

HOMECOMING TOMORROW NIGHT

Muleshoe's kicking Mules are girding themselves for a battle royal with their long time foes, the Dimmitt Bobcats, in the Mules' homecoming clash here Friday night.

The Mules seem ready to steam roll over the Bobcats to take undisputed possession to the district champ title.

This week's activities will start with a bonfire Thursday night and then a turnout of the school 6th period Friday for spirit building yells outside of the school and a student parade downtown.

Friday night the Homecoming Queen will be crowned at half-time by the captains of the team.

The queen will be chosen from three lovely candidates; Dianne Chappell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Chappell 224 W. 3rd; Lola Harrell, daughter of Mr.

and Mrs. W. O. Harrell, West-Camp; and Kathy Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Moore, Muleshoe. Long live the Queen!

The game looks to be a battle of two defensive teams, with Muleshoe having more offensive polish than Dimmitt.

The "grads" should enjoy offensive fireworks from outstanding players as Kenny Heating-ton, quarterback; Ronnie Johnson, halfback; Dan Smith, fullback; and Larry Allison, end. Great blocking support and hard-nosed defensive play will be shown by Bill Harbin, tackle; Darrell Burton, guard; Mike Miller, tackle; and Scott Oliver, halfback.

After clinching playoff rights by beating Friona last Friday night, the Mules took a day off Monday and then worked on offensive polish the rest of the week.

Even though Dimmitt has won few games this season they have a sound team and will be ready, willing, and able to beat Muleshoe if they get a few breaks. Knowing this the Mule's "cry" has been "Beat Dimmitt" and "District Champs" this week.

Coach Louis Powers says, "We have won the playoff rights by winning some tough games. We need this game to become the only series of Muleshoe teams to win two championships in a row. We look ready to hit and run harder and faster than Dimmitt. That's the only way we'll win."

Assistant Willie McAlpin and

Head Coach Bill Taylor, both jubilant after winning playoff rights agree that if the boys want to win and show the host of returning grads some championship football they will.

The Dimmitt Bobcats run into a stone wall and get caged Friday night as the Mules have a championship celebration. Mules 28-Bobcats 0.

MIRROR — Mirror on the wall, who is the loveliest of them all. We took an informal poll at the Journal which of these lovelies should be homecoming queen. It was a tie. Who do you vote for, Lola Harrell, Dianne Chappell or Kathy Moore? Our tie was broken when Dianne Chappell received the honor. Long live the homecoming queen.

Jack Frost Hasn't Quite Made It Yearly 4-H Awards

Old Jack Frost came close to blowing his frigid breath on Bailey County three times this week when the temperature fell to 33 degrees, but he didn't hang around long enough to do a killing job.

Farmers feel that the cold weather may have speeded up the opening of top bolls but cotton production will remain slow until after a killing freeze. Most feel the time is about ripe for icy weather.

The humidity has been rather dry and the wind and warm afternoons are helping the cotton dry out. Most farmers are ready for a killing freeze and many have begun to defoliate in an effort to speed-up harvesting. A light frost now would help get the moisture out of the bolls and make it easier for a second frost to take effect.

Estimates place about 60-70 percent of the crop as open in many of the fields and that late cotton is maturing rapidly. It is estimated that most of the late cotton will make a bale per acre.

Local farmers and farming officials called this year "exceptional", saying this area actually has a frost before now. It has gotten cold enough to stop the cotton's growth, but what the area needs now is two or three light frosts before a real freeze.

Many believe a killing freeze now wouldn't do too much damage, because most of the cotton is ready for it. Much of the cotton is already mature and a frost will start the sap down and help the boll dry.

Recent strong winds have had a good effect on cotton and is helping shake off some of the leaves.

Cold weather now would enable farmers to get their crop out earlier and realize more money from it.

Country Club Banquet Slated For November 19

Bill Case Combo, Clovis, will provide music for the Saturday night "Cotton Bowl" dance to be held at the Muleshoe Country Club for members and guests.

SCHOOL ENROLLMENT FIGURES HIT ALL TIME RECORD HERE

Enrolment in Muleshoe Public Schools attained a all time high of 2,098 this week, according to a report by School Superintendent Neil Dillman to the school board.

The present enrolment is 136 over the previous high mark of 1962. Average daily attendance for the last six weeks of school was 149 higher than the same time last year.

A breakdown of school population shows 521 pupils at the high school against 455 last year, 312 attending the Junior High School, a gain of four over last year; 614 at Richland Hills against 566 last year, and 80 at Hilltop, against 56 last year. Only De Shazo is down. Present attendance is 571. Last year it was 577.

The board also discussed the fifth grade problem. Currently enrollment in the entire fifth grade totals 202 students. They are divided between six teachers. The board considers almost 34 children per teacher an "overload".

If there is no immediate relief of the problem, the board will consider the hiring of an additional fifth grade teacher.

In additional business, the board approved the 1964 football schedule and admission prices. The schedule is:

City Police Investigating 3 Break-Ins

City police are today investigating break-ins at three Muleshoe schools.

Approximately $25 in school supplies were stolen from Richland Hills, Mary De Shazo and the high school early this week, according to reports.

One window was broken at De Shazo and a teachers desk broken into at the high school. The thieves took $1.00 in change, two rolls of masking tape, several rolls of scotch tape, a one and one-half volt dry cell battery, several pens, ninety cents in stamps, two packs of magic markers several boxes of staples several eversharp pencils and a tape dispenser.

Truck Accident

A cattle truck, driven by Andy Bell, Starkville, Miss., was forced off Highway 70, seven miles east of Muleshoe Friday.

Bell was attempting to pass a produce truck when it's driver veered into his lane and the cattle truck sideswiped a culvert causing an estimate $1,500 damage.

None of the cattle, enroute to Friona Feed Lot, were injured.

$100-A-Day Penalty Laid On Appraiser By Commissioners

Becoming impatient of "delay after delay" in obtaining the 73 appraisals necessary before the County commission can move on the widening of Hi-way 84-70, the commission slapped a $100-a-day penalty on Dan MacNaughton, professional land appraiser engaged by the commission last Summer.

The penalty will go into effect November 15th, according to commission members. At this time less than one-half of the appraisals have been completed. All were to be completed and in the hands of the county by September 15th, according to the contract.

Bailey County CROP Sunday Set; Goal Is 20 Bales of Cotton

Bailey County is to be a part in the CROP gifts of cotton. Refugees from Communist China will receive a Christian greeting in the form of blankets made from cotton collected by CROP this fall, the Texas CROP Director, Norman A. Sandwall, reports today.
Last year's shipment of CROP cotton was directed to Hong Kong where it was put into blankets with the help of a local textile man, for little more than cost, and with the assistance of a sewing class of needy girls at the Chinese YWCA. The blankets were distributed during the winter months to families and persons in acute cases, generally those newly arrived refugees who can only try to find a home on the street. From a Church World Service worker in Hong Kong has come the word, "It's a good and practical gift and we're certainly grateful for the cotton from which these quilts are made."
To further extend this ministry county CROP committees have been formed in several counties of the state of Texas and many of these are in the South Plains area. The Rev. Andrew Mild, pastor of the Shepherd King Lutheran Church in Lubbock, is President of the South Plains Area CROP Committee which has set as a goal 100 bales of cotton. The county committees in the area are determined to reach this goal and many of them have set a portion of this as their share. During the next few weeks farmers in the area will be asking their neighbors to contribute their remnants to CROP by leaving them with this designation at their local gin.
Chairmen of the county committees in the South Plains are as follows: Bailey, Rev. J. Frank Peery; Cochran, Rev. Floyd Dunn;

Western Style Junior Carnival Set By School

Western Style . . . the Lazbuddie Junior Carnival is coming up.
"Yep, as some say intelligently, put on your Western duds, meaning a specific type of clothes . . . and be on hand for real time and dandy fun. If you're done up in your bib and tucker, meaning you are wearing your best attire, you just might be given the prize for the best get-up," said the carnival sponsors. "However, if your like me," one said "and don't own such a garb, come ahead anyway and you'll still have loads, most people say a great deal, of fun."
Juniors released the following information concerning the agenda for the night: "The Rip-sport-in' Seniors will run the Ball in a Basket throw and the womens' social, commonly known as the 'cake walk.'"
"The high-falootin' Sophomores will run the Ole Swimmint' Hole, that thing of revenge called the junking board and the penny pitch."
"The cassinova Freshmen will operate the Hitchin' Post, that famous marriage booth, and the 'Gun Sliccin', a type of cork gun thing, you know."
The feminine F. H. A., will run the Tire Gamble or the football throw.
"The hair raisin' Juniors will take on the Calaboose, Church Wagon and the Saloon . . . selling only soft drinks, you may positively assume."
"Now the time for this Western Style Junior Carnival has been set for 7 p.m. on November 16, Saturday, and everyone is invited to join the fun" according to the Lazbuddie Juniors.

Plains Hemophilia Society Organized

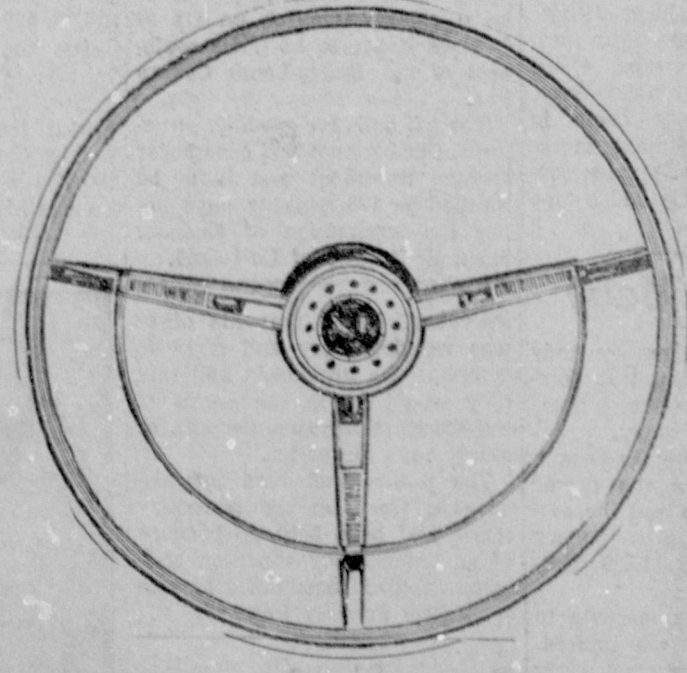

Organizing of the Plains Hemophilia Society is underway. The second meeting of the group was held Sunday in the home of J. L. Waldrop, Sundown.
Officers elected were: Dr. Wilmer Dew, Lubbock, president; Melvin Avens, Hart, vice-president; and Mrs. J. L. Waldrop, Sundown, secretary-treasurer.
Mrs. Ballenger, a worker associated with Amon-Carter Blood Center, Fort Worth, was speaker for the meeting. She told the group what was being done toward the advancement of medical and personal knowledge in caring for and the safety of the Hemophiliac.
They were told that there was only one specialist in the immediate area, at Methodist Hospital, Lubbock, and stressed the importance of knowing how to detect Hemophilia by symptoms and how to cope with it.
Mrs. Ballenger said the Amon-Carter Blood Bank would send a Blood Mobile to this area to take donations and members of the Plains Society would in turn, receive needed blood from the bank at little or no cost.
J. L. Waldrop said the Society welcomed anyone who has Hemophilia in their family and those interested in the study of it to become a member. Additional information may be obtained by contacting J. L. Waldrop, Sundown, Phone 4223.
The next scheduled meeting will be in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Hunt, Shallowater, at 3 p.m. on November 24. The Hunt home is located 1 and 3-4 miles north of the Shallowater school.

Tips Given For Painting Rooms

Paint a ceiling without a ladder? You can do it with a long-handled roller while standing on the floor if you are going to paint the walls later, as most people do.

First thing to do is to select the type of quality paint you wish to use. Flat paints are preferred for ceilings in all rooms except kitchens and baths where semigloss enamel is recommended because of its greater resistance to moisture vapor and steam. The reason for using flat paint elsewhere is that it reflects light without glare.

Next comes color. White will give the greatest reflection of light and will make a ceiling look higher. Painting the ceiling of one room in a tint of the wall color of the adjoining room will create a continuous color scheme that will tie two or more rooms together. Where ceilings are high, you can reverse the above advice and paint them in darker tones to lower them visually.

If you do the entire job with a roller, here are a few things to remember. Brush on a strip of paint around the entire perimeter of the ceiling. Roll the first stroke away from you. Don't roll too fast or you'll spatter the paint. Slow down as you reach the wall. Ease into the junction of wall and ceiling so as to get as little paint as possible on the wall.

The job will be easier and neater if you use a ladder or firm plank held by two ladders to brush on the paint near the wall.

If you are using a latex paint which doesn't show lap marks paint a narrow strip around the entire perimeter of the ceiling. You'll fill in the center area later with your roller. If you are using an alkyd paint, it's best to work across the narrow dimension of the ceiling. Start in a corner and paint a narrow strip two or three feet wide against the wall. After loading your roller, roll on a strip of the same width working from the unpainted area into the still-wet wall-side strip. When you get to the far side of the room, paint the area near the wall with brush or roller and paint guard. As you roll along, work backward into

Christmas Gifts By The Yard Saves Time For Housewife, Clever Gifts

Buy your Christmas gifts by the yard this year and you'll save both time and money.

Thanks to ingenious new fabric designs, it's easier than ever gifts. Cut-out designs and instructions for putting them together are printed directly onto a yard of cotton fabric. All you do is cut out the designs, stitch as directed, and you've created charming gifts without all the bother of shopping around for patterns, fabrics, and notions. Inexpensive, the cut-outs sell for less than a dollar a yard.

Among the gift designs offered in these new fabrics are pajama bags, pillows, stuffed toys, and carry-alls.

Especially appealing to children are the new pajama bag prints, offered in the shape of a cuddly kitten or a floppy-eared puppy. The fabric is printed so that one side of the bag shows the face of a wide-awake kitty or puppy. Turn it over at bedtime, and the reverse side shows the same animal fast asleep. Printed instructions call for the insertion of a 10-inch zipper at the top of the animal's head so youngsters can stuff their pajamas inside. By eliminating the opening, the pajama bag cut-outs can be used to make throw pillows.

Stuffed toy cut-outs are available in the shapes of a bunny, a clown, or a panda. These are designated to be simply stitched together and stuffed with cotton batting.

A handy carry-all or tote bag for shopping parcels, shoes, or knitting comes in three different cut-out designs. One features an almanac print; another has a French poodle motif, and the wet edge of the previous to cover the area completely.

A word about painting kitchen and bathroom ceilings. Likely as not, they'll be covered with a coating of cooking grease and soap film carried there by steam from stove or shower. It's a good lead to wash the surface before painting, because the oily film will interfere with the adhesion of the new paint. If the old enamel is still shiny, degloss it with steel wool for the same reason.

Be sure to use only quality paint, because only quality paint will adhere long and well and resist discoloration from smoke and fumes.

The land in question is heterogeneous in that one piece will be irrigated farm land, the next improved for a private residence and the third a commercial structure.

When the appraisals are completed they will be turned over to the state highway department for approval. After approval the commission will appoint a negotiator to deal directly with the land owners involved, according to County Judge Glen Williams.

Construction in Farmer County's section of the hi-way is well underway and much of the grading and fill work has been completed from Farwell to the Bailey County line.

In other action, the commission approved counts of Bailey County's voting acting in the Pell Tax Election. The county voted it down almost six-to-one. Final figures were 548 against repeal of the tax and 91 for repeal.

Cost of the election was just under $400 or almost sixty-three cents cost per vote.

A group headed by Dr. Ray Santos and J. K. Adams approach the body study the possibility of setting up a county welfare office, hiring a professionally trained welfare worker and applying for government surplus food to assist the county's aged.

The group felt such an office was necessary to prevent "hit or miss" charity in the county. The group stated that the county was lagging behind other Texas counties in both services and monies spent in charity areas. Currently Bailey County is spending about twenty-cents per capita per year, in providing medical care for the indigent of the area. Lamb County is spending approximately $2.00 per capita.

The questing group stated that a baby clinic and an immunization program were badly needed to treat the sick before they become seriously sick. Presently, the county shares in the expense of treating only the very ill.

Dr. Santos stated that both hospitals in Muleshoe are presently treating many of the ill without charge and without assistance.

Does BLADDER IRRITATION MAKE YOU NERVOUS?

After 21, common kidney or bladder irritations affect twice as many women as men and may make you tense and nervous from too frequent, burning or itching urination both day and night. Secondly, you may lose sleep and suffer from headaches, backache and feel old, tired, depressed. In such irritations, CYSTEX usually brings fast, relaxing comfort by curbing irritating germs in urine, acid urine and by analgesic pain relief. Get CYSTEX at drugists. Feel better fast.

and that the hospitals would have to draw the line somewhere because of the heavy expense.

The commissioners replied that most of these people "are outsiders and transits from other communities and are someone else's problem. Dr. Santos replied, "Children from other communities die just as easy as Muleshoe children." A silence followed the comment.

After admitting that something should be done about the situation the commission tabled the matter for further study.

The request added another necessity to the growing list of things necessary not only for continued county growth, but also necessary to bring the area into equal status with other Texas counties.

Portable bleachers for the bands to sit in at football games will be purchased soon. Ten rows high and 24 feet long, the stands will cost $661 each or a total of $1,322. The bleachers will also be used for other on campus affairs.

In a continuing program to replace current sub-standard lighting in De Shazo School, the board voted approval to purchase fluorescent lighting for six rooms at the school. The units which cost $24.47 each, will provide about twice the light given by present fixtures at about one-half the wattage. Cost of new lighting for each room will be $146.82. All nine classrooms will cost $1,321.33.

The board estimates that necessary lighting in all rooms in the system will be completed in 18-months to two years.

Baton Twirling: Bane or Boon??

By RICHARD GOODROW

Formerly at football game half time it was my habit to take only a casual interest in the big brass bands and highstepping twirlers seen through the legs and around the broad back sides of purposeful fans making their way to somewhere over my cringing body.

I may have once or twice remarked we would certainly never have to worry that our little girls then at home in pink blankets would ever be out there making a show of themselves and catching their death in those twirling costumes.

Lately, However, I have come to take more than this passing interest. I have, in fact, become aware that the young girls out there stretching their bare legs, arching their backs, leaping spinning, doing the split and hardly ever dropping the flashing baton are, indeed, somebody's darling, protected daughters.

Maybe yours. Come to think of it, I personally know the mothers of two or three twirlers. In fact, some of my friends are mothers of twirlers. And some of the nicest, cutest, sweetest and certainly the most popular girls I know are twirlers.

Now this does not mean that I have changed my mind in favor of twirling. Far from it. But those thousands of little girls on high school and college football fields across the nation are putting on quite an exhibition of their particular skill. At second glance at what they are doing looks like a hybrid from ballet, tumbling and juggling.

That does not mean I want our daughters to drop ballet and piano lessons and take up twirling lessons as they have intimated they would like to do.

After all, not even mothers and fathers of twirlers could be called whole-hearted enthusiasts. The twirler worship of hundreds of thousands of pre-teen girls who think someday they may be twirlers doesn't seem to impress the parents of girls who have already made it. Nor do the cheers and whistles of thousands of approving football fans every week.

Actually the attitude of these parents seems a little unreasonable even to me. They seem to think each time their daughter tosses a fire baton into the air it is going to set her hair on fire and burn it to the scalp.

Or that a baton twirled 30 feet overhead is going to come down smack on the two front teeth so recently straightened by the orthodontist.

Or that staying up after midnight to get lessons after twirling practice and the weekly case of the pre-game jitters are actually giving their daughter incipient stomach ulcers. Only mothers and fathers have these.

And certainly it is no business of the busybodies how short the costumes are. Parents can't let this sort of talk upset them.

No. Parents should be reasonable at all times. See the Big Picture. Any of the thousands of members of the National Baton Twirling Teachers Association will tell you twirling is the skilled sport of our age. It is now the second largest youth movement in the nation, second only to Scouting.

And lucky are the parents whose daughter shows a real natural talent for this sport. A future twirler should never be discouraged from her intent to twirl simply because she struts through the house continually, glancing at herself in mirrors, twirls before breakfast, occasionally dropping the baton in the cereal bowl.

You may not know that twirling is a boon to health. Smoking and Coke drinking are out for twirlers, an optimistic teacher told me. Nothing does as much for teen-age slump and complex-

World Gold Title Prize Of Int. Play

Golfers from 60 countries will shoot at a $200,000 jackpot in the first Carling World Open Golf Championship at Oakland Hills Country Club next August.

Details of the tournament, which has a $35,000 first prize, were disclosed Wednesday night by Richard Taylor, Carling's tourney director. He said the first round will begin Aug. 27.

Taylor returned last week from a world tour during which he worked out details of nine sectional tournaments in which the world's top golfers, professional and amateur, will compete.

Czechoslovakia is expected to be the only Communist country represented. Taylor said Russia has not known good golfers and the same holds true of the other Iron Curtain countries.

The U. S. State Department gave tournament sponsors assurance that it would grant visas to any contestants, including Communists, except those from Communist China, North Korea and Albania, none of which is recognized by the U. S. government.

Each foreign player will have to qualify in his own country, Taylor said. For example, Gary Player, who has competed in many pro tournaments in the United States for the past few years, will have to qualify in his home country, South Africa.

The field will include 105 U.S. golfers. About 50 to 55 of them, including the top pros of the nation, will be picked by next July based on their showing in PGA tournaments.

In order to permit some of the lesser known local and regional U. S. pros to have a chance to qualify for the Carling Tournament, Carling will pick approximately 45 others based on their showing in some of next year's PGA events, winding up with the Hartford, Conn., Open July 26.

There will be 35 foreign entries, plus 10 other winners of certain golf tournaments designated by Carling to bring the field to about 145.

Tournament sponsors said it will be televised nationally in the United States and may be shown in Europe via Telstar if technical arrangements can be made.

Most of those seasons opening Nov. 16 will close on Jan. 31 save a few exceptions.

The important Possum Kingdom district, where North Texans hunt much of their quail, will not be open until Dec. 1, the same as most of the rest of the state which is under the Legislature and which keeps the old customary season, Dec. 1-Jan. 31.

The PK district extends northwest to Wilbarger County, south through Hill, west to Stephens and includes such usually good quail counties as Denton, Archer, Baylor, Clay and Montague.

The bag limit is 12 and possession limit 36.

Area's Land Sales Are Due For Increase

Bailey County is approaching the time of year when most land sales are made in this area, and when most of the inquiries are made concerning financing, according to John C. Kennedy, Bailey County farmers home administration supervisor.

Farmers Home Administration has loans available to eligible applicants to buy a farm, to enlarge or develop a presently owned farm, to enlarge or develop a presently owned farm, or refinance land debts.

The size of a loan may not exceed the normal value of the farm as determined by an appraisal, or $60,000, whichever is less.

The loan is scheduled for repayment in accordance with the borrower's ability to pay, over a period not exceeding 40 years. The interest rate is 5 percent.

Loans are made to persons who will operate their own farm, and is available to family-sized farmers and also to part-time farmers.

According to Kennedy, most of the recent loan requests have been to help tenants purchase a "headquarters" unit. The continue to operate rented land, also.

Farmers Home Administration also makes loans for farm operating expenses, equipment, livestock, to build houses, and drill irrigation wells.

Further information can be obtained from the local Farmers Home Administration office at 115 E. Avenue D in Muleshoe.

This was at Scottsdale, Ariz., in the spring of 1961 and Ted Williams had his sharp eyes on a lanky 21-year old rookie named Carl Yastrzemski, fresh out of Notre Dame and the Long Island potato fields.

Asked what he thought of the kid, Williams said:
"That's easy. This boy has one of the finest level strokes I have ever seen and if anyone tampers with his hitting they are crazy."

Williams, baseball's greatest hitter the last two decades, had retired the previous season with a .344 career average at age 42 and at the Boston Red Sox training camp then manager Mike Higgins was wondering if Yaz could fill Williams' vacated left field spot. Mike no longer wonders, nor does present manager Johnny Pesky.

Meanwhile, down in Ocala, Fla., where future Red Sox youngsters were working out, ex-pitcher and scout Frank (Bo) Nekola was talking about Yastrzemski. Bo had signed Yaz for a bonus well over $50,000.

"Yaz can't miss," Nekola said. "I've watched him the last six years, at Raleigh, N. C., at Minneapolis, in high school and two years on potato field diamonds and finally signed him as a Notre Dame sophomore. He can do everything, hit, run and throw."

In Philadelphia, that same spring when Gene Mauch took over unexpectedly as manager of the Phillies after Eddie Sawyer more about Yastrzemski. He had managed Yaz at Minneapolis where the southpaw swinger batted .339.

"I wish I had him now," Mauch said. "If anyone tries to tell this boy how to hit he ought to have his tongue cut out."

No rookie, except maybe Mickey Mantle, ever had the experts heap such praise on a youngster after less than two seasons in the minors.

There were fears that Yaz might have trouble living up to his press clippings, especially after he hit only .266 as a Red Sox rookie in '61. But last year Yaz clipped the horsehide at .296 and now after only three American League seasons he is the batting champion with a .321.

"Yes," saays scout Nekola after returning from a recent trip to Yaz's home in Lynnfield, Mass., "Carl had a lot of pressure on him those first two years but he has lived up to all the advance billing. And up in Boston they are calling him the best left fielder Fenway Park has seen in 30 years."

The word adobe comes from Egypt. Coptic descendants of ancient Egyptians call mud brick "tobey" or "dobe." Moors transmitted the name to the Spaniards, who ultimately took adobe brick-making to the American Southwest.

WASHINGTON NEWSLETTER

from SENATOR JOHN TOWER

A tax credit plan for parents with dependents in college would solve many pressing problems of higher education and avoid the controversy of federal aid to education, Senator John Tower said today.

Senator Tower has joined with Senator Barry Goldwater and others on S. 2276, which will be offered as an amendment to the Internal Revenue Code during Finance Committee hearings on the Administration's proposed tax cut bill. Some 120 Members of Congress have introduced various versions of a tax credit plan for higher education.

In a weekly report to constituents in Texas, Tower said "As a college teacher in our state, at Midwestern University, I was closely exposed to the worries of many families about the expenses of education. I can certainly say that this is a number one problem right now of parents with youngsters in High School."

"If this proposal is incorporated in the next tax bill, you will be able to figure up your income tax, and then subtract your costs for college tuition and fees — up to a limit of $420 — and to subtract also your education contributions up to $100," Senator Tower said.

"May I also note that the tax credit plan avoids that constant bug-a-boo of Federal grant and loan plans — assistance to religious and parochial schools. Since the Federal bureaucracy is not involved in a tax-credit plan, there can be no question at all of a violation of our Constitutional separation of Church and State."

Chicago Board of Trade Depends Entirely On Farmers And Grain Elevator Operators

For the person standing on the floor of the Chicago Board of Trade, watching the opening of farm commodities in the arena below, the voice of the market seems unbelievably loud, raucous.

But that person isn't hearing the voice — for the Exchange reflects the thousands of transactions made in countless retail stores across the length and breadth of the land, says Robert C. Liebenow, President of the Chicago Board of Trade.

Some consumers participate directly as buyers and sellers of wheat, corn, oats, rye, soybeans and soybean oil and meal. Most are indirectly represented at this public auction by their daily purchases of bread, pastries, cereals, salad oils, soaps, meats and poultry — the thousands of items that fulfill our varied needs so well.

Many housewives pride themselves on being sharp buyers — fact shrewd purchases of many goods are embroidered into store-tell our friends. Among shrewdest of traders are those whose special arena of action is commodity market.

Most of these buyers and sellers are not on the trading floors of the exchange — they operate present time. But a pool of calculators actually trading on floor helps provide the liquid that will absorb large sell-orders. They're also there to when a buyer needs future supplies, Liebenow points out.

An Exchange such as the Chicago Board of Trade simply provides an area where buyers and sellers can meet, and gives strict supervision over the traders and trading. It is licensed as a contract market by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, with the Commodity Exchange Authority holding supervisory responsibility.

For more than a hundred years markets such as this have been an integral part of our grain marketing system — made necessary by one simple fact. The tremendous production from our grain farms is harvested at one period of the year. Farmers are the producers, and normally seek to turn their produce into cash soon after the harvest.

Processors, on the other hand, need a steady flow of the raw commodity so they can serve consumer demand each day of the year — and provide year around jobs for their workers. They're in the business of making a product, and do not seek to become warehousemen of grain. So the farmer's pipeline to the consumer starts with some 20,000 country grain elevator operators. These men buy his grain, assemble and sort it, and sell to processors or to larger warehousemen located in strategic positions along the pipeline. They hold the responsibility for storing the grain, keeping it in good condition, and selling it as needed for processing or for export.

"The futures market helps them to anticipate future needs and protect the value of their inventories", Liebenow says. "It enables the industry to handle high volume efficiently, so they can operate on narrow margins."

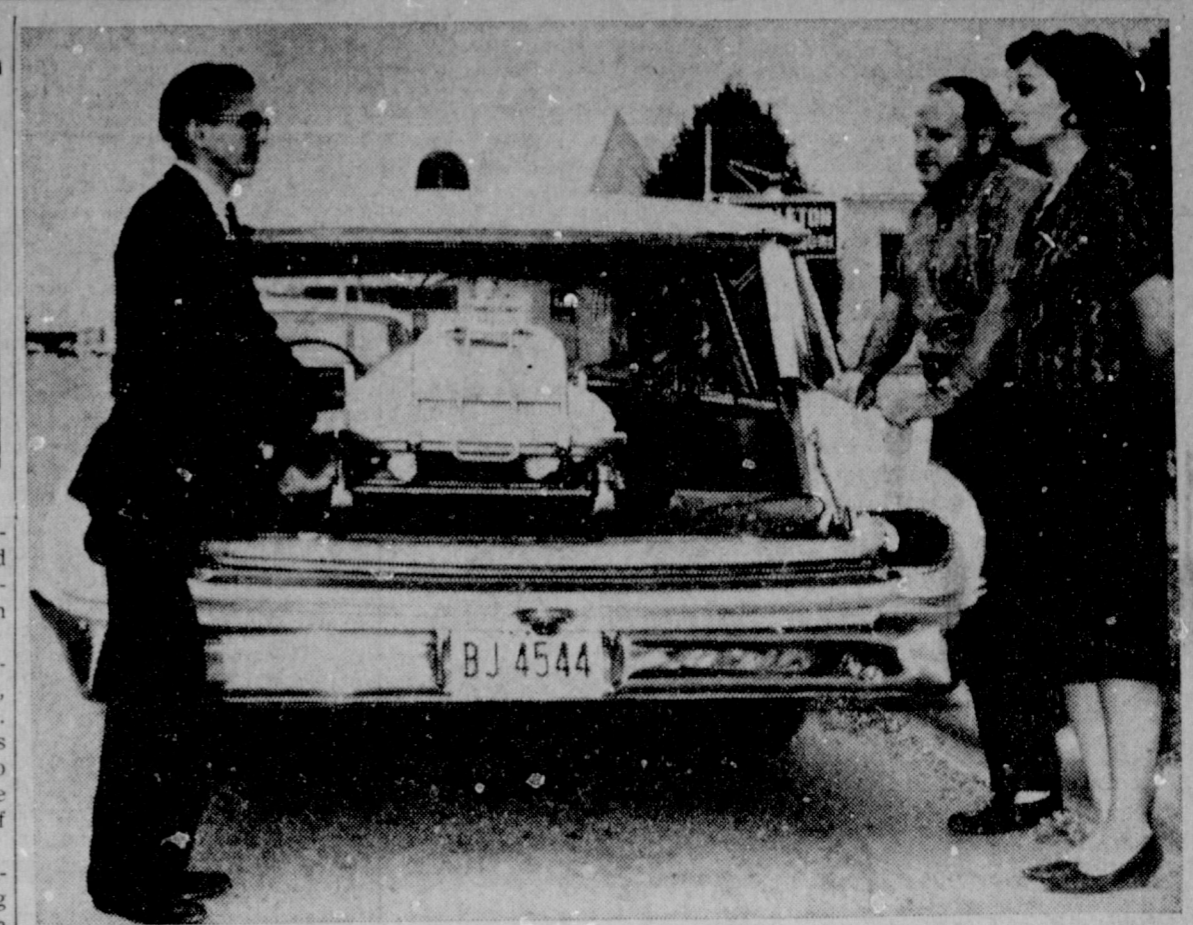

In the rigidly supervised futures markets, grain is traded in open own auctioneer. It's a tremendous business — the Chicago Board of Trade exceeded $22 billion in transactions during the first six months of 1963. And it's a business demanding high integrity, because not one dollar's worth of that trade was covered with a written contract.

Years of experience with futures trading show that farmers benefit by knowing prices — and getting better prices for their produce; consumers benefit by paying lower prices for finished goods

AUSTIN — During 1962, an insidious killer sneaked into closed rooms, automobiles and even trailer houses, leaving 63 victims in its wake throughout Texas.

Most of these deaths occur between December and February, the result of carbon monoxide.

This gas is colorless and has no odor or smell. There is no certain way of knowing that the gas is present without the use of special testing instruments.

Any combustible material generally used for heating or cooking is a potential producer of carbon monoxide. The gas results from incomplete combustion.

No fire completely consumes all of the material used as fuel, whether it is natural gas, butane, wood or kerosene. The amount of carbon monoxide produced can be significantly reduced with precise adjustments of fuel-burning stoves and heaters.

Simple precautions can eliminate the danger of carbon monoxide poisoning.

All gas heating devices should be vented to the outside or into a working flue.

Home heating units should be periodically inspected for proper pipes, obstructed flues and vents.

In the modern air tight house, the danger of carbon monoxide increases when heating units are not functioning properly.

Unvented gas heaters can produce carbon monoxide even when properly adjusted if they lack sufficient air for combustion. Unvented gas heaters should never be used in sleeping quarters, nursing homes, convalescent homes, or any small confined space.

Rooms containing unvented gas heaters should always have an adequate supply of fresh air.

Any abnormal conditions such as a smoking stove or the odor of smoke in a living area is a danger signal and should be checked immediately.

All hot water heaters should be vented to the outside, or connected to a working flue, and have an adequate supply of air for

IT'S THE LAW in Texas

Under the law what you as a client tell your lawyer in confidence he may tell no one else without your consent.

Nor can a judge order him or his professional employees (like secretaries) to reveal such communications in court.

Why have such a privilege? Chiefly, to do justice; it encourages clients to tell their lawyers what they have to know to help and to advise them fully: things about their family, business, and private affairs, their hopes, fears and ambitions.

No lawyer may speak of certain things, even after a client dies. For a client may well have to give his lawyer details which, if revealed, might harm those he most wanted to protect.

Yet in some very rare cases, to help carry out the client's desires after death, a lawyer may have to reveal a confidence, under certain safeguards, to uphold his client's purposes.

What are confidential communications? Anything a client tells his lawyer when he seeks advice about his personal, business, or legal affairs — talks and letters, photographs, charts, and other documents and records.

The law protects you as the client, not your lawyer. If you break the confidence, a lawyer may also have to talk, for the communication is no longer confidential. You may break a confidence by testifying about it, or by having unauthorized persons hear or see what was communicated.

No lawyer may keep quiet about a crime or fraud a client has told him he plans to commit. But afterwards, an accused person may talk freely to his lawyer. Even if guilty, he has a right to have his side of the story presented to the court as it may affect his punishment. A person in trouble needs to talk to someone without fear that what he says will become public.

Parmer County Asks Four-Lanes for Road

Parmer County commissioners have taken the initiative in seeking a four-lane road for U. S. Highway 60 in the county.

The Commissioner's Court has met with the State Highway Commission in Austin and requested that an agreement be set up between the Highway Department and Parmer County authorizing the county to begin buying right of way for a four-lane highway along U. S. 60 in Parmer County, under the 50-50 right of way purchase program where in the state shares one half the cost with the county.

County Judge Loyde Brewer said "The Commissioner's Court realizes that it will be some time before any construction will be started on this project, but also believes that it would be a great saving to the county to start buying as soon as possible, out of our current revenues."

"Everyone is aware of the great increase in the land prices in the past few years, as well as the development and building which has taken place along this road," Brewer said. "The

Nixon-Not Candidate

Former Vice President Richard Nixon said recently he was not a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination in 1964 and that there would be no draft in behalf of a Nixon candidacy.

The statement came just as some forces in the Republican Party (perhaps alarmed at the increasing momentum of the Gold-water bandwagon) were hinting Nixon was overlooked in considerations of the party nominee for 1964.

Nixon's statement included the revealing remark that the G.O.P. nominee would have to meet the President in televised debate. By mentioning this, Nixon showed his own estimate of the importance of television debate.

Nixon was reminding party comrades of a changing feature in our political system. Today candidates can win or lose on television personality, whereas this was not the case a few years ago. Many think Nixon lost the Presidency in 1960 because he lost the debates against then Senator John F. Kennedy.

The debates are a good thing for the average citizen, for the country and its democratic form of government. It is good that Nixon and Kennedy favor a repetition of the 1960 debates; they should become a regular feature of every presidential election.

Mao Stepping Down?

There are reports that Mao Tse-Tung is ready to step down as head of the world's most populous nation. Of course, the West will never know what is happening in Red China until it has happened but there are certain facts which are now known well enough to point to some change in Red China in the not-to-distant future.

First is the fact that Mao is seventy years old, or there-about. He cannot go on forever and it has been true in history that absolute rulers usually do not last as long in their redempting, dominating posts as democratic prime ministers, for example.

Second, it is known pretty well that since Russian supplies of arms were cut off to Red China, beginning in 1959, the Red Chinese Army, and the air forces, have not been properly maintained, or equipment replaced and modernized.

Meanwhile Russia is maneuvering to have

Red China expelled from the Communist world and if this move is completed, Mao's position — at least for the long run — will be further weakened.

It may be that Mao's exit in China will bring about a reunion of Russia and Red China in the spirit of Communist banity — and that would not be a gain as far as the United States is concerned. While the Mao Communists are more aggressive than the Russians, they lack the military power at this moment to cause the anxiety Russian military power can produce.

As far as U.S. short-term interests are concerned, then, it is a curious fact that is might be better for Mao to remain in power in China, so that the spirit between the two dictators will continue to widen and the world Communist movement be weakened at least to that extent.

Yarborough in Washington

Dear Fellow Texans: Communist boss Nikita Khrushchev, who once boasted that Soviet Union leadership in space would help turn the whole world to a Communist camp, has had to back down on his vain dreams of glory.

With Soviet Union agriculture in bad shape, Khrushchev has announced that he is withdrawing from competition with the United States in efforts for manned flight to the moon.

Last August Khrushchev told the Communist people, and I quote, "The exploits of our cosmonauts reflect the great achievements of our economy, science and technology. They demonstrate the great advantages of the Socialist system."

The Communist newspaper, Pravda, was also guilty of a little premature bragging. Speaking of Soviet leadership in space, Pravda said, "... the successes of the Socialist state are, figuratively, a multistage rocket which will unfailingly put all peoples into the orbit of communism."

Well, Mr. Khrushchev and Pravda are wrong. Now they have had to swallow their own words.

The Communist economic system did not stand up to the test. They had the brain power and the manpower. But the failure of crops, one segment of their economy, appears to have taken them out of the race, leaving the field to the United States. Of course, we have ample reason from experience not to take Khrushchev at his word.

But regardless of whether the Russians are in reality withdrawing from the space race, our own responsibilities to our own country and the free world is to push forward with maximum effort to put a manned rocket on the moon by 1970. This is the one area in national defense where we lag behind the Soviet Union. Our free enterprise system, it seems, will mean the difference in this contest. I am still of the belief that the country first in space will be first in the eyes of the world. We must not be lulled by Khrushchev's promise to withdraw.

Some scientists say that we put too much into the moon race; that we have to carry forward our biological research. I agree that we must keep up our research in the biological sciences. In fact, we should keep up all of our research because research on space will spill over into other related fields.

We must keep our progress on a firm and steady course, geared to our resources, our economy, our defense needs and our own timetable.

END POLISHING WORRY! Save yourself the trouble of frequently polishing your brass fireplace accessories this year. Spray the shiny metal with a clear-non-yellowing varnish or lacquer.

DON'T FORGET If you're going to varnish your floor, don't forget to remove every bit of wax or polish beforehand. The same applies to furniture, too. Varnish will adhere tightly to a clean surface but not to wax.

Ollie Burks Involved In "Big Lift"

U. S. FORCES, GERMANY (AHTNC) — Army Staff Sergeant Ollie E. Burks Jr., 33, whose father lives in Muleshoe, Tex., provided support in Germany for a NATO field training exercise, a part of Operation BIG LIFT, which ended Nov. 5.

Sergeant Burks is a tank commander in Troop K of the 3rd Armored Cavalry Regiment's 3rd Reconnaissance Squadron regularly stationed near Kaiserslautern, Germany.

He entered the Army in March 1949 and arrived overseas on his tour of duty last October.

The sergeant is a 1948 graduate of Lovington, N. M. High School.

COLOR STYLING Knowing a few basic color principles will help you design an effective, pleasing color scheme for your home. Light colors reflect more light. They make things seem larger, but at the same time lighter in weight. Light colored objects seem farther away. Dark colors absorb light and make things look smaller and heavier. They make objects seem closer. If used on too large areas, they can tend to depress. Bright colors attract the eye and make areas seem larger. Used in large quantities, they can be distracting.

The Sandhills Philosopher

Dear editor:

I have a system of reading to recommend to Washington. It's the best system I know for maintaining peace of mind and a consistent foreign policy.

It's simple. Don't read a paper every day, it only mixes you up.

Under my system, I read a newspaper when one turns up, blown onto this grass farm by the wind, left by insurance salesmen, wrapped around vegetables and such things from my neighbors, thrown out of cars, etc.

You take a man who reads a newspaper every day though and what happens? On Monday he's bent on beating Russia to the moon. On Tuesday he reads Russia has abandoned the moon and by Tuesday afternoon he's decided maybe we ought to call it off too.

Then a week later Mr. Khrushchev announces Russia is back in the race, this ties him in a knot, and the whole space program has to be re-evaluated once more.

You can see what it leads to when you read everything Mr. Khrushchev says. My policy is to read only half of what he says and believe none.

Speaking of putting a man on the moon, a friend says he read my letter last week in The Muleshoe Journal proposing that we put one man on each of the billion planets out in space, and that he has figured it up and since there are only about three billion people on earth it'd take a third of the population to do it.

"Your idea is impractical," said. "The idea, sending a third of the people out into space? That's what I'm talking about. It's a splendid idea. I've got a general in mind I'd like to nominate for the trip now. For example, right around here there are, well, you fill in the names, and mine turns up, scratch it off, be busy farming.

Yours faithfully
J. A.

Which type Chevrolet pickup do you need?

Chevrolet now makes four different types, each with its own distinct advantages. Whichever one you buy will be a lot more truck than your money bought the last time!

FLEETSIDE. Based on sales, the best liked pickup in the world. Outstanding feature is its large body extending clear out over the wheels. Two body sizes. Two wheelbases. Best riding truck, by far, with coil springs all around and independent front suspension. Cab and body have double-wall construction. Chevrolet Fleetside—best for all-around use.

STEPSIDE. Has flat interior body walls and convenient side steps between cab and rear fenders. Comes in same two sizes as the Fleetside plus one bigger size. Big model has heavier frame, 4-speed transmission and leaf-spring rear suspension for maximum payloads. Standard engine is 230-cu.-in. Six. A 292 Six or 283 V8 is available at extra cost.

RAMP-SIDE. Nobody else makes a pickup exactly like this one with a ramp at the side. The ramp makes loading easy because of its 16-inch rise. Truck also has a conventional tailgate. Body and frame-floor assembly are very rigid because they are welded together. Has larger 95-hp air-cooled engine this year. Independent coil spring suspension all around.

EL CAMINO. If you want a pickup as good looking as any car on the road, this is the one! It can work hard, and look like a million dollars doing it—the only pickup in the world with Body by Fisher! You can order an El Camino as plain or as fancy as you wish: bucket seats, air conditioning, 4-speed transmission, power brakes are some of its extra-cost options.

Three Way Downs Elks; Names Queen

Three Way Eagles made Homecoming a rousing success by downing Cotton Center Elks 40-12. Three Way scored in the first quarter with John Tucker going over from the 13 yard line; Frank Solis made the extra point. Defense held against Cotton Center, and the ball was regained. Tucker again made a touchdown. Tommy Dupler passed to Tommy Terrell for two extra points.

In the second half, Tucker again made a T. D. from that 13-yard erline. Dupler added the extra points with a rollout. Then Frank Solis set up, in scoring position with a 44-yard gallop that carried to the 2-yard mark. Vi cTunnel carried it over for 6 points, and Dupler added the 2.

The Elks revived, and their Chipper Lowery ran their first touchdown over. Solis of Three Way then dashed for 36 yards, and was stopped on the 1-foot line. Dupler took it over from there, and Charles Moore added the extra points. Lowery of Cotton Center scored again, but defense stiffened, and the Elks were halted.

Outstanding on defense for Three Way were Moore, Harold Carpenter, Glenn Harris, and Dupler.

At half-time, the Homecoming Queen was crowned. Donna Kay Furguson received the crown, and was escorted by Vic Tunnel, who was named "Mr. Touchdown". Runners-up for the Queen title were Sharon Locke, Sharon Wittner, and Kay Lemons.

Warning... C-Beans Poisonous

Growers on the High Plains will soon be harvesting the largest acreage of dwarf-intermediate castorbeans ever planted in the area. Gross income from the 1963 crop is estimated at over $4,000,000. Yields of Dawn, Hale, Hale Y-bird, and Lynn appear to be equal to those of 1952, when production ranged from 2200 to 3400 pounds per acre on properly fertilized and irrigated fields.

A sufficient number of harvesters appear to be on hand to handle the crop, with custom machines available where needed. Harvest normally begins about ten days after a killing frost, if normal drying weather prevails. For efficient harvesting, capsules should be dry enough for the seed to hull when ribbed between the hands.

Every precaution should be taken to see that trucks used to haul castorbeans are thoroughly cleaned before being used for other agricultural products, as the seed are poisonous to humans and livestock. Contaminated feed grain cannot be sold, so every effort should be made to prevent mixing of a single castorbean seed with feed grain. Persons harvesting or hauling castorbeans for the first time should especially be warned about the poisonous nature of the seed when ingested.

The present outlook for 1964 indicates an increase in castorbeans acreage for the High Plains of Texas. The United States is still importing the largest portion of the castor oil which is used annually, so further increases are expected as more growers turn to castorbeans as a profitable cash crop.

Soon digging will resume for the first time in years in the famed Kimberley Mine, whose glittering harvest made the name Cecil Rhodes a household word in the 19th Century. It is the practice of major companies to alternate production among reserve mines.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN, Tex. — Gov. John Connally has made public the itinerary of his famous guests, President and Mrs. John F. Kennedy.

They are due in the Lone Star State on November 21 and 22. The Kennedys will visit San Antonio, Houston, Fort Worth, Dallas and Austin — in that order.

In San Antonio the President will preside at dedication ceremonies at the Aerospace Medical Center. He will arrive at Kelly Air Force Base about 3 p.m. on November 21.

That evening he will attend a dinner in Houston for Congressman Albert Thomas. Next morning, Kennedy will be honor guest at a breakfast sponsored by the Fort Worth Chamber of Commerce.

At noon, he'll attend a Dallas Citizens Council and Graduate Research Center luncheon in Dallas.

Then he'll fly to Austin, arriving at Bergstrom Air Force Base about 4 p.m. That evening Gov. and Mrs. Connally will honor the Kennedy's with a reception at the Mansion. Elected Democratic State officials and their wives will attend.

TICKETS BY THE TON—Most touted attraction of President Kennedy's Texas trip is the $100-a-plate dinner, which the State Democratic Executive Committee will sponsor in the Austin Municipal Auditorium at 7:30 p.m. on November 22.

An SDEC aide estimates that a ton of invitations — 60,000 in all — have been mailed to Democrats over the state.

GOLDWATER WAGON—State Rep. Dick Morgan of Dallas, chairman of Texas' Draft Goldwater Committee, named Lewis H. Moorman Jr., San Antonio rancher-oilman as state finance chairman.

Moorman was state GOP finance chairman during the Nixon-for-President Campaign, and in U. S. Sen. John Tower's race in 1961.

GOP National Committeeman Albert B. Fay of Houston appointed members of the party's Candidates Committee to recruit "a blue-ribbon slate of candidate for Republican primaries in 1964. They will meet in Dallas on December 12, for Republican primaries in 1964.

HOSPITAL POLICIES AIREDA—A special committee to review hiring policies in State hospitals was named by the State Board for Hospitals and Special Schools. Action followed disclosures that a convicted kidnapper and former mental patients have worked as doctors at some state institutions.

APPOINTMENTS — Governor Connally appointed E. V. Boedeker of Levelland as District Attorney of the 121st Judicial District. He succeeds Morgan L. Copeland who will join the legal department of Gulf Oil Corp. in Midland on December 1. District is composed of Hockley, Cochran, Yoakum, and Terry counties.

Connally also designated Peter Michael Curry of San Antonio as judge of the new 166th District Court of Bexar County, effective February 1. Court was created by the 58th Legislature.

Governor reappointed Judge W. St. John Garwood of Austin, John Peace of San Antonio and Abner McCall of Waco to the Texas Civil Judicial Council. Council was authorized by the Legislature to propose a plan for statewide judicial redistricting.

Earlier, Connally picked Sam Rayburn Bell of Paris Joseph A. Chandler of Sphenerville, J. C. Looney of Edinburg, and Dan C. Looney of Dallas to fill vacancies on the Texas Commission on Higher Education.

House Speaker Byron Tunnell of Tyler appointed Reps. Bill Clayton of Springlake, Henry Fletcher of Luling and Menton Murray of Hagglingen to an interim House Committee on Soil and Water Study. Committee is assigned the task of recommending new methods of conserving soil and water resources.

COURTS SPEAK — State Supreme Court, reversing itself, agreed to hear arguments on January 8 on Shell Oil Company and Aluminum Company of America suits against the Railroad Commission's oil and gas production formulas. Issue pits major oil firms against independents. Later now are favored by formulas used in 300 gas fields and nearly 2,000 oil fields, the major oil firms contend.

Third Court took under advisement arguments in a suit to halt construction of the giant $65,000,000 Millikan Dam on the Navesota River.

Contesting the project are property owners whose land would be flooded by the huge reservoir — estimated to be twice as large as all seven lakes in the Colorado River chain.

A VERY WET ISSUE — Rep. Jake Johnson of San Antonio proposes a bipartisan referendum on whether local option elections should be held on sale of liquor by the drink.

Johnson said he will try to get candidates for governor and lieutenant governor to take a stand on the issue.

Democratic and Republican headquarters spokesmen said they

A.T.M.I. Clarifies Refusal To Change Ruling

There have recently been some mistakenly interpreted articles in the press regarding refusal of the A. T. M. I. cotton committee to change Southern Mill Rules to add 4 pounds to the tare to bales wrapped in the all-cotton bagging being sold under the 1963 U. S. D. A. Cotton bagging program. It is true that the A. T. M. I. did refuse to change the rules, because their committee felt it was a small program of only about 40,000 bales, and that it would involve a complicated operation requiring several months and numerous organizations to do so.

Unfortunately this action was interpreted and widely circulated that this meant A. T. M. I. was against the bagging program and was recommending against the tar allowance. This is completely false, and A. T. M. I. made no such announcement.

The U. S. D. A. has announced some time ago that since the cotton bagging weighs 8 pounds, the additional 4 pounds is being allowed in the cotton loan program. This was printed in the Federal Register of June 12, 1963.

In the past the vast majority of cotton mills have cooperated in cotton bagging programs and have made appropriate tar allowances to do their part in improvement of the cotton package and the expanded use of cotton, and it is firmly believed they will do so in this program.

Since only about 40,000 bales may be so covered, by the time the bales are distributed in the loan, in exports, and to domestic mills, the odds of any one mill receiving more than a handful of such cotton covered bales is most remote. Since the re-sale value of the cotton bagging to the rag trade is about three times that of used jute bagging, monetary loss to any mill will be infinitesimal, if any.

Sealskins From Africa

CAPETOWN, South Africa (AP) Many of the sealskin coats worn by American women have their origin in a small island in False Bay, not far from the Cape Town seaside suburb of Kalk Bay.

Since June this year more than 4,000 seals have been clubbed or shot on Sea Island.

Giving these figures here, the skipper of the government sealer Malgas, C. H. P. de Kock, said most of the skins go to the United States after being salted and cured.

The False Bay seal, he said, does not produce fur as thick as that of the Arctic seal, but the skin has a much better and more attractive color and is much in demand among American women.

A Greek seismologist, Angelos G. Galanopoulos, has theorized that Atlantis stood in the Sea of Crete and that its remains are the present islands of Satorin, Thirasia and Kameni.
