Jingo

Words are like people. Some get bad names, some good. Some deserve the bad and some the good, but all are affected by the reputation they bear.

"Jingo" has become a bad word. It has come to mean an irresponsible war-monger.

The name comes, if recollection serves, from an old verse reading in part, "We don't want to fight, but Jingo if we do, we've got the men, we've got the ships, we've got the money, too!"

People remember the catchy word "Jingo." They forget the "we don't want to fight."

The United States, whether we like it or not, is getting into a position just a little like that today. We, too, don't want to fight. For two years we have resolutely stayed clear of fighting. We have given up rights to ship our goods by sea which we always claimed before. No American ship has gone into a European port which was blockaded or in the actual war zone, though we always previously claimed the right to send them there.

Why did we give up those rights? Because insisting on them 23 years ago got us into a fight, and today we don't want to fight.

What is the best assurance today of keeping out of a fight?

Why, a clear demonstration to the world that "we've got the ships, we've got the men, we've got the money, too!"—and further, the clear demonstration that, if necessary, we propose to use them.

The United States has nothing very directly against Japan. It wants no war with Japan. But it simply will not acquiesce in Japan's putting a "Keep Off" sign on the whole of East Asia. The United States has nothing very directly against Germany. But it will not acquiesce in Germany's putting a "Keep Off" sign on the whole of Europe and Africa. Especially since those signs are expanding signs, by their nature and by their past performance.

There is a chance to avoid war if the United States will pile up sufficient force that no party of World War II will wish to offend us. There is a chance to avoid war if enough surplus war supplies are produced and sent to those resisting aggression so that they may win out. There is a chance to avoid war if U. S. power is so great that fear of it forces a decent peace.

But those are the only chances. Otherwise the United States faces war whether it wants to fight or not. In either case, the ships, the men, and the money are as necessary to the national life as breath itself.

Army Air Corps Contractors Employ Oil News . . .

Speeding up construction of the $5,000,000 Advanced Twin Engine and Bombardier Training Center, the general contractors, Case Brothers and F. M. Reeves and Sons, have started their "assembly-line" system on the project. This system was used with great success by contractors in the construction of Camp Wolters at Mineral Wells.

Under this method of handling a large construction job, lost motion is held to a minimum and the work is kept at top speed.

More than 6,000,000 board feet of lumber has arrived at Sloan Field and the "assembly-line" starts at the huge stacks of lumber and building material.

Four large electric saws have been installed at the lumber yard and here lumber is cut, trimmed and pre-fabricated.

Carpenters Move In
At building sites, the first work is done by concrete workers who pour the foundations, as soon as all water and sewer lines are completed in the sector. Plumbing is "roughed in" as soon as the concrete work is finished.

Then the first crew of carpenters moves in. These men install plates on the foundation to hold the building, and then install sills and joists. All lumber is cut at the saw mill and trucked to the building site.

Next come carpenters who install the deck for the floors. A small "layout" crew next moves to the site and sets studs for outside walls.

The fifth step in the operation is the nailing on the outside walls. Then comes the crew which installs joists for the second floor of the structure, as the 63-man barracks are of the two-floor type adopted by the Army in its current construction programs.

Next are the carpenters who specialize on installing rafters for the roof. Just as soon as they complete their work the "deckers" move in and install the second floor deck and ceilings.

Many Inspections Made
The "sheeters" follow and put on asbestos siding rapidly. Then windows are set by another crew.

As soon as they move on, the roofers arrive and put asphalt shingles on the structure. Almost before they are through, the painters are ready to put on the prime coat.

The floor is next. Carpenters who finish the interior of the structure follow. As soon as they complete their assignments the second coat of paint is brushed on by a crew and then come the men who install the finish hardware.

While they are doing their work, the plumbers complete their task in the building. Next a crew puts all finishing touches on the structure.

Inspection after inspection by executives, supervisors and foremen is made during the construction of the buildings, and as soon as the last crew completes its assignment the structure is ready for the Army Air Corps.

In the "assembly-line" system, so well known to C. & R. executives there are nineteen different operations.

Now that this system has been started at Sloan Field, buildings will rise rapidly and the contractors hope to complete their assignment on schedule.

TCU Football Star Weds McCamey Girl In Single Ring Ceremony Read At The Presbyterian Church

Miss Ann Munsinger Becomes Bride Of David Wofford

Of interest in athletic circles over the state as well as among friends of the young couple in West Texas was the wedding Thursday evening of David Wofford, TCU football star and son of Mrs. Emma Aycock of Midland, and Miss Ann Munsinger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Munsinger of McCamey.

The ceremony took place at the First Presbyterian Church in McCamey with the Rev. T. C. Forrester, Baptist minister, officiating at the single ring service at 8 o'clock.

Baskets of pink gladiolas against a background of fern decorated the altar of the church.

Mrs. Edward Burshwell, pianist, and Mrs. C. H. Cox, violinist presented the pre-nuptial music, and also played the wedding marches. Mrs. J. E. Kraft sang "I Love You Truly."

The bride wore a woolen suit in blue with black accessories. Her flowers were a corsage of gladiolas.

Her maid of honor and only attendant was her sister, Miss Adele Munsinger, who wore an autumn brown frock with black accessories and a gladiola corsage.

Kermit McCaffey of McCamey was best man. Reception follows.

Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Braley were hosts for a reception at their home following the wedding.

The two-tiered wedding cake was topped by a heart within which stood miniature figures of a bride and groom. A white satin bow was at the top of the heart.

After the young couple had cut the first slice of cake, Miss Louise Belcher, Miss Clara Mae Walters and Miss Ruby Nell Braley served the cake and punch.

White gladiolas and fern decorated the refreshment table which was laid with lace. The crystal punch bowl was placed on a mirror reflector.

After the reception, Mr. and Mrs. Wofford left by automobile for a brief trip.

Officer Star.

Mr. Wofford is a graduate of Midland High School where he was star on the Bulldog football team. He has continued his football career, starring as a member of the Texas Christian University's eleven. He has attended that school for three years.

He is now with the Gulf Oil Company at Crane where he and his bride will live.

Mrs. Wofford graduated from McCamey High School as valedictorian of her class. She was also pep squad leader.

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Hughes, sister and brother-in-law of the bridegroom, and their two sons, Wayne and Kenneth, attended the wedding from Midland.

Culbertsons Are Hosts At Supper

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Culbertson and daughter, Shirley, entertained a group of high school students and 1941 graduates with a barbecue at their home, 909 W. Cuthbert, Tuesday evening.

The supper was served in the backyard. Afterward dancing was the diversion.

The Apocalypse Is A Sealed Mystery To Be Understood

Fear not; I am the first and the last; I am he that liveth, and was dead; and, behold, I am alive for evermore, Amen; and have the keys of hell and of death. Write the things which thou hast seen, and the things which are, and the things which shall be hereafter. Rev. 1. 18-19.

By R. A. Weaver.
The study of the Apocalypse requires long and continuous application because of the symbolic and figurative language which seems to have been employed in order to obscure the meaning unless a key to the interpretation was available. This book may be correctly called the one esoteric epistle of the Bible, as it reveals that which is hidden by means of a secret code message. No doubt the then churches of Christendom had the key, but we today find it impossible to agree upon the meaning of the revelation. But for the student, there are some interesting points that may be used in the study of this book.

Seven Churches.
The Revelation is directed by Christ to the seven churches. These were:
1. Ephesus
2. Smyrna
3. Pergamos
4. Thyatira
5. Sardis
6. Philadelphia
7. Laodicea
Now, many commentators take the position that the seven churches represent seven ages, or periods of time, and seven spiritual conditions of the church down through the centuries; and that if it were possible to discern these conditions in any one period of contemporary time, it would be possible to accurately determine the occurrence of events mentioned in the chapters of Revelations that follow. It is also pointed out by some students the probability that events and world conditions are depicted in several different descriptive figures, each series of which portray the same thing. For instance it is interesting to compare in numerical order the seven churches, the seven seals, the seven trumpets, and the seven vials.

The Sixth Church.
Suppose we select for consideration the message to the Church of Philadelphia, and compare with the message to this church the sixth seal, trumpet and vial. This sequence is selected because of the fact that the age in which we now live may be the age described in the sixth order of things mentioned.

It is noted that in the message to the church of Philadelphia mention is made of the near approach of great trial and testing that shall come upon all the earth to test them that dwell therein. The admonition to the people who shall witness this hour of trial is: "Behold I come quickly; hold that fast which thou hast, that no man take thy crown." Evidently this refers to world revolution and world wars from which tribulations shall ensue.

The Sixth Seal
Now if we compare what is to take place at the opening of the sixth seal we find that universal earth convulsions take place. "The sun (rulers) became black as sackcloth of hair, and the moon (church) became as blood; and the stars (messengers) of heaven fell unto the earth... and heaven (spiritual leaders) departed as a scroll... and every mountain (kingdom) and island (principality) was moved out of their place. And the kings of the earth, and the great men, and the chief captains hid themselves." It is certainly a divine picture of terrible world anguish.

The Sixth Trumpet
Here is the appearance of a mighty army from the East. The voice from the altar commands that the four bound angels at the Euphrates should be loosed. At once appears a mighty army. The description given of them will probably be more fully understood at the time of the next great war. The armaments and implements, then essential, staggers the imagination. The mighty host will come from over the Euphrates. This is yet to be the world's most terrible menace. There is to be another overflowing of the Euphrates river across the desert and on into Palestine.

The Sixth Vial
The sixth vial is poured out upon the river Euphrates. "The water thereof was dried up." It is to prepare the way of the kings of the east. They are to be gathered together, with the armies of other nations to one place for the last conflict of the ages. The place is Armageddon and the final struggle is spoken of here as being, "The war of the Great Day of God Almighty."

From the above excerpts taken from the Book of Revelations, the question in the minds of Bible students is: "How near is the time during which the sixth seal, trumpet and vial will be revealed?" Only as time marches on can this question be answered. By diligent study of the Revelations it is believed that one may arrive at a reasonable conclusion of these things. In the meantime we must be ready for that hour.

CHAPTER XII

MIKE FLYNN was waiting when they reached the hotel. "Not a trace of—" he began. He saw Ted. "So she found you!" Mike pounded Ted's back. "It's good to have you back, son. And everything's patched up now, Katie!"

company, we've obtained permission—" An Army car took them to an isolated hilltop overlooking the river. The officer pointed to a sandbar. "In a few minutes a time bomb will be dropped on that bar. . . . There is no danger. We're using a very light charge. Only a fraction of what will actually be used later. . . . They made an unusual picture. Two brides in wedding finery; grooms in formal attire, all staring at the sky. A speeding bomber roared toward them, swooped low over the river. They saw the slender black bomb plunge downward, hit the sandbar squarely in the middle. "In 15 seconds . . ." the officer said. "The timing can be governed easily." Kay counted softly, "10—11—12—13—14—" "BOOM!" A high column of water and sand belched into the air, spray-ign them with mud. When it settled the sandbar had disappeared. "There's your Wandrosapp, Kay," Ted whispered, his arm tight around her. "Not mine—Dad's. . . . It works, Dad. Just like you said it would."

THEY did. It was a double wedding, in the warehouse of Tim Donovan's factory, with cases of Wandrosapp piled high around them. There was no music, other than the whirr of machine belts, the clanking of gears. The voices of workmen filled in for a choir. Otherwise it was a formal affair, with Kay and Mary in white gowns and long bridal veils, and Ted and Joe handsome in cut-aways. Mike Flynn gave the girls away, pulling at a too tight collar.

IT was Ted who found the answer. Daily he searched the classified sections of the papers. One night—"Kay! I've found it." She hurried in from the kitchen, wiping flour from her hands. "What is it?" "Ted didn't answer her. He was talking to himself. "I can do it. I'll get Flynn to check in on this guy, then I'll get Joe up here and let him run the tests. We'll investigate fully before we go off the deep end." "Ted, darling, what are you mumbling about?" "We'll organize a company," Ted went on, "and launch a big advertising campaign. It's a cinch. We'll put it on every cupboard shelf in the country. We'll make millions—" "Ted, please," Kay pleaded. "Oh, yes." He kissed her and swung her up from the floor. "It's marvelous, honey. Sure fire. Can't miss. Here! It's right here in the paper. Look. Read it." "Put me down!" "Ted complied, thrust the paper into her hands, indicating a circled ad. She read it slowly.

MacLeod and Goldberg were there, too. And old Hans Stadt, alternately beaming and wiping his eyes with a huge bandana. There were Army officers and plant officials in the background. After the ceremony, and after Kay and Mary had kissed everyone, including Hans, an officer stepped up to Kay. "We've arranged a special demonstration for you today, Mrs. Andrews. You would probably like to see how your explosive works in an actual test. Because you all are stockholders in the original

They had no trouble finding the cottage Kay had dreamed of owning. The want ad took care of that. It was ideal, complete even to a rose trellis over the front door and honeysuckle vines climbing up the back porch. "Find anything you want if you just advertise for it," Ted laughed as he carried Kay across the threshold. "I even found a wife." But honeymoon house was not filled completely with happiness. Ted had refused, finally and definitely, to live on Kay's money. That was going into bonds. They would live on what he earned or go hungry. And the market seemed to be flooded with supersalesmen.

Baruch Declares Defense Program Needs One Chief

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new federal agency set out Friday to enlist even the smallest industrial plants in the national armament manufacturing drive, but one of President Roosevelt's principal advisers repeated his conviction that a single administrator is urgently needed for the whole defense production program.

Bernard M. Baruch, who conquered a similar military production problem 24 years ago, called not only for a single defense chief but for a blanket ceiling on prices.

Thursday night, a few hours after Baruch's blunt criticism, the president announced creation of a division of contract distribution in the Office of Production Management, to be headed by Floyd B. Odium, New York financier.

A White House statement said the new agency was formed to further "a determined move on the part of the administration to help the smaller business units of the country obtain a fair share of the defense orders, and to prevent, so far as possible, dislocation of industry and unemployment of workers in plants where production has been curtailed by priorities and material shortages."

To Have Branch Offices Tall, white-haired Baruch had no immediate comment on this. But was no more than out of the White House door after lunching with the president when he told reporters in plain words what he thought should be done to speed vital production.

Baruch saw the new seven-member Supply Priorities and Allocations Board, headed by Vice-President Wallace, as only a "faltering step forward." He expressed the hope it would work, but he asserted: "The one thing this picture needs is one-man authority."

The new contract distribution office will have branches in various states and become one of the most important divisions of OPM, the White House stated.

Subway Baseball Series Looms As Yankees Win Fifth Championship In Six Years And Cards Drop Two

By Judson Bailey
Associated Press Sports Writer.

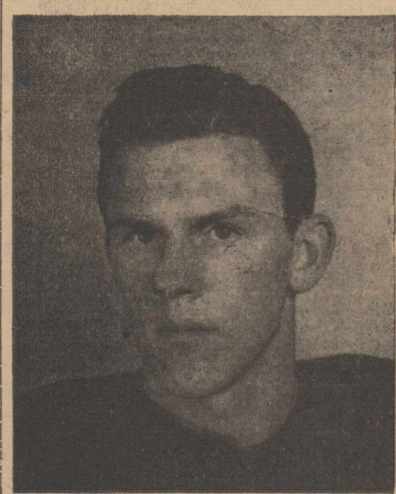

Today's best advice for baseball fans is to get your nickels ready for a subway series—the New York Yankees have clinched the American League pennant and the Brooklyn Dodgers have been handed the National League lead on a big, brimming platter.

The Yanks bombed their way to their fifth championship in six years Thursday by smothering the Boston Red Sox, 6-3, with a 10-hit assault on two of Boston's best pitchers, Dick Newsome and Mickey Harris, while Atley Donald was holding the Red Soxers in check on five safeties.

The New Yorkers thus achieved their 91st victory against 45 defeats for a 20-game lead over the Chicago White Sox—who regained exclusive possession of second place through the crumpling of the Red Sox.

All this was no surprise to anyone. The noise like distant thunder heard in the major leagues Thursday was the St. Louis Cardinals crashing a doubleheader at Chicago, 3-0 and 4-3.

Bulldogs Hustle As Grid Coach Reports More Hard Workouts

The Bulldogs had a lot of chatter for a Thursday afternoon workout and no serious injuries cropped out from Wednesday's scrimmage with Stanton.

Summing up drills so far, the gridsters have engaged in conditioning exercises, running plays in dummy, and have taken on heavy duty scrimmages.

The regular center was Jack Noyce with Jack Taylor subbing. Marshal Whitmire, J. W. Leftwich, Bobby Welsh, Ben Sevier, Wilford Lester, Buddy Davidson and Selman Coker worked in the first string forward wall.

Sports Roundup

By Sid Feder
(Pinch-Hitting for Eddie Brietz)

NEW YORK.—Not since Wron-down Getchell and Fifth-down Friesell has there been a blast such as the sports writers are letting loose on the new collegiate grid substitution rule . . . The pros used it in the all-star contests here and in Chicago, and showed just how foolish the unlimited subs can make a game look . . . In the one here the other night, one of the New York Giants was in and out of the game 17 times—and there were so many guys running on and off the field that the officials were thinking of sending for a traffic cop . . .

Hot Hash
There'll be some new busting in the next week or two about a certain major league franchise . . . Joe Louis' whole fistic family is burned up at guys who think that the Bomber's slippage because he sought a postponement for the first time in his career . . . And Co-manager Julian Black comes right out in meeting with the prediction that Joe'll stiffen Lou Nova—but good . . . Curly Lambeau took one look at Howie Yeager, who graduated from Santa Barbara to the N. Y. pro Giants, and tabbed him the best open-field runner the National loop has seen . . . Jersey fight fans are tossing Welterweight Bob (Red) Cochrane a big feed next Wednesday . . . Cubs have their eyes on Otto Denning, the first baseman-catcher at Minneapolis . . .

Revenge Is Sweet
The Yanks have clinched the A. L. flag.
As once again the Tribe did sag. And the guy who's laughing like he's lit
Is that old pal of yours—Ossie Vitt.

Dis-a And Dat-a
The grid rules are so involved that USGA proxy Pierce had to have Secretary Joe Dey along on the End Ward-Pat Abbott National Amateur final last week at Omaha to iron out any steeper that might have come up . . . When Chalky Wright tries to lift Champ Joey Archibald's title next Thursday in Washington, it'll be only for the fourth time in his life he has met and honest-to-gosh featherweight.

The guys have been so scared of him, he's had to go against the lightweights and welterweights for action . . . And you can sue Hank Ladd, the movie comic, for saying that in the fight game, one man's mitt is another man's poison . . . Don't shoot, we'll go quietly. Jimmy Conzelmann wants to trade in his pro coaching job for an army captaincy if and when we go to war . . . How about those Great Lakes navy days, Jimmy? . . . What two W. K. mid-west footballers got into a drunken driving jam Saturday night coming back from a northwestern vacation? . . .

Badgers Practice For Opening Tilt Against Cowboys

McCAMEY (Special) — Twenty-three candidates for the 1941 Badger football team reported to Coaches Squib Carruthers and Carl Coleman, and have been working out twice daily getting in condition for the opening game Sept. 12. The Badgers open their season in McCamey with the Grandfalls Cowboys.

With five lettermen, two of which were 1940 reserves, the McCamey coaches will start a new team this season. Harry Williamson, last year's guard, has been switched to the backfield, with Arthur Dillingham and Gerald Reynolds. Phil Wuerntemburg, junior team graduate, also has been working in the backfield.

Douglas Gilliland and Buster Webb have been at end positions, and Jack Brewer are good candidates for tackle positions, Pat Pauley, Pat Clark, Oscar Bushwar and Enoch Smith are at guard and Clark and Elmer Teel at center.

Other candidates are John Kedziora, Norman Whitaker, Benny Rockett, Jacob Davis, James Whitely, Bob Brazell, Bill Wheeler and Tom Babb. Billy Cook, 1940 junior end, suffered a broken arm in scrimmage Wednesday, while attempting to block a flanker. A good prospect for a wing position, he may see action before the season ends.

Glattro Pitches Win For Rebels

By The Associated Press.
Dallas' Rebels had a firmer grip on fourth place in the Texas League running and a chance in the Shaughnessy playoffs Friday.

The Rebels, working easily behind small Sal Glattro, bested the league-leading Houston Buffs, 4 to 1. Meanwhile, the Fort Worth Cats, a game and a half behind Dallas, held on grimly to their possibility of moving up to fourth place when Earl Caldwell shut out the San Antonio Missions, 2 to 0.

Beaumont's Exporters scored five unearned runs to down Oklahoma City, 5 to 3, thus ending the Indians' five-game winning streak.

Rain at Tulsa washed out the Oiler-Shreveport contest and spoiled the Sports' mathematical chance of winning second place in the league.

President Don Stewart of Tulsa said the semi-final Shaughnessy series between the Oilers and Shreveport would open in Shreveport Tuesday night.

Bombers Defeat Amarilloans 4-3

By The Associated Press
Big Spring held a two-up advantage over Amarillo in their West Texas-New Mexico League playoff Friday, the Bombers having won Thursday night, 4 to 3.

Borger and Clovis were squared off at one all after Borger's victory Thursday night, 3 to 1.

Big Spring's catcher, Dick Ratliff, blasted in the winning run with two men down and the score tied in the eleventh. Hayden Greer scored from third on Ratliff's single.

Borger's victory was the result of Blaine Peterson's home run, scoring Pitcher Bill Garland ahead of him in the sixth.

Nelson Holds Second Place As O'Shanter Field Nears Mid-Way

CHICAGO (AP).—The whirlaway of professional golf, slim Byron Nelson of Toledo, Ohio, was perfectly satisfied with his second-at-the-quarter position as the field headed for the halfway pole Friday in the $11,000 Tam O'Shanter Open championship.

Nelson was not the pacemaker as play began in the second round of this richest tournament of the year. That spot was occupied by Leonard Dodson, 29-year-old professional from Kansas City. But the quiet-spoken Nelson, one of the greatest stretch finishers the sport ever has produced, had a 67 round he believed was all the start needed in his quest for the tourney's top prize of $2,000.

Dodson, the Missourian whose locker-room yarns and trick shot wagers are legendary, started the second round with a seven under par 65 as the result of a great performance Thursday.

Nelson, whose finishing ability has carried him to several major championships in a manner comparable to the stretch-running talent of the Calumet Farm's 3-year-old turf champion, Whirlaway, was two shots back at 67.

Southwest Conference Gets Up Steam For Grid Season Capable Of Having Nation's No. 1 Team For Third Time

By Harold V. Ratliff
Associated Press Sports Writer

The quarter-century-old Southwest Conference gets up steam Friday for a football campaign in which are found the proper ingredients for producing the nation's top team for the third time in four years.

These ingredients are:

- A University of Texas team ranked in the first bracket before a touchdown is scored or a punt is blocked.
- A roving schedule including more than 20 inter-sectional tests that will carry Southwestern power into ten states.

There are no soft touches along the trail and any team capable of going unbeaten through such schedules as mapped by Southern Methodist, Texas Christian, Texas et al, certainly would get every consideration for national honors.

Inter-sectional Picture
More than 300 huskies reported Friday for conditioning and the work is going to be hard because the campaign's start is but three weeks away.

Here is what conference mentors face in the inter-sectional picture in addition to their usual six conference games:

- Texas—Colorado, Louisiana State, Oklahoma and Oregon.
- Southern Methodist—Fordham, College of the Pacific and Auburn.
- Baylor—Denver, Villanova and Tulsa.
- Rice—Tulane, Louisiana State and Centenary.
- Arkansas—Detroit, Mississippi and Tulsa.
- Texas Christian—Tulsa, Indiana, Fordham and Centenary.
- Texas A. & M.—New York University and Washington State.

Midland Troop Wins Second In Contests

Buffalo Trail Council headquarters issued a bulletin declaring Midland Troop 54 second place team in the annual council Boy Scout swimming meet here Aug. 26.

Sweetwater Sea Scout Troop 1 first was announced winner of second place behind Big Spring Troop 3, with Midland third, but officials in checking results found that team had used an ineligible swimmer. Therefore Midland was placed second.

The Big Spring swimming troop scored 235 points. Midland counted 35 points.

Refiners Place Only Two Players On Team

WICHITA, Kas. (AP).—Enid, Oklahoma, won the National Semi-Pro title for the second straight year but the major league scouts picking the all-America sandlot baseball team honored three players on the second-place Waco, Texas, nine and only two Refiners. Stillwater, Okla., also placed three men.

The ivory hunters restricted their choices to players without experience in organized baseball.

FORMER MAJOR LEAGUES SHOWS OLD CONTROL
TEMPLE (AP).—Roy Mitchell still has some of that control that carried him to a pitching job with the Cincinnati Reds 20 years ago.

Spotting a wildcat that he suspected of raiding his livestock, Mitchell picked up a stone, went into his old windup and killed the animal on the first pitch.
