Jaycees Complete Plans For Home Lighting Contest

Plans have been completed for the Junior Chamber of Commerce sponsored Christmas home lighting contest which will get underway immediately. The city will be divided into four districts and first and second place winners will be selected in each district.

Scores of homes were decorated last year and a large increase in the number is expected.

This year's contest differs from that of 1940 in that persons desiring to have home decorations judged must enter the contest by calling the chamber of commerce, telephone number 55, or by writing the Junior Chamber of Commerce, P. O. Box 1606. Entries must be made not later than Dec. 16.

Districts announced by Langdon C. Tennis, contest chairman, are as follows: (1) South of Texas and Pacific Railroad; (2) east of Big Spring Street and north of rail-road; (3) west of Big Spring Street and north of Wall Street; (4) wes of Big Spring Street, south of Wall Street and north of railroad.

Prizes, donated by Midland mer-chants, will be awarded first and second place winners in each district, with a sweepstake prize to go to the grand champion.

Judging will be done by a secret committee on the nights of Dec. 18 and 19, with winners to be announced Sunday, Dec. 21.

the king he would not dare hold it up against our slam contract. Therefore West has the king." So South played the nine, and the defense won two spade tricks. Declarer had underestimated the iron nerve of the East player. Now it must be admitted that the spade holding offers only a guess as to the safest method of development. If East has both king and jack, this declarer's actual play would be best. If West held both honors, his play would lose at once.

In this dilemma, expert players prefer to develop the suit in one standard way whenever it appears, so as to avoid being "whipsawed" by wrong guesses. The play has a 75 per cent chance to lose only one trick, and taking the 25 per cent risk is better in the long run than trying to outguess the cards.

The standard is to play double-finesse against the two honors. That is, lead the queen or nine and let it ride if not covered. Then later finesse against the remaining adverse honor, if necessary. The play of the queen is better than the play of the nine, because if East has a singleton jack, declarer will then win all four spade tricks, whereas the fall of the king blank would not yield four tricks.

"That wasn't in our bargain, was it?" The bargain by which pretty, farm-bred Diana Tucker, just fired by lawyer Richard Thorpe after resisting his advances, has become the bride of the famous writer and commentator, is a contract whereby she is to remain his wife for six months and $10,000 — saving for Stephen a $2,000,000 inheritance he would have lost had he not married before he was 35. His stepmother, Ellen Curt, and Diana's father, are hopeful the couple will come to care for each other, but Stephen is in love with Evalyn Thorpe, beautiful blind wife of the flirtatious Richard, who has also become a fast friend of Diana's. Thorpe, meanwhile, is having an affair with spoiled, spiteful Adela, Stephen's sister, who does not bother to conceal her jealous hatred of Diana. The temporary wife wonders if she will find it difficult to give up the pleasant luxury of being Mrs. Stephen Curt, even though in name only; wonders if later there will be a place in her life for Phil Bruce, Stephen's best friend who is so strongly attracted to her, or for Bill Jackson, her child-
