The twister swirled through the south edge of the town. Fortunate-ly this section is sparsely settled.

Army Air Corps Seeks Lost Bomber Plane With Six Men

SALT LAKE CITY, June 9—(AP)—The Army Air Corps sought today for word of a B-18 twin-motored bomber that left here at 1:35 (MST) yesterday afternoon with a crew of six on a non-stop flight to Chicago.

The ship, due at the Chicago Municipal Airport about 9 p.m., yesterday, was unreported throughout the night.

Aboard were Capt. D. N. Motherwell of the 16th Reconnaissance Squadron as pilot; Lieutenants T. F. Holsten, J. V. Gallagher and L. K. Harvey, and staff sergeants D. E. Hawley and T. McGurran, all stationed at Boise, Idaho.

Showers and thunderstorms slashed across their route, with the worst flying weather indicated east of Cheyenne during the period the ship would normally have been in that area.

Commercial lines, however, had little difficulty in making schedules throughout the day and night.

Motherwell and the other officers were transferred from the Fort Douglas base to Boise only a little more than a week ago. The captain is married and has one child.

Home addresses and personal records of the other men were not immediately available.

Free French And British Advance Toward Damascus

France May Declare War And Germany Withholds Comments On New Phase

By The Associated Press

British and "Free French" mechanized columns, striking across ancient battlefields where the Crusaders fought the Saracens, were reported today to have advanced within 40 miles of Damascus, capital of French-ruled Syria, and also within 40 miles of Beirut, capital of Lebanon.

General Henri Dentz, commander of Syria's defense forces, declared bloody fighting was in progress.

The French high command said French troops were fiercely resisting their former British Allies along the Syrian-Lebanese frontier, destroying several armored cars and shooting down two RAF warplanes.

A French communique said the RAF again bombed air fields at Damascus, at Aleppo in the north, and at Latakia.

It was not immediately clear whether France would declare war on Great Britain. In Berlin, a Nazi spokesman said the question of Germany's attitude or ultimate action could not be discussed.

British warships, supporting the land invasion which began at 2 a. m. Sunday, were reported in action along the Syrian coast, shelling the port of Tripoli, terminus of a pipeline from Iraq's great Mosul oil fields, and bombarding other coastal points.

Despatches from Jerusalem said Allied forces, which Vichy estimated at 20,000 strong, were driving across the broiling desert and into the volcanic mountains of the French Levant states from Palestine and Trans-Jordan and were pushing back the French armies of 45,000 men wherever they met.

Squadron Attacks Lebanon. Three Allied columns were reported in action:

1. From Trans-Jordan, one force was said to be marching through the land of the war-like Druses Nin Jebel Ed Druz toward Damascus. A German radio report said this column had advanced 25 miles to Soudeid, capital of Jebel Ed Druz, 58 miles south of Damascus.

2. From Palestine, another column was reported knifing toward Beirut north of the Sea of Galilee, attacking the 12th century crusader's stronghold of Banias.

3. Still another contingent of British motorized troops was reported advancing up the Euphrates River valley in Iraq toward the big French outpost of Deri-Ez-Zor, in eastern Syria.

The French high command said a British naval squadron of a battleship, two cruisers and five destroyers attacked the coast of Lebanon, south of Beirut, and landed small forces armed with sub-machine guns. The landing party was declared to have been captured.

Authoritative London quarters said the Allies had entered the town of Merdjayoun, on the road to Beirut, and also captured Tyre (Sour), on the Lebanese coast. Merdjayoun is 40 miles south of Beirut; Tyre is 40 miles southwest of Damascus.

Behind The Headlines

By Fred Vanderschmidt

The British prospects for successful occupation of Syria are excellent. The ultimate reaction of Berlin and Vichy is what lies in the valley of uncertainty.

For the first time in this war the British have struck with speed and precision. In the Balkan campaign, the Germans were able to determine weeks in advance the strength and disposition of the British Expeditionary Force; in France, the British plan for advancing into Belgium was almost common knowledge, months in advance.

Preliminary reports of the advance into Syria show striking British air superiority; indeed, there is as yet only the slightest evidence of reaction by the German air forces which have infiltrated the mandate.

French Are Handicapped

There is, moreover, every sign that the French army of the Levant is doing the ground fighting in the defense; German technicians may, of course, be helping at headquarters, but there appears to be no effective Nazi ground force in Syria as yet.

The French defenders themselves are handicapped both by a lack of supplies, particularly oil, and by a lack of fighting fervor. It is safe to say that these 40,000 disillusioned men have little will to engage in a melancholy struggle with the Free French who are advancing with the British. Also, the British command shrewdly has sent one column into the wild Jebel Druze, where dwell the natives who have given the French so much trouble in the past and may be expected to rise against their governors again.

Nevertheless, the British are not repeating their mistake at Dakar, where they went by sea last September with a Free French expedition, expecting to be welcomed as liberators and unprepared to fight their way in.

Minor Candidates Voice Objection To Big-Four Idea

By The Associated Press

Part of the candidates in Texas' 27-man Senatorial race resent the fact that some factions believe there are only four of the contestants who have a chance to be elected June 28.

A. B. Cyclone Davis said in Dallas yesterday that the "23 unrecognized candidates" would "hold an indignation meeting" in Dallas next Sunday to make their resentment against the four-man attitude known.

Meanwhile, most of the candidates kept their tours of the state seeking enough of the split-up vote for the plurality that will send one to Washington to fill the seat of the late Morris Sheppard.

Two, Attorney General Gerald C. Mann and Cong. Martin Dies, made patriotic addresses yesterday.

Mann told a Dallas church audience "we face a period of toll and sacrifice."

Strikers Riot But Yield To Soldiers

President Roosevelt Orders Troops Into North American Factory After Pickets And Workers Fight; Six Persons To Hospitals

By The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES, June 9—(AP)—Production was resumed today at the North American Aviation Company, its officials announced. There were 1210 workers at their jobs after army troops wrested control of the strike-bound plant from 1000 CIO pickets.

President Roosevelt ordered the Army today to take over the strike-closed North American Aviation Corporation's huge warplane plant at Inglewood, Calif., in an effort to end the tie-up of production in airplanes.

The President's announcement came shortly after disorders broke out at the plant as some workers tried to return to their jobs despite a CIO strike.

It was the first time the government had taken such a step to handle a strike situation.

Army troops earlier had been reported by sheriff's deputies at Inglewood to be in readiness five miles from the plant to take it over if necessary.

They moved into the plant quickly. Workers cheered them.

R. L. Burla, assistant to the president of the company, described the disorders as "a riot."

Tear gas bombs were hurled at pickets after Mayor Fletcher Bowron of Los Angeles addressed about 800 workers and told them "if you want to go back to work you are going to have the opportunity to do so."

The pickets retreated temporarily, reformed their lines, then police, at the mayor's order, cleared nearby highways of pickets.

One inspector of aircraft was beaten severely as he tried to dash through the picket lines and two other workers had their automobile overturned when they tried to speed toward a gate.

President Roosevelt signed an executive order at 10:40 a. m. directing the Secretary of War to take over the plant and operate it. No details as to how the operations would be carried out were given.

Stephen Early, presidential secretary, said that Robert P. Patterson, undersecretary of war, transmitted the order by long distance telephone from Mr. Roosevelt's study to the army officer in command of troops which had stood in readiness near the plant.

The President specifically directed that the troops be told "that they should give protection to the men returning to work, leaving work and at their homes."

The trouble started at 7 a. m. (PST) when the hour arrived for the plant to reopen for those workers willing to return to their jobs despite a CIO strike.

Sheriff's deputies took up positions at dawn but a company official said fighting had broken out at the gates and that more police help was needed.

CIO pickets numbering about 200 took up posts around the spacious grounds, marching in orderly fashion and carrying banners which said "bayonets won't build bombers" and "we can't feed our families on 50 cents an hour."

Burla said "we hope the troops do not come but we do need more protection. The situation is bad."

One hundred more police were being rushed to the scene to aid 50 deputies and 225 policemen assigned to duty at the plant.

Nearby highways were jammed with strikers.

Strike leaders of the CIO's United Automobile Workers Union there yesterday made the showdown seemingly inevitable when they prevented any immediate action on the part of the government.

A BIBLE THOUGHT FOR THE DAY
MINUTE WATCHFULNESS IS NEEDED IN CHARACTER TOO: Catch us the foxes, the little foxes that are despoiling the vineyards, since our vineyards are in bloom.—Songs 2-15.

Where Were You?

"Where were you when the 'Tuscania' went down?" Soldiers in rough banter used to shout that at one another in 1918—a gentle reproof from the old-timer to the new recruit.

Some day, maybe soon, similar questions are going to be asked again.

"Where were you," it may be asked, "when the United States was declared to be in a state of emergency, and the hard-pressed British waited for the planes and tanks that might have saved them?"

Some, it would seem, will have to answer, "Oh, I was out on strike for $1.40 an hour instead of $1.35. I was listening to speeches by leaders who were interested in other things than the republic's success."

Or, "I was fighting the Wagner act—you know, that law that provided for collective bargaining back when the government trusted to management and labor to have the wit to settle their differences without risking national safety."

Or, "I was out to get something for ME. I didn't realize that if we all went down together there would be nothing either for HIM or for ME!"

The Tuscania was a British troopship, carrying Michigan and Wisconsin National Guardsmen. She was submerged Feb. 5, 1918, off the Irish coast. Those who had already answered their country's call at that time were always proud that they were in khaki when this happened.

Today's Tuscania isn't a ship at all. It is a national emergency of production. The national safety depends on turning out ships, planes, guns, war material of all kinds, with the utmost possible speed. On the fact that we face a grave emergency no one disagrees.

Well, it is here and now. It is not a theory, but a fact. If this battle is lost, if this Tuscania goes down, there will be many a reproachful question, "Where were you in the Battle of Production?"

Did you do your job, or did rivet and girder lie idle beneath your hand? Did you do your job, or did the Defense Bond remain unbought in the Treasury vault? Did you do your job, or did you find excuses?

It is time to ask the questions now, each man and woman of himself and herself, and to get answers that can be repeated without shame at some future time when they might be asked by others in sorrow and in reproach. The unlimited national emergency is here! Where are you?

The Mixture As Never Before

Peace and war are all mixed up these days. So much in war depends on what was done in peace; so much peace may depend on the outcome of war.

Some people questioned the wisdom of building the Merchant Marine during the last few years. It was a drain on the taxpayer, uneconomic, and so on. But today the navy is taking over the beautiful new ship America. She was built with one eye on just such an emergency, and she is readily convertible into an armed auxiliary cruiser or transport.

So with civilian transport planes. Forty or more new super-transport planes are now authorized, giants carrying 64 passengers apiece. Is that an unjustifiable drain on the defense program? Not necessarily. Forty such planes might carry nearly 16,000 troops to Alaska, 12,000 to the Canal Zone in 36 hours, or 7500 to Hawaii in 48 hours. Civilian facilities are potential military facilities; war intertwines itself into every phase of peace.

Six Months

This is how the Germans are playing the game in Ecuador:

People in the market for machinery there are being told that "if the United States can't deliver it within six months, better wait and order from Germany. By that time she will be able to deliver it."

That doesn't suggest as much German confidence in winning the war quickly as you might think. German salesmen down there can't deliver now; they have to say something; similar promises last year were not made good.

But it does suggest that the United States problem of production is greater than many realize even yet. Not only must we provide the sinews of war, but we must, in order to solidify our future trade position in the Americas, meet demands there, too.

legs was torn off. Jumping across the road the tornado completely demolished the Bookout home. Mrs. Bookout was the daughter of Singleton.

She said she heard the storm approaching and went to the door. When she saw the twister dipping down she rushed to the bed where her children were sleeping and tried to protect them by shielding them with her body as the storm swept the house away.

$40,000 Home Demolished. The tornado was short-lived and appeared to have centered in this town.

A Santa Fe freight train went by about the time the tornado struck and this, combined with the rumble of the thunder, prevented most of Kress residents and those in the vicinity from hearing the storm as it swooped down.

The home of Mrs. J. P. McMurty at Clarendon was demolished. It was a brick structure built at a cost of $40,000.

At the college, one wing and part of one story of the main building were crushed and across the street one wing of the girls' dormitory was demolished. A seven-foot wall, just completed by WPA labor at the college stadium, was smashed.

NEW YORK COLLECTS $588,000,000 TAXES

The taxes collected by New York State in 1940—$588,000,000—exceeded the tax collections of all the states 20 years earlier, according to the Census.

the ROAD AHEAD

Old Man Texas is today looking ahead and planning.

Beside the great farming and ranching country which Texans have built, he sees a new industrial empire here.

Already the start has been made. Some industries, such as petroleum, are now showing what can be done to utilize Texas' vast natural resources. Today this industry refines with Texas labor over four-fifths as much oil as the State produces. Its products make up nearly one-half of all Texas manufacturing. Altogether petroleum provides the living for almost one-sixth of our people. But this is only a beginning.

Texas has many other raw materials, unexceeded by any other State. Texas has in oil and gas the cheap and dependable fuel supply essential to industry. Texas is the gateway to Latin America, our new foreign market.

Each new industry means more jobs. It makes added tax values for our State and local governments, bigger payrolls for our workers, and greater prosperity for you and every other Texan.

America's Card Authority.

At the recent Yarnhill Tournament I saw some old friends who have not been active in bridge during the past few years. One of these is Louis Berko, an attorney once associated with Ely Culbertson. Berko once was a regular tournament player, but had been inactive for several years before he came out of retirement to team with Albert H. Morehead, Dr. R. H. Ecker, L. D. Boone, and Geoffrey Mott-Smith.

Today's hand shows that Louis has lost none of his skill in the play of the cards.

One opening lead dummy played the jack and East's queen forced the king. Now with two club losers in sight, plus a diamond and possibly a trump, declarer decided that the best play was to conserve all resources as long as possible until he could get more information about the adverse hands. With this idea in mind he led a low club, intending to give up the club losers first.

West held the club lead with the seven and returned the nine of diamonds. Dummy played low and South won the jack with the ace. Now South cashed the ace of trumps, and the fall of the queen revealed the trump split. South then led the second club, won by East, and East exited with a spade to dummy's ace.

Dummy led a club for South to ruff with the heart deuce, and South returned a spade for dummy to ruff. Dummy cashed the king of diamonds, then led the last club for South to ruff with the king of trumps. Dummy's two high trumps accounted for contract, the defense winning only the diamond loser.

MUSTANG BOYS' CLUB COLUMN

There are no admirals in the American Navy. There only have been five full admirals in the navy during the history of the U.S.A. We do have officers with the temporary rank of a full admiral, good only during the time they hold an office of high command such as commander-in-chief of the Pacific fleet. Upon completing their term in high command, these officers revert to their permanent rank of rear admiral.

Can you answer the following questions? Answers later.

1. How many sailors on an American first line battleship?
2. What do you call the hospital on a navy ship?
3. How much do the projectiles weigh for the largest navy guns (16 in.)?
4. How long is an American first line battleship?
5. How many times the assessed value of all the property in Midland does one first line battleship cost?

Tuesday, June 17 will be a great day for the boys in Midland. Don't forget the magic number 17. You just can't afford to forget it. There is a big block of unusual fun in store for you. It is worth while fun, too, and has a lot of punch into. Push every thing else aside and keep the morning of the above date wide open. It might not be a bad idea to watch this column for some more news about this.

Don't forget that boys who wish to qualify for the free three days summer trip in August must be present at half the meetings, boys from the rural sections, one-fourth the meetings. The summer program has begun. Bring in your home

U. S. Generals Offer Rewards For Capture At Troop Maneuvers

WITH ARMY IN TENNESSEE, June 9—(AP)—The two generals who will command opposing forces in the army's test of a motorized division against one of the new armored divisions today offered bounties for the capture of each other when their troops meet in the Tennessee war games.

Banking on the anti-tank tactics of his men, Major-General William N. Haskell, commander of New York's 27th Division, posted $25 for the capture of Major - General George S. Patton, Jr., commander of the Second Armored Division, Fort Benning, Ga.

General Patton, as confident in the ability of his 11,000 men with their more than 2,000 tanks, trucks, armored cars and fighting motorcycles, countered with a $50 offer for the seizure of General Haskell. In addition, he offers $5 for each soldier assisting in the capture.

With the maneuvers of the 5th, 27th and 30th Divisions entering the second week of training tests against a simulated enemy, the offers of awards set team spirit up.

Texas Legislature May Develop Plans To Quit This Week

AUSTIN, June 9—(AP)—The legislature entered the 147th day of the general session today and the question of most member's minds was when and how would it end.

Immediate sine die adjournment was doubtful but there were indications a quitting plan might develop sometime this week.

The business of the moment was that of putting the final touch to major appropriation bills now in conference committees.

These included allotments for the eleemosynary system, state supported colleges, government depart-

Schools Turn Cadets Into Randolph Field

SAN ANTONIO, June 9—(AP)—Air defense was pushed ahead another step when the first flying cadets from six new civilian primary flight training schools arrived at Randolph Field for basic flight instruction.

Of 346 cadets in class 41-H, 187 were from schools whose training setups started functioning a little over ten weeks ago. Thirty one came from a new school at Pine Bluff, Ark.; 34 from Cuero, Tex.; 18 from Stamford, Tex.; 24 from Oklahoma City, 37 from Corsicana, Tex., and 42 from Phoenix, Ariz.

Tulsa's primary field, one of the older schools, sent 86 students, East St. Louis 58 and San Diego 12 and Santa Maria, Calif., 3.

Unfinished Oil Bills

Only the eleemosynary fund bill reached to floor of either branch and the House disliking a provision which permitted a joint legislative committee to supervise a $2,500,000 building program, sent it back to the conferees for further study.

There was unfinished business of another sort too.

In this category were important oil proration bills. Senate and House reenacted the general proration statute, the House without time limitation and the Senate for a two-year period. This difference could be adjusted by House acceptance of Senate amendments or it might be ironed out in conference.

The Senate passed to final reading a House bill requiring state-wide instead of pool-by-pool distribution of oil allowances. It awaited a final Senate vote.

Prather was arrested by a posse on the Five Wells Ranch, 25 miles southeast of here, Friday after roaming in the open all night during wind and rain storms.

The charges were filed by County Attorney W. A. Griffin. Dark was shot while at work on a tractor in a field near the Gaines-Dawson County line.

Bonura Receives Orders To Report

MINNEAPOLIS, June 9—(AP)—Zeke Bonura, is going a Hank Greenberg and storing his big bat for a real war-club.

He's been called in the draft and refused to seek deferment. His loss to the minors is easily what Hank's was to the majors, for Zeke has been setting the American Association afire.

Bonura, stepping down a peg or two after a slugging career in the American and National Leagues, played so well with Minneapolis that, he said, he got two offers to return to the big show and he rejected both because of his happiness here and the imminence of the draft call.

Checking out yesterday to visit his folks in New Orleans before reporting for army duty, June 19, Bonura was feted by the ball club and by individuals.

Violence Takes Big Death Toll

By The Associated Press
Automobile accidents and drownings took the lives of nine Texans during the weekend.

Rose Martin, 20; Bernice Nielsen, 20; and George Rubison, 29, drowned when an automobile plunged into 30 feet of water after a collision on a bridge over Clear Creek near Seabrook. Pat Coughlin, 20, the driver, escaped. All were from Galveston. The bodies were recovered shortly before Saturday midnight.

Mrs. Ralph A. Long and Mrs. Ted Avant, Corpus Christi welfare workers en route home from Arkansas, were killed Sunday when an automobile overturned into a ditch near Three Rivers. Mrs. Edna Bemis, head of the Corpus Christi welfare bureau, and Miss Agnes Reynolds, a nurse, were critically injured.

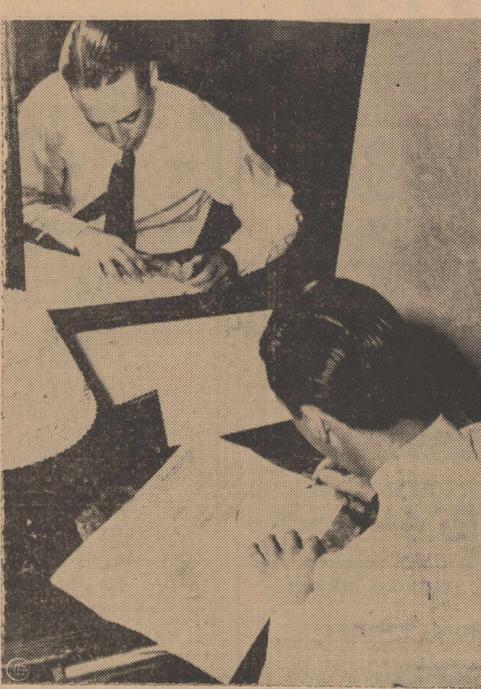

Gordon McCannies, 30, and his 10-year-old son Jimmy, drowned in Lake Cisco Sunday after their fishing boat capsized.

Harry A. Merritt, 19, of Beaumont, drowned Sunday while swimming in the swift current of rain-swollen Village Creek at Silsbee.

After three boys made several trips across a lake yesterday by holding to a horse's tail, the horse became exhausted and went under. Walter Wright, 17, of the Lazzubidie community, near Farwell, drowned. The other two boys swam to safety.

Bartell Comes Off Bench And Leads Giants To Twin Victory Over Cards As Brooklyn Climbs Back Into Lead

By The Associated Press

Remember Dick Bartell, the scrapping, chirruping little shortstop who qualified as the fall guy of the last world series by holding the ball while Buck McCormick of the Cincinnati Reds went charging home with the tying run in the deciding game?

Well, things haven't gone so hot for Bartell since that fateful day. The Detroit Tigers turned him loose not long ago, and he barely caught on as a free agent with his old club, the New York Giants, in the other league.

Since then he has been riding the Giants' bench, yelling his head off as always and wondering if Bill Jurgens, the regular shortstop, ever would need rest. It was only two days ago that Dick finally slapped into the line-up as a pinch-hitter, and he seemed so happy about it that they let him start yesterday against the league leading St. Louis Cardinals in the first game of a double-header.

He practically ruined the Cards single-handed. He singled two runs home in the ninth inning of the first contest as the Giants scored five times to tie the score, and then in the tenth he pounded a home run into the left deck with one on to win the nightcap, which the Giants also won 12 to 7, and now it's Jurgens' turn to wonder when he'll get off the bench.

Red Sox Win Two.
The double defeat dropped the Cards into second place in the torrid National League race despite the fact Brooklyn was losing a single tilt to Cincinnati, 3 to 2.

The league's also-rans finished the day in a dead heat, so to speak. The Pittsburgh Pirates hammered the Phillies, 12 to 2, and then were set down by the Phillies' unpronounceable Johnny Podgajny, 5 to 2. Chicago thumped the Boston Braves 5 to 1, behind Bill Lee's tight pitching, and then got slaughtered, 13 to 1.

In the American League the Boston Red Sox supplied the big news by bouncing the Chicago White Sox twice, 5 to 3 and 3 to 0, and climbing into second place behind Cleveland's flying Indians.

Cleveland proved it could win without Bobby Feller as it set the Philadelphia Athletics back twice, 7 to 4 and 8 to 6.

The Yankees went on a home-run rampage, as Joe DIMAGGIO blasting three, to subdue the St. Louis Browns 9 to 3 in their first game and 8 to 3 in the second.

Washington fell on Dizzy Trout and Buck Newsome for eight hits and seven runs in the sixth inning to scuttle Detroit, 9 to 3.

Infield Defense Helps Houston In Double Victories

By The Associated Press
The Houston Buffs have two of the Texas League's finest pitchers, Fred Martin and Howard Pollett, but they also have some fielders who don't just stand around when the game is in danger.

Martin and Pollett were not on the mound yesterday and Tulsa batsmen collected 12 hits off Johnny Pinter, but the Buffs won the first game of the double bill with three double plays and circus catches all over the outfield. Thus the Buffs protected the only two runs they scored, made in the third on three of their five hits off Clay Bryant. Bryant went down hard, complementing his tight pitching by belting a homer in the fifth for Tulsa's only score.

Oilers Back In Tie
Houston took the second game, 5 to 0, after Bill Norman started the scoring with a homer that led four runs across in the second inning.

Houston's double win pushed the Oilers back into a second place tie with the Shreveport Sports at 500. The Sports trounced the Dallas Rebels in one game, 5 to 1, but the teams were deadlocked at 4-4 when the second game was called at the end of the ninth because of darkness.

The Beaumont Exporters swept their doubleheader with Fort Worth 7 to 2 and 8 to 3, giving them six victories to three defeats for the past seven days. The Shippers moved up from sixth to fifth place. Fort Worth won one game and lost five to drop from fourth to sixth.

San Antonio took the second game of their doubleheader, 2-0, after losing the first, 5 to 3, to the Oklahoma City Indians.
