, and it is there that Congress should bend its attention in tightening the Hatch Act.

It is in the dark that the foulest deeds are done; a well-lighted goldfish globe is the best guarantee of honest elections.

We Depend On Each Other

A certain effrontery which almost staggers one bulges out of a recent statement by a manufacturer to the effect that if a million leaders in industry, transportation, and learning were eliminated, the whole population would starve.

Unanswered question is: would the population come closer to starving then, or if the farmers were eliminated who produce our food, or the workers who produce our industrial goods?

The whole question then becomes silly. Each needs the other, and a modern civilization can by no means survive without either. Life might be sustained after some fashion even without those who happen to be in positions of leadership today. But it would be a primitive life that nobody wants to lead.

We depend one upon the other. When shall we realize it?

The Real Push

Tidings Of Great Joy Is The Revelation Of Christ's Way Of Life

By R. A. Weaver
45—Then opened he their minds, that they might understand the scriptures;

46 And he said unto them, Thus it is written, that the Christ should suffer, and rise again from the dead the third day;

47 and that repentance and remission of sins should be preached in his name unto all the nations, beginning from Jerusalem.

48 Ye are witnesses of these things.

49 And behold I send forth the promise of my Father upon you; but tarry ye in the city, until ye be clothed with power from on high—Luke 24.

The commission of Jesus to the disciples to carry the gospel to the world is recorded four times in the Gospels. These men were commanded to go, and the field of activity was the entire world. Here is a universal gospel to be received by all mankind. "Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature; he that believeth and is baptized shall be saved." "Go ye therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son and of the Holy Ghost."

The word gospel means glad tidings. The announcement of the angels described the purpose of the glad tidings: "Behold I bring you glad tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people, for unto you is born this day in the city of David, a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord. . . . Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men." The Gospel is a message of great joy because it reveals the way out of bondage, sin, lack and ignorance into a fullness of life which all the world is seeking. It is good news because it gives the answer to the deep and profound desires of the soul that ever stirs within, longing for better expression and full manifestation. It brings great joy because it is able to deliver mankind from himself—from the absorption of self within self, and points the highway, the high road that leads to self-mastery and kingship.

Universal Brotherhood.
The Gospel of Christ is the only true and tried basis for universal brotherhood, and the recognition of the fatherhood of God. It comprehends a life that meets full expansion under the combination of social, political and spiritual processes which are necessary for the living of the abundant life, and the attainment of a full stature as individuals. Christ's way of life is not a theory. It is not a speculative philosophy. It is not a utopian dream. It reveals the logical, reasonable and practical application of the issues of life to God's predetermined way of existence. As the Father has created us, He knows the way that we should walk—a way that leads to victory and success and reality. As the old song goes: "Let Jesus lead, He knows the way." The Gospel is not a hard and fast legalism; not a yoke, not a burden, not a circumscription of the highest and truest impulses of man, but rather the Day Star, the chart and compass that lead us across the trackless sea of time to journey's end. The social order that Jesus set in motion was The New Order. In His kingdom, there are no Tobacco Roads, no underprivileged, no outcasts of society, no special privileges to higher castes, no racial distinctions, no despotism, tyranny, nor slavery, or bondage or peonage. It is the one system of self-government that has not yet been tried.

The Higher Life.
Jesus revealed the Way, the Truth

True or False?
European geography is getting to be as well known as the next door neighbor and as changeable as the color of a blond's hair. Check your war knowledge by telling whether the following statements are true or false.

1. The White Sea lies due north of the Black Sea and the Red Sea.
2. Sofia, Solum and Salonika are principal oil centers in Rumania.
3. Troops from South Africa are now fighting in East Africa.
4. No point in the British Isles is as far south as the northernmost section of the United States.
5. The Aral Sea lies between Greece and Turkey.

Slang Of Army Likely To Gain Wide Use

BOSTON (UP)—Americans soon will begin adding army slang to their everyday speech as the nation's youth enter training camps, according to Prof. George B. Franklin, Boston University philologist.

Already, Franklin says, World War days are echoed in such words as "chow" and "slumgullion" to designate food. The present conflict, he says, has brought such words as "blitzkrieg," "luftwaffe," "stuka" and "spitfire."

Franklin believes auditory and visual senses are responsible for developments of military jargon.

"There are such echoic words as 'ack-acks' for anti-aircraft guns, 'charterbox' for machine guns and 'moans' for bombers which are used by British fliers," he says.

For visual slang Franklin includes such words as "hip flask" for revolver, "roller skates" for tanks and a "Mae West" for a life jacket which bulges.

LETTERS SPAN 56 YEARS

COLUSA, Cal.—(UP)—Mrs. J. D. King of this city has exchanged one letter every week with Mrs. W. G. McMillan of Sacramento over a period of 56 years. Their total score to date is 5,824 letters each.

and the Life. To all who now labor under fears, apprehensions and struggle for an individual expression of life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness, the way is shown by the Master of men. Far greater, and more to be desired, was His gift of Grace which absolves man from sin, and implants within the individual those divine characteristics which alone make life a stream of consciousness emanating from the Divine Trinity. The Truth is more precious than all else, and this Truth was given freely to all men who accept through faith, and that Truth makes men free, and strong, and capable of contributing to the world's benefits never ending.

Power of God.
The gospel is the power of "dynamic" of God unto salvation. It is within the scope of man to lay hold on eternal life—a life that is laid out for man from the foundation of the world—a life which God has predestined. It brings the good news that all may rise above the lower and baser levels of existence and come into a knowledge of eternal truth which brings all men into one brotherhood and into that sacred nearness of sonship with the Father. Is there any other system of thought comparable to this? Can Plato or Socrates, or any of the Seers and wise men of the past offer a better way? In our search for Utopia, or Nirvana, or the harmony that is claimed in all the systems of life, may we not overlook the Highway of Holiness, and turn aside from the Great Joy and Peace on earth that is ours in the acceptance of The Way, the Truth and the Life which the King of Kings and the Lord of Lords has already given unto us?

We Are In The Army And We Like It

By Buster Howard.
FORT BLISS.—New soldiers in training were permitted to see part of the regular soldiers in review and also saw them attack an imaginary enemy.

The recruits in training took a cross-country hike that really brought out the horsemanship if a fellow had any. It was a lot of fun even if it did develop a lot of sore places and muscles. It was the second day in the saddle for about 25 new men. One the hike we rode under the command of a second lieutenant.

We would walk the horses a short while, trot for half a mile, and then run a mile. The country was rough and, as we couldn't follow anyone, we had to make the horses jump the rough spots or go around them. Many of the men were spilled, lost their horses and had to walk to camp. I had trouble staying on but managed to make the whole trip without being thrown.

We have good horses and they know much more than the new men who are riding them but we are learning fast.

The cavalry attack was interesting to see. Twelve hundred riders took part, with many machine guns and light guns. The light guns were fired behind the men and hit their targets each time at a range of four miles.

At night the anti-aircraft in a camp near by bring out their search lights and spot planes coming over. The planes are found with surprising accuracy and once they are spotted and all lights turned on them there is no escape.

The soldiers in this area have some entertainment almost every night and the ones who stay in have their tents equipped with radios, magazines, and writing tables, all tents are on wooden frames, are screened, and have electric lights and gas heaters.

FEED GRAINS WILL BE 5,000,000 TONS DOWN

WASHINGTON, March 28 (AP)—The agriculture department said today that the total production of feed grains—corn, oats, barley and grain sorghums—may total about 95,000,000 tons this year 5,000,000 less than normal.

This estimate was based on the 1941 acreage expected to be planted to the crops, a normal growing season and a hybrid corn acreage as large as last year.

New Fashions For The Spring Of 1941 Are Found More Wearable Than "Wacky"

One of the smartest evening dresses in New York's spring collections is this dramatic model with black silk top and white organdy skirt with applied stripes of the black crepe. It's shown with an eight-strand necklace of pearls.

Becomingness Is Feature Of Season's Styles

By Marian Young
NEA Service Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK.—The spring fashion collections are distinguished by their lack of wacky trimmings and gadgets, strange lines, unbecoming colors and other so-called innovations which might make for exciting headlines but never for a nation of well-dressed women.

And this in itself is substantial proof that American designers have hit their stride, that nobody needs to worry any longer about whether they can get along gracefully without inspiration from Paris.

The outstanding members of New York's couture are showing stunning clothes that depend for their beauty on good lines, good fabrics and flattering colors. They have stopped struggling so obviously to be original. There's real subtlety in their originality this spring. And that wasn't true last fall, when the majority of the designers were so determined to make headlines that fur shoes, "peepshow" dresses and other trier nonsense, made a noisy, if brief, appearance.

As things stand now, after a week of openings, it appears to be true that no woman of taste need look beyond the shores of America for a vast variety of clothes to suit that taste as well as her pocketbook and general mode of living.

The formal evening showing of spring fashions at Bergdorf-Goodman, with its large and experienced staff of designers was as gala and colorful as Paris openings used to be. As beautiful mannequins showed hundreds of exciting as well as practical models, the smart, formally dressed audience actually cheered.

It applauded a pale pink camellia hair coat over a slim black chignon gown with pale pink violets at the waistline. It cheered May baskets of black lace, studded with jet, and set into a white chiffon evening skirt.

"Elsie Dinsmore" shades — apple sauce green, elderdorn pink, soft blue and mauve — brought applause for a group of hats, many of which are huge cartwheels to be worn far back on the head, just behind the pompadour.

Dress and full-length coat ensembles are interesting when the coat sleeves are shorter than those of the dresses and a puffed effect is created at wrists.

Bergdorf features stiff silk coats for daytime, Oriental themes for both day and evening, slit dinner skirts, peg-top drapery and, most important, great variety in silhouette, in color, in fabrics and general handling of each.

There's no regimentation here. Bergdorf's designers are all out for democracy in dress. They don't even hint that they would like to see all women adopt one new trend or one new way of wearing her clothes. They aren't trying to set trends.

Here's the new "side-swipe" dinner sheath for spring and summer evenings. It's of maroon and white leaf print silk and is worn over a black skirt. This is a nice example of the slimmer silhouette in clothes for formal wear which was featured at the official spring fashion opening in New York.

They are trying to give beautiful women beautiful clothes to wear. "People who go around sniffing, "There ought to be a definite trend," or "Why haven't American designers started at least onefad that all women will follow?" will please leave the room. Who in the world wants to be told what she must wear? The smart woman wants to be able to suit herself after looking over a variety of types of clothes.

THE RIGHT CLOTHES FOR EVERY ONE
At Hattie Carnegie's, there are both sloping shoulders and squared ones; skirts full and skirts slim; hard, bright colors and soft ones; severely tailored suits and soft, dressmaker types; bouffant evening dresses and slim, siren sheaths. In other words, the right clothes for any and all figures and individual preferences.

Hattie Carnegie applies a band of gay tulips around the edge of the separate apron on a black dinner dress; uses a wide band of net around the bottom of a tulip print evening dress and so allows legs to be seen in a dance dress. She shows a Kelly green blouse with a Kelly green flannel suit.

There's a fireman's red, full-length day coat over a striking paisley print dress with gloves to match the print, and a coat of magnetic blue wool over a cyclamen and blue printed silk dress.

In muted shades, Miss Carnegie likes putty beige and, of course, black and navy. She uses quantities of lace and net for evening. A great many of her mannequins wear bangs. The rest wear pompadours. So all hats, big and little, are pushed far back on the head.

Needlecraft Club Meets At Home Of Mrs. H. H. Watson

Red roses and ferns formed attractive house decorations when Mrs. H. H. Watson, 1701 W. Holloway, entertained the Needlecraft Club, Thursday afternoon.

Knitting needles clicked, crochet hooks gleamed and needles flashed as members spent the club hours in handwork, accompanied by general conversation.

A salad plate was served to: Mesdames B. C. Girdler, J. G. Vance, P. F. Kasper, Geo. Phillips, H. G. Bedford, Jno. Dunagan, Wallace Ford, and the hostess.

Next Thursday the club will meet with Mrs. Phillips.

FEMININE FANCIES
By Kathleen Eiland

The Jaycees burlesque beauty show last night brought out some astonishing costumes; some unexpected grace on the part of several of the participants; and a lot of comedy which was sheer fun; and a sprinkling of vulgarity which was definitely not funny. We think the finale was a bit hard on the master of ceremonies.

But we, in common with the rest of the audience, got 40 cents worth of laughs out of the spectacle. Considering that most of the "beauties" had to ask directions how to get into the costumes they wore, we think they stepped out "high, wide and handsome" in their initial appearance as Miss and Mrs. America.

There was plenty of variety in the types portrayed, too, from the flapper with red beanie and red anklets to the slinky siren and the coy but persistent maiden, in more-or-less elegant costume.

It is always fun to attend the opening of a new store. Especially so was the opening of the new supply store on S Main street last night. But then we knew that any former newspaperman who went into the hardware business would make good in a big way. We'll have to hand a bouquet to Mr. T. Paul Barron, our former boss, on the completeness of his new store and congratulations on the huge crowd of friends that attended his open house. After having made the round of the store once, we discovered there was something at the back of the store that we'd overlooked. But we simply hadn't the courage to push through that crowd again. And we aren't so bad at crowd-pushing-through, either.

Speaking of artificial flowers (which we seldom do) the prettiest ones we've seen lately were sprays of delicately colored wax ones made in China. Arranged in a white Cinnabar vase, they make a pretty decorative note for a feminine room.

FINDS PURSE AFTER MINING PROCEDURE

VINCENNES, Ind., March 28—(AP)—Robert Cannon, electrician at work deep in the New Julian coal mine east of here, lost his pocketbook.

Weeks later a fireman on a Baltimore and Ohio Railroad locomotive near Flora, Ill., found it in a shovelful of coal.

The pocketbook had ridden out of the mine on a coal conveyor, been washed and sorted and dumped into a hopper and found its way through a cooling station into the locomotive tender.

Cannon got it back.

Arrest Two Men In Agnew Murder

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., March 28—(AP)—Sheriff Owen Kilday planned a trip to California today to bring Jack A. Rupert and James B. Alford to Texas to face charges of murder in the robbery slaying of R. L. Agnew, 42-year-old San Antonio salesman.

Rupert and Alford are being held at San Antonio, Calif. Kilday was informed by Sheriff Zwinge of that city in a long distance telephone call last night.

The San Antonio sheriff said he had learned Rupert's parents had resided on a ranch near Stockton, Calif., and had informed California officers.

Agnew's body was found eight

DALLAS, Tex., March 28—(AP)—An appeal for literature for Camp Wolters trained by the Red Cross here brought a flood of magazines, including a few on pomemaking and gardening.

German Flier Sinks Three Merchantmen

BERLIN, March 28—(AP)—One German flier sank three merchant ships totaling 15,000 tons in a Nazi air attack on a convoy off the southwest coast of Wales yesterday, the high command announced today.

The daily communique attributed the sinkings to a Captain Mueller, who "alone destroyed all three merchantmen" in dive attacks. Yesterday the sinking were credited to more than one bomber.

"Four other ships of this convoy as well as a fifth vessel attacked in the same waters were damaged through bomb-hits," the communique said, and Nazi reconnaissance planes also made "successful daylight bomb attacks" on harbor, factory and rail facilities of several south English cities."

Mrs. A. M. Sobel of New York and Mrs. R. C. Young of Philadelphia played a 25-rubber match a short time ago against Morrie Ells of New York and Charles H. Goren of Philadelphia. The match was supposed to prove the superiority of men or women at bridge.

Well, it is true that the men won by 770 points, but right up to the 132d and last hand either side could have won the match. At the beginning of that hand, both sides were vulnerable and the men were only a couple of hundred points ahead.

One of the most interesting hands in the match was the one shown today, on which Mrs. Sobel and Mrs. Young arrived at a six spade contract. They were off three aces, including the ace of trump, and you could not blame the boys for doubling.

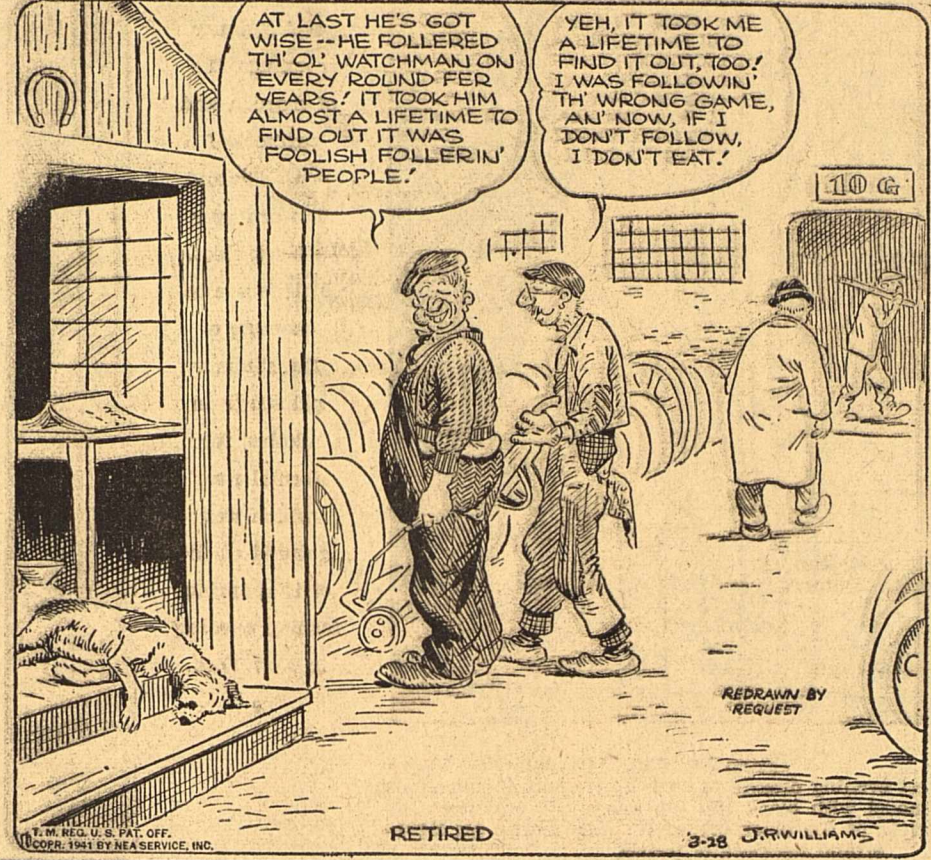

Unfortunately for the men, the opening lead of the ace of diamonds was ruffed by dummy. A heart ruff put Mrs. Young (North) in to cash the king of diamonds, dummy discarding a club. Mrs. Young led a diamond from dummy to ruff, then regained entry with another heart ruff to lead yet another diamond for dummy to trump. At last West's stopper fell, and there was nothing to do but take out trumps and cash the long diamonds.

Italians Evacuate City To Avert British Raids

ROME, March 28—(AP)—The Italian high command reported today the important walled city of Harar in Ethiopia had been evacuated "to avert its bombing" and acknowledged British occupation of the Italian fortress of Cheren in Eritrea.

(The British yesterday announced occupation of Harar, second city of Ethiopia, and also of Cheren, the stronghold which has blocked the way to the Eritrean capital of Asmara, and the seaport of Massaua, for many weeks.)

The daily war bulletin said the battle in Eritrea was continuing.

SERIAL STORY

DOLLARS TO DOUGHNUTS

BY EDITH ELLINGTON

COPYRIGHT, 1940, NEA SERVICE, INC.

YESTERDAY: Bee begins to learn more about Huntington's, and the way the store controls many lives. Vera's love affair is balked by Huntington's. After a particularly busy day, one of the stock girls faints. Toby shouts for her.

A SHOCK FOR THE DUCHESS

CHAPTER XVII

BEATRICE stared down at the girl on the floor. For a moment, she was so surprised and frightened she couldn't move. Miss Ryan's face was white, her eyes were closed, she was as still as death.

Toby cried, "Get somebody! Get some water! Do something!"

But Miss Dane was already pushing aside the curtains. "How long does it take to—" she began testily. Beatrice's face stopped her. "What's happened?"

"Miss Ryan fainted," said Toby.

Miss Dane rushed forward. "Everything happens to me!" she cried in irritation. "The department's mobbed, nobody does anything, stock's in a mess, shipments don't come in on time—and now this!"

"I'm sure she couldn't help it," Toby snapped. "Or do you think she's faking?"

"Go away—" Miss Dane made a distracted lunge, and peered down at the unconscious girl. "Get some water. Phone for the nurse." She began to rub Miss Ryan's wrists, almost impatiently. "Haven't I trouble enough with those contingents they wished on me? And not an 18 in black, and I have to see that girl from advertising in a minute! How can I get up a decent ad with all this going on?"

There were little beads of moisture on Miss Ryan's upper lip. Her nose looked pinched. Beatrice said, "I think she ought to have a doctor."

"You think!" screamed Miss Dane, still roughly massaging Miss Ryan's limp wrists. "You think! What were you doing in here, anyway? Get out on the floor, wait on somebody!" She added, "The girl probably didn't have any lunch, that's all."

Today was pay day, Beatrice remembered. The envelopes would be distributed until nearly closing time. Perhaps, she thought pityingly, Miss Ryan had not had lunch money.

Toby came back with water. "Lift her up. I'll see her pour some down her throat."

"Oh, give it to me!" Miss Dane snatched the glass and dashed it into the prostrate girl's face.

There was a gasp, a moan, and Miss Ryan's head moved slowly from side to side. At last, slowly, her eyes opened. She stared up at them. She winced, and tried painfully to rise.

Beatrice knelt beside her, swiftly. "You're ill, don't try to get up. We'll send for a doctor."

"Nonsense!" snapped Miss Dane. "Help her up. She can walk to the elevator, can't she? Take her to the infirmary." She looked at Miss Ryan with ill-disguised disgust. "The busiest day we've had in weeks, and you faint!"

"I—everything went black—" Miss Ryan whispered. "I'm all right now, though." She tried to stand without leaning on Beatrice. "I can go back on the floor."

With a shock, Beatrice realized that the girl was afraid of losing her job. "You're going to infirmary," she said quickly. "Come on."

"She skipped her lunch."

"Oh." He rattled some sales slips in his hand. "I have a class tonight. Would you—would you have dinner with me, somewhere nearby, before I go? If you'd wait, I could take you home afterward."

"I'd love to."

IN the little restaurant, she wished she could tell Anthony about Miss Ryan. But of course she couldn't. She said, instead, "Do any stores anywhere give their employees sick leave? I mean, supposing a girl's run down and needs a rest. Or an operation..."

"What do you think stores are, philanthropic institutions?" He crumpled a roll. "But the ideal store, the store I sometimes think about—you know, with Anthony Bradley as general superintendent and all the other stores on Fifth Avenue biting their nails in envy?" He grinned. "If a store can bite its nails. Anyway, the ideal store would give sick leave. The employees would be part of a happy, loyal family, don't you see, feeling secure in their jobs and giving their best because working for that store, being happy and well treated, would naturally result in increased efficiency. I'd have a health department, to keep everyone at peak fitness, and a welfare department to deal with the special cases."

Beatrice made herself breathe quietly and evenly. "The Duchess ought to hear you."

That name the girls in the store had bestowed on Beatrice Huntington Davenport was strangely bitter on her lips. But she wanted to see if Anthony would recognize it. He did.

"He doesn't bother with the source of the polo ponies she buys her boy-friend," he said.

Startled, she almost dropped her fork. How did Anthony know about the polo ponies?

Oil News . . .

15, block 3, H.&T.C. survey.

Gulf No. 1-F University, in the east part of Orange and deepest well ever drilled in the county, had reached depth of 10,390 feet in shale.

The same firm's No. 6 Wristen, Silurian test in Southeastern Ward County, is drilling at 6,593 feet in chert and lime.

Teague Deepening.

Drilling ahead from 6,217 feet in lime was started at midnight in Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 1 N. E. Teague deep well in Northern Martin County. A Schlumberger electrical survey run at that point had corrected depth to 6,231 feet.

Increases in water was logged from 4,916-20 feet, the total depth, in Stanolind Oil & Gas Company No. 2 Brenton, one-quarter mile east of the Cedar Lake pool in Northeastern Gaines, and it is testing.

In Southeastern Yoakum County, George P. Livermore, Inc., No. 1 Ownby, discovery well in section 502, is drilling at 5,352 in porous and oil-stained brown granular dolomite. Formation softened at 5,336 feet.

State-Sharp Awaits Potential.

Extending the Abell pool of Northern Pecos County seven-eighths of a mile northwest, Magnolia No. 1 State-Sharp is shut in awaiting potential gauge. On last 24-hour test it pumped 92 barrels of oil. Total depth is 5,945 feet in sandy shale and production is from lower sand of the Simpson, middle Ordovician, logged from 5,915-42 feet.

Phillips No. 1 Silverman, south of the Abell pool opener, recovered 15 feet of Simpson formation by coring from 5,589 to 5,604 feet. The top one foot was sand carrying a slight odor of oil and the balance of the core was lime, shale and sand showing nothing. Owner is preparing to core ahead below 5,604 feet.

Junior Chamber Plans Organization's Party

Midland Jaycees made final plans for an all-out "49-er" party at the organization's luncheon today at Hotel Crawford.

The party will be April 4 at the Log Cabin. Jimmie Wilcox will be in charge of arrangements. Clint Dungan, Tanner Laine, Thad Steele, R. O. Smith, Ray Gwyn, Tom Brown, and Curt Inman are on a committee to assist him.

Hotel reservations for junior chamber delegates to the state convention in El Paso will be mailed next week. Inman, president, said.

The club will not meet April 11, but the annual banquet will be held April 10 at Hotel Scharbauer. Olin Cuberson, railroad commissioner of Texas, will be the principal speaker. Three hundred persons are expected.

Midland Jaycees will attend a regional convention being held at Odessa. Several members plan to go there tomorrow.
