Objectors Of Nazi Regime Pay At 12 To 1 Ratio For Death Of One; Germans Promise More Reprisals

Mass Execution Of Hostages Raises Number Of Slayings To Twenty-Five And Officials Declare Three-Day Mourning For Populace

By The Associated Press

PARIS, German-Occupied France.—A dozen Frenchmen went before a German firing squad Saturday in a twelve-lives-for-one reprisal.

This mass execution of hostages was a ratio increase in punishment of the Paris population for acts against the occupying force and was the occasion for a warning that the reprisals would be further stepped up in the event of more attacks against German soldiers.

The 12 died in retaliation for an attack in which one German non-commissioned officer was killed early last Tuesday. It was the largest number of hostages yet shot and raised the total to 25.

The ratio which previously had stood for reprisals was three hostages executed for each German attacked. None of the other Germans was killed, however.

In Vichy it was announced that French authorities working to down opposition had condemned three Communists to die. One of them was Adolphe Guyot, Communist leader of the Paris district. A Free French radio broadcast from London stated that "for each Frenchman shot in reprisal by the German army of occupation, two German heads will roll on the day of final reckoning."

The executions were announced by the German military command of occupied France, Gen. Heinrich Von Stuepnagel, who in curt tones warned that in case of further attacks against the Germans "many more hostages will be shot."

Saturday also saw Paris subjected to the stiff penalties yet imposed by the German administration. Starting Saturday night restaurants, cafes and movies must be closed on the dot at 8 p. m. for a three-day "mourning period," and the populace must be off the streets from 9 p. m. to 5 a. m.

The grand total of persons executed since a German ensign was shot in a Paris subway Aug. 21 now is 35. As hostages, seven were executed as Communists and three as spies.

An apparently growing wave of hostile acts against German occupying authorities throughout the Nazi-dominated continent was indicated Saturday in a flood of reports from abroad. Such activity, frequently bringing German repressive measures, was reported from Holland, Belgium, Yugoslavia and Czechoslovakia as well from France.

Bulgars Defeat Red Inside Work

SOFIA, BULGARIA (AP)—Police said Saturday three groups of Communists trained at the Russian naval base of Sevastopol for military and political sabotage in Bulgaria, landed in this country in the last six weeks.

All have been wiped out, it was declared. The first group arrived Aug. 11 and immediately established contact with the Russian legation in Sofia through a Czech radio operation, police said.

These men, believed responsible for the blowing up of a munitions and fuel train at Varna, immediately committed suicide when traced by the authorities, the chief of police declared.

The second group landed Aug. 28 and intended to operate in the Balkan Mountains. These men also shot themselves, it was declared.

Parachutists who dropped from the sky Sept. 14 were killed after a six-hour engagement, police reported.

Daily Oil Allowables Are 1,415,000 Barrels

AUSTIN (AP)—Average daily oil allowable in Texas for the week ended Saturday was 1,415,340 barrels, and increase of 3,831 over the previous week, the railroad commission reported.

The permissive production figure was 36,740 barrels greater than the United States Bureau of Mines recommendation for daily market demand.

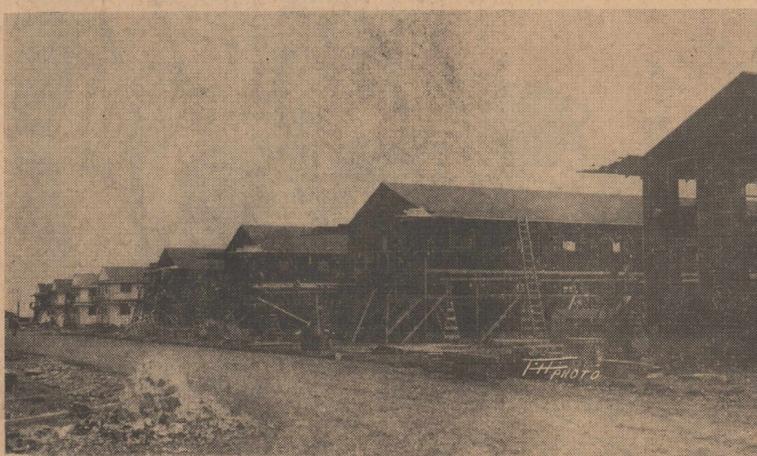

Engineers estimated actual flow was 12,797 barrels under the bureau standard because of an average 3.1 per cent monthly under-production. The number of Texas wells increased 183 to 97,902.

Conoco Jones May Open Crane Field

By Frank Gardner Oil Editor

Continental Oil Company No. 1 Evan B. Jones at Saturday appeared to have opened a new Simpson, middle Ordovician, sand pool for Southwestern Crane County as it blew gas and recovered oil-cut drilling mud on drillstem test.

Test was from 5,703-63 feet, with tool open 30 minutes. Gas reached a maximum volume of 120,000 cubic feet at the end of 17 minutes and when drillpipe was broken down it contained 233 feet of oil-cut mud.

Some observers stated fluid was 30 per cent oil. At last reports No. 1 Jones et al. was being developed in search of additional Simpson sand pay or production in the Ellenburger, lower Ordovician.

No. 1 Jones entered reworked Simpson shale at 5,545 feet and drilled coarse, oily sand from 5,730-50 feet, with best saturation evident from 5,746-48. It was cored from 5,753-63 feet, recovering seven feet of barren lime and shale.

The strike is only one and one-quarter miles south of Ellenburger dolomite production in the south extension area of the Sand Hills field. It also lies five miles north across the Pecos River from the Abell Simpson pool of Northern Pecos County. Oil sand encountered by the Conoco wildcat is said to correspond to the Sharp pay, lower of the two producing Simpson sands found in the Abell pool. It also is correlated with the Waddell sand, found productively by Gulf Oil Corporation No. 1 W. N. Waddell, first Simpson producer in Crane, eighth and one-half miles to the northwest, on the northwest flank of the Sand Hills field.

The prospective discovery, which may forge a link in the chain of Ordovician pools in the Crane-Pecos country, is located 660 feet from the northeast and northwest lines of section 12, block 3, H. & C. survey.

Three Clear Fork Failures A trio of Clear Fork, lower Permian, tests in the North Permian Basin Saturday were put on the duster list.

George P. Livermore, Inc. No. 1 J. E. Rice, in Northern Lynn County, two miles northeast of the New Home community, is being plugged and abandoned at total depth of 6,421 feet in black, calcareous shale. It showed only streaks of oil staining in the Clear Fork lime.

Stanolind Oil & Gas Company abandoned its No. 2 Lillian Scanlan, in Northwestern Dawson County, at 5,885 feet in line. Rotary returns were lost at total depth and could not be restored although operator pumped in many tons of mud. The well was a failure in the San Andres lime of the Permian and was being deepened to 7,000 feet in search of Clear Fork pay when crevice was struck and circulation lost.

In the southeastern Cochran County sector of the Slaughter field, Atlantic Refining Company No. 21 H. T. Boyd, which showed nothing in the Clear Fork in drilling to 7,000 feet, has been plugged back for completion in the regular (San Andres) pay zone of the pool. String of 5 1/2-inch casing has been cemented at 5,119 feet with 300 sacks and operator will perforate pipe opposite pay line from 4,960 to 5,065 feet.

Callihan & Waggoner No. 1 E. M. Wahlenmaier, Crosby County wildcat, 20 miles southwest of Crosbyton, topped anhydrite at 710 feet and is drilling past 940 feet in salt. Elevation is 2,655 feet.

Ray A. Burch of Lamesa and Richmond Drilling Company of Midland No. 1 J. J. Handley, with elevation of 3,086 feet, topped anhydrite at 2,215 feet and salt at 2,290. It is said to be running normal.

The colossal battle in Russia enters another week under bleak omens for the Soviets and their British allies. Undoubtedly, Hitler's hopes of smashing Russian resistance utterly before winter comes and then turning his full might against Britain, have touched a new high.

The vast Nazi offensive has at least penetrated Kiev and is gravely threatening to overrun not only what little is left of the Ukraine but fan out around the Sea of Azov toward Russia's vital Baku oil fields.

Censorship veils details of what is happening in the Ukraine, but it appears that Kharkov, great industrial nerve center far southeast of Kiev, also may soon fall, or perhaps has already fallen. And it is but a good step for Germany's seven-league military boots from Kharkov down the Donets River to Rostov and the pipe lines that tap the Baku fields to feed the Soviet war machines.

Wasn't 'Red' Hand Of Fuehrer—Just Reflection In Sky

"What's those two red streaks in the northwest sky?" "Do you know what those two red lights are in the west sky?" "Say, what's happening? Go out and look at the sky and you'll see two red flares!"

"Has Hitler finally come to get us—what's those things in the sky?" Those were a few of the questions fired at The Reporter-Telegram office Saturday night when citizens noticed two red reflections skyward.

Observers at the Midland airport reported the lights were reflections of flares burning in the oil fields at Goldsmith.

Sailor Unions Ask FDR Investigation

By The Associated Press

Two AFL sailor unions asked President Roosevelt Saturday to investigate what they called the Maritime Commission's "high handed methods" in dealing with a seaman's strike.

As the commission prepared to send out, with new crews, two strike-bound ships which it had questioned, the Seafarers International Union of North America and its West Coast affiliate telegraphed the President a protest against "the interference of the Maritime Commission with unions' collective bargaining rights."

Town Hall Club Presents Wilson As First Speaker

Capt. Gill Robb Wilson

Town Hall Club will open its 1941-42 season by presenting Capt. Gill Robb Wilson, president of the National Aeronautic Association, in a lecture at the high school auditorium at 8 p. m. Wednesday evening.

Capt. Wilson will speak on "The Truth About Aviation—Military and Civil" and discuss many current questions in connection with America's defense program, such as: Can America produce 50,000 planes a year? How many fliers will be needed? Are Americans in danger of being bombed by foreign invaders? Former War Flier

As president of the N. A. A. Capt. Wilson is in close touch with manufacturers transports officials and others connected with aviation and in his talk he probably will correct misinformation regarding America's aviation program.

He is a former World War flier; was a member of the Army Air Corps Reserve; and was a member of the advisory committee of the United States Bureau of Air Commerce.

Admission to the lecture will be by Town Hall membership card. Season tickets may be purchased in advance or at the door.

Civic Leaders Will Meet Monday To Provide Housing For Army

Federal Government Grants City Green Light On Defense Housing And Priorities On Materials

Midland will make plans Monday to provide housing for Army Air Corps officers and enlisted men who will be stationed at Sloan Field here. Approximately 20 civic leaders have agreed to meet at breakfast at 7 a. m., at Hotel Scharbauer's Blue Room to make necessary arrangements for financing and to work out details of the big housing program.

John P. Butler, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce's housing committee, called the session and announced the drive must be started immediately and pushed quickly to completion.

Approximately 300 housing units, ranging from bachelor quarters and single kitchenettes to furnished six-room houses, will be required by the Army to properly house its men.

The green light has been given the program by Washington officials. President Roosevelt has designated Midland a National Defense housing area under Title Six of the National Housing Act. The city has been granted priorities in obtaining necessary building materials.

For weeks the designations have been awaited so Midland can start its building program. Now civic leaders are ready to quickly make their drive to provide housing for the men who will man the $5,000,000 Advanced Twin Engine and Bombardier Training Center.

As a defense housing area, Midland is eligible for liberalized mortgage insurance under the Federal Housing Act. Only 224 areas in the United States have received these benefits proclaimed necessary to relieve acute housing shortages. Builders can obtain better mortgage financing terms, individual purchasers can obtain easier terms.

Under the regular FHA provisions only owner-occupants could obtain 90 per cent mortgage insurance. This will be extended to builders and owners of rent houses in the defense areas. The builder will be permitted to sell or rent.

Defense Preference Under the priorities rating granted Midland by Donald M. Nelson, priorities director, a defense preference is granted for materials to be used in the construction of homes costing less than $6,000 each.

In addition, Midland has been designated a defense city under the Lanham Act which makes it eligible for federal aid in expanding school, water, sewer, recreation and other municipal facilities.

Civic leaders and business men plan to perfect organization of their campaign Monday and get construction work started as quickly as possible.

"It is up to Midland to provide proper and adequate housing for the Army," Butler said when he called the meeting.

Tax Load Increases To Record Figures As President Signs

WASHINGTON (AP)—With President Roosevelt's signature, the $3,553,400,000 revenue bill became law Saturday and the federal tax load mounted to record-breaking proportions.

The Chief Executive signed the legislation at his Hyde Park, N. Y., home, where he had taken it for a study of its provisions. Both Senate and House approved it earlier this week and sent it to the White House.

Existing taxes and the new levies are expected to bring in between $13,000,000,000 and $15,000,000,000 next year, but even this amount will fall far short of meeting Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau's recommendation that government spending be financed two-thirds from taxes and one-third from borrowing.

Congressional tax authorities, saying that additional revenue legislation was in prospect, forecast that the present tax structure, plus the new act, would raise only about half of next year's expenditures which are expected to run around $32,000,000,000.

Russians Die As Germans Capture Kiev

MOSCOW (AP)—Russia reported a "savagely life and death struggle" raging Sunday about Kiev with a quarter million fresh Nazi troops thrown into the battle for the Ukrainian capital.

By The Associated Press

A perfect example of the Blitzkrieg technique, implemented with virtually every weapon in the Nazi arms chest, has delivered Kiev completely into German hands, Berlin dispatches declared Saturday night even as the Russians told of stern life-or-death struggles in the old city's suburbs, and the United States and Britain hastened their program of aid for the sore-pressed Soviets.

The Russian position in the Ukraine evidently was a desperate one, although the official Soviet army paper Red Star said the Germans had lost 10 divisions—up to 150,000 men—in assaulting Kiev, and a high source in London expressed doubt that the Nazi drive generally was doing as well as claimed by Berlin.

Moscow announced officially early Sunday heavy fighting raged up and down the entire front and that it was "particularly fierce" at Kiev. Reports reached London that a state of emergency had been declared in Bulgaria and the diplomatic correspondent of the Sunday Dispatch reported that King Boris had decided to take the Balkan kingdom into the war on the side of the Axis.

The exact situation at Kiev was not altogether clear. Adolf Hitler's headquarters reported that the Russian officers had fled from the Kiev citadel and that the garrison, with German troops pouring into the city hot on the heels of the fugitives. This implied without definitely stating that the entire city had fallen.

Clean-Up Ends Resistance Unofficial German accounts from the front, however, said all the city of 850,000 population was taken by the combined and terrible force of flame-throwers, dive-bombers, tanks, and charmed infantrymen who hurled showers of grenades before them.

It was a smoothly-working coordination, and essential item in the broad plan for the conquest of the remainder of the rich fields and factories of all the Ukraine, these dispatches stated.

The house-to-house cleanup quickly ended all resistance so that the Russians had small chance to wreck the city in furtherance of their "scorched earth" policy, the Germans said.

Kiev Battle Not Over The Russian communiques made no admissions, though fighting was said to be heaviest in Kiev. The Moscow radio told of deadly struggles in the Northern suburbs and Red Star said the Soviet forces were determined to make the Germans pay the highest possible price in blood for the third largest of Russia's cities.

All Russian accounts suggested that the struggle for Kiev might continue, at least in the immediate neighborhood, for several days to come.

A qualified London source acknowledged that the German drive had made the Russian position in (See WARFARE, Page Six)

Odessa Approves Water And Sewer Bonds; Light Vote

ODESSA, Texas.—Although only a small number of voters went to the polls, Odessa Saturday approved a $75,000 bond issue for water extensions and a $25,000 bond issue for sewer extensions if federal aid is obtained on the two programs.

Sixty-one votes were cast for the water proposal and only 19 persons opposed it. The vote on the sewer plan was 62 for to 22 against.

Federal grants several times the amount of the city expenditures have been requested. The city is ready to start the program as soon as federal funds are available.

Defense Guard Grows Rapidly

AUSTIN (AP)—Born of crisis, the infant Texas Defense Guard has grown in less than a year to a massive organization of men perfecting at great personal sacrifice their plans for protection of home and Democracy.

It is the largest state military defense unit in the United States, with approximately 14,000 infantrymen and 500 aviators scattered over the length and breadth of Texas.

Its members like to say that in the Texas Defense Guard, which fills the shoes of the federalized national guard, a private's pay is ten times that of a major's.

They both get nothing, and ten times nothing is nothing.

Guardsmen not only are payless but they supply their own uniforms. Some of them even buy equipment.

At least an hour and a half a week they drill, and sometimes on week-ends they go out on maneuvers, just as do regular members of the army.

Such expense and loss of time in the interest of the nation's defense prompts this from Lieut. Col. Neil H. Bannister of the Adjutant General's department: "They are the real patriots."

Let's Go, Midland

Approximately 300 housing units, ranging from bachelor quarters to six-room furnished homes, must be provided before January 1 for Army Air Corps officers and enlisted men who will be assigned to duty at the Advanced Twin Engine and Bombardier Training Center at our Sloan Field.

It is the patriotic duty of Midland to provide adequate housing for the families of the men who are defending our country in these crucial times. Our government has arranged to help all that is possible on the big assignment handed the community.

It has granted Midland housing designation to liberalize mortgage insurance under the Federal Housing Act. It has granted Midland defense rating under the Lanham act so schools may obtain Federal aid in serving additional students and so the city may seek Federal aid in extending water lines, sewers and taking care of other necessary expansions in connection with the increased population. It has granted Midland defense priorities rating so building materials may be obtained to construct the houses which will be needed.

Now it is up to Midland to do its part. Homes must be constructed quickly and rents must be held to reasonable levels. Petty differences must be forgotten. Our country is in a war. To date, it isn't a shooting war. But America is ready and determined to defend.

Many of the men in our armed forces have made big sacrifices to serve America in this crisis. They are determined that democracy be maintained and that America always remain free from the yoke of dictators.

Midland was selected by our Army as the home of the Advanced Twin Engine and Bombardier Training Center. It turned over to the Army its fine municipal airport in which it has invested $179,000. City officials have worked closely with the War Department in perfecting plans for the training center.

They have let nothing keep them from their patriotic duty. They have worked long hours to iron out details of the plan. They have neglected their business and their own interests. But they are determined to aid our National Government in its stand to keep the American way of life.

Some citizens, looking only to selfish interests and personal gain, have lost sight of the seriousness of the world situation at times and have inadvertently spoken unthoughtful words.

These would be the first persons to complain bitterly should our government fail to do everything possible to keep America safe from dictators.

Many of them will be the first to aid in the program to adequately house armed forces who will be stationed in Midland.

Our country's security is not alone dependent upon airplanes, guns, tanks and ships. It is dependent upon the morale of our armed forces—men who have gone to our colors to see that Old Glory always waves proudly.

The Landing At Spitzbergen

While the joint landing at Spitzbergen of Canadian, Norwegian, and British troops is not a matter of great immediate military importance, it is important in another way.

For the first two years of World War II, Germany had the offensive. The British, for lack of full understanding of what was going on, and handicapped by scruples, let Norway, Holland, and other opportunities go by.

Now they are first in Iraq, in Syria, in Iran, and first in Spitzbergen. It is a welcome change. It shows alertness. Spitzbergen is nothing in itself. But as an island base at the top of the world above Norway and northern Russia it opens the way to either if opportunity offers.

In a war, as in a boxing match, much goes to him who gets in the first punch. It is a delight to see, after so many defensive counters, a few cases where the forces of freedom have at last gotten in that first punch.

Mercy Is Not Forgotten

The major national effort today is an effort of force. The United States did not choose the international game of force that is being played today. Others chose it, and we are intent that our own power shall be such that we do not lose out in the game.

Yet in the midst of the billions being poured out to build defensive force for ourselves and others resisting aggression, it is pleasant to see that mercy has not been entirely trampled underfoot in the rush—nearly $22,000,000 worth of food, clothing and medical supplies have been sent abroad for relief or charity in the first six months of this year.

It is a pitiful drop to dilute the bitter cup the world is drinking, yet so far as it goes, it is good. No matter what happens, it will not be regretted, and it should not be allowed to dry up, but should be augmented into as great a stream as possible.

Henry Ford says success in life can begin even at 90. Maybe that's when patience is its own reward.

Stock Market Trend Continues Downward

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market Saturday ended a generally unsatisfactory week with an extension of the sharp decline of the previous session.

While prices steadied in many instances in relatively quiet dealings and a number of favorites managed to emerge with modest advances, small fractional recessions were widespread at the close.

Bearishness persisted over war bulletins telling of fresh Nazi successes in Russia, brokers said, and while Wall Street inclined to the belief the Reds still had a chance, few were willing to take on additional commitments.

Advisory Board To Study Krebs Pardon

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UP)—The California state advisory pardon board at its September meeting will consider the pardon application of Richard Krebs, better known as Jan Valtin, author of "Out of the Night."

Executive clemency for the 36-year-old former German seaman may prevent his deportation to the Reich. He told Gov. Culbert L. Olson of California a pardon would assist in his efforts to obtain passage of a bill in Congress directing the attorney general to record lawful admission for his permanent residence.

A pardon, Krebs said, not only would help him establish an American home for his American wife and son but "it would also frustrate Nazi and Communist efforts to deliver me to Hitler's headmen for having become an implacable foe of totalitarian methods of government."

HARRISBURG, Pa. (UP)—Pennsylvania's home defense is no longer merely "on order."

Greene said that all men have been issued rifles, that two of three regiments are fully enrolled and that only rare vacancies exist in the third regiment, recruiting of which has been slowed by lack of trained, experienced officer personnel in certain relatively rural areas.

Hard Luck Hits Harvard Coach

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UP)—This was supposed to be the "lucky seventh" season for Richard Cresson (Dick) Harlow, the bald botanist who holds the football helm at Harvard.

At one time it seemed that all the noted ologist would have to do would be to dig up a couple of spades to assure the 1941 Crimson machine a return to the top ranks of eastern powers.

Harlow had eight returning regulars and only three links missing from his second team of last season. There also were five third-team holdovers and a fairly-promising crop of sophomores. The entire set-up virtually was unprecedented at Harvard.

Then the storm broke. The draft, probation and illness started sniping at his squad until nine candidates including two lettermen were liquidated. The list included Charley Spreyer, triple - threat halfback, Virgie Ayers, a sterling center, and Mort Waldstein, slated to be regular fullback.

Dispute May Retard Movie Investigation

WASHINGTON (AP)—A dispute over how much a Senate committee may spend on unauthorized investigation threatened Saturday night to put the brakes on the inquiry into charges of war propaganda and monopoly in the motion picture industry.

Senator Lucas (D-Ill.), who handles the Senate's own purse-string as chairman of the audit and control committee, said he would not approve any expenditures for the movie inquiry "until I am informed how long this is going to run and how much will be spent."

Furthermore, he said he might ask the Senate to limit to $150 or $250 the sum which may be spent on an investigation not approved by the Senate itself.

Such a Senate decision might abruptly halt the movie investigation since its costs for expenses of witnesses and keeping a record of its hearings presumably have already passed $250.

Taft Criticizes Willkie's Stand On '42 Elections

By William B. Ardrey

WASHINGTON (AP)—Declaring that "it is unfortunate that Mr. Wendell Willkie should attempt to read out of the party those who disagree with him on foreign policy," Senator Taft (R-Ohio) said Saturday he saw no reason for Republicans to make an issue of international policies in the off-year elections of 1942.

Willkie, the 1940 Republican nominee, recently let it be known that he would make a fight next year for those Republicans who have supported President Roosevelt's foreign policies. He is determined, associates asserted, to make the Republican party one of "internationalism" rather than "isolationism."

Taft, who has opposed administration foreign policies, told reporters that "foreign policy is not usually considered a matter of partisanship."

Martin Endorses Records

"Congressional votes on the question have cut across party lines, and there is no reason for the Republican party to make an issue of foreign policy next year," he added.

"No Republican national convention can be held to make any binding declarations regarding policies before next year's elections, and the party national committee clearly has no authority to make such declarations."

Associates reported that representative Martin (R-Mass) chairman of the Republican national committee, also held the view that Republicans should run next year on their individual records and on issues of paramount importance in their own districts. Martin, it was said, believes the primary duty of the party is to elect Republicans, regardless of their positions on foreign policy.

Construction Circles In Midland Predict Housing Designation Will Stimulate New Building Boom Here

Midland pushed over the $400,000 mark in 1941 building last week and with the announcement that it was designated a National Defense housing area, construction circles predicted a fall program that would send building well over the half-million mark for the year.

Permits for four residences, three of them to be built by one man, featured last week's building news.

E. P. Kenner will build three $2,700 residences at 1307, 1303 and 1305 West Washington streets. The two at 1307 and 1303 will be five-room frame structures with garages attached. They will be 28 by 35 feet and of lumber. The house at 1305 will be 24 by 34 feet, lumber, with a 11 by 22 garage detached.

The Presbyterian Church received a permit for a $6,200 brick-veneer residence for a manse at 1210 West Missouri St. It will be 52 feet, 8 inches by 39 feet, 8 inches. The location is in the West End Addition.

Last week's permits for $14,300 brought the year's total to $412,050.

PATTERSON, Fort Stockton, scored one touchdown and kicked two conversions in Panthers' shellacking of Stanton, 32-7.

BOB NEELEY, towering Kermit halfback, gained most yardage in a 25-13 win over Crane's Golden Cranes. He racked most of the Yellow Jackets' 15 first downs.

TROY LANGFORD, Crane end, caught lots of passes in the Kermit game. Handicapped by injuries, the Golden Crane terminal was a threat throughout with his snagging.

Rebels And Vols To Start Series

DALLAS. (AP)—The miracle men of the Texas League—Dallas' Cinderellas of the base paths—start the drive Sunday night to add another amazing chapter to their book of startling revelations.

Barely able to get into the Shaughnessy play-off with a team relegated to the second division at the start and never considered strong contenders until the waning weeks of the campaign, the Rebels square off against Nashville's Vols here before a certain sell-out crowd.

Eight thousand persons will jam into Rebel Stadium at 8 p. m. to watch little Sal Glatato, the mighty mite, try to make it 24 victories for the season.

The starting pitcher for Nashville is expected to be Roxie Lawson, ex-major leaguer.

Both Glatato and Lawson are right handers.

Landis Stands Firm On Series Schedule

CHICAGO. (AP)—Kenesaw M. Landis, commissioner of baseball, ruled Saturday that the world series would open Oct. 1, as scheduled, and this turned down a suggestion that the first game be postponed because it coincided with the Jewish Holy Day, Yom Kippur.

Landis made known his decision in response to a request by the New York City council that the series opener be set back to Oct. 2 because of the observance of the Jewish Holy Day on Oct. 1, when the New York Yankees will meet the National League pennant winner in the Yankee Stadium.

In his letter to Joseph T. Sharkey, vice chairman of the council, Landis set forth in part:

"How your honorable body got such a proposition into its head, especially at this time, is utterly beyond my comprehension. It is not good for the city. It is not good for the Jew. The date remains Oct. 1."

Coleman Williams, with the office of the railroad commission here, is a former basketball player of Texas Tech. He was a lettered hardwood artist . . . We hope Jimmy Wilson plays some more city league basketball this year because he is the smoothest piece of maple-court machinery in Midland . . . Sheriff Ed Darnell wants to serve a summons on somebody in Brooklyn, St. Louis, or New York next month about World Series time . . . Bobby Walker, Texas University baseball pitcher, is going to pass up school this fall semester and get bigger for coming diamond seasons . . . Jack McBrady, oil company employe, is an ex-hockey player and a good one.

Name Captains Of Green Wave Eleven

MONAHANS (Special) — Odess McName and Bill Andrews were named co-captains of the Monahans high school Green Wave. Andrews is a three-year letterman and plays tackle. McName lettered last year and is calling signals for the team.

Leonard Defeats A's For Eighteenth Win

District 3-AA Chase To Start At Odessa

Colorado City Plays Broncs And Midland Meets El Paso High

By Tanner Laine

Conference play in District 3-AA opens Friday night with Colorado City engaging Odessa at Fly Field in Odessa.

Other 3-AA clubs also will play on the week-end. Competition is becoming stronger as the teams dispose of warmup tilts and pre-conference opponents.

Midland opens the home season against the strong Austin high of El Paso on Lackey Field Friday night. El Paso is batting .500 per cent with a win over Cathedral high of El Paso and a loss to Big Spring, Midland lost to Ysleta in its only game.

Defending champs, the Big Spring Steers, who looked good in nudging Austin high, 17-13, last week-end, invade Brownwood, which lost to Sweetwater, Thursday night.

Abilene Eagles, conqueror of Plainview in their debut, go to San Antonio for a night game against Thomas Jefferson.

Lamesa, winner of two pre-conference engagements, will be tested by Plainview.

Picked for district champs, Sweetwater has waded through two worthy early season foes and plays host to another—the Graham high Steers Friday night.

Saturday night, San Angelo, surprise of the district in swamping San Antonio Tech, will be severely contested at home against Lubbock's Westeners, who beat Northside of Fort Worth, last week.

The roundup of last week-end:

LAMESA 20 THOMAS EDISON (San Antonio) 0

LAMESA. — Gus White, Jr., took the ball on the Bear 40-yard stripe after the Tornados had worked easily to that point and crossed the goal line for the first score of the game in the first two minutes of play, then kicked the extra point. After that it was smooth sailing for the Lamesa eleven as a crowd of approximately 2,000 saw Coach Lester Gregg's hustlers cleanly whip the scrappy Bearers of Thomas Edison high, San Antonio, 20-0.

COLORADO CITY 20 MONAHANS 20

MONAHANS. — Monahans' Green Wave and the Class AA Colorado City Wolves battled to a spectacular 20-20 tie here Friday night before a capacity crowd.

ABELINE 25 PLAINVIEW 0

ABELINE. — A crowd of 6,000 persons, including 300 spindly-legged ward school and high school freshman footballers in grid togs, saw the Abilene Eagles crush the Plainview Bulldogs 25-0, with amazing tank-like tactics Friday night.

BIG SPRING 17 AUSTIN HIGH (El Paso) 13

BIG SPRING. — Big Spring high school's Steers made a triumphant gridiron debut Friday night, mixing running plays with passes, plus a dash of field goal to defeat the Austin Panthers of El Paso, 17 to 13.

A faster tempo will be applied to the sale of season football tickets Monday and a full-time clerk will be at the Chamber of Commerce office to sell the deuces.

Tickets may be obtained from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. daily at that office. Many good seats remain, school officials said.

Students, who will be admitted free to games this year, will sit in section G and form a student cheering section. They will enter the stadium at the south gate.

Season tickets were received Saturday.

Season tickets are good for the five home games, which include battles on two holidays, Armistice and National Thanksgiving. The home schedule is:

Dodgers Capture Two And Near League Flag

Flabushers Defeat Philadelphia With Fine Work On Slab

By Ted Meier.

PHILADELPHIA. (AP.)—Those pennant-bound Brooklyn Dodgers had no run-ins with any opposites at Shibe Park Saturday. Instead they ran right over the last place Phillies in both ends of a double header to increase their first place lead over the losing Cardinals in the torrid National League race to two games with only seven left to play.

After Whitlow Wyatt, aided by Hugh Casey in the ninth, had pitched the Brookes to a 2 to 2 victory in a thrilling first game, Kirby Higbe duplicated Wyatt's feat for an easy 6 to 1 triumph in the nightcap. Wyatt gave up only three hits and Higbe four.

Thus, in an atmosphere of virtual quiet except for several incidents when excited Brooklyn rooters jumped onto the field to pat their favorites on the back and arms, Harry Marmis of the Phils, had failed to touch first on his two-bagger to right, Manager Leo Durocher was right behind him, however, and promptly escorted Wassell back to the bench.

First game:
Brooklyn .....000 102 000—3 4 1
Philadelphia 000 100 100—2 3 2
Wyatt, Casey and Owen; Hoerst, Pearson and Livingston, Warren.

Second game:
Brooklyn .....030 010 020—6 10 1
Philadelphia 001 000 000—1 4 0
Higbe and Franks; Blanton, Grisom, Beck and Warren.

Maley Describes Santa Elena Canyon, One Of Beautiful Sites Geologists Will Visit On Society's Field Trip

Probably the most interesting sight, both to layman and geologist, to be seen on the 1941 Fall field trip of the West Texas Geological Society, Sept. 27-28, in the proposed Big Bend National Park area, is the majestic Santa Elena Canyon.

Vaughn C. Maley, division geologist at Midland for Humble Oil & Refining Company and chairman of the field trip committee, several years ago described Santa Elena Canyon in a story written for the "West Texas Rattler," published by the Humble.

Maley said, "Of the many wonderful spectacles of nature that are present in Texas, the most outstanding in point of grandeur is Santa Elena Canyon, or the Grand Canyon of the Rio Grande, as it is sometimes called. This 2,000-foot gorge, cut in hard limestone, is a classic monument to the slow but persistent attack of erosive forces on the surface of the land. Not the least interesting part of this particular work of nature is the exceptional view which the sightseer has of it.

"In most other cases canyons are viewed downward from the rim unless a long and perhaps dangerous descent is made. At Santa Elena one stands at the bottom of the gorge with the 2,000-foot walls towering above. And just in front of the observer the river (Rio Grande) flows out of the canyon into more or less flat terrain. Thus a person is accorded what might be called a ringside seat, from which to view the spectacle.

Magnificent View
"Santa Elena Canyon is located about 100 miles south of Alpine and almost at the most southern point of the Big Bend. The Rio Grande enters the canyon at the little village of Lajitas and the gorge ends abruptly at the mouth of Terlingua Creek about 25 miles downstream. The general appearance at the present time is that of a rather large mountain with the canyon cutting directly across it. The road that leads from Lajitas to the mouth of Terlingua Creek rises only about 400 feet above river level, yet in order to maintain its present course the river has chiseled through 2,000 feet of hard rock.

The mountain referred to is a huge, rectangular block of limestone tilted toward the southwest and presenting a precipitous face to the northeast. The river cuts across this block from the back side, as it were, and emerges at the bottom of the almost vertical northeast face. At the face of the escarpment the canyon is readily accessible and presents the most magnificent view. It is this view that is so often seen in photographs and which is familiar to those who have visited the area.

"The great, precipitous face of the escarpment can be seen for a long distance. As one approaches the mountain, what first appears to be a tiny niche in the rock becomes discernible. On drawing nearer it is evident that the niche is really a rift that cuts entirely to the bottom of the escarpment and finally, when one reaches the foot of the mountain, he can look directly into the canyon, presented in perfect cross-section. As it emerges from the escarpment the river makes a sharp bend to the southeast and flows along parallel to the cliff. This change in the river course enables the observer to get directly in front of the mouth of the chasm and the view up the canyon for a distance of nearly a mile is unobstructed. The rock walls rise vertically for about 1,000 feet. At this height there is a slight bench perceptible on both walls of the canyon and along the face of the escarpment. From the top of this bench the bare rock walls rise another 1,000 feet.

river bank the canyon presents a breath-taking spectacle. It is particularly beautiful in the afternoon when the light from western sun filters down through the haze of the canyon and the reflections from the cream-colored limestone walls make a glamorous lighting effect."

At least 125 persons are expected to make the trip, according to advance registrations filed with Maley. Participants will register at the Holland Hotel, Alpine, the evening of Sept. 26. They will assemble at 8 a. m. Saturday, Sept. 27, in Marathon and that day will drive south through the Marathon Basin to Perisimon Gap, Dog Canyon and Santa Elena Canyon. the Ukraine more precarious than ever, but expressed doubt that the Nazis had completed the big-scale encirclement move which they claimed had surrounded four Russian armies east of Kiev.

If they should complete such a maneuver, however, this source said the rich Donets basin with the cities of Kharkov and Rostov would be exposed to the next thrust, and the Germans then could support and protect a new drive along the north shore of the Black Sea.

They would be in a position to shut the door to U. S. and British supplies coming via Iran, he said.

Yankee Defense Also Is Stellar

NEW YORK (UP)—So much attention is paid by baseball devotees to the amazingly effective batting power of the New York Yankees, who coasted to their fifth American League pennant in six years, that the gifted qualities of their defense stars seems less obvious.

The same applies to the pitching, just as important part of the defense setup as the ability to wield a grounder with dexterity. Over that six-year span in which the Yankees have succeeded in dominating baseball to such a great extent, the pitching has been consistently effective and except for this season, has ranked close to, if not as the best in the junior circuit.

Infield Quartet Dazzling
Maybe it isn't quite fair to say that the pitching has been ignored by the fan, certainly the feats of Red Ruffing and Lefty Gomez have acquired ardent hero-worship in generous portions.

But fielding is one department that the average fan loses sight of, and the omission is particularly great when a team like the Yankees plays. Their batting feats, with Joe DiMaggio, Charley Keller and Bill Dickey playing the star roles, have produced such prodigious records that the deeds of the Yankees' infield quartet, Red Rolfe, Phil Rizuto, Joe Gordon and Johnny Sturm, are overshadowed.

Yet in the defensive department, the Yankees have one of the smoothest, most adroit infields ever assembled on a major league team.

Before the defense program began, the U. S. firearms industry in 1939 produced 22,812 rifles, 486,429 shotguns, and 90,987 pistols and revolvers, according to Census Bureau reports. Despite world conditions, this was a sizable decline from 1937 production (totals when 913,056 rifles, 552,239 shotguns, and 133,293 pistols and revolvers were produced.

Near East Meets West In Exotic New Fashions Created for American Women's Wear This Fall

By Marguerite Young
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK.—Ladies and gentlemen, it's the McCoy. American fashion is being set by and for the people of this country in the New York designers' fall openings.

Sally Milgrim did it spectacularly. She calls her fashion "Arabesque." But what's in the name? This Milgrim collection is as American as slang—adaptations and combinations of ideas picked up hither and yon. True, the source is ancient and far-away. It is the Bible country of the Near East. But the clothes are put together on the thread of Milgrim's personal experience of Near East geography. And they are timely as tomorrow's war bulletin from that front. For instance, they introduce a knee-length dinner skirt—a harem skirt, by the way—and a nine-inches-from-the-ground skirt which this designer says will go to parties this busy winter, from twilight on. And a corset with six sturdy bones to say, "Hips, round, round!"

Nine Milgrim colors are used. Some are hues you never saw before except maybe in museum pottery or the Arabian Nights. There's Shangri-la Red, a pink with orange and black tones; and Persian red, a cerise, and Scherzade red, which is deep and blends with purple. A decided purplish cast comes out in surprising places in these clothes—even in the Maharajah bronze, which really looks like the metal or like the elm tree that turns bronze in the fall. Milgrim's Arabian Midnight Sky blue is dark as the stormiest heavens, but not black. Her Arabian Sea green is dark yet more lively than most dark green; her Persian Sea green is pale, near aquamarine but greyer.

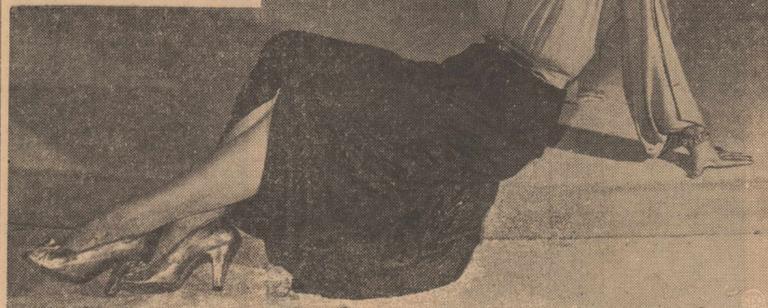

All these glorify the "tent-pole silhouette." That's Milgrim's name for what she got when she took a lot of shape-ideas that have been used gingerly and separately in recent seasons, and put them all together to form a big-shouldered, tight-belted figure draped narrow at the knee or ankle.

This designer, who's always going places and who seems never to forget her business, went to the Near East ten years ago. She liked the Orientals' clothes and the colors of the sultry earth and water. And she remembered, and built this collection around them, persuading American fabric-makers to dye things for her.

ORIGINAL CLOTHES —BUT PRACTICAL, TOO

The theme dress naturally will remind you of "The Sheik." It is extreme. It's silk jersey with bronze top and Baghdad sleeves, which means great big, draped sleeves. Other designers make news, this year, with perfectly flat shoulders; Milgrim makes shoulders bigger than every. And she overlays them with fantastically rich embroidery, beads, or sequins. The neck has no fastener. And she overlays them with

But wait. Milgrim takes the brazen silhouette and these unheard-of colors and works them into wearable clothes. Her knee-length dinner dress with harem skirt is made of black wool jersey. Round-necked with demure Persian fur band, and smoothly fitted long sleeves, this dress could go from any office to almost any party with perfect composure. Or consider Milgrim's Arabian Sky blue, long-sleeved taffeta dinner dress.

It has a huge, simply huge, round hemline. The skirt is set on a yoke at the waist, which produces that smooth round-hip line. There's a transparent yoke at the shoulders also. Milgrim outlines the shoulder with cartridge-pleating to make the wide "camel-boy" shoulder, and she piles the cartridge pleating on again in a wave-like decoration on the lower part of the skirt. It's exotic but wearable. So are most of the collection's suits. Her bronze wool has a round, gored and pleated skirt and bronze silk accordion-pleated blouse with beaded yoke and cuffs. The jacket is hip-length.

Wolverine fur makes a huge yellowish-brownish-hennaish muff, and it decorates the matching turban.

Naturally, most Milgrim hats are turbans. Some shoot up, or out. Others droops, and have flowing drapery.

Not every woman can buy these lush, slimming, very-female Milgrim originals. But you'll know they exist if you watch clothes; they set a specific, identified fashion, and one that could easily inspire the makers of ready-to-wear wardrobes.

BENENSON COLLECTION REMINISCENT OF PARIS

Fira Benenson presented, at Bonwit-Teller, a collection which both asks and encourages American women to keep their chins up during these strenuous times. The effect is achieved by a "chin-lifter" literally. It is a neckpiece—beautiful, chic, at times sheer nonsense—which goes with a muff. Both are separate from, but designed as part of, the costume. On one of the net muffs, huge stuffed bluebirds perch. These promote the S-posture, which means a forward tilt of the hips. The bosom and derriere are just a little stuck out, and one could give a ladylike swish. The Gibson Girl did it. Benenson receives it, modified her subtle sense of humor.

Everybody said Benenson's collection reminded them of Paris. It should. She is the only big American designer who entered the art of dressmaking as a buyer of French originals. She was a high-born Russian, and spent ten years in Paris before coming to the United States. Here Bonwit-Teller discovered a Benenson quality which is still making style. The quality is inimitable taste. Benenson displays it now in materials made for her here—brocade-like matelasse satins, black, bright yellow, cerise. She displays it also in fine cutting—for example, a skirt with absolutely straight front and a backward flowing fullness that comes from heaven knows where. With this, Benenson uses an absolutely flat shoulder and natural waist.

Uneducated Youths Get Farm Training

DEARBORN, Mich. (UP)—On 100 acres just outside this suburb of industrialized Detroit, 29 young men are learning the economic advantages of applying to farming the mechanization which is so important to profitable operation of industry.

The group came here early in May from farms in 29 districts where they were valedictorians in an agricultural extension course conducted by the National Farm Youth Foundation among some 10,000 future American farmers.

They are here at the expense of the foundation which is sponsored by the Ferguson-Sherman Manufacturing Corporation, a Ford affiliate, and are being paid $150 a month until their year of advanced training ends.

Without a college education, they are getting training that might be denied them otherwise.

September Licenses May Top High Mark

September may prove more popular for marriages than the top period in June when 16 licenses were issued, Mrs. Susie G. Noble, county clerk, said.

Twelve licenses have been issued in September.

Receiving licenses in September were: Sydney Bert Fowler and Mary Elizabeth Houston; Don E. McKenney and Lucy Belle Sparks; Orbie Harris and Vera Mae Dile; Allen Edward Nolen and Lee Lockhart; Russell Surles, Jr., and Emily Hereford; Landreth Waddleton and Ola Mae Cato; Tony O'Herrera and Elvira Mae Archineiga; Barney Gafa and Irma Dale Kelley; Henry Baker and Flora Bruce; John Francis Malloy and Geraldine Goodrich; John Walter Carroll and Katherine Betts; and Undie Wallace and Stella McMurry.

Farms under 10 acres in the United States increased 41 per cent from 1930 to 1940 the Census shows.

Director Says Texas Operators Obey Rules

AUSTIN—Texas truck drivers as the whole are complying with the new 38,000-pound weight law passed by the recent legislature, State Police Director Homer Garrison said.

From May through July, the first three full months after the old 7,000 pound load limit law was repealed, the license and weight division filed 1,111 cases for violations, compared with 5,634 in the same period of 1940.

Most of the violations, Garrison said, are committed by out-of-state truckers. "There has been some criticism of wholesale violations of the 38,000 pound gross weight law, but diligent enforcement efforts fail to reveal any such conditions."

Dozens Of Clever Ideas Available To Make Even The Smallest Home Reflect Personality And Interests Of Owner

By Kathleen Eiland

They say that women build the homes in Midland—in the sense of planning them, of course. Viewing the dozens of new residences now under construction or recently completed, it is evident that numbers of people, whether men or women, are planning and erecting new residences.

The time is past, happily, when a house could be "different" from its neighbors only if it were a huge and costly structure.

Today, even though your home is to be a compact little cottage where every foot of space must count, and every dollar which goes into its building must be budgeted, there is no reason why it should ever be mistaken for "just another house" like the Joneses' down the block and the Smiths' across the street.

There are dozens, yes scores, of little building ideas that will help make your home, whether it costs two thousand or twenty thousand dollars, a place that expresses your own individuality.

Look To Windows.
There are for example, the windows. You may have them set in the corners in which case there are two lines of thought. One approves this as giving more wall space for furniture. The other considers it unsatisfactory because it leads to problems in the use of venetian blinds and draperies.

Large windows are now used, rather than groupings of small ones, we are informed. Recently however, we observed an attractive arrangement of three small windows to one side of the front door in a new cottage. The porch roof above the door was continued on to protect and shade the windows as well.

Something sure to be "different" is the use of the circular windows or roto-vents. Those which open are used in bathrooms or where it is desired to conserve wall space and yet give light and ventilation. The ones which do not open are employed in closets.

Seen in a new house here is a living room on the west, with north front, windows in north and south walls and two of these circular windows used in the west. North light, south light, and the sunset colors through those unusual windows set high in the west wall. What could be nicer?

Use Paper Differently.
As to wall treatment—colors and materials may well reflect the owner's personality—whether in bold modern colors, soft ladylike pastels, or the muted shades which denote the quiet conservative.

Probably you've always thought of wallpaper on the wall, with ceiling likewise papered or given some other finish. Why not turn things around? Plaster the walls and then paper the ceilings—not in the usual ceiling paper but in the bright designs which are ordinarily used on the wall. We saw a kitchen done in this way and quite attractive it was, too.

The white wall contrasted pleasantly with the ceiling papered in a kitchen design featuring red vases. At least such a room should lend a kind of "bright sky overhead" effect to living.

The idea of using "companion papers" in a room, a novelty introduced a couple of years ago, is gaining in favor, we're informed. The entire room in this case employs a basic color, but the design on perhaps two of the walls will be different from that on the other two. Companion papers might feature one paper in a design of stripes and its mate in a design of flowers and stripes.

Breakfast At Bar.
Another opportunity for individualizing your home, especially the culinary region, is to employ a breakfast bar. A variant of the breakfast nook idea, it takes even less space and is a convenience certain to be appreciated in the household where there are children who must be hurried through breakfast, dressed, and sent off to school on time. It's just as nice for the working couple who want to eat at home with the minimum of time and effort to be spent.

The breakfast bar gets its clever name because, in its true form, it is counter-high and equipped with stools which provide plenty of room for the knees. It may be simplified or changed to suit the needs of your own particular family and home.

If you're tired of having the sink along a wall in the traditional way, put it in the corner. You might even put it out in the center of the room. The architect did that in one instance in order to get the light, and put the breakfast bar behind it. Result, other people came along and liked the idea.

Like Lots Of Space.
People here like large rooms, we are told. "It's a large country," one official whose company builds many homes, said. Correspondingly, people in Midland usually like large lots, with plenty of space around their homes.

In the smaller homes, the large room problem is often solved by putting the living room and dining room into one large apartment. Each is finished as a complete room but separated only by an open archway, if rectangular in shape. Sometimes the dining room forms an L off the living room portion. Such an arrangement has been found practical and livable.

More and more people are demanding quality construction and finish. Given these, even though you have the exact amount of material in your home that each of your six neighbors has and can spend no more money than each of them does, there's no reason why you can't mix a little ingenuity and a little thought in with your house plans and build a home that will express your own personality and your own way of living—that will spell you in its every line and color.

Food-Living Costs Soar To Highs But Earnings Keep Up

By Thomas F. Coman
WASHINGTON (AP) — Food prices and the cost of living have reached their highest point in 10 years under the impact of the armament effort, but an accompanying rise in weekly earnings of factory workers, government economists say, has more than kept pace with climbing prices.

Records of the bureau of labor statistics show that the cost of living has gone up 7 1/2 per cent since the start of the war in Europe. But in the same period average weekly earnings in manufacturing industries have increased 32 per cent.

This is contrary to the experience of the first two years after World War I broke out in Europe. In 1914-16, living costs jumped 14 per cent. Figures are not available on wage increases of that period, but economists say that earnings lagged behind increasing costs.

Current higher earnings and wage increases, of course, have not reached all workers, and there are many persons with fixed incomes, receiving no more now than they did two years ago.

Most experienced duplicate players consider the team-of-four contest the most interesting form of tournament bridge. The only difficulty lies in getting four people who want to play together on a team. Every bridge player has three ratings—what he thinks of himself, what others think of him and how well he actually does play. Finding four people who agree their play is of about the same caliber is what holds up the popularity of team-of-four thought from the bidding that West must hold the king of diamonds. Her discard was made in the hope of inducing West later to lead a diamond. Then the club finesse would have to be won, but this looked like a better chance.

West fell for the bait. When he was in with the ace of spades, he led a low diamond. That gave Mrs. Wallendorf the game.

Ward Prospects For Cotton Crop Best In History

though continued rains will greatly damage the yield, County Agent John L. Mogford reported.

A survey of the county indicated picking will be in full swing next week. Ward County gins have produced about 200 bales this season.

The cotton quota of 320 pounds per acre this year is the highest ever allotted the county, and approximately $140,000 will be received by farmers for participation in the AAA program. First checks totaling $7,898.96 were received last week. The rate payment under the AAA program for Ward County is 1.37 cents per pound of yield. Approximately 12,000 acres are included in the program.

Boll weevil and boll worms are not threatening the crop.

bridge. Interest in these contests, however, is increasing each year.

The amateur team-of-four at Asbury Park this year was won by Mr. and Mrs. William Cheeks of Washington, D. C., Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Wallendorf of Coral Gables, Fla., and Mrs. H. L. Zacks of New York, a five-player team. The runners-up were Mrs. E. M. Goddard of Asbury Park, N. J., Mrs. H. A. Steiner of Neal, N. J., Mrs. Barney Levine of Trenton, N. J., and Maurice Levin of Newark, N. J.

Mrs. Wallendorf is a clever player, apt to fool you if you are not careful. Today's hand demonstrates her skill. After taking the ace of hearts, West continued with the queen. Dummy played the king and Mrs. Wallendorf (South) discarded the ace of diamonds.

This was a tricky discard. Declarer saw she could discard the five of club, whereupon game is probably easy if the diamond finesse wins. But Mrs. Wallendorf

SERIAL STORY

BRIDE FROM THE SKY

BY HELEN WELSHIMER

COPYRIGHT, 1941, NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: The telephone bell in Judy Allen's apartment rings insistently as she leaves it for the last time, but she does not answer. With her in hand, dependable Philip Rogers, attorney for the magazine of which she is an associate editor and the man she is soon to marry. She knows who is calling—Sandy Ammerman, a daring, impulsive aviator. Judy decided her intense interest in Sandy was only infatuation when newspaper stories linked him romantically with Heloise Peg Gordon. Only question mark left in Judy's now well-organized life is her secretary, Sara Fuller, jealous of Judy and obviously disloyal.

AN INTRUDER ARRIVES

CHAPTER XIII

THE telephone bell roused Judy and Philip down two flights of stairs, peeling steadily as though whoever was calling intended to remain at his end of the phone until somebody came home to answer.

"It may be important," Judy suggested.

"Couldn't be. I'm not on the other end of the line," Phil answered. His voice was gay but his eyes were deeper, more serious than usual. "Anyway, you've a train to catch."

Noting this, Judy suddenly introduced a new note into the conversation.

"Phil, my darling, you may be the best buy on the market, but there's one word we aren't having said when we stand together before the preacher. The word is 'obey.' It's too mid-Victorian. You think so, too, don't you, down under your liver or appendix or somewhere?"

Phil's laughter was clear and ringing. He reached for her with strong arms, pulled her to him, and kissed her firmly, almost demanding. For the moment she forgot Sandy. As he released her she smiled more radiantly than she had for days. Phil was sweet. And devoted. And masterful. Maybe being married to him would be more fun than she had suspected.

"I never knew 'obey' ever was used in marriage ceremonies," Phil said. "You call your minister and tell him to cross it out."

"He knows better, but I'll warn him," she agreed. "Some women—the kind who want to put up a good front before agreeing to share a man's name and doorway—think it makes a man happy to have his pet poodle run whenever he throws a stick. If a woman doesn't serve tapioca pudding because she likes to please her husband, what's the sense in coercing her into it? He'd get better meals at his club."

Their conversation was gay and happy as they rode to the station. They had the taxicab driver roll his cab onto the ferry which would carry them to the Erie station. Once on board, they left the cab and stood at the boat's stern, watching the high lights of Manhattan walk the sky in cyclorama.

The harbor was strewn with little boats and far out some warships rode the waves.

JUDY looked at the high lighted canyon whose walls were lower New York, listened to the three musicians, who had come on board to play old songs and collect pennies and nickels. Because she knew she could never return this way with the freedom and gaiety which she was taking with her, she felt lonely and clung more tightly to Philip's arm.

Obeys was a word one neither put in a marriage ceremony nor omitted. Obeys was a code which a heart held or discarded. Maybe in time she would think of Sandy as a little too rough-hewn, remember that his eyes never quite lost their laughter as surely all men's eyes must do sometimes, not recall that there was special music in the low timber of his voice.

Maybe . . .

She said goodby sweetly, told Philip she would meet his train the next Tuesday. Then she found her compartment on the train and sat staring into the sky. Four more days of being Judy Allen and nobody else.

The stars looked brighter as the train rushed west from New York City. She had read somewhere that people had to travel 50 miles or more away from the artificial glow to see the stars in their clarity.

Maybe Sandy had been remembering the wide spaces of clear blue and dark blue, where there were stars at night, when he talked about his flights to freedom.

She recalled that, in a recent newsreel, she had seen him alighting from his plane with Margaret Gordon. There had been nothing wistful or sad in his gaze. His mouth smiled and the crinkles stayed around his eyes.

"Stop being a nitwit," she commanded herself. "The guy didn't want you. He's proved it, so forget him."

Whereupon a dozen things that he had done, half a dozen attempts to see her, scrambled over the other reasons.

"Maybe he wanted both Peg and me," she murmured, half asleep. "And I do—like—Phil—a lot. I'd trust Phil!"

THERE was excitement at the low, widespread white house with its many wings when she reached it. Spring, soft and sweet and hyacinth-drenched, blew gently through the trees that were coming to flower. Cousins and aunts, already notified, had arrived.

Mrs. Irvington Allen, having been deprived of a scalloped awning and red-carpeted steps at her wedding 25 years before, was determined that her only child should have every thrill that accompanies romantic marriage.

True, Judy had sprung her forthcoming nuptials on the family rather suddenly, but Mrs. Allen was certain that she would manage the wedding easily. The old stone church where the family worshipped was two blocks away. An open church wedding would be just the thing, since her husband would be up for his fifth re-election as common pleader judge pretty soon.

His supporters would enjoy the lilies, the slim white candles, the smilex and the pageant of the wedding party.

At first Judge Allen hesitated because he himself had hied his slim, golden-haired bride to the justice of the peace so many years ago. Judy's wedding might make some lost magic up to her though.

When Judy wired she didn't mind and the idea amused Philip, he told his wife to go to town—to engage a caterer, ice cream wedding bells, small silver boxes for the cake which would bring dreams to every guest.

The judge was tall, slim, silver-haired. Already he had met this future son-in-law on occasional visits to New York and had grown fond of him. Here was the man he himself would have picked for Judy.

Therefore, when he saw Judy receive another young man in the low-ceilinged room and while drawing room and then promptly order him to leave, the day before the wedding, he raised his blue eyes in surprise.

"A gate-crasher," Judy said coolly, wondering if the whole house heard her heart tumbling over and over. "Put him out, please, Dad."

As he turned to obey, her whispered voice interfered. "No, Dad, I don't mean that."

United States Puts "Squeeze Play" On Nazis Business In South America---Result: Germans Now Are On Run

By Peter Edson
NEA Service Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON. — The Germans in South America are on the run for the first time since the end of their first world war.

After that war, with the creation of the Weimar Republic, the rise of the socialists and the fall of the Junkers, there was an exodus of German aristocrats from the Fatherland. Thousands of them came to the new world. Those who couldn't get into the United States flocked to the countries below the Rio Grande. Every Latin American republic, from Mexico to Argentina, got its quota. They came to settle down.

With the rise of Hitler, some of them went back home, but most of them stayed on and they were on hand, dug in, and ripe material for the Nazi agents to work and build on. They are there yet—2,000,000 of them.

But they're being dug out. That's the good news. They're being dug out fast. Long before the Department of Commerce and the Department of State slapped down the so-called blacklist in mid-July, 1941, freezing the assets of German and Italian nationals and making it impossible for U. S. firms to do business with agents of Nazi sympathies—a process of undermining the German business houses had been quietly going on. It worked like this: Turning Tables.

Wherever United States government agents in South America—State Department men, consular men, consular agents, Department of Commerce representatives, Rockefeller men, Export-Import Bank men, Federal Loan Agents—found North American firms represented by Germans or Italians, the business was quietly switched to a new connection.

North American manufacturers and distributors were given plenty of time to make the change. Business men were taken into the government confidence. It was a beautiful example of business and government cooperation to wage economic warfare against the Germans.

German propaganda that the U. S. will sell to Latin America—but will not buy in return—has been shown up "as blank-blank lies." Above, a crate of U. S. machinery is unloaded at a South American port. At right, barge-loads of bananas, bought by North American for North Americans. In the last six months we have bought more from South America than Europe ever did in its best year.

Say it was a general drug business in "Ciudad (city) X." The German house, unable to get supplies from Germany because of the British blockade, started to import ingredients from the United States. The Americans' problem was to transfer United States exports to a new wholesale outlet in Ciudad X. Instead of trying to send United States citizens to Ciudad X, as Germans had been sent, to take up residence and commercial activities, a search was made among the old and well-established families of the country for bright young sons who could be set up in business. Promising young men were persuaded to go into business. They had the necessary solid financial and community backing.

They knew their own countrymen and they were natives, points that overcame all the objections to foreign invasion of domestic trade, which might be held against North Americans just as well as it could against Germans.

Nazi Counter-Attacks Failed To Come Off

In literally hundreds of cases—from Mexico to Chile—this formula was followed quietly with unbelievable success. While the so-called blacklist as made public had 1800 firms listed, it was originally nearly twice that size. Before the list was published, half the original names had been taken off by the simple process of forcing the German houses out of business by taking their U. S. agencies away and giving them to South Americans.

When the German houses in South America caught on to what was happening, they tried to beat the game by setting up dummy commission houses of their own. This trick was easily uncovered.

Desperate, the Germans then tried selling their business outright. But the North and South Americans played ball. The German "for sale" offers were ignored. The South American customers played ball too. They started boycotts and blacklists of their own.

Germans May Get A Chilly Reception

Then began one of the strangest sights in South American history—a mass exodus of Germans from all over South America to Chile. There are perhaps more Nazi Germans in Chile today than in any South American country except Southern Brazil.

Southern Chile is a little Germany—has been for years. The Germans being run out of other countries now have figured that the Chileans are the most sympathetic to national socialism of all the South American people. The Germans, they know, have been at work there for years, with better than average success. There have been many neo-Nazi putesches and revolutions in Santiago.

If the German choice of Chile

as a refuge for the duration of the war is a good one, there are some South American experts bold enough to say that before long you will be hearing of a German ghetto south of Santiago. It will be just like the ghettos the Nazis set up in Warsaw for the Jews, just after Poland was invaded. Only this Chilean ghetto will be peopled with South America's Nazis instead of with Polish Jews.

Commissioners Of Ward County Vote Same Rate

MONAHANS (Special) — Ward County commissioners have set the county tax rate for 1941 at 75 cents per hundred dollar valuation, the same rate as that of the last two years. Total county valuations are $16,793,355, approximately one million dollars below the 1940 value.

The 75 cent levy is divided as follows: General fund, 25 cents; jury fund, 20 cents; road and bridge fund, 15 cents; permanent improvements, 17 cents; courthouse and jail bonds, interest and sinking fund, 16 cents.

An additional levy of 20 cents was assessed in road district No. 3, Grandfalls and Royalty, for road bond interest and sinking fund there.

$1.04 Barstow Levy
A rate of $1 was set in the county's only common school district at Grandfalls and Royalty with 58 cents going for maintenance, 20 cents for 1921 bonds, 10 cents for 1936 bonds and 30 cents for 1937 bonds. Valuations in the Grandfalls school district are $7,512,310.

A levy of $1.04 was assessed in the Barstow drainage district, 50 cents for maintenance, 50 cents for interest and sinking fund, and four cents for the assessor's fees.

Grandfalls drainage district will pay only 54 cents, 50 cents going for maintenance and four cents for assessor's fees.

Wink Scout Leaders To Start Campaign First Part October

WINK (Special)—The annual Boy Scout funds drive will start in Wink the first part of October, O. O. Whitton, committee chairman, announced.

Plans for the drive were made recently when C. E. Paxton, Sweetwater, Buffalo Trail Council president, and S. P. Gaskin, Big Spring, field man, met with Wink leaders. Cities in the council will not have separate quotas this year, but will work toward a tentative $15,000 budget for the council.

A Scout official may be stationed at Monahans, to serve Pecos, Monahans, Kermit and Wink in the western part of the area.

Traffic Jam Or Not, Adheres To The Law

ATLANTA, Ga. (UP)—Wash Williams, negro truck driver, is taking no chances with the law.

His truck struck a pedestrian near the busiest intersection in town and although the victim rose and walked away, Williams blocked traffic for three blocks, refusing to move until police arrived.

"The law says a truck driver who has an accident must stop right now and stay here until the police arrives," he told irate motorists. "And I'm going to do what the law says. Here I stays till the police come."

Army Selectees Find Benefits In Service

CHICAGO (UP) — Army service may not be the most desired type of life in the opinion of many eligible selectees, but it does have its advantages.

Tax concessions to men in military service are already on the statute books of many states and still others will be enacted, the Federation of Tax Commissioners report.

Most common exemptions are waivers on automobile license taxes or registration fees, exemption of homesteads, and deferment of income or property tax payments.

Invite Minnesota Governor To Speak At WTCC Meet Here

The nation's youngest governor, Minnesota's Harold E. Stassen, famed for his fiscal control reforms and administration, is being invited to address the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention at Midland, Nov. 4.

The legislature of Texas, in special session, Wednesday unanimously adopted a resolution by Rep. Joe Humphrey of Abilene commending Gov. Stassen for his control policies and inviting him to speak in Texas on that subject. Humphrey was author of the Texas fiscal control bill sponsored by the WTCC, that passed the lower house by heavy majority on the regular session last May, but failed to reach a vote in the Senate after winning unanimous committee approval there. The West Texas Chamber will renew its campaign for the legislation at the next regular session.

The invitation to the Minnesota governor to the Midland convention was wired by J. Thomas Davis, president and D. A. Bandeen, WTCC manager, who said: "Collaborating with Texas legislature in unanimously passing resolution complimenting you, we cordially invite you to address the twenty-fourth annual convention of this organization convening in Midland Texas, November 4, on state fiscal control. This organization fostered fiscal control measures in last session of legislature and is continuing campaign for its adoption. A statewide audience of importance is assured."

Registrants Should Consult Physicians

"Consult your doctor and your dentist to correct any remediable physical defects before you are called for examination by your boards," General J. Watt Page, state Selective Service directors, has urged registrants.

Calling to attention that statistics compiled by national Selective Service headquarters show a high rate of rejections of registrants for remediable physical disabilities, General Page suggested registrants awaiting call for military training should endeavor to fit themselves for acceptance not only as a patriotic duty in a period of national emergency, but also in the interest of public health and their own personal well being.

Terracing Gains In Midland Area

Terracing is finally coming into its own in Midland County, M. W. Whitmire chairman of the Midland County AAA committee, declared.

The conservation materials and services phase of the AAA program has been enlarged to include terracing under the 1942 farm program, he said.

In explaining the terracing program in Midland County, the county chairman said that if demand is sufficient, the county committee will let bids to contractors to build terraces for cooperating farmers. The contracts will be let on a 100-foot basis and contractors will be paid by the AAA after the terraces are completed.
