Walkout Brings Strikers To 52,000 As Mediation Board Studies Dispute

By The Associated Press Defense officials reported the largest number of men on strike today in defense industries that had been out on any day this year as there was wide-spread speculation in Washington whether President Roosevelt might act to end stoppages.

The CIO walkout at the big North American Aviation Corporation's plant at Inglewood, Calif., enforced as the defense mediation board considered the labor dispute, pushed the number on strike to 52,800. There are about 9,000 employees at North American and their walkout, defense officials said, caused "very grave concern."

The officials said there had been 2,253,216 man-days of work on war department orders lost through strikes since January 1, when compilation of strike records started. The walkout at North American was the second rejection in 24 hours of proposals of the mediation board. The mediation board was charged by W. P. Goodman, head of the CIO United Automobile Workers Local at North America, with "stalling the workers." Management and union representatives in Washington for the mediation conferences met during the morning but recessed as the board representatives could attend.

Meanwhile, Congress heard new demands for presidential action to end strikes. Rep. Lambertson (R-Kas) told the House that with the current strikes, "this nation is due to whip itself before it starts to whip anybody else," and called on President Roosevelt to take action to stop them.

Rep. Ford (R-Calif) said: "This is the most logical result of the way this situation has been handled with these outlaws" by "such left wingers as Madam Perkins and Hillman."

He referred to Secretary of Labor Perkins and Sidney Hillman, associate director of the OPM. Rep. Rich (R-Pa) said that Miss Perkins, congressional committees, the President and Congress itself "had done nothing" and urged action before "we find ourselves as France found itself."

The North American has $796,000,000 worth of contracts for planes for the United States and British governments.

Long-Distance Toll Bill To Be Reduced

WASHINGTON, June 5—(AP)—The nation's long-distance telephone bill is going to be reduced $14,000,000 annually, commencing July 10.

Negotiated by the federal communications commission with the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. the reductions will mean a saving of approximately 14 per cent to users.

Reductions will be made in most day rates on calls of 144 to 1,530 miles, with reductions on some calls during the evening, night and on Sundays over the same mileage range.

Brinkley And Fletcher Withdraw From Race

AUSTIN, June 5—(AP)—Dr. John R. Brinkley of Del Rio, a Democrat, and Enoch Fletcher of Grand Saline, a Republican, have withdrawn their names from the United States senatorial race, the secretary of state's office announced today.

Attacks on British naval bases at Alexandria or Cyprus are likely to follow Germany's invasion of Crete, because Nazis must seize one or the other to gain a danger-free sea route to the near east. Distance to Syria from Axis bases would slow air transport of troops, and Britain's fleet controls all sea approaches. Map shows eastern Mediterranean attack lines of axis planes and British warships.

Ickes Predicts Restrictions On East Oil Consumption In Month

By The Associated Press WASHINGTON, June 5.—Petroleum Administrator Ickes declared today restrictions on oil consumption in the East was "probable" within a month. He added the hope if severe measures become necessary they would be undertaken on a voluntary basis.

The deficiency of oil in the populous East, Ickes said, might become so critical that not only gasless Sundays might be necessary but might mean "that we can't drive for pleasure on any day."

Restrictions now appeared necessary only in the East, he added. Ickes strongly urged immediate application of daylight saving time to the whole country, and criticized C. W. Kellogg, president of the Edison Electric Institute, and chief of power for the Office of Production Management, for his recent statement that "the power situation will be found to have been adequately provided for."

There is a power shortage now, Ickes told his press conference, and it promises to become worse. He said the impending curtailment of oil consumption in the East was being "definitely discussed" on a patriotic appeal basis, rather than by compulsion.

"It worked out that way the last time," he said, "and it probably would work again."

Coast Guard Men To Man Navy Boats

WASHINGTON, June 5—(AP)—Secretary Morgenthau disclosed today the Coast Guard was turning more than 3,000 of its sailors over to the Navy to man new navy transports.

Wemple Cites Dangers To Democracy In Talk At Good-Will Banquet

Relegating un-American influences to a back seat, Fred Wemple, Midland business man, told citizens of Midland and Courtney this nation must guard against selfishness and indifference at a good-will banquet last night at Courtney.

He was the principal speaker on a program sponsored by the Midland Lion's Club in the high school auditorium there. More than 70 persons, including club members, guests and their wives, attended.

Wemple said he believed Americans in daily conversations over-emphasized "monkey wrenches," "hotbeds" and "un-Americanism" and they would have to remove greed and apathy if they would safeguard the principles of democracy.

U. S. Can Meet Emergency "I think we all will have to project ourselves into the lives of others," he said. "We need trained and accomplished leadership. Governor States Old Folks Suffer Severe Hardships

Emergency Bill Would Transfer Money Out Of Bonds Retirement Fund

By The Associated Press AUSTIN, June 5—Declaring Texas' old folks were suffering untold hardships, Governor W. Lee O'Daniel today urged enactment of a bill making emergency appropriation of $1,700,000 to the old age assistance fund.

By Senator Claude Isbell of Rockwell, the bill would transfer that amount from a surplus in the fund from which county and district road bonds are retired. The House already has passed a bill making such appropriation $1,250,000.

The government said the Senate bill was supposed to come up in the Senate tomorrow. Unless immediate action was taken, he asserted, pension checks for June necessarily would be reduced an average of $2, to an amount $9 less than the department of public welfare estimated as the average need.

The average paid in May was $11.46. The welfare department authorized $18.46.

"The old folks are suffering untold hardships on account of these drastic cuts in their pension checks," the governor said. Spokesmen of the welfare department explained that revenue from the new tax law, which allocated approximately $11,250,000 a year additional to old age assistance, had not begun to come in sufficiently to avert the reduction.

Gets Invitation To Recess The Texas Senate received an invitation from the House to recess the overtime general session from June 12 to June 23.

House approval, by a vote of 71 to 62, of the recess resolution yesterday climaxed a laborious day in which the legislature cracked a work calendar jam, which to some extent, had blocked adjournment.

Among major legislation not yet approved were several money-spending bills for operation of the state government the next two years, a bill allocating a $2,000,000 balance in the state's county and district road bond fund and oil proration measures.

After weeks of balking, the Senate passed finally, with an amendment requiring House action, a House bill extending the current market demand oil proration states two years from Sept. 1, the expiration date of present law.

The House had approved a proposal making the state's oil regulatory laws permanent, and refusing the Senate's amendment, asked for a conference committee to work out differences.

Behind The Headlines

By Fred Vanderschmidt (Special News Service) Britain must be praying for an Allenby. More than at any time in this war she needs a man of the measure of the conqueror of Jerusalem and Damascus, to deliver the swift and decisive stroke in the Near East which will preserve Turkey as an ally, save the Mediterranean and give heart to the people at home and the friends in the new world.

Perhaps General Sir Henry Maitland Wilson, the general officer commanding in Palestine and Trans-Jordan, is the Allenby of 1941. Upon Wilson will fall the weight of the strategy and the battle, of Britain decides to move her armies into Syria.

There is no evidence that Britain has made that decision. The order issued today, proclaiming Syria and Lebanon enemy-occupied territory for purposes of blockade, is a formality which recognizes officially the German infiltration of the French mandate, an infiltration which is said now to amount to a division of 15,000 men. This same measure was applied successfully to Rumania, Bulgaria, and Hungary, although not as quickly as to Syria.

Turkey Views British Eagerly British bombing of oil facilities in Beirut extends a British policy already laid down by Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden: To seek out and attack the Germans in any French territory, so long as the French continue to collaborate with Hitler.

The bombing does take on an added point, however, because Syria is cut off from the Iraq pipeline and the British by reoccupation of the Mosul area, now are, presumably, in a position to restore the flow of oil to their own depots at Haifa.

Yet the big step, the big risk—a land campaign by the British and Free French against the Germans in Syria and those of the Vichy French army whom the Germans can get to fight—is yet to be taken.

Turkey, for one, seems eager to have the British move into Syria. Today's descendants of the Spahis and the Janissaries appear willing to risk what almost is a certainty—that if the British conquer Syria, the Germans will plunge into Turkey from the north with the overwhelming might of panzers and dive bombers.

U. S. May Push Field Forces To 2,800,000 Soon

WASHINGTON, June 5—(AP)—The surprise disclosure that the army was rushing a new billion dollar camp construction program led informed legislators to believe today that the war department had decided to increase the field forces to 2,800,000 men, or double their present strength.

One member of Congress with close war department connections said that the new camp program meant "that the international situation is such that it has been deemed wise to prepare for this new emergency that may be approaching our shores."

The first intimation that the program was under way came from the army's construction quartermaster, Brigadier General Brehon Somervell, during testimony before a House military sub-committee yesterday. He was very laconic, however.

Within the previous 24 hours, he told the committee, he had received orders to rush the award of contracts for construction work totaling "about $1,000,000,000." Declining to provide details, he explained that "in some respects these things are military secrets."

Army Asks Bids On South American Beef

WASHINGTON, June 5—(AP)—Defense officials disclosed today that the army has asked for bids on 6,000,000 pounds of South American canned corned beef.

The purchase was proposed, officials said, after the war department had certified that the quantity and quality desired was not available in domestic beef.

Observers Predict Zero Hour Is Near

Powerful British Fleet Squadrons Mass Near Coast As Axis Warplanes Reported To Have Bombed Alexandria Killing 100

VICHY, Unoccupied France, June 5—(AP)—Usually well-informed diplomatic circles said tonight they had received reports that Adolf Hitler and Joseph Stalin had arranged at a secret meeting for the Russian Ukraine to serve as the breadbasket for all Europe in a new and extensive Eurafriatic collaboration.

By The Associated Press Great Britain clamped a blockade on French-ruled Syria and Lebanon today, declaring them "enemy occupied territory" and potential springboards for Adolf Hitler's war machine to strike at Palestine, Cyprus and Egypt. Powerful squadrons of the British fleet were reported massing off the Syrian coast, and all signs indicated that the "zero hour" of a vast struggle was now very near.

Blasting at the main base of the British Mediterranean fleet, Axis warplanes were reported to have bombed Alexandria, Egypt, during the night, killing more than 100 persons.

The London radio reported that "French-type" planes bombed the capital city of Amman, in British-mandated Transjordan, as a reprisal for the British bombing of gasoline stores at Beirut, Lebanon, Turkey Looks On

The radio said the attack supported belief that French-type planes seen flying from Rhodes to Syria were manned by German pilots.

Turkey watched the crisis with mounting anxiety. Turkish Foreign Minister Sukru Caracoglu was reported to have informed German Ambassador Franz Von Papen of Turkey's concern over the asserted debarcation of German troops in Syria.

Saracoglu told the Nazi envoy that Turkey was prepared to take additional security measures along her southeast frontier, facing Syria and Iraq, responsible sources in Ankara said.

The Turkish radio reported that 15,000 German troops had already slipped into Syria, many of them inconspicuously disguised as Jewish refugees, others bandaged and limping like wounded soldiers home from the wars. The Germans were also reported landing on the Syrian coast from small fishing vessels.

Imperial Force Re-informed Reuters, British news agency, said that a dozen or more Nazi planes—mostly fighters—were arriving daily in Syria, and that 150 empty transport planes had arrived at Rayak airfield Monday.

Ten Billion Dollar Army Supply Bill Sent To House

WASHINGTON, June 5—(AP)—A $10,000,000,000 army supply bill—largest single appropriation since World War days—carrying funds for drilling of a 6,500-foot test in Western Pecos, with location tentatively placed in the northwest quarter of section 48, block 50, township 10, T. & P. survey. exclusive of time $7,000,000,000 provided for the lend-lease program and the $6,000,000,000 required to complete the two-ocean navy. $2,800,000,000 For Planes

Despite these gigantic outlays, the committee said that barring a slackening of the defense program's tempo, the pending bill would not be adequate for the coming fiscal year because costs already were higher than when the estimates were prepared. The committee pointed out that of the total recommended, $9,509,492 was in cash and $183,145,695 in contractual authority.

Some of the major allotments in the bill included $2,650,000,000 for 12,856 additional warplanes, including bombers, pursuit and cargo ships; $1,208,000,000 for pay of the 1,418,000-man army; $45,000,000 for the purchase of 3,000 barrage balloons; $92,000,000 for seacoast defenses, chiefly to begin a complete modernization of those defenses along the Atlantic and Gulf Coast; $245,000,000 for spare engines and parts for bombers; $51,000,000 for continuation of the development of the new Atlantic island bases; $276,000,000 for new military post construction; 402,000,000 for the acquisition of additional "critical and essential" weapons and other equipment; and $750,000,000 for the maintenance and operation of plant and equipment.

The World After The War

The United States, in the midst of "an unlimited national emergency," is still far enough from "a shooting war" to look ahead to the world as it will be after the shooting is over.

Granted, the first order of business is to see that the world shall not be a mere playground for Nazi "master men," who would then be in a position to remold it in arbitrary accordance with a Nazi heart's desire. That is the first order of business, and one on which practically every American is agreed. It is primary, it is basic, but it is negative.

The positive side remains. We do NOT want a Nazi world. All are agreed on that. But what kind of a world do we want? There the worm of controversy creeps into the apple.

The British, fighting a desperate rear-guard action from Dunkerque to Crete, have had little time to juggle with brave new worlds. They have been most coy in committing themselves to any specific blueprint of future world order, and that is understandable. Your own blueprints are worthless if the other fellow forcibly seizes the contract.

First off, you must see that you get the job, or at least that the world has a free opportunity to award the job to you. Otherwise the best blueprints are wasted. So the British, putting first things first, have been trying to see to that.

Nevertheless, one way to get the job is to have a blueprint or at least a rough sketch available.

Enough free customers, or potentially free customers, remain, so that the British have at last had to hint at their blueprint. Foreign Secretary Eden has backed up the general lines of President Roosevelt's Four Freedoms: freedom of speech, freedom of religion, freedom from fear, freedom from want. And an India governed "By India, For India, and In India." The last comes late, but it is better late than never. British performance in India gives at least a hope that it is an honest pledge; Nazi or Russian domination give no such hope.

Blueprints overlap; panaceas clash. British victory, however, certainly gives more hope of a free world than any Nazi "new order" run by and for the benefit of a "master race." It is only in a world that is reasonably free that the United States can hope to move forward to a progressive destiny. We cannot know exact goals today, but we can sense directions. And in today's world, the direction is everything.

The "American Division"

Ottawa estimates are that 8200 Americans are already serving with Canada's fighting forces; 6400 in the army, 500 as staff men or ferry pilots in the Atlantic service, 1300 in the air corps.

That is equal, if these men were organized as a unit, almost to a whole division. It means that more than 8000 Americans have offered much more than the simple sacrifices being asked of those at home. It means that they have offered life itself, not in defense of country, which any man would do, but in defense of a cause that is broader than country—the cause of a free world.

What is the status of these men? Most of them, it is understood, were permitted to enlist without taking an oath of allegiance which would diminish their primary loyalty to the United States. Beginning with Spain, where men of a dozen nationalities fought, the international character of the Nazi revolution has gnawed deeply at the once inviolate border lines of nations.

The Navy Needs Men!

We have been so absorbed in the vital problem of building the two-ocean navy, waiting and watching breathlessly as each new ship slides down the ways, that we have forgotten that it takes men to operate them. Further, we have become so accustomed to the idea of selective service for the army that we are apt to forget that the navy still depends on volunteers for its personnel.

The declaration of a full emergency makes it imperative that every new ship be instantly manned by trained sailors. The navy now needs 35,000 recruits, and has sent out a second urgent call for them. Requirements as to teeth and height have recently been lowered somewhat, which means that thousands who were formerly rejected may perhaps now be able to serve.

The navy is our first line of defense. Every post must be fully and ably manned.

The old law of supply and demand probably is what makes talk cheap.

The Biggest Employer

Greater than any single company, greater than any single industry, the roll of civil employees of the executive branch of the government has risen above 1,202,348. That was the total in March, and it is fair to presume that it is higher now. Of these, 167,081 are in the District of Columbia, the rest outside.

Almost one person in ten is now a federal employe. The percentage is comparable to that during the World War. The absolute number is larger (there were 917,760 civil employes at the time of the 1918 armistice), but in a country that has grown 30 per cent in population since that time, the relative number is nearly the same.

General Will Place Wreath On Kaiser's Grave For Fuehrer

DOORN, Occupied Netherlands, June 5—(AP)—In German's official participation in funeral ceremonies Monday for ex-Kaiser Wilhelm II, German Air Force General Friedrich Christiansen, military commander of the Netherlands, will lay a wreath on the grave on behalf of Adolf Hitler.

Arthur Seyss-Inquart, German head of the civilian administration of the occupied Netherlands, also will attend the services.

Messages of condolence have been received from Hitler, Field Marshal General Walter Von Brauchitsch, commander-in-chief of the German army; Field Marshal General Wilhelm Keitel, chief of the German high command; and Heinrich Himmler, chief of the Gestapo.

Dressed in a field marshal's uniform of the Imperial German army he once commanded, ex-Kaiser Wilhelm lay today in the small room where he died yesterday.

The former Emperor will be buried Monday with military honors on orders of Adolf Hitler.

CHICAGO, June 5—(AP)—Gov. Sam Houston Jones of Louisiana said today democracy had been restored in his state after what he called "an experiment in dictatorship—an experiment which failed."

Nowhere in his address prepared for delivery before the Chicago association of commerce did the democratic chief executive identify by name the late Huey Long and his Louisiana regime but he said: "We spawned a weird governmental monstrosity in Louisiana" but it "was slain by the will of an aroused populace," when "a little over a year ago he saw a people rebel."

"Today, after a year, we function as a democracy again," he said. "The dictator laws are gone."

Current month data as follows: stocks and prices, beginning of month; crude oil production, average 4 weeks ending middle of month; motor fuel demand, estimated for month.

One of the outstanding features of 1941 in the petroleum industry has been a steady and widespread recovery in the prices of crude oil and its products. This recovery is reflected in the oil index prepared and released monthly by the Independent Petroleum Association of America. The association's May Index appears in the accompanying chart. The figures on which the chart is based are as follows:

IPAA Index
May 1941
(EI935-6-7-100)

Production ..... 119
Stocks ..... 85
Average price ..... 102
Motor fuel
Demand ..... 134
Stocks ..... 132
Tank Car Price ..... 92

The index for crude oil price has increased from 95 per cent of the 1935-1936-1937 level in January of this year to 102 per cent in May. The index for the wholesale motor fuel price has increased from 80 in January to 92.

French Governor, Dakar Defender, Arrives At Vichy

VICHY, Unoccupied France, June 5—(AP)—Presumably summoned to conferences of vital import to the defense of the French empire, Pierre Boisson, honored by Vichy as the "defender of Dakar," arrived in the French capital unexpectedly last night.

Boisson, governor of French West Africa, joined General Maxime Weygand, Generalissimo of Vichy's armed forces in French North Africa, who has been here since Monday conferring with Chief of State Petain and attending two urgent cabinet sessions.

The visits of these two French African leaders coincided with a steady deterioration in relations between France and Britain and with increasingly persistent diplomatic reports in Vichy that Adolf Hitler was planning a European-Africa league of nations as his next step.

Boisson's successful defense of Dakar against British and "Free French" forces who appeared before the port last September won him a personal citation from Petain.

Japanese-East Indies Issue Nears Showdown

BATAVIA, Netherlands East Indies, June 5—(AP)—On the eve of the Netherlands Indies' fateful reply to Japanese demands for quantities of such war essentials as rubber, oil, tin and copra, the newspaper Javabode tonight quoted Japanese negotiator Kengichi Yoshizawa as declaring:

"We have reached the edge of a precipice; now we either fall over or retain our foothold. The next 24 hours are decisive."

Reliable sources indicated that the promised Dutch reply to the long-drawn-out trade negotiations with the Japanese would be an offer of substantially smaller amounts than the Japanese want, and that the Japanese would refuse.

Oil Men Advocate Increased Use Of Transportations

WASHINGTON, June 5—(AP)—Stepped-up utilization of all kinds of existing transportation facilities as well as construction of new pipe lines and tankers, were recommended by the OPM's special fact finding committee of oil men.

To alleviate an expected shortage in oil and gasoline for the Eastern seaboard rising out of the transfer of 50 tankers to British service and possible transfer of more, leaders in the oil industry at the request of the Office of Production Management prepared for petroleum coordinator Harold Ickes a list of moves that might be taken to ease the deficiency in bottoms.

Year For Construction.

Most prominent of proposed pipe lines was one to extend from the Texas fields to New York. Its estimated cost was $70,000,000. A 24-inch pipe, it would deliver a capacity load of 250,000 barrels of crude oil daily in the winter and slightly more in the summer. This would be equivalent to the capacity of about 65 tankers of approximately 10,000 dead weight tons each. A year to 15 months would be required for its construction.

Also suggested was construction of a 20-inch line parallel to the crude oil line, the smaller pipe to carry other petroleum products such as fuel oils or gasoline. This line would have a capacity of 225,000 barrels daily and also cost about $70,000,000.

The Plantation line from Baton Rouge and New Orleans, La., into Georgia, South Carolina and North Carolina with 60,000 barrel capacity, could be completed by July 1942, the report added, "if the present obstructions to obtaining the right of way" were removed soon.

Officers Report Men Act As Soldiers In Tennessee Maneuvers

By Jerry T. Baugh
WITH THE ARMY IN TENNESSEE, June 5—(AP)—So far in this make-believe war, Uncle Sam's soldiers have proved themselves much better soldiers than actors, army officers said today.

Of course, soldiering is what counts, but encouraging them to be realistic in the war games here is one of the major problems in judging what the troops can do in actual combat.

"It's the hardest thing in the world to get the men to act at all times as if they were dodging enemy bullets," declared Maj. Gen. Frederic H. Smith, Seventh Army Corps commander, who is directing two weeks of the month-long maneuvers in Tennessee.

This attitude among the trainees is being emphasized, he said, because the purpose of the training is to teach them proper fighting habits.

Although there were slip-ups in the first two days of the middle Tennessee war games that would not happen in actual combat, General Smith said he believed these faults would be eliminated as training progressed.

The committee approved army estimates of funds required to make rental payments on various camp sites, including (sums not disclosed):

Miss Rosellen Morrison Honoree At Clever Bridal Shower Given By Group; Theatre Theme Featured

Mock Wedding One Of High Points In The Evening's Gaiety

Miss Rosellen Morrison, bride-elect of Horace Busby, assistant theatre manager, was complimented with a novel shower, Wednesday evening, carrying out the theme of a "double feature" movie performance. "The Jones Theatre," otherwise the home of Mrs. E. Jones, 506 N. Marfield, was the scene of the party for which Mrs. Jones and a group of other friends including Misses Janice Watts, Lorine Jones, Faye Powers, Zona Lee Jones, Ruth Boggs, Florine Jones, and Mrs. M. S. McDaniel, were hostesses.

Unique invitations bade guests attend a double feature, "Model Wife," starring Rosellen Morrison, plus "Gifts Galore Given Gal." The house was decorated with cut sprig flowers and asparagus fern. The honoree's "all star supporting cast" for the evening included Miss Watts as "cashier" at the bride's book, Miss Lorine Jones, who received the gifts as "ticket-taker-upper," Miss Powers and Miss Zona Lee Jones at the refreshment table, Mrs. Jones as "manager," and Miss Boggs, Mrs. McDaniel and Miss Florine Jones as "ushers" in the receiving line.

Miss Gerry Griffith was at the piano during the evening. As guests arrived they registered and were given tickets for the drawing later. Refreshments were served in the dining room where the punch bowl was encircled with Queen's Lace and greenery.

Each guest was asked to tell why she was or was not married, using the initials of her name. Comedy feature of the "performance" was a mock wedding. Miss Powers sang "Always" and the bridal party entered to the strains of the funeral march.

All members of the party wore placards naming their roles in the make-believe ceremony. Miss Zona Lee Jones enacted the role of Miss Morrison, the bride, in the forthcoming wedding; Mrs. McDaniel played the part of the bridegroom, "Buz"; Miss Watts was the preacher; Mrs. Jones the landlady; Miss Florine Jones the bridesmaid; Miss Lorine Jones the flower girl; Miss Powers the ring bearer; and Miss Boggs the room-mate left behind.

"Main feature" of the evening's entertainment came when the bride-to-be was requested to sew a button on a garment of men's clothing. In the evening's lucky drawing, Miss Morrison was winner. Little David Duffield pulled into the room a little wagon labeled "jackpot" and heaped with gifts for the honoree.

The invitation list included: The honoree, Misses Joyce Johnson, Ethelyn Wilson, Evelyn Haag, Mesdames H. H. Nicholson, Roy Marcom, Agnes Carney, Misses Katherine Barrett, Ruth Beville, Ruth Freeman, Jane Doran, Gerry Griffith, Mrs. R. P. Duffield, Mrs. S. M. Warren, Miss Donna Downey, Mrs. Tolbert Bell, Mrs. L. W. Taylor, Miss Jessa Lynn Tuttle, Miss Joyce Beauchamp, Mrs. Charlie Gibbs, Mrs. Jas. T. Smith, Miss Stella Maye Lanham, Mrs. E. D. Richardson, Mrs. J. Howard Hodge, Mrs. Emma Mosley, Miss Marguerite Lee, Mrs. Kyle Taylor.

Miss Mamie Belle McKee, Mrs. Jackie Mumpower, Mrs. Minnie McLin, Mrs. J. M. Long, Mrs. W. Earl Chapman, Miss Mary Reising, Mrs. J. Hollis Roberts, Miss Maedelee Roberts, Miss Eunice Cooper, Miss Dorothy Hines, Mrs. Jim Peterson, Mrs. A. E. Horst, Mrs. Geo. R. Grant, Miss Virginia Droleman, Mrs. James H. Walker, Miss Yvonne Clements, Mrs. Bob Reeve, Mrs. R. M. Jones, Miss Kathleen Eiland, Mrs. R. H. Frizzell, Odessa, Mrs. E. J. Flannery, Mrs. R. E. Van Huss, Mrs. W. B. Stowe, Miss Louise Whilson, Mrs. Ethel Fleming, Mrs. Josephine Ligon and Miss Dorothy Horst.

FEMININE FANCIES By Kathleen Eiland

Cleverest gift wrapping we've seen is from a big city store—paper printed with the names and pennants of the "big name" schools of the country. Very collegiate and so designed to thrill the looker-forward-to-college as well as the bona fide coed.

Cologne wears its newest transformation by becoming solid cologne—much easier to carry on one's travels, whether superior to the liquid type in any other way or not.

Those washable white bags that we observed last summer which have a pearly sheen are progressing with the times. This year they have added the attraction of dainty flower sprays painted on the white background. Quite feminine.

Gifts de luxe for the June bride (or the bride of any other month) is a set of silver, service for eight, in a shallow chest borne aloft on long slender legs. When closed the chest forms a beautiful and convenient, though small serving table. The size adapts it particularly to the pint-size dining rooms of the present day.

Transparent plastic, which is becoming the material of a thousand-and-ones use is turned into delightful toilet sets. Especially new and charming is the double-faced mirror in this material. But brushes, combs, and other dressing table equipment are beautiful in the plastic, too. By the way, in addition to the crystal, these plastic sets come in pastel shades of pink, and blue, and amber, and green. The makers have designated them as sapphire, ruby, emerald, and so on but we've never yet seen a ruby that was as pink as the plastic combs nor emerald so pale green.

However, why quibble over the color? We wouldn't, if we had the chance to possess one of the new sets.

Official Says Civilian Use Must Be Curtailed

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., June 5—(AP) — Reduction in civilian use of gasoline and fuel oil is the only apparent solution to the problem of a shortage of transportation facilities for crude oil, in the opinion of Dr. Robert E. Wilson of the Office of Production Management.

Wilson told the Society of Automotive engineers last night that lack of water transportation for oil may result in a sharp curtailment of gasoline use in Eastern states and added that efforts are being made to avert this through construction of pipe lines.

"The only way in which I can see any solution to this problem is by cutting civilian use," the OPM official said.

Concord Park Marks End Of Tyranny In Caracas, Venezuela

CARACAS, Venezuela—(UP)—The new Plaza de Concordia (Concord Park) built on the site of the dread Rotunda prison not far from the business center of Caracas, has been opened to the public. It marks the termination of one of the most tyrannical modern dictatorships in the history of the Western Hemisphere.

Gen. Juan Vicente Gomez, who ruled Venezuela with an iron hand for 27 years until his death from natural causes in 1935, sent political opponents, who dared to challenge his dictatorship, to the Rotunda. Some were tortured and many died.

When Gen. Eleazar Lopez Contreras succeeded to the presidency following the death of Gomez, iron shackles and instruments of torture from Rotunda were loaded aboard and old ship which was towed to sea and dramatically sunk. The new government announced that the infamous prison would be razed to make way for a park that would symbolize peace among the Venezuelan people. Political prisoners, who had formerly been incarcerated in the prison, descended upon the building with picks and crow bars and demolished it themselves, stone by stone.

The prison was known as "the tomb of the living dead." Political prisoners were thrust into the prison with thieves and murderers. There were no modern sanitary facilities, and many prisoners contracted disease and died. It was said that the bodies of prisoners were left for days in narrow, dirty cells before being removed.

London Poor Boys To Have Own Prep School

LONDON—(UP)—Poor boys from the east end of London are to have their own preparatory school, the first of its kind, so that they can enter public schools without feeling any embarrassment.

The plan is part of Prime Minister Winston Churchill's policy of "establishing a state of society where the advantages and privileges hitherto enjoyed by the few should be far more widely shared by the men and youth of the nation as a whole."

The experiment is being made by Oxford House, Bethnal Green—one of the poorest parts of London. The boys are becoming accustomed to the new school in a beautiful 17th century farm house among the hills of Montgomeryshire, near the village of Donalag.

TWO WOODEN LEGS USED FOR SUMMER AND WINTER

CORNISH FLAT, N. H.—(UP)—Harry E. Butnam, jack-of-all trades has two home-made wooden legs—one for summer and one for winter.

His right leg blown off by an accidentally discharged shotgun, Butnam fashioned the seasonal legs from a butternut tree. Right now, he's wearing the summer leg. But the other leg, sheep-lined and equipped with creepers for walking on ice, stands ready for use next winter.

FOOTSTEPS IN THE FOG

BY ELINORE COWAN STONE

YESTERDAY: Angela's announcement that she saw Stephan in the newspapers of the Bund riot, leaves Deborah puzzled, awaiting Stephan's explanation. But Stephan does not return to class and Deborah and Angela drive home to Cape Cod. The news is a letter from Stephan. He explains his hurried departure, thanks her for her kindness to him.

STEPHAN RETURNS
CHAPTER V
THERE wasn't much more. The letter was written on hotel stationery, and Stephan had not suggested any address to which she might reply. . . . Deborah read it again and again.

What it all amounted to, she told herself in the end, was just nothing—except that he remembered her as a chance acquaintance who had been kind to him that summer, and that he felt he owed her the courtesy of this non-committal note.

One afternoon shortly afterward, Deborah went for a long walk among the dunes beyond the town. . . . She had often dreamed of bringing Stephan here if he came to see her. . . . He would love the chilling wind, the fury of the waves. . . . Not quite safe to think about that yet, though—not about Stephan.

She walked fast and furiously, as if she could run away from those forbidden thoughts which always crouched, waiting in the back of her mind. . . . What, for instance, would all this mean to Stephan? Strange that he had not been recalled home!

Except to say casually one day that his visitor's permit in the United States would be good for several months more, he had never mentioned returning to Europe. It was one of those things he had not talked about. But the point of view of a soldier had crept out often in little involuntary ways.

TOWARD dusk Deborah struggled home through a fitful wind.

On the wind came the tang of the sea; and on her lips was the taste of brine. A low scud of racing dun-colored clouds seemed barely to clear the house-tops; and drops of moisture hung heavily on her tweed-covered shoulders and in her hair.

By the time Deborah reached the water front, the Harbor was half curtained off. . . . Unless rain came instead—the fog would be, not just a curtain, but an opaque wall of gray.

Over the bulkhead that reinforced the little park across the street from the Lovett house, spray tossed flecks of spume across the sandy turf, while above,

Eastern homes average a half room larger than homes in other American districts, according to a survey.

Tribesmen Exempt Payments For Land

SEATTLE, Wash.—(UP)—The Great White Father is busy with defense problems and won't have to worry this year about paying Indian tribesmen for the land on which the city of Seattle was built.

Although Sen. Homer T. Bone, D. Wash., introduced a bill to reimburse Duwamish and Snoqualmie Indians for their land taken from them 86 years ago, the tribal council regretfully ordered the bill withdrawn.

The bill would have given Duwamish Indians $4,158,000 for property on which the city of Seattle now stands. Snoqualmie Indians would have received $5,365,585 for timberlands now included in the Snoqualmie national forest.

Professor Uses Sound Truck To Record Songs

SCHENECTADY, N. Y.—(UP)—A Cornell University professor is hunting song birds with a sound truck to record their calls for posterity.

Dr. Arthur A. Allen, ornithology professor, explained his records provide a permanent store of the sounds of nature and also afford an opportunity for accurate laboratory analysis of the songs of the various species and aid in understanding the mechanisms of sound production and reception.

"These records," he said, "make a helpful short cut—an open sesame—to the long, difficult task of learning the whole infinitely varied and minutely differentiated range of bird music."

GLOBE TROTTER, 95, REFUSES TO LIVE IN PAST

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah—(UP)—Most people like to look back over things when they reach the age of 95, but not so with Charles C. Shields. While celebrating his 95th birthday anniversary, Shields looked into the future and made the prediction that "I believe I'll live to be 100."

Mr. Shields is Utah's oldest active Mason—the proud holder of Shrine membership card No. 34. The one-time globe-trotter has resided in Utah for 70 years.

Ike Smith Can Tame Chickens

Ike Smith, new Midland citizen, can talk to a bunch of chickens and get them to ride on an automobile. He says "patience does it."

New Midland Resident Declares Any Chicken Is Capable Of Taming

This is a story about chickens and Ike Smith, a new Midland citizen and the man that can tame them.

Ike says: "You gotta be patient with chickens. I can tame any chicken, make it ride on a car with me, make it walk around on the fender, stop and start again."

Smith has the clippings to prove his ability to tame and charm chickens. He once was invited to be on "We, The People" program.

A chicken feed company hired Ike to advertise its product.

Started Taming In 1938.

"Really," says Ike, "I do it by patience and talking to them." A newspaper fellow said I talked to them in Chinese, but I don't."

"I hit on the idea in 1938. I found it could be done, and successfully. I once made a tour with a bunch of chickens riding on my car. People came from far and wide to see me."

"I hear you people talk about your Midland rodeo and how the cowboys tame the broncos and steers. Guess if they wanted me too, I would tame and perform with some chickens, wouldn't that be something at a rodeo?"

Ike Smith is a new employe at Dr. J. O. Shannon's Small Animal Hospital in Midland.

Cub Scouts Enjoy Camporee At Park

Midland Boy Scout Cub Pack No. 6 held an overnight camporee at Cloverdale Park last night. Thirty cub and leaders attended.

Tommy Carter and Charles Patterson, den chiefs, helped direct the camporee. Mrs. J. L. Greene is den mother.

Camporee activities included: Baseball games, cooking in the open and sleeping overnight out-of-doors.

Bobby Girdley with 23 correct answers won a question game. Fifty questions on animals were asked. The event was part of the camporee program.

Tom Kimbrough is a new member of the cub scouts.

Doctor Says Ambition Is Hazardous To Health

CLEVELAND, June 5.—(AP)—The world would be better off if man had the habit of lying in bed one morning each week.

That's the comforting concept of a noted physician who today told the American Medical Association that ambition is shortening the business tycoon's life span.

Ambition and "the strenuous life" are just as hazardous to the executive's health as his obesity and excessive use of tobacco and alcohol, declared Dr. Edgar V. Allen, chief of the medical division of Mayo Clinic.

He proposed a five-day week, eight-hour day program for business men.

Government Expands Authority By Court

WASHINGTON.—(UP)—The Federal government possesses expanded powers over commerce and industry and the rights of organized labor are more secure under the Constitution and Federal laws as a result of decisions of the Supreme Court during the 1940-41 term just ended.

It was the first complete term in which justices appointed by President Roosevelt have held a clear majority on the bench, thus forming the first vague contours of legal doctrines which may prevail for decades.

Police Departments Create Bomb Wagons

ALBANY, N. Y.—(UP)—City police departments are developing a new type paddy wagon—the bomb wagon.

The vehicles—they range from armored patrol cars to collections of oil reinforced drums hauled on a trailer—are becoming increasingly necessary because of the possibility of sabotage against the nation's armament race, according to the New York State Bureau of Criminal Investigation.

Cities need the new equipment, the bureau explained, to transport lethal machines to a safe place and to protect their population enroute.

Thailand Cancels Orders To Prevent Rice Shortage

BANGKOK.—(UP)—Thailand would suffer a severe domestic shortage of rice this year if exporters were permitted to fulfill commitments to foreign buyers, officials announced here. This year's small exportable surplus of rice made it necessary for the government to control its export to safeguard the home supply, it was said.

Indies Develop Stern Attitude On War Threats

BATAVIA, Java.—(UP)—Recent events in the Far East have produced repercussions in the Netherlands East Indies unrivaled since the German invasion of Holland.

Previously the Dutch press and general opinion could have been labeled "mild" toward Japan, but since Japanese Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka's startling statement questioning whether the Dutch government in London held full power of administration over the East Indies, a new attitude of determination has become evident.

The average Dutchman realizes that danger to the north has not become a thing of the past, though at present the situation appears fairly calm on the surface.

"We believe the day is coming—and soon—when we will have to defend our birthright here in the Indies," say many prominent Dutchmen throughout the archipelago.

Frank Discussion Grows

The Dutch and native press, taking their cue from public feelings everywhere, have adopted a rigorous platform of frank expression concerning Japanese policies in China and the mediation conferences held in Tokyo between French Indo-China and Thailand.

The Netherlands Indian paper Lokomotief commented: "The Netherlands Indies hold the same objections to a Japanese drive southward as Britain and the United States. If Japan became Singapore's neighbor through the mediation in progress in Tokyo we should consider this highly dangerous in every sense of the word."

Highway Of Silver Utah Town Boasts

PARK CITY, Utah.—(UP)—There is no record of any one ever having seen the mythical "street of gold," but in northern Utah there is a "highway of silver."

It also contains deposits of lead and zinc.

The highway, which runs through Park City's main business section, has been surfaced with tailings from the nearby Consolidated Mining Company containing silver, lead and zinc.

Although the material is not valuable enough to ship to smelters, it does contain metals from small fissures crossed by miners in running exploration drifts, raises or crosscuts. The ores, although rich, were found in too small a quantity to be saved.

Praises Memory Of Former Belgian King

NEW YORK.—(UP)—John Horgan who rose to success in the hotel field because of an unusual memory, pays tribute in a book he is writing to "the most perfect memory" he ever encountered—that of the late King Albert of Belgium.

Horgan writes that the incident began at the Sinton hotel in Cincinnati. King Albert visited that city and, pleased at the arrangements made by Horgan, asked to have the manager brought before him.

The person who carried the message couched it in such a peremptory tone that Horgan snapped: "Tell the king I'm too busy to see him now."

Years later Horgan went to Europe where he visited Ysaye, the noted violinist who had appeared with the Cincinnati symphony orchestra. As it happened Ysaye that day was calling on King Albert and he took Horgan with him. They found Albert playing checkers with his son, Leopold.

"Horgan," said the king as the American was introduced, "You took a long time coming to see me but sit down, my friend."

Doctor Says Springs Are Link In Defense

ALBANY, N. Y.—(UP)—Mineral springs at the nation's spas are a potentially important link in United States military preparedness, to maintain high soldier and civilian workers' health and to hasten casualty recoveries, according to Dr. Walter S. McClellan, director of the Saratoga Spa.

Dr. McClellan also an Albany Medical College associate professor, believes the nation may wisely lift a page from Germany's pioneering military organization, in which famous watering places, such as Baden-Baden and Carlsbad, have been established as important centers for treatment of joint injuries and infections arising frequently from war injuries. They also are used as "vacation resorts" for soldiers of the line to keep them physically fit.

PITTSBURGH, Kas.—(UP)—One youth glad to get his call to the army was Jack Quier, who was so tired of cutting meat in his father's shop that the army was welcome diversion. He went to Fort Leavenworth. First assignment was an indefinite stay in the quartermaster department—cutting meat.

New England Workers Fish Moss With Rakes

SCITUATE, Mass.—(UP)—When is a fisherman not a fisherman? Or to be more vague, if possible, when is a farmer not an agriculturist?

This little New England coastal town shelters a colony of seasonal workers who defy industrial classification. They go down to the sea in rowboats but they do their fishing with garden rakes. Or, to put it another way, they do their farming through four feet of water.

In either case, the Scituate mossers are engaged in a unique occupation. Like gleaners of the sea they range the headlands of Massachusetts Bay, reaping the harvest of carrigean moss that gathers in the rocky shallows.

The moss, sometimes called Irishmoss, is used for a variety of purposes—as a paint base, in the mak-

Sir Archibald P. Wavell, the British moved swiftly to counter the latest German threat. Imperial troops stationed in Palestine, Iraq and Cyprus were said to have been heavily reinforced in the past few days.

France's role in the impending conflict was further highlighted by the unexpected arrival in Vichy of Governor Pizre Boisson of French West Africa, the "defender of Dakar" against the abortive attempt by Gen. Charles De Gaulle's "free French" forces to seize that African coast town last September.

Diplomatic circles in Vichy, meanwhile, declared that Hitler was planning a Europe-Africa "league of nations," with France acting as a peace-making link with the Americas.

Axis Shell Tobsruk

There was no confirmation of such a move elsewhere, however, and it appeared to be just another in a series of peace "trial balloons" set afloat by presumably Axis-inspired sources.

Hitler's high command reported German night raiders bombed the English industrial city of Birmingham and the naval dockyards and arsenal at Chatham in "especially successful" attacks, setting spectacular fires in both cities. London had its 24th consecutive bomb-free night.

RAF warplanes struck at the Nazi held port of Boulogne, France, and bombed the Harbor at Zebrugge, Belgium.

On the North African front, Axis reports said German and Italian artillery batteries were heavily shelling the defenses of the siege-bound British garrison at Tobruk, Libya.

Complete Check-Up Is Plan Of PTA

Thorough checking of eyes, teeth, and general health for six-year-old boys and girls who will enter school next September is being urged by the North and South Ward PTAs which are sponsoring a Summer Round Up.

Parents are urged to cooperate with the PTA's by seeing that their children attend the one-day clinic, June 10, at North Ward school building and by having the physical defects discovered in the children remedied before the opening of school. Midland physicians and dentists will donate their time for the clinic, but remedying of defects is the responsibility of parents, Round Up sponsors pointed out.

GRAND PRIZE IS GRAND TASTIN' BEER!

At the time these things were bought there was no requirement for licenses. Licenses were required after August 1, 1940, for export of certain kinds of crude petroleum from which it was possible to distill and process aviation gasoline to exceed 87 octanes. In the interests of national defense, export of high octane aviation gasoline was limited to the Western Hemisphere.

Japs Can Use Low-Grade Gas.

That did not bother the Japanese. Aviation gasoline below 87 octane is perfectly good for their war planes, because those planes are not stacked up against machines such as the British and the Germans have.

As the Japanese did not know how soon their clamp might be put down on all kinds of petroleum products, they made haste to stock up, as the following complete figures for the first two months of 1941 compared with 1940, graphically show:

Gasoline, 1940, 225,000 bbls., 1941, 797,000 bbls.

Gas and fuel oil, 1940, 877,000 bbls., 1941, 857,000 bbls.

Lubricating oil, 1940, 105,000 bbls., 1941, 280,000 bbls.

In January, 1941, Japan bought 521,000 barrels of crude petroleum, in February 586,000 barrels, and in March 825,000 barrels. Even if some of this stuff cannot be used for battleships, it can be used as fuel for battleships.

It was announced that after February 3, 1941, that license would be required for export of copper of all kinds. The Japanese beat the gun in great shape. In January-February, they got 30,144,000 pounds of refined copper. But in the same period this year they got 33,867,000 pounds.

In 1940 in January and February they got 1,866,000 pounds of old and scrap copper. This year in the same period they rushed this up to 5,945,000 pounds. The decrease in purchase of cotton was not due to any licensing system, for the Japanese bought large quantities of raw cotton from Brazil and Peru.

Japan Outsmarts Uncle Sam Stocking Up On Oil And Materials Before Exports Banned

By Milton Bronner
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—While President Roosevelt renews this government's determination to aid China, American oil companies, without breaking any laws, continue to sell oil, not only for the lamps of China, but also for the airplanes, tanks and armored cars of Japan which bring death and destruction to China.

The basic fact is: pressure has been brought to decrease the export of only of high octane aviation gasoline. This is done by an export licensing system. The national defense act of July 2, 1940, authorized the President to prohibit or curtail the exportation of military equipment, munitions and various materials which go into the manufacture of military equipment or its servicing.

The President can from time to time issue proclamations on the subject. He has named Brigadier General R. L. Maxwell as administrator of export control, and it is Maxwell's job to see that exports of things thus named by the President go abroad only when authorized. But many forms of petroleum products do not require a license, and Japan profits thereby.

Congressmen from 45 of the states of the union take scant interest in the matter. That is not true of solons from the three Pacific coast states, and particularly Congressmen John C. Hays, Department of Washington and John Z. Anderson, Republican of California.

"There's too much smell of oil in this export business to Japan, and I don't like it," says Congressman Coffee. "I have spoken of this in Congress and I intend to agitate the matter again. By our exports, before control was established, we who are supposed to sympathize with the Chinese cause, have already done far too much to help Japan."

"It has been estimated that in 1938, 54 percent of all materials essential to Japanese war on China came from the United States. In 1939, the figure was 59 per cent, and in 1940 it was estimated at 70 percent. In July 26, 1939, the American commercial treaty with Japan was abrogated, and since then many things Japan wanted have been put under the licensing system and have ceased to flow to Japan."

"But not enough has been done. The most effective restraint has been upon Japanese purchases of scrap iron and steel. They are not getting much copper any more. But immense help has already been given to Japan, to the detriment of China. In the past few years we sent enough scrap iron to Japan to build 40 battleships and enough oil to send 500 planes from Tokyo to Chungking and back."

Fears 'Return' Of Exports.

Says Congressman Anderson: "I am not only concerned with the vast amount of materials we have permitted Japan to buy but with the possibility that much of it may have been passed on by Japan and Russia to the Axis powers. I introduced a resolution calling for a special committee to investigate this subject, but got nowhere. Maybe, because I am a Republican."

"It seemed to me it was high time our right hand should know what the left hand was doing," E. R. Stebbins, Jr., defense director of priorities, recently announced an inventory control would be applied to 16 metals to prevent accumulation of excess stocks by any company. I wrote him asking why there has not been similar control of metals going out of the country. Japan, for instance, got copper and scrap iron in vast quantities."

"If we ever have trouble with Japan, some of this stuff, of course, will come back to us—in the shape of shells hurled against us."

Here are some revealing official figures showing what Japan bought in the years 1939 and 1940 and which are largely war materials:

Crude petroleum, 1939, 16,086,000 bbls., 1940, 11,529,000 bbls.

Gasoline, 1939, 1,198,000 bbls., 1940, 3,152,000 bbls.

Lubricating oil, 1939, 514,000 lbs., 1940, 693,000 lbs.

Refined copper, 1939, 249,277,000 lbs., 1940, 233,897,000 lbs.

Old and scrap copper, 1939, 9,882,000 lbs., 1940, 6,815,000 lbs.

Iron and steel scrap, 1939, 2,035,000 tons, 1940, 963,000 tons.

Raw cotton, 1939, 829,000 bales, 1940, 521,000 bales.

At the time these things were bought there was no requirement for licenses. Licenses were required after August 1, 1940, for export of certain kinds of crude petroleum from which it was possible to distill and process aviation gasoline to exceed 87 octanes. In January, 1941, Japan bought 521,000 barrels of crude petroleum, in February 586,000 barrels, and in March 825,000 barrels. Even if some of this stuff cannot be used for battleships, it can be used as fuel for battleships.

It was announced that after February 3, 1941, that license would be required for export of copper of all kinds. The Japanese beat the gun in great shape. In January-February, they got 30,144,000 pounds of refined

Texas Senator Urges Government Demands 24-Hour Production

WASHINGTON, June 5—(AP)—A demand that the government compel the armaments industry to go on a 24-hour production basis was made today by Senator Connally (D-Tex) as the Senate Defense Investigating Committee sought further information on the operations of the Office of Production Management.

Connally told reporters that testimony given the committee indicated production was not moving swiftly enough to supply the military needs of the United States and Britain. For that reason, he said he intended to find out why the OPM had not sought to force plants onto a 24-hour basis.

"We ought to have every defense industry running on three shifts," Connally declared. "The OPM officials have told us that we should be producing more, that there is need for speed. Well, let's get it by keeping these plants going 24 hours a day where that is practical."

The Texas Senator said he thought progress might be made in the same direction by relaxation of wage and hour legislation in cases where the president found that there was insufficient skilled labor to man three shifts.

With Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel's senatorial campaign delayed by the legislation session, other major aspirants are letting no grass sprout under their feet.

Aside from an open-air speech at Waco last Monday night, the governor announced that he was forced to cancel his campaign itinerary because the legislature insisted on remaining in session.

In an address at Longview last night, Mann promised the utmost cooperation in national defense efforts if he is elected to the U. S. Senate.

Dies, in a speech at Gonzales, told an audience that repeated waves of sabotage in defense industries could be expected unless there were a general purge of alien influences. Johnson said at Galveston that in order to promote national defense efforts "if necessary, we must draft plant and management just as we have drafted our young men."

Light Desserts Appropriate For Warm Weather

By Mrs. Gaynor Maddox NEA Service Staff Writer

Lots of fruit in the house, plus a bit of good cake, and the warm weather dessert problem is solved. The de luxe Praline Cake recipe is a prize—you'll want to call the neighbors in to share it.

Praline Cake (10 to 12 servings) One cup cake flour, 1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder, 1/8 teaspoon salt, 1/3 cup butter, 2/3 cup sugar, 1/2 teaspoon vanilla extract, 2 eggs, 1/4 cup milk. Sift flour once, then measure. Sift flour, baking powder and salt together. Cream butter until soft and smooth; add sugar gradually, creaming until very light and fluffy. Add vanilla. Separate eggs; beat yolks into butter mixture. Add dry ingredients and milk alternately to butter mixture, beating well after each addition. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites and pour into a well-greased heat-resistant glass layer cake dish. Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) about 25 minutes. Remove from oven and coat with Praline Topping. Praline Topping (10 to 12 servings) Two tablespoons butter, 1 cup brown sugar, 1 egg, 1 tablespoon flour, 1/2 teaspoon vanilla extract, 3/4 cup pecan meats. Melt butter in a skillet. Add brown sugar, well beaten egg, and flour; mix well. Cook over low direct heat about 3 to 5 minutes, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and add vanilla and pecans. Pour over top of cake, and return to moderately hot oven (400 degrees F.) for about 5 to 7 minutes or until coating becomes solid.

Of course neighbors don't always wait for an invitation. Sometimes they just drop in unexpectedly for afternoon tea. Here's a quick coffee cake to meet that emergency.

Quick Coffee Cake Two cups sifted flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 3/4 teaspoon salt, 1/2 cup sugar, 6 tablespoons butter or other shortening, 1 egg, well beaten, 1/2 cup milk, 1 1/2 tablespoons melted butter, 4 tablespoons sugar, 1 tablespoon flour, 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/2 teaspoon grated orange rind. Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, salt and sugar, and sift again. Cut in shortening. Combine egg and milk; add to flour mixture, stirring until mixture is blended. Stir in orange rind. Turn into greased 9-inch layer pan, spreading dough evenly. Brush top with melted butter. Mix together sugar, flour and cinnamon for topping and sift mixture evenly over dough. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees F.) 25 to 30 minutes. Cut in wedges while in pan and remove pieces separately.

MENU BREAKFAST: Orange juice, oatmeal, toast, jelly, coffee, milk.

Something Different, Something Good

Observers Study Influences From Present Economy

By Peter Edson Midland Reporter-Telegram Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—One of the more involved subjects for consideration in Washington today is the extent to which the so-called "normal influences" of the so-called "free play of competitive business" are going to function in this so-called "wartime economy." Walter D. Fuller of Philadelphia president of the National Association of Manufacturers, speaking before a defense clinic, charged specifically that under present trends Leon Henderson's Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply is cutting across other defense agencies to work a squeeze play on manufacturers and effect a pincher encroachment of the private businessman.

At the same conference, Walter B. Weisenburger, executive vice-president of N.A.M., stating that the proposals to extend price control were based on a belief that manufacturers can fix their prices at any level they desire, made the point that the price tags on manufactured products were based on at least 25 different factors, nearly all beyond the control of the manufacturer. Fuller declared that America needs to be shocked into a realization of what is going on. Since Weisenburger's 25 factors form a convenient check list, and since they have not previously been released for publication, here is a chance to see how much free play of economic forces there is going to be and to see how far the Henderson OPACS outfit has gone or is going. First, the Weisenburger list of 25 factors determining price:

- 1, materials costs; 2, labor costs; 3, taxes; 4, research costs; 5, competitor's price; 6, competitor's action if price change is made; 7, price of substitute; 8, prices in alternative fields of expenditure; 9, custom; 10, quality; 11, novelty; 12, perishability of product; 13, style; 14, necessity of announcing prices in advance; 15, anticipated production costs for long-range delivery on contract; 16, price change effect on volume of sales; 17, demand for service; 18, domestic supply; 19, international market; 20, brand name appeal; 21, good will; 22, risk; 23, cost of replacement; 24, tariff protection; 25, buyers' desire to speculate on future sale.

Debate Starts Here. To the untrained eye that list may look a little padded. Domestic supply, for example, is a matter of material costs.

It has been contended that before any government price fixing there should be hearings before a commission and there should exist a specific right of court review to determine whether the price is confiscatory.

You can imagine what would happen, however, if determination of the price of beans, bullets or battle-wagons could be fixed only after hearings and court review. The war would be over before the price tags were made out. So you can with assurance kiss that factor goodbye. Prices will be fixed first and the hearings and court review will come later, with retroactive correction whenever possible.

Individual situations will be dealt with as they arise, and if prices behave, there may not be any price fixing. The whole setup is designed to prevent inflation and what happened in the last war, when wholesale prices doubled and the price of armaments was at least $15 billion higher than necessary.

For instance, the main job of the OPACS now is to keep down the price of raw materials. That is certainly a factor working to the advantage of the manufacturer.

CENSUS REPORTS 965 5,000 to 10,000 TOWNS There were 965 towns between 5,000 and 10,000 according to the 1940 Census, and their combined population was 6,681,894. In 1930 there were 851 such places with a population of 5,897,156.

PACKAGING PRODUCTS An annual production of nearly half a billion dollars worth of paper and paperboard boxes and containers is required to package U. S. products, according to the census.

We, the Women

By Ruth Millett You June brides—don't believe the people who tell you that you "can't change a man." That started as masculine propaganda, designed to keep women from trying to change them. Of course it's true that a woman hasn't much chance of changing a man when it comes to fundamental weaknesses of character, like dishonesty, meanness and stinginess. But it's no trick at all to weed out the annoying little habits and faults that keep a man from being a satisfactory husband.

If you doubt that, take a good searching look at several young men you know who have been married at least three years. Be sure to choose young men you knew BEFORE some woman led them to the altar. Notice how much those men have changed—in ways that it suited their wives to have them change.

Jim, who rushes home from the office every evening to hurry into slacks and doesn't leave unless he's dragged out, used to be a man-about-town, always ready for a party and never ready for one to end.

Bill, who never spent any more time under his parental roof than he could help and whom everyone thought would remain a bachelor all his life, if only for the luxury of having his own place, has bought a home and actually brags about his garden.

Frank, who always drank too much and made a nuisance of himself at parties, hasn't had a drink in more than a year—and is actually smug about it—telling the men who still drink that they are a bunch of suckers. DON'T WORRY OVER A FEW LITTLE FAULTS No, it isn't hard to change a man, if you know anything at all about psychology—or about men.

You can do it without half trying, so don't worry over a few little faults. And—it might be well to warn you—don't expect that you won't come in for some changing yourself.

Most men also go in for a little reforming—even though, as a June bride, she was "the most wonderful girl in the world."

Texas Team Takes Close 12-9 Decision

Wilson Club Loses And Southern Ice Wins Forfeit Tilt

City league leaders—The Texas Company—found Wilson Dry Goods an improved team last night, but came from behind to win 12-9 after trailing part of four innings.

Central Pharmacy forfeited to Southern Ice in the women's division. Sewell Motors of Odessa blasted a 20-6 win over a team of Midland all-stars in women's play.

Wilson and Texas served fans the best tilt of the season thus far. The airport crew playing under Wilson colors started great but blew their lead.

Trailing 5-9 in the last of the fifth, the Texans rallied sharply and pulled ahead 12-9. Beatty, lead off man, poked a two-bagger. Jones hit and scored Beatty. Elrod poked a three-bagger scoring Jones.

Roselius sacrificed. Jess Hart hit a homer and the tilt was tied 9-9. Bizzell hit and scored. Cargal homered. Walker was out at first. Moseley walked and scored on E. Bizzell's single, but Beatty grounded out to retire the side.

Execute Double-Killings
Both sides retired one-two-three in the first. Wilson got a run in the second and Texas chalked up three. In the third Wilson went ahead 5-3, and led through the fourth 6-5. They stretched it to 9-5 in the first half of the fifth only to see the Texans forge ahead for the win.

Curly Elrod, Texan pitcher, struck out five Wilson batters, Hart, Cargal, Roselius, and Jones led Texas' batting attack. Meadows, Warren, and Price with two hits each were batting stars for Wilson.

Both clubs turned in fast double plays. A snappy Sewell Motors team was too much for Midland's all-stars in the women's game.

The Odessans banged away with a barrage of hits for six runs in the first, nine in the second and five in the fourth and last frame. Both big innings came after two Sewells were out. Midland executed a double play in the fourth. Murphy hit a homer for Midland, and Robertson hit one for Odessa.

The first six Odessans up to bat in the first scored. And in the last second inning they collected nine tallies. Midland got three counters in the first, thanks to Murphy's homer, and one run in each of the next three frames.

Sports Roundup

By Eddie Brietz
NEW YORK, June 5.—Lou Gehrig always had a horror of public funerals, so his own was private. And the Yankees already have had one suggestion to call it Gehrig Stadium from now on. Add Leo Durocher to the list of those who've already counted the Reds out. Letters to friends here say Hans Kolhaus, the German boxer who helped Max Schmeling train for the first Louis fight, was killed in the panzer attack on Holland. . . . What would you say if somebody pop up with a $50,000 golf tournament? Well, boys, one is being talked—and not in tap rooms, either.

Youngest starter in the Open dual at Fort Worth today will be 15-year-old Tyrrel Garth, Jr., of Beaumont. And Gene Dahlbender of Atlanta, who pokes his drives 300 yards, is only 17. . . . Ford C. Frick and William C. Harridge, president of the National and American Leagues are very much in favor of turning the Cincinnati-Cleveland exhibition game at Cooperstown next week into a memorial to Lou Gehrig. . . . The figure the Open crown is worth about 20 grand per year to the winner, although Sam Snead has topped that figure for the last four years without the title. . . . Fans at the Amherst-Williams game got a taste of big league stuff when Ernie Quigley and Bill Klein, two former Giants, did the umpiring.

Dodgers Return To Lead; Cards Drop 4-2 Battle

By The Associated Press
Simply by staying in out of the wet while their chief rivals were fumbling themselves into defeat, the Brooklyn Dodgers have climbed back into the leadership of the National League.

Larry MacPhail's "boughten" wonders are a half-game in front of the St. Louis Cardinals, who dropped a 4 to 2 decision to the Boston Braves in one of the three games played in the big leagues yesterday and tumbled from the top for the first time since May 19.

It marked the fifth defeat for the Cardinals in their last six games and dropped their pennant prospects to a new low for the season. It was not so much that they lost to the lowly Braves as it was the manner of their losing.

Browns Beat Senators
The Cards' infield, regarded by many observers as the one questionable spot in an otherwise great team committed three errors to present the Braves with the same number of unearned runs and margin of victory. Cookie Frank Crespi made two of them at second base and Jimmy Brown bobbed up with another at third.

All the other National League contests were washed out by a general rain in the east, and only two American League games escaped the downpour.

The St. Louis Browns, playing their last game under manager Fred Haney, wallowed the unfortunate Washington Senators 7 to 4.

Under the lights at Comiskey park last night, the Chicago White Sox observed "Connie Mack" night by wallowing his Philadelphia Athletics 6-1.

Air Corps To Start New Warning Systems
WASHINGTON (UP)—An "aircraft warning system" will be inaugurated June 15 by the army air corps along the Atlantic and Pacific coasts, with civilian volunteers as "spotters" of "enemy warplanes" and charting their flights for counter-attacks by American ships.

The system will be extended to other areas shortly thereafter. Director Frank Bane of the Office of Emergency Management's division of state and local cooperation called on officials of 45 state defense councils in the East and West coast areas to enroll volunteers.

They will receive training as "spotters" at strategically located observation posts and for jobs at filter centers, where non-essential information from "spotters" will be discarded, and at information centers, where the flights of "enemy formations" will be charted.

Texas School For Blind Wins Title
AUSTIN, June 5.—(AP)—The national blind school track and field championship has been won by the Texas School for the Blind for the fourth straight year, Superintendent W. E. Allen has announced.

It was the institution's ninth victory in 18 years of competition. J. W. Derr, director of athletics at the school, said 96 boys in five classes determined by age, weight and height participated in the events, including dashes in which they raced with a hand on a cable, rope climbing and hop skip and jump.

out a license. . . . That's one way to get in shape of run away from Louis.

Conn Believes Ring Craft Will Beat Louis

No Boxer Has Taken Polished Scrapper Since Yaroosz In '38

By Harry Grayson
NEA Service Sports Editor

PITTSBURGH.—William Conn goes to his training camp at Long Beach, N. J., apparently solemnly convinced that he will be the world heavyweight champion after 15 rounds with Joe Louis at the Polo Grounds, June 18.

Billy Conn professes to believe his all-around ring savvy will enable him to outpoint the Brown Bomber. . . . perhaps knock him out.

"Who's beat me?" asks Conn, and then answers his own question by pointing out that he hasn't dropped a decision since Teddy Yaroosz outchambered him as a heavy welter in Pittsburgh, July 25, 1938.

"And you know," he explains. "Yaroosz was a difficult fellow to fight. . . . Who's as much as hurt me?" Conn wants to know.

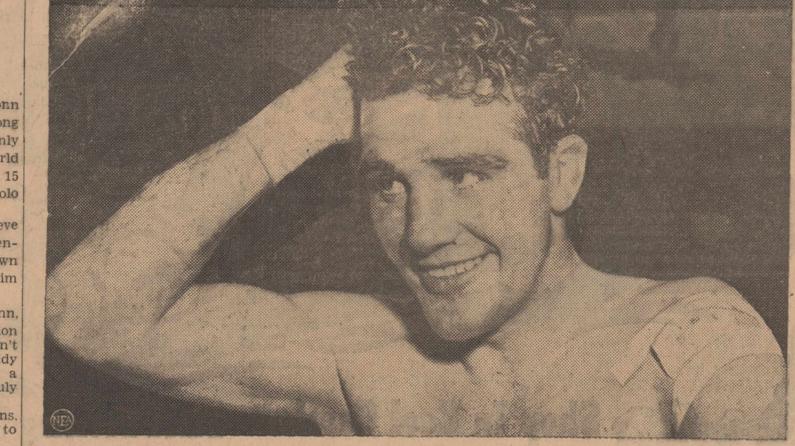

"Who's had me on the floor?" Conn Big Enough
"They say I'm not big enough. . . . Well, they considered Gene Tunney's first match with Jack Dempsey a bigger joke than this one. . . . Tunney wasn't as tall and wasn't much heavier than I will be against Louis."

"I stand 6 feet 1 and will weigh 180 pounds. . . . The question isn't whether I'm big enough. . . . It is whether I'm good enough. . . . I believe I am."

Like all other Louis opponents, Conn points to the fact that Smokey Joe never did take a punch to the head too well. He became confused, but to date Max Schmeling in his first start against the titleholder was the only warrior able to wasp together enough punches to upset him permanently.

Conn also stresses the point that Louis has marked up easier of late. He punches sharply, if not devastatingly, especially with a cork-screw left.

"Conn's a freak," explains Gus Lesnevich, who is favored to replace the Irish youth as the 175-pound champion. "I could beat all the other light-heavyweights, but I couldn't beat Conn, and I took my best shots at him for 30 rounds."

Buffs Maintain Victorious Pace

By The Associated Press
Sometimes you wonder why the Houston Buffs try so hard to win baseball games—or maybe they just don't know how to lose.

Leading the Texas League with 36 games won and only 12 lost, compared with 22 won and 23 lost by the second-place Shreveport Sports, you'd think the Buffs might ease up now and then—but they don't. The Sports tried hard to chivy a victory out of Houston in a game at Shreveport last night—they even scored three runs in the eighth to knot the count—but the Buffs went on to triumph 7 to 6.

In the other contests, all played at night, the Tulsa Oilers downed the Cats at Fort Worth, 8-3, Beaumont took the Missions at San Antonio 6-3, and the Dallas Rebels finished up a home schedule by tying Oklahoma City 5-5 after a nip-and-tuck affair called in the tenth inning to allow both teams to catch trains.

Other Texans in the running were Jimmy Demaree, who toted bags around Houston courses in early youth; the Mangrum brothers, Lloyd and Ray; Dick Metz; and Guldahl, who twice has won the title.

The talk was all about the Texans and Lawson Little, defending champion; Gene Sarazen, the country squire from Connecticut who breezed around in two-under-par 69 yesterday; Sammy Snead, playing well despite an ailing back; Craig Wood, another "cripple"; and Paul Runyan, usually poison on a demanding links.

For the first time, former champions were permitted to compete, assuring one of the most colorful fields in the Open's history.

Harold W. Pierce, president of the United States Golf Association, sounded the consensus when he said that unless foul weather comes again, the tournament should be one of the finest.

Cow Country Is Host To National Tourney

Golfing Stars Tee Off At Fort Worth; Nelson Is Favorite

By William T. Rives
FORT WORTH, June 5.—(AP)—Golf's greatest extravaganza—the National Open—started today in the cow country of Texas, the links-mad state which produced a band of professionals ranked as favorites to conquer the Colonial Club course.

All records attendant to the tournament festered as the field cautiously spread over the par 35-35-70 layout, which has had the nation's finest golfers muttering through practice rounds.

Apparently the only mark which might make a stand was the scoring record of 281 held by slope-shouldered Ralph Guldahl.

Never before has the Open been held this far south and Texans stampeded to the course. The advance ticket sales record already broken, officials freely forecast that the attendance figure would be shattered ere Saturday's finale.

Star-Studded Field
Installed as No. 1 favorite was leon Byron Nelson, former Fort Worth caddy whose string-straight game appeared made to order for the baffling course.

Close behind was Benny Hogan, another local product who is leading the Vardon Trophy gave in money won this year.

Other Texans in the running were Jimmy Demaree, who toted bags around Houston courses in early youth; the Mangrum brothers, Lloyd and Ray; Dick Metz; and Guldahl, who twice has won the title.

Indian Infielder Slugs Ball Again

CLEVELAND, O.—(UP)—Jeff Heath, the Cleveland Indians' freshman batting sensation in 1938 and a bust during the past two years, again is pounding the American League fences as he did in his first year.

The rejuvenation of the heavy-hipped outfielder began shortly after the Indians reported for spring training in Florida. Baseball observers, long accustomed to Heath's lackadaisical spirit on the field, were amazed by his general hustle and drive.

Judgment was reserved, however, because at times during the last two years when he was jolting in the doldrums he would exhibit a periodic flash of the great promise expected of him.

But Heath hasn't as yet slowed up in the field or at bat. He's been up in the field or at bat. He's been in the league's leading hitters almost since the season began and gives evidence of remaining there.

Blondes To Dominate Army Weather Service
SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—Blondes will have an opportunity to play a far greater role than brunettes in building up the army weather services to meet the demands of the new national defense program, according to weather bureau officials.

This favoritism, they explain, comes from the fact that blonde hairs are far superior to brunette strands for the radiosondes that are sent into the stratosphere by small balloons to record humidity and wireless the reading to the ground.

While no scientific explanation for this phenomenon has been found, the superiority is so great that only blonde hairs will be used in the program, which includes the establishing of 700 weather stations on behalf of the army and a greater extension of the regular U. S. weather service.

Eighteen blonde hairs are needed in each radiosonde for the humidity.
