Carter, Pentagon at odds over Israeli role in F16

By FREDS. HOFFMAN AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Carter's indicated approval of an Israeli role in producing the new American F16 fighter plane goes against wide opposition among military and civilian officials in the Pentagon.

Even some long-time supporters of Israel in the Defense Department are against such a production-sharing arrangement in part because they are concerned it might slow F16 output for the United States and NATO.

These officials contend that a drain of technological expertise and resources from General Dynamics Corp., the F16's prime contractor, would be required at least temporarily to help the Israelis start their own production. This, they say, might delay the U.S. and NATO programs.

They also argue that the Israelis might incorporate this advanced aircraft technology into other types of military airplanes developed for sale abroad. They cite Israel's attempts, blocked by the United States, to sell Ecuador its Kfir fighter, which is powered by U.S. engines.

Carter's latest position on coproduction in Israel emerged at his Thursday news conference.

The coproduction debate has revolved around the F16, and the President was asked if he was "persuaded that we should share arms technology and coproduction with Israel." Carter replied: "Yes."

Some senior defense officials indicate they believe the issue is not yet finally resolved, although they concede it appears tilted toward a goahead for F16 coproduction of either the entire plane or its components.

This suggests efforts may be made to change Carter's mind, or at least to write strict controls into any U.S.-Israeli pact on the matter.

It is not clear whether Carter intends to extend coproduction authority for Israel beyond the F16 to other kinds of advanced weaponry.

The United States has a coproduction arrangement with Denmark, Norway, Belgium and the Netherlands in connection with their agreement to buy nearly 350 F16s.

Under those arrangements, the Europeans build some components and assemble some of the planes. They also are guaranteed a share of the dollar value of any F16s sold to other foreign countries.

OPEC countries said agreed on freeze

By JOSEPH FITCHETT The Washington Post

NICOSIA, Cyprus - Eleven major oil-producing countries reportedly have agreed to cancel a 5 per cent price increase scheduled for July. The move is seen as a victory for the policies of Saudi Arabia.

The decision, reported here Friday by the Middle East Economic Survey, an authoritative bulletin of oil affairs, appears likely to strengthen Saudi Arabia's position in talks later this month in Washington between Saudi Crown Prince Fahd and U.S. officials.

In the past, Saudi Arabia has linked its moderate oil pricing policies to expected political gestures from the United States, specifically in the area of U.S. pressure on Israel to make concessions in the Middle East peace negotiations.

The newsletter said the 11 countries, members of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries, have made a "firm decision" to freeze prices at their present level. It said a formal announcement is to be made May 20. The move would rescind a 60 cent increase in the present price of $12.70 a barrel, equivalent to about 1.5

Saudi Arabia and the United Arab Emirates, who account for about onethird of the world's oil exports, split with the other 11 members of OPEC in a rancorous meeting in December and refused to adopt a two-stage price increase of 10 per cent on Jan. 1 and 5 per cent on July 1. The two countries, instead, raised their prices only a pe cent and Saudi Arabia said it would boost its production to undercut the majority's higher price.

There was speculation Friday that Saudi Arabia, after the conciliatory move by the other 11 members to rescind the July increase, might raise its own prices slightly to narrow the present 5 per cent gap and to help restore OPEC unity.

The newsletter, which is wellinformed about official thinking in Riyadh, said, however, that Saudi

While the 5 per cent spread remains in effect, the newsletter said, future Saudi Arabian policy on oil prices will be influenced by the world economic situation including the North-South dialogue and by the outcome of Fahd's crucial talks with the Carter administration on the Arab-Iraeli problem and on Saudi-U.S. relations.

The latest development will be seen as a gain for Saudi Arabia in the running of OPEC affairs. Saudi Arabia's rulers reportedly felt challenged by the shah of Iran's attempt to put through larger price increases without prior consultation with Saudi and African oil states in late April and early this month, was credited by the newsletter with helping arrange the compromise. Earlier, there had been reports that Perez was unsuccessful in efforts to bring the two factions in OPEC closer together.

The newsletter said the OPEC majority favoring a July price increase broke when Venezuela, Kuwait and Qatar decided that a further price split with Saudi Arabia would be too damaging politically and economically, particularly in view of likely further increases in Saudi Arabian crude output.

After initial difficulties in boosting production, Saudi Arabia topped 9 million barrels a day last month and Iran's oil production dropped by nearly 1 million barrels a day.

The latest decision by the 11 OPEC members was directed primarily toward dissuading Saudi Arabia from increasing its production further toward its 12 million barrels a day capacity and flooding the market with its cheaper oil.

$460.9 billion budget approved by Senate

By EDMOND LeBRETON

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Senate approved on Friday a tentative budget of $460.9 billion with a $64.6 billion deficit, figures close to President Carter's proposals but containing less for defense than he wanted.

However, a stiffer test awaits the fiscal blueprint in the House. The measure approved by the Senate is a compromise worked out in a Senate-House conference. The House still must vote on it.

The budget resolution adopted by the Senate 54 to 22 targets $111 billion for defense spending in the year beginning Oct. 1.

This is $1.1 billion more than the House voted for the Pentagon. That vote came on the second try. The first budget resolution offered the House failed when liberals revolted against what they called an over-generous allotment for the military.

The next House vote on the budget is scheduled tentatively for Tuesday. If the House approves it, the resolution will become a guide for spending bills between now and September, when Congress must adopt a final, binding fiscal blueprint.

Most of the budget category allotments in the Senate version are fairly close to Carter's recom-mendations. The defense figure is semiofficial estimate by the Office of Management and Budget.

The conference report said the down foreign military sales, use up some funds left over from earlier years and absorb part of pending pay

Backers of the legislation were guardedly optimistic, in part because of evidence of bipartisan support for the compromise hammered out in three days of hard Senate-House bargaining.

Not only did all Senate conferees of both parties sign the compromise report, but two of the Republican House conferees did likewise. On all previous budget resolutions, Republican House conferees withheld their support and only a handful of GOP members in the chamber itself voted for adoption.

The budget resolution calls for spending $1.5 billion more than President Carter proposed in February, but proponents contended some of his spending figures have been revised upward since then.

The deficit estimate is $6.9 billion higher than Carter's February figure, principally because the congress budget writers considered his projections for economic recovery unduly optimistic and estimated lower tax revenues than he did.

HAMPTON, N.H. (AP) - Hundreds of men and women arrested nearly two weeks ago while protesting the construction of a nuclear power plant accepted guilty verdicts for trespassing and were released Friday on their own recognizance.

The decision to release the more than 500 Seabrook demonstrators still in custody came after an agreement with prosecutors, who wanted to avoid clogging the state's courts for the next several weeks. Confinement of the protesters, arrested May 1 after a sit-in at the plant construction site six miles south of here, has cost the state hundreds of thousands of dollars so far. The National Guard bill to the state as of Thursday was $290,566, and this figure does not include costs of state or local police, county sheriffs and court facilities. Gov. Meldrim Thomson issued a national appeal for contributions last week when nearly 1,400 protesters were still in custody. As of Thursday, he said he had received $4,200 from individual donors in 29 states. Last week state officials estimated the cost to the state at $50,000 a day, and Atty. Gen. David Souter estimated the expense could reach $1 million.

Although 1,414 were arrested at the construction site, the number held had dwindled to just over 500 Friday. Authorities in Rockingham County said the five armories where the demonstrators had been housed would be clear by the end of the day.

The demonstrators still being held were driven here by bus and filed through the Hampton Courthouse in small groups for processing.

Under the agreement reached by Rockingham County prosecutor Carlton Eldredge with the Clamshell Alliance, which organized the demonstration, the protesters bypassed a district court trial and accepted guilty verdicts. In turn, the state agreed to release all the demonstrators on personal recognizance, pending appeal to Rockingham County Superior Court.

The first protesters to appear before Hampton District Court Judge H. Alfred Casassa under the agreement were sentenced to 15 days in jail and given $100 fines. Identical sentences, with credit given for time served in the armories, were expected for the others.

Eric Blumenson, a lawyer representing the first group of protesters, called the sentence "rather harsh" and reminded the judge that trespassing was a misdemeanor which normally carries

"I talk to them," unabashedly declared Fisler, who's into his fourth year of beekeeping.

He figures honeybees must be downright smart to maintain the super-orderly society that is first nature to them.

"They've got at least 10 trades in that hive," said Fisler, as he and two fellow bee admirers were setting up some new homes for bee colonies southeast of Midland. There are worker bees to forage for nectar, from which honey is made. In so doing, they pick up pollen and aid in nature's fertilization. Other bees guard the entrance to hives and keep wanderers and in-

WASHINGTON (AP) - Congress heard a second opinion from Texas about the price of natural gas Friday. After Gov. Dolph Briscoe had delivered his customary plea for deregulation of gas prices a pair of price control advocates told the House energy and power subcommittee it was time to hear the other side. Mayor Edwin Faust of Grey Forest,

Tex., a small town with a retail gas utility, told the subcommittee that political leaders like Briscoe "speak for the oil and gas industry only."

Faust said the uncontrolled intrastate market in Texas has caused severe hardships on consumers as prices have risen to more than $2 per usand cubic feet. 'The consumer can do nothing. The Faust asked for strict controls on the price of gas, based on production cost plus a fair profit. He suggested that a controlled price should be well below the $1.75 proposed by the Carter administration.

That price, he said, was designed to "appease certain segments of the oil and gas industries and our legislatative leaders."

Faust's remarks were echoed by former state representative Lane Denton of the Texas Farmers' Union, an unsuccessful candidate for the state's railroad commission last year.

Briscoe's comments in the morning hearing were closer to what Congress usually hears about gas prices from Texas witnesses.

The Carter energy program will fail, Briscoe said, unless it is changed to allow deregulation of gas prices.

Briscoe said the $1.75 level, equivalent to the price of a comparable amount of crude oil, was unrealistically low because natural gas burns cleanly and requires no refinement.

The proposed price would not provide incentives to find more gas or to persuade industry to switch to alternate fuels, he predicted. The result would be a continuing energy

The Senate is expected to agree, thus extending the program as part of the tax bill.

The major dispute over the bill Friday was over an attempt by Rep. Les Aspin (D-Wis.) to install a distribution formula worked out by a House Government Operations subcommittee headed by Rep. L.H. Fountain (D-N.C.), based on the tax effort made by local communities rather than unemployment rates. It lost, 216 to 127.

The Fountain subcommittee said unemployment rate calculations for small communities were, according to government studies, no more than guess work, and many such units were losing out on funding because their unemployment rates appeared to be low, even though recession had cost them substantial loss of tax revenues.

Aspin would have substituted a distribution formula based on the proportion of their income that state and local residents pay in local

Loss of A7E contracts could shake Dallas-Fort Worth area

GRAND PRAIRE, Tex. (AP) -Earl Hastings has been working for Vought Corp. for 25 years and figures that after all those years a man should be looking forward to retirment. Instead, he is now worried about whether he will have a job next

Hastings, a shop supervisor for the jet aircraft manufacturer, is among the 5,000 employes whose jobs depend on the fate of the A7E fighter jet, a plane that President Carter considers obsolete and wants discontinued. "These are the gentlest bees I have Spokesmen for Vought Corp., subsidiary of the Dallasbased LTV Corp., confirmed Friday the shaky position of the company's work force and said the loss of the more than $100 million in contracts would be felt by the economies of cities making up the Dallas-Fort Worth Metroplex. The company has confirmed contracts now for only 43 more A7E planes, 13 od which are destined for the Greek Air Force. The company's payroll could be saved by a long-term contract with Pakistan for the construction of 110 planes for the Pakistani Air Force, but that $700-million contract is in jeopardy because of political considerations. The Carter Administration has blocked the order, contingent on Pakistan dropping plans to purchase a Frenchbuilt nuclear fuel processing plant.

Vought officials said if Pakistan sale is approved, production of the plane could continue for another three years. The Pakistani order is important because the company needs time to design and develop another series of planes and maintain its capacity as a defense bidder.

"If our line (the A7E) went to zero in fiscal 1978 and we didn't get new business, employment at the plant would drop to 2,800 -from 8,050," said LTV chairman Paul Thayer. "I couldn't visualize another program for eight to 10 years.'

Dallas area congressional representatives are still fighting in Congress to maintain the A7E production line alive and Thayer said he has hopes that the company will continue to producer the aircraft and avoid layoffs.

But he added that if the production line were closed, ikt would create a "ripple effect" in the area economy.

The dramatic effect here would be the ripple effect of dollars taken out of the local market, particularly around Grand Prairie and Arlington, Of course, Dallas and Fort Worth would suffer.

Meanwhile, Hastings says the threat of unemployment as "an ax hanging over your head. You don't know when it will drop. You can't make longrange plans.

A group of Vought employes has started a campaign to get 200,000 signatures on petitions asking that the A7E be retained.

At one time the company employed 21,000 persons in 1970 when it produced 271 planes. Last year the company lost a bid on a contract for the new Navy fighter. The Navy chose a plane manufactured by Northrop

The House rushed through dozens of bills both on the local and consent calendar and on an expedited general calendar containing 60 measures — several of them quite important. Senators also kept busy, sending to the governor a bill allowing district judges to deny bail pending appeal to a person receiving less than a 15-year sentence. Such persons now have an automatic right to bail. They also approved House changes and sent to the voters a constitutional amendment enabling judges to deny bail to persons indicted for crimes committed while free on bond on earlier offenses,

It would be on a special Nov. 8, 1977 ballot.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe's bill to deny probation to criminals who injure rape, robbery kidnaping or sexual abuse victims or who use guns won House passage, 103-26. It returns to the Senate for approval of changes made by the House.

The measure is a keystone of the governor's anti-crime program.

Without discussion, the House passed to the Senate a bill by Rep. John Whitmire, D-Houston, outlawing pay toilets. A businessman that installs one could be fined $1,000 and jailed for up to 180 days.

Child's permission to be required for medical, behavioral research if proposed rules get OK

By VICTOR COHN The Washington Post

WASHINGTON - A federal advisory commission said Friday that medical scientists should not be allowed to involve children seven and older in medical or behavioral research unless the children themselves - and not just their parents - first give permission.

The unanimous recommendation one that breaks new ground in medical ethics — will be sent to Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Joseph A. Califano Jr. by the National Commission for the Protection of Human Subjects of Biomedical and Behavioral

If he accepts it, it will directly affect an estimated 175,000 children and minors now taking part in nearly 3,500 federally funded health studies at hospitals, medical centers and mental and other institutions all over the

It could also affect thousands of other youngsters, even those getting new experimental drugs in the offices of authorized doctors, since this commission has rapidly been emerging as a leading force in setting new medical

The author of one study on children and consent - Dr. Barbara Korsch of Los Angeles Children's Hospital said in an interview Friday that "the way it works now in most places is that if the doctor and parents agree that a child should participate, they most likely inform rather than ask the child. If the child's consent has been asked, it has been cursory.

"I'm delighted with the commission's recommendation," she added, 'though I would have put the age of assent a little higher, at 9 or 10. Of course a lot of my colleagues won't agree. Some call this commission the 'Commission for the Prevention of Research.'"

The commission was created by Congress three years ago to deal with such questions as how much research should be permitted on living ; fetuses about to be aborted - or in some cases just aborted, the ethics of research on prisoners and the extent to which doctors can do psychosurgery. In all these fields the commission has urged severe limits. But none of its recommendations has so far potentially affected as leukemia to tests of new vaccines to scores of behavioral and psychological studies.

cooperating subject, healthy or sick, but may produce new knowledge that might help others. And this may require tests that invade the body and often put the subject at some degree

The University of Michigan Survey Research Center interviewed 471 researchers and 144 subjects or their parents or guardians for the commis-sion, and found that in half of the cases involving subjects 12 or younger, no one directly asked the child's consent.

"I think most researchers, certainly most pediatricians, do ask the child's permission already, at least in a context of winning the child's cooperation," Dr. Kenneth Ryan of Harvard University, commission chairman, said at the National Institutes of Health in Bethesda, Md., site of the commission's meeting.

"What we've come to believe now is that children do have rights, and that at an age when the child can appreciate what's going on and can respond appropriately, the child has a right both to be asked, 'Do you want to do this?" and to say, 'No, I don't.' And the only time anyone has the right to override this is when it's a matter of essential therapy."

The nine members of the 11member commission present Friday

- doctors, medical and law professors and medical ethicists - voted

-Before a child or minor is included in any research, a review board at each center should be sure responsible staff members have obtained not only the usual parental permission but also the child's "assent, whenever the child is capable of understanding the research and giving assent.

-A child's deliberate objection to participation... should be binding unless the research holds out a prospect of direct benefit that is important to the health or well-being of the child" and ofers a treatment or test the child can't otherwise get.

"Capable" was defined as meaning of age 7 or older and not mentally or otherwise disqualified. The commission used the word "assent" rather than "consent," because almost all states set 18 as the legal consent age for most purposes.

Commission members reached no conclusion on another question that has vexed them for months: whether it is ethical, whether or not a child and parents consent, to include a child in research that has any risk if the study can't possibly benefit that child but may help future children.

Fisler might say. He knows better. Honeybees have smarts. Even the Bee-loving Fisler gives another dimension to the honeybees he cares for. Mankind is akin to the bee. . . Domestic animals depend on us," he said. "The wild animals fear

Latter day Burbank active at 84

For The Associated Press

MERCED, Calif. (AP) - Fred Anderson loves trees and things that grow. Indeed, he has spent much of his 84 years tinkering with nature, evoking new varieties from the slowworking genetics that begin in the spring. As a result, his patented hybrids dominate the $30 million American nectarine industry and produce fruit all over the world. He also has developed genetically dwarfed peach trees and is hard at work on new varieties of pecans and apricots. He pauses by one of his dwarf peach trees and lays his gnarled fingers on a blossoming bough. He smiles at his ponytailed assistant, a 23-year-old grand-'To emasculate a blossom, Robin," he tells her. "you cut it with your fingernail, like this, then strip away the petals and the pollen-bearing stamens without damaging the pistil. He was demonstrating the first step in a hybridization process that might culminate six years later in still another tree variety to add to the 113 he already has patented. Robin tried her hand and found the procedure not all that easy. Next day she started practicing the craft under the direction of one of the dozen skilled men and women whose work is vital to Anderson's 40acre experimental farm near here.

"She catches on quickly," says Anderson. He is most pleased by the aptitude she has shown for selecting promising seedlings and scions. That is the very heart of plant breeding.

Called by one expert the "Luther Burbank of today," Anderson is full of projects and gives no thought to retirement. When he made one concession to age last year and quit driving, Robin gave up a job in Colorado and became his driver and disciple. If things work out well, she might be the one to carry on his "art, science or business," as Burbank himself

Women's rights begun by Luther?

By GEORGE W. CORNELL AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) - The changed view of women which today sees them as entitled to parallel rights with men had its start, a historian suggests, in the household of a 16th century Roman Catholic priest turned Protestant reformer, Martin

His own happy marriage was "psychologically as important" as the end of clerical celibacy among clergy of the reformation churches "in accomplishing the full honorability of the marital estate" in western civilization, says church historian Susan Karant-Nunn.

Not by any theory, but by the example of Luther's domestic ways, he "eliminated from Lutheran society the notion that an intimate bond with a woman was a degrading 'traffic' that the spiritually superior could dispense with," Dr. KarantNunn says.

"Most influential of all was Luther's unrestrained, open and frequent demonstration of his love for Katherine. If he had been what we call today a 'private person,' the mere fact of his marriage could scarcely have made an impact."

Dr. Karant-Nunn, a professor of Portland State University in Oregon, offered her analysis in a recent conference on the role of women in church history, detailing Luther's relationship with Katherine von Bora, a former nun whom he married in 1625. He called her "Katie."

While Luther dominated his household and his wife and was by modern standards an "optheless, "even today provides a model of tenderness and affection toward one's spouse." Dr. Karant-Nunn said.

She added that what set him apart from the other reformers, such as John Calvin and Ulrich

Zwingli, who also married, was "the openness of his expressions of his devotion to his wife." The other reformers also held that women should be taught to read and write and that they had rights in unhappy marriages, but rarely spoke of their own domestic affairs.

But Luther particularly elevated the view of women, it was held, because of his unusual candor and freely shown compassion in his own marriage. Among details cited:

"I am a happy husband, and may God continue to send me happiness," he wrote a friend. "For from that most gracious woman, my best of wives, I have received by the blessing of God, a little son Hans Luther. By God's wonderful grace, I have become a father.'

He was then 43.

But Luther also subtly rebuked her on occasions. Once, when she urged him to "stop talking long enough to eat your dinner," he remarked, "I do wish that women would repeat the Lord's prayer before opening their

Baptists, Catholics, Episcopalians, Lutherans, United Methodists, Mennonites, Presbyterians, Pentecostals, Messianic Jews and other Christian groups will meet each day for workshops and other special activities within their own separate gatherings; each evening, all groups will come together in the stadium for unified celebrations.

Some of the more than 200 speakers to be featured at the conference include Cardinal Leon-Joseph Suenens, David duPlessis, Ruth Carter Shapleton, Catherine Marshall, Maria von Trapp, Derek Prince and Larry Chrishenson. The charismatic renewal is a movement occurring today in all Christian denominations and groups, focussing on awakening the power of the Holy Spirit and on the reality of the Lordship of Jesus Christ. Charismatic or Pentecostal Christians have, until recently, been found only in the more conservative, traditional Pentecosta denominations such as the Assemblies of God, various Churches of God, Penecostal Holiness and Foursquare Gospel churches. In the late 1950s, however, a new movement of charismatics began to appear in Roman Catholic and predominately liberal mainline Protestant denominations such as Episcopalian, Lutheran, Methodist and Presbyterian churches. In every denominational setting, charismatic renewal is marked by demonstrative praise of God, an awareneas of His presence and guidance, deep reverence for the Bible, strong commitment to Christian witness in the world, and gifts of the Spirit which include healing, visions and

Bottling the genie

Since the failure of the Baruch Plan in the period from 1946 to 1948, there has been no prospect of an effective international agency to control all potentially dangerous atomic power.

The Cold War divided the Western nations from the Communist powers in that period, and the United States was the world's only nuclear power. The Soviet Union wanted no controls until it too had the bomb.

The Soviet Union became a nuclear power in 1949, Britain in 1952, France in 1960, China in 1964 and India in 1974. It is widely believed that Israel has built a number of bombs at its secret nuclear facility at Dimona in the Negev.

But, even counting Israel, the world has only seven nuclear powers at present. The potential, counting all the sovereign nations which belong to the United Nations, is a nuclear club with 147 members.

A number of nations which could have built the bomb have, however, voluntarily refrained from doing so - Japan, West Germany, Sweden, among others. They feel more secure without it.

More assassination information

By JACK ANDERSON and LES

Distributed by L.A. Times Syndical

WASHINGTON - The secret files of the House Assassination Committee contain reports of strange CIA activities in Dallas on the eve of the John F. Kennedy assassination Credible witnesses have confirmed our past reports that the accused assassin, Lee Harvey Oswald, was in touch with anti-Castro Cubans in Dallas. One confidential report states that "in 1963, Oswald was seen leaving the Dallas office of Alpha 66. This was a Cuban commando group trained by the CIA.

States a confidential summary: "When (Veciana) arrived, Bishop was accompanied by another man, Lee Harvey Oswald Another witness who impressed the investigators, Sylvia Odio, told them that two anti-Castro Cubans had introduced her to an American by the name of Leon Oswald. She was told that Oswald was trying "to convince anti-Castro Cuban groups . . . to kill President Kennedy.'' After the assassination, she recognized this American as Lee Harvey Oswald.

The House investigators don't really believe that the CIA had any part in the murder of President Kennedy. More likely, they suspect the CIA may have tried to cover up some embarrassing contacts with Oswald in Dallas. In any case, the CIA took pains to give the impression that Oswald was in Mexico City at the time that wit- report: "These photographs, though nesses claimed he was dealing with the CIA-guided Cubans in Dallas. Veciana, for example, told of a strange call he received from his CIA

Relates a confidential report: "Veciana was to relay Bishop's offer to pay Ruiez and his wife to say that they had met with Oswald in Mexico

This not only would have placed Oswald out of Dallas but would have thrown suspicion on the Castro government. The ruse was later called off. Instead, the CIA cited secret tapes and photographs as evidence that Oswald had been in touch with both the Cuban and Soviet embassies in Mexico City.

The CIA kept tapes of all phone calls going in and out of the two embassies. Photographs were also taken of everyone entering and leaving these embassies. On Oct. 1, 1963, the CIA notified other U.S. embassies that "an American male, who identified himself as Lee Oswald, contacted the Soviet Embassy in Mexico City.' Oswald was described in the cable as "approximately 35 years old, with an athletic build, about six feet tall, with a receding hairline." The committee files note that this "in no way physically resembles the Lee Harvey Oswald accused of assassinating President Kennedy '

The CIA sought photographs from the Navy to compare with its photographs of Oswald at the Soviet embassy. Declares a committee obviously not of the correct Lee Harvey Oswald, became the Warren Commission's exhibit 237. The CIA admitted that there had been a mixup but never cleared the matter up.'

A CIA witness has told committee investigators meanwhile that the CIA's monitoring camera happened to break down on the day that Oswald allegedly visited the Soviet embassy. But the CIA tap on the Soviet embassy's phone produced an alleged telephone call from someone who identified himself as "Lee Harvey Oswald.'

The CIA witness claimed that the actual voice recording of the telephone conversation "was destroyed in routine destruction procedures approximately one week after it was received." Yet more than seven weeks later, the FBI claimed to have heard the telephone conversation that the CIA said had been destroyed. The FBI's judgment was that the voice did not belong to Wrote late FBl Director J. Edgar Hoover on Nov. 23, 1963: "The Central Intelligence Agency advised that on Oct. 1, 1963, an extremely sensitive source had reported that an individual identified himself as Lee Oswald, who contacted the Soviet Embassy in Mexico City inquiring as to any messages.

"Special Agents of this Bureau, who have conversed with Oswald in Dallas, Texas, have observed photographs of the individual referred to above and have listened to a recording of his voice. These Special Agents are of the opinion that the above-referred-to individual was not Lee Harvey Oswald."

The House investigators are beginning to wonder whether the CIA concocted the whole Oswald adventure in Mexico City in an attempt to conceal his real activities in Dallas. It is worth mentioning that the CIA, at White House instigation, began to create another Mexico cover story nine years later to obstruct the FBI investigation of Watergate.

SMOKING HAZARD - Future aviation disasters may be averted if pilots stop flying in smoke-filled cockpits. Medical experts have found that cigarette smoking in small cockpits reduces the physical ability of pilots to respond in emergencies. The carbon monoxide produced by smoking causes significant impairment in their vision, coordination, response time, concentration, manual dexterity and ability to make judgments under stress.

While passengers are forbidden to smoke during take-offs and landings for fear of fire, the crew and stewardesses sometimes puff away in the crowded cockpit. Even nonsmoking pilots are affected by the smoke around them, suffering from eye and throat irritation, headaches and nausea, scientists say.

Soviet bloc trade with Latins grows

By WILLIAM GIANDONI Copley News Service

Latin America is doing more and more business with the Soviet Union and the other "Socialist" countries.

Yet total trade between the Soviet bloc and the Latin nations is not much when compared with that of the United States.

In fact, according to the United Nations Economic Commission for Latin America (CEPAL), the Socialist countries rank fourth in importance among the economic groups and geographical areas with which the other hemisphere republics trade, behind the United States. behind the European Economic Community and behind Japan.

CEPAL reported that total trade between the Soviet bloc and Latin America, excluding Communist Cuba, amounted to around $1.86 billion in 1975.

The U.N. agency said that Cuba's trade with the Socialist countries between 1971 and 1973 averaged $1.55 billion a year. It did not offer more recent figures on Cuba. Cuba, of course, is a special case. Technically, it is part of the Soviet bloc, having been a full-fledged member of the Communist common market organization since 1972 and a Soviet satellite for nearly two decades now.

Even when the Cuban figures are included, though, Latin trade with the Socialist countries is not too im-

In 1975, apparently the most recent year for which CEPAL had statistics,

William Giandoni

U.S. trade with Mexico, alone, was nearly double that of the Communist countries with all of Latin America. Mexican exports to the United States amounted to over $1.6 billion and imports from the United States, to over $4.1 billion that year, or a total of more than $5.7 billion. Mexico's total was down a bit, to $5.6 billion in 1976.

According to the U.N. group, now "a tendency is to be noted toward intensifying, diversifying and giving continuity" to Latin trade relations with the Socialist countries.

Argentina, Brazil and Peru, which do the bulk of Latin American business with the Soviet bloc, have seen their exports rise from an annual average of $238 million in the 1966-1970 period, to $974 million in 1974, and to $1.209 billion in 1975. Imports from the Socialist countries were much less, amounting to $102 million, $270 million and $306 million in the periods mentioned

The rest of Latin America, excluding Cuba, shipped the Socialists an average of $50 million a year in the 1966-1970 period, $239 million in 1974 and $203 million in 1975. Imports for those periods totaled $43 million, $173 million and $139 million.

CEPAL noted that, "despite the low percentage that exports of the Latin American countries, except Cuba, meant in the total imports of the group of Socialist countries, the Latins were nevertheless the principal purveyors of wool, coffee, vegetable oils, cocoa and tin.

"Latin American imports from the Socialist countries consisted in their majority of manufactured goods,' including generators, mining, petroleum, railroad, textile and farm machinery.

CEPAL also reported "an important evolution" in the Soviet bloc countries' policies on payments. "The most recent agreements signed by Argentina, Brazil, Colombia and Mexico with diverse Socialist countries provide that payments will be made in freely convertible moneys. Previously most trade pacts with the Soviet bloc were barter agreements.

INSIDE REPORT:

President Jimmy Carter bowing to 'King Congress'

By ROWLAND EVANS And ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON - Just before performing as leader of the Western world at the London summit. President Carter abdicated a little leadership at home by bowing to new congressional prerogatives that may haunt him the rest of his days in the White House.

To break an impasse with the House, Mr. Carter accepted the right of King Congress to set a defense spending ceiling without even the privilege of presidential protest. This Institutes a signal victory in the nexorable post-Watergate campaign by Congress to erode the President's constitutional responsibilities in foreign policy and national security.

It also marked another withdrawal in the new President's steady retreat away from confrontation on Capitol Hill. Instead of the predicted rerun of Gov. Jimmy Carter's vendetta with the Georgia legislature, he has sought peace here on Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill's terms.

The most recent retreat involves the new budget procedure where Congress annually adopts a resolution with spending limits. While applauded as a desirable move toward fiscal responsibility, the "congressional budget" was in reaction to Richard Nixon's exercise power. Just as Vietnam' and Cambodia inspired congressional usurpation of foreign policy, Nixon's impoundment of congressional ap-congressional budget.

This new prerogative has been most vigorously asserted by liberal Democrats in the House, who now feel Mr. Carter is spending too much for defense and not enough for social welfare. Accordingly, the House Budget Committee headed by Rep. Robert Giaimo of Connecticut cut the administration's Pentagon spending request of $111.9 billion by $2.3 billion.

Secretary of Defense Harold Brown is no tool of the military-industrial complex but realizes that inflation and military pensions deplete that $111.9 billion. So, Dr. Brown put Pentagon lobbyists behind an amendment by Rep. Omar Burleson of Texas to restore the $2,3 billion.

Unknowingly, Brown had violated two unwritten rules of the renascent Congress, both worthy of Catch-22: first, while Congress has full latitude to change the presidential budget, the congressional budget is sacrosanctits figures immune from even presidential suggestion; second, although defense is not supposed to be debated on the floor until the defense appropriations bill comes along much later in the year, the appropriations bill is bound by the ceiling in the undebated budget resolution.

Speaker O'Neill was characteristically practical in a telephone call with the President: call off the Pentagon dogs, and we'll get most of what you want in a Senate-House conference on the budget resolution. His mind on other matters, Mr. Carter confessed he did not fully understand what was happening but stressed he could not repudiate Secretary Brown's efforts.

House adoption of the Burleson amendment caused liberal Democrats to join with Republicans (who, chronically irrational, oppose all budget resolutions) in an absurd coalition to defeat the resolution. Chairman Giaimo stormed about the impropriety of the White House in-terfering with 'this "traditional" budget process (now in its second year of operation).

The "compromise" worked out May 2 restoring $300 million of the $2.3 billion in defense spending cuts was less significant than what was said over breakfast at the White House May 3. Responding to criticism from O'Neill and other Democratic leaders, the President confessed he had been confused. The unmistakable impression was that Brown's appeal from the Budget Committee would not happen again. There certainly was no appeal when the revised budget resolution, $2 billion light in defense money, came to the floor last week. How much of that $2 billion Mr.

Carter gets back in the Senate-House conference pales in significance before the precedent set. Mr. Carter was abdicating his right for his entire presidency to challenge defense ceilings set by liberal Democratic Congressmen who constitute a minority in the nation and in the Having recognized the congressional prerogative on defense spending, the President - just before flying to London May 5 - also sent up the white flag on foreign policy. He decided not to oppose congressional action which will force him to renege on F4 Phantom jets promised to Turkey. Apart from generating rage in Ankara, Mr. Carter's finesse can only encourage the horror of Congress-made foreign policy.

The President's men justify these decisions as strategic retreats enabling him to marshal maximum forces against Congress on the balanced budget and governmental reorganization. But his amiability won no respect on Capitol Hill. While Mr. Carter was in London, Speaker O'Neill confided to prominent Democrats how confused the President seems to be. The price of eroding presidential power had bought Jimmy Carter almost nothing.

Sports in spurts... and a touch of trivia

Cotton Nash, in Midland recently with El Paso as roving batting coach for the California Angels, is the answer to a trivia question. If you are really good, you'll know the question...

Pete Reiser, also a Tall City visitor during the Cubs Diablos series, is the answer to another trivia question, one Midland fans should know.

El Paso Manager Bob Rodgers says the trouble with Midland pitcher Wayne Doland is that "you can't steal on him very easily, he delivers the ball to the plate so quickly, he doesn't give the runners time to make their move." And Bob is one who likes to run..

ON PAT Kelly, his young catcher, Bob says, "He throws like Johnny Bench threw two or three years ago. He's young, only 21, and is just now beginning to harness his throw. How long to the majors? It depends on his bat. Otherwise, he's almost ready now."

Rodgers is one who opposes the trend to artificial playing surfaces. Then, glancing out at the Cubs Stadium surface, the former California Angels catcher pays the supreme com-pliment, "If all the fields were like this one, they wouldn't even think of artificial turf. This field is as good as any I've ever seen. In fact, it's better. The only major league field that could come close to it was the old diamond at Kansas City,"...

have an agent. Last winter I talked with Steve Garvey and he said his agent takes $70,000 front money, before Steve gets anything. Out of a $100,000 salary for a year, that's a big chunk and I think I could do better on my own.

Still, for Steve, it may not be a bad deal. I notice he's on a lot of TV talk shows and so is Don Sutton, who has the same agent, so apparently the agent is working for them."...

THE TEXAS Rangers need 1.4 million fans to break even and the last two years they have been in the 1.2 million neighborhood, which means they've got to stay in contention all the way, making the seat upon which Manager Frank Lucceshi sits a hot one indeed....

The Chicago Cubs are relying heavily on former Midland Cubs pitcher Mike Krukow, whom Manager Herman Franks feels has the potential to win 15 to 18 games. "If the kid comes through, we're in great shape," says Herman. After four straight kayos, Mike regained his spring training touch and won two straight.

Cotton Nash? The Kentucky basketball star of the early 1960's is the last athlete to play professionally in two major sports, first base for the Angels and forward for two years with the Lakers. ## Red Devils win state golf title

AUSTIN — The Rankin Red Devils' golf team came from behind here Friday at the Jimmy Clay golf course to win the Class A state championship with a two-day total of 657.

The victory gave Rankin and Coach Dwayne Turner their fifth straight state crown, a mark unequalled in state golf history. Memphis, which defeated Rankin in the regionals and was the first day leader, managed second with a 669.

David Burden of Clifton won the Class A medalist honors with a 155 after beating Memphis; Don Cofer in a four-hole sudden death playoff.

Fort Stockton won the AAA crown with a 627, but the Panthers needed a one-hole playoff against Humble to turn the trick. Fort Stockton's Blaine McCallister won AAA medalist honors with a 149.

Highland Park of Dallas won the AAAA division with a 605, six strokes in front of Austin LBJ. Clear Lake's Berry Ratcliff was the medalist with

Longshot leads Colonial

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) -Longshot John Schroeder, who had been playing so poorly he'd entertained thoughts of quitting the tour, parlayed a deadly putter and what he called "a bunch of lucky breaks" into a five-under-par 65 that staked him to a bulging, four-stroke lead Friday in the second round of the $200,000 Colonial National Invitation golf tournament.

"I'm as surprised as you are," the bemused Schroeder said after posting his 131 total, nine under par for two trips over the usually-tough, 7.190-yard Colonial Country club course. It tied the tournament record

"I really got lucky," said the 31year-old son of former Wiimbledon tennis champion Ted Schroeder. "Basically, that's what it is. And when you're putting good, like I am, it kind of inspires you.

Schroeder, who had given himself only this one last year of tour activity. one-putted 11 times on the mild, hazy day, including 10 of his last 12 holes.

"I told my wife over the winter that this is the year," he said. "If I don't show significant improvement this year, there's no point in me staying out here on the tour. We could have a happier life with me doing something

It would be difficult to improve on his scores for the first two rounds. Not only did he match the course record, he also tied for the largest 36-hole lead on the tour this year. The putter played a large part in it.

He pulled away from the field with birdies on three of his last four holessome of the toughest on storied old Colonial. Included in that stretch were birdie putts of 30 and 45 feet on the 15th and 16th holes and Schroeder capped it off with a wedge shot to three feet on the final hole.

Schroeder, who won the 1973 Match Play championship, has been a struggler the rest of his career and didn't make expenses last season. He's been troubled by a low-grade sinus infection most of the season and hasn't played in this country in five weeks. He's broken 70 on this course only twice in his nine-year career— both in the last two days.

Those two superlative rounds, however, left one of the year's strongest fields gasping in his wake.

Only Ben Crenshaw could keep him in sight. Crenshaw, a bitterly disappointed loser last week, managed to match par 70 and was second at 135.

Lubs streak to 5th in row

SAN ANTONIO — The Midland Cubs reached the .500 plateau for the first time in almost a month here Friday night, blasting San Antonio 5-1, for their fifth straight Texas League win and their seventh in the last eight outings. Karl Pagel continued to hit at a redhot clip for Jim Saul's Tail City diamondmen, belting his eighth and ninth home runs, and driving in three runs to lead the Bruin offensive barrage which has scored 63 runs in their last eight games.

Righthander Jack Ledbetter pitched his third complete game of the young season, scattering eight Dodger hits and picking up his third win in five decisions. Bill Kunkler absorbed the loss. He's 2-3.

The victory evened the Cubs season mark at 12-12 and put them even with the .500 line for the first time since April 20, when the team was 2-2.

Jackson gains net semifinals

AUSTIN - Kevin Jackson of Andrews advanced to the semifinals here in the Class AAA state tennis championships with a 3-6, 6-4, 6-4 win over Sam Elliott of Grapevine Friday. Jackson will oppose Wharton's Bart

Bernstein in the semis.

In Class AAAA competition, Abilene Cooper's David Zimmerman was extended to three sets in his quarterfinal match with Larry Hill of Mesquite, before winning 6-3, 5-7, 6-2. Zimmerman's next obstacle in his state championship path will be Dave Dowlan of Houston Lee, his opponent in today's semifinals at the Pinnack Allison courts on the University of

In other quarterfinal action in AAA the Seminole doubles team of David Webb and Rusty Conway advanced with a straight sets 6-0, 6-3 win over Glenn Johnson and David Holiman of Houston King, and Scott Wagner and Tony Gibbs of Monahans were eliminated by Humble's combo of Danny Ronquille and Mark Yager, 2-6, 6-3, 7-5.

first five frames, rapping Kunkler around for all but one of their nine hits, and all of their six runs.

Midland's leadoff hitter Keith Drumright nailed Kunkler's first pitch of the game for a triple and scored moments later on an infield grounder by Joe Hernandez' to put them up for good. They added another run in the second on a pair of base hits by Pagel and first baseman Aaron Randall, and a throwing error by the San Antonio shortstop on a rundown play.

The Cubs took advantage of another Dodger error in the third, when rightfielder Kurt Seibert singled to center and moved to second on a bobble by the Dodger outfielder. He scored two outs later on yet another safety from Duane Gustavson. Seibert joined the Midlanders earlier Friday. He was promoted from the Cubs' Class A farm club in Pompano Beach to replace the recently retired Bill Huisman.

Pagel's bat went to work in the fourth and fifth frames, as the University of Texas grad ripped a solo homer in the fourth, and hit another one an inning later with Gustavson aboard to round out the Cub scoring

Ledbetter set down the Dodgers seemingly at will, and the San Antonio team never posed a serious scoring threat with the exception of Dan Cordoza's solo blast in the eighth, which saved them the embarrassment of a shutout.

BALTIMORE (AP) - Jane Blalock, who had to withdraw from an LPGA tournament in Atlanta last week with a sore back, fired a fourunder par 69 Friday and shared the first round lead with Silvia Ber-tolaccini in the $55,000 Greater Baltimore Golf Classic.

Jones records tumble at state

By TERRY WILLIAMSON R-T Sports Writer

AUSTIN - Scratch out Superman. Batman, the Green Hornet and Johnny Jones. There's a new hero on

West Columbia's Carl Williams, an infant junior that would look better ina black cape and mask, rubbed out two state records at Memorial Stadium Friday night before 16,000 track fans, and they just happened to be two records that seemed most unlikely to fall as the two-day high school track and field meet got underway. Williams blazed to a 9.2 seconds in the 100-yard dash to become the fastest Texan in high school history. That was two-tenths of a second better than what Johnny Jones, who won a gold medal in the Olympics, could do a year ago in the same AAA division and one-tenth of a second better than the state record set by Greg Edmond of Galveston Ball in

It was the fastest 100 from top to bottom ever. Mitchell Bennett of Bonham tied the old record of 9.3 for second, and just to show how fast the field was, Ector's Alvin Woodard was sixth with a 9.8.

That was a good start, but it was just a start. Williams then cranked up and spit out a 20.9 in the 220 to set his second state mark. Johnny Jones' 21.0, which was recorded last year, is only history now. Woodard was a distant second with a 22.2 as Williams blitzed the 220 field.

This was supposed to be the slow year for state track marks, but in addition to Williams' two state marks, six conference marks fell and two more were tied.

Port Isabel's Todd Harbour broke his own AA record in the 880 with a 1:52.4, and Humble's Mike Mosley broke the AAA 120 high hurdle mark with a 13.6 while teammate Billy Busch was second with a 13.8 for the only 1-2 sweep by one school of the McGregor set a new AA mile relay standard with a 3:16.8, while Bonham tied the AAA 440 relay mark with a 41.3. South Park Beaumont's Ricky Thomas tied the AAA 330 hurdle record with a 37.0.

Rockdale won the AA team title with 46 points. Rockdale won the 440 relay with a 42.1, but that was the only event they won. Brenham won the mile relay, the last race of the night, to wrestle the AAA title away from Humble with 40 points. Ector's Larry Sutton was West Texas' only winner Friday when he won the long jump with a leap of 24-44, the best jump in the state meet regardless of division. Sutton failed to place in the 120 high however.

In th AA discus, Jim Smitherman of Crane came through with his best toss of the year, a 152-6, but managed only fifth place as Tom Bushong of Allen set a new conference record with a winning mark of 182-2.

There were also some field event finals in the other three divisions despite the fact that the running finals in AAAA, A and B divisions are set for 1 p.m. today.

Harold Ledet of San Angelo placed second in the AAAA discus with a toss of 185-4, but the surprise winner was San Antonio Marshall's James Headley with a throw of 191-8, his first throw over 190 feet.

Permian's Danny King was a disappointing sixth in the AAAA long jump with a leap of 21-11½ and Stanton's Doug McCallister could manage only a 21-8 in the Class A long jump for a seventh place and no points. Dwayne Jones of Mart won the Class A long jump with a conference record of 23-94 on his last attempt of the day to beat out Oklahoma-bound David Overstreet of Big Sandy.

One of the best showings of the day came in the Class B discus when Wheller's Jim Verden won with a 1835, 20-3 feet more than the old conference mark and over 13-feet better than his career best.

DALLAS (AP) - Top-seeded Jimmy Connors struggling in the first two sets against scrambling Eddie Dibbs, got his blistering backhand working Friday night and charged into the finals of the World Championship of Tennis with a straight set 6-4, 7-5, 6-

Connors will meet the winner of the night's second match between young Vitas Gerulaitis of New York and second-seeded Dick Stockton of Dallas.

Dibbs, the little 5-7 giant-killer who knocked off Ilie Nastase only two nights ago, broke Connors' serve in the third game and appeared to have the world's No. 1 ranked player on the ropes before Connors broke back in the eighth game. Connors sacked the set at love in the 10th game with a crackling backhand.

Dibbs again came out gunning in the second set and hustled to a service break in the fifth game. The unflappable Connors came right back to break Dibbs, of Miami, Fla., in the sixth game and took the set when he broke his opponent in the 12th game.

The disheartened Dibbs just went through the motions in the final set as Connors' radar-accurate winners took their toll.

Connors said, "Eddie was hitting a slieing backhand which gave me some trouble, but I've been playing him since I was 12 years old. And if I don't know how to play him by now I ought to quit."

Connors said, "I was letting down early in the set and I had to have a talk with myself. I need to quit digging a hole for myself and start on top, which is what I did in the third set." The WCT finals will be nationally-televised Sunday, with $100,000 going to the winner and $40,000 to

The two losing players will meet in a third-place consolation match Saturday afternoon.

Another sellout crowd of 9,300 fans in Moody Coliseum watched Connors dominate Dibbs with his deadly backhand. Connors has yet to lose a set in this, his first appearance in the WCT finals.

Johnny Jones loafs to record in 220

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Johnny Jones of Texas appeared to loaf at the end but still glided to a Southwest Conference record of 20.14 seconds in the 220yard dash prelims Friday.

The times broke the "world" record of 20.26 set by Tommie Smith of the United States in 1967, but world records in yard events no longer are recognized. Jones also posted a 9.33 in the 100 for the best time of three heats, and he gave the Longhorns four points with a fourth-place finish in the long jump finals.

The automatically timed dashes are officially considered to be .24 of a second slower than the old hand-timed clockings.

Three runners held the old record of 20.7; Billy Foster, SMU, 1965; Ronnie Allen, Baylor, 1969; and

Curtis Mills, A&M, 1970. The wind gauge showed an allowable 3 miles an

Jones practiced only a few days on the long jump in the hope his great speed and good lift could overcome his admittedly weak technique and win place points for his team.

It worked just that way, giving the Longhorns the early lead, 11-10 over Houston. The Cougars' Cecil Overstreet and Greg Caldwell finished first and sixth, with 25-44 and 24-04. But Texas took third, fourth and fifth, with Jerry Moore's 24-7, Jones' 24-44 and John Akhile's 24-24. Jim MacAndrew of Texas Tech finished second with 24-10.

Jones said after his record 220 he did not know if the long jump took something out of him before the dashes, but said, "I know I'm tired."

He contended he did not let up in his record race, but he slowed perceptibly a few yards before the tape.

Curtis Dickey of A&M posted the second best time, 9.53, in the 100 prelims. After false starting in his first century of the year last week, he said he was "sitting easy in the blocks."

Of the finals, Dickey said, "We'll have to wait and Texas qualified 11 runners for 14 events. Rice followed with nine for 13. A&M qualified five for seven; Houston three for six and Baylor five for five. Baylor Coach Clyde Hart protested that Charles Taliaferro of Texas pushed the Bears' Phil Mc-Clendon in the back on the final straightaway in an 880 heat, knocking McClendon down.

Meet referee Augie Erfurth disallowed the protest, saying, "All three officials rule a foul on the Baylor runner. They felt he had established himself in lane two coming off the turn.

Martin, angered over playing

"The decision on the 25th player was delayed pending disposition of various negotiations with other clubs and examination of the players at Syracuse," said Paul. "Certain comments directed at Mr. George Stein-brenner, the club's principal owner, by Manager Billy Martin concerning days," Paul continued. He agreed to be there. However, Billy failed to show up for the meeting with me. If we had had that conference as scheduled, the 25th player would have been added and the matter would have been settled then and there."

Paul said the Yankees decided to promote Alston because the youngster is leading the Syracuse club with a .338 batting average and has stolen 13 bases in 19 games.

"The examination of the performances at Syracuse revealed that Elrod Hendricks is currently batting .105 and it is my feeling that if we need a left-handed pinch-hitter, we should add one who has been performing more capably at this time. That is PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Eagles, who mortgaged their future on the playing field by trading away future draft choices, are coming up short financially because of interest owed on a $10.5-million bank loan.

The National Football League team, which has had only one non-losing season in the past 15 years, reportedly lost $500,000 last season despite filling Veterans Stadium.

"I don't know how many loans the bank has.

But if we're not among the top two or three as far as being paid is concerned, I'll be surprised. We're not last in those standings," General Manager Jim Murray said Friday.

Nancy Foltz, a public relations official for the bank, confirmed the bank would like to see more financial responsibility from the Eagles, but refused to go into specifics. There was also no word on what steps would be taken to tighten the bank's control.

Tulsa's Martinez is feeling pinch docked for five games

Marty Martinez, manager of the Tulsa Drillers of the Texas League, was suspended Friday for five playing dates for his fight with a fan earlier this week.

President Carl Sawatski said Martinez had been suspended for "conduct not in the best interest of baseball."

The suspension begins Friday and continues through May 19, Sawatski said. Tulsa has two open dates during that time.

The incident occurred in the ninth inning of a game between Tulsa and

Vacation planning time begins

By STEVE SCHATT Newsday

NEW YORK - It's that time of year again. Bring home the brochures, pore through the travel books, gather 'round the family table; the fun is in the planning as much as the going.

But the summer vacation is more than that: it's a break with routine, an exorcism of the dull. Getting away from it all is no mere cliche. For many, it's a necessity - and more and more travelers are choosing to make the break a clean one.

As the recession of recent years fades, the getaway syndrome is approaching new heights. For some, it means exotic destination—those farway places with strange-sounding names.

You can ride a camel across the Sahara, hike to the top of Mt. Kilimanjaro, trek through Sherpa villages in Nepal, walk the ice floes of Antarctica, ponder the mysteries of Easter Island. (One outfit even began waitlisting moon trips a few years ago, though the rush for space suits is still a bit down the pike.)

For others the destination may be no more exotic than a river in Delaware or a hill in the Adirondacks; the getaway lies in the experience of an unfamiliar activity: rafting down the Colorado, wagon-training across the Plains, canoeing in Minnesota, even bird-watching on Chappaquiddick.

The availability of new charter fares for the general public figures to accelerate the trend to new destinations, even as the familiar ones draw dividends on increased traffic. Already there are charters scheduled this summer to such disparate places as Morocco, the Philippines and Poland.

The destinations are a clue to rising interest in the offbeat. Studies by the Conference Board, a nonprofit research group, show that in 1960 only 90,000 Americans traveled to South America, Africa, Asia, the Middle East and Antarctica. By 1974 the figure had jumped to 572,000 and in 1975, the last year for which figures are available, the numbers had risen to 657,000. This year, travel agents report, sales to nontraditional spots are booming.

That isn't to say that offbeat destinations are overtaking the popular resorts of Europe and the Mediterranean. On the contrary, visitors to those traditional places still outnumber the others by more than five to one. What it does mean is that the horizons of American travelers are expanding—along with the yen for new experiences.

An important point is that you don't have to be an adventurer to apply. If rafting along the Colorado conjures an image of rugged outdoorsmen with rippling muscles, switch channels You're just as apt to see gray-haired grandmothers and spindly teenagers shooting the rapids. This and most other adventure trips are geared to just-folks, no experience

In fact, raft trips out West are among the most popular adventure trips and major ones are often sold out months in advance. This year some of the raft programs will be curtailed — at least in the early part of the season — because of the long drought over much of the West that has limited the water supplies released by some upriver dams.

Spring float trips on the Colorado have been seriously affected, though the bulkof that river's summer program is expected to go on as usual. Most trips through June 30 are solidly booked, and some smaller operators are fully booked through summer. National Park Service officials figure some 11,000 will sample the waters by year's end.

Other major rafting rivers, like the Snake in Wyoming and the Salmon in Idaho, have been affected by the drought in varying degrees. Eastern rivers, like West Virginia's New River, have suffered no such difficulties and full complements of whitewater runners are expected. In any case, if the thought of being swept along by rushing water already has started your adrenalin flowing act fast to get the summer dates of your choice.

Several major American firms offer a wide variety of wilderness and adventure trins at a wide variety of wilderness and adventure trips at about $200 to $500 a week, not including transportation. Among the biggest are the Sierra Club and Mountain Travel in California, the American River Touring Association in New York, and the Wilderness Society and the American Forestry Association in Washington, all with programs designed to shatter the mold of traditional travel.

In most cases, too, you'll get a fair serving of insight into the planet's resources — although the various trip operators have somewhat different ap-warious trip operators have somewhat different approaches.

Mountain Travel, for example, stresses "adventure experiences" in remote wilderness areas. It has planned about 70 trips for 1977, ranging from a 15-day tour of the volcanoes of Hawaii to a 21-day camel trip through the Algerian desert and a 49-day trek across the steppes of Siberia. Some of its trips are planned for novices, others for experienced climbers.

The American River Touring Association, as its name suggests, is strictly water-logged. It will operate some 400 trips this year on 26 rivers in the United States, British Columbia, Peru and Yugoslavia. Almost all involve camping in wilderness areas. Typical is a 15-day raft journey down Peru's Urubamba River through the Sacred Valley of the Incas to Machu Picchu, then through jungle country on the Rio Madre de Dios — all of which should provide enough adventure to last at least through your next mortgage payment.

The Wilderness Society, Sierra Club and American Forestry Association are environmentally oriented, but don't let that scare you. It doesn't mean a stuffy-lecture stance or a gentle hike in the woods. The idea is to let you see for yourself the joys of untrammeled nature — and if you should happen to come away with an appreciation for the work of environmentalists, so much the better.

The Sierra Club responds with the biggest all-around program — about 275 wilderness trips — with some as far away as Nepal and the Galapagos Islands. In this country, most of the Sierra Club's trips are in the West. The usual range of backpacking, horseback riding, canoeing and rafting trips is offered, along with various nature explorations. Especially popular among families are the club's base camp programs, wherein all supplies are taken to a single area and day hikes operate from there.

The Wilderness Society has a similar program, but all its trips — 56 this year — are in the United States. Most are for one week, and they include raft, canoe, horseback and packstop packages. (For the uninitiated, packstop means that the horse, mule or donkey carries your load while you stroll amiably

The American Forestry Association has 42 trips in 1977, built around packstock, canoeing and horseback riding from Maine to Arizona. Many of its summer horseback trips are already full, but you can still mosey through the Flat Tops Wilderness in Colorado or the John Muir Wilderness in California. These trips are all four to 10 days.

Nature Expeditions, Inc. of California puts its emphasis on natural history and anthropology, and backs its approach with an all-college-professor leadership. It has 30-35 trips this summer, from nature tours to wilderness expeditions. Sample destinations: Islamic Asia to study culture and archaeology: Galapagos Islands, including a hike to the Alcedo volcano and the world's largest tortoise colony; and the bird reserves at St. Kilda, off
