President Says Army Is In Need Of Ammunition

Roosevelt States Irish Will Not Get Arms Now Because Of Deficiency

By The Associated Press

HYDE PARK, N. Y.— President Roosevelt disclosed Friday that a shortage in ammunition confronted the nation in its defense efforts.

Mr. Roosevelt said at a press conference he was looking into the question of sending some rifles to the Irish but that no ammunition could be sent because the country is way behind on ammunition even for itself.

Although he once had said arms could not be spared for Ireland, Mr. Roosevelt mentioned the possibility of sending over rifles because, he said, the actual processing of them is getting along pretty well.

The Irish wanted all kinds of things in addition to rifles he asserted, but most of these were things this country could not get for itself.

He made it plain, moreover, that armament aid for Ireland would have to follow assurance that the Irish would defend themselves against German attack.

As for helping Russia in the battle against the Nazis, the Chief Executive said he expected to confer on that topic by telephone Friday with acting Secretary of State Sumner Welles. He expects to receive a report on what Russian Ambassador Oumansky had to say to Welles yesterday.

Start Action To Get Trailer Camp For Midland Soon

Roy Stockard, Addison Wadley and Barney Greathouse have been appointed members of a sub-committee of the Midland Chamber of Commerce to investigate the need for a trailer camp here during construction of the $4,500,000 Army Air Corps Advanced Twin-Engine and Bombarrier Training Center.

They were appointed by Paul A. Nelson, chairman of the organization's business promotion committee at a joint meeting of that group and the retailers committee.

Stockard is chairman of the committee which will contact the general contractor for the construction job, ascertain the needs for trailer space and then take up the problem with city officials.

Will Work Quickly. Nelson suggested Midland definitely needs a permanent trailer camp and asserted it should be provided by the city and probably operated as a part of its park program.

Another suggestion was that it be established by individual enterprise. Approximately 20 members of the two committees attended the meeting and practically all were of the opinion no time should be lost in establishing proper facilities to accommodate trailers.

Studies Price Top For Coast Lumber

WASHINGTON (AP).—Price Administrator Leon Henderson said Friday that a price ceiling was being formulated for "the upper grades and specialties of west coast lumber" because rates had reached "unreasonable levels."

Henderson said that the movement of upper grade lumber prices on the coast had been under scrutiny for some time and "while it is recognized that heavy buying of specialties may have been stimulated by unusual conditions, such conditions do not warrant the price advances that have occurred."

Premier Says Hungary Is At War With Soviet

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP).—Premier Laszlo De Bardoss told parliament Friday that "Hungary is at war with Russia" and will pay back attacks made upon her territory by the Soviet air force.

The announcement was received enthusiastically by the House. Members of the Hungarian Nazi party immediately demanded that five social democrat deputies be excluded from parliament.

Interest in the special election picked up during the week and many citizens believe a vote of 1,500 will be recorded. Qualified voters number 1,982.

Senate Approves Record-Breaking Army Supply Bill

WASHINGTON (AP).—The senate approved on a voice vote Friday the record-breaking $10,384,821,624 Army supply bill and sent it back to the House for consideration of increases totaling $58,312,132.

The Senate increase was accounted for largely in an amendment providing $500,000,000 for the construction of new munitions plants.

The Army measure, which clerks said was the largest single appropriation in history, was approved after an hour and 20 minutes of dilatory debate. Only a score of senators were on the floor.

The bill includes $2,790,890,000 for the procurement of 12,856 planes and accessory equipment for the Air Corps.

Working at a fast clip in order to pass vital appropriations measures before the fiscal year ends June 30, the senate took up last minute legislation today after the family of the late Senator Andrews Jackson Houston (D-Tex) had requested that no recess be taken out of respect to his memory.

Capitol Studies Results Of Death

AUSTIN (AP).—Several important political and governmental effects might result from the death of Senator Andrew Jackson Houston in Washington Thursday night, Capitol circles speculated Friday.

One was that Governor W. Lee O'Daniel might make a second interim appointment to the vacancy caused by the death last April of Senator Morris Sheppard, his first having been the son of Sam Houston, hero of San Jacinto.

Another was that the governor, should he be elected senator in the special election Saturday, might resign his present office without awaiting the official canvass of returns two weeks after the election and accept appointment to the Senate from his successor as governor, Lieut.-Gov. Coke Stevenson.

Ample legal authority for making another temporary appointment exists, regardless of the fact an election to choose a senator for the balance of Senator Sheppard's term is at hand, a study of statutes disclosed.

Ickes' Huge Pipeline Program May Prevent Shortage In East

By Frank I. Weller

WASHINGTON (AP).—(The Special News Service)—Millions of dollars of gasoline and oil pipelines will be Secretary Ickes' first response to the 71,000,000-barrel petroleum shortage in the East Coast states.

If this and other stop-gap measures work, the new oil coordinator for national defense may escape the none-too-hopeful program of gasless Sundays he suggested on May 25.

Ickes' plan originally called for private construction within the next 12 to 15 months of a 24-inch oil pipeline and a parallel 20-inch gasline from Texas-Louisiana

Senator Houston Dies In Hospital After Operation

Noted Texan Had Served 24 Days In Senate Seat; Was Oldest Of Chamber

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON.—Death ended the career of Senator Andrew Jackson Houston, 87-year-old son of one of Texas' greatest heroes, in a Baltimore, Md., hospital Thursday night after he had served only 24 days in the U. S. Senate.

The frail old man succumbed to Johns Hopkins hospital to complications following an operation for relief of a stomach disorder. With him at this death were his two daughters, Ariadne and Marguerite, who had devoted their lives to his care.

Houston, the oldest man ever to enter the senate, had known many honors in his time, but perhaps the most unexpected was his appointment by Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel to fill the vacancy left by the late Senator Morris Sheppard, who died April 9.

Insisted On Trip. With his customary eye for the dramatic, the governor announced the appointment on April 21, the anniversary of the Battle of San Jacinto at which Houston's father, Sam Houston, led the Texas troops in triumph against a numerically superior force under the Mexican General Santa Ana.

Senator Houston insisted on becoming a member of the Senate in fact as well as in name, although the appointment on April 21, the anniversary of the Battle of San Jacinto at which Houston's father, Sam Houston, led the Texas troops in triumph against a numerically superior force under the Mexican General Santa Ana.

Houston was to serve only until the winner of a special election in Texas Saturday could qualify and take the office.

Houston was born nine years before the death of his father, then 70 years old, who was a member of the senate a century ago.

He arrived in the capital on May 30 and took his seat in the Senate on June 2. Houston had been little known in his native Texas in recent years, but in the latter part of the last century was prominent there.

Born At Independence. Texas, June 21, 1854. Houston was educated at Baylor College and was a graduate of West Point Military Academy. He studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1876 and was clerk of the United States District Court at Dallas from 1879 to 1889.

He was appointed United States Marshal by President Theodore Roosevelt and served from 1902 to 1910. He was candidate of the Prohibition party for governor of Texas in 1910 and 1912.

One-Third Less Persons Eligible To Cast Votes

AUSTIN (AP).—Approximately one-third less people than voted in last summer's Democratic primaries will be privileged to cast ballots in Saturday Senatorial election, statewide poll tax receipts figures showed.

Paid poll taxes totaled 1,259,878 last year as compared with 814,836 this year, a drop of 445,042.

Find Fliers' Bodies On Ranch Near San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO (AP).—The bodies of two Randolph Field fliers were found Thursday on a ranch near here where their plane crashed while on weather patrol.

Second Lieut. John W. Crews, 22, the pilot, and Private Dennis A. Eckelberg, 18, died instantly when the basic training plane fell north of San Antonio.

The great successes which the German communiques, up to Friday, have anticipated in glowing generalities may be predicted on the high command's confidence that the fall of Minsk is imminent.

The delay in announcing details, however, creates the impression that Russian resistance has at least slowed down the time-table.

The Russians appear to have adequate heavy tanks in the area, but the fate of the Red Army will depend in large measure on the Red air force and its ability to stay in the sky.

NEW YORK (AP).—Former president Herbert Hoover said Friday he would discuss the nation's "situation" in a 45-minute broadcast Sunday night from Chicago.

Russia 'Victim of Invasion' Again

Four times in the past 700 years Russia has been the 'victim' of aggression, and Germany is making it a fifth. In her other numerous wars, Russia usually occupied someone else's territory.

British Blast At Nazi Coast Areas

Hitler's Headquarters Claim Big Decision Against Russia Is Won As Muscovites Take New Posts In Lithuania And Polish Sectors

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW (AP).—Abandonment of sectors of its Western "buffer front" as deep as 120 miles within the borders of Greater Russia was indicated Friday night by the Russian high command but the price of Germany's gains was said to be heavy destruction in her armored columns.

Germany pushed her eastern front deeper into Russian territory Friday—according to Russian acknowledgment and German claim—while on her western front, with the coming of European darkness, the RAF blasted at the invasion coast in the 17th consecutive night of raiding.

Informed German quarters, displaying optimism not borne out by any officially published details from the high command, declared that the main decision over Soviet Russia already had been won in victories all along the 1,000-mile active front.

The Russian forces withdrew during Thursday night, said a Moscow communique, and were "effectively reformed for new military operations." The depth of the retirement was not given.

The Vilna-Baranowicz drive, aimed at capture of Minsk, capital of White Russia, out of the western frontier region of old Russia cost the Germans heavily in tanks, pounded into twisted wreckage by planes used as "anti-tank artillery", the Russians claimed.

Minsk is about 400 miles southwest of Moscow.

The new familiar rumble of exploding bombs rolled across the English Channel from the new RAF assault on the invasion coast. The nocturnal foray followed a one-hour daylight raid on the German-held French coast in which Polish pilots were reported to have destroyed three grounded Messerschmitts.

German troops, proclaimed the high command from its field headquarters, have been victorious on all fronts and have made important gains "which will be known shortly."

Elsewhere in the night, quietude, the Moscow communique said. Cessation of operations at night is customary—almost compulsory—in tank warfare, where the vision of the tank driver is limited by a narrow slit in his armor plate.

The Russians indicated that the German threat centered on three main drives: 1. Toward Vilna, northeast of Minsk, capital of White Russia. 2. Toward Baranowicz, southwest of Minsk, and 3. Toward Brody, south of the Pinsk marshes, near the border of the rich Ukraine.

Admit Resistance. Aside from battle line action, Red armies were praised by the Kremlin command for raids on the Rumanian port of Constanta, Bucharest, Rumanian capital, and Ploesti, center of the Rumanian oil fields.

The German command indirectly acknowledged terrific resistance by the Russians. Passage of its daily war bulletin said that the first five days of the struggle proved "that Soviet Russian armies had been ready to attack Central Europe."

However, this was evident from dispositions of Red forces on frontier lines "unsuitable for defensive purposes," the communique said.

Still short of details but long on generalized reports of success against Russia, Germany claimed air supremacy today over the whole of her great eastern invasion front while she sought to mobilize Europe in an anti-Communist, pro-Nazi crusade.

Except for a great battle raging on the plains of Sovietized Poland with the White Russian capital of Minsk in the immediate focus of attack and defense, the Russians said their forces were holding firm on this the sixth day of the titanic struggle.

COPENHAGEN, Occupied Denmark (AP).—The Danish government re-affirmed Friday its policy of non-belligerency but expressed its disapproval of Soviet Russia by breaking off diplomatic relations with Moscow.

Senatorial Candidates Don't Think Houston's Death Will Affect Race; O'Daniel Links Self With Senator

DALLAS (AP).—The second death in Texas senatorial ranks in less than three months brought expressions of sorrow from candidates Friday on the eve of a special election.

Political observers said, however, they expected the death Thursday night in a Baltimore hospital of 86-year-old Andrew Jackson Houston, son of one of Texas' most renowned heroes, to have no effect on the campaign windup.

He was appointed by Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel on April 21, anniversary of the Battle of San Jacinto at which Texas troops, led by Houston's father, Sam Houston, routed forces of the Mexican General Santa Ana.

O'Daniel is confident. Governor O'Daniel, one of a field of 25 candidates in the general election tomorrow, said of Houston in a written statement at Temple Thursday night: "His entire career was spent in the service of his beloved state and nation, and Texas will ever treasure his memory along with that of General Sam Houston, hero of the Alamo and the liberator of Texas."

O'Daniel and the other major senatorial candidates—Martin Dies, chairman of the House Committee investigating un-American Activities; Attorney General Gerald C. Mann, and Congressman Lyndon Johnson—in speeches Thursday night reiterated pledges of all-out aid to the national administration in defense efforts and promised to obtain maximum old-age pensions.

In a campaign speech at Temple, O'Daniel Thursday night appeared confident of his election, declaring it was "a foregone conclusion. The other candidates are just running for the exercise."

The governor asserted that if elected to the Senate he would "stop" (See CANDIDATES, page 5)

Behind The Headlines

While the Germans add up their preliminary returns from the Russian campaign, it is possible to envisage, from those reports which are substantiated by the Russians, something of the nature of this tremendous military movement.

Along the whole Baltic-Black Sea front, the principal danger to the Red Army appears to be the wedge which the German army is pounding toward the Minsk area of White Russia—a wedge preceded by the groping arms of Panzer divisions, and protected on the south flank by the dark morass of the Privet marshes of East Poland.

This movement, and the pincers which are biting into the Baltic states to the north, are designed to encircle and destroy the whole Red Army of northwest Russia, perhaps a million men. There are indications that the Panzers which are feeling the way for the main mass of German soldiery have broken the defenses of the Niemen and are crawling within striking distance of Minsk. This means an advance of well over 100 miles from the east Russian border, through the undulating plain of East Poland.

Minsk, strongly defended, is an important rail center just inside pre-war Russia, 465 miles by rail from Moscow. For purposes of comparison it might be called the Sedan of the Russian campaign, since it may mark the lower corner of the pocket which the Germans have designed for the Reds in the Soviet northwest.

The great successes which the German communiques, up to Friday, have anticipated in glowing generalities may be predicted on the high command's confidence that the fall of Minsk is imminent.

The delay in announcing details, however, creates the impression that Russian resistance has at least slowed down the time-table.

War Chickens Come Home To Roost

The war for whose outbreak Russia flashed the green light by its pact with Germany Aug. 22, 1939, has now come to Russia itself.

This final collapse of the Stalin-Molotov policies of the past 21 months means that the whole world must back off and take a new look at the war.

Hitler's deliberate violation of his 10-year pact with Russia gives new proof—as if any new proof were needed—of his black-hearted perfidy. It now seems clear that he simply sucked the Russians into the pact of 1939 for his own purposes, never intending to keep the pact. Certainly all the objections he now makes to the Russians—that they are imperialistic, that they are trying to disintegrate the German government, and so forth, were true in 1939, are true now, and have always been and will always be true of Russian policy in Germany and in the United States, for that matter.

The Communists have been calling this an imperialist war. So it is, now, in the sense that both Germany and Russia are imperialist, each having grabbed off all the territory it could grab ever since the war broke out.

We in the United States are naturally more interested in how all this affects us. Directly and immediately, it would seem, very little. We are committed to a policy of aid to Britain. We have not yet been able to provide anything like the aid to Britain which she requires.

So any question of aiding Russia is unrealistic. Thanks at least in part to the opposition and obstruction of Communists in America, arms production has not yet reached a point where there is any surplus for Russia. So any debate of direct help for Russia is meaningless. Britain herself can probably do nothing for Russia except to pour it into Hitler in the west. Our interest in her success there remains unchanged.

More direct is the fact that China will now almost certainly be cut off from the Russian aid which has been valuable to her. That means that China will depend more heavily on help from the United States. She should have it.

Whatever is the upshot of the German-Russian war, it can scarcely fail to benefit Britain in her struggle. Win, lose, or draw, in Russia, Germany must lose hundreds of planes and pilots, hundreds of tanks, thousands of trained men. Only quick, complete defeat of Russia could really help Hitler.

Britain gains precious time and breathing space.

The United States, too, gains precious time in which to perfect our own defenses and to make our program of aid to Britain really conclusive. American interest in the war between the two imperialistic dictatorships of Germany and Russia will be proportioned to its effect on the basic struggle between the free peoples of western Europe and Nazism.

The Business Of The United States

Do we learn anything? Do the stern chastisings of fate really guide us from the less worthy to the more worthy? One may hope they do, in the long run.

Justice Frankfurter has set before America the lesson he thinks it should have learned throughout these 20 years that have intervened between wars.

"So completely were the governing minds of America under the powerful illusions of materialism during the Babylonian twenties," he has said, "that a president of the United States could say that 'the business of America is business,' and believe he was uttering a truism. The business of America is civilization."

Business, of course, we must have. It is a necessary part of our civilization. But it is only a part. We owe Justice Frankfurter a debt for reminding us that the task of America is to create a civilization, and create it whole.

The Glorious Fourth is also the Careless Fourth, and the National Safety Council draws on long past experience when it launches a slogan for this year's Independence Day celebrations:

Averages indicate that unless we take unusual care, 475 people are doomed to die in holiday accidents this Fourth of July. It need not be.

Make it a real patriotic holiday—not just an annual deadly jamboree of carelessness.

Texas Farmers Need Dry Weather To Get Into Fields But Ranchmen Look Up With Good Moisture And Prices

By Ledgerwood Sloan Associated Press Staff Writer

A few weeks of dry weather probably would enable Texas farmers to obtain fair incomes from their wheat and cotton despite the unseasonable rains which have retarded greatly what promised earlier in the season to be bumper yields.

Panhandle wheat is standing in muddy fields where combines should be running. The cotton crop is late and planters are preparing to fight an expected unprecedented insect infestation.

Wheat, however, is worth around a dollar a bushel for the first time in years while prospects for 15-cent cotton are considered bright.

In contrast to the harassed farmer, the ranchman faces the brightest prospects in decades with tanks overflowing, livestock fat on excellent ranges and prices for cattle, wool and sheep firm.

Cotton is in poor condition from the blacklands of the Northeast to the lower Rio Grande Valley. Flea hoppers and boll weevils are prevalent with grasshopper and lead worm infestation threatening.

Request Data For First-Aid Course

Midland citizens who have had first-aid or life saving training will register at the police station to enable D. H. Casper, member of the safety and first-aid committee of the Red Cross, to draw up a list of trained first-aid workers in the county.

Casper urged persons who have taken Red Cross first-aid training, Bureau of Mines courses in first-aid and Eagle Scouts to register.

He will instruct a course in first-aid here.

Agency Debates Wool Mills' Differentials

WASHINGTON (AP)—Officials in the Office of Production Management said Friday the OPM had not decided yet whether to give contract differentials to American mills if they used domestic wools in preference to imported wools in filling orders for service uniforms and blankets.

The quartermaster corps at Philadelphia is expected to announce awards of contracts for woolen goods in the next week to ten days, the officials said, and may disclose then whether any differentials will be granted to promote use of wool produced in this country.

Army May Seek To Retain Men

WASHINGTON (AP)—The army may follow the navy's lead in seeking war-time powers to retain in service men whose enlistments have expired.

Army officials, informed sources said, are awaiting the disposition of similar legislation, affecting only the navy, which has aroused opposition within the naval affairs committee from Senator Johnson (R-Calif.) and others.

The committee called Undersecretary of the Navy James V. Forrestal to testify in a closed session Friday and members said he would be questioned about the far-reaching proposal.

As submitted to the committee, the measure would permit the secretary of the navy to order enlisted men now in service to remain at their posts if Congress declared that the national interests were imperiled. All future volunteers for the navy would enlist for the usual six-year period with the provision that they might be kept longer in the service under the same conditions.

Your Immortality Must Be Built Into Other Lives

By R. A. Weaver. 9 For we are God's fellow-workers: ye are God's husbandry, God's building.

10 According to the grace of God which was given unto me, as a wise master-builder I laid a foundation; and another buildeth thereon. But let each man take heed how he buildeth thereon.

11 For other foundation can no man lay than that which is laid, which is Jesus Christ. — 1 Cor. 3.

It has been said that every great institution is but the lengthening shadow of some individual.

The wise master-builder is careful of the material with which he builds and the kind of work contributed to the buildings of the eternal edifice that shall remain in the world to symbolize the individual.

It is not in institutions that man creates the greatest; handiwork; not in organizations, social societies or co-operative schemes. Rather it is in the life and character of individuals wherein man's genius expresses itself in the most eloquent manifestation.

That the builder builds for time and eternity. The institution over-shadows individually and makes nebulous the spark of genius.

The over-soul moves in individuals, and loses its directive force when embodied in elaborate departments or spread over many directorships.

National Secretary Of League Of Women Voters Addresses Midland Women On Thursday And Friday

Official Explains Organization And Functions Of League Is Honored At Coffee Given By Mrs. Hal C. Peck

The League of Women Voters is absolutely non-partisan, Mrs. D. Bailey Calvin, national secretary of the League, pointed out in an address to members of the Midland League and interested visitors at the Hotel Scharbauer, Thursday afternoon.

The organization has as its chief aim to promote political education through active participation of citizens in government.

"Not to amass more knowledge of government, not even to spread it to a greater number of people but to cause more people to use effectively what knowledge they possess seems today to be the unique aim of the League."

It never indorses candidates, Mrs. Calvin pointed out, but the organization does sponsor issues.

The League of Women Voters is comprised of the national, the state, and the local organizations which are interdependent and all equal.

For giving a lift to one's spirits and making life look suddenly bright and interesting, there are few things more effective than receiving a word of greeting from a friend whom one has not seen for months.

As we have said repeatedly in this column, friendship is one of the truly great things of life—one of the exceeding great joys which make the many disappointments and hardships one encounters just unpleasant incidents rather than major catastrophes.

We advocate: Tall glasses of iced tea with a sprig of mint therein on hot summer evenings—delicious and stimulating; blouses of white seersucker with turnback collars; more smiles from everybody in general; applause for the increased habit of regular vacation trips for America of the middle classes.

Manufacturers who are now ensembling cosmetics in small size jars so that milady may try out a related series of products without wrecking her budget thereby are doing something smart for themselves and a good turn for the public.

More power to the idea of such ensembles, say we.

America's Card Authority.

Mary Jo Miller has created an unusual annual tournament in Columbus, O., to determine whether men or women are better bridge players. In their third annual tournament held not long ago, 96 pairs of men competed against 96 pairs of women. Each pair must select a name, and this year it was task to select the prize-winning name from those submitted.

My selection was "Slam and Sluff," and their prize was two bunnies which I had autographed by the outstanding players of country. W. C. Boznan and J. B. Kenney were the prize winners.

Today's hand proved quite a problem to many of the players in the tournament.

Three no trump by South was the contract at most tables. The opening lead was won by the ace of spades and the second by the king. Now most of the South players tackled the long suit, clubs, giving West the first trick. The queen of spades was forced out. Then declarer found he had to lose another club trick, and so lost contract—two spades, two clubs, and the ace of hearts.

Boznan, as South, tried a different plan. He decided that even if the adverse clubs were so split that his suit could be cleared with only one loss, he would still have to guess right how to play it.

So he decided to hope simply for a 3-3 diamond break. On getting in with the spade king, he led low toward the jack of hearts. West won and cleared the spades. Mr. Boznan then knocked out the ace of hearts. He lost two spades and two hearts, but that was all, since the diamond break gave him nine tricks.

Answers to Thursday's questions:

1. Before a sailor may become a sea-going water-dog he must cross the Equator and be initiated by King Neptune into the rites of the Raging Main. He then is no longer a "land-lubber."

2. U. S. sailors like San Francisco better than any port in the United States for leave and liberty.

3. In the old days, when a sailor double-crossed a ship-mate or otherwise proved himself to be a "heel," he was given that terrible sea-going punishment known as "keel-hauling." The victim or subject was made fast to a line, thrown over the side into the "deep six" (ocean), hauled below the surface, under the keel of the ship and up again on the other side. Occasionally the sailor was dead when he reached the deck. Consequently this punishment is now unlawful.

4. There are 6,080 feet in a sea mile. A "knot" is a sea mile per hour. A sea mile represents the length in feet of one minute of longitude at the Equator.

5. Usually when a sailor is placed in solitary confinement in the brig or jail of a ship he is given only "bread and water." For the sake of his health he is allowed one square meal every three days.

That much discussed question—"What is the Death Trap of the Ages," has at last been answered. The live wire who dug up the answer was Roy Roten. The boy he took to the show with him on the tickets won was Bobby Cole. "The Death Trap of the Ages" are the famous La Grea tar pits in Hancock Park, Los Angeles. Forty thousand years ago many strange and

Some of the animals so caught were the great dire wolf, the imperial elephant, the ancient ox, the sabre tooth tiger, the giant ground sloth, the American camel and the American lion. More animals have been preserved in this small area than in any other spot in the world regardless of size.

CIO Machinists Will Return To Shipyards Work

By The Associated Press. The machinists' strike which for 47 days has delayed work on half a billion dollars worth of defense orders at eleven San Francisco Bay shipyards was all but settled Friday.

Six hundred CIO machinists voted Thursday night to go back to work Monday, provided a separate agreement, signed before then. Earlier 1,200 AFL machinists voted to return to their jobs under terms of a master contract covering all major west coast shipyards.

The master contract provided wages of $1.12 an hour and time and one-half for overtime, contrasted with the $1.15 and double overtime demanded by the strikers. The old wage rate was $1 an hour, plus double pay for overtime.

A mass meeting of workers Thursday night apparently moved New York City closer to the reality of a subway strike which would badly cripple the transportation lines of the nation's largest metropolis. Union officials declared 8,000 employees of the municipally operated subway system voted to strike July 1 unless a satisfactory agreement was reached on their demands for a $1-a-day wage raise and adjustments in working hours.

Brock has been at the airport 10 years and will become a commissioned officer in the air corps upon completion of studies at the school.

Summer Term Will Start July 7 Week

A second term of summer school for Midland students will begin July 7, Mrs. Gladys Tolbert, teacher, announced Friday. The present term will end the week after next.

President Proposes More Housing Funds

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Roosevelt has proposed Congress authorize spending of an additional $300,000,000 on defense housing.

This would double the amount approved last October. In a special message to the legislators, Mr. Roosevelt suggested early consideration of his recommendation "in view of the urgency of this matter."

"Data have been presented to me," he said, "which indicate the possibility that the government should be prepared to undertake the construction of at least 125,000 additional defense homes between now and July 1, 1942.

RAF Encounters Less Opposition

LONDON (AP)—Formations of RAF fighters carried out a one-hour raid over the German occupied French coast Friday following the 16th consecutive night bombing attack upon Germany. Explosions sounded through the light-blue haze over Dover Strait.

German anti-aircraft batteries apparently put up heavy barrages. The British fighters later sped back across the channel.

It was reported authoritatively that Polish fighter pilots destroyed three Messerschmitt 109 planes in attacks on German air fields in northern France Friday.

The great naval base at Kiel and the industrial cities of Cologne and Duesseldorf were principal objectives of the night attacks.

Docks and shipyards at Kiel were "heavily bombed," the air ministry said.

In the sweeps over Germany, authoritative sources asserted the RAF was encountering far less anti-aircraft than usual and the belief was expressed in some quarters that this means large amounts of anti-aircraft equipment has been moved to the Russian front.

The air ministry acknowledged the loss of two planes.

German air activity over Britain remained slight.

Dies told an audience at Port Arthur, in his home district, that he would win despite the opposition of "professional, pee-wee politicians." He attacked Johnson for taking credit for Texas defense projects, saying that "anyone who takes the credit for these projects we have should also take the blame for those we didn't get."

Johnson told a crowd in the municipal auditorium at San Antonio that he wanted the votes of those who unqualifiedly followed the National Defense program.

SERIAL STORY

CALIBAN FROM CALEB

BY NORMAN KAHL

COPYRIGHT, 1941, NEA SERVICE, INC.

YESTERDAY: With Castaloni firing at him from the house, Angus dashes back to the truck and starts to pull away, when he gets an idea. He sees the truck through a large French window into Castaloni's room. Castaloni is standing in a doorway pointing a gun at him. Adoreen sneaks up behind the racket chief and raises an iron skillet over his head, just as Castaloni swings around.

PEACE—IT'S WONDERFUL

CHAPTER XII

IT is undoubtedly the sight of that frying pan that unnerves Castaloni. He tries to duck as Adoreen swings the pan down on his head, but he is a little too late. The cast-iron utensil catches him on the back of the head just as he pulls the trigger of his gun.

The bullet rips a hole in the rug, and in the next instant Adoreen clips him behind the knees just as Angus shoves his fist into the racketeer's face. The Borcolli King doesn't look a bit dangerous, lying there on the floor with his eyes closed and his breath coming in loud, even gasps.

"Oh, my goodness," says Adoreen, with a pardonable touch of pride. "Look what I've done."

Adoreen hesitates a second as if she is going to melt, and then her eyes snap back to normal. "Right now we've got to do something about this. Will that truck run?"

"Sure. I guess so. I'll make it run."

It is hard to understand how Angus gets that truck back as far as he does. Maybe the people who see him along the way just don't believe it. Or maybe they don't want to go fooling around with anything they are sure is supernatural.

Anyway, it is not until after Angus and Adoreen have crossed back into Manhattan that they hear the wail of a siren over the rattle of loose tin. It makes no difference to Angus this time if a policeman wishes to converse with him, since he is headed for Inspector Callahan's office anyway.

What Angus isn't expecting is the gun this copper jerks out of his holster and points at him. He has seen enough guns for one day, and it doesn't make him feel any easier that this one has a blue uniform behind it.

"Don't move! Just don't move!" the officer barks and Angus can see that this member of the law is young and that this is probably the first time he has pointed a gun at anyone. "Keep your hands up and come out of there—both of you."

Angus is annoyed. "Wait a minute, Officer. You got this all wrong—"

U. S. Forms Chain Of Commissions To Work Out Economic Problems Of Republics And Perfect Trade Unit

By Peter Edson The Reporter-Telegram Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—A good many unorthodox things may have to be done before this war is over in welding the Americas, North, Central and South, into an economic unit. But one of the more orthodox steps taken in furthering commercial relations between the United States and the 21 southern republics is the formation of a chain of Inter-American Development commissions, one for each country, to study foreign trade needs and the problems of internal economy so that all the countries can help themselves and help each other handicaps of having the pre-war trade channels broken by the messing up of Europe.

Ten of these Inter-American Development commissions have already been set up and are functioning just as fast as they can be organized. Impetus for their creation comes through the Rockefeller Office for Coordination of Commercial and Cultural Relations Between the American Republics, and young Nelson A. Rockefeller is coordinator of the whole movement, with State Department blessing.

A hypothetical case will show how these development commissions will work. Brazil has been exporting increasingly large amounts of raw cotton to Europe. That trade cut off, Brazil decides she needs mills of her own to manufacture cotton goods for local consumption.

The Brazilian Development Commission, made up of Brazilian businessmen and government officials, looks over the project. They determine how much Brazilian capital they can get together, what capacity the mills must have, how much machinery they'll need and where they can get it. If they can't swing the whole proposition themselves, they determined how much foreign capital they'll need. If it can't be obtained privately, maybe Santa Claus money would help, so the proposition is put up to the U. S. Export-Import bank, which was organized with a $75 million capital for just such foreign trade developers as this.

South America Discovers Itself

Another way the development commissions have been working is in promoting more trade between the South American republics themselves. Surprisingly enough these countries are just finding out they can trade with each other.

This trade development work is aided at the United States. Too. Some of the war's most horrible effects have been felt by ye oldie gift shoppers, which used to import whole shiploads of Czechoslovakian glass, carved wood, avarian cuckoo clocks, Austrian cracked crockery and Polish peasant prints. Some of the Rockefeller boys got the idea that South American artists had a lot of native arts and crafts which would fit the vacant shelves on American what-nots. They collected samples and brought them up for U. S. wholesalers to look over.

When the Yankee buyers found some numbers they liked, Ecuadorian beads for instance, they said fine, they'd take 500,000 dozen. This word was relayed back to the trader in Guayaquil, who promptly fainted. When he recovered, he said that in a year he might be able to get 1000 dozen, and the American jobber said, nuts. It wasn't enough to make it worth while.

All this above comes under the head of orthodox trade development. Some of the Rockefeller-engineered deals have been more unorthodox, like the Argentine tinned beef purchase, which, while perfectly justified because the United States can't produce quality canned meats at a price that competes with the South American product, still had all kinds of opposition.

Southern Ice Wins Over Central Club

Team Assumes Lead In Opening Frame And Triumphs 13-10

Southern Ice cooled Central Pharmacy 13-10 Thursday night in a city softball league melee.

The Ice jumped into the lead in the first frame, tabbing five runs, and were never headed.

Central went to bat in the seventh, trailing 7-13, but staged a three-run rally with Montgomery, Cronan, and Clements scoring.

Tables Change For Ruth With Georgia Peach As Opponent

NEW YORK (AP)—Babe Ruth hits 'em a mile off the tee and isn't sure just where they're going, but he was on the spot in a golf match Friday.

Ten years ago when he used a bat and knew approximately where his pokes were coming down, the Babe probably would have giggled at this situation.

But Friday, he had Ty Cobb to whip in the second links meeting of these old baseball warriors, and to admit the Georgia Peach is the better man.

Cobb, whose game is just what Ruth's isn't, downed the Babe 3 and 2 Wednesday at Newton, Mass., in the first match of their series for the benefit of the United Service Organizations.

Jitterbugs And Nazi Organizers Register With Senate Hostess

AUSTIN (AP)—All kinds of people, from jitterbugs to Nazi organizers, visit the capitol, and then ask Mrs. R. H. Ward all kinds of questions.

Mrs. Ward, hostess in the Senate chamber, says jitterbugs are abundant in her register, but the book contains only three Nazi organizers.

They walked into the chamber one summer afternoon a couple of years ago. First to sign was a man who gave his address as Nuremberg, Germany.

With him were a man and woman from Houston who dittoed the "Nazi organizer" entry the first man had written.

Mrs. Ward usually greets visitors with the query, "who is your Senator?"

Half or more of them don't know. The answer has been "Tom Connally" or "Morris Sheppard" on several occasions.

Extensive American naval patrols have added the British, but a source here said the real credit for reducing British tonnage losses goes to Catalina planes and sturdy Corvettes because they now are scouring sea areas the Germans formerly considered safe for submarine operations.

"One result of what were called 'unspectacular but emphatic triumphs' has been to force the Germans to forego the tactics of submarine rendezvous in mid-Atlantic with supply ships, it was asserted.

"Boating flights have driven the U-boats below the surface," this source said. "They no longer are able to hunt in packs and lie in wait on the surface for convoys."

The ugly and menacing Corvettes have borne the main blows in the Atlantic battle. These craft look like a whaler but carry guns enough to down a destroyer and depth charges sufficient to destroy a flotilla of submarines. They have been turned out steadily since July, 1940.

McCarran Will Give Returns Opposition WASHINGTON (AP)—Opposition of eight states to requiring joint income tax returns by husbands and wives has been promised by Senator McCarran (D-Nev).

The Nevada Senator, in a letter Thursday to Chairman Douglas (D-NC) of the House ways and means committee, asserted that the joint return provision was contrary to laws of so-called "community property" states.

The Senator said that in all these states wives and husbands had a community interest in property, income, wages, and salaries and all ways had been able to file separate federal income tax returns. This often results in payment of lower taxes.

SENATE WILL SEND BILLS TO PRESIDENT BY MONDAY WASHINGTON (AP)—The death of Andrew Jackson Houston, 87, and oldest member of the Senate, may bring some delay in the enactment of appropriations and other important bills, but leaders expressed confidence the measures could be dispatched to President Roosevelt before the fiscal year ends at midnight Monday.

Senate leaders decided tentatively to recess out of respect to their late Texas colleague. They said that if this were done, the Senate still could clear up its business in sessions Saturday and Monday.

Stewart May Capture College Golf Tourney

COLUMBUS, Ohio, (AP)—Stanford, Louisiana State, Princeton and Baltimore sent representatives into the 36-hole semi-finals of the 44th National Interscholastic Golf Tourney Friday and any one of the quartet would be a worthy successor to the 1940 king who abdicated in Thursday's quarter-finals.

F. Dixon Broker of Virginia, the blond winner of last year's event, dropped out with a 3 to 1 setback at the hands of Otto Greiner, of the University of Baltimore, and now it looks like anybody's race, with the experts leaning just a bit toward Earl Stewart, Louisiana State's remarkable red-head from Dallas.

To Make Job Easier For Hunters Of Ivory MCKINNEY, Tex. (AP)—Major league ivory hunters in the future will find it much easier combing the country for material, according to a new plan of the National Semi-Pro Baseball Congress announced here Friday by Bessie Largent, baseball's only woman scout.

Under the new plan the leading young ball players in each of the 48 states is to be selected after conclusion of the series of sanctioned state tournaments over the country.

"These 48 outstanding players, none of whom will have had previous experience in professional baseball, will be honored on the 1941 all-American sandlot team and their names turned over to all scouts," Mrs. Largent said.

California Player Reaches Net Finals HAVERFORD, Pa. (AP)—Southern California, which gave the West Coast its last Intercollegiate Tennis Champion when Gene Mako triumphed in 1934, has another challenger in position to claim the title.

He is husky sophomore Ted Olewine, first to reach the finals in the 57th renewal of the National College championship at Merion Cricket Club by overpowering Bill Canning, University of California, 3-6, 6-3, 6-2, 6-3.

Matching strokes with the second-seeded netter in Saturday's contest will be the survivor of Friday's semi-final encounter between top-ranking Jue Hunt of the Navy and Joe Davis of Vanderbilt.

Yankees Continue Winning Streak; Dodgers Advance

Lefty Marius Gage Russo pitched a one-hit game Thursday and New York's Yankees continued their prize hitting streaks as they bounced the St. Louis Browns 4 to 1. Russo held the Browns hitless for six innings. Joe DiMaggio slashed a double into left field to make the 38th straight game in which he has hit safely.

Home runs by Bob Johnson in the first and sixth innings gave the Athletics a 8 to 4 victory over the Detroit Tigers.

Bob Feller was knocked out of the box, but his mates had piled up enough of a lead to give the Cleveland Indians an 11 to 8 win over the Boston Red Sox. Feller was credited with his sixteenth victory of the season.

In the nation's capital, Washington took a 3 to 2 decision over the Chicago White Sox.

The Brooklyn Dodgers battered the Boston Braves 11 to 2, and advanced to a tie with the St. Louis Cardinals for first place in the National League. Other teams in that circuit were idle.

Ball Wins Again In Golf Tourney

WICHITA FALLS (AP)—Mrs. J. H. Ball of Wichita Falls, defending champion remained in the West Texas Women's Golf Tourney Friday by virtue of a narrow victory over unheralded Mrs. W. R. Wissler, also of Wichita Falls, 2 and 1.

Mrs. W. G. Carter of Fort Worth defeated Mrs. Charles Awtrey of Odessa, 1-up on 19 holes. Mrs. F. C. Rochon of Fort Worth eliminated Mrs. Jess Rogers of Amarillo, 4 and 3.

The only upset was provided by Mrs. J. R. Farmer of Abilene, who trounced Mrs. G. I. Phillips of Big Spring, 1 up.

Mrs. Frank Stacy of Midland, playing in the second flight, won over Mrs. L. W. McCroarty of Wichita Falls, by default.
