1,000,000 Acres Of Sugar Beets Seen Over High Plains Area

The president of one of America's largest sugar manufacturing companies had today predicted that Bailey County, in the near future, would be almost totally given over to the growing of sugar beets.

In a telephone conversation with the Journal, Dennis O'Rourke, Holly Sugar Company president, stated that he foresaw 1,000,000 acres of West Texas and New Mexico committed to sugar beets in the next few years.

"Bailey, Lamb, Hale, Deaf Smith, Parmer, Castro and maybe counties farther north as well will be almost completely sugar beet territories," he stated. "The situation is a natural for expansion into these counties," he continued. The government is eager to expand its domestic sugar production because of the world situation. Therefore, the more sugar we produce here the happier the agriculture department will be. This area is ideal for beet production. It follows that your area will get much of the sugar allotment."

O'Rourke referred to the new Hereford plant as a "pilot facility" and stated that it was only the first of more to come in this immediate area. When asked if his company had any plans for Bailey County at present, he replied, "... This isn't the time to discuss that, but I will say that current allotments in other counties this first year will be around the 20,000 acre area. Within the next few seasons we'll be up to 40,000."

He pointed out that those areas with large cattle feeding installations were natural for the sugar beet industry because sugar production fits right into the feeding picture. Beet molasses and pulp, both side products, are fed to cattle by many feeders.

This means that not only can the beet sugar be manufactured here, but its side products can boost local cattle feeding.

Four counties, Deaf Smith, Castro, Parmer and Curry County, New Mexico have been included in the first beet allotment. The plant will start contracting beet acreage in January.

Is Police Protection Too Small

Police protection in Muleshoe is dangerously inadequate today. According to national statistics and the recommendations of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the Muleshoe Police Department is now operating at 60 percent of standard recommended strength. A recent FBI report states "When protection falls under 70 per cent, the danger point is reached."

The force is composed of two patrolmen and Chief of Police Carl Neely. The FBI and other federal and state crime experts state that a minimum ratio of one officer to every 1,000 residents is mandatory for crime prevention and control.

When questioned as to why the local force is so small, Chief Neely stated that the size of the force was out of his control and is governed by the city council.

A check of the present budget for the police department shows only enough funds allocated for the present force.

Feeling that the present police force is adequate to handle any emergencies, the city council recently voted down a request from the Police Chief to hire an additional man, according to Mayor Arthur Crow.

Sheriff's officers stated that it is not the business of county officers to patrol the city and that they do not do so. However, they will answer any calls for assistance to an officer.

Hunting Violation Cases To Be Heard In County Court

Two local and one Morton men have been filed on in County Court this week on hunting violation charges.

Willie J. Ivey and Charles Le-nau were specifically filed on for hunting game bird out of season. John F. Cooper, Morton was charged with a shotgun not plugged.

All three charges were made by game wardens on opening day of the annual Sand Hill Crane season, according to County Attorney Roger Gorrell both Le-nau and Ivey were hunting during daylight hours, but before sunup. Fines in such cases usually amount to $25.

In other action in county court, Leroy Carralez plead guilty of transporting alcoholic beverages and was fined $100 and costs.

Ebaristo Martinez plead guilty to D. W. I. and was sentenced to three days in jail and fined $100. His license was suspended for six months.

The county attorney's office charged on Joda W. Graham with D. W. I. and O. C. Hall with passing a worthless check.

Rotary

C. L. Walker, Littlefield resident and Indian lore hobbyist was the featured speaker at this week's regular meeting of the Muleshoe Rotary Club.

Walker spoke on the locating of artifacts in the Muleshoe area. He has been studying Indian lore since 1947 and is considered an expert in the field.

WILL THEY? — Coach Willie McAlpin, who may have built the toughest line in the state and surely in Mule history watches team general Kenny Heathington and spark-plug Ronnie Johnson heading for paydirt, and seems to wonder, "Can They do it against Dalhart?"

Team Is Confident Of Mules Victory

Editors Note — For the first time in the 50 year history of Muleshoe the Mules today will have a shot at becoming state regional champions. Victory this afternoon will put us on the three game road to the AA state championship. The questions in the hearts and minds of Muleshoe is "Can they?"

Dalhart has a fine balanced team. They play good offense and defense. Their top-players, Pete Scardollo, quarterback, and Ronnie McClendon are red hot, and when the statistics are in may surpass Muleshoe top yardage gainers by a wide margin.

Muleshoe's "hittig" Mules crash head-on today with the Dalhart Wolves, number one ranked class AA team at Buffalo Stadium in Canyon today.

The Mule's Bi-District explosion surprised even the most daring upset pickers. Everyone on the team played an outstanding game while rolling over the Denver City Mustangs 15 to 7, but halfback Scott Oliver's performance was tremendous.

Coach Louis Powers has been telling the Mules about some of the outstanding upsets of history such as the "Alamo" and the "Battle of San Jacinto" well known episodes in Texas history. The outstanding one they remember seems to be the story about Donna, a small class AA school in South Texas, who after losing four of their first five games fought back to become AA State champs in 1960. This story has the ending everyone in Muleshoe wants, only with names and time changed.

Offense and reaction drills highlighted the practice sessions this week with end Larry Allison, end Greg Blackwood, and guard Stanley Black really "Poppin' leather." Squad morale and spirit was great as the team scoured over films and scouting reports on Dalhart's explosive Wolves.

A few choice comments on Thursday's game from some Senior team members are as follows:

Quarterback Kenny Heathington, "It will be like a fistfight all the way. We'll have to give it everything we've got."

Tackle Mike Miller, "We've spent fifteen long weeks for this. We can win if the rest of the team is ready."

End Larry Allison, "We'll beat those Wolves."

Coach Willie McAlpin, assistant coach says, "We can win if the boys will put out maximum effort. Dalhart's number one, that makes them double tough."

Coach Bill Taylor still leaves the choice of winning to the boys. "They can if they want to," he says.

Muleshoe Jaycees Join High Plains Drive To Assist Area's Boys' Ranch

For the third straight year, Muleshoe Jaycees are teaming up with farmers, ranchers, and businessmen of the Texas Panhandle to help the more than 300 boys at Cal Farley's Boys Ranch. Muleshoe Jaycees are among the more than 30 Junior Chambers of Commerce who are collecting grain and roughage from area producers, and helping with the delivery to Boys Ranch for the livestock there. The "Jaycees' Grain-Strorghum for Boys Ranch" program is now an annual project that began in 1951 to help the boys care for their livestock. The Ranch does not have the pasturage needed to grow the large amount of feed necessary for the animals each year, according to J. C. Spain, president of the local organization.

Savings Bond Sales Now At 55% Of Quota

October Savings Bond sales in Bailey County totaled $900. This announcement was made recently by M. D. Gunstream, chairman of the Bailey County Savings Bonds Committee.

Total sales in this county during the first 10 months of 1963 were $61,145 which represented 55 percent of the 1963 sales goal.

Muleshoe will take on a festive air tomorrow night as Christmas lights are turned on along Main street. This will launch a full program of activities designed to bring the community the most complete and successful holiday season yet.

General plans were announced this week by the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce, with details to be added later. Truman Lindsey, chairman of the Retail Activities Committee, said, "We know that Christmas is a time of religious observance, children's wonder and joy, good will, remembrances, and, of course, shopping; we think our plans recognize and provide for all these things."

A gala parade is planned for Saturday afternoon, December 7, and entries are sought from individuals, groups, and businesses throughout the Muleshoe area. Prizes will be offered for best features of the parade, such as floats, etc. Emphasis will be placed on participation of children and young people. Best decorated bicycle, best individual costume or novelty, and best costumed pet will receive cash prizes.

Santa Claus will arrive in Muleshoe that same day and will appear in the parade, after which he will receive youngsters at his workshop to be located at the corner of Avenue C and First Street until 5 p.m. He will also be on hand to greet children the following two Saturdays, December 14 and 21, from 2 to 5 p.m.

A nativity scene and other decoration will be placed on the Court House lawn for display through the holiday season. Organizations desiring to place displays or decorations at the court house are requested to contact the Chamber of Commerce office.

A new award will be made this year for "outstanding holiday decoration or display" by any business, institution, office, or other non-residential establishment at their own location, either inside or outside. A very attractive trophy will be presented with the winner's name engraved on it. The trophy will remain in the winner's possession until the following year or until some other establishment becomes a winner.

The chamber will again sponsor a home lighting contest with prizes for first, second, and third

 - 6 to 8 apples
 - Wooden skewer.
 - Tiny colored candies
- Combine sugar, water, and corn syrup in a saucepan. Bring to a boil over medium heat, stirring until sugar is dissolved. Continue boiling, without stirring, until mixture comes to a temperature of 290° F.
- Remove from heat and dip pan into cold water to reduce the bubbling. Stir in instant soft drink mix, blending well. Hold pan over boiling water to help prevent syrup from hardening. Spear clean dry apples through the core with wooden skewers. Dip slowly into syrup; turn and lift out. Allow excess syrup to run off. Decorate with candies, if desired. Place on greased tray or wax paper to harden—about 20 to 30 minutes.

Business Backs 4-H Clubs Nation-Wide

Incentives Help Make Best Better

U.S. business firms contributed $1.25 billion in 1963 toward recognition and encouragement of the nation's 2,225,000 4-H club members, the director of the National 4-H Service Committee has announced.

Norman C. Mindrum, director of the committee, said the record figure made possible awarding of college scholarships and fellowships valued at $45,000. They were presented this year to 275 of the nation's best outstanding 4-H youths and to young adults who once were 4-H'ers.

The financial support also is used for more than 180,000 other awards to members of the nation's more than 94,000 4-H Clubs. The clubs are about 3,100 counties in all states and Puerto Rico.

The national committee, headquartered in Chicago, utilizes funds to assist the Cooperative Extension Service advance the 4-H program.

Awards Since 1900

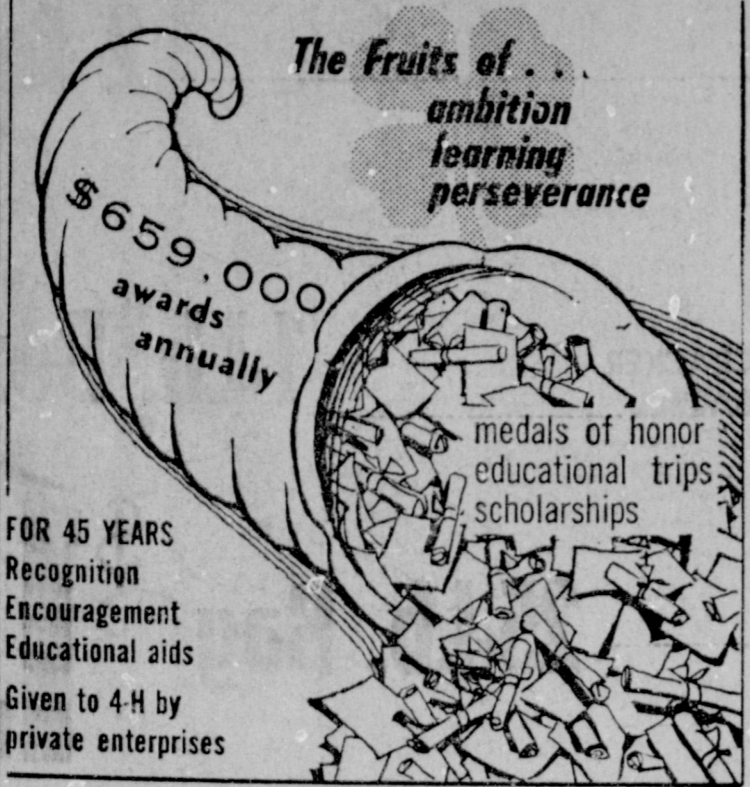

"Awards are an integral part of 4-H," Mindrum said, "and have been provided as incentives and recognition for young people since the early 1900s."

Help from 57 business firms backing 4-H dates back in some cases to the 1920s. The average tenure for all donors is 15 years.

The scholarships, nearly all of $500 each, were awarded Oct. 1-5 during the 42nd Annual 4-H Club Congress in Chicago, attended by more than 600 delegates. Their expense-paid trips, considered both educational and cultural, were awarded by more than 30 of these firms.

Funds for programs ranging from bread baking to entomology are channeled through the national committee, incorporated in 1923 when a handful of business firms provided $3,400 to help the growing club program. In the last 10 years alone, the number of county medals awarded has increased from about 85,000 to nearly 180,000.

"Each donor has an interest in boys and girls, an appreciation of the need for youth development and a feeling that the organization can serve 4-H in a wholesome manner with limited self-gain," Mindrum said.

Diversified Support

Among the business firms supporting 4-H in 1963 are American Forest Products Industries, Inc.; American Oil Foundation; Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway System; California Chemical Company—Ortho Division; Cities Service Oil Co.; Chicago and North Western Railway Co.; Chicago,

Area People Observe Thanksgiving Traditionally: Proclamation Attained By Mrs. Hale 100 Years Ago

Today, Thanksgiving Day, is being observed by a large number of Muleshoe area people in somewhat unusual fashion compared to those of past years.

Long ago, parades and the grand game of football came to the front as the highlight of entertainment of this National holiday.

The aroma of turkey and dressing baking in the oven is for the most part being momentarily forgotten on this, a special Thanksgiving, as fans bustle off to West Texas University Stadium to see the Mighty Muleshoe Mules tangle with the Dalhart football squad, in Muleshoe's first regional contest.

Others in the area are observing the day in other ways, family tradition, hunting trips and receiving guests.

Holiday festivities at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Pool is including the attendance of the game with their children, Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Pool and Allison Kay, Hereford; Roger Pool, Seminole; Sylvia Pool, North Texas University; Cynthia, Rosemary and Mike, Muleshoe. Other guests are Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Davis and Sherry, Amarillo.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Albertson are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse L. Oxley, Wagon, Okla.; and their son, Gary, a student at Southwestern University, Weatherford, Okla.

The J. E. McVicker family is visiting in the home of her sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Musick, Amarillo. The men will attend the football game.

Mr. and Mrs. Lindell Murray and family will be attending the game as will Mr. and Mrs. T. R. White along with their family, Mr. and Mrs. J. Pat Wagon, Debbie and Tyree, Clifford, a student at Texas Tech; and a guest, Tanya Cherry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alton Cherry.

Miss Davy Jean Anderson was met at an Amarillo airport Wednesday by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Anderson, with whom she is spending the holidays. She is a student at Trinity University, San Antonio.

Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Higgs, Portales, N. M., are Thanksgiving Day guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. Q. Casey and will accompany them to Canyon to the football game.

The O. N. Jennings, a granddaughter, Belinda Nickels, the Joe Bates Jennings, and the Darrell Jennings, Lubbock, have gathered at the Jennings' ranch near DeKalb for Thanksgiving holidays.

Mrs. Haney Poyner and children are in Lubbock to raise a few days with her mother, Mrs. Dorothy Reeding, while Mr. Poyner is on a deer hunting trip near Brady.

Accompanying Poyner on the trip were his brothers, Marlin and Frank, Portales, N. M.; Paul Poyner, Earth; his father, R. W. Poyner, Lubbock; and Buddy Bloomer, Hereford.

100 YEARS AGO

On the last Thursday in November, 1863, a small but regal lady of 75, her dark brown curls tinged by time, was quite possibly the happiest woman in the United States.

She was Sarah Josepha Buell Hale, and because of her, the whole country was sitting down to Thanksgiving dinner that day.

For 17 years she had buttonholed governors to plead the cause of a unified holiday. She had corresponded with thousands of people, writing each letter herself with quill pen.

As time wore on she took to badgering Presidents, but only in the most genteel manner.

President Lincoln was her pigeon.

On Oct. 3, 1863, he issued a national proclamation, which began: "It is a time peculiarly fitting to give thanks since in the midst of Civil War peace has been preserved with all nations, order has been maintained, the laws have been respected and harmony has prevailed except in the field of military conflict."

It ended with a request that fellow citizens "set apart and observe the last Thursday of November next as a Day of Thanksgiving."

Who was the indefatigable Mrs. Hale?

She was the editress (Victorians loved to discriminate between the sexes) of Godey's Lady's Book, a 19th century McCall's until she died at 90.

She wrote some two dozen sentimental novels and helpful books on cooking and housekeeping, plus hundreds of poems (including "Poems for Children" — written to inculcate moral truths and virtuous sentiments), but all she is remembered for is "Mary's Lamb."

She championed women's causes, got the first women medical missionaries sent abroad, persuaded Matthew Vassar to drop the odious word "Female" from Vassar Female College, organized the Seaman's Aid Society, sent bills to Congress to ask for normal schools for teachers, talked a New York store owner into employing the first women clerks in town, advocated elementary education for girls equal to that of boys, started the first day nursery, raised the money finished Bunker Hill Monument, and on and on.

In short, Mrs. Hale was a crusader — but a ladylike one.

Left a widow at 34 with five small children to support, she tried millinery and failed, started writing books and at 40 became the first woman editor of a magazine in the country.

At a time when it was impossible — for a gentleman to earn her own money, she made good money and was accepted by the socially elite.

She never antagonized her Victorian public, but for 50 years she cajoled it into one reform or another. As she said at one time: "Every woman has a mission on earth. There is something to do for each one; a household to put in order, a child to attend to, some degraded and homeless humanity to befriend."

her life she wore her hair in side curls, because her husband had liked it that way.

Her only beauty secret: Strips of brown butcher paper soaked in fresh apple vinegar applied to her temples at night to discourage wrinkles — a remedy considered old-fashioned even then. She nearly always wore silk "because it shook the dust", indulged in costly laces, hated earrings, jeoparded tight lacing in girdles as injurious to health, preached the healthful virtues of exercise and cleanliness.

Her urge for a countrywide Thanksgiving Day started early. She was 1 year old in 1789 when George Washington first proclaimed Thanksgiving Day.

In the years after, each state fixed its own date, if it celebrated it at all. Some governors appointed the time just after harvest, others after public canals closed, on Long Island it was observed after the cows were driven home from sea pastures.

"It matters much religiously and nationally that all observe the same day..." she wrote editorially and proceeded to do something about it.

As early as November, 1846, she suggested all the states adopt the last Thursday in November. She repeated it patiently each year and carried on voluminous letter-writing.

She relaxed briefly after Lincoln came through so gallantly, but three years later, when Andrew Johnson succeeded to the Presidency she felt a little uncertain. She made an editorial plea for a Presidential proclamation. Johnson responded the way Mrs. Hale intended, and so have all Presidents since.

Handmade Season's Greetings

Finger paint and cut out sponge shapes print handsome Christmas cards quickly and easily. Finger paint is made at home from corn starch and other standard kitchen items.

Christmas greetings are warmer and more personal when they arrive on handsome, hand-decorated cards. Handmade cards usually take too much time but beautiful ones can be made quickly using a sponge and finger paint.

Take a cellulose sponge and cut it into a design. Simple shapes make the best ones. Among the objects which make good subjects are Christmas ornaments, crowns, trees and very stylized angels. Differences in sponge textures will produce various interesting results.

To print cards, thin finger paint to a soupy consistency and pour onto shallow plates, one for each color, of course. Using desired sponge shape or shapes dip into finger paint and press gently against a plain card. Set aside to dry and repeat process with new card. Be sure to protect work surface with oil cloth or newspapers.

Finger paint is easily made at home from inexpensive materials. A whole colorful batch can be made for less than fifty cents and will be sufficient to print hundreds of cards. Food coloring, tempera paint, or all purpose dye produce the bright reds, blues, greens and golds appropriate to the season.

Finger Paint Recipe

1/2 cup corn starch	1/2 cup soap flakes or detergent
1 cup cold water	pure food colors, tempera paint or all purpose dye
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
2 cups hot water

Combine corn starch and 1/4 cup cold water; soak gelatin in remaining 1/4 cup water. Stir hot water slowly into corn starch mixture. Cook and stir over medium heat until mixture boils and is clear. Remove from heat; blend in softened gelatin. Stir in soap or detergent until dissolved. Cool mixture, then divide into a jar for each color. Stir food colors into mixture in each jar to desired intensity. Cover jars to store.

How To Treat Friend's Beau

By VIVIAN BROWN

What is the proper attitude to take when you meet your friend's boyfriend?

That's the question asked by a girl who says she has been pals with a girl for six years until now when they had a "falling out" due to the fact that she acted too friendly to the other girl's date.

"Is there some rule of etiquette involved?" she wants to know. "We were on a double date, and my boyfriend is better looking in every way, so why would I want her friend? I was laughing and being friendly because I felt at ease with the boy, because he was my friend's friend. But she doesn't understand that, says that I shouldn't have danced the first dance with him. But he asked me. Should I have refused?"

If you suspected that there would be resentment, you could have waited. But it was up to the boy to dance with her first, although boys are thoughtless about such things, and often not interested in proprieties. But girls often are sensitive about this matter.

A college junior writes: "I have had an understanding with a boy for several years. He has been very devoted and I have seen a great deal of him. But more and more he has become interested in sports — hunting, fishing, ice hockey, until he breaks one date after another."

FRANCIS IMPLEMENT CO.
FORD TRACTOR
Muleshoe, Texas
Adv.

On a recent Saturday he had a stranger telephone to say that he couldn't make our date because he was out on a fishing party. Is this a sign that he is growing tired of me? I am afraid to quarrel with him about it.

Why don't you pursue the same interests as much as possible. Let him teach you to fish. Attend ice hockey games with him, and if he plays it, certainly get there as a spectator. Let him tire himself talking about fishing, give him books on the subject, and become enthusiastic yourself. It's possible he'll reach a saturation point, and get interested in some things you'd rather do.

"How can I learn to put myself together in the right way?" asks an 18-year-old, who says she doesn't like the colors in clothes her mother chooses for her, thinks her "clothes are all out of step with fashion" and she never "feels comfortable in anything she wears."

Sometimes the cure for this is doing your own shopping. Many mothers do not have an up-to-date point of view when it comes to daughter's fashions. But if mother is persuaded to talk to a stylist or to read current fashion news, she could be persuaded. The way to do it is form a pact that you will both accept a third person's advice, even if she happens to agree with mother. You may be surprised to find that she does. Many young people just take it for granted that Mom doesn't keep up to date, and treat as old-fashioned every suggestion she makes about clothes.

FIRST OF A SERIES Does Bailey County Need A Library?

Bailey County today stands at a cross roads in regard to the public library question. Rumors of high library costs, possible tax increases on both the city and county levels and charges of possible private gain are running rampant through the county.

It is time for each citizen to examine the questions posed by the library question. It is also time for the city and county governments to determine whether they wish to reconsider firm and long-established policies and possibly re-adjust its thinking to meet the what may be the changing needs of the community.

Because these questions are before the community today, and because it is the duty of a community newspaper to present the facts of given situations in the community, the Journal is presenting a series of articles delivering the pros and cons of the problem.

Do we need a public library? PRO: The educational value of reading, both during school days and after they are over, is recognized by all thinking people today. It is no use teaching children to read unless books will also be available after they leave school.

A taste for good books and the reading habit can best be acquired while young, and access to a large collection than Muleshoe schools afford is needed.

Adults have discovered that they can keep on learning as long as they live and the present adult movement is giving fresh emphasis to the need of adequate public library facilities here.

The wholesome recreation afforded by reading good books is not less important. For these reasons many residents believe a public library here is an essential part of a progressive community.

Persons in Muleshoe and the county wishing to use library facilities or even purchase a book must now travel to other cities — Clovis, Lubbock or Amarillo. Recently a local family was forced to go to Clovis in order to check out a book to complete a project. Although they had not planned it, their daughter noticed a winter coat in a shop window. It was purchased on impulse. While in the store they noticed some men's white shirts on sale. Two were purchased. Before driving back to Muleshoe the family stopped at the Silver Grill for lunch. Some Muleshoe businessmen lost over $30 in purchases that day.

Farming today is probably one of the most rapidly changing industries in the nation. New developments to increase production and trim operational costs appear daily. Vast sums are being spent on farm projects by both government and private groups. Where can the Bailey County farmer obtain complete and detailed information on these projects to increase the value of his land and crops?

Some say from farm magazines, but not details. Because of space problems in all publications it is not possible to report in detail. An editor must pick out only highlights and the more important details for publication.

And what farmer can afford to subscribe to all 342 farming publications listed in the U. S. Publishing Directory?

Another question on the lips of Bailey residents is — "What about our youth? Will my son or daughter be able to successfully compete with children exposed to the educationally broadening aspects of libraries in other cities?"

The answer to that may be found in a recent survey taken at Muleshoe High School. The senior class was asked by school officials what fields they hoped to enter when they graduated. None named physics, aero-space, electronics, experimental medicine, literature chemistry or politics — all pursuits upon which the very survival of our nation is based today.

Have our young people decided not to enter these fields because they desire to enter another or because they have not been exposed to information on these fields?

In order to execute our daily duties as citizens we must know HOW? WHY? WHEN? WHO? WHAT? This is a questioning age. It has to be when the every order of our existence is threatened from both without and within. In order to survive economically, politically and religiously, it is necessary that citizens become knowledgeable to all issues before deciding where they stand.

Many in the county hope we can attract industry to the area. The first thing checked by an industry with intentions to possibly locating in a given area is that area's school system; its churches and its library facilities. How does Bailey County stack up against the competition?

Sunday, the Journal will print the other side of the question under the title "We Don't Need a Bailey County Library Because..."

Future articles will discuss what type library should we have; how large should it be; what should it contain, exactly how much will it cost, where will the money come from, will taxes be raised and if so how much; where would it be located; what services would it offer and other details.

New Soybean Yields 58 Bushels Per Acre

Delbert Langford, agronomist for the High Plains Research Foundation at Halfway, reported that by applying the practice of skip-row farming, he received a high yield of 57.8 bushels per acre of the Hinn Soybean. The Hinn soybean is the new bean bred by the foundation and is the first soybean bred for this area of Texas.

Barry Love, associate agronomist for the Foundation in charge of developing the Hinn bean, said that the chemical analysis of the bean was 18.5 percent oil and 34.9 percent protein. Barry reported that along with the other qualities of the bean, high yield, non shattering, and a high tolerance for lodging, it has something that both the farmer as well as the processor can benefit from.

The Hinn variety was developed in the foundation's accelerated research program. The new soybean was tested this year throughout the Texas Panhandle and South Plains in an effort to check production in a variety of locations. In all of the tests, ranging from the top of Texas at Farnsworth, near Peryton, down to Ralls in the South Plains, the Hinn bean out-yielded the Hill and Lee beans, which are the soybeans that have been grown here in Texas.

Dr. Earl H. Collier, director of the High Plains Research Foundation and a plant breeder who has worked with soybeans for over 17 years, reports that "The Hinn soybean has some of the best qualities that I have ever seen. One of the most important, aside from the high yielding ability, is its inherent tendency of heavy branching. This will help to insure a good yield in a case of a poor stand due to adverse weather. This branching will compensate for stand, in case of a hail or other bad weather."

Supporters of the foundation are being given priority in allocation of seed. Farmers interested in the Hinn soybean may contact Barry Love, Box 1267, Plainview, Texas.

Floyd Hudlow of Arizona scored a touchdown against Wyoming by returning a kickoff 69 yards.

Rookie second baseman Cesar Tovar of Venezuela hit in 26 straight games for Dallas-Fort Worth last season. He is now on the Cincinnati roster.

- 2 cups water
- 1 beef bouillon cube
- 1 pound medium shrimp (cooked, cleaned and cut in half lengthwise)
- 1-2 cup converted-type rice (cooked according to package directions)
- 3-4 cup flaked coconut

Melt butter in 1-quart saucepan over low heat; stir in flour, then curry powder. Add water and bouillon cube; cook and stir constantly until thickened. Add shrimp; reheat. Arrange hot rice in deep 9-inch pie plate; turn curried shrimp over it; sprinkle with coconut. Bake in very hot (450 degrees) oven until coconut is toasted — about 10 minutes. Makes 4 small servings. Serve with mango chutney.

Quick and easy use of left-overs that is sure to please youngsters.

Lots of cars are in LeSabre's price class, but that's where the resemblance ends. For instance: Does anybody else in LeSabre's class treat you to that gentle Buick ride or impressive Buick performance, and new gas economy? No. And who else gives you 15-inch wheels, finned aluminum front brakes, extra cushioning for middle-seat travelers, and separate heat ducts and controls for the rear seat? Right again: Nobody in LeSabre's field but LeSabre. If all this makes you think a LeSabre would look awfully nice in your garage, you should see how nicely it fits a budget. Dear editor:

Trying to live within your budget is a problem I guess 95 per cent of the people struggle with; it doesn't make any difference how much money a man makes, his family or his government can always think of some place to put it. In fact, I know a man who has several sources of income and a neighbor was admiring his situation and said, "Man, you've got it made, you've got money coming in from three or four directions," and he answered, "Yeah, and for every place it's coming in, there are two places where it's going out."

I got to thinking about this when I read an article in a newspaper last night saying Congress has raided the national debt ceiling again, and I have often wondered why I can't arrange such a system myself.

Here's the way it works: actually, the debt ceiling is 285 billion dollars. When we get that far in debt, the law says hold on, you can't go any further. But every year along about this time the government runs out of money and Congress has to raise the ceiling so it can pay its bills. Well, it doesn't actually raise it, what it does is say, look, let's keep the ceiling where it is permanently, but temporarily let's raise it a little. Over the last 15 years the ceiling has been oooched up to where it's now 309 billion, but the other day they had to add on another 6 billion, to bring it up to 315 billion.

You might say, it's going to take a 315 billion dollar ceiling, why not just vote to put it there, but you don't understand. Everybody runs for office on a platform of economy, and no economy-minded Congressman is going to vote to increase the national debt, even though they do every session. This may sound like Congress' trying to vote that some movie actress' age shall forever remain 36, but that's because you don't understand national finance.

I'm not saying the ceiling is too high, I don't know how high the nation can stand for it to go, it's a pretty wealthy country, although I think maybe we could cut down somewhere, except the cut ought to be in some other part of the country, not around here. Any right-thinking person knows the place to cut the national debt is in New Mexico, not in Texas.

At any rate, I wouldn't mind living within my budget permanently if I could just find some way to raise it temporarily every few months for the next 15 or 20 years.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Washington Notes

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller has formally announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for President. He also said he would enter the New Hampshire and other Presidential preference primaries between now and the Republican national convention in July.

THE U. S. AND VIETNAM

The United States is reviewing its policies in South Vietnam — including its military and aid programs — in preparation for backing Saigon's new military regime.

United States officials described the review as normal procedure before resumption of diplomatic relations with a new government.

U. S. — RUSS CARGO FLEET

A Senate study reports that the Russian merchant fleet is expanding rapidly while United States cargo fleet is deteriorating.

The study by the staff of the Senate Internal Security subcommittee reported: "It is all too evident . . . that the Soviet Union recognizes the importance of the sea, and sea-power in all its many facets figures prominently in its plans to dominate the world."

ON BIRCH SOCIETY

Goldwater has stated that he has no intention of denouncing members of the John Birch society — as long as what they do and say is "temperate and in keeping with the decency called for in American politics." He does not feel that way about its founder.

The Arizona Republican long ago took issue with the Society's

Selling TVA

Senator Barry Goldwater has created something of a sensation by calling for the sale of the Tennessee Valley Authority — to private electric companies. Despite the shock in some quarters, Goldwater's idea is not revolutionary.

TVA has been a controversial government undertaking since its inception. It is true, as Barry Goldwater says, that TVA is a major competitor of electric companies (and a successful one) and that normally this function in America has been fulfilled by privately owned companies.

As far as TVA is concerned, however, one must go back to the Roosevelt era, when TVA was inaugurated to understand its role in U. S. life. There were many areas in the five states where residents are now served by TVA where no electric power was available and where, if it was available, the price was excessive.

On the other hand, it is true that TVA gets a break on taxes. Goldwater estimates private companies pay five times the taxes TVA must pay. He thinks this is placing the private companies in an unfair competitive position.

It is a good issue. It has been a good issue for over twenty years. The Goldwater proposal is not revolutionary.

Hurting Rocky?

One of the big misconceptions of the current political picture is the conviction by so many that Governor Nelson Rockefeller's remarriage, to a divorcee, doomed his popularity, and his chances for the Republican presidential nomination in '64.

While that had an adverse effect, the effect has worn off to some degree already. The latest Gallup Poll shows the marriage factor is greatly overrated as Rockefeller's fatal handicap.

In questioning of both Protestants and Roman Catholics, a majority of those replying said they would vote for a man they considered to have the best qualifications for the job, regardless of whether or not he was divorced. Some 80 per cent of all Protestants questioned, and 74 per cent of all Roman Catholics, said they would vote for the best qualified man.

The major obstacle to Rockefeller is the growing desire of many Americans to have a genuine conservative in the White House, or at least in the presidential race. The truth is that the national opinion of Mr. Rockefeller's policies, especially outside the East, is that he is another of the liberal G.O.P. "me-too" candidates, who would not bring about a real change in the political drift of the country.

Mr. Rockefeller's divorce and remarriage unquestionably cost him some support with the nation's voters but his biggest handicap is that he is out of tune with the grounswell of sentiment within his party — that it is time to give a conservative a chance.

Imports Forcing Down Feeder Cattle Prices

Cattle prices are sagging, and beef producers point to beef imports as a primary factor. Bailey County is concerned because the price fall has drastically affected feeder prices at area markets.

Statistics gathered by the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association reveal that imports of beef and veal into the United States in terms of carcass weight equivalents was almost slaughter of cattle and calves in Texas during 1962.

Joe S. Fletcher, TSCRA secretary-general manager, said these imports combined with an all-time record in domestic beef and veal production, have resulted in substantially decreased prices, and that there is no sign of immediate improvement.

"Feeders are genuinely concerned over the effect continued high imports will have on the domestic producer," he emphasized, "and the solution to this problem will be one of the main topics of discussion at the quarterly TSCRA meeting in Fort Worth, Dec. 5."

founder, Robert Welch, who has called former President Eisenhower a traitor and the late John Foster Dulles a Communist.

ON RUSS MOON RACE

Late President Kennedy questioned whether the Soviet Union is abandoning the moon race.

Kennedy said that he "would not make any bets at all upon Soviet intentions" despite Premier Khrushchev's statement that his country would not race to the moon, but rather, would profit from American experience in that field.

Expressing his skeptical attitude on Soviet intentions, he said the United States would stay on target.

ANSWERS TO SOME QUESTIONS ABOUT PLOW DOWN

WHY NOT WAIT UNTIL MY CROPS NEED NITROGEN BEFORE PUTTING IT INTO THE GROUND?

Nitrogen, in the form of anhydrous ammonia, does a more efficient job of boosting yield when applied early. An early plow down application enables the nitrogen to do the extra job of helping decompose your turned under stubble. This stubble decomposition makes more plant foods available to next year's crop, while putting your soil in better condition to absorb and hold moisture. These extra plant foods and moisture can mean an increase of 10% or more in yield. That can be a big increase in profit! And by plowing down now, the uncertain spring weather can't interfere with your fertilizer program.

IF I PLOW ANHYDROUS AMMONIA DOWN NOW, ISN'T IT LOST DURING THE WINTER MONTHS?

Anhydrous ammonia is the only form of nitrogen that does not leach. When released, the nitrogen attaches itself to the clay particles and organic materials . . . actually becomes part of the soil.

Even though the soil bacteria that do the work in stubble decomposition need nitrogen; their use of the nitrogen does not reduce its effectiveness. All the nitrogen you plow down in the form of anhydrous ammonia to speed stubble decay is still available to crops in the spring.

WOULDN'T IT BE JUST AS PROFITABLE TO PLOW DOWN ANOTHER FORM OF NITROGEN FERTILIZER?

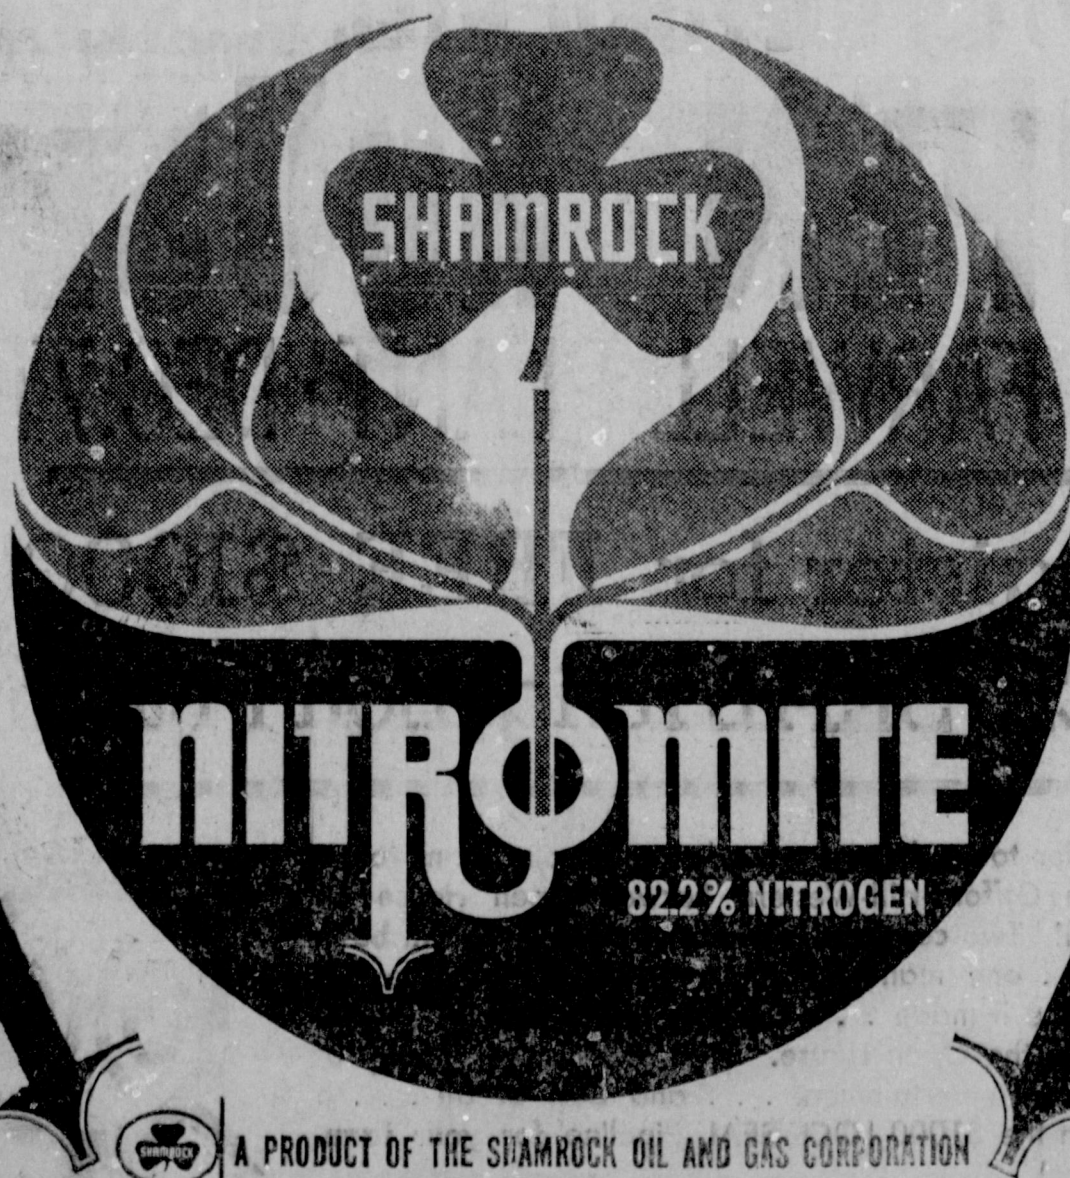

First of all, anhydrous ammonia costs less per pound of usable nitrogen. And it does not leach! Other forms of nitrogen fertilizer do not attach themselves to stable parts of the soil. Therefore, they are subject to becoming soluble, which means they can follow water movement, up or down, out of the root zone . . . leaching.

Because early application of anhydrous ammonia can increase yield and nitrogen in this form is not lost during the winter, it makes sense to plow it down now.

EARLY APPLICATION ALSO MEANS THAT YOU WON'T HAVE THE EXTRA PROBLEM OF FERTILIZER APPLICATION LATER ON WHEN YOU ARE SO BUSY WITH OTHER IMPORTANT OPERATIONS.

You can get quick delivery on Nitromite, Shamrock's fine brand of anhydrous ammonia, from your local dealer.

CALL HIM TODAY. IT CAN MEAN A BIG PROFIT INCREASE FOR YOU NEXT YEAR!

Parmer County News

The 30th Annual Texas Farm Bureau Convention was a very successful and interesting session. Almost fifteen hundred members registered, the largest delegation in history. Membership had reached 89,401 by the first of November. (Parmer County's membership reached 555, five over the quota of 550).
Most commodity organizations were represented by a Farm Bureau delegate from their organization and there was much discussion on some topics before a vote was taken. But congeniality reigned among delegates because of a common cause of retaining freedom for farmers along with an opportunity for a better net income.
It is always a privilege to hear the governor of Texas address Farm Bureau, and John Connally delivered a good address. Congressman Joe Kilgore made a very good talk along the lines of constitutional government. Marvin McLain, Assistant AFBF Legislative Director, former assistant to the Secretary of Agriculture emphasized the importance of farmers retaining the right of decision in the operation of their farms rather than expecting a bureaucrat, like he used to be, to do the job for them.
Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Hamilton served as voting delegates from Parmer County, and we were sorry four or five more were not able to attend and serve. The sad note of the convention was the announcement of the death of Marvin Carter who many knew and respected as organizational director in the late forties and early fifties. He attended a meeting or two in this county while holding that position of importance.
We remember it took five years to get pickups recognized as passenger cars for speed limit purposes, and now that is to be done over again. Farm Bureau has a resolution that can possibly be implemented faster this time.

HOLIDAY CORNER—Create a festive look with coordinated table setting and window treatment. Bright green cotton makes a floor-length cover for the small round table, seat covers, and tree-shaped back cushions for the chair. Singer sewing experts suggest you make a paper pattern of tree before cutting fabric. Trim cushions with contrasting fabric-covered buttons to simulate tree ornaments. Repeat tree motif on window shade. For sparkling accent, apply white upholstery fringe to hem of cloth with narrow zigzag stitch and also to shade border.

Yarborough In Washington

(The following is a statement by Senator Yarborough on the floor of the United States Senate regarding the 1964 foreign aid bill.)

"Mr. President, this has been a long debate; its length and heat illustrate that more and more of us in the Senate are determined to cut the fat out of foreign aid so that it can be the effective instrument of foreign policy it was intended to be.

"I am pleased that it now looks as if the final amount to be authorized will be a reduction from last year's figure; we will succeed in cutting back on foreign aid. At most some $3.7 billion will be authorized for 1964, a substantial roll-back from the last three years.

For years the American public has been waiting for an orderly cutting down of this program, a phasing out of aid to economically prosperous countries. The people's hopes have not been realized; but now we have begun.

The Senate is taking this action from a conviction that only through forcing more prudent foreign aid spending can the waste in this program be stopped. Experience has shown that we cannot buy friends with foreign aid; we must use it more selectively to help genuine friends meet genuine needs.

In the past weeks the Senate has taken action designed to cut off aid to countries whose policies are detrimental to our policies and to world peace. We have added new restrictions in answer to specific situations where our good will has been abused. Now the Senate is writing into law firm declarations that our foreign aid is not going to continue to flow — no matter what.

I do not regard these actions as any particular slap at this Administration. Instead, I regard it as strengthening its position in allocating foreign aid. Without restrictions, it seems our administrators can never find a good reason to deny aid to any country, when a country can point to all the other nations that are on our list. Now we shall be able to set up standards. Let us stop aid to countries preparing for aggression against their neighbors. Let us defer aid to countries unreasonably interfering with our fishing boats on the high seas. Let us stop aid to countries which continually demonstrate their unwillingness to use it wisely, and of course, let us continue to tighten up our policy of no aid to Communist-dominated countries. . . .

The Subcommittee on Veterans' Affairs of the United States Senate of which I am chairman is now holding hearings on HR 8009. This bill would provide nursing home care for our veterans as a proposed answer to the growing medical and health needs of our aging veterans population. There are now approximately 2 1/2 million veterans in this country 65 years of age or older; Texas alone had 72,474 veterans over 65 years of age in 1960. These veterans are faced with an increasing need to meet the problems of chronic, long-term illnesses and infirmities common to advancing age.

The problem is a serious one today, but it will be overwhelming in the near future if we do not find a solution. In 1960 there were 1,781,000 veterans 65 and over. By the year 2000 there will be an estimated 8,394,000 veterans over 65 years of age, an increase of more than 470 per cent in only 40 years.

This nation has always recognized and attempted to meet the needs of its veterans who have answered their country's calls. Through the GI Bills we assisted the veterans in readjusting to civilian life. We have provided hospital and medical care.

The need for a solution to the medical problems for the veterans in need of nursing home

WASHINGTON NEWSLETTER FROM SENATOR JOHN TOWER

Committees Banking and Currency Labor and Public Welfare

Senator John Tower said today he intends to oppose the confirmation of Paul Nitze as Secretary of the Navy.

Nitze's nomination as Secretary of the Navy, to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Fred Korth of Fort Worth, is now being considered by the Senate Armed Services Committee.

Tower had previously stated his "grave reservations" about the wisdom of Mr. Nitze serving as Secretary of the Navy. In his weekly radio report to constituents today Tower said those doubts persisted, "and I intend to oppose his confirmation."

"Mr. Nitze is one of those theoretical whiz kids who inhabit the stable of the New Frontier," Tower said. "He was the one who proposed, back in 1960, that our Strategic Air Command come under NATO and that we then give the United Nations the ultimate power of decision on its use."

"He also proposed that the United States forget about achieving a class A nuclear capability."

Tower was also critical of the nomination of George Clifton Edwards, Jr., to serve on the Sixth Court of Appeals, and the firing of Otto Otepka by the Department of State for furnishing information to a Subcommittee of the Senate.

Senator John Tower (R-Texas) today expressed hope the Senate will write into law a bill prohibiting the Export-Import Bank from guaranteeing loans to Russia that would be used to purchase American products.

The bill, S. 2310, introduced by Senator Mundt of South Dakota, was considered by the Senate Banking and Currency Committee, where Senator Tower is second-ranking Republican. Under a consent agreement, the bill is scheduled to be brought to the Senate Floor Tuesday afternoon.

Primary target of the bill is the proposed sale of American wheat to Russia, with the Export-Import Bank guaranteeing a portion of the credit required by Communist bloc countries. The bill would apply to all products, however, not just wheat.

In his weekly report to Texans, Tower said the move to guarantee the credit, which has the backing of the Administration, "would be helping finance the cold war efforts of the Soviet Union."

Tower reviewed the history of Russian debt defaults and said the risk of default on the wheat loan was too great to risk American tax dollars in an underwriting venture.

The Texas Senator pointed out that original announcements concerning the wheat sales did not mention that the Soviets needed credit, or that the credit would be backed by an agency of the government.

"It might be too hard to accuse this Administration of deliberately attempting to hoodwink the American people," said Tower,

Senator Ralph Yarborough of Texas, right, attends the unveiling of the new Sam Houston 5¢ Commemorative Stamp with Postmaster General John Gronouski at the stamp section of the United States Bureau of Engraving. The drawing of Texas hero Sam Houston is by Tom Lea, famed Southwestern artist of El Paso, Texas. Senator Yarborough, a member of the Post Office and Civil Service Committee recommended Lea as the one to make the design for the Post Office Department. The stamp shows a full length drawing of Sam Houston who was 6 feet 6 inches tall and portrays him as he would have looked at the time he defeated the Mexican Army at the battle of San Jacinto.
