Nazis Claim Victory Over Reds In Ukraine

By The Associated Press
Adolf Hitler's high command claimed victory over the Russians Tuesday in a great new battle in the Ukraine north of the Sea of Azov, but London military quarters reported the Germans had been checked with severe losses and that guns of the Soviet Black Sea fleet were heavily pounding the invaders.

Front-line dispatches to Red Star, the Soviet Army newspaper, reported a violent battle was raging on the central (Moscow) front, with Marshal Semeon Timoshenko's troops striking fierce blows against German armored wedges driven into the Russian lines.

Soviet infantry, supported by tanks and aviation, were reported to have attacked heavy German troops concentrations immediately after a long march, destroying 188 tanks and killing more than 1,000 Nazis in three sectors.

Red Star said a Soviet tank battalion ambushed a Nazi tank column southeast of Kiev, the German-held Ukraine capital, and smashed seven tanks. Bloody German losses were reported here, as well.

On the northern front, the Red Army announced that Leningrad's defense guns had smashed 19 German earth-and-timber forts on the approaches to the old czarist capital, silenced two artillery batteries and put other Nazi siege weapons out of action.

Masses of German troops were said to have been dispersed by Soviet fire.

Germany's bitter war to stamp out revolt in the conquered nations by firing-squad, hangman and guillotine brought six more executions—and one suspended death sentence. Simultaneously, the British government announced it was collecting evidence against Germans responsible for murder, oppression and cruelty to hostages and others in Nazi occupied territories.

The Germans denied British radio reports that 650 German hostages were being held by guerrillas in Yugoslavia.

A bulletin from Hitler's field headquarters indicated the battle north of the Azov Sea was part of the "gigantic new developments" which the Fuehrer himself declared had begun last Wednesday.

Workers Carry Plane Victims To Ambulances
FLAGSTAFF, Ariz. (AP)—The maimed bodies of six officers and men, killed Thursday when their Army Air Corps B-18 bomber crashed into lofty Agassiz Peak during a swirling snow storm, were carried by stretcher over trail-less terrain Tuesday to waiting army ambulances from the Albuquerque, N. M., air base.

In the grotesque flicker of lanterns Monday night Corporal W. E. Jolly conducted an inquest, but the verdict was not immediately announced. Soon afterward CCC enrollees, soldiers and civil authorities began their descent down the 12,340 foot peak, Arizona's second highest.

Four to five inches of snow and a heavy stand of timber impeded travel. By the time the group reached here, it was expected a salvaged crew of 20 from Tucson, Ariz., air base would arrive. The scattered remains of the bomber will be taken by truck to Tucson.

The bodies were horribly maimed and except for the right wing and the tail it was hard to realize that the wreckage was once a plane, said Bob Fronskie, Flagstaff photographer, who was in the first ground party to reach the scene.

Fronskie expressed the belief the pilot, Lt. A. T. King, Laramie, Wyo., was attempting to back track on his course when he swung head-on into the side of Agassiz Peak at about 10,600 feet. The ship plowed into a heavy stand of timber, shearing the left wing.

HENDERSON (AP)—The body of Lieut. W. W. Crim, one of six killed in the crash of an army bomber near Flagstaff, Ariz., will be returned to his home here for funeral services and burial.

Behind The Headlines

By DeWitt MacKenzie

Hitler's great new offensive operation against the Russians, which the Nazi claim "are of such strategic magnitude that they exceed everything else achieved in the eastern campaign," tend to lend substance to the report that he figures on making a peace offer to Britain before long.

The story cropped up this time in Cairo and it's now said that the United States is to be included in the proposal.

Briefly the idea is that the Fuehrer expects to knock Russia out of the war before the end of the year. Thus, being lord of all Continental Europe and the treasures thereof, he will quit bothering about making assaults on allied territory and will devote himself to organizing his new order.

After a spell of cooling their heels, so the story goes, John Bull and his comrades, including Uncle Sam, will see that there's no use being belligerent if there's nobody you can fight, and they will be ready for peace. In other words, the war will be a stalemate.

Peace Impossible
Peace rumors are, of course, a penny a dozen, but the circumstances in the present instance combine to form such a "natural" in so many respects that the scheme must have dwelt in Hitler's mind more than a bit. Probably if we say he had the hope, though not the certainty, that this will come off, we shall be pretty close to right.

The strong possibilities are, in my view, that peace never will come in this way.

Texas-To-New York Oil Pipeline Plans May Reappear Soon
WASHINGTON (AP)—Defense officials forecast Tuesday that the disputed Texas-to-New York oil pipeline project, once quashed by the Supply Priorities and Allocations Board, would reappear shortly before that body in altered form.

Instead of the $30,000,000 project which SPAB last month declined to grant steel plate priorities, a plan will be offered for a seamless steel tube pipeline, in-bored sources said. Seamless tubing is pressed out of steel billets.

Use of such tubing would avoid depletion of the supply of steel plates essential to the ship building program.

One official said the Office of Production Management was prepared to report to SPAB that the country's tube mills could handle tubing orders sufficient to complete the projected 1,580-mile crude oil pipeline in 1943. The line would be expected to alleviate the threat of a shortage of gasoline and fuel oil in the East.

Another plan reported to have received some consideration in official quarters is a drastically shortened pipeline from Texas to Chicago, whence oil would be forwarded to the Atlantic Coast by tank cars or inland water haul.

Wood River, Ill., has been mentioned as the possible Eastern terminus, instead of Bayonne, N. J.

Form Corporation To Provide Houses For Army Officers
The Midland Housing Company was organized, at a meeting in Hotel Scharbauer Monday night of stockholders and other Midland citizens, to construct and repair rent houses for Army Air Corps officers assigned to Sloan Field.

Elected incorporators and to serve a year as directors are J. R. Martin, P. J. Minis, M. C. Ulmer, Dr. J. B. Thomas and L. G. Mackey.

The organization starts with a paid in capital stock of $10,000 and a sizeable surplus. It was decided at the meeting the stock would be $25 a share.

Steps to perfect the corporation will be taken immediately. It expects to have its charter within ten days and to start its program immediately thereafter.

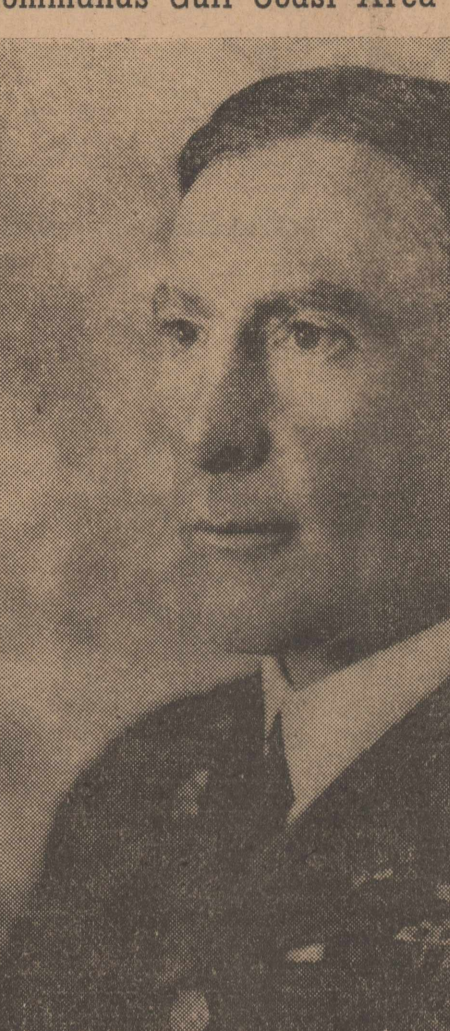

The corporation will work with the Federal Housing Administration in its campaign to provide adequate housing for the Army officers. John P. Butler, chairman of the chamber of commerce housing committee, presided at the session.

The money was subscribed by 56 firms and individuals.

Commands Gulf Coast Area

First military pilot in the United States, Major General Frank P. Lahm, has been named commanding general of the far-flung Gulf Coast Air Corps Training Center, with headquarters at Randolph Field. The veteran airman, scheduled to retire in November by virtue of reaching the statutory age limit of 64 years, is the father of the present unified Air Corps pilot training system. He personally drew the first rough sketches of the ideal military training airbase, which eventually became Randolph Field, show place of the Air Corps.

Recommendations including establishment of new traffic lights, elimination of parking of automobiles in front of schools, request for paving in front of the North Ward school, and more stringent enforcement of traffic laws, were approved by the Midland Safety Council at a meeting Monday night and will be presented to the city council.

The recommendations were drawn by a traffic study and recommendations committee of the safety group, which made a survey and study of traffic conditions. Committee members included B. W. Stevens, chairman, and James Fitzgerald, Jr., Mrs. E. A. Culbertson, Mrs. W. Y. Penn, and W. F. Z. German.

The safety council said its recommendations to the city council would be made in the form of suggestions and for the best interests of Midland.

Location of traffic lights at Main and Missouri, A and Missouri, A and Wall, A and Texas, A and Illinois, streets, will be asked. The council suggested the light at A and Baird streets be moved to Main and Missouri streets.

The Midland Junior Chamber of Commerce has agreed to purchase a light to go at A and Wall streets. The council asked that parking in front of school buildings be limited to loading of passengers and that parallel parking only be permitted on the other side of streets in front of school buildings.

Another recommendation that will be made to the city council is requirement for bicycle licenses.

Eighteen members of the safety council attended the session at which Berte R. Haigh, president, presided.

Tanker Survivor Says No Warning Given

By The Associated Press.
RIO DE JANEIRO.—A 19-year-old survivor of the Panama flag tanker, I. C. White declared Tuesday that "one and perhaps two" unidentified submarines torpedoed and sank the American-owned ship without warning in a midnight attack 600 miles off Brazil.

H. W. Ackerman, Charleston, S. C., said in the first interview with any of the 17 survivors brought here by the rescue ship Del Norte that the under-sea boat or boats fired only one torpedo.

Brazilian port authorities who boarded the Del Norte earlier said they were told the ship was shelled as she sank.

The port authorities boarded the rescue ship Del Norte for routine inspection while United States embassy and naval officials took depositions from the 17 survivors aboard.

Another rescue ship, the West Nihus, with 17 other survivors of the 37-man crew of the I. C. White, was due to arrive at noon.

Newspapermen were prevented from boarding the ship to interview the survivors until after their statements had been taken for the state department.

Alpinists Rescue Texas Daredevil

SUNDANCE, Wyo. (AP)—People scare George Hopkins, but six nights alone atop a rock spire leave him without qualms.

That's how the 30-year-old Texan parachutist voiced his reactions after he was eased to the base of Devil's Tower after dark Monday night by eight veteran alpinists.

"Were you frightened up there or coming down?" he was asked. "Never was," he replied. "But I'd rather climb back up than face that crowd."

Britain Fails To Agree With Nazis On Trading Basis

Britishers Prepare To Intern Germans After Week-End Plans Fail
LONDON.—Negotiations for the war's first exchange of wounded prisoners between Britain and Germany collapsed Tuesday because Germany insisted the deal be on a prisoner-for-prisoner basis while Britain held out for an exchange of all sick and wounded without regard for numbers.

Britain's war secretary, Capt. H. D. R. Margesson, charged in the House of Commons that the negotiations failed because of "a flagrant breach of faith on the part of the German government."

He announced that wounded German prisoners who had been put aboard two hospital ships at Newhaven poised to leave at any hour over the week end for their homes were being disembarked and sent back to camps.

Germany holds several times as many wounded British prisoners as there are wounded Germans in England.

Capt. Margesson, quoting Article 68 of the international convention regarding treatment of prisoners of war, said the exchange should be "without regard to rank or numbers." The British, he said, had planned to exchange approximately 150 Germans for 1,200 Britons.

Berlin, agreeing on the reason for failure of the deal, gave the figures as 1,500 seriously wounded Britons in German territory compared with 500 wounded Germans in England.

The meeting in the courthouse will be open. Civic leaders and representatives of service and other organizations were asked to attend.

Tiny Pamela Eats After Wanderings

CONWAY, N. H. (AP)—Pretty little Pamela Hollingsworth sat in a hospital bed Tuesday and ate her first meal in eight days—the amazing survivor of more than a week of wandering and waiting in the freezing cold of the heavy forests that blanket Mount Chocomauc.

Chipper and apparently little affected by her long stay in the open, the five-year-old youngster's first thoughts were of scrambled eggs.

Hospital authorities were astounded by her condition. Dr. Albert Williams at Memorial Hospital said she probably could go home in two or three days, that her lungs were clear and that her tiny legs—frost-bitten by temperatures which sank to nearly 20 degrees above zero—were responding to treatment.

Relax And Stay Sane

A lot of recreation experts and professional fun instigators are considering in convention the general prospects for play, and being pretty darned serious about it, too. From the President down, one after another, they have repeated something that is pretty clear to anybody who thinks about it for a moment: namely, if all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy in ordinary times, all work and no play in times like these are likely to bring the man in the white coat knocking on the door. Dr. McCracken, president of Vassar College, put it with greater dignity when he told the National Recreation Congress that without the spirit of play the world will go mad.

That is pretty obviously true, and it requires no experts to tell the average man that a judicious mixture of work and play is the right way to live. There has to be a certain amount of spontaneity about play, however, for it to have full value. When 70,000 howling baseball fans watch the classic clash of Yanks and Dodgers, the first thing to note is that they are having a whale of a good time. The second thing to note is that nobody told them they had to go to the game; nobody was fining them if they didn't appear, or checking up on whether they went or not. Nobody was telling them when to cheer, or what was cheerable. They were all at the park because that was where they wanted to be; hence they were relaxed, and for a couple of hours the world was well forgotten. And that is as it should be.

That is the American way to have fun and to get the kind of relaxation that really does some good. In the dictator countries they recognize the need of relaxation, too, so there are camps and resorts, and games. But they can't possibly be any fun with that insignificant looking fellow with the mustache gazing down from every wall; after 11 hours at the factory it can't be very helpful to have some brawny Storm Trooper come along, tap you on the shoulder, and say "Come on, now! It's time to have fun! Heil Hitler!"

What is fun, anyway? Why, a little time to do what you want to do without interference; to lose yourself in what you would be doing all the time if you could, whether it is yelling for a homer, trolling for bass, or remounting a stamp collection. Give opportunity and the people will find their own fun. Buy Defense Bonds and Stamps.

The Other Side Of Inflation

It is quite certain that it is desirable and necessary to slam down the inflation brakes. Inflation is a condition in which the available supply of money outruns the production of goods on which it may be spent; with more dollars bidding for the restricted stock of goods, prices rise, money loses its value, and the spiral speeds toward chaos. Efforts are now being made, through taxation and the Defense Bond drive, to cut down on the available money supply. But there is another approach. Every effort ought to be made to increase production of such materials as do not conflict with defense. There is a tremendous carry-over of cotton, for instance. The more cotton goods of all kinds that are produced, the more sales offerings there are to match the money floating around. That is the other side of inflation-control—to produce more of every kind of goods that can be produced without hampering the defense effort.

The more Defense Savings stamps are licked, the sooner Hitler will be. Now is the time when your small son would rather be right tackle than president. Too much money will make you unhappy—unless you have it yourself. Three broke out of a Florida jail. Florida boosters can't blame them for wanting to get out in that famous sunshine.

Stassen Asks For Faster Production

SEATTLE (AP)—Calling for greater speed in the production of defense materials, Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota told the 61st annual convention of the American Federation of Labor Tuesday "there must be less stoppages of defense production." Labor, the employers and the government, he said in a prepared address, should share the responsibility of speeding vital production. He suggested the government develop a "clear-cut labor policy understood by all" and administered by men with actual experience in the ranks and in the leadership of organized labor.

MONTREAL (UP)—Canada is recruiting women to aid in the empire's air war. The first 150 recruits for the Canadian Women's Auxiliary Air Force have started training, and within six months 2,000 more will be called. Ready to serve anywhere "in Canada or beyond," the C.W.A.A.F. will be the equivalent of Britain's W. A. A. F.—or "Waafs," as the term goes for these British women who ferry fighter planes, and work as spotters, mechanics, riggers, radio technicians, messengers and orderlies. And as in Britain, their principal function will be to release as many men as possible for combat duty.

Studies To Determine Ability Of Aspirants

ROCHESTER, Minn. (UP)—An aspirant's ability to pilot a plane will be determined before he leaves the ground—if studies now being undertaken by the Mayo Foundation for Medical Research prove successful. Ten Mayo specialists in vision, hearing and other fields are making first-hand observations of student pilots—and are even taking the Civil Aeronautics Board flight course to follow their "laboratories" step by step. The research, being undertaken free by the clinic, was requested by the CAB to develop more accurate measuring sticks of the relative ability of a prospective pilot. The physicians make their observations and medical predictions and then by accompanying the student in the air, record the results of their forecasts. The studies are being undertaken with the cooperation of the Northwest Airlines, with whom Mayos are engaged in another study of aviation medicine—development of air ambulances.

You Can Tell Time By These Skirts Growing Longer With The Hours

By Dee Lowrance
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD—You'll only have to look at a woman's skirts to tell what time of day it is, if Irene has her way. That's significant, because Irene is Top Lady among Hollywood designers. And her current models feature four skirt lengths.

Sports and tailored daywear by Irene place skirt hems about two inches below the knee. And, because all skirts are so pipstern slim, there is a short slit in the center front.

Formal afternoon dresses are another length, another type. Usually she fashions them of two wide scallops. The center front dips down to about six inches above the instep. The back is at least an inch lower.

Evening gowns are two different lengths. For dining, Irene would have your skirt swish just below the ankle bone. For formal evening wear, she suggests that your hem touch the floor. And if you want to go to extremes, you'll have a sort of fishtail train in your super-narrow skirt, with a slash almost to your knee in front.

Models reflect Irene's ideas about the "spool silhouette," which she and Howard Greer together agreed to highlight this fall. Her spool is less drastic than Greer's. But, like him, she stresses the tunic over a slim skirt; the fitted waist; width on a line with the armpit; and a soft shoulder above. They also agree in favoring the string belt, and squared-off and V-necklines.

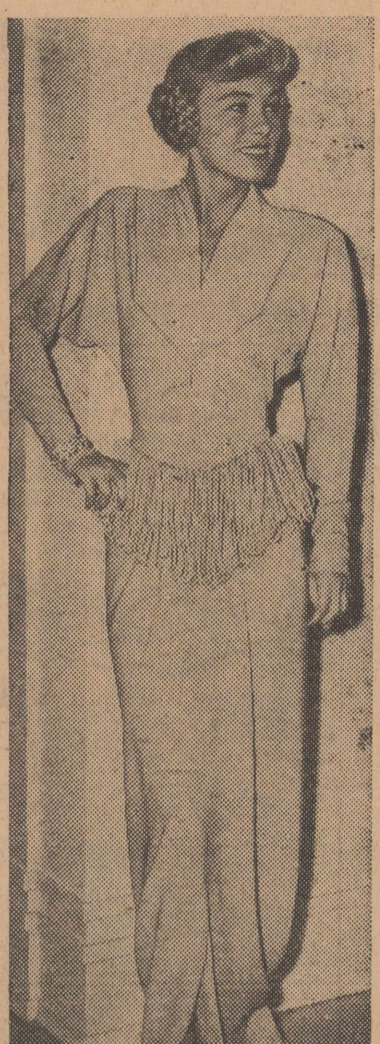

The suits are, as ever, exquisitely tailored, very colorful. Without exception, suit skirts are narrow, jackets longer than last year. And there are now dressy suits—in black. One of these has a pearl-encrusted collar; another, a velvet and wool collar.

ARABS WOULDN'T KNOW THEIR OLD BURNOOSE

Both for day and for evening, Irene presented an Arab wrap-around, or burnoose. (But an Arab would hardly recognize it in its new, chic state). One of her tailored dresses, a wine crepe, appeared with a full-length burnoose of wool with gray. The top has casual shoulders and is open to the waist at the sides.

The important evening gowns also stress fine material and color. One long-sleeved dress in pale blue crepe has a basque front of self-covered, looped cords. The skirt is slim, with fishtail in back, slash in front.

The hit of Irene's new ideas was a black dress. It was made of velvet, and had a tight skirt with two flaring tiers.

Irene's adaptation of the Arab burnoose—a sleeveless coat of vertical stripes in gray and wine wool worn over a slender tailored dress of wine crepe. The skirt length is for suits and day wear.

Plane Production Soon Will Reach 2500 Each Month

WASHINGTON (AP)—United States warplane production should reach 2,500 military craft monthly by the end of 1941, a responsible defense production official said.

September's new high of 1,914 delivered military planes — including training as well as combat types — was not a chance production spurt, officials said but a token that the nation's plane producers have reached their objective of sustained, increasing quality production.

"We are definitely over the hump," an OPM aircraft spokesman said. "I see no reason why 2,500 military planes a month should not be produced by the end of the year."

Even if output in October, November and December should not surpass but merely equal September deliveries, it was noted, the year's production would total 18,393 planes. That figure compares with the estimate of 18,000 given in February by William S. Knudsen, OPM director-general.

Britain reportedly has been receiving 75 per cent of United States combat plane output.

McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

By William E. McKenney
Mrs. Staudt's Card Authority

I don't know of any two ladies who were ever more thrilled than Miss Julia Farmer and Mrs. Nellie P. Staudt of Raleigh, N. C., when Waldemar von Zedtwitz presented to them the Pilot Club Trophy, emblematic of the Southern Appalachian women's fair championship at Asheville. Miss Farmer was one of the organizers of the Raleigh Bridge Association, but she is usually so busy working that she does not get much chance to play.

Miss Farmer and Mrs. Staudt had a nice clear-cut victory over a large field. They play their cards right down the middle and are careful not to be diverted by false-carding on the part of their opponents.

In today's hand, declarer won the opening lead with the queen of clubs, hoping to create the impression that she had no lower winners and thereby induce a club continuation. She led the spade, and Miss Farmer, sitting East, won the king with the ace.

She saw that the play of the queen of clubs must be a false-card, unless declarer held the ace-king-queen. Else Mrs. Staudt would have had a combination from which the correct lead is an honor. At all events, the club suit was a broken reed, so she led a diamond and the contract was defeated.

It is instructive to note what happened at another table, where the club was returned by East on the third trick. West won, and could not guess that the diamond lead away from her tenace was necessary. She led a spade, the queen won, and declarer cashed the king and ace of hearts and led a third round. Now she had nine tricks in sight, and the defenders could win only two spades, a heart and a club.

Slenderizing

Just the kind of dress the larger woman appreciates—it is interesting and individual and at the same time manages to make pounds seem to disappear. The full bodice sections are excellent for the larger figure and the vestee section between continues as a smart slimming belt. If you want a dress which is decidedly different make this part of a lighter tone than the rest of the dress or contrast it in beige, for instance, if the dress is to be brown.

Pattern No. 8971 is in sizes 36 to 52. Size 38 requires 5 1/4 yards 35-inch material. Contrast section would take 5/8 yard.

For this attractive pattern, send 15c in coin, your name, address, pattern number and size to The Reporter-Telegram Today's Pattern Service, 211 W. Wacker Drive, Chicago, Ill.

New patterns for all size ranges are partially illustrated in our Fall Fashion Book just out. Send for your copy today.

British Booklet Says Intensity of Planes Raids Will Increase

LONDON (AP)—Achievements of Britain's bomber command in two years of war were extolled by the government Tuesday in a 130-page booklet which said the aerial offensive against Germany would continue with ever-growing intensity—fierce, relentless and deadly.

Already the Germans are showing "nervousness and apprehension" under the increasing weight of British bombings and the day may come when they will regret the consequences of a war waged "without mercy, respite or limit," the publication declared.

The booklet, issued under the title of "bomber command," also shed new light on the smashing of preparations for an alleged German attempt to invade Britain last fall—for which the Nazis were said to have assembled 3,000 self-propelled barges and 4,000,000 tons of shipping space in continental ports between Cherbourg and Amsterdam.

Gamelin Disagreed

From July 1940, until May, 1941, more than 500 attacks were made on this invasion fleet, the booklet asserted.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UP)—Dr. C. A. Fossler, director of Dunwood Institute, predicts a shortage of more than 1,000 machinists in the Minneapolis area within the next few months.

French and British commands over air tactics, the booklet inferred that the strategy insisted upon by Gen. Maurice Gustave Gamelin, French generalissimo, was partly responsible for Britain's heavy losses.

For the first, it said, Gamelin refused to let British planes bomb German troop concentrations on German soil for fear of inflicting casualties along civilians.

Murray Attacks FDR And Administration Policies In Address

MONTAGUE (AP)—William H. (Alfalfa Bill) Murray, former Oklahoma governor, moved on to Denton Tuesday on the second lap of a Texas tour after assailing the foreign and domestic policies of President Roosevelt in a talk here Monday night under the auspices of the America First Committee.

An audience listened silently for the most part while Murray warned that the national administration was hurrying the United States into war. Occasionally someone would twit the speaker, but the interruptions were infrequent.

To one heckler, Murray reported: "You don't have sense enough to grease a gimlet."

Asserts Party Threatened

Murray spoke from the back of a truck. He indicated that he had been refused use of the courthouse and had been denied lighting facilities for the meeting, but county officials said they had not been asked for such accommodations.

Dick Lawrence, Montague County sheriff, arose at the conclusion of Murray's talk to say that he favored immediate and all-out aid to Hitler's enemies. The crowd cheered.

Nova Scotia Lacks Teachers

HALIFAX, N. S. (AP)—A good many "little red school houses" throughout Nova Scotia will be closed next winter unless something can be done to remedy the shortage of teachers. The shortage is especially acute in the western parts of the province.

Irwin of Dallas, member of the Texas America first committee, declared that members of Murray's party had been threatened.

He added that "we have evidence supplied us by our friends in Oklahoma that the Communist parties of Texas and Oklahoma have decided on these tactics as a way to hinder our meeting. We intend to turn this over to the Federal Bureau of Investigation if necessary."

Navy Representative To Take Enlistments

Representatives of the U. S. Navy will be in Midland each Monday at the postoffice to take application for enlistment.

Maj. S. L. Cook, chief machinist, U. S. Navy, from the temporary recruiting office at Big Spring, was here Monday to announce the plan. He said young men of Midland County and area who wished to join the Navy should apply for enlistment at the postoffice with the recruiting officer at 12 noon each Monday.

Cook also said enlistments by negroes for such jobs as cooks, stewards, and waiters, were open.

SERIAL STORY

MURDER IN PARADISE

BY MARGUERITE GAHAGAN

COPYRIGHT, 1941, NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: "It's murder!" whispers Maudie O'Connor, as she, her school teacher daughter Mary, and their Scottie, Finn McCool, come upon the body of sophisticated Herbert Cord near their cottage at Paradise Lake, and Maudie goes off in the dark night to phone the police, probably from the resort inn operated by elderly Chris Gordon. Cord surprised the reporters by showing up this year with sweet Margie Dixon, introducing her as his fiancée, when the people at Paradise had supposed him engaged to young Jeanie Morris, despite the objections of Jeanie's strict spinster aunt, Miss Millie, to their romance. Mary waits alone in the dark for her mother's return.

MAUDIE LIKES MYSTERY

CHAPTER III

THE moon had sailed ghoulishly past seven trees before I saw a car coming down the road. From the time that had passed and the way my eyes ached from straining to see a welcome arrival, I suspected Maudie hadn't gone direct to the inn for help. I really don't know why I expected her to do things the simple and direct way. Being her daughter for too many years to mention should have made me expect her to do it the hard way.

The car was from the State Police post over in Greenville and the young man in a trim uniform was, according to his calm introduction, Officer John Antler. He was calm, too, and so was his companion, Dr. George Orway.

"I didn't go over with them when they started in the direction to which I pointed. Instead I grappled with Finn McCool who was getting his nerve back again, and yanked him into the security and safety of the back seat of the car. Another machine came up and some more men got out and pretty soon I saw them taking flashlight pictures of the body and searching the ground."

"Crews, I supposed, and again I realized that murder meant a lot. Questions, and suspicions, and the hunt by the law. But I was too tired now that I was safe in the car to really think much about anything but the cottage and a hot shower. I hoped to heavens Maudie was there and had sense enough to turn on the gas so I could get a soothing bath."

But she wasn't. I should have expected that, too. Eventually I did get home after I had told Officer Antler what little I could tell, and he and the doctor had taken me home and left me with some white powders to help me sleep and forget the whole ghastly mess. I had calmed down enough to go to bed before I heard McCool bark in that special way he has when he hears Maudie. I was almost too sleepy by then to be angry with her, but I did manage to ask a few questions.

"A fine time to go gallivanting," I said, while that fuzzy feeling decreased blissfully and my aching nerves relaxed.

"I was not gallivanting. I merely informed the proper authorities." "It never took you so long to go to the inn on other occasions," I pointed out with less vehemence than I felt.

"I didn't go to the inn." She stood in my doorway putting her white locks up on curlers. "I went to the Morrises."

Maudie, it seemed, had called the State Police from the old Morris residence, and then she and prim, straight-laced Miss Millie had discussed the crime. It seemed that Miss Morris was too busy recalling her own anger at Herbert Cord's attentions to think of why he had been killed—or by whom!

company while the law took its own sweet time arriving."

"Nonsense," said Maudie, wiping cold cream off her face for the second time that night. "That nice Officer Antler said I did exactly right and nothing happened to you anyway."

"A lot you'd care!" I said bitterly. "A fine mother you are. I suppose you're already seeing yourself as a lady sleuth." I was too tired to continue the argument, but the next morning I started from where I had finished. Maudie, it seemed, had done her calling from the old Morris residence all right, and then, she admitted, she and Miss Millie, whom she had criticized not so many hours previously for her strictness with Jeanie, had discussed the crime.

"She knows the land around here and all the people," Maudie justified that night conversation thusly: "I merely tried to learn if she could throw any light on the crime."

"Well, could she?" It seemed that Miss Morris was too busy recalling her own anger at Herbert Cord's attentions to her niece to think of why he had been killed or by whom. "Not that I blame her for feeling that way," Maudie hurried to add. "She feels she took advantage of the child's gullibility and unsophistication, and, of course, she feels this trick of his—this bringing his current fiancée back to Paradise Lake—is exactly what one would expect of such a character."

"If she goes around spouting those sentiments she may find herself added to the list of suspects," I told her. "And so will you if you don't keep still. I haven't seen you shedding any tears over the death of this man."

"That's just too bad. I suppose it never occurred to you that I left me there alone in that beastly woods with a dead man and a criminal loose. It didn't occur to you I would have enjoyed a little

"I hope you won't have to use it," I said. "And remember, if you mind your own business and don't talk out of turn you'll be able to toss it right over your left shoulder."

But going down to the inn I wondered at the look in her eyes as she watched me turn and leave the room.

Grange Declares T Formation Is Good Only With Right Material

By Red Grange
The original man-in-motion

How far will the T spread? Quite a distance, judging by what I gather from coaches around the country.

The success of Stanford University last season has given many coaches the idea that college boys can make the modern T with man-in-motion go.

Previously, the oldest formations, brought up to date, had been pretty much confined to the Chicago Bears, where Ralph Jones, now of Lake Forest College, and George Halas developed the system to its highest state of efficiency.

First I want to point out to coaches switching to the T that it will work only with the proper material.

It requires a superlative ball handler and passer and quick starting backs.

Clark Shaughnessy, after acting as an associate coach of the Bears during his stay at Chicago, found the perfect setup for the T at Stanford.

There he had Frankie Albert, an All-America quarterback, a remarkable ball handler and left-handed passer. In Hugh Gallarneau, another All-America man, Norm Standlee and Pete Kmetovic, he had the backs to go with Albert in the T.

Shaughnessy had linemen who could do individual blocking, which makes the oldest of formations click in its up-to-the-minute form.

BACKS MUST BE THROUGH QUICK-OPENING HOLES

Blockers are not asked to knock down the defense, although if they do, so much the better. The offense is based on quick-opening holes and the backs have to be through them.

To set up outside plays, one or more backs are forever booming into the line to pin a lineman or a backer-up where the T operatives want them.

Any of the backs can be in motion to either side. Generally, however, it is a halfback.

Inasmuch as the rules do not permit motion toward the scrimmage line, here's a tip for your man in motion: Have him drop his shoulder forward while running, and he'll look as though he is running laterally, even if he isn't.

There are at least eight different things the man in motion can do.

He can block the end in or out. He can receive a pass and run. He can receive a pass and throw a forward.

He can slide off after a brush block and receive a forward pass or a lateral.

He can fake all that and merely act as a decoy.

The man-in-motion sets up a wingback or a flanker without the required pause of a second in other shifts.

Whatever the man in motion does, the defense must set a man to cover him.

He loosens the defense, distracts defenders and makes them lean one way or the other so the offense can get a blocking angle on linemen who couldn't otherwise be blocked.

With the man in motion and other backs charging into the line on inside stuff, the defense has its troubles.

Quick-opening plays murder a drifting lineman.

DECOY BACKS MUST BE TACKLED OFTEN

All this is accomplished by considerable faking. The T is no good without faking.

When the Bears lose a ball game, which is seldom, Halas doesn't raise the devil. He polishes the fakes again.

Decoy backs must be tackled almost as often as the runner.

The play does not necessarily go in the direction of the man in motion.

In fact, the Bears now use most of their plays to the weak side, away from the man in motion.

The only spread the Bears have is flexing an end 10 or 15 yards, although the man in motion enables them to set up a modified spread at all times.

A 5-3-2-1 defense has been found to be the toughest against the T.

It is fatal not to set a man to cover the quarterback, who fades so often on a fake pass that he is often overlooked.

The quarterback, normally not a ball carrier, wrecks plenty of damage on quarterback sneaks by becoming the man in motion himself and by wide runs after pivoting and pass receiving.

The modern T with man-in-motion will work with the proper material.

But the myriad play possibilities, with accompanying variations in blocking, cross-blocking, mouse traps, double mouse traps, etc., make it perfectly clear that no ordinary personnel can handle the T in its advanced phases.

Thompson And Big Abe Draw

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Garantuan Abe Simon of New York and Turkey Thompson, Los Angeles negro heavyweight, fought a 10-round draw at the Hollywood ball park Monday night before 9,000 fans.

Referee Benny Whitman's decision brought little favor from home town backers of Thompson. Outweighed 69 1/2 pounds—Simon 256, Thompson 186 1/2—the 21-year-old negro soon assumed the role of underdog to the six-foot-four Easterner, who towered head and shoulders above him.

Thompson landed the harder blows, and in the ninth staggered Big Abe with four hard smashes to the head. He ran out of gas, however, and Simon finished strongly.

Sports Roundup

By Hugh Fullerton Jr.

NEW YORK (The Special News Service)—Before Monday's game, some folks were wondering if the Dodgers would even show up. They did, but the Yankees showed them up so thoroughly that it is hard to find any reason for Brooklyn's "wait till next year" motto.

Somehow we can't see the Dodgers even winning another pennant unless they come up with a lot stronger infield and at least one pitcher who can win regularly.

To beat the Yanks, they will have to learn to treat baseball like something more than just a game, too. The Bums didn't seem a bit worried about Sunday's hard-luck loss while they were practicing Monday afternoon without a holler and kidded Durocher when he took his licks. The Yanks were about as playful as a bunch of executives starting a day's work.

Nobody can claim the breaks hurt the Dodgers in the last game. Reiser got a triple in the first inning when DiMaggio misjudged a rebound off the center field wall. Dickey was kayoed by a foul tip and Bonham almost was knocked out the way Fitz was when Riggs' liner hit his foot with a smach that could be heard clear up to the "stratoliner" press box on the roof.

And twice the Yanks hit into double plays with nobody out.

One trouble was that the stands caught fire instead of the teams.

When a small blaze flared up behind the press box just after the Yanks scored their first two runs someone remarked: "Don't worry, boys. It's just MacPhail."

Crowd's Eye View

Sunday it was "Owen, ya bum." Monday it was "ataboy, Mickey." Owen got a big hand during batting practice and another when the lineup announcer called his name. After that, the boys didn't have much to yell about except when Durocher and Wyatt raised a beller about a pitch and then when DiMaggio and Wyatt almost tangled. That's what they really like. The bleacher fans were down on DiMag all afternoon, but there were some cheers, too, just to show that Yankee rooters were on hand. They must have been the guys with their shirts on. The Brooklynites lost their Sunday. The autograph hunters must have had a hunch it was the last game. They pestered the Dodgers so much that Medwick complained, "they want your blood." But he signed like the rest.

Sample of Brooklyn spirit: A sign above some store windows across the street from the rightfield wall said, "Oh, Dodgers. Bust 'em all."

Today's Guest Star

Earl RUBY, Louisville Courier-Journal: "Evolution up-to-date—originally it was the world series. The late Ring Lardner made it the world serious. Now the G. A. D. B. F.—Grand Army of Dem Bums' Fans—has dubbed it the world see-Reese. It ain't dat Pie We does everything right, it's just because he does everything."

Cleaning The Cuff

Joe Gordon has loop in his swing as bad as Sam Snead's. And when he connects he hits 'em all—most as far as Sam hits a golf ball. Cleveland got one record this year. Jeff Heath became the first American Leaguer ever to hit 20 or more homers, triples and doubles in one season.

Coach Clark Changes Lineup Of Grid Team

Sends Three Players Of Line To Positions In Bulldog Backfield

By Tanner Laine

Without pads, the Midland High Bulldogs went through an offensive drill Monday with Coach Earle Clark making three key switches in the lineup.

Marshall Whitmire, crisp blocker and fighting guard, was shifted to the backfield. One of the youngest boys on the ball club, Whitmire also is one of its toughest defensive members. If he develops speed and running ability, coaches believe he may earn a secondary slot.

Wilford Lester, the 155-pound aggressive end, also was shifted to the backfield. Lester is rangy and an able pass snatcher. He can block and tackle with the best.

John Guy McMillan, a tackle, was the third man moved to the backfield.

Schedule Hard Drill

These changes, if in effect Friday night against Sweetwater, will add weight to the Bulldogs' backfield and put strong defensive men in strategic posts against Sweetwater's power.

With Lester and Whitmire out of the first string forward wall, it looks like Jimmy Watson and Buddy Davidson at the ends; Leftwich and Lee, and Welch, at guards; Sevier and Estes, tackles; and Noyes, center.

The new backs will cause some scrapping for starting positions among Hall, Foster, Graham, Wheeler, Lester, Whitmire, McMillan, and Kelly.

A siege of boils hit the Bulldogs Monday.

A hard practice was carded for Tuesday.

Yankee Victory Calls Attention To Great Teams

By Gayle Talbot

NEW YORK (AP)—The Yankees, colossus of the baseball world, are sitting up there again, looking down at the little fellows.

Their 3 to 1 victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers in the final game of the 1941 world series Monday only served to emphasize the dominance of the Bombers.

This was the eighth straight world series victory for the Yankees since 1926, and when Big Ernie Bonham downed the Dodgers with four hits Monday it gave the boys from the Bronx the remarkable record of having won 32 of their last 36 world series contests.

In the time since Ed Barrow came here to build the Yankee Empire, his sluggers have slaughtered six of the eight National League clubs in world series engagements. The only ones they haven't polished off are the Boston Braves and the Phillies, but give them time.

Had Great Hurling

The Dodgers gave the Yanks a better scrap than did many of their National League predecessors. At least, they were not beaten four straight, and there can be no denying that they ran into more than their share of tough luck.

The Yankees won because they had great pitching, tight fielding, and the ability to deliver base hits exactly when they were needed.

The real feature of the deciding game, though, was Bonham's pitching.

Big as a mule, Bonham calmly sat the Dodgers down in the first inning with his "fork ball" and other assorted stuff. Except for the second inning, when his mound opponent Whitlow Wyatt socked a double to left and scored on a lucky infield hit and an outfield fly, Ernie was impregnable.

The Yankees had gone in front in the second inning, when they scored twice on a walk to Keller, singles by Bill Dickey and Gordon and a wild pitch by Wyatt. Those two tallies, as it turned out, were all the Yanks needed with Bonham bearing down. Tommy Henrich's home run over the right field screen in the fifth only rubbed it in.

Dear Queensie-Sweet Swaiter Is Better Cyclist Than Boxer

NEW YORK (AP)—Miss secretary, take a letter to the Marquis of Queensbury, Valhalla:

Dear Queensie:

Was there a slight odor coming up your way from down here Monday night? And did you look down at that business in Madison Square Garden?

Well, if you did, don't worry about the sport of scrambling ears you pulled off the river barges and pushed into polite society. Because that thing in which welterweight champ Freddie (Red) Cochrane gave lightweight boss Lew Jenkins an old fashioned flailing for ten rounds, while Lew back-pedaled and ran away, was only billed as a fight. If that was a boxing match, then so is one between Joe Louis and Little Lulu.

Zivic Victory No Fluke

You can't take anything away from Cochrane. The bull-necked little redhead from Jersey walked out against the fellow who was supposed to be about the greatest punching lightweight in ring history. He chased this great puncher all over the place. He floored him five times, using both hands to do it, and at the end the only round he had lost was the third, which was taken from him for low punching.

In doing all this, he killed for all time the talk that he is no ball of fire as a welterweight champion. He proved that his victory over Fritz Zivic in winning the crown a couple of months ago was no fluke.

But, Queensie, don't forget he had no more opposition than a truck going through a paper wall. Jenkins didn't take a single forward step, and actually threw fewer than a dozen punches. He let go his wrecking hand just once—in the sixth round—and then put it back to bed again.

Coach Clark Changes Lineup Of Grid Team

Sends Three Players Of Line To Positions In Bulldog Backfield

By Tanner Laine

Without pads, the Midland High Bulldogs went through an offensive drill Monday with Coach Earle Clark making three key switches in the lineup.

Marshall Whitmire, crisp blocker and fighting guard, was shifted to the backfield. One of the youngest boys on the ball club, Whitmire also is one of its toughest defensive members. If he develops speed and running ability, coaches believe he may earn a secondary slot.

Wilford Lester, the 155-pound aggressive end, also was shifted to the backfield. Lester is rangy and an able pass snatcher. He can block and tackle with the best.

John Guy McMillan, a tackle, was the third man moved to the backfield.

Schedule Hard Drill

These changes, if in effect Friday night against Sweetwater, will add weight to the Bulldogs' backfield and put strong defensive men in strategic posts against Sweetwater's power.

With Lester and Whitmire out of the first string forward wall, it looks like Jimmy Watson and Buddy Davidson at the ends; Leftwich and Lee, and Welch, at guards; Sevier and Estes, tackles; and Noyes, center.

The new backs will cause some scrapping for starting positions among Hall, Foster, Graham, Wheeler, Lester, Whitmire, McMillan, and Kelly.

A siege of boils hit the Bulldogs Monday.

A hard practice was carded for Tuesday.

Yankee Victory Calls Attention To Great Teams

By Gayle Talbot

NEW YORK (AP)—The Yankees, colossus of the baseball world, are sitting up there again, looking down at the little fellows.

Their 3 to 1 victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers in the final game of the 1941 world series Monday only served to emphasize the dominance of the Bombers.

This was the eighth straight world series victory for the Yankees since 1926, and when Big Ernie Bonham downed the Dodgers with four hits Monday it gave the boys from the Bronx the remarkable record of having won 32 of their last 36 world series contests.

In the time since Ed Barrow came here to build the Yankee Empire, his sluggers have slaughtered six of the eight National League clubs in world series engagements. The only ones they haven't polished off are the Boston Braves and the Phillies, but give them time.

Had Great Hurling

The Dodgers gave the Yanks a better scrap than did many of their National League predecessors. At least, they were not beaten four straight, and there can be no denying that they ran into more than their share of tough luck.

The Yankees won because they had great pitching, tight fielding, and the ability to deliver base hits exactly when they were needed.

The real feature of the deciding game, though, was Bonham's pitching.

Big as a mule, Bonham calmly sat the Dodgers down in the first inning with his "fork ball" and other assorted stuff. Except for the second inning, when his mound opponent Whitlow Wyatt socked a double to left and scored on a lucky infield hit and an outfield fly, Ernie was impregnable.

The Yankees had gone in front in the second inning, when they scored twice on a walk to Keller, singles by Bill Dickey and Gordon and a wild pitch by Wyatt. Those two tallies, as it turned out, were all the Yanks needed with Bonham bearing down. Tommy Henrich's home run over the right field screen in the fifth only rubbed it in.

Dear Queensie-Sweet Swaiter Is Better Cyclist Than Boxer

NEW YORK (AP)—Miss secretary, take a letter to the Marquis of Queensbury, Valhalla:

Dear Queensie:

Was there a slight odor coming up your way from down here Monday night? And did you look down at that business in Madison Square Garden?

Well, if you did, don't worry about the sport of scrambling ears you pulled off the river barges and pushed into polite society. Because that thing in which welterweight champ Freddie (Red) Cochrane gave lightweight boss Lew Jenkins an old fashioned flailing for ten rounds, while Lew back-pedaled and ran away, was only billed as a fight. If that was a boxing match, then so is one between Joe Louis and Little Lulu.

Zivic Victory No Fluke

You can't take anything away from Cochrane. The bull-necked little redhead from Jersey walked out against the fellow who was supposed to be about the greatest punching lightweight in ring history. He chased this great puncher all over the place. He floored him five times, using both hands to do it, and at the end the only round he had lost was the third, which was taken from him for low punching.

Sports Roundup

By Hugh Fullerton Jr.

NEW YORK (The Special News Service)—Before Monday's game, some folks were wondering if the Dodgers would even show up. They did, but the Yankees showed them up so thoroughly that it is hard to find any reason for Brooklyn's "wait till next year" motto.

Somehow we can't see the Dodgers even winning another pennant unless they come up with a lot stronger infield and at least one pitcher who can win regularly.

To beat the Yanks, they will have to learn to treat baseball like something more than just a game, too. The Bums didn't seem a bit worried about Sunday's hard-luck loss while they were practicing Monday afternoon without a holler and kidded Durocher when he took his licks. The Yanks were about as playful as a bunch of executives starting a day's work.

Nobody can claim the breaks hurt the Dodgers in the last game. Reiser got a triple in the first inning when DiMaggio misjudged a rebound off the center field wall. Dickey was kayoed by a foul tip and Bonham almost was knocked out the way Fitz was when Riggs' liner hit his foot with a smach that could be heard clear up to the "stratoliner" press box on the roof.

And twice the Yanks hit into double plays with nobody out.

One trouble was that the stands caught fire instead of the teams.

When a small blaze flared up behind the press box just after the Yanks scored their first two runs someone remarked: "Don't worry, boys. It's just MacPhail."

Crowd's Eye View

Sunday it was "Owen, ya bum." Monday it was "ataboy, Mickey." Owen got a big hand during batting practice and another when the lineup announcer called his name. After that, the boys didn't have much to yell about except when Durocher and Wyatt raised a beller about a pitch and then when DiMaggio and Wyatt almost tangled. That's what they really like. The bleacher fans were down on DiMag all afternoon, but there were some cheers, too, just to show that Yankee rooters were on hand. They must have been the guys with their shirts on. The Brooklynites lost their Sunday. The autograph hunters must have had a hunch it was the last game. They pestered the Dodgers so much that Medwick complained, "they want your blood." But he signed like the rest.

Sample of Brooklyn spirit: A sign above some store windows across the street from the rightfield wall said, "Oh, Dodgers. Bust 'em all."

Today's Guest Star

Earl RUBY, Louisville Courier-Journal: "Evolution up-to-date—originally it was the world series. The late Ring Lardner made it the world serious. Now the G. A. D. B. F.—Grand Army of Dem Bums' Fans—has dubbed it the world see-Reese. It ain't dat Pie We does everything right, it's just because he does everything."

Cleaning The Cuff

Joe Gordon has loop in his swing as bad as Sam Snead's. And when he connects he hits 'em all—most as far as Sam hits a golf ball. Cleveland got one record this year. Jeff Heath became the first American Leaguer ever to hit 20 or more homers, triples and doubles in one season.

Earl Explains Plans For Legion Conclave

MONAHANS (Special) — Major Earl Earp, commanding officer of the 1st Battalion, Texas Defense Guard, was the principal speaker at the luncheon of the Monahans Junior Chamber of Commerce Monday. He told of plans for the 16th district American Legion convention and Texas Defense Guard rally here Oct. 17, 18 and 19.

County Agent John L. Mogford reported on the progress for the Ward County Fair, Oct. 24 and 25.

House Approves Bill For One Turkey Day

WASHINGTON (AP)—A lot of people who got all tangled up in their turkeys said there oughta be a law about double Thanksgiving days. A lot of congressmen agreed.

Now, it's up to the Senate to make it strictly unanimous. The House passed a bill Monday to make the last Thursday in November a legal holiday, to be known after 1941 as Thanksgiving day.

Since 1939, the nation annually has been confronted with two turkey days, the traditional — or last Thursday in November version — and the new model — or third Thursday-in-November — established by President Roosevelt's proclamation.

Was Afraid To Eat Because Of Stomach; Hoyt's Brought Relief

Indigestion, Gas Pain, Constipation Came After Each Meal So I often Went To Bed Hungry, Says Well-Known San Angelo Lady.

Mrs. E. M. Wilson of 112 W. Thirtieth St., San Angelo, Texas, says: "For eight years I suffered with constipation, indigestion, gas and bloating after meals. I went to bed hungry because I knew I would be unable to eat without suffering. I was nervous and would roll and toss all night. Dull headaches bothered me. "After taking Hoyt's Compound, I have regular bowel action. Gas bloating, and indigestion have left me. The fullness after meals has disappeared and I am not nervous; I sleep soundly."

Hoyt's Compound is recommended and sold by the City Drug Store and by all leading druggists in this area. (Adv.)
