British Fliers Attack By Hundreds In Series Of Blows On Germans

LONDON (AP)—British warplanes shuttled by the hundreds over the English Channel Tuesday, the throb of their motors persisting like the roar of a dynamo, in an offensive against German objectives in northern France which has continued without letup for the past 24 hours.

Heavy bombers escorted by fighters droned steadily to the attack. Many of them were invisible to ground observers through a channel haze. It was a powerful continuation of widespread thrusts overnight against targets in western Germany, Holland, Belgium and France.

Observers at a southeast coast town reported that the sound of explosions in the operations against France, begun at the channel coast, were growing fainter, and apparently the RAF bombers were moving farther inland to unload.

Fliers said they believed the Germans were hard pressed and were taking new measures with anti-aircraft guns to supplement the efforts of fighter forces depleted for the war against Russia.

Cliff-watchers Monday night saw flashes like gunfire at sea and speculated on the possibility that flag ships, specially armed for anti-aircraft duty with German convoys, were being anchored off the French coast after nightfall under orders to try to knock down some of the British bombers.

Germans made a sharp raid against Southampton during the night.

Marine Officer Will Visit Here

Major J. D. O'Leary, recruiting chief of the Dallas district of the U. S. Marines, said Tuesday there were plenty of vacancies in the Marines for young men between the ages of 17 and 30 years, who are single, and have no dependents.

Men who have registered for selective service, Major O'Leary added, may voluntarily enlist in the Marines for the regular four year period, or those who do not wish to serve a full four years of active duty may enlist in the Marine Corps Reserve for the duration of the national emergency only.

Members of the reserve are not subject to selective service training.

A recruiting officer of the Marines will visit the post offices in the following places, in order that men will not have to travel long distances to recruiting stations: Big Spring, Monday and Tuesday, July 14 and 15; Midland, Wednesday and Thursday, July 16 and 17.

Men accepted at these places will be furnished transportation to the district office in Dallas, where final examinations are held.

City Starts Plan To Curb Water Runoffs

The city Monday started its three-way plan to control runoff waters by digging a valley to divert the water from Missouri and F streets to a Front St. ditching.

Other phases of the plan are construction of a runoff ditch in the west section of the city, and asking ranchers and farmers on several sections west of here to contour lands to prevent waters entering the city limits.

Iceland Occupation Makes British Happy

LONDON (AP)—Occupation of Iceland by United States forces was greeted jubilantly by the British press Tuesday and one paper said the move made the Atlantic Ocean "an Anglo-American lake."

(There was no official comment from Berlin and dispatches from the Nazi capital said the German public had not yet been informed of the action.)

Government officials informally expressed the opinion the United States' action was the inevitable result of her foreign policy and that it probably was the forerunner of other measures.

Ickes Announces 4000 Tank Cars Obtained For East Oil Shortage

WASHINGTON (AP)—In response to an appeal for use of the railroads to move oil into the East, where a shortage threatens, approximately 4,000 railway tank cars have been pressed into this emergency service, Secretary of the Interior Ickes reported Tuesday.

The National Leaguers led throughout the game until the last-inning rally, leading 5 to 3 going into the last frame. Arky Vaughan had collected two home runs to put the senior loop ahead.

Northeast Outpost To Abell Pool In Pecos Is Staked

By Frank Gardner, Editor.

Three-quarter mile northeast outpost to Ordovician production in the Abell pool of Northern Pecos County has been staked by Stanolind Oil & Gas Company as No. 1 Louis Rathjen.

The test is in the center of lot 14, section 26, block 9, H. & G. N. survey. It is three-quarters of a mile northeast of Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 1 J. F. McKee, now preparing to swab for test of Ellenburger, lower Ordovician, pay, and slightly farther northeast of George T. Abell of Midland et al No. 1 E. J. Rixse, producing from the Simpson, middle Ordovician.

Magnolia No. 3 V. W. Crockett, in the northeast part of the pool, recovered 30 feet of drilling mud showing a rainbow of oil and 300 feet of sulphur water when 45-minute drillstem test was made of Ellenburger formation from 5,971-91 feet. At last reports operators were preparing to run electrical survey.

Dunn Drilling Plug.

Sam G. Dunn No. 1 R. L. Moore, one-mile west extension test in the Owyhee area of Southeastern Yoakum County, is drilling plug with cable tools from 5 1/2-inch pipe reported set at 5,281 feet. The well showed oil staining and porosity in cores near total depth of 5,320 feet.

A deep test in the Wasson pool of Southern Yoakum, John W. Murchison No. 1 M. B. Sawyer, is drilling unchanged at 6,245 feet in hard lime.

Ross Sport et al No. 1 J. E. Rice, Lynn County wildcat two miles northeast of New Hope, spudded Monday night and is drilling at shallow depth.

Ward Deep Test Spuds.

Shell Oil Company, Inc. No. 1 Sealy-Smith Foundation, North-eastern Ward County wildcat several miles northeast of Monahans, has drilled to 108 feet in red beds with spudder and is running 1 1/2-inch surface casing. Olson Drilling Company of Tulsa, the contractor, will start building rotary derrick Wednesday. The test is scheduled to go to 11,000 feet unless commercial production, water in the Ordovician, or granite is encountered at a lesser depth.

Amerada Petroleum Corporation No. 1-A Todd, in North Central Crockett, logged slight increase by deepening from 6,160-70 feet in Ellenburger dolomite. It had topped Ellenburger at 6,144 feet. At total depth of 6,170 operators swabbed fluid down 5,900 feet from surface and obtained a rainbow of oil and a small amount of gas. They are preparing to drill ahead with rockbit on tubing.

An Ordovician test in Southeastern Reagan County, Amerada No. 1-RA University, is drilling in shale and lime at 8,225 feet.

Redmond, Greene et al No. 1 Iowa Realty Trust, Pecos deep wildcat two miles north of the Heiner Ordovician area, is drilling past 4,980 feet, reportedly still in Permian lime.

Andrews Wildcats.

Texas Pacific and Seaboard No. 1-C Midland Farms Company, Southeastern Andrews County wildcat 18 miles northeast of Midland, is drilling in lime and anhydrite at 4,664 feet.

Magnolia No. 1-20-38 B. B. Ralph, Northwestern Andrews deep test, is drilling unchanged at 6,342 feet in lime.

The same firm's No. 20 State-Walton, Northern Winkler County deep test, had reached 6,371 feet in fossiliferous lime.

Reports Anxiety For Missing Detachment

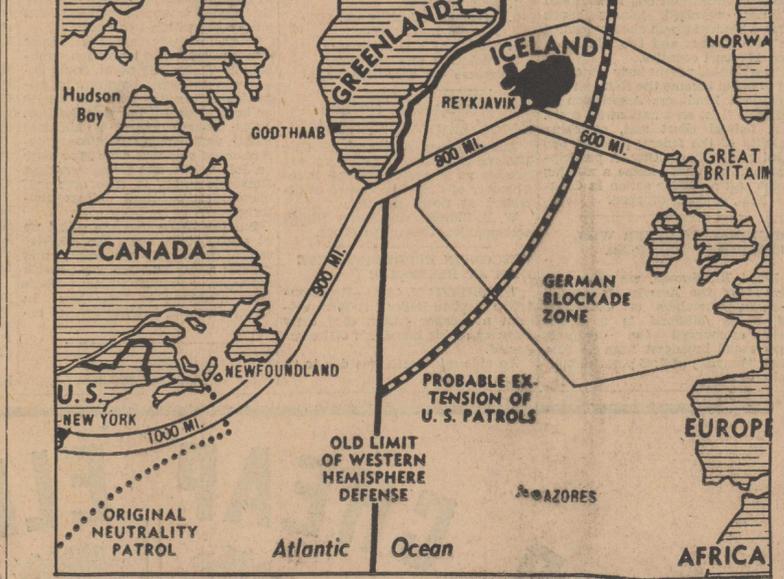

LONDON (AP)—A reliable source said Tuesday that United States representatives in London are anxious concerning a detachment of American Red Cross nurses which is overdue in Britain.

These nurses form part of an original group of 65 who sailed from the United States for the Red Cross Harvard Hospital in Britain.

quickly and thus release them for other service. He asserted that "the principal bottleneck" resulted from "the habit of taking too much time in unloading and the failure to return cars promptly."

The American Petroleum Institute estimated there were approximately 20,000 surplus tank cars in the United States the middle of May. This number already has been reduced 20 per cent by the emergency movement of oil, Ickes said.

Cartridge Firm Disputants Will Negotiate Again

By The Associated Press

Disatisfied smokeless powder workers and their employers agreed to resume contract negotiations today at the Alton, Ill., plant of the Western Cartridge Company, which holds $8,468,000 in government munitions orders.

While the National Defense Mediation Board won the approval of company and union officials for resumption of the bargaining at the strike-threatened factory, there were other important developments in the field of defense labor:

1. The war department estimated that only 144,620 man-days had been lost on army contracts due to strikes in the last half of June, compared with 377,700 lost in the first half of the month.

2. The Office of Production Management announced that labor committees would be established soon in every major industry, in an effort to avert unemployment caused by shifting manufacturing emphasis from consumer goods to armaments. In this connection, Douglas Brown, a Princeton University professor, was appointed chief of the priorities branch of the OPM labor division.

Another dispute pending before the mediation board involves the demands of a CIO union for recognition as a bargaining agent at the Scullin Steel Company, St. Louis. The company makes bomb casings and employs about 2,200 workers.

Texas Oil Production Down 207,000 Barrels

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—With the heaviest decline in Texas, daily crude oil production in the United States decreased 211,550 to 3,648,720 barrels for the week ended July 5, the Oil and Gas Journal said Tuesday.

Texas production was off 207,550 to 1,220,700; East Texas, 72,700 to 300,600; California, 13,250 to 614,500; Illinois 6,740 to 339,460 and Louisiana 10,985 to 315,020.

Russians Fend Off Blows At Big Line

VICHY, Unoccupied France (AP)—Military circles in Vichy reported Tuesday that the German drive against the Stalin Line had been virtually stopped for four full days.

By The Associated Press

Soviet Red armies were reported holding the Germans at bay along a 600-mile front of river defenses Tuesday, out in front of the main Stalin Line, and crushing repeated Nazi attempts to break through en route to Moscow.

A Russian war bulletin placed the scene of the heaviest fighting on a tight-stretched line running almost due north and south, between Ostrov, on the Latvian frontier, and Mogilev Podolski, on the Dnepr River at the Bessarabian border.

The communique said Soviet troops clashed with German tanks and motorized forces in the Ukraine sector of Novograd Volynski and, further south, struck in "a decisive counter-attack on the flank and rear of the enemy," annihilating two Nazi infantry regiments.

The Soviet high command said the Germans had been routed in a series of attempts to storm across the Dnepr River, in a drive toward Moscow, but conceded that on the northern front the Nazis had approached within 75 miles of Leningrad.

Blazing heat engulfed the entire battlefield.

Tersely, Adolf Hitler's field headquarters made his own comment on the 17-day-old invasion:

"Operations on the eastern front are proceeding on schedule."

In past campaigns, German communications have been similarly brief when huge-scale operations were in a fluid, developing state.

The Russians declared the Germans were suffering enormous casualties and that gains along the 2,000-mile front were slight.

Tass, the official Soviet news agency, reported 1,300 German troops were killed and wounded in a five-hour fight for a single village.

Tass asserted that 7,000 Nazis were killed and wounded and 1,500 others surrendered when Soviet tanks trapped a column of German infantry in a penetration of Russian lines.

The Red Army's high command specifically mentioned only the destruction of some 5,000 German soldiers.

Doesn't Claim Break

By contrast, the Berlin radio reported the capture of an additional 142,216 Russian prisoners between July 2 and 5, along with 584 Soviet tanks and armored cars.

Chancellor Hitler's field headquarters still made no claim to a break in the Stalin line, but DNB, the official German news agency, said Nazi troops stormed and captured a series of strongly-fortified bunkers at an undesignated point on the main Soviet defense system.

The Red Army's high command, in reporting the rout of German troops attempting to cross the Dnepr River, on the central front declared 35 heavy tanks and two infantry battalions were destroyed.

In the fields of the Western Ukraine, the Moscow war bulletin said, the German regiments were wiped out.

On the Bessarabian front, the Russians said German and Rumanian troops had either been destroyed or "thrown back from Soviet territory" by a Red counterattack.

Circles Predict Occupation Will Prevent Nazi Pincers On Britain

Behind The Headlines

By DeWitt MacKenzie.

With the swelling of the great battles along the Stalin line, British newspapers are demanding that England invade the continent while Hitler is occupied with his Russian conquest.

Such a suggestion must create considerable apprehension among Allied supporters (or so it seems to me) until it is made clear that no big-scale operation of this sort is intended.

If hit-and-run land-raids on strategic points is what the press has in mind, then it would appear that they might be carried out with good results. Any attempt to stage a major infantry invasion of the continent at this juncture, however, would be fraught with great peril.

The Russian war notwithstanding, Hitler's position is still too strong to warrant any such attack.

Quite another story might grow out of the adventure of comparatively small British descents along the continental coast for quick raids. Take, for illustration, the great German base at the port of Brest where, incidentally, the Nazi battleships Scharnhorst and Gneisenau have been tied up.

British Are Impatient.

That would be a hard nut to crack, but a carefully prepared raiding expedition might be able to do great damage and make a get-away. Multiply this raid by many at other places and you have something worth while—both materially and as regards enemy morale. Actually, the British have been making small sorties onto the continent for a long time, but the press may be right in thinking that this is an opportune moment for extending these.

The anxiety of Britons to get ahead with the titanic job they have on hand is quite understandable. Still, they must bide their time to try to take Herr Hitler's measure by wholesale invasion.

If the Allies are eager for land offensives there is plenty of opportunity in the crucial Middle and Near East. The campaign against Italian Libya, for instance, is crying out for liquidation. There are the important Syrian and Iraq campaigns to be finished quickly to safeguard Allied interest against the Nazis in event they defeat Russia.

Then too, India must be prepared for possible action—a colossal job which must be done on the jump.

Corps Officers To Be Assigned

WASHINGTON (AP)—The War Department disclosed Tuesday all air corps reserve officers, not already on active duty and whose civilian occupations are not of primary importance to the defense program, were being ordered to extended active duty.

The actual number thus summoned "will not be made public," the department said, but indications were that it ran into several hundred and that possibly less than 10 per cent of the air officers would be left in civilian life.

By August 1, the department said, all available officers of this branch are scheduled to be on duty.

Ickes Denies Refusal Caused Aluminum Lag

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary Ickes denied emphatically Tuesday that refusal of the interior department to supply more electric power to the Aluminum Company of America had caused a lag in aluminum production.

A House military subcommittee, discussing the company's failure to get more power from Bonneville Dam, had observed that "a squabble at this time on the subject of monopoly is a tragic and sorry spectacle, indeed."

Byrnes Takes Oath For Court Justice

WASHINGTON (AP)—James F. Byrnes was sworn in at the White House Tuesday as an Associate Justice of the Supreme Court.

Before an assembly of officials, friends, and members of his family the former senator from South Carolina took the oath of office in President Roosevelt's office. The oath was administered by an old friend, Chief Justice Richard Whaley of the United States Court of Claims.

Rome Says Occupation Is Real Intervention

ROME (AP)—Rome political circles Tuesday said the arrival of American forces at Iceland "constitutes real and true intervention in European waters."

Italy learned of the occupation with "perfect calm and quiet," correspondents were told in political circles at noon, Italian papers had not yet published the news.

Iceland Outpost May Be Largest U. S. Garrison

WASHINGTON (AP)—Iceland, the nation's newest defense outpost, appeared likely Tuesday to claim one of the largest United States garrisons overseas—if not the largest.

Latest army figures fix the total of present overseas garrisons at 118,700 troops. The disposition of these forces was not revealed, but Hawaii, presumably the most strongly manned post, had 40,000 soldiers in May for maneuvers.

Official information on the size of the British force now occupying Iceland comes under the head of a military secret, but seamen who touched recently at the island estimated it at about 80,000 men—a figure which some military sources believe is not excessive, considering the fact that the occupying force would have to be large enough to discourage a German attempt to capture the island.

Informed opinion was that the American garrison would be at least equal to the strength of the British force it will eventually relieve.

In requesting American occupation, Prime Minister Hermann Jonasson of Iceland specifically asked that the garrison "be strong enough to meet every eventuality," President Roosevelt, on his part, promised that it would be.

British Advance On Three Fronts

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—Advances on three Syrian fronts and successful mopping up operations behind Australia, the big topic of discussion in Congress, and promised to remain so for some time. Specifically, much interest attached to President Roosevelt's order to the navy to keep the sea lanes between Iceland and the United States "free of all hostile activity or threat thereof."

Inasmuch as part of this vast area has been a hunting ground for Nazi surface and subsurface raiders, the question arose whether the order meant "you may fire when ready Gridley" where hostile sea action was encountered.

Help For Russia Proceeds Rapidly

WASHINGTON (AP)—Acting Secretary of State Sumner Welles said Tuesday that plans for American aid to Soviet Russia were proceeding rapidly and effectively.

Welles said that Constantine Oumansky, the Soviet ambassador, had conferred with him and with Assistant Secretary Dean Acheson on plans to place Soviet orders in this country and that they were now down to the point of discussing details.

In reply to reporters' questions Welles said the United States had received no official information substantiating reports that Japan might establish a "safety zone" around Japanese islands which would cut off Vladivostok, the only Far East port through which Russia could import American supplies.

Commission Will Hold Bus Hearing

The Texas Railroad Commission will conduct a hearing in Midland at 9 a. m. Wednesday at Hotel Scharbauer on the application of All-American Bus Lines for a certificate to haul passengers between intra-state points, Texarkana to El Paso through Midland.

Southwestern Greyhound Lines, which holds a certificate for interstate service through here, will be represented.

No decision will be announced here.

All American Lines seeks to establish a new schedule of fares with a 25 per cent reduction in rates if the application is granted.

Germany Prepares Troops For Russians

BERLIN (AP)—German infantry was believed in Berlin Tuesday night to be engaged in the bitterest fighting yet encountered in the assault upon Russia's Stalin Line defenses, and there were reports that fresh troops were preparing a new surprise for the Soviet defenders.

Military Source Says Germany Would Sever British Supply Lines

WASHINGTON (AP)—The occupation of Iceland by United States armed forces was described in administration circles Tuesday as a step intended to thwart a vast German pincers movement on Great Britain's indispensable supply lines.

This pincers movement, extending from the Equator to the Arctic, would have as its immediate objective the cutting off of Britain from all overseas supplies, including lease-lend shipments, but an informed military authority pointed out that an operation of such magnitude constituted a logical prelude to an attempt at invading England.

Should an invasion be successful, he said, the Reich would be in position for a pincers campaign against the Western Hemisphere—the threat President Roosevelt mentioned yesterday when he notified Congress that United States naval forces had landed in Iceland as the occupation vanguard.

Big Topic In Congress

Administration supporters generally seemed to take this long range view, for they spoke of the occupation as a defense precaution and endorsed it as such. Opposition legislators, however, were apprehensive and voiced fear that the action might lead to war.

The move and its full significance—was the big topic of discussion in Congress, and promised to remain so for some time. Specifically, much interest attached to President Roosevelt's order to the navy to keep the sea lanes between Iceland and the United States "free of all hostile activity or threat thereof."

Inasmuch as part of this vast area has been a hunting ground for Nazi surface and subsurface raiders, the question arose whether the order meant "you may fire when ready Gridley" where hostile sea action was encountered.

LASTING JOY SOARS FAR ABOVE SENSUALITY COMMON TO MEN AND BEASTS: For the kingdom of God is not eating and drinking, but righteousness and peace and joy in the Holy Spirit. —Romans 14:17.

The Alaska Road

For more than a year it has been clear that the Alaska road should be built. Had it been started promptly, it might almost have been completed by now. But it is still in the talk stage. Russia and Japan, both of the near neighbors of Alaska on the west, are now at war. Within a matter of weeks, developments may come in northeastern Asia that will make Alaskan defense even more important than it is now. Suppose Japan seizes the opportunity, in the true Axis tradition, to stab in the back a Russia being beaten to its knees by the German onslaught. Then the Russian aviation and naval bases which lie almost within sight of American territory in Alaska would be in Japanese hands. Suppose Germany completely beats Russia, and moves eastward to the Pacific; then we would have the Nazis directly across the narrow channel where Asia and North America say "Hello!" at the Diomed Islands. Suppose Russia beats Germany, and, swollen with power, turns on Japan, taking over more of eastern Asia than she now has, building more bases on the "short line across the top of the world" that leads to America?

Any of these things could happen; and none of them would make Alaska any safer. Our new Alaskan bases are being rushed, and splendid progress is being made in equipping them. But the whole vast territory is almost entirely dependent on ships for support, both in a military and in a civil sense. Ships are getting scarce; they may be scarcer before this war is over.

The Alaska road is being urgently advocated by Chairman Magnuson of the International Highway Commission, by Delegate Diamond of the Territory of Alaska, by Brig. Gen. S. B. Buckner, in charge of military affairs of the territory, and by eminent Canadian authorities.

It might well make the difference between holding this vital outpost of North America and losing it. It would be an expenditure, unlike most military expenditures, of infinite value in opening up the territory in time of peace.

It is the kind of job, like building the Panama Canal, that is right down the American alley. Well, what are we waiting for?

America Needs All Her Strength

Sometimes we Americans forget one thing that sets us apart from every other country on earth. It is this: we are a people made up of many peoples. In that lies strength, not weakness.

In European countries where there is a mixed population, one strain usually dominates. Others are always less than equal to this dominant strain, always made to feel that they fall short in an effort to adjust themselves to a mold. Most often they are whipped and jammed by force into that unwelcome mold; of late years those esteemed not to fit have been simply murdered.

That is not the American way. Here there is no dominant strain. There is, perhaps, a majority strain, but it cannot be a "dominant" strain in the European sense as long as the rights of minorities are protected.

Minorities of racial, religious, cultural strains which differ from that of the majority are not made to feel that they are at best inferior imitations of the majority norm.

We glory in our differences, and we feel that in them is strength, for each group has something definite to contribute. The sum of those contributions must be greater than any accomplishment by a single inbred group which shuts a lid down on the abilities of others. The thing that binds all together in the United States is not a phony racial doctrine, but the joyous and spontaneous loyalty of diverse peoples who have learned to live together, and found it good.

In the defense effort, equal opportunities to help should be extended so far as practicable to all, not as a grudging concession to a moral principle, but as a practical recognition of the practical fact that all are equally needed.

The test is not, "Who are you?" but "What can you do?" It is wise and right that America, fostering mother of a hundred races, religions, and peoples, should call on all alike to defend her.

That is our strength. Let us use it.

It's not the heat. It's not the humidity. It's the relentless talking about 'em that gets us down. Suppose it IS hot? Does it make it any cooler to wag the jaws 18 hours a day moaning about it?

Did it ever cool you off any to have some perspiring friend greet you with, "Well, is it hot enough for you?" For us, that only adds to the general calorificity a self-generated band of heat just beneath the collar.

What to do about the heat? Take it easy, don't go in for foolish excesses of food, drink, or exercise, and talk about something else for a change!

Farmers Revolt Against Penalty

ENID, Okla. (AP)—A group of Oklahoma farmers joined groups in two other states Tuesday in a revolt against an AAA penalty of 49 cents a bushel on excess wheat.

Farmers in 13 northwest Oklahoma counties and one in southern Kansas organized, joining hands with a kindred group already formed in nine Kansas and two Oklahoma and Missouri counties.

The Kansas parent body announced it would become the National Agricultural Producers Association to wage its fight on a nationwide scale.

Sees Quick Action On Two Measures

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Sponsors of double-barreled legislation to defer men over 28 from selective service and to empower the administration to prevent work stoppages in defense plants predicted Tuesday that Congress would complete action on the bill within two weeks.

They forecast that the House would approve the legislation, probably by Wednesday night. Some delay was foreseen, however, in adjusting differences with the Senate on both phases of the proposed law.

The Senate passed a bill last month authorizing discretionary deferment of men who were 28 or older on July 1, 1941, and giving President Roosevelt power to take over and operate strike-bound defense factories.

But the House measure called up at noon, would make the selective service deferment mandatory and provide a way to block any possible attempts to prevent willing workers from returning to their jobs in struck factories holding defense orders.

Secretary Of State Says Vote Canvass Means Up To Board

AUSTIN, (AP)—Whether official canvassing next Monday of certified U. S. Senatorial election results from counties will be done in public or behind closed doors is a matter to be determined by the state election board in the opinion of William Lawson, secretary of state.

Lawson, an appointee of Governor W. Lee O'Daniel and member of the board with O'Daniel and Attorney General Gerald C. Mann, expressed the opinion Monday in answer to a question.

Mann, who with O'Daniel was a candidate in the election, was reported on vacation.

Cites Irregularities. Interest in the canvass ran high because of a slim 1,095-vote margin held by O'Daniel over Congressman Lyndon Johnson on the basis of unofficial tabulations of more than 500,000 votes.

KRLH Returns To Radio Schedules

KRLH introduced its first broadcast with a new transmitter plant at 6 a. m. Tuesday.

The station expected to go on the air from the new plant Monday morning but sanction from the Federal Communications Commission was not received until 7:45 p. m. that day.

The Mutual Broadcasting System of which the Midland station is a member gave two national salutes to KRLH Monday.

It Happens In Regulation

By The Associated Press. CAMP ROBINSON, Ark.—Soldiers are drafting their girl friends for a new defense service now.

The movement was started by the Covered Wagon, 35th division newspaper. It established a "keep 'em happy" club. The young ladies who join promise to refrain from mentioning dates with other men in their letters to the fellows in uniform.

The publication printed application blanks. Troopers mailed them to sweethearts at home. Many signed forms were returned quickly. Sponsors hope the organization will become nationwide.

"All we ask of our girls," the newspaper stated, "is that they stay our girls. By doing this they will boost soldiers' morale and aid national defense."

"To this end we are offering a slogan and a club based on the national 'keep 'em flying' catchword. 'Keep 'em flying,' we say, but 'keep 'em happy,' too."

Soldier Confuses Medics. FORT MONROE, Va.—When a private complained—for the 20th time—of imaginary ills, physicians at the post hospital gave him a vile but harmless potion.

But the medics amusement turned to amazement when he came back the next day and said, "I'd like another dose of that medicine. It's the only thing that ever did me any good."

All-For-One Spirit. JEFFERSON BARRACKS, Mo.—Modern musketeers have an all-for-one and one-for-all spirit, too.

The statutes for the new Catholic chapel are being made by private Martin Pucetti, a Catholic.

He is being assisted by private Benjamin Kaplan, a Jew. Their workshop is in the basement of the home of Capt. Noel T. Adams, the Protestant chaplain.

Schools Will Receive $33,000,000 In Funds

AUSTIN, (AP)—Texas' public schools will receive a contribution of approximately $33,750,000 from the state during 1941-42 on the basis of a $22.50 per capita scholastic apportionment.

The state board of education Monday fixed the apportionment at the limit set by law and unchanged from the current figure.

All but a small amount of this year's apportionment has been paid and education department officials said there would be sufficient revenue to provide a balance.

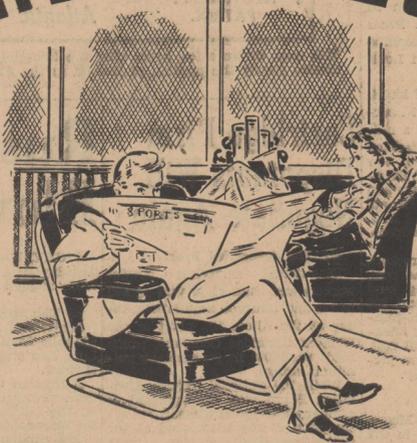

Census figures show the state has approximately 1,500,000 scholastics between the eligibility ages of six and 18.

We, the Women

By Ruth Millett

Men are much more likely to back you into a corner and bore you to death talking about themselves than are women. That is the opinion of a business man who, in the course of earning his living, has to be a good listener and let his clients, however, long-winded, have their say.

Of course, women have always known this. But it is unusual to find a man honest and fair-minded enough to admit it.

Maybe women would enjoy talking about themselves just as much as men enjoy giving their own case histories from the first job to the present one—but, says this observing business man, they aren't generally ruthless enough to make a stranger listen to them indefinitely.

Women Are More Considerate

A man is. And he's also usually conceited enough to think that the story of his life, however drab and ordinary, is of the stuff of which adventure stories are made.

He is also just as sure that his opinions on world events are infallible, and so when he finishes talking about himself, if he ever does, he can go right into a political or economic monologue and tell his unwilling listener exactly what is wrong with the way every big shot in the country is handling his business.

Of course, he probably hasn't made much of a success of his own career. But he doesn't remember that when he is saying "What he ought to do—" about someone else.

Women, this business man has found, are much less likely than men to bore strangers with the details of their own lives. And when they offer their views on world events, they usually do it in a rather humble manner.

And it's a rare woman, he has discovered, who won't give the other person a chance to do half the talking.

Why Women are Reputed Such Talkers

He thinks, too, that women are more sensitive than men to the fact that a listener is getting bored and fidgety and wondering how to break away.

Probably the reason that women have always been considered such talkers is simply that men, wanting to do all the talking themselves, have resented it so every time a woman horned in on the conversation. That's why they really believe women never give them a chance to get a word in edgewise.

Prepare Shrimp, Salmon For Ideal Summer Dishes

By Mrs. Gaynor Maddox
NEA Service Staff Writer

Shrimp is an all-American seafood favorite. So is salmon. For summer meals these and other canned fish make good protein dishes at moderate cost and without extra kitchen work:

CHINATOWN SHRIMP
(Six servings)

One can shrimp, 5 ounces, or 1/2 pound fresh shrimps, 4 strips bacon, 2 tablespoons minced onion, 3 tablespoons melted butter, 1 cup grated American cheese, 5 cups cooked rice, 1 1/2 teaspoons salt, 1/2 cup coarsely chopped salted peanuts.

Clean and remove black vein from shrimps. Brown diced bacon and onion in a 1 1/2-quart heat-resistant glass saucepan with removable handle until onion is tender, about 5 minutes over low heat. Add butter, cheese, rice, shrimps and salt. Cook until heated throughout, stirring constantly. Remove handle. Serve in saucepan. Peanuts are to be sprinkled on top.

TULIP TOMATOES FILLED WITH SHRIMP
(Six servings)

Six tomatoes, 1 cup finely diced celery, 1 can canned shrimp (2 No. 1 cans), 1/3 cup mayonnaise, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, dash cayenne pepper.

Cut tomatoes in sixths with sharp knife, cutting through outside of tomatoes, and just enough so that each section can be pulled back to form a petal. Combine diced celery, canned shrimp (save 6 whole shrimp for garnish) and mayonnaise, lemon juice and cayenne pepper. Chill. Sprinkle inside of tomatoes with salt. Fill with shrimp celery mixture. Garnish with whole shrimp.

SALMON RING
(Eight servings)

One cup flaked salmon (fresh or canned), 3/4 cup bread crumbs, 1/2 cup cream, 3 eggs, salt, pepper, 1 pint cream sauce.

Mix salmon and bread crumbs. Add cream, unbeaten yolks of eggs, one at a time. Season, then add stiffly beaten whites of egg. Put into well-buttered, paper-lined ring mold. Place in pan of hot water and bake 1/2 hour. Serve with cream sauce poured into center and over entire ring.

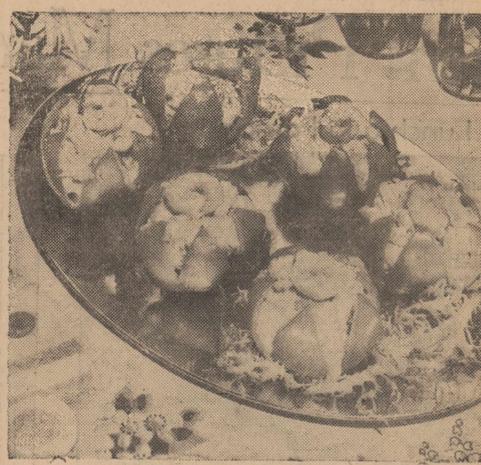

MENU

BREAKFAST: Sliced oranges, toasted oatmeal bread, boiled eggs, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Tulip tomatoes filled with shrimp, potato chips, hot biscuits, fruit cookies, tea, milk.

DINNER: Salmon ring, steamed rice, peas, cucumber salad, orange-coconut cake, coffee, milk.

Delightful To See—Delicious To Taste

CITIZENS OF MIDLAND, ATTENTION!

Hearing at Scharbauer Hotel 9 A. M. Wednesday, July 9th. For further information visit Room 402, Scharbauer Hotel, tonight.

All American Bus Lines want to furnish you additional service at lower price

All American Bus Lines, now operating between Gainesville and El Paso, via Dallas, over Highways 77 and 80, have applied to the Railroad Commission of Texas for permission to carry local passengers in its interstate buses along those highways at fares approximately 25 per cent below those charged by Greyhound between points along Highway 80—the Greyhound MONOPOLY DIVISION. If the petition of All American is denied, West Texas citizens will LOSE those LOWER FARES, FREE MEALS and FREE PILLOWS which All American provides. They will continue to PAY MORE than citizens in other parts of Texas.

Why should not All American Bus Lines be permitted to carry passengers locally at low fares on this highway over which its buses run every day?

All American Bus Lines Will Furnish Additional Service Not Now Enjoyed—All of Which is a Convenience And Necessity.

ATTEND HEARING WEDNESDAY

A Railroad Commission hearing on the All American application will be held in Midland, Texas, Wednesday, July 9th. You are invited to attend and join in the appeal for additional service and lower rates. Over 4,000 citizens of West Texas already have expressed in writing their approval of the request of All American Bus Lines for permission to give this LOW COST BUS SERVICE.

Opening—♣ 4.

By William E. McKenney
America's Card Authority.

The majority of players today are using strong no trumps; that is, their original bid of one no trump is not made with a weak hand. Of course, there are some players who advocate the weak no trump with freak distribution, but the majority have a good sound hand when they bid one no trump originally.

This does not mean that you should necessarily bid one no trump with a strong hand. There should be a definite advantage to your side in opening the bidding with one no trump. Your hand should have even distribution—personally I like 4-3-3-3.

While the South hand shown today has plenty of strength and the proper distribution, an opening bid of one no trump may prevent him from getting into the proper contract. He will do better to start with one club and then force on the next round.

Over a no trump opening by South, North will be hard put for a good response. Even if he chooses two clubs, it will be difficult to reach the club slam, because North will imagine South's raises assume that North has some high club honor. But when South opens with one club, there is time to find out that the club holding on both sides is very strong, and that South's great rebid strength plus North's strong pattern are sufficient for the slam.

Election Probe Gains Favor In Widened Circles

DALLAS (AP)—Investigation of the recent special senatorial election in Texas was indicated in two quarters Tuesday.

R. A. Weinert, chairman of the state Senate's standing investigation committee, said Monday night at Seguin that the committee would convene in Austin next Monday, if not before, to make any necessary inquiry into the election won on the basis of unofficial returns by Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel by a slim margin over Congressman Lyndon Johnson.

E. B. Germany announced at Dallas that as chairman of the state Democratic executive committee he had telegraphed U. S. Senator Guy M. Gillette and Weinert asking an Investigation of the Election Asks Writer's Appearance

Gillette was chairman of a committee for investigating election campaigns which went out of existence several months ago after making its final report on the 1940 election. A new committee will not be created until the 1942 campaigns.

Germany, who supported O'Daniel in the senatorial campaign, said his telegram to Gillette asked a "thorough investigation of the campaign expenditures and the conduct of the campaign and election by all the candidates and their campaign managers and election officials."

Weinert declared he had requested Drew Pearson, Washington columnist, to appear before his committee and tell what he knows of the election.

Father Hickey was preceded by five brothers who became priests and six sisters, now nuns. A cousin also was ordained a priest a short time ago.

RARE COPY EXHIBITED OF NATIONAL ANTHEM

PHILADELPHIA (UP)—Part of 75-year-old W. Ward Beam's legacy to his daughter, Camilla, is a yellowed copy of the National Anthem known to be extant.

The first edition of the Star Spangled Banner was displayed here during the annual celebration of Flag day.

"I've been offered $1,000 for the song," Beam said, "but I won't sell it."

Lawn Seeded; Radishes Fine

DECATUR, Ind. (UP)—Charles Ehinger wanted luxuriant lawn. So he sowed his yard with a good grade of grass seed. The seed met his expectations. It produced a luxuriant crop of radishes.

NAVY MEN IN "PALACES"

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—Six thousand naval men are to be housed in "palaces" on Treasure Island during their training period. The navy bought the former exhibition palaces of the Golden Gate International exposition on Treasure Island, in San Francisco Bay, for $125,000.

BUDS AHEAD OF NEWS

LIBBY, Mont. (UP)—If all started when Mrs. Harold Gompf telephoned the local newspaper and said her peony bush had 88 buds. The paper hardly had been distributed when Mrs. E. E. Erickson counted 233 buds—little ones barred—on her bush. W. W. Dexter's bush boasted 303 and the plants—and stories—still were budding.

GIRL STUDIES AS VETERINARY

STURGIS, Mich. (UP)—A few years ago the two pet dogs of Jean McCallum died because there was no veterinary available to treat them. That decided her on her career. Joan now is in the third year of a five-year course at Michigan State—studying veterinary science.

JAIL OPEN, HE WALKS OUT

BERLIN, Md. (UP)—Berlin police couldn't understand now William West escaped from the city jail, until the prisoner stopped Sheriff J. William Hall on the street and gave himself up. "I didn't escape," West said, "the door was left open by someone and I just walked away."

NEW YORK (AP.)—A light shot of inflationary stimulus, combined with undisturbing repercussions from the United States occupation of Iceland, gave Tuesday's stock market another fast forward push to the best levels since last January.

SERIAL STORY

ANOTHER MAN'S WIFE

BY DONNA ASHWORTH

YESTERDAY: Ann is thrilled to find her father. He comes to see her, learns that like her mother, she is marrying a man from a proud, old family. The introduction of John Marshall as Ann's father brings an invitation to tea from Ken's mother.

JANET RETURNS

CHAPTER IX

THE black coupe rolled down the avenue through the late afternoon sunshine. Ken Richards smiled as he drove.

"Janet Carstairs is back in town." Ann spoke quickly, for she had to know what Ken would say, remembering that morning in New York five months ago when she had seen them together.

Ken had explained everything about how he had once been engaged to Janet, but the engagement had been broken. He hadn't really cared for the girl. They had found definitely they were not suited to each other. She had gone to California and he hadn't seen her until that morning in New York when he had met her by accident. But now she was back in Farmington.

"Janet?" He turned sharply, as if startled. "Who told you?"

"Did he care? The thought leaped at her. He had told her that Janet didn't mean anything, but he had seemed rather elated about being with her that morning in New York.

"The girls were talking about her at the party this afternoon. They said she was going to be at the Country Club dance tonight. Is she awfully pretty, Ken?" She mustn't let him know that she had seen Janet so clearly that morning, that she had seen too much to forget.

"Beautiful." He said the word quickly. "But not so beautiful as you, Ann. You aren't worried about her, are you?"

"Worried?" She frowned a little. "No, I haven't thought of it like that. I only thought it might be a little unpleasant with her here, you know. Sometimes things get complicated. As if Jerry were here, for instance."

"That would be entirely different. I wasn't ever married to Janet. Don't worry, darling."

He swung the car into the driveway of the old-fashioned white colonial house. The grass was green. Long shadows from the trees made the lawn look inviting.

A moment later, with his kiss still warm against her lips, she stood on the steps, watching his car disappear down the street. Turning abruptly she moved into the house, looking with faintly smiling eyes at the interior, at the gleaming floors, the shining mirrors, the lovely old furniture, the mellow rugs.

"Hello, darling!" Sally called cheerfully. "I thought you'd bring Ken in."

ANN turned from the hall into the living room, looking at it with speculative eyes. It was altogether perfect, rare and lovely old furniture—the sheen of an old silver tea service, everything as she had hoped it would be. Just as Ken had pictured this home.

"No, he had to go." She dropped down in a chair beside the tea service, pulling off her gloves and flipping them impatiently across her knees. "Janet Carstairs is in town, Sally. You remember—the girl who used to go with Ken?"

"You're not afraid, Ann?"

The question came darting through the shadowy room.

"Afraid!" She said the word sharply. "Yes, I think I am. That's what Ken meant, only he said 'worried.' But I am worried and afraid. I wish she hadn't come."

"Have some tea, my pet," Sally poured it swiftly. "And I'll give you something else to worry about. I just had a letter from Mary and she was telling me about Jerry. She said Ruth Eustace is figuring on marrying him just as soon as the decree is final. Isn't it two or three weeks more?"

"Three weeks. I can't seem to realize it. I'll be free to marry Ken. On the 10th of June."

"If Janet Carstairs doesn't decide to take him back," Sally murmured.

"What do you mean?" The cup crashed to the floor.

"Nothing at all, darling. Why get so excited? It's just that they had a perfectly desperate case before Ken came to New York and saw you. You were a sort of rebound you know, and now that she's back again, it looks like competition to me."

"Perhaps some of her friends wrote her that he was engaged to you. How should I know? But I'd be uneasy if a rival like that came back into my territory. It's a free country, and all's fair in love. I don't think Janet will surrender Ken without a battle."

"Sally, you make me furious. You're just as—I don't know what, telling me about Jerry and Ruth, suggesting things about Ken and Janet. You're a cat."

"Meow," Sally laughed. "I'll pick up the pieces of this cup if you'll move over. You ought to be careful. It's rare, an heirloom, a hundred or two years old, priceless."

"I hate heirlooms," snapped Ann. "So Janet might want Ken back, might she? And Ruth is going to marry Jerry in three weeks. Where do I come in?"

"It sounds like you sit on your own doorstep."

ANN tried to keep from thinking of Sally's words as she went with Ken to the club dance. She had dressed with more than usual care. Her pale green net dress made her eyes more green and her hair more gold. It made her look young and lovely.

She was angry at herself. Once she had not been afraid—once she had faced life with her head up, confident, sure of herself. Now, when she had everything, she was cringing.

She was John Marshall's daughter—that had been proved beyond any doubt. She had all the background Farmington could demand. She had gone to Richmond to visit her father again and again and his friends had accepted her eagerly. She had nothing to worry about.

And yet, here she was at the Country Club, looking at herself in the mirror... afraid. This girl, who had once been called a beauty, who had won applause and compliments, was afraid of a dark-eyed girl with an arrogant walk, because she had once been engaged to Ken.

She went toward Ken, her head high, meeting any challenge. She was going to marry him soon. Three weeks—if—if Janet.

"Oh, there's Janet!" A little murmur went around the ballroom.

Janet was standing in the doorway, as if deciding whether or not to enter. Her late arrival was well timed.

Ken had said Janet was beautiful. Ann remembered how stunning the girl had looked in New York; but she wasn't prepared for this.

Gorgeous would have been Ann's word; and her startled heart skipped a beat. As she looked at Janet's sleek black hair, coiled low in a knot, glittery brown eyes and daring gown, she knew she had never seen anyone quite so attractive. Janet was slim and straight, sure of herself.

"Ken darling!" Janet came toward Ken, past the other couples as if they were not there. "And this," her eyes sweeping over Ann carelessly, "is the beautiful fiancée I'm hearing so much about."

There wasn't any resisting her. Boldness, her assurance. Later when Ken was dancing with her, Ann knew a terror that she could not describe.

Flashes Of Life

By The Associated Press.

INDIANAPOLIS.—The followers of 10-year-old Neil Marx in a game of follow-the-leader over East Side rooftops suddenly stopped following. Jumping off a wall, he had crashed through a skylight into an empty store room. The fire department had to put down a ladder to get him out. He was doctored for cuts and bruises.

Futile 3,000-mile Trip.

LANCASTER, Pa.—A 3,000 mile journey to witness the lighting of thousands of candles as part of an Independence Day celebration proved futile for Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gable.

They came to suburban Lititz, where Gable once resided, from Los Angeles, only to have rain postpone the pageant. Now it won't be presented until Saturday and the Gables cannot remain there that long.

Unseasonable.

NEBRASKA CITY.—It's a bit unseasonable but First Methodist Church women are drumming up enthusiasm for a Christmas party.

The party—a benefit for groups abroad—must be held now so that contributions will reach their destination by Christmas time.

Says Concentration Of Ships Preparation

SHANGHAI (AP.)—Experienced observers said Tuesday that Japan's curtailment of shipping routes and concentrations of her merchant marine in the Pacific was obviously preparation "for any eventualities."

In other words for whatever action Tokyo may have decided to take next.

Koh Ishii, spokesman of the Japanese government, said in Tokyo Tuesday that the concentration was due to the shortage of ships on Pacific Ocean routes. He pointed out that there was little chance of Japanese freighters obtaining cargoes on the East Coast of the United States so henceforth Japanese ships probably would confine their calls to the West Coast.

Hold Pecos Man On Charges Of Slaying

MONAHANS, (Special)—Besente Mata, 40, of Pecos, is held in the Monahans jail on charges of murder in connection with the death of Jose Lasoya, 59, of Barstow, who died Saturday night of bullet wounds received at a dance near Barstow.

Several persons suffered minor injuries in a free-for-all fight at the dance, officers reported. The altercation resulted from ill feelings between two Mexican families, they said.

Coke Ranchman Dies Of Attack

BRONTE (Special)—Robert Humlong, 79, longtime Coke County ranchman, died unexpectedly of a heart attack Monday at his home south of Bronte.

The body was taken to San Angelo where funeral services are to be held at Johnson's Chapel. Burial is to be in Fairmount Cemetery.

Mr. Humlong was married in 1893 to Miss May E. Asbury of Kentucky. Survivors include the widow; two sons, Hervey Humlong, San Angelo, and George Humlong, Jr., Bronte; a daughter, Mrs. R. W. Patterson, Midland, and five grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Patterson left to attend funeral services in San Angelo for her father, Robert Humlong, 79, Coke County ranchman, who died.

Paroles Financier After Serving Term

OSSINING, N. Y. (AP.)—Richard Whitney, one-time head of the New York stock exchange, Tuesday was paroled, effective August 11, from Sing Sing prison where he had been serving a 5 to 10 year sentence for larceny.

On August 11 he will have served three years and four months, the legal minimum, less time off for good behavior.

The state parole board acted on the former financier's parole at a meeting in the prison.

City League Resumes Softball Race With Wilson Scheduled To Contest Texas And Icers Battling Central

City league clubs were slated to resume the torrid softball title chase Tuesday night with Wilson Dry Goods pitted against The Texas Company and Southern Ice booked against Central Pharmacy.

The Southern Ice-Central game was stretched to a double-header with the first game scheduled at 6:30 p. m. Five inning games were slated.

Tuesday night's game will start the last week of the first half. Mackays have the title lead in men's play but a merry scrap for second place is waging. Much depends on Independent and Texas battles this week. Over in the women's circuit it looks like John P. Howe but Merchants Girls are threatening. Surprise For Hageman

The league leading Mack's will need skill and luck this week to stave off the flurry of new pitchers which will be flung at them from the Independents and Wilson's.

The kinglys declared they have a surprise for Lee Hageman, who joined Wilson's. Hageman is the league's leading batter.

Wednesday night, John P. Howe and Southern Ice get together and the Independents are carded against Wilson's.

OFFICIALS REPORT PAROLE FOR PUBLISHER DENIED

WASHINGTON. (AP).—M. L. Annenberg, Philadelphia publisher serving a 3-year term for income tax evasion, has been denied a parole, justice department officials said Tuesday.

Hunt Keeps Title Against Vandiver

ABILENE (AP).—That "battle of the bums" never did materialize—except verbally.

Annoyed in part by the above quoted advance-billing of his scheduled four-round go with King Levinsky, and even more by Levinsky himself, Tony Galento refused to fight.

He and the Kingfish did show up at the ring but unspaded words replaced padded gloves in a quarrel climaxed when Tony shouted that the former Chicago fish peddler was "a poor bum who doesn't know where his next meal is coming from."

In addition to the argument cash customers also saw Babe Hunt, 196, of Lubbock, retain his heavy-weight title with a 10-round decision over Joe Vandiver, 192, of Fort Worth.

Semi-Pros And Hoboes Play 5-5 Tie Contest

Tulsa Coach Works On 'QT' Formation For Pigskin Styles

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—University of Tulsa fans are prepared for something new in football playing styles next season—Coach Henry Frnka's "QT" formation.

The fans themselves coined the name for two reasons: (1) Frnka's system uses a basic "T" pattern, and (2) that's all the publicity-shy coach will let them know about it.

Frnka, who came to Tulsa from Temple University of Philadelphia after Coach Chet Benefield resigned last January, is scared to death of newspaper reporters.

He considers almost everything connected with his football team a military secret, and he knows how to keep it. Spring practice sessions were held behind barred gates.

A chosen few who got brief glimpses of the Golden Hurricane in action noticed that the much-talked-about "T" formation was used before the shift, after the shift anything was liable to happen.

Shelton Hurls Well For Midland; Fight Spices Short Game

By Tanner Laine

Midland borrowed players from Odessa, Crane, and other Permian Basin cities and the combination, spiced with "home-town" semi-pros, played a 5-5 tie with the Boston Hoboes Monday night at the baseball park. The tilt was called after the first half of the seventh inning.

The game was as weird as the lights. The Hoboes put on a "pepper game" entertainment.

Lefty Shelton, crafty pitcher, tolled the first four innings for Midland and registered seven strikeouts. He limited the "tourists" to one hit and one run.

Cowser relieved Shelton and promptly got into trouble. Before he could give way to Bobby Walker the Hoboes chased in three runs. Midland Gets 10 Hits

The Bostonians tabbed a run in the first. Bruggeman, second sacker, made it after getting a slinging hit past third base. Midland was right after the Hoboes and got two tallies in the second and two more in the third. Doubles by Greenwood, hitting star of the game, and Wright, paved the way for the second inning two. Hits by Smith, Greenwood, Wright and Shelton got the second two runs.

Loman went the route for the Hoboes. He was nipped for 10 hits by the Midland combination. Three Midland tossers allowed six hits.

Hardin, big Midland outfielder, came out on top in a dugout scrap with Harris, acting manager for Midland. Harris hit Hardin and the good-natured Hardin returned the favor with a flurry of fists.

Major Baseball Stars Battle In 9th Annual Tilt

DETROIT (AP).—The two finest talents in baseball in base ball, bar absolutely none, were matched at Briggs Stadium Tuesday in the ninth annual all-star game between handpicked players of the National and the American Leagues.

The American League is supposed to have the more terrific hitters, the National League the slightly more clever pitchers.

The heroes of the first all-star game less than a decade ago mostly were on the sidelines when the shooting started. That is how fast baseball changes and shifts. Yet the American League remained a strong favorite because the boys still respected its superior batting power.

The weather promised to be cool for this time of year, and clear. Briggs Stadium figured to be comfortably filled with more than 50,000 fans. Many more would have liked to attend, the local citizens say, but for the fact that the assembly lines are running night and day and not all can get off.

Wyatt Versus Feller.

Del Baker, manager-for-a-day of the American League "supers" chose Bobby Feller of Cleveland to lead off. As he explained, he would be a dope to do otherwise.

For the National Leaguers the lead-off pitcher promised to be Whit Wyatt, with a record of 13 won and four lost for Brooklyn's Rumors said that Wyatt did not feel so good, but Manager Bill McKeechie of the Nationals was counting on Wyatt nevertheless.

The score, up to today, was 5 victories for the American League against 3 for the Nationals in the all-star series. However, the Americans slugged their way to comparatively simple triumphs in the first three engagements and the Nationals have been doing all right since.

Five Golfers Crack Par 71 In Qualifying Rounds Of Pro Meet

DENVER (AP).—Cherry Hills, rolling out against a backdrop of the Rockies, still is daring most of the professional golfing clan to give it a licking in tournament play.

A field of 97 professionals teed off Monday. Just five cracked the stubborn par 71 in the first leg of the P. G. A. tournament's 36-hole qualifying rounds for the Alex Smith diamond medal and a foothold in Wednesday's match play rounds for the 63 low scorers and Defending Champion Byron Nelson of Toledo.

None could break it in the U. S. Open at Cherry Hills in 1938, won by Texas Ralph Guldahl in even par.

Harry Bassler, blackhaired member of a California baseball playing family, and E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, an Arkansas built like a No. 1 rion, guided the caravan into today's second trek over the lake-trapped course with 68s.
