The Music Will Come Again

On Easter Sunday in Greece (the Greek Orthodox Easter) an American correspondent, weary and worn with two days of retreat with the Greek and British armies, climbed a high plateau in the plain of Thessaly and, "... there found a bucolic loveliness, heard the tinkling of bells of hundreds of sheep and the notes of a flute played by an aged, wrinkled shepherd sitting under a tree." Pressed for an opinion on the war, the old man said he had none, "and sadly went back to his flute-playing."

There is something eternal about Greece. Byron was not the only one who "dreamed that Greece might still be free." Greece shall be free again and the old man, piping his flute on a plateau in Thessaly, has a greater permanence there than any driver of a Nazi tank.

Does it look dark for Greece, for the world, for freedom? Perhaps it does. Yet go back a year. The British were then withdrawing from the fiasco in Norway. The fall of France was only weeks away, and there were people then who gave Britain only weeks to live. Yet Britain lives, and in the midst of the Greek tragedy, an old man can still pipe upon a mountain-top.

Did Yugoslavia fall? Yes, but Yugoslavia almost fell without a struggle, by the signing of a paper. It has cost Hitler more than that, and in conquering it he has incurred hatreds not easily quelled.

Has Greece fallen? Yes, but it has cost Hitler thousands of his finest youth. Last October, it looked as though Greece might fall within a few weeks to the Italians. Yet six months later both Mussolini and Hitler are paying a price for Greece—a heavy price to create one more house of hatred to be policed and held under by armed force.

Strongly and more strongly comes the realization that the struggle that shakes the world is no mere business of battles won and quick blitzkriegs, but a long grinding struggle which may consume years. For, just as modern war is a war on civilians and peoples, and not merely of armies, so conquest implies not only the beating of armies but the beating of peoples, the breaking or remolding of their spirit and their soul.

In this sense, Hitler has not yet conquered a single country, though his legions have achieved (at a price) many victories. His panzer divisions may drive Greek riflemen before them, but the shepherd is unconquered.

In every conquered country in Europe the people remain forever unconquered, because there is something within them that must remain forever free.

The Quality Of Mercy

Whatever comes, the United States can always be proud that its people gladly and freely gave $27,000,000 to relieve the suffering.

That is the total relief to all countries extended by or through the Red Cross alone, and of course other relief activities would multiply that total many times.

For this the American people expect no return; there is no political aspect to it, no expectation of influencing events. It is the simple, spontaneous reaction of a people whose heart has never failed to be touched by suffering, no matter where or by whom.

What stern courses lie before us, we know not. But let us hope that it is given us to help keep alive in a merciless world the quality of mercy.

Rumania Hits Bottom

We wouldn't pretend to know much about Rumanian politics, which always at this distance look a good deal like an egg scrambling itself.

But that is all in the past. Rumanian politics is simple now. Baron von Killinger, Hitler's "ambassador" to Rumania, has announced formally at Bucharest, that General Antonescu is "Rumania's representative for Adolf Hitler."

We seem to recall that General Antonescu claimed the title of "premier" or some such name vaguely suggesting that in some way he represented the people. On Sept. 6, 1940, Antonescu was crying, "Brother Rumanians! From the depths of a heavy heart I appeal to you to forget all and to rally around our young and beloved king" (Michael).

His heart may have been heavy then, but it was apparently elastic. The masquerade is over. Today he is "Rumania's representative for Adolf Hitler."

Civilian Defense Organized

There are many phases of all-out defense beyond the purely military steps needed. Today's wars are wars against civilian as well as soldier, and the civilian must be no less prepared.

The United States has been studying the lessons of Europe—how London, ill-prepared for defense, was the more ready to knuckle under at Munich; how Rotterdam and Belgrade paid dearly for their lack of civilian protection measures.

Establishment of a central civilian defense agency to coordinate all such efforts is expected daily at Washington. Such measures as it proposes will deserve co-operation, for no country is prepared to defend itself today which has only a military establishment.

Injuries Hit Midland Crack Relay Runners

Coach Freels Will Start Last Drills Before State Meet

Three aces of the Midland high five-man track team nurse injuries as Coach L. M. Freels sends the "thinly clad" into final drills Monday.

Members of the team also are slated to work out today. Bad weather has not prevented practice; for it worked out Friday and Saturday mornings.

Wendell Williams, J. M. White, and Ivan Hall were injured in a spring football game. Williams received a back injury. White turned his ankle and Hall took a terrific beating resulting in a bruised leg.

Ken Williams and Cletas Hines are the "all-together" members of the track team. Hines is slated to place in both sprints and be anchor man on the sprint relay four.

Midland's stock in the state meet 440-yard relay fell several points when the injury plague afflicted three members of the four.

Freels worked earnestly with his charges over the week-end. Special conditioning drills to alleviate injuries are to be conducted until the final workouts Wednesday.

The tracksters will leave early Thursday morning by automobile for Austin. Freels plans a workout in Memorial Stadium that afternoon. Preliminary events in the 100, 220, and 440-yard will be held Friday morning. Semi-finals are that afternoon and finals Saturday afternoon.

Times will run the 100-yard dash, 220-yard dash and the relay. White will run the 220-yard dash and relay; W. Williams is slated for the 100-yard and 220-yard dashes and the shot put, plus a hurdle lap; Ivan Hall or Ken Williams will complete the relay quartet. A tryout will determine the fourth relay member, Freels said.

PHILADELPHIA, April 26—(AP)—Short-legged Roy Cochran and Campbell Kane cooperated perfectly today to bring the University of Indiana the major share of the spoils on the concluding program of the two day Penn Relay Carnival.

Running in the order named, they first helped create the day's only major record, 7 minutes 41.1 seconds for the two mile relay, and then returned in reverse order in the climatic mile relay to gain an eight yard victory over New York U. and North Texas Teachers in a thrilling 3:16.4.

The day's main event competition began in the morning, when North Texas Teachers beat Navy six yards to take the half mile final in 1:27 after having hit 1:26.5 in winning its heat.

Kentucky Derby Remains Tossup Between Sixteen

By Glenn Ramsey.
LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 26—(AP)—Here 'tis a week before the 1941 Kentucky Derby and the dope is like a mess of scrambled eggs.

At this moment, with every indication that tomorrow will make more changes and so on until Friday when the boys must plunk down $500 for their horse to start, these are possibilities:

Horse	Owner
Our Boots	Woodval Farms
Porter's Cap	Chas. S. Howard
Whirlaway	Warren Wright
King Cole	Ogden Phipps
Blue Pair	V. S. Bragg
Robert Morris	J. F. Byers
Little Beans	R. Palladina
Dispose	King Ranch
Census Coin	Coldestream Stud
Aggie	Shadybrook Farm
Starator	Hugh Nesbitt
Master Henry	C. Putnam
and Valinda Farms	Valdina Groom
and Valinda Paul.	and Valinda Paul.

Lou Toufano's Market Wire romped into the Derby picture Saturday with a sparkling victory over more highly rated derby eligibles including King Cole, Curious Coin and several others in the Wood Memorial.

That makes 16, anyone or all of whom might be in the field, but there hasn't been a real big field since 1937 when Man O' War's great son War Admiral defeated 19 other contenders. The fields in 1939 and 1940 were reduced to eight each.

Mid-West Gathers Laurels At Drake Relays Contests

By Charles W. Dumkley
DES MOINES, Ia., April 26—(AP)—Thrilling performances by Drake, Notre Dame and Michigan relay teams, plus the brilliant individual effort of Ohio State's hurdling sensation, Robert Wright, turned track and field power back to the mid-west today in the finals of the Drake relay carnival after domination by Southwestern athletes yesterday.

Drake captured the most sensational race of all in defeating Michigan by the thrust of a chest in the two-mile relay in 7:41.1, fastest ever run in this meet. Michigan won the four mile relay in 17:37, while Notre Dame triumphed in the University one mile in 3:15.9.

Meanwhile, the University of Texas won the 440-yard relay and Rice Institute, Houston, walked off with the half mile relay.

Howard Payne Breaks Mark

Howard Payne College, Brownwood, Tex., tied the Drake record of 3:18 for the one-mile college relay.

Wright conquered the favored Pete Owens of Howard Payne College, in the 120-yard high hurdles after the Ohioan was at least a yard back of Owens, winner of the event in the Texas and Kansas relays, at the third hurdle. The time —14.6.

The University of Texas sprinters —Seay, Terry, Ramsdell and Hill—easily won the 440 yard relay in :41.1, a tenth of a second back of their meet record established in the preliminaries, and six tenths of a second short of the American mark.

Jones And Odessan Will Compete For Southwestern Title

LAS CRUCES, N. M., April 26—(AP)—Sticking close to regulation figures, 21-year old Elinor Jones of Albuquerque advanced today to within 36 holes of the Southwestern Women's golfing championship.

Tomorrow, with Mrs. Elmer Shows of Odessa, Texas, as her opponent, she will set out in quest of her first major golf title other than five years of New Mexico championships. She advanced through her semi-final match today at the expense of Mrs. Sam O'Neal, Odessa, West Texas champion, by the comfortable margin of 4 and 3.

Mrs. Shows, by the same 4-3 score, ousted the last of the Arizona tournament contingent, Mrs. T. W. Woodman of Phoenix, who although her medal qualifying score was the better, was unable to contend with the Texan in match play.

YUMA, ARIZ., WONDERS IF IT DOES RAIN CLAMS

YUMA, Ariz.—(UP)—Does it rain clams in Yuma?
Skeptics can take for proof the story of a 11-year-old Yuma boy who says that a clam fell during a rainstorm and struck him full on the shoulder.

He said he was hurrying home to get out of the rain, minding his own business, when he felt something hit him. He looked down, and there was the clam.

The nearest natural habitat of clams to this desert town is the Gulf of California, some 50 miles due south.

Drifts Into Derby Debate

Though he ran in bandages in front and was drifting out in hot run down homestretch, J. Fred Byers' Robert Morris served notice he must be figured in Kentucky Derby, May 3, by beating older horses in Excelsior Handicap at Jamaica. Shouldering only 100 pounds, Robert Morris galloped one mile and one-sixteenth in creditable 1:44 3/5. He is son of Jacopo from Arch Queen, by Archale. Jockey is Nick Wall.

Dykes Miracles Are Still Threat For Opponents

By Harry Grayson
NEA Service Sports Editor

CHICAGO—The White Sox don't look like much. They were hard hit by the flu. It will be some time before the streptococcus bugs in his throat will permit their star pitcher, Johnny Rigney, to get back to work.

Dario Lodigiani, whom the Athletics shipped to Toronto, is playing third base. Bill Knickerbocker has been dragged out of the Yankee dugout and pressed into service as a second baseman and leadoff man.

The Sox would be tossed off rather lightly were it not for the fact that they are managed by James J. Dykes.

Some suspect it is about time Jimmy Dykes ran out of miracles, but I doubt it. Spending no money to speak of, Dykes, the little wisecracker with the big cigar, has built well. He is a master salesman—$75,000 from Detroit for a faded Al Simmons, for example.

Working On Humphries And Haynes
Dykes engineered advantageous trades—Zeb Bonura for Joe Kuhel for instance. Clark Griffith is still kicking himself for that one, though the Old Fox did well financially leasing Bananas Bonura to the Giants and Cubs.

Detroit chucked in Mike Tresh in a six-player transaction in 1937, and two years later he became Dykes' first-string catcher.

The Sox acquired Thornton Lee from Cleveland for an old bat or something, and the Goon has gone well since. Pete Appleton quickly picked up in Pale Hose livery.

Dykes took command of one of the worst clubs in the history of the American League in 1934. He took it from last place to fifth in '35, and the Sox have twice finished third and twice fourth since. Jimmy Dykes, great copy and a grand fellow, has come close to doing the best managing job in baseball.

Boston Starts Badly But Beats Athletics

Britain Hurries Men And Arms To Gibraltar, Suez

LONDON, April 26—(AP)—Britain, defeated in the battle of the Balkans, hurried soldiers and arms to the danger zones of Suez and Gibraltar tonight and braced for extension of the air battles of London and Berlin.

The RAF carried out several day offensive patrols over the English channel and Northern France with the loss of two fighter planes.

One German plane was shot down off the Southeast coast, where a daylight bombing caused more injuries and property damage.

The Germans fired their long-range guns again across the choppy, cloudless Strait of Dover.

Prime Minister Winston Churchill, who is expected to tell the public of withdrawals in Greece in a broadcast Sunday (7 p. m. CST), inspected bomb-riddled districts of Manchester today.

Britain Wasn't Ready

"It's tragedy, but they'll get it back threefold," he commented.

The air ministry told of the bombing of Kiel, other German naval bases, and Berlin, and the ministry of home security arranged to conscript firewatchers for compulsory service in London.

"The main theater of war remains the British Isles and their maritime approaches," a reliable source declared, but indicated Britain was rallying strength for the immediate task of holding Eastern and Western ends of Mediterranean lifelines, as well as in the Atlantic.

The battle of Greece proves that Britain is not yet strong enough to handle the bigger and better equipped German army, this source said, "so our job for possibly another year seems to be concentration on air and sea combat until we have got tanks and weapons from the United States factories and ours to tackle the enemy in decisive fashion on land."

SONG WRITER DIES POOR

LONDON—(UP)—Frank Leo, famous composer of "Where Do Flies Go in the Winter Time," and 1,400 other song hits died a poor man because he scorned jazz and would not write it. He left only $1,112—a sum which at one time he earned in less than a month.

Taxation May Reduce Number Of Motorists

WASHINGTON, (UP)—Chester H. Gray, director of the National Highway Users Conference, warns that taxation of motorists is reaching a point where it may force persons with low incomes to give up their automobiles.

In state legislatures throughout the country, he said, efforts are being made to increase "taxes, fees, and charges which highway users must pay." Such measures he said, will "increase the cost of using the highway beyond their present too-high levels, so far as the low income citizen is concerned.

SAN ANTONIO, April 26—(AP)—The second division, forming a 110-mile convoy, will leave Fort Sam Houston Monday morning for the Brownwood area where it will spend a week "battling" the 45th division from Camp Barkeley, Abilene.

The division will be joined by its 38th infantry combat team now on maneuvers near Abilene.

The 45th division, made up of National Guard troops from Oklahoma, Colorado, Arizona, and New Mexico, will be playing the role of enemy to the division with which it was a partner in extensive maneuvers two years ago on Leon Springs Reservation, 20 miles north of here.

Athletic Band Leader Kept Players In Shape

NEW YORK—(UP)—Ozzie Nelson, the band leader, never forgot that he was a star varsity football player, an intercollegiate boxing champ, a wrestler and lacrosse player. Thus when he went into the music field he carried a gymnasium around with him and make his musicians work out.

As a result Nelson may lose most of his band—to the U. S. Army. Three of his bandmen were summoned for selective service recently and were found to be in such fine physical shape — contrary to most musicians — that they were accepted immediately. Several others of his band have been called and now Nelson doesn't know whether to be glad or sorry he started the keep fit campaign.

Negro Institute Will Have Air Corps School

TUSKEGEE, Ala.—(UP)—A primary air corps training school for negroes — first of its type in the country — is coming into being at Tuskegee Institute, famous Southern negro educational school.

The first all-negro air unit, the 99th pursuit squadron is to be "activated" at Tuskegee next October, and at present a 276-man ground crew is being recruited at the institute.

Pretzels From Pennsylvania

HARRISBURG, Pa.—(UP)—The Pennsylvania Commerce department doesn't know about the beer, but if you're eating pretzels they'll lay three to five they come from Pennsylvania. The commonwealth produces 62 per cent of the 52,331,396 pounds of pretzels made annually in the United States.

Indians Volunteer For Army Service

WASHINGTON, (UP)—The army will never concede that the Indian is the Vanishing American.

Of the 272 Indians available for military service at the Fort Peck reservation in Montana, almost 50 per cent have volunteered for the army, the Office of Indian Affairs reports.

Throughout the country, the office says, "surprisingly large percentages of Indians" are volunteering in more and more being trained in mechanical and technical skills.

In Oklahoma, 30 Comanches have been selected to form a special Signal Corps detachment to use the Indian language for code purposes in communications. The Comanche language is little known and particularly difficult to learn.

Lewisohn Concerts To Start 24th Year

NEW YORK, (UP)—This summer will mark the 24th anniversary of the Lewisohn Stadium concerts by the New York Philharmonic-Symphony. The concerts were begun in 1918, largely as a means of keeping up public morale and entertaining soldiers and sailors.

In 1941, again a time of stress, the concerts return in some measure to their original purpose. As in the last war, men in uniform will be admitted free.

The season will be of eight weeks, from June 19 to Aug. 13. The opening concert will be directed by Artur Rodzinski, conductor of the Cleveland Orchestra.

Only a few of the soloists have been announced. Early in the season, Fritz Kreisler will be soloist in the Beethoven violin concerto. It will be the first outdoor appearance of his career. Later he will play in Robin Hood Dell, Philadelphia.

Other soloists during the first week at the stadium will be Artur Schnabel, pianist, and Paul Robeson. The Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo will give two dance programs.

Famed Pawnee Bill Recovers At Ranch House In Oklahoma

PAWNEE, Okla.—(UP)—Recovering from a long illness in his rambling ranch home on top of Blue Hawk Peak near this little town is white-haired Major Gordon W. Lillie—"Pawnee Bill" to millions of Americans who remember him as the hard-riding, trick-shot artist of Wild West shows.

Around the turn of the century, Pawnee Bill and his equally famous wife, May Manning Lillie, were rated among the top ranking stars of the tent and tanbark. Teamed with the great Buffalo Bill Cody, his name was a by word with Wild West enthusiasts.

At the heights of his Wild West show career, he merged his show with that of Cody and the two remained partners' until changing times and financial difficulties bankrupted them in 1912.

Bitter over his losses, Lillie returned to his newly-built home on Blue Hawk Peak and settled down to the life of a gentleman rancher, taking pride in his herd of buffalo, his cow ponies and rolling grazing lands. His wife was killed in 1936 in an automobile accident and Lillie was badly injured. Only his strong constitution saved him. Today, at 81, he is unusually active.

Negro Wages Ruling Perplexing To States

ATLANTA, Ga.—(UP)—The problem of paying negro teachers wages equivalent to those paid white instructors is perplexing southern states due to a U. S. Supreme Court ruling abolishing the wage-scale discrimination in school systems.

Another ruling requires equal educational facilities for negro and white children.

Only three states have any program by which they can meet the ruling by the Supreme Court. In North Carolina an agreement has been reached with negro teachers to increase their salaries gradually for four years until they are on a par with minimum salaries of white instructors.

The county is attempting to form a delegation of several producers to attend the Plainview show, one of West Texas' largest dairy events.

The county class show will be Wednesday May 7.

Pioneer Cattleman Succumbs At Albany

ALBANY, April 26—(AP)—Judge John Alexander (Joe) Matthews, 86, pioneer cattleman of Texas, died here Friday.

He had devoted his life to cattle raising, beginning as a lad when he went up the cattle trail to Dodge City, Kan., and Denver.

Judge Matthews was born at Union, Parish, La., the family coming to Texas in a wagon train and settling in Stephens County.

The family moved to a Shackelford County ranch and were identified with settlements near Fort Griffin, 14 miles north of Albany, where the 45,000-acre Matthews ranch now lies.

Mr. Matthews served several terms as Shackelford County Judge. On Dec. 25, 1936, Judge and Mrs. Matthews observed their 60th wedding anniversary.

Prices Are Fair Throughout Week

NEW YORK, April 26—(AP)—While selling dried up in today's stock market the news still was a bit too bearish for speculative comfort and prices finished a fairly successful week with moderate irregularity.

The shock of the apparent fall of Greece had worn off somewhat as a financial factor, brokers said, but doubts as to future British moves in the Near East were sufficient to curb many potential buyers. There were also revived fears of the United States actual involvement.

States Chicago Is No Longer Crime Capital

CHICAGO, (UP)—Harry Wilbach of the New York State Crime Bureau asserts that Chicago is no longer the alleged crime capital of the nation.

His conclusion was based on a survey reported by the Northwestern University law school's Journal of Criminal Law and Criminology, in which he shows that while Chicago's population has increased steadily since 1927, the number of reported crimes has decreased 60 per cent.

Well-Known Author Will Appear Before Town Hall Audience

Berita Harding, author of "Hungarian Rhapsody," "Imperial Twilight," "Phantom Crown" and other best-selling biographies and novels, will speak here Thursday evening at the high school auditorium under the auspices of Town Hall. Her subject will be "The Power Behind the Pen."

Mrs. Harding spent the summer of 1940 in Central and South America collecting new material for her lectures and for her next book. She sailed from New Orleans early in July for Rio de Janeiro by freighter and remained in South America through August. On her return trip she stopped over in Mexico City to visit her father, a leading steel industrialist in that city.

Mrs. Harding was born in Europe of Rhenish and Hungarian parents. She was brought to Mexico as a child of three and reared in the shadow of Chapultepec Castle, the imperial home of unfortunate Maximilian and Carlota, who story she was later to tell so forcefully in "Phantom Crown."

She makes Indianapolis her permanent home, but spend considerable time in Hollywood serving as an adviser to Warner Brothers Studio, which produced "Juarez" and planning a series of movies based upon her books. Several of her books are in the Midland County library.

1941 PLATFORM

More Dimes per Dollar

It certainly would be a grand thing these days if you could count on every dollar doing its share as completely as the dollars that buy gasoline for the trim new 1941 Buicks.

For in any of these magnificent cars you can have Compound Carburetion,† which adds as much as an extra ten or fifteen cents to the buying power of each gasoline dollar.

It works like this:

With FIREBALL design and Compound Carburetion, the same-size Buick engines now give from 18 to 24 more horsepower than last year.

We expend that horsepower through rear-axle gears that travel you farther for each revolution of the engine.

At the same time, the rate of fuel is fed to your engine according to need—in light loads only one carburetor functions, when plenty-power is wanted the other also comes in.

Thus, all the time, your engine is operating on the most efficient fuel supply for the job in hand, while your speeding rear wheels are stretching the miles out behind you.

So if you'd like an extra dime or more from each gasoline dollar, why not ask a Buick dealer how Buick does it?

Robert P. Stripling, committee clerk, said the cablegram was found in Arena's files by committee agents. The message, in Italian, was dated March 7, 1940 and Stripling said a translation of it read: "We are aware of your methods. Your only salvation is silence." It was signed, Stripling added, with the names "Cascianelli" and "Gorgolini."

"In sending you this check I hope the Bank of England won't charge you anything for making the collection," Windham added. "Should you run short, just let me know by radio and I will see what I can do."

COMPETITIVE ATHLETES DON'T GET HURT EASILY

MADISON, Wis.—(UP)—College athletes engaged in competitive sports don't get hurt easily. That's the opinion of Dr. Llewellyn Cole, director of the University of Wisconsin department of student health.

"There are few injuries among those who have been well trained," he said. "We have a remarkable record of no more than four or five fractures of any consequence at all in any one year."

of gasoline there. In that case, the airport bonds would have to be paid from the city's general funds. Mayor Ulmer said the city tax rate now is $1.20 and it may not be necessary to increase it during the national emergency if the Air Corps takes over the port and erects the large school. Due to a healthy financial situation the city may be able to assume the additional obligation without increasing the rate, he added.

General Brant briefly outlined the Air Corps' proposal and said it is seeking the best possible location for the bombardment school. He said the situation here is very favorable.

His recommendations and officials reports on the proposal must be in Washington May 1 and quick action is expected from the War Department with prospects the school may be in full operation in the Fall.

He described the advances made by the Air Corps in recent years and the importance of aviation in modern warfare.

He said that in 1936 the Air Corps training six groups of fliers, it now is training 82 groups a year and by July 1 hopes to be training 100 groups a year.

President Roosevelt, the general recalled, outlined a program for 50,000 airplanes and the Randolph Field commander said the President may get them in a year and a half.

Step-up Training

Brant said that two years ago the Air Corps graduated 800 pilots a year and it soon hopes to turn out 30,000 pilots a year.

A man must not only be able to fly, he explained, but he must be able to shoot and bomb accurately. He said an airplane is not a weapon of warfare but a platform which carries the weapons.

Plans were outlined for obtaining sites for bombing targets in West Texas so that if fliers are trained here they will get plenty of bombardment practice.

The Army, he said, is ready to go ahead with its program and build the necessary schools.

He said more than a million dollars probably will be spent in construction of the bombardment school and the payroll of the school will be more than $100,000 a month.

City Councilman Tom Sealy, told the mass meeting the citizens should decide definitely the question of whether their airport should be turned over to the Air Corps.

Dr. L. W. Leggett, Paul McHargue, city councilman, and J. R. Martin, and others in the session spoke briefly urging no time be lost in making the airport available to the Air Corps.

Ed M. Whitaker moved that the council take whatever steps are necessary to aid the Air Corps and be empowered to act as it sees fit in the matter. It was adopted unanimously and Midland taxpayers went hurriedly back to their work.

Meanwhile Army officers, here with General Brant, were checking water supplies and everything that will be needed by the Air Corps should the big bombardment school be located in Midland.

If the War Department decides to locate the big bombardment school in Midland it will lease the airport and necessary adjacent land from the city for $1 a year with an option to purchase it later.

Hints On How NOT To Be Beautiful

By Alicia Hart. No woman is beautiful to any man when— She bawls out the waiter in a restaurant or is sarcastic about the food or the service. She spams in her stockings are crooked and her shoes are badly in need of a shine. She listens with only half of her mind, dividing her attention between what he is saying and what the waiter is doing. She drops her gloves more than once during a single movie. She is extremely critical of another woman, or worse yet, critical of one of his old cronies. After keeping him waiting for half an hour, she forgets to offer a good excuse and an apology.

MORE SUGGESTIONS ON HOW NOT TO MAKE A HIT

She tells a non-funny story about one of his mistakes in judgment. (You have to be a superb raconteur with a knack of building up while tearing down to get away with derogatory stories about "present company.") She swears a great deal or overworks the latest slang expression or has too many drinks. In spite of a carefully made up face and a smart hat, she shows up for a date with stringy hair and a neck that isn't quite clean. She discusses her weight problems and diet theories for more than thirty seconds. She insists upon discussing her job when he wants to talk about the moon or even his own career. She talks too long about anything.

Watson, yard commandant, issued an order that required all officers receiving visitors to sign their full names to the visitor's pass when the interview is ended. The signature is necessary, it was explained, so that the marine on duty at the gate can permit the visitor to leave the yard. First officer in the yard to forget the rule was—Rear Admiral Watson.

We, the Women

Dear members of Chicago's "Kisses for Breakfast Club": Aren't all 300 of you approaching from a wrong angle the problem of the husband who gobbles his breakfast while buried behind the morning newspaper, jams on his hat, gives his wife a quick goody peck and dashes off to work?

There may be 300 of you right here in Chicago who think the hit-and-run kiss is a matrimonial menace—but even so, it isn't a group problem. It's entirely an individual matter.

Instead of trying to combat the evil by organization, why don't you each fight it alone—and in your own way? If you can't quite figure out how, here are some tips as a starter: Let your husband get to bed at a decent hour, instead of keeping him up until one o'clock playing bridge with the Joneses so he'll wake up in a good humor.

Put on your make-up before you start to breakfast, even if you have to get up ten minutes earlier every morning of your life to be able to manage it. Don't nag your husband into eating his oatmeal, if he hates the stuff, even if you are up on your vitamins.

Just because it's breakfast don't set the table in the kitchen. Less Chatter at Breakfast Equals More Affection Let him read his half of the newspaper and you read yours—to yourself, not out loud.

Don't chatter. The man doesn't live who appreciates gay chatter with his poached egg on toast. And don't start a list of "Don't-forget-dear" reminders when he leaves the table. If you want to remind him to pay the light bill, call him at his office—or better yet, pay it yourself.

When he starts to kiss you don't start pulling threads off his coat. Just put your arms around his neck and . . . but this is an individual problem, isn't it? I almost forgot. Sincerely, —RUTH MILLETT.

Simple mathematics allows you to make the contract on this hand—just count your tricks.
It is difficult to count 10 tricks, but if we figure four club tricks, the ace of hearts and two heart ruffs, the ace and king of spades and the long trump, we have 10 tricks. As there is no other choice, that is the line of play to be followed.

be won with the ace, a small club led and the jack finessed. A trump should be won with the king and the second club led.

Now another trump trick should be cashed leaving only the queen at large. A heart should be ruffed in dummy and the five of clubs led and won with declarer's nine-spot.

Declarer's last heart can then be ruffed and a diamond discarded on dummy's good club. Nothing can prevent South from making another trump trick, which gives him his contract.

Mustangs Parade Will Be Saturday

The Mustang Pet Parade, annual boy's event scheduled in Midland yesterday, was postponed because of bad weather to 11 a. m. next Saturday.

Officials called off the event when heavy rains fell Friday night. Additional plans for the parade will be made this week, officials said. Midland merchants are co-operating.

Three hundred pets and 150 boys will take part in the parade and prizes will be awarded best entries. Whether or not Governor W. Lee O'Daniel, who was invited, could be present Saturday was not learned. O'Daniel could not be here yesterday because of official duties.

LOVE POWER

BY OREN ARNOLD

YESTERDAY: Bob Hale flies west to find a location for the X-999 laboratory. Carolyn realizes that she is in love with him. She keeps her job, however, awaiting Bob's return. He finds an ideal hiding place, hurries home to supervise the transfer of X-999. Carolyn takes charge, tells Leana preparation for moving are underway.

LEANA PLANS REVENGE
 CHAPTER XII
LEANA SORMI, perfectly groomed, as always, because her scientific mind revolted against anything not precise and orderly, swung down the hallway in graceful strides. Carolyn watched her from a distance and had to admit the older woman's bodily beauty and grace. Leana had limbs, hips, torso, shoulders, hair and posture which any girl might envy, and Carolyn told herself, fearfully, that these can go a long way to offset a rather plain face. Especially if they are topped with a brilliant mind.

To avoid any clash, Carolyn's first urge was to hurry into her own office. She knew Leana was coming to see Bob. Next instant, however, she remembered the somewhat frantic way in which Bob had pleaded for help in his strange courtship with Leana, so she waited.

"You look lovely this morning," Carolyn said, by way of greeting. Leana warmed over so slightly, "I always wear white well."

There was no more. No smiles. No moment of geniality, no further bit of girl talk. Leana passed on as if detached from the world. Carolyn sensed anew that she could never be of any help to Bob Hale in his personal heart matter. Everything in her rebelled against trying!

LEANA went to Bob's office. Carolyn, anxious to escape the unavoidable eavesdropping, or interfering in any way, found excuses to stay away from her desk.

In characteristic bluntness, Leana drove straight to her point. "Robert, now that you have returned to actual work," she emphasized the last two words almost bitterly—"perhaps you will be so good to tell me the plans you have made."

The truth escaped his notice. In truth, Leana was not so much concerned over the future of X-999 as she was of the fact that Bob had returned from the west yesterday afternoon, and had, to Leana's astonishment, taken Carolyn to dinner.

"Right, Leana! I was going to send for you. Or come to your office," Dr. Hale, although superior here, had always tacitly placed Miss Sormi in a position of virtual partnership and equality in their laboratory work. She had come to expect it. "As a matter of fact," he went on, "Carolyn has made most of the arrangements already. She is to—"

"Indeed! The matter was taken right out of my hands."
 Her asperity caught his attention. He looked up at her in surprise. "But, Leana, she—why not? Carolyn is to be complimented. For efficiency. She had already ordered a freight car when I arrived home, had the exact train schedule on my desk. She had anticipated my reasoning that a freight car offers the best and safest transport."

"Carolyn arranged to load the car at the Meyer switch, only half a mile from here. The lead containers will be cast and ready by 6 or 7 o'clock tonight. The girl is priceless."

"There'll be so much secretarial work, so I've asked Carolyn to go west with us. Move out there, with her mother. Dependable help is invaluable, Leana, and she has proved herself."

He smiled tolerantly. "We're just not used to having a secretary, you and I. Somebody to do our work."
 "The danger is enormous," said she, coldly.

"Unavoidably." He nodded agreement. "Which is all the more reason for getting our job done with dispatch. Carolyn has some good ideas about packing, too. Look, she suggests if ordinary coil springs be mounted on all sides of the padded containers, and they in turn padded again outside, there is practically no possibility of shock no matter how rough the trip may be. As you know, ordinary shock should not disturb X-999 anyway. Only heat or a percussion cap might do it. Any yet, that first effort—"

He recalled the explosion which still baffled him. "For getting it to the train, Carolyn agrees that—"

CAROLYN, Carolyn, Carolyn! Robert seemed full of her name. Leana's lips tightened, worked in and out nervously. She was shrewd enough to say no more, though. Just she reveal something of the deep resentment she felt. The Tyler girl had no place here, no right! She was an intruder. What had "efficiency" to do with it? Any child could charter a freight car, suggest a packing case.

Leana left Bob Hale's office, ostensibly to go to the laboratory. Actually she was tense with anger. Unreasonable but real. She had expected him to spend all of last evening with her here in the laboratory and when he hadn't come at 10 o'clock she had investigated, only to learn that he was dining and dancing again.

Fury over that—Leana held it to be acute neglect of duty on Bob's part rather than any jealousy of her own—caused her to go sleepless most of the night, which left her unprepared for dispassionate thinking this morning.

She did not go to the laboratory. Something inside Leana Sormi had snapped.

She went to her own office again, carefully locking the door; sat at her desk to stare off at nothing. Her facial expression then would have caused anyone instant alarm. Again, in characteristic manner, she drove straight to a point, this time in her thinking.

Obviously the X-999 situation had made Robert Hale a changed man. She, Leana, had done everything possible to control him. She—facts are facts, to be faced as such—loved the man. Unhappily.

She had all but thrown herself at him in person, and in a letter. And her only response had been a tersely polite note, impeccably re-assuring but entirely unresponsive in its subtler, more meaningful tones.

On the other hand she was Robert Hale's partner in full confidence here. One of the only two persons in all the world who knew the priceless X-999 secret! "There lies infinite power!" she whispered, so intent that she trembled. "Power in the ways that he suspects!" More ways swelled within her. "It is as much mine as his. I deserve it! He is nothing but a boy, here at the crucial time. I should have full charge of it! I can! . . . I . . . will!"

Obviously—the thought occurred to her in genuine logic—she could murder Robert Hale and be rid of him. Her vast scientific knowledge could easily devise a safe way. But—she loved him; or she had loved him, up to this moment. She discarded murder, then.

"But I can take X-999 for my own!" she whispered again. Her eyes were gleaming wildly now. She gripped the arms of her chair. "I can take every bit of it, and leave the cyclotron and the other equipment in such condition that he would need another year, at least, to repair them! In that time I can—I can—I—"

The possibilities were staggering. And in Leana Sormi, to plan a course was to act on it at once. (To Be Continued)

Texas Defense Labor Poses Tuberculosis Problem For State
 By Hugh Williamson
 Associated Press Staff Writer
 Labor massed at growing Texas defense centers aggravates a tuberculosis problem which this state and its legislature are wrestling with.
 The National Tuberculosis Association will discuss the subject at its meeting in San Antonio May 5 to 8.
 "Migration and massing of labor in areas of industrial concentration create an acute public health menace," warns Dr. Kendall Emerson, managing director of the association.
 "Crowded living conditions, mounting prices of necessities, increasing mental, emotional and physical strain—inevitable by-products of industrial defense activities—are factors dangerously favorable to the increase and spread of tuberculosis," he added.
 Key to the tuberculosis situation in Texas lies in the southern part of

Capitalist Dies At Florida Home
 LAKES WALES, Fla., April 26—(AP)—August Heckscher, 92-year-old New York capitalist and philanthropist, died at his Mountain Lake home here today after a long illness.
 Born in Hamburg, Germany, August 27, 1848, Heckscher came to this country in 1867 with only a few hundred dollars capital. He worked first as a laborer in the coal mining business of a cousin. He rose to become one of the foremost financial and philanthropic figures in America.
 His favorite charity was aid to underprivileged children and to old persons. He accomplished much in slum eradication work, chiefly in the city of New York.
 The state Texas Tuberculosis Association officials declare:
 "The scourge takes 147 lives per 100,000 population annually in the 37 southernmost Texas counties, the state association's records reveal. The West Texas toll is 137 per year, the Panhandle's only 27, the figure is 52 for North Central Texas, 56 for Northeast Texas and 64 for Southeast Texas."

FORT BENNING, Ga.—A soldier's rifle is a personal and vital arm. Especially for a U. S. soldier, it is a symbol of his national heritage—of wars and wildernesses won. At least it should be. Military leaders know it would be a bad thing if men lacked pride and faith in their rifles, and there were some misgivings about replacing the simple and reliable Springfield (Model 1903) with the more intricate and frankly less dependable Garand, a semi-automatic.

But nobody was quite prepared for the hullabaloo that arose about a year ago and which has been fanned again by publication of unfavorable excerpts from a report of competitive tests made by the Marine Corps.

Visiting camps in the south, this reporter heard selectees and National Guardsmen, who had not fired the Garand, wondering whether Washington bureaucracy was about to hand them an inferior weapon. They said they had seen no answer to criticisms they had read.

Here at Fort Benning, home of the Infantry School for Officers and of the policy-shaping Infantry Board, are all the answers about the new primary arm of our fighting forces. They're not exactly official, but you could call them authoritative, because the officer I interviewed is Col. T. S. Wesless, rifle instructor at the Infantry School, test officer during part of the Garand's 15-year development, and an exceptional marksman who several times has gone to the National Rifle Matches at Camp Perry, O.

Shoots More Easily
Sitting in his office, Colonel Wesless rapidly took apart a Garand (now known as the M1, meaning Model One) and explained how it works. This is the main idea: About two inches from the end of the barrel, and at a right angle to it, is a hole smaller than the lead in a pencil. Part of the expanding gas which is driving the bullet goes through this vent, whams into a tiny piston, which in turn pushes back the breech mechanism, ejects the old shell and puts in a new one as it closes. All quick-like-a-work. The rifleman doesn't have to mow a lever or bolt; he just aims and squeezes the trigger.

The reason the Army and Marine Corps adopted the M1 is that it can fire from two or three times as many aimed shots per minute as the Springfield. Every phase of modern warfare is a race for superior fire power, and no foreign nation has an infantry rifle that can throw anything like the amount of lead that the Garand does.

Garand's Advantages
He named some specific advantages: 1. The M1 uses a clip of eight rounds instead of the Springfield's five. At the last shot, the clip is ejected with a resonant bang.
2. The M1 is easy to take apart and clean in the field.
3. The sights are in every way stronger and superior. Adjustment is closer and easier. Elevation and windage are changed by thumb screws that click, and each click represents one inch to each 100 yards of range.
4. The trigger stays in adjustment better than the Springfield's.
5. The shell ejector is sturdier.

"Performance of the M-1 in the hands of troops should settle the controversy," Garand rifle aimed by this sergeant throws more lead faster than the infantry rifle of any foreign nation.

6. A rifleman can conceal himself better with the Garand because he doesn't have to raise a hand above the level of the barrel to operate a bolt.
7. The Garand has about one-third less recoil.
Performance of the M1 in the hands of troops should settle the controversy about it, but the Army has no official statistics so far. At Fort Sam Houston, Tex., I was told that more than 90 per cent of selectees and other recruits were qualifying as marksmen or better with the Garand. That is a proportion previously undreamed of.

Here at Fort Benning, the score is even higher among classes of officers—many of them reservists who haven't fired a rifle in years. Colonel Wesless said that of his last class of 183, who had scarcely any practice because of bad weather, 70 rated expert riflemen, 52 sharpshooters, 63, marksmen, and only 3 failed to qualify.

Brunson Herd Is Second In March
The dairy herd belonging to L. A. Brunson, residing one mile north of the city, ranked second in the state in March tests on the food value in milk.

Brunson was notified by a letter from G. G. Gibson, assistant extension dairyman of the Texas A&M Extension Service.
Milk tests are taken monthly by experts under the Dairy Herd Improvement Association of Texas program.
Brunson and several Midland County milk producers are members of the DHIA and are urging others to join in the program.

The Garand rifle (top) and the 1903 Springfield, showing radical differences in breech mechanism. Hand-operated bolt on Springfield slows down firing speed. Garand automatically ejects empty cases and reloads chamber. The Garand uses clip of eight rounds against the Springfield's five.

Winkler County Will Buy Trucks

One truck costing $8,000, will be stationed in Kermit. Another truck and equipment will cost between $4,000 and $5,000 and be at Wink.
Neither of the trucks will be used in fighting fires within the city limits unless city-owned equipment is inadequate.

Defense Savings Bonds And Stamps On Sale Thursday

United States defense savings bonds and postal savings stamps will be placed on sale in the Midland post office Thursday.
Postmaster Allen Tolbert announced plans almost completed for this community, along with thousands of others from coast to coast, to do its full part at the opening of the savings program. It is expected that the mayor and other civic leaders will be among the first purchasers of savings bonds and stamps here.

The new defense savings bonds is similar to the familiar "Baby Bond," of which more than five billion dollars worth have been bought by more than two and a half million Americans since 1935.
A defense bond may be purchased May 1, or thereafter, for $18.75. In ten years, this bond will be worth $25.00. This is an increase of 33 1/3 per cent, equal to an annual interest return of 2.9 per cent, compounded semi-annually. Any time after 60 days from the date of purchase, the bond may be redeemed for cash, in accordance with a table of redemption values on the face of the bond.

Bond Has $5000 Limit.
To spread investments widely among all the people of America, a limit of $5,000 has been set on the amount of these bonds to be bought by any one person in one year. The bonds are in denominations of $25, $50, $100, $500 and $1,000, all of which are sold for 75 per cent of their maturity value and all of which mature in ten years.

For larger investors who can afford to purchase up to $50,000 worth of bonds a year, the Treasury Department has issued two additional kinds of defense savings bonds, but these will be sold only through banks and by direct mail from Washington, D. C. They are intended for associations, trustees and corporations, as well as individual purchasers.

For the smaller investor who wants to buy a Government Bond on an easy payment plan, the post office will have a new series of Postal Savings Stamps, at 10c, 25c, 50c, $1, and $5. Each purchaser of any Savings Stamps higher than 10c will be given, free of charge, an attractive pocket album in which to paste his stamps until he has enough to buy a $25 bond or one of higher denomination. Thirty million of these albums are now being prepared.

Air Travel Qualifies Kleberg For Committee

WASHINGTON, April 26—(AP)—Well-qualified to serve on the special congressional air-crash investigating committee is its Texas member, Representative Richard Kleberg of Corpus Christi.
For years he has been one of the most frequent users of commercial air services. He fostered the Corpus Christi naval air station, long confidence in the continued rapid expansion of aviation.
When the committee was created it first made an intensive study at the local airport of both planes and airway facilities, then went off on a tour over the country to make a first hand investigation of the surroundings where recent air crashes have occurred.

Medical Science Did Not Spare Life But Memorial Gift Will

Medical science did not save the life of Eddie Culbertson, Midland, who died from tetanus infection after a firecracker exploded in his hand here Dec. 20.
But a memorial given in memory of him by friends may spare many human lives. The gift is a life-saving piece of hospital equipment—an infant incubator which was placed in Ryan Hospital.
The night young Culbertson died in a Dallas hospital, he and his friends planned a dance.
The dance was not held when Eddie died but the money for the dance was used to buy the incubator.

Mrs. W. W. LaForce presented the memorial to Ryan Hospital on behalf of Eddie's friends.
Culbertson, 15-year-old high student and son of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Culbertson, was active in young people's work at the First Presbyterian Church.

Hundreds Of Correspondents Shoot Questions At FDR At Conferences But President Dodges Tough Ones

By Peter Edson
The Reporter-Telegram
Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON, April 26.—No matter what your political views, there's no denying that this man by the name of Roosevelt who seems to be in the White House now is an old smartie pants.
That fact is most obvious, perhaps, in observing the way he handles his semi-weekly press conferences. Tuesday afternoon and Friday morning when a hundred or more Washington correspondents crowd into the oval room which is his office, and there try to outsmart him.

Mr. Smooth, however, can duck the tough ones with the adroitness of an African dodger and laugh about it, kidding some correspondent about having spoiled one for him, telling another that the question was too "iffy" or that it was like Topsy—the answer hadn't grown up yet.
Questionable Question
Sometimes the questions are too obviously impossible, as when someone wanted to know if the President had "any general opinion on the progress of the European war."
The President threw back his head and roared and afterward he commented that he'd have to grease the palm of the Delphic oracle on that one.
Some of his answers are perhaps too honest to make good copy. When the President was asked about his conversation with Prime Minister MacKenzie King of Canada, he shot back the answer that they had talked about German measles. As a matter of fact, the meeting had been very brief and the President had told about his inability to get away to Warm Springs, Ga., because of an epidemic of German measles at the institution. It would never do for an American president to get any German disease at this stage of the world's affairs.
When someone starts a question with, "Would it be a fair assumption to say that—" the President always cuts in with an ejaculation that stops the question in mid-air.

AAA Campaigns Against Meters

DETROIT—(UP)—The American Automobile Association is waging a campaign against parking meters, most of which the AAA says are "illegal."
The association, taking up the battle at a time many state legislatures are considering bills enabling municipalities to install the meters, charged that a majority of the 35,000 meters now in operation are primarily revenue-collecting devices and therefore are illegal.
Thomas P. Henry, AAA president of Detroit, said that several state supreme courts had ruled that the gadgets could not be used to collect revenue over and above their cost and operation.

Defense Contractors May Receive Tax Cuts

CHICAGO—(UP)—Defense contractors will be awarded special income tax deductions in 16 states, according to the Federation of Tax Administrators.
This protective step, already taken by the Federal government, will emerge in the form of accelerated depreciation rates on facilities built or acquired directly for defense production.
Its purpose is to expedite production by offsetting the risk involved in constructing facilities which may be useless in peacetime.
