

Sub Torpedoes U. S. Destroyer Orders Ships Out

U. S. Vessels To Leave Zones Lying In Orient

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON — Authoritative quarters indicated Friday all American merchant ships had been ordered out of Japanese and Chinese waters because of what the Navy called "the situation in the Pacific."

Ships in the rest of the Pacific would not be affected, it was indicated.

The Navy, reported by Manila sources to have ordered the ships to proceed to the nearest American or British port, took this official position:

"In view of the present situation in the Pacific, the navy department has no comment to make."

Reliable informants, however, indicated strongly that the order has been issued.

The number of American ships in Japanese and Chinese waters was said to be "small," with a "considerable" number of American ships operating in the rest of the Pacific.

High Anhydrite In Sinclair-Prairie Yoakum Wildcat

By Frank Gardner
Oil Editor

Interest Friday was turned to a wildcat several miles southeast of Plains in Central Yoakum County, the Sinclair-Prairie Oil Company, No. 1 Charles J. Kleiner, as it showed the high structural position on the anhydrite.

The wildcat logged first anhydrite at 2,525 feet, datum of plus 1,105. According to most correlations the marker occurred 107 feet higher than in George P. Livermore, Inc., No. 1 Ernest Ownby, discoverer producer of the Ownby pool, three and one-half miles to the southeast. No. 1 Kleiner's anhydrite top also is 102 feet higher than that in R. L. Moore No. 1 Dunn, a faulture two and one-half miles to the southeast.

At last reports the Sinclair-Prairie test was drilling ahead at 3,235 feet, Yates said has not yet been encountered. The well is located 330 feet out of the north-west corner of section 436, block D, John H. Gibson survey.

In Eastern Yoakum, Honolulu Oil Corporation No. 1-13 L. H. Wright is reported to have bailed some salt water at total depth of 5,261 feet in lime and now is shut down to test rate of accumulation. When cable-tool unit was moved in to replace rotary, old total depth of 5,262 feet was corrected to 5,255 feet. The well then was deepened to 5,261 feet with cable tools.

A scheduled 7,200-foot deep Permian test in extreme Northwest Gaines County, Likins & Hall of Midland No. 1 Dr. E. H. Jones, is shut down for motor repairs at 4,185 feet in anhydrite. It will be shut down for a week or 10 days, according to G. E. (Blondy) Hall.

Abell Oil Completed
Sinclair-Prairie No. 2 Bessie E. Heierman, on the west side of the Abell Ordovician pool in Northern Pecos County, rated daily potential flow of 1,718.48 barrels. Potential was based on production the last half of a six-hour gauge through a one-half inch positive choke on 2-inch tubing. The well is bottomed at 5,476 feet in shale and lime of the Simpson, middle Ordovician, and is producing through 46 gun-perforations in 5 1/2-inch casing from 5,427-46 feet, opposite pay sands. Oil is 41.1-gravity and gas-oil ratio 873-1.

In the southwest part of the pool, the same firm's No. 2 State-Silverman is drilling at 5,185 feet in Simpson lime and shale.
Anderson-Prichard Oil Corporation and Monte Warner No. 2 Blanche F. Boren, in the southwest extension to the Apo-Warner pool of Pecos, is drilling at 4,803 feet in hard, igneous rock. It topped the Ellenburger, lower Ordovician, at 4,737-35 feet and went into pre-Cambrian at 4,744. A 46-minute drillstem test from 4,716-90 feet recovered 65 feet of drilling mud only.

A location farther west, the same owners' No. 3 Boren is drilling just from 5 1/2-inch casing cemented at

U. S.—Nippon Relations At "Crossroads"

Despite mounting tension between the United States and Japan in the Far East crisis, all seems serene and skittles as United States Ambassador Joseph Crew, right, payed his first official call on Admiral Teijiro Toyodo, Japanese Foreign Minister. Konoye is now out of the picture as he and his ministers resigned after several days of intensive conferences among Japanese officials. It was the shortest-lived cabinet in modern Japanese history. Arming Ships Passes House By Big Margin

WASHINGTON (AP)—Voting soon after hearing of the torpedoing of the destroyer Kearny, the House gave overwhelming approval Friday to the arming of American merchant ships.

Guns and gun crews, under the legislation, would be given the ships for their protection against what President Roosevelt has called "modern pirates."

Ignoring opponents' warnings that it was another long step toward war, the House voted to repeal the Neutrality Act provision prohibiting the arming of merchantmen engaged in commerce with any foreign nation.

The repealer also would authorize the President to arm such ships during the unlimited national emergency which he proclaimed last May 27 and, at the same time, would exempt them from the law which requires armed merchant vessels to be bonded in twice the amount of the value of both the vessels and their cargoes.

Title Six of the National Housing Act and new priority regulations were explained by J. A. Raley, Jr., Lubbock, district FHA representative, to building contractors, lumber yard operators, directors of the Midland Housing Co., and others at an informal luncheon-meeting at Hotel Scharbauer Thursday.

A round-table discussion followed. Midland, recently declared a defense area, is eligible for Title Six loans and for priorities for defense housing construction.

J. P. Butler, chairman of the housing committee of the chamber of commerce here, presided at the meeting.

Forecast High Oil Consumption

FORT WORTH (AP)—The highest consumption ever known in the oil industry was forecast to the Interstate Compact Commission by Dr. A. G. White, chief of the Bureau of Petroleum Economics of the Bureau of Mines.

White told the quarterly meeting of the commission Thursday crude oil demand would rise from six to seven per cent during 1942 as an average for the year.

The commission, a body representing oil-producing states, also heard a demand from Warwick M. Downing of Colorado that the commission opposed an "unreasonable ceiling" on crude oil prices.

George Gibson, geologist with Magnolia Petroleum Company, showed films taken in Egypt, while he was in field work, at a meeting of the Midland Junior Chamber of Commerce Friday.

A membership and attendance contest will close at the next meeting. The largest group to attend a Jaycee meeting in two years was present Friday.

Behind The Headlines

(This daily feature, conducted by DeWitt MacKenzie, is written today by Fred Vander-schmidt.)

Stalin's Russian government Friday appears to be making certain that when, or if, Hitler enters Moscow, he will find little more than the flames which mocked Napoleon.

The Red Armies, at the least, will fight a staunch and possibly prolonged rear guard battle in the narrowing Moscow defense perimeter while officials and corps diplomatique move 450 miles eastward to the Tartar city of Kazan. That Moscow may fall before many days or weeks in this so-called last German drive of the year, must, however, be considered, and even now one may ask: What then?

It has been pretty broadly hinted that Hitler, after Moscow, will pursue what the Axis press calls a "moral" or "political" advance; that is, he will try to bring about at least a tacit armistice with Russia's fighting forces and will make another peace offer to England. That implies a pause in his military operations eastward. But if the Russians succeed in organizing and supplying a real offensive-defense beyond Moscow and in the south, and if Hitler finds nobody who can or will talk truce, the pause won't last long.

Admittedly Stalin's problems of defense, after Moscow, are staggering in both the military and economic spheres. He must prepare to defend the 2,000 mile-line of the Volga and Don, involving a vast eastward movement of untired troops and a successful withdrawal of a considerable force from the Moscow defenses. His rearward industrial plants must carry a double or triple load. Above all the Red Army in the south must stand firm on the Don line, pivoted on the Volga around Stalingrad, and defend the Caucasus and Astrakhan to the east in order to keep open the Persian supply route for Britain and American goods of war. Russia's only other practical inlet for outside material is Far Eastern Vladivostok.

J. Harvey Herd, Standard Oil Company of Texas, was elected president of the Midland Geological Society at a meeting Thursday, succeeding B. A. Ray, Tide Water Associated Oil Company.

Other officers chosen included: B. G. Martin, Gulf Oil Corporation, vice-president; Eugene Vanderpool, Stanolind Oil & Gas Company, secretary-treasurer, succeeding W. Lloyd Haseltine, Magnolia Petroleum Company; and Langdon Tennis, independent geologist, speaker chairman, succeeding James R. Day, Amerada Petroleum Corporation.

Washington (AP)—With war talk spreading in the Orient, Capitol Hill generally took an increasingly grave view Friday of the Japanese cabinet overturn, and fears were expressed a serious new threat was in the making for American and British interests in the Pacific.

Senator Gillette (D-Iowa), a member of the foreign relations committee, told newsmen the governmental change in Tokyo "makes the chances of a peaceful settlement of our differences with Japan very meager indeed."

To Gillette and several of his colleagues all indications were that Japanese militarists had gained the upper hand and new military adventures could be expected—most likely an attack on Siberia.

Although Shanghai's international circles were predicting that "events will move fast in the Far East," Washington found some assurance against an immediate crisis in the fact that President Roosevelt left the White House Thursday night for a weekend at his Hyde Park, N. Y., estate.

The State Department, however, was watching the turn of events closely and a direct telephone line from Hyde Park to the White House was available if developments warranted consultation with the Chief Executive.

Attack On Newly-Built Kearny Occurs In North Atlantic Area

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON.—The United States destroyer Kearny was torpedoed in the North Atlantic Friday, the Navy announced, but survived the attack with no reported casualties and was able to proceed under her own power.

The news brought a prompt demand from Senator Pepper (D-Fla.) that the Navy retaliate "with two sinkings for each assault" and a comment by Representative Cox (D-Ga.) that if the Germans are guilty, "it is probably the incident for which we have been waiting."

On patrol duty in an area where the Navy has orders to "capture or destroy" Axis controlled submarines or surface raiders, the year-old destroyer was torpedoed at a point about 350 miles south and west of Iceland.

The President Said— No German Comment— $5,000,000 Vessel—

HYDE PARK, N. Y. (AP)—President Roosevelt asserted Friday that the torpedoing of the United States destroyer Kearny southwest of Iceland was clearly in the American defense zone.

The chief executive declined, however, to discuss the incident in detail, telling a press conference he would leave that to the Navy Department in Washington.

BERLIN (AP)—Authorized Germans said Friday night they had only American reports of the torpedoing of the U. S. destroyer Kearny and were unable to comment because there was no indication that a German Naval vessel was involved.

KEARNY, N. J. (AP)—The destroyer Kearny, reported torpedoed in the Atlantic, was built at a cost of $5,000,000 at the Federal Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company yards and was launched March 9, 1940, before a crowd of 10,000, largest ever to witness a launching here.

Officials estimated the Kearny carried a crew numbering between 125 and 150 officers and men. There was no indication in the Navy's first report on the Kearny incident as to just how the torpedoing occurred or what, if any, combat or protective steps preceded it.

Spreading Germs Of Hate

It's a good title. It isn't our own, however. We borrowed it from George Sylvester Viereck. He used it on a book published in 1930 in which he told with high good humor of his propaganda efforts on behalf of Germany in days of World War I.

He began that book by saying that the World War had lured him away from a promising literary career and caused him to give up 10 years of his creative life "to be a footnote in history!"

Since then Viereck has given up 10 more years of his "creative life" in apparent determination to expand that footnote into a short profile in history's appendix. His activities during the past 10 years have borne little relationship to his early career in poetry which brought him less recognition and decidedly less money than writing pieces in the interest of Germany, imperial and Nazi.

Now Viereck is under indictment, charged with not having been quite candid with the State Department when he registered as a foreign agent, and of having engaged in various activities not contemplated in his registry.

Whether he will be convicted or not remains to be seen. We do not propose to convict him in type, but a 20-year record as a propagandist makes him well worth looking into. Smart, engaging, humorous, Viereck has always been extremely cagey in his operations.

It has amused him, for instance to write under the name of George Fourcorners, the English equivalent of his name. He has used other pseudonyms from time to time, always in high good humor.

Nothing was hung on him during the World War for he took the line then, as he does now, that he is simply an American citizen engaged in trying to prevent trouble between America and the Germany in which he was born. Nothing illegal about that, generally speaking. The charges in the grand jury indictment are something else again for they charge specific violation of specific laws; the courts will determine.

It is too bad that more people didn't buy the postcards Hitler colored in his Munich days. He might have made a decent living had his talents been more evident or his audiences more appreciative; and the world might have been saved a tidal wave of blood by enduring a few innocuous pictures.

It is too bad that an unfeeling world never climbed to the heights of Viereck's own opinion of his poetic talents. The country could well have afforded to buy many a volume of poetry at Viereck's own estimate of its artistic value if it could have been saved the "footnote in history."

Can We Hope It's True?

Not all reports from the governments-in-exile which are the only free representatives of millions of conquered Europeans are completely to be trusted. First, their sources of information cannot always be accurate; second, they naturally have a tendency to over-optimism toward their cause. Forgivable but inevitable.

However, here's one report which we earnestly hope is true. Vrij Nederland, Free Netherland newspaper in London, reports that certain Dutch papers, on days when there were big meetings between Hitler, Mussolini, and other "New Order" big shots, or when Hitler announces another big success in Russia, simply filled their main news pages with pictures of dogs.

If that's true, we'll bet that even the Germans found it doggone annoying.

When Self Comes Second

So many scoundrelly and bloody deeds going on in the world; so few, obscure and little recognized fine and decent acts! So it is a doubled pleasure to record this one:

Three faculty members of the Western Reserve University Medical School were awarded a $1000 prize for having made the most important contribution to the study of high blood pressure published in any medical journal in the first half of '41. Dr. Harry Goldblatt, Dr. Joseph R. Kahn, and Dr. Harry Weinstein were given the award by a poll of physicians all over the country.

They promptly ordered the check for the award made out to the university's medical research fund rather than to themselves. Unless these physicians are unusually situated, they could probably have used the money. But self came second, and research that will benefit others first. If we could find 20 such incidents a day it would be a pleasure to record them.

Insects cost the U. S. over $100,000,000 yearly. This doesn't include pessimists.

Millions of youngsters have started back to school—and that's a lot of necks to wash.

If you try to let everybody know how much sense you have, you haven't any.

Efficiency consists in doing two things at once—because you're too lazy to do them, one at a time.

The folks who criticize our young people now were being criticized themselves twenty years ago.

LIPSTICK PRECAUTIONS: AVOID COLLAR SMEARS

CLEVELAND (AP)—No instructions were given Friday for gathering lipstick on collars but the American Institute of Laundering, in convention here, told how to get it out.

Rub with cleansing cream and dip in soapy suds.

If stain turns brown, soak for 15 minutes in a hot solution of ammonium fluoride, rinse, and wash with soap and hot water.

If it does not turn brown, alternately dip it in solutions of cold potassium permanganate and warm sodium hydrosulfite.

Or—avoid lipstick smears.

British Military Mission Leaves Russian Capital

LONDON (AP)—The British military mission which had been in Moscow is "on the move," an authoritative source said Friday following reports of a movement of members of the Russian government from their menaced capital.

This source added that London now was out of touch with the mission and lacked late news of the assault on Moscow.

Unofficial reports that the British diplomatic mission also had left Moscow were carried by British Press Association.

The reports that members of the Russian government were moving to the interior city of Kazan were interpreted by observers as new evidence of Soviet plans to fight on against the German offensive.

"Moscow ceases to be a civil capital," said the new chronicle. "It becomes a fort. We must not assume the fort will fall."

The reports, without official confirmation, came as dispatches from several capitals—Washington, Tokyo, Stockholm—told of an exodus of diplomatic staff members toward the interior.

Among them was U. S. Ambassador Laurence A. Steinhardt and his staff.

Accounts from Teheran, Iran, said Kazan, a spallid city of 258,000 on the Kazanka River near the Volga 450 miles east of Moscow, long had been prepared for use as a temporary capital. Skeleton staffs were said to have been set up there by both the United States and British embassies in June.

Be Still And Know The Present Guide Whom God Provides

By R. A. Weaver

John 3:5 Jesus answered, Verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except one be born of water and the Spirit, he cannot enter into the kingdom of God.

6 That which is born of the flesh is flesh; and that which is born of the Spirit is spirit.

7 Marvel not that I said unto thee, Ye must be born anew.

8 The wind bloweth where it will, and thou hearest the voice thereof, but knowest not whence it cometh, and whither it goeth: so is everyone that is born of the Spirit.

The intellect likes to claim for itself all the wisdom of life, and with some people the spiritual sense is so faint that it is futile to argue for the existence of a higher intelligence than that of inductive reasoning or remembered wisdom. But beyond the question of a doubt there is a transcendent consciousness of life which the great seers of the past, and present-day religious leaders have tried to fail to describe—since all language must fail here. Apparently this is a reason why the foregoing scripture verses seem to convey a mystical process foreign to the grasp of logic or reason.

Twice-Born Men

The development of the spiritual phase of man has been referred to as a new birth, regeneration and illumination. It is a universal conception that the mind of man is potentially omnipotent—its expanse and capacities having never been measured, and its scope having never been circumscribed. It is the purpose and intent of wisdom and knowledge to develop the latent powers of man in order that he may find his proper place in the universe. Jesus came and shed a great light upon the spiritual or higher self, and His teachings bring into use all the potential powers of the soul, placing the emphasis upon the ideal of perfect being toward which God is leading mankind. Is it irrational to conceive that the Father should institute means and methods by which His creatures should come into a state of the perfect man? Is it a queer circumstance that a man should undergo that change called conversion or regeneration in response to some great stress acting as a stimulus to his higher nature? Rather, is it not reasonable to expect in the lives of men that the potentialities become actualities?

Seek And You Shall Find

Man's higher nature hungers and thirsts for serenity, peace and those experiences past understanding which we know are real and applicable to the routine of the spiritual life. The Psalmist points out the way—Be still and know that I am God. Indeed, nature will speak deepest to you only when the other activities are quiescent, when she catches you, not upon some carefully planned excursion to steal her heart away, but when, uncourted, she breathes upon you in your receptive moments. And so in the inner world, the divinest insights do not come of our own volition alone; but sometimes, when one is most forgetful of its presence, the divine unction will soothe the mind to the highest stillness, and the majesty of God will be declared. The hurry and haste by which we live from day to day, seeking for those material benefits that fade away like morning dew, rob us of many a gem of rarest ray serene. To develop the God-given faculties and talents which lie inherent in every heart, requires time, interest and attention for neglected they are lost to oblivion.

Guidance Is Necessary

Without the help of God one may never know life, or discover the reality of being. The many problems of life require higher source of inspiration, and a more permanent hope than can be found among the relics of a material world. In order to become adjusted to life, men of all races and all ages have sought out the guiding Star, the lighthouse and the shore; the never changing current of creative Mind. To supply this vital and necessary need, God sends His Spirit to mankind as a Guide and Comforter. Whether there be a Holy Spirit or not is unknown to those save the obedient ones who are willing to obey and do the will of the Father. Their testimony is the only testimony—the only proof as a factual experience. They need not look for outworn creeds, or formularies, or hear the witness of others, for they know in whom they believe. And so it is, that when one has found the Helper, the witness may be expressed in the words of the poet:

"Knowing that God never did betray The heart that loved Him; 'tis His privilege. Through all the years of this our life to lead From joy to joy; for He can so inform The mind that is within us, so impress With quietness and beauty, and so feed With lofty thoughts, that neither evil tongues, Rash judgments, nor the sneers of selfish men, Nor greetings where no kindness is, nor all The dreary intercourse of daily life, Shall e'er prevail against us, or disturb Our cheerful faith that all which we behold Is full of blessings.

McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

By William E. McKenney
America's Card Authority

Today's hand is from another recent book, "Standardized Contract Bridge Complete," by Dudley Courtenay. Courtenay is the author of several books on contract. His hand valuation methods are awarded close to the Culbertson methods, but he has his own preferences in some of the bidding tactics.

Today's hand shows one striking difference. (Courtenay gives only the East-West hands; I have supplied the North-South.) The problem is, how are East and West to bid after South opens with one diamond?

East bravely bid three clubs, so that West gets a chance to show his second suit. It seems likely, though, that however the 26 North-South cards are distributed, the auction will not die at two spades. Furthermore, North-South will probably bid five diamonds over four hearts.

Two Synods Plan Finance Campaign

DALLAS (AP)—Financial campaigns including substantial sums for additional endowment and equipment for the institution which will grow out of a merger of Austin College and Trinity University were authorized Thursday by two Texas Presbyterian synods.

The Texas Synod, Presbyterian Church, U. S., meeting in Dallas, set up a $72,500 campaign, of which $500,000 will go for Austin College when it is joined with Trinity, over and above present unencumbered assets of the school.

That the school may enter the merger free of debt the synod voted to raise $100,000 to pay liabilities, and authorized the raising of $50,000 for the Westminister encampment and $75,000 to build a new church at A&M College.

The U. S. A. Synod, meeting in San Antonio, agreed to raise $300,000 for additional endowment and equipment for the merged institutions, and $750,000 as the synod's part of a united world emergency fund.

The Dallas News said San Antonio, Tyler and Houston, as well as the present sites of the schools at Sherman and Washachie, were being considered as locations for the merged institutions.

Both Synods accepted invitations to convene in Fort Worth in 1942.

DALLAS (AP)—Senator W. Lee O'Daniel (D-Tex) says he will ask Texans how they feel he should vote on amending the Neutrality Act to permit arming of merchant vessels.

CHILD SWALLOWS PIN; EATS COTTON SANDWICH

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A cotton sandwich was ordered for breakfast Friday for five-year-old Joseph Mudd and physicians couldn't say when his diet would be changed.

The child was brought to Hahnemann Hospital after he swallowed a two and a half inch long corsage pin. The sandwiches, made with two slices of bread, buttered and spread with jelly, have absorbent cotton for a filler.

Doctors said they hoped it would form a protective mass about the pin and keep it from piercing the intestines.

Little Finland Plays Big Role In Soviet War

By Thomas M. Johnson
 NEA Service Military Writer

WASHINGTON.— Though great offensives occupy the center of the vast Russian stage, the drama may be decided before the northern wing. In that chill wilderness the Finnish army is winning unnoticed victories that confront Great Britain and the United States too, with ominous problems.

"Little Finland" looms unexpectedly big today in the paramount question: how this war is to be won?

Eager to prevent Russia from winning it, Finland is helping the Nazis to victory—and really helping.

Something will have to be done about Finland by Britain and, quite possibly, however reluctantly, by the U. S.

That will cause a sensation, for not long ago Finland was the heroic defender of democracy. Then the Finns signed the hard treaty Russia presented, only to face new demands. Finland rejected them, began preparing for a renewed war, hewed from granite a stonier Mannerheim Line, doubled her rugged army's numbers, multiplied its equipment, partly with American aid, and entered relations with the Nazis.

A Finnish-German army has just climaxed a daring, desperate campaign through Arctic wilderness in which the Finns outstripped their Nazi partners. These hardy, fiery woodsmen reached the Russian rear, cutting to pieces special troops of the Cheka, the dread Bolshevik secret service that has its own private army. They fought to the death in the crimson snow about Petrozavodsk, which the Finns captured and rechristened Petroskoi.

Now Petrozskoi was no part of the territory Russia took from Finland two years ago, but of an "Alsace-Lorraine" claimed by both, long held by Russia and now labeled by Finland's president, Rytel, with the Nazi name "living space."

Britain warned the Finns to lay off this particular lebensraum if only because through Petrozavodsk ran the shortest and best route whereby Britain could send Russia the supplies Russia so urgently needs. This lifeline is the railroad leading south from Murmansk, Russia's only year-round Arctic port and best funnel for British cargoes, especially now when freezing makes ice in rival Archangel's harbor.

Which is bad, for Russia's other entry-ports in East Siberia and the Persian Gulf are long hampered by water and railroad, often single-tracked.

What form British-American action would take is surmise but there is unconfirmed talk that despite the difficulties, the British may land an expedition at Murmansk to reopen the railroad and perhaps help raise the siege of Leningrad. One report is that the United States government has been asked its opinion of the plan. Everyone believes a showdown will come very soon.

SERIAL STORY

MURDER IN PARADISE

BY MARGUERITE GAHAGAN

COPYRIGHT, 1941, NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: School teacher Mary O'Connor's heart goes out to young Jennie Morris, left alone with stern but kindly old Lisa Holmes, maid, by the mysterious murder of her aunt, Miss Millie. This, and the earlier murder of handsome Herbert Cord, who had courted Jennie for two summers only to bring Margie Dixon to Paradise Lake this year as his fiancée, have the quiet resort scene. Miss Millie discovered one of its oldest residents, along with innkeeper Chris Gordon, Maudie, Mary's mother, pool-pooler the inquest's conclusion that gangster Stush Veretti murdered Cord, although reporter Dennis Flynn, an old flame of Mary's assigned to the case, is inclined to believe he did. Maudie discovered both bodies, and Mary and Dennis feel she knows more than she is revealing. Jennie tells Mary of a mysterious romance in Miss Millie's past. Then they talk of local editor Ted Palmer, obviously interested in Jennie.

and distinct killings. And coming at the same time and place may be just coincidence. Stush could still have rubbed Cord out, and then someone else put the K. O. on Miss Morris, or a nut is wandering around loose and knocked them both off."

Either possibility was unpleasant to contemplate and I wished something would happen to bring about a speedy solution. The second killing had resulted in a nice state of hysteria around the lake. The gloomy weather the past day hadn't helped people's nerves either.

in this cottage," he said finally, when I'd thoroughly discussed the weather, the farm crops and the political situation. "I've seen a lot of cottages go up around here during the years. Wasn't much of a colony when I first came here."

"Was the Morris residence built when you first came?"

"That's one of the oldest 'round these parts,' he said.

"And did you know Miss Morris—the old one, I mean—when she was a young woman?" I asked.

HE went off again into one of those abstract streaks, but finally he seemed to remember that I had spoken. "Eh—Oh, yes, everyone knew Miss Millie around here." He reached for his hat and, taking one last mop at his head, stood up. "Anything we can do for you folks while you're here, just let us know. Always glad to oblige."

"Thanks. What with people being killed every night or so it's good to know the inn isn't too far away should one need help."

"Folks mustn't lose their heads," he warned solemnly.

"Someone around here seems glad to help do that," I said. He looked slightly shocked and went out to his car without looking back. Maudie was calling and I went to her room. She was sitting up in bed reading a magazine.

"What was that man doing here?"

"Inquiring after your health," I said. "He'd heard you were upset, and then, too, he brought the mail." I tossed it to her, but she didn't grab as usual, hunting for letters from the boys.

"Oh, so he brought the mail and came to inquire about me, did he? Now wasn't that considerate of him."

"Why, yes, I thought so," I said. "And you needn't sound so sarcastic. But then that shows you're practically well enough to get up and start hunting for another good corpse."

She moaned and sank back against the pillows. "Get out of here," she said. "Get out! I want to think."

CHRIS GORDON'S VISIT

CHAPTER XII

MAUDIE was getting back to her old self, but it didn't take too much coaxing to keep her in bed for another day. The past week had really given her enough thrills for a while and I guess she realized she wasn't as young and chipper as she would have liked to believe.

She still refused to discuss the finding of the boat and Miss Morris. "There's nothing more to tell," she answered tartly. "I've told you again and again all there is to tell." Denny and I didn't believe her.

She was abrupt with us both and became more petulant every time he reported new developments. The police in town had put Stush Veretti through a tough grilling, but there was still no confession. Additional people had been found who had seen him around the lake the evening of the crime—a gas station attendant, a lunch room clerk, and a farm boy who had given him directions. Denny said they'd undoubtedly hold him even though he hadn't found the gun that had fired the .32 slug into Herbert Cord's back.

To be sure, the murder of Miss Millie had, to put it mildly, thrown the Cord case into some confusion. The State Police felt they had things nearly solved until the second murder and then, Denny confessed, they were faced with two possibilities.

"There may be two separate

THE cottagers were locking shutters and doors at night and carrying old-fashioned hunting guns on their nightly walks to and from bridge parties and the few picnics the younger set staged.

Things must be dull, I thought, when Chris Gordon came to the house with some mail which I hadn't gotten around to pick up that morning. I could imagine that the guests at the inn found the atmosphere anything but festive or vacation-gay, with police and reporters making it a headquarters.

"Heard your mother wasn't feeling so good after the other night," he said, handing me the letters and papers. "Thought it might be hard for you to get down and maybe there was something important in this stuff."

"Bills, probably," I said, "but it was nice of you to think of us. Won't you come in?" I didn't expect him to, but he took off his hat and followed me into the living room where we sat and talked a while. He seemed to have a hard time following the conversation and although it wasn't hot he kept wiping his nearly bald head with a wrinkled handkerchief.

"I suppose this hasn't helped your summer business, has it?" I was finding it hard to make conversation. He sat on the edge of the chair and looked around as though he expected a murderer to leap at him from every door.

"Been a long time since I was

Nine Cousins Will Share $60,000 Left By Ghost Of Osage

PAWBUK, Okla. (AP)—Two years of litigation over the $60,000 estate of John Stink, legendary ghost of the Osages, ended Friday with a ruling naming nine cousins as legal heirs.

District Judge Hugh C. Jones ordered a county court decision awarding the entire estate to John Wogoshie, Hominy tribesman, and designated Wogoshie as one of the nine heirs.

Stink, whose original name was Ho-To-Moie, meaning rolling thunder, was the grandson of Big Elk, an Osage chief, and in his youth was honored among his people.

Then, according to tribal legend, an epidemic came and Ho-To-Moie was stricken and seemed to have died. His body was placed against a tree and covered with stones.

Osages Get Oil

At dawn the next day Ho-To-Moie walked into the Osage village wearing his grave clothes. Kinsmen and friends fled, believing him to be an evil spirit. Thereafter, he was John Stink, a tribal outcast who lived the life of a hermit, with only a pack of mongrel dogs for companions.

When oil was discovered on Osage lands, John Stink was awarded his full share of the royalties that made the Osages the wealthiest Indians on earth. But he shunned the money, preferring to stay in the woods.

Stink's guardian built him a comfortable home but the Indian lived instead in a tepee in the yard and allowed the dogs to occupy the house.

Stink died in 1938 at the age of 80. Dead, he again was Ho-To-Moie and was buried with full tribal honors.

The sum consisted entirely of pennies taken from a slot machine confiscated from a grocery on that corner. Judge John L. McNelis ordered it turned over to the fund when he learned the machine had been played mostly by children.

SO MARINES STAND

PHILADELPHIA—British marines ashore from ships undergoing repairs here have solved a ticklish problem for restaurant and taproom proprietors.

Their wide belts with metal gadgets on the rear have scratched the backs of many chairs. In some places, they have been requested to remove the belts.

But a British marine without his belt is improperly dressed, regulations say, and faces loss of liberty ashore.

So now the marines stand up.

HOUSING PROBLEM SOLVED, TRUCK MOVES TINY HOUSE

LACONIA, N. H. (UP)—William Rising is never at loss to find a home, no matter how scarce rents are.

Rising was working in Tilton, 11 miles from here, when he got a new job. He summoned a truckman, hoisted his tiny white house aboard, rented a lot in Laconia and moved it.

Rising's house is smaller than the usual wayside cabin and once was used as a wayside store.

Dwight H. Green's problem of satisfying job-seekers apparently is of no concern to his 10-year-old daughter, Gloria.

An unidentified woman stopped to talk to Gloria. "Do you work?" Gloria asked her.

"Yes," the woman answered. "Well, why don't you ask my papa to get you a job? He can get you a real job," Gloria proposed.

Prepares Vessel For Fastest Run

PASCAGOULA, Miss (UP)—The S. S. African Planet, the third all-welded passenger-cargo vessel to be launched here this summer, is being prepared for the fastest schedule ever attempted between New York and Cape Town.

The $4,099,000 ship is set to make the run in 16 1/2 days.

The planet is a sister ship of the African Comet and the African Meteor, built here at a like cost and launched earlier by the American South African Line.

With a length of 489 feet, beam of 69 feet and a 42-foot depth, the Planet has luxurious accommodations for 115 passengers—public rooms, an air-conditioned dining room, cabins and baths and a tiled swimming pool.

Back Leads Rams Down Grid Road

NEW YORK (UP)—Press-box patter:

If Fordham's football forces climax the 1941 gridiron season with the coveted trip to California's Rose Bowl, look for Jimmy Blumenstock to furnish the key to success.

When fleet Len Eshmont left this year, Blumenstock was shifted back to his regular spot at left half and the change will work out to everybody's advantage. He wasn't accustomed to performing at right half and he now ranks as a made-to-order triple threat. His 5 feet 10 inches and 185 pounds are seasoned with plenty of speed and poise. He's personable, 23 years old, has jet-black hair and flashing white teeth. He's intensely interested in aviation and a quick-thinking student of economics.

Wolverine-Wildcat Tilt Looms As Best Big Ten Attraction

CHICAGO (AP)—The swarm of football scouts who are gathering for the Michigan-Northwestern battle should have a happy and profitable time.

Quite a few spies have been trailing the Wildcats and Wolverines since the season began, but they didn't see anything but straight football. That's all Michigan needed to whip Michigan State, Iowa and Wobbling Pittsburgh. Northwestern didn't even need that to run up 92 points on Kansas State and Wisconsin.

But this Saturday it should be much different. The game is rated a tossup, a shoot-the-works scrap with each squad trying to protect its status among the nation's undefeated and untied eleven.

Humble Will Air Four Grid Games

Radio followers of Southwest Conference football may listen to four broadcasts sponsored by the Humble Oil & Refining Company Saturday afternoon and night.

Two of the broadcasts feature important games in the Southwest Conference race, while the other two take Texas listeners to the scene of outstanding inter-sectional contests.

Feature of the week for many listeners, will be the conference game between the Texas Aggies and the TCU Horned Frogs from Fort Worth at 2:30 p. m. It can be heard over KPRC, Houston; WOAI, San Antonio; WFAA-WBAP, Dallas-Ft. Worth.

Another conference game Saturday afternoon is the annual contest between the Universities of Texas and Arkansas, from Austin. The game can be heard at 2:30 p. m. over KNOW, Austin; KGKO, Fort Worth; KRBY, Waco; KRIS, Corpus Christi; KTSB, San Antonio; KXYZ, Houston.

Southern Methodist and Rice defend the Conference's brilliant 1941 inter-sectional record in games with Auburn and LSU respectively. The broadcast at 1:50 p. m. will be heard over KFVZ, Ft. Worth; WRR, Dallas, KTEM, Temple; KABC, San Antonio; KBST, Big Spring; KRLE, Midland; KRBC, Abilene; and KGKL, San Angelo.

The Humble Company's first, night broadcast of the season will feature the Rice-LSU game from Baton Rouge. The broadcast will begin at 8:05 p. m. over KPRC, Houston; WOAI, San Antonio; WFAA-WBAP, Dallas-Ft. Worth.

Aggies Should Defeat Frogs, Rice Gets Nod Over Louisiana State And Barker Balances On Grid Limb Again

By Herb Barker NEW YORK (AP)—Just a shot in the football dark (reserving the shot in the arm for Saturday night): Northwestern—Michigan: The game of the week between two unbeaten, untied Western Conference outfits. We'll take Northwestern.

Texas Christian-Texas A&M and still another one of the same class. Christians, thanks to Kyle Gillespie, has been winning the close ones. A&M has run up nearly 150 points in three games and hasn't been tested. This one ought to tell the story. The Aggies.

Columbia-Georgia: None tougher to figure, Columbia's unbeaten and untied, Georgia's been tied by Mississippi.

Villanova-Baylor: The Bears come north with one of the great backs of the year in Jack Wilson. Villanova may be one of the East's best but hasn't proved it yet. The coin spins and says Baylor in this test of unbeaten, untied teams.

Duke-Georgia Tech: Might be scoring fireworks here. Vanderbilt to remain unbeaten.

Minnesota-Pitt: Where's the adding machine? Minnesota.

Texas-Arkansas: No reason to get off that Texas bandwagon.

Santa Clara-Michigan State: A long trip for Michigan State and a probable beating. Santa Clara.

Rice-Louisiana State: The Tigers are on the upgrade after a bad start but there's no choice here but Rice, conqueror of Tulane.

Duke-Colgate: Looks safe for Duke.

Bulldog Eleven Hope To Crash Win Column

Sports Roundup

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr. NEW YORK (The Special News Service)—Arkansas U., which admits being in the Southwest Conference doghouse, is aiming to outdo the other six by signing up 1,500 volunteer coaches—at rates from $1 for end coaches to $25, or what have you, to be a coach of the "works."

And then, says drum beater Johnnie Porter, "watch our fur fly." Stan Benjamin, the Phillies' outfielder, is keeping in shape this Fall by helping coach Framingham (Mass.) high, where he was grid captain in 1932.

Mayon Padilo, the Philly welterweight puncher, was given up for dead five years ago when a heater exploded and burned him.

Today's Guest Star Carter (Scoop) Latimer, Greenville (S. C.) News: "What we thought to be a pumpkin on our scoopero ranch Thursday turned out to be the lost football which Booty Payne kicked in Boston and it rolled to South Carolina."

Take-A-Chance, Dept. Judging by last week's results, the best football pick this time would be to pick a seat in the last row and keep quiet.

But with Utter Abandon we'll take Villanova over Baylor for Friday night's shot in the dark and Navy over Cornell, Nebraska over Indiana, Northwestern over Michigan, Columbia for a longshot against Georgia, Duke over Colgate, Texas Christian over the Aggies and Santa Clara over Michigan State for the Saturday toughies. . . . No questions, please.

Give Him The Bird Nile Kinnick, the last guy to beat the Gophers, was scouting Minnesota for Iowa Saturday. When he spotted Don Griffin, Illinois sophomore star, he remarked: "I know just how he feels. Going into your first conference game you can feel a flamingo fluttering in your stomach."

Someone reminded him that Griffin had to break in against Minnesota, and Nile corrected himself — "make it two Flamingos."

Don Guttridge, who couldn't get back his old job with the Cardinals last season, says he won't play minor league ball any more because there's no money in it.

W. B. Triner tried to scratch Plumita out of her last two races at Agua Caliente but was turned down by the racing secretary. . . . And Plumita won both races. . . . Commercial softball league have formed a team of their own, which they call the "Nine Blind Mice."

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Unbeaten and untied Baylor and Villanova battle Friday night at Shibe Park in an inter-sectional tilt that is expected to knock one from the ranks of undefeated football teams.

A crowd of more than 25,000 is expected to watch Coach "Clipper" Smith's Wildcats try to wipe out the sting of a 6 to 0 defeat last year.

Although triple threats Jack Wilson and Milt Crain have paced the Bears from the Southwest Conference to victories over Hardin-Simmons, Denver and Arkansas, Villanova is rated an even chance on the theory Clipper Smith-coached elevens seldom lose twice in a row to the same team.

FIRST YOSEMITE CHILD SLEEPS UNDER STARS YOSEMITE, Calif. (AP)—Returning after an absence of forty years, the first white child to be born in Yosemite National Park insisted on sleeping under the stars in a sleeping bag. She's Mrs. Gertrude Hutchings Mills, aged 73.

Maryland-Florida: The 'Gators should win one. Florida.

North Carolina State-Wake Forest: The edge belongs to Wake Forest.

Football Dopesheet Favors Wildcats At Lackey Field Grid

By Tanner Laine Winless but not flightless, the Midland Bulldogs were scheduled to make a determined bid for their first grid victory of the season here Friday night at 8 p. m. on Lackey Field against the Wink Wildcats.

Wink brings an undefeated, untied eleven, which has swept to four victories this season. Predicted as probable champions of District 7-A this year, the Wildcats are holders of many district, bi-district and regional crowns.

Midland has run a gauntlet of losses in four tilts but against potent foes. Coach Earle Clark drilled his team on both running and passing plays this week and polished the defense against end sweeps and spinners—the chief weapons of Coach Bryan Henderson's boys.

Alberding Is Out Fans asked for a game between the two clubs after they played in a scrimmage here several weeks ago.

A host of Permian Basin football fans are expected for the game. Wink is expected to bring its band and pep units and a crowd of supporters.

Wink will be playing without the services of its ace back, Alberding, who dropped out of school, but is reported in excellent condition.

Midland may start Marshall Whitmire in the backfield. The strapping guard was converted to a back two weeks ago and his addition to the secondary provides better blocking. Robert Wheeler, Ivan Hall, and Charlie Kelly are expected to round out the Bulldog starting backfield. In the line will be Jack Noyes, Pete Lee, Wilford Lester, Jimmy Watson, Gene Estes, and Ben Sevier.

The tilt was labeled a tossup earlier in the week but Friday wagers gave Midland points, which suited the Bulldogs.
