1,086 seniors graduated in three ceremonies

To the tune of "Pomp and Circumstance," 1,086 Midland seniors from Midland, Lee and Greenwood high schools Friday marched across the stage to receive their diplomas.

Lee and Midland High ceremonies were at Midland Memorial Stadium and Greenwood's was in the school gymnasium.

Ceremonies for Lee High School began at 6 p.m. in Midland Memorial Stadium. Hayden Blake Stanford, president of the student body, delivered the invocation.

In the salutatory address, James

Nulla said, "High school teaches us about three things: the world, other people and ourselves. The energy shortage, crime rate and strained relations with other countries can be solved only if we accept the challenge and apply our knowledge to the situation."

Stanford Wayne Downs presented the valedictory address to his classmates. "The most important thing we have learned in school is the ability to think and reason effectively. But why is this ability so important? One reason is that it changes us from useless, unemployed individuals who could be replaced by computers, into creative employees indispensable to our employers," he said.

"What do these diplomas mean? They mean whatever we make them mean—they can be the key to a better future for all of us."

Presentation of the class was by Dr. Joe T. Smith, principal, and certification was by Dr. Douglas W. Brown, assistant superintendent of schools. Diplomas were presented by Trustee James A. Ramsour. Anne Lischen Kreuz, student body chaplain, gave the benediction.

At Midland High graduation ceremonies, Bill Wells, head counselor announced awards, scholarships and honors. The class was certified by schools superintendent Dr. James H. Mailey. Johnny Warren, president of the school board, presented diplomas, assisted by Trustees Joe Dominey, David Grimes and Ann Page.

Clay Pollard, president of the student body, gave the invocation and John Northington, president of the senior class, gave the benediction. Of the education process, valedictorian Michael Mauldin said, "Most of us will wish we had learned more, if the future is as troubled as it seems. But nonetheless, what we have learned will prove valuable to us in the future, that is if we use it."

Julia Wornat was Midland High salutatorian. In her address, she discussed the difficulties of the future. "The future may still hold a myriad of obstacles that will prevent peaceful coexistence among nations and even neighbors, but if we view all issues, keeping in mind the omnipresence of the essential universal spirit, maybe our ideological differences will subside."

At Greenwood, W. P. Franklin, executive vice president of Western State Bank, was speaker. Schools superintendent Mel Williams and school board president Bud Lea presented diplomas.

Donna Pyle was valedictorian and Cindy Kimbrow was salutatorian. Students Lavonda Pruitt and Russan Ratliff sang and the Rev. Jerry Pittman, pastor of Greenwood Baptist Church, gave the invocation and benediction.

Mediators selected in Moluccan standoff

By DAVID MINTHORN

ASSEN, The Netherlands (AP) — Dutch officials and South Moluccan extremists chose a Moluccan doctor and the widow of a Moluccan guerrilla leader on Friday to help end the 11-day twin sieges in northern Holland.

Toos Faber of the Justice Ministry said Dr. Hassan Tan and Mrs. Chris Soumokil, who helped negotiate an end to a Moluccan train hijacking in 1975, would begin formal contacts Saturday with the seven to 10 gunmen holding at least 55 hostages on a train near Assen.

Another four of the Asian militants were holding three teachers and a principal at a village school in Bovensmilde, about 10 miles south of the train. Last week they released 105 children and a teacher from the school after about half of them developed stomach pains.

The leader of the two terrorist groups was believed to be on the train, officials said.

Four gunmen emerged from the train briefly Friday and planted a South Moluccan flag — vertical stripes of red, green, white and blue — on the front of the engine.

Asked what restrictions had been placed on the mediators, Mrs. Faber replied, "They are allowed in their contacts to see in what way they could be of any assistance in ending this case."

Premier Joop den Uyl told reporters in The Hague, the national capital, that the situation in the north remained "serious" and that the government considered the hostages the "first concern."

He said the government had already turned its attention to the siege's effect on relations between the Dutch and the country's 40,000 South Moluccan immigrants. He did not elaborate.

Earlier this week, the South Moluccans, who grabbed the hostages in coordinated raids May 23, rejected two possible mediators offered by the Dutch. The Dutch then turned down two of the terrorists proposed.

Agreement on the mediators followed a meeting in The Hague between Dutch officials and a delegation of Moluccans in The Netherlands.

The terrorists are seeking independence from Indonesia for their Pacific island homeland in the former Dutch East Indies.

U.S., Cuba swap teams

By BARRY SCHWEID

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and Cuba moved on Friday to end 16 years of official hostility by swapping diplomatic teams that will take up problems standing in the way of full restoration of relations.

At the same time, the Marxist government of President Fidel Castro said it would release 10 of the 30 Americans known to be in Cuban prisons and would review the cases of those remaining in jail. The names of those released, all being held on drug charges, were withheld until their families were notified.

The State Department called the announcement a goodwill gesture but said it "was not part of the deal" to establish diplomatic interest sections.

The decision to accept Cuban diplomats represents a major shift in policy toward Havana. The announcement was made at the same State Department podium where for years the Castro regime was regularly accused of stirring up subversion in the Western Hemisphere.

The exchange of up to a dozen diplomats on each side will be carried out within three months.

The Cubans will be based in their old embassy quarters here, which have been maintained by Czechoslovakia since relations were broken in 1961 in the waning days of the Eisenhower administration. Technically the Cubans will operate under the Czech flag.

Similarly, the Americans in Havana will move into the old U.S. embassy building there but under the sponsorship of Switzerland, which looked after the interests of U.S. citizens traveling and living in Cuba during the 16-year impasse.

"This agreement will facilitate communications between the two governments and will provide a greater range of consular services for the citizens of the two countries than are currently available," the State Department said.

Havana announced the move late Thursday although U.S. officials said there would be simultaneous announcements in both countries.

U.S. officials said the American diplomats would discuss with Cuba the presence of Cuban "advisers" in Africa, some $1.8 billion in claims against Cuba by U.S. citizens, the plight of the remaining American prisoners and other subjects.

Cuba is one of 14 countries with which the United States has no formal relations and Carter has said he would like to establish links with all of them. The President said earlier this week of Cuba that "we still have a lot of differences between us" but that "full friendship" was an ultimate goal.

Both measures would pull together

By TOM RAUM

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House voted Friday to establish a new department of energy but insisted that the agency should only have a life of five years unless renewed by Congress.

The energy department bill, slightly trimmed from that requested by President Carter, was approved 310 to 20.

Similar legislation has already passed the Senate. Before the bill can go to the President's desk, a House-Senate conference committee must reconcile differences between the two versions.

Both measures would pull together energy programs now scattered throughout the government and abolish three existing agencies outright.

And both measures reject Carter's proposal that the secretary of the new agency — expected to be White House energy adviser James R. Schlesinger — be given broad powers to set prices of energy.

Instead, the House and Senate voted to vest these powers in a commission to be included in the new department.

Carter has asked Congress to create the new department to carry out the energy proposals he wants enacted.

On a 202-126 vote, the House approved an amendment by Rep. James Broyhill, R-N.C., that would kill the new agency on Dec. 31, 1982. This would require further congressional action then if the department is to be continued.

Although sponsors of the bill protested it would lead to inefficiency in the new department by creating an atmosphere of uncertainty, Broyhill argued that "Congress does a very good job setting up new agencies but a poor job at reviewing them."

He said if Congress determines that the energy department is doing a good job, then it can vote to extend it beyond the 1982 cutoff date.

Before approving the bill, the House rejected a proposal to include within the new agency a unit empowered to strip large oil companies of their authority to buy foreign oil directly.

The amendment was proposed by Rep. John Conyers, D-Mich., who said the government could strike a better deal for consumers than do the oil companies that now deal directly with the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries — OPEC.

"This would show to all who are looking that we are not unmindful of the relationships between OPEC and the big multinational oil companies," Conyers said.

Opponents of the amendment argued that purchasing oil should be left in the hands of the energy industry.

Conyers amendment was rejected by a vote of 31 to 23 under a procedure that did not require a full roll-call of House members.

Under the House bill, a five-member commission would regulate prices of natural gas and wholesale rates of electricity transmitted across state lines, responsibilities now vested in the Federal Power Commission.

The Senate-passed bill would establish a three-member board which, along with natural gas and wholesale electricity rates, would also regulate some oil prices. But the Senate version permits input from the energy secretary and gives the President veto power over the commission's decisions — a power not contained in the House bill.

This is a key difference that will have to be resolved by the House-Senate conference committee.

Energy department OK'd

The House version also gives Congress the right to veto rules issued by the new department. The Senate bill does not.

After the House vote, Schlesinger said the administration will push for enactment of the Senate version of the bill, which gives the President and the energy secretary more power than the House measure does.

Rep. Jack Brooks, D-Texas, House manager for the bill, predicted that the conference committee would iron out a compromise version before Congress acts on the President's energy program, now before a variety of House and Senate committees.

Brooks said that while the amendments adopted by the House weaken the power of the new energy secretary, "the bill goes a long way to assuring that there will be a uniform energy program."

House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill said although the administration preferred giving Schlesinger the power to set prices for all fuels, he felt Carter could "live with" the commission approach voted by both House and Senate.

The new agency, the first Cabinet department to be created since the Department of Transportation in 1966, would absorb programs from the FPC, the Federal Energy Administration and the Energy

Hill says state can't isolate itself

HOUSTON (AP) — Texas Atty. Gen. John Hill said Friday the state has no legal or moral right to divorce itself, its products, services or resources from the rest of the nation when they have been legitimately committed to interstate commerce.

"That is the reason I was critical of the governor's statement that he would not rule out the possibility of cutting off gas to other states that were committed under contract to interstate commerce," Hill said in a speech before the Democratic Forum.

Hill explained to the crowd his verbal attacks on Gov. Dolph Briscoe's reaction last April to President Carter's proposed energy program.

Hill set off the brief verbal battle between himself and Briscoe when he called the governor's statement "totally irresponsible."

The governor responded by saying Texas public officials should stand together against the Carter administration's proposed energy policy rather than allowing partisan politics to interfere.

President Carter has taken steps to improve relations with Cuba and moves have been made to exchange lower-level diplomats.

Ford said his appearance in Texas was his first for any GOP fund-raising affair in behalf of an individual candidate.

Ford was asked about the administration suggestion for easier voter registration requirements and he answered: "When you make it curbside registration, I think it is downgrading the kind of interest the American people ought to have..."

Peru's military has acknowledged the purchases but said they were merely to renew obsolete materiel. Since the Soviet deal, Peru has launched a policy of improving relations with her neighbors and has deemphasized participation in the Third World forum.

As soon as the economy is back in order, military chiefs say they will return power to civilians for the first time since 1968.

The nation has suffered two straight major balance of trade deficits and has a foreign debt of some $5 billion, the highest in Peruvian history.

Peru's leaders appear anxious to obtain U.S. support for new development projects, especially for food production, and for refinancing its debt.

Mrs. Carter plans to stay in Lima until Monday when she travels to Brasilia on the next leg of her 13-day Latin swing. She arrived from Quito, Ecuador, where she got a warm official reception and a noisy protest from anti-American student demonstrators.

Club fire blamed on short circuit

ATLANTA (AP) — An investigating team has concluded that a short circuit in an electrical cord for a fountain pump caused the Beverly Hills Supper Club fire in Kentucky that killed at least 161 persons.

The private investigating team from Atlanta told Kentucky fire officials Thursday night that last Saturday's fire began in a wall by a decorative stone fountain just outside the Southgate, Ky., club's Zebra Room.

The team of three investigators estimated the fire began as early as 7 p.m., EDT, Saturday, and much of the club's attic was ablaze by the time an alarm for the fire was placed at 9:02 p.m.

A wedding reception was moved out of the Zebra Room before 8:20 because of heat generated by the fire inside a heavily plastered wall, the team reported.

The team was allowed into the scene after Kentucky state investigators and out-of-state experts spent Wednesday and Thursday trying to track down the cause.

The fire, which traveled up a steel I-beam at the corner of the Zebra Room, was trapped in the attic by the building's steel roof, investigators said.

The high resistance electrical short in the pump's power cord probably was caused by vibrations chafing the cord's insulation as it passed through an unprotected hole in the fountain's metal trough, investigators said.

Plans bared for building

LAMESA — Groundbreaking for a 9,000-square-foot Lamesa Federal Savings and Loan Association facility is expected to be around August 1.

Plans for the $850,000 building were revealed this week. The proposed home offices will be constructed on the half block fronting South First Street and bordered by Houston Avenue on the east and F Avenue on the west.

The new facility will be diagonally across the street from the savings and loan's current building.

The announcement coincides with the formal opening of the Seminole Branch of Lamesa Federal. The grand opening for that facility which employs four people, will be next Saturday.

Dance class has openings

There's still room for those interested in learning a combination of ballet and modern-dance techniques at during a course offered by the Midland Parks and Recreation Department this summer.

The first session of the course will begin Monday at 3:30 p.m., says Pam Barb, course instructor.

Miss Barb is a senior at the University of Oklahoma, majoring in Ballet Pedagogy, and ba OU ballet company.

Further information is available from the Parks and Recreation Department.

High in 90s seen today

Midlanders today should find the weather conducive to picnicking and perhaps to kite flying.

The weather man predicts fair weather through Sunday, with a high today and Sunday in the upper 90s.

Winds are due to be from 15 to 25 mph from the south today, decreasing to 5 to 10 mph tonight. Tonight's low should be in the middle 60s.

Friday's high was 96 and the low Friday morning was 65 degrees.

Clear and warm weather was found Friday night in Andrews, Lamesa, Crane and Rankin.

Roasting temperatures, foul air, and scattered thunderstorms in West and East Texas highlighted weather conditions in Texas Friday.

Under dazzlingly sunny skies, the mercury climbed into the century mark once again with 3 p.m. readings including 98 in Fort Worth and Dallas, 97 in Waco, 96 in Wichita Falls and Tyler, and 95 in Houston.

Meanwhile, the lack of much air movement caused the National Weather Service to warn Dallasites and Houstonians of stale air.

In Dallas, the ozone level topped the maximum safe reading of 400 micrograms per cubic meter of air. A similar air stagnation advisory was issued for the Upper Coast.

Economic conference achievements limited

PARIS (AP) — The 18-month economic conference between industrial and developing countries ended Friday without an agreement on a new world economic order sought by the poor countries and without the forum for a continuing energy dialogue sought by the rich.

A final communique stressed the limited achievements of the "North-South" conference, most notably a decision to set-up a $1-billion fund for emergency aid to the poorest countries and an agreement to negotiate a common fund to stabilize the prices of major raw materials produced by the developing nations.

The participants also agreed to help Africa develop its communications and transportation and to boost foreign aid. Further negotiations to set up the common fund will be held during the United Nations Conference on Trade and Development opening in Geneva in November.

One senior official told reporters, "The West got nothing here."

But some observers said the United States and its industrial allies should consider it an achievement that the conference ended without a serious rupture.

The West feared that a collapse of the 18-month NorthSouth Conference would lead the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC) to increase prices when the international oil cartel meets in Stockholm, Sweden, on July 12.

Petroleum Minister Tayeb Abdul Karim of Iraq, a hardline OPEC member, blamed the failures of the conference on the industrialized nations and said it could have a negative effect on the Stockholm meeting.

The United States and the other developed countries did not achieve their principal goal — a permanent organization for continuing dialogue with the oil producers in hopes of moderating price levels.

The industrial nations said the energy dialogue was a condition for concessions in other areas, notably restructuring debts of the developing world.

But Karim said the developing countries should not guarantee the supply of oil unless the industrial world opened up markets and agreed to transfer technology to the Third World.

U.S. Undersecretary of State Richard Cooper said that, despite the failure of the energy proposal, the U.S. government is pledged to contribute $375 million to the $1-billion emergency aid fund.

Many participants were skeptical, however, that Congress and parliaments in other developed countries would approve the money in the absence of concessions from the oil producers.

Cooper said the Carter administration would continue to seek a dialogue with the developing countries to create a world with less poverty and more justice.

Conference cochairman Manuel Perez Guerrero of Venezuela said the conference brought "positive results but with limited effects..."

"On many points, the progress made is not comparable to the size of the problems facing the Third World," he said.

The other cochairman, Allen MacEachen of Canada, also stressed the positive aspect of the meeting.

"There was no collapse, no rupture, but an agreement to continue the dialogue in a constructive way," he said.

hasn't developed a real fear of Texas' ominous weather.

"No," said McCart, "you might say that 'I'm not experienced with storms.'"

His wife is. "When it comes stormy weather, I had just as soon go to the cellar," she said.

Midland has been their home since 1953. But they just moved from the city to the country a year, or so ago.

"They just get kind of spooky to me," she said of storms.

As likely as not, storm cellars are just part of country living, a touch of the idyllic.

"There are more cellars out in the country than you realize," the wife said.

Later in the season, the cool shelter may double as a root cellar for the storage of vegetables from that garden.

And that, like the whole McCart scene, makes for ideal country living.

Astrologer predicted air disaster

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Thursday, astrologer Jack Gillen told thousands of South Texas radio talk show listeners that there would be "an unusual air disaster" on Friday, June 3, near Paris, France.

On Friday, an American jet fighter crashed and burned before thousands of spectators at Le Bourget airport on the opening day of the Paris Air Show.

Gillen said Friday he knew the air show was opening and had tried to stop it. He had made the same prediction in a book published in 1975.

The Orlando, Fla., astrologer was a guest Thursday on "The Allan Dale Show" on WOA1 Radio in San Antonio.

Gillen had predicted also that Friday's crash in Paris would involve a plane that "could be carrying military personnel."

The pilot killed in Friday's crash, Howard W. Nelson, was a civilian employed by Fairchild, developer of the A10 aircraft.

But Nelson had served 14 years with the Air Force and had left with the rank of lieutenant colonel, a Fairchild spokesman said.

Gillen, on Friday, said the position of the planets created magnetic activity levels on the earth that made the entire area around Paris "extremely dangerous" all day.

Gillen claims to have predicted 37 previous air crashes, including the one near Paris in 1974 which killed more than 300 people.

He said he has been questioned previously by the FBI concerning his advance knowledge of some crashes. Among Gillen's other predictions?

A hurricane will strike the Texas coast at Brownsville on Aug. 30 this year.

He explained that planetary conditions will be conducive towards creation of low pressure areas in the Gulf of Mexico at that time. Hurricanes began as low pressure areas over water.

HOWARD W. 'SAM' NELSON, chief test pilot for Fairchild Industries, died enroute to a hospital Friday after the crash of the A-10 plane he was flying in the Paris Air Show. A veteran of over 10,000 hours of flying time, he had once said that the A-10 was the "finest plane I ever have flown." The plane apparently broke up during a loop maneuver, crashing and catching fire. (AP Laser-photo)

Lawyer says DA not acting in case

HOUSTON (AP) — The president of the Harris County Criminal Lawyers Association said Friday Dist. Atty. Carol Vance "has done absolutely nothing" in a case involving the death of a young man while in police custody.

Dick DeGuerin, head of the 100-member organization, said Vance has delayed action "because of the natural reluctance of the district attorney's office to prosecute any police officer."

DeGuerin said the association had offered Vance a staff of special prosecutors, at no cost, to handle the investigation, present evidence to a county grand jury and prosecute any indictments.

Vance said he didn't "see the necessity of the offer and I will decline."

The case involves the death of Joe Campos Torres, 23, whose body was found May 8 floating in Buffalo Bayou near downtown Houston. Torres had been arrested three days earlier during a disturbance at a tavern.

Policeman Terry W. Denson, 27, was charged with murder. Four other officers were dismissed from the force and another suspended with pay.

A report prepared by Police Chief B. G. Bond for presentation at a Civil Service Commission hearing stated that Denson had said, "Let's see if the wetback can swim," and then the officer pushed Torres off a 20 foot high wall into the bayou.

The commission hearing on reinstatement of the officers was canceled when the policemen withdrew their appeals.

Vance said the district attorney's office "is perfectly capable of prosecuting this matter. We have two of our finest prosecutors assigned to the case and I don't see the reason or the necessity for the special staff."

DeGuerin said Vance was holding up the case and the criminal lawyers association may offer its services to two currently empaneled grand juries for investigation in the Torres case.

Grand juries, DeGuerin said, do not need the counsel or advice of the district attorney's office in the investigation of a case.

DeGuerin also said the association may ask the presiding judge assigned to the Torres case for permission to appear as special prosecutors.

Kids die in fire

DALLAS (AP) — A fire swept through a West Dallas home early Friday, killing three children who ranged in age from four months to two years.

Four other children in a separate bedroom escaped without injuries. Officials said the fire broke out while the 17-year-old mother of the children, Linda Carol Hughes, was in a hospital where she had taken her mother for treatment.

Fire department spokesmen identified the victims as Regenal Hughes, four months; Kenyata, 1, and Anthony, 2.

Miss Hughes' 14-year-old brother helped the other children escape through their bedroom window.

Fire chief's ouster wanted

HOUSTON (AP) — If a Houston fire fighters union has its way, Joe

Perino will be ousted as fire chief in Texas' largest city.

The Professional Fire Fighters Association, which represents 2,080 of the city's 2,300 firemen, has voted overwhelmingly for the removal of Perino.

Union President Lester Tyra said late Wednesday that a poll of fire fighters showed 1,407 against Perino and 97 in support.

Earlier in the week, the Houston Fire Officers Association, which represents 71 senior officers, called for Perino's resignation.

Tyra said the firemen "want a leader and an administrator who can bring this department to the No. 1 position in the nation."

Perino, 44, was named chief in February 1976 by Mayor Fred Hofheinz.

Only Hofheinz can remove him.

Perino was not available for comment. The union president said Perino "is incompetent and his ability to administer this department is zero."

"His plan for reorganization of the department is something he just threw together. Some fire stations were missing entirely from his plan. Some positions outlined couldn't possibly be filled with the department's present manpower. It would also cost a tremendous amount of money," he said.

Asked who would be acceptable to the union as a chief, Tyra said, "We are not in the process of selecting fire chiefs. I think these men would like a fire fighter for their chief."

Four arrested on 'pot' yacht

MIAMI (AP) — Four men were arrested and a 53-foot yacht seized Friday off Great Abaco Light in the Bahamas after authorities found more than four tons of marijuana aboard, the U.S. Coast Guard said.

Authorities said crewman from the Coast Guard cutter Dauntless seized the yacht, Ixora, after a routine investigation revealed the illegal weed, valued at $2.5 million.

Arrested were Samuel Guelli, 48, of West Palm Beach, Fla.; Charles Medlen, 40, of Gulf Spring, Fla.; Thomas Hair, 28, of New Caney, Tex.; and Fred Gray, 66, of Liberty, Tex.

The Ixora, whose home port is West Palm Beach, was expected to arrive in Miami Saturday under Coast Guard escort. A Coast Guard spokesman said formal charges will be filed against the four men at that time.

Sharks come for shrimp; fishermen, for sharks

NORTH PADRE ISLAND, Tex. (AP) — Thousands of sharks roamed up and down this resort beach area Friday attracted by shrimp and other morsels, but they were not the only predators in the area. Shark fishermen also began to arrive.

As swimmers were beached, the fishermen moved into the area and Seashore Park rangers said "they are catching some."

The sharks arrived in the tropical temperature waters off Padre Island Wednesday morning in unprecedented numbers. By Thursday, rangers estimated more than 2,000 sharks ranging in size from six to ten feet could be seen up and down an area covering about 20 miles along the coast in front of Malaquite Island. Some were swimming as close to the shore as 20 feet.

"There are some people going in for shark now," said a National Seashore ranger. "There are a lot of shark fishermen in this part of the country."

The ranger said no beaches had been closed, but swimmers had been warned not to go into water above their knees. "People have been very good about obeying," he added.

C.E. McCole, 51, of Fort Worth, a retired General Dynamics employee, said on Thursday he fished off Bob Hope Pier and when he left in the afternoon there were about 100 other people still trying their luck.

McCole said he caught three sharks, each weighing about five pounds and, "I'm gonna eat them. It tastes just like fish. If you ever ate fish sticks in Mexico, you have eaten shark and you didn't know it."

Some of the fishermen could be seen casting away as late as 11 p.m. Thursday. The owner of a small charter boat said he had encountered "a lot of interest along the docks".

Solar cooler unveiled

WACO (AP) — A Central Texas firm unveiled an unassisted solar air conditioning system Friday that the company claims can cool an entire 3-bedroom home for only about $7 per month in electricity.

The $9,000 unit, which is ready for nationwide distribution, is the first solar system that doesn't require assistance by electric motors, said Brian Pardo, president of American Solar King Corp. of Waco.

The system, designed for new homes, uses electricity only to pump water through 14 three-by-eight foot solar collectors, Pardo said. The sun's rays heat the water to about 190 degrees, before a solar-powered chilling tower cools it to about 45 degrees.

The cold water is then routed through a fan-coil unit, which blows air over the cold coils. One of the units is presently cooling the corporation's offices and several already have been ordered.

DEAR ABBY Figure worries seventh-grader

DEAR ABBY: I'm in the seventh grade and I've got a pretty bad problem. I'm flat-chested, and all the kids at school make fun of me and call me "Flatso."

I don't have any boyfriends because what they're looking for I haven't got. Please help me.—FLATSO

DEAR FLATSO: Don't blame the absence of boyfriends on your flatso figure. I hear from boys as well as girls in your age group, and that's not what they're looking for.

The friendly, cheerful, natural girl who makes a boy feel comfortable and confident gets boyfriends. And if you figure it's your figure, you've figured it all wrong.

DEAR ABBY: In all my years I've been reading your column I've never had a letter upset me like the one about the young mother who put a leash on her young son and hitched him to the clothesline.

I am the mother of a very active 2-year-old boy who would not consider it an act of love were he to be tied up. He would feel anger, frustration and humiliation.

I can think of nothing a mother has to do that is so important she has to leash her child to a clothesline!

But even more disturbing is the thought that so many mothers read your column, and you seem to approve of leashing children as though they were animals!

All children need a mother's undivided attention. Please reconsider.—LOVES CHILDREN

DEAR LOVES: My mail is running 10 to 1 in favor of leashing children for their own safety. Please read on.

DEAR ABBY: The letter about keeping a child leashed to a clothesline hit home with me. I have six living children. I would have had seven if I had tied my child to a clothesline. When he was 13-months old, I left him playing in our fenced-in yard. In less than 15 minutes he was nowhere to be seen. I soon discovered that he had unlatched the gate and made his way to the creek that ran behind our house. When he was found, it was too late—STILL FEELS GUILTY

DEAR ABBY: Apropos using a leash to keep children in tow: My little boy started to walk at 8 months.

One morning I was ironing in my kitchen, and Joey was playing on the floor at my feet. I suddenly realized that Joey wasn't in the room.

We lived on a farm with a railroad track about 100 yards from our front door. Joey had always been fascinated by the sound of the train whistle, and he seemed to know when the train would be passing through.

I first noticed that the front door was open, then I saw that baby running towards the railroad tracks—and the train was coming!

I will never forget my terror. Thank God I got to him in time. You can bet I never allowed Joey out of my sight without a leash again.

When I took him shopping with me, I'd get plenty of icy stares from strangers, but it didn't bother me one bit.—REMEMBERS WELL

Women's jail top security facility

ALDERSON, W.Va. (AP) — Unbreakable windows, steel bars and a sharp-tipped 14-foot-high fence are being installed at the red brick federal women's prison in this tiny town in the West Virginia hills.

When renovations are completed, the 50-year-old minimum security jail will contain the first and only maximum security women's facility in the federal prison system.

And some of the nation's most infamous female convicts, including would-be presidential assassins Lynette "Squeaky" Fromme and Sara Jane Moore, will be transferred here during the next few months.

There are no gun towers and no moats surrounding the 91 acre grounds, only an eight foot-high barbed wire fence.

The nearest city to Alderson, population 1,278, is Lewisburg — 18 miles away near the Virginia border.

"Most of these (prisoners) are city girls," says Warden Carson Markley. "Some have even been convinced (not to escape) by stories that farmers will shoot them or bears roam wild in the woods."

But officials are taking no chances with the 15 to 20 new prisoners coming in. Work crews now are putting the finishing touches on Davis Hall, the two-story, Georgian-style building that will be the maximum security block.

Windows of unbreakable plastic are being installed, steel bars are being placed in doorways and hallways and a fence topped with razor-sharp wire is being erected.

"It will be a penitentiary within this federal correctional institution," Markley said.

Several of the prison's 620 women inmates are serving life sentences for murder, but the jail has always been a minimum security facility.

Although there have been famous inmates in the past — Tokyo Rose spent years here as did Machine Gun Kelly's wife and mother — the new prisoners have been convicted of different types of crimes, such as trying to kill the president.

"These kinds of people you do not want to escape," said Markley. "They need the closer security."

The maximum security prisoners will be separated from women in the minimum security areas of the prison.

But he said that from a helicopter, "it is quite a sight" to watch the sharks through the clear water moving silently and feeding.

"There are no feeding frenzies," he said. They just move around following the food. They don't seem to be going any particular place."

Marine biologists said the clear waters and calm weather and tropical temperatures probably attracted the sand and hammerhead sharks.

Brothers recall days of robberies, prison

By RICK SCOTT

UVALDE, Tex. (AP) — Joe and Willis Newton still remember the night of June 12, 1924, like it was only yesterday.

It was the night they staged America's last great train robbery.

It made them millionaires, if only briefly. Within days, the Newton brothers and other members of their gang were behind bars and the $3 million in cash and securities hauled from the Milwaukee Flyer outside Chicago had been recovered.

"We went out of business after that," recalled Joe, now 76, during an interview at his modest brick home in Uvalde.

Joe served three years in the penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kan., for the holdup. Willis, 88, served 12 years for the same job.

A third brother who was in the gang, Willie, died in 1974.

Now, Joe and Willis live quiet lives in their hometown and recount their past to a trail of visitors and interviewers.

"I got sent to the penitentiary when I was 21," recalls Willis of his early troubles. "It was a bum rap involving some stolen cotton bales at Rising Star, (Tex.)."

Joe says Willis got him into the bank robbing business in the spring of 1921.

"I was just an ole cowboy, I broke horses for hire, usually for $10. It might take days to do the job, though," Joe said.

When Joe and Willis linked up in Oklahoma, after Willis asked Joe to join the "business," the two staged "maybe 50 to 60" bank and train robberies over the next few years.

"There were lots of robberies where we didn't get anything and I can't even remember all of them," said Joe, who was the lookout.

Willis went inside the bank — almost always at night when no one was there — "and blowed the safe."

"Winter was the best time because nobody would come outside to investigate the commotion. It was too cold. In the summer people slept outside and they'd come running if something stirred," Joe said.

"One night in Indiana we robbed two banks, one on one corner and another on another corner," said Joe. "We robbed two banks in Hondo (Tex.) one night, too."

"We got into the first bank real easy and Willis started working on the safe. He juggled the handle and the combination and it opened right up. We were out of there in about 30 minutes."

"I was ready to leave, but Willis said, 'There's another bank around the corner. Let's go get it.' We went into the other bank and cleaned it out in two hours," said Joe.

The brothers also recalled their visit to the San Marcos (Tex.) State Bank the night of Jan. 5, 1924.

Bank windows were shattered and shattered, money blown around the bank and neighboring streets by the nitroglycerin blast that opened the safe. They were never arrested for the robbery, which netted them about $24,000.

Willis is still the stubborn and less reformed of the two surviving brothers.

"Nobody ever gave me anything but hell," he said. Joe returned to Texas after his stint at Leavenworth.

"I got back down here to breaking horses ... Went back to something I knew how to do," he said.

"We never killed nobody," the brothers insist.

"Our business was trying to get some money without killing," explained Joe. "Nobody ever lost anything but the big insurance companies."

"It was just one thief stealing from another," Willis chimed in. "If you don't kill anybody, half the people are for you."

But the brothers went back to prison briefly in the 1940s "for robbing a bank we didn't." The governor of Oklahoma paroled them after they'd served a short time.

"What about robbing banks today, in 1977?" "Bank robbers haven't got a chance today," said Willis. "They tell somebody before they do it. You rob a bank today and everybody in the country knows in five minutes."

"The police have too many informants," said Joe. But Willis adds with a sly grin:

"If I was 65 or 75 years old, instead of 88 going on 89, I believe I could still rob a bank. I know how."

"I don't believe you could," counters brother Joe. "Oh, sure, I could beat these alarm systems," retorted Willis, the wheels inside his bald head spinning wildly.

"You better forget about bank robbery and get a job," laughed Joe.

Writer reflects on long career

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Robert Penn Warren, the only Pulitzer Prize winner in both fiction and poetry, says he gets little benefit from critiques of his work — even the good ones.

"I've been in this business a long time. Bad reviews are never useful and some are counterproductive. I don't mind them; they're more of a nuisance than anything else," he said.

"A good one can provoke just as much contempt if it's written by a stupid simpleton," he added. "They're just more convenient, that's all."

Warren, a professor emeritus at Yale University with homes in Fairfield, Conn., and Vermont, discussed his work recently in conjunction with the publication of his novel, "A Place to Come Home To."

The Kentucky-born author, now 72, says he doesn't build up challenges to meet in his remaining years.

"I don't think that way. I just think about the next poem or the next novel and when I'll be able to get to it."

He said he had written two poems in the past three weeks.

Writing has been an uneven activity for him. He said he had scrapped many story ideas because they were unmanageable and left three novels unfinished after he "lost contact with them."

Many younger writers lack the perseverance to stick with an idea until they either have given it their best or have rejected it, Warren said.

"Too many writers today are more concerned with the cocktail circuit and fat bank accounts than with the actual writing," he claimed.

Although he won a Pulitzer in 1946 for the novel, "All the King's Men," and again in 1957 for "Promises, Poems, 1954-1956," the short story form more or less eluded him.

"I just don't have a knack for them. Only did three I ever liked, so I swore off them just like a person would swear off booze."

Chain saw forms new art medium

By PAUL STEVENS

DODGE CITY, Kan. (AP) — A records keeper by day and a machine repairman at night, Walt Housman has discovered an outlet for creativity through his skill with a chain saw.

The 54-year-old Dodge City resident has spent many of his Sundays the past year fashioning woodcarved figures out of sections of tree trunks. His only tools are a pair of chain saws.

"It's just something that I enjoy," he said of his carved creations, which include the heads of several pigs and a horse. "I just get pleasure in running them and making things with them."

Housman, who has maintained records for the Dodge City Police Department for the past 20 years, got the idea for his hobby while working in his small machine repair shop, where he also sells lawnmowers and chain saws.

"I was working on chain saws last winter and I just started cutting some logs out, playing with them," he said. "There was an old elm tree I cut out of our backyard, so I decided to make a head out of it."

At least he knew it was a head, said Housman, admitting that others were not always convinced. "On that first one, I never did figure out what it was," he said. "It was more like something out of Walt Disney."

Although he has not put any of the carvings on sale, an Oklahoma saw dealer talked him out of one of the figures to display in his office. And the bust of a pig mounted on a post stands guard in front of Housman's residence.

Housman is undertaking his most ambitious project to date with the chain saws — he's carving a six-foot-high cigarstore Indian.

"I figure it will take me several weeks to make, maybe more since Sunday's the only time I have left," he said, roughing out the large wood stump with a 24-inch chain saw.

Once the basic design is achieved, he uses the more "petite" 16-inch-blade saw for finer carving. As in all his other creations, Housman depends only on a mental image of the object he is carving for his model.

"A lot of people don't know what a chain saw can do," he said. "But, I enjoy it. It's just something I can enjoy."

College to try four-day system

Administrative and staff offices at Midland College will begin an experimental four-day work week Monday as an energy-saving device.

The plan will continue through August 1. Offices will open at 7 a.m. and close at 5:30 p.m. with a 30-minute lunch break scheduled from 12:12-12:30 p.m. Offices will be closed on Fridays.

Summer session classes at Midland College have been scheduled for four days each week for the past few years, said Dr. Don Hunt, academic vice president.

The administrative and staff offices will be open on Friday twice during the period, June 24, and July 8. On those weeks, the regular 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. workday will be in effect.

It was estimated that Midland College would save about $2,800 in its utility bills due to a reduction in the air conditioning needs for four days instead of five.

Carriers cite rules concerning letters

Did you know? Whether it travels by U.S. postal carrier or bus, letters must have postage.

Parcel transporting agencies such as bus lines may charge postage on packages containing not only letters, but also checks, invoices, directives and requests for information.

The U.S. Postal Service classifies any written material which will cause the recipient to act on the material sent as mail and requires a postage stamp on it, according to a Midland

Greyhound Bus Lines official.

Borderline cases often are charged postage, he said, because violators are liable for a $1,000 fine and/or one year in jail. Such penalties usually are not imposed, though.

It is permissible to include a letter in a parcel if the package is labeled to show a letter is enclosed.

Should you refuse the spade trick? You have something to worry about only if the spades break 5-2, since then somebody may take four spades and the ace of clubs.

If East has only two spades, they must both be honor cards. Otherwise, West's long suit would be headed by three honors, and he would lead an honor.

This reasoning tells you to take dummy's ace of spades immediately. When West gets his ace of clubs he takes the king and jack of spades but then your nine of spades will stop the suit.

HOLD-UP WOULD LOOSE

If you refuse the first trick, East takes the queen of spades and returns his other spade to dummy's ace. Now the suit is unblocked. When West takes the ace of clubs he is ready to cash the rest of the spades.

Look for this kind of blocking play whenever you have A-x in one hand and any four low cards in the other hand, you are safest when your four cards are headed by the ten or nine, but almost any four cards may serve.

DAILY QUESTION

As dealer, you hold "SA3 HJ74 DQ64 ACQJ74. What do you say?"

ANSWER: Bid one club. You have 13 points in high cards and 1 point for the doubleton. The opening bid is therefore automatic.

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — More than 2,000 individuals have contributed a total of $315,020 to Sen. John Tower's campaign fund in the past two months, former Ambassador Ed Clark announced Friday.

Clark, chairman of the Tower Senate Club '78, released a list of the names of contributors and said it includes Democrats, Republicans and independents.

This picture was taken just a year ago. It was a perfect afternoon for a garden wedding reception.
Joan and Kenny were so much in love.

Now, this morning, a letter came in the mail from Joan telling us that she is coming home. She's thinking about divorce — that beautiful dream that she and Kenny shared has turned into a nightmare.

Naturally, her father and I will welcome her. This is her home and always will be. But this is a problem that we shall not try to solve by ourselves. We will turn, as we know Joan will, to our church, and to the very minister who both baptized and married her.
Maybe all of us, working together, will find a way through God's Will and His Word.

The Church comes very close in times of stress.
Remember that.

United Methodists plan meeting here

The 69th annual meeting of the Northwest Texas Conference of the United Methodist Church will be held in Midland next year.

Delegates to the 68th annual conference, held this week at Abilene's St. Paul United Methodist Church, approved Midland as the site for the 1978 conference next spring. Midland's First United Methodist Church will be the host church.

It will be the first time the Northwest Texas Conference has held its annual convocation in Midland. The conference had its first meeting in 1910 at Clarendon and in later years the sessions have mostly been held in larger cities within the conference boundaries, including Lubbock, Amarillo and Abilene.

The delegates from all United Methodist congregations within the seven-district Northwest Texas Conference voted to keep the current district structure intact. A proposal was made in 1976 that the number of districts (Big Spring, Abilene, Pampa, Seymour, Amarillo, Plainview and Lubbock) be reduced to five. Several officials at this week's meeting have suggested that a compromise reduction be made — from seven districts to six.

The annual meeting closed Thursday night with a service of ordination for 12 deacons and 10 elders. Among the ordinands was the Rev. Jerry L. Wyatt, an associate minister at Midland's First Church.

Presiding at sessions of the annual meeting was Dr. Alsie H. Carleton, bishop of both the Northwest Texas and New Mexico Area conferences of the denomination. His headquarters are in Albuquerque, N. M.

Church slates seminar

Midland's First Presbyterian Church is making plans for a special family communications seminar to be held a week from today.

Dr. William Oglesby Jr., professor of pastoral counseling at Union Seminary in Richmond, Va., will lead the seminar, scheduled for 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. next Saturday in room 203 of First Presbyterian Church. There will be a luncheon in the church fellowship hall at noon. An evening session is planned for 7:30 to 9:30.

There is no charge for the seminar, which will be open to all family groups in the community as well as to other interested persons. The luncheon will be $1.50 per person. Families or individuals interested in participating in the seminar are requested to contact the church office, 684-7821, no later than Wednesday to reserve places in the class.

Dr. Oglesby is the author of three books on pastoral counseling. He is a graduate of Austin College and later received a master's degree in theology from Union Seminary and a Ph.D. degree from the University of Chicago. He attended the Council for Clinical Training at Topeka, Kan. He

Breakdown of family blamed for cult growth

By ROBERT DI VEROLI
Copley News Service

Young people who join religious cults usually are suffering an identity crisis, says psychologist Dr. Marvin Galper of San Diego, Calif.

Galper said the breakdown of family and community ties in the last 15 years has been a major factor contributing to the growth of the cults. The cults are an alternative providing the family and sense of belonging some young people today lack, Galper believes.

He said the cults have fed not only on the weakening of the family and other social institutions, but on a political unrest which has spawned a youthful counterculture alienated from society because of its alleged excessive materialism.

He has treated about 30 former religious cult members ranging from 18 to 24, most of whom came from middle-class families and had some university education but who typically were counterculture types uncommitted to family, society, a vocation or any established religion.

Many were involved in a spiritual search which included forays into Eastern mysticism, Galper said.

He has treated former members of such groups as the Children of God, the Unification Church of the Rev. Sun Myung Moon, and the Hare Krishna.

Galper said the cults are so appealing to many young people because they claim to be able to give them something they want but do not have.

"The cult provides a highly structured environment in which social rules and the pattern of daily activities are clearly prescribed," he said.

"Ideological and behavioral conformity is rewarded by group acceptance and support. For the late adolescent in a position of social marginality the cult offering is thus often seen as offering abundant gratification for unmet ideological and security needs."

Galper said many of his patients were experiencing "psychic stress," much of it associated with attempts to establish an adult identity, before joining the cults.

But he said that while members get something they want out of cult membership, they do so at the cost of allowing the cult leaders to run their lives.

Galper used to call the process by which this is achieved "brainwashing" and its goal "mind control," but he said he now prefers to call the process "coercive persuasion" because the other terms are too imprecise or "sensational."

Blazers snuff 76ers' fire

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Bob Gross scored 25 points and led a 26-8 third-period Portland blitz as the Trail Blazers beat the Philadelphia 76ers 110-104 Friday night to pull within one victory of the National Basketball Association championship. The triumph gave Portland a 3-2 lead in the NBA's best-of-seven final playoff series with Game Six scheduled for Portland at 3 p.m. EDT Sunday. It wasn't as easy as the two blowouts the Blazers won over Philadelphia in Portland last Sunday and Tuesday. Although the Blazers built a 22-point lead at 91-69 late in the third period, the 76ers—led by substitute Joe Bryant—rallied to reduce the deficit to five points with 3:23 left in the game. Then, Maurice Lucas, who scored 20 points, broke the hearts of a sellout crowd of 18,276 at the Spectrum with a jump shot and a feed to Lionel Hollins that produced another field goal and an insurmountable nine-point lead with 1:58 to go. Portland's 6-foot-11 center Bill Walton scored only 14 points, but it was his rebounding and devastating feeds in the first three periods that triggered the Blazers to their third consecutive victory in the series. The Blazers can win their first NBA title with a victory Sunday. And if they do, they will be only the second team in NBA history ever to lose the first two games of the championship series and come back to take the title. Julius "Dr. J" Erving led the losers with 37 points and along with Bryant was the spearhead of Philadelphia's fourth-period rally. Doug Collins scored 23 and playmaker Henry Bibby 16. Gross and Dave Twardzik paced the Blazers to a 22-15 first-period lead, Gross collecting eight points and Twardzik five. Both teams were tight and the game developed into a bruising defensive struggle through the first half. In the second period, with Lucas scoring 11 points, the Blazers built an 11-point margin. But the 76ers took advantage of a series of Portland personal fouls to reduce the lead to five at 34-29. The Blazers got their lead back to six points, but a threepoint play by Erving and a field goal by Collins reduced it to 43-41. A basket at the buzzer by Lucas gave Portland a 45-41 advantage at the half. In the third period, Portland led 53-

Big Barney Thompson doesn't want to quit now

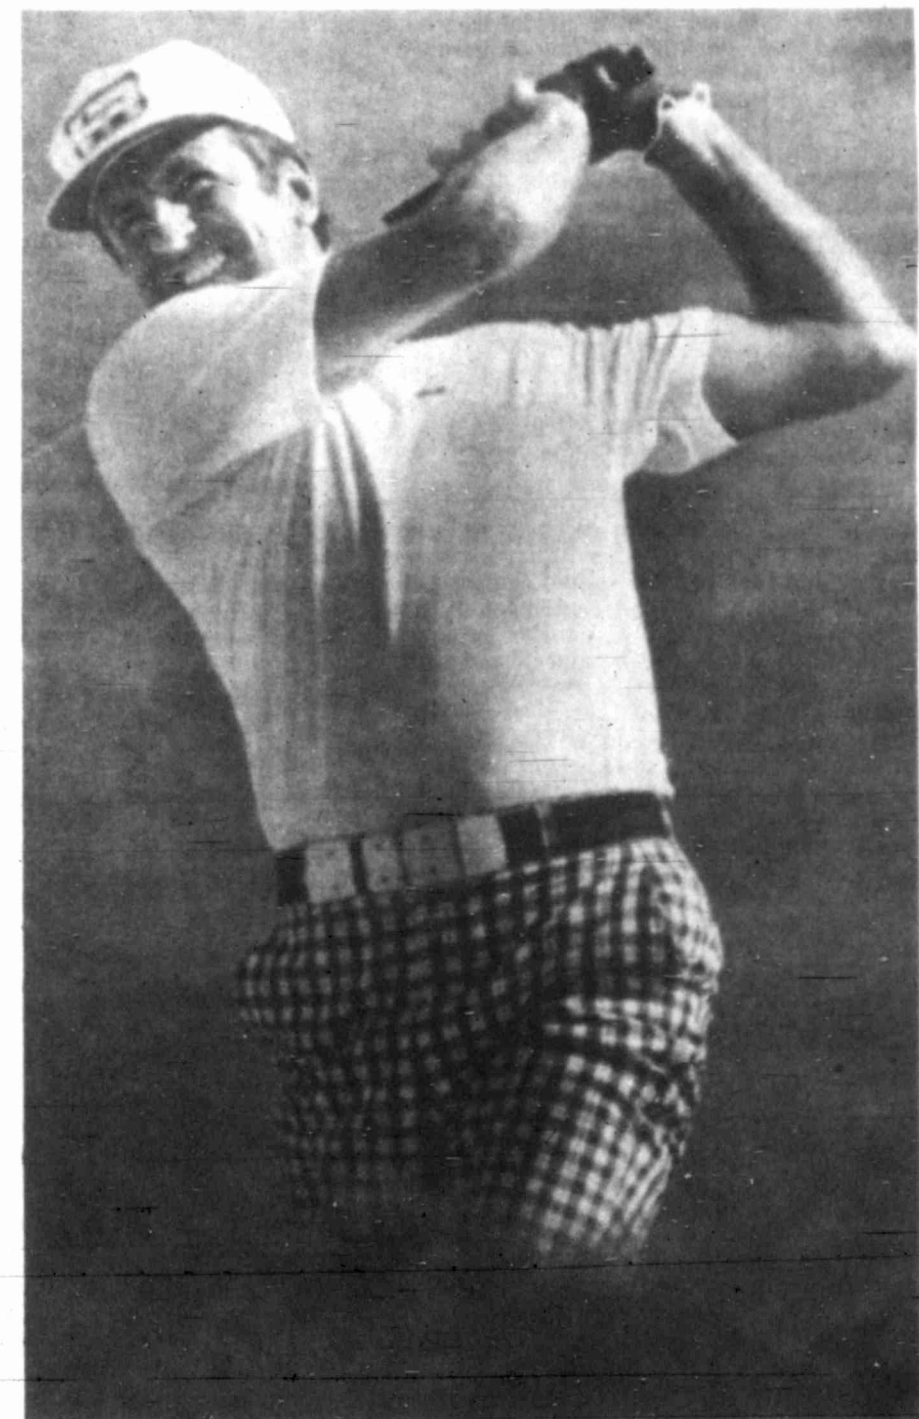

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Big Barney Thompson, on the verge of quitting the tour because of poor play, ramed in a 12-foot birdie putt on the final hole for a 70 and a tie with George Archer for the secondround lead Friday in the $250,000 Kemper Open Golf Tournament. Thompson, who hasn't come close to making expenses in his three-year pro career, banking only $976 this season, and Archer each had 137 totals, seven under par, halfway through this chase for a $50,000 first prize. "I've just given myself until July of this year to see if I can make it out here," the red-haired, 6-foot-5 Thompson said. "I'm putting well, rolling the ball well. I'm hitting my irons well. But my driving is awful, disastrous."

DRIVES GOT him in trouble on his fifth hole, where he had to make an eight-footer for a double bogey six, and the final hole, which brought about another six. In between, however, he reeled off a string of four consecutive birdies, three on wide-breaking putts in the 15-18 foot range and the fourth after a little pitch to five feet. Those heroics lifted him into the lead alone until Thompson, in the next-to-last group on the course, tied him late in the afternoon. Tom Weiskopf, a two-time winner of this event, and the little clown Chi Chi Rodriguez were only one shot out at 138. Rodriguez had a 70 and Weiskopf, bubbling with confidence in the hot, humid, breezy weather, had a 71. THE BIG group at 139 was composed of Charles Coody, Ray Floyd, Bruce Fleisher, Bill Rogers, Gary Koch and Lou Graham. Graham and Rogers matches 67s, Koch shot 68, Floyd had 69, Fleisher 70 and Coody 71.

Lee Trevino matched par 72 and was at 142. Arnold Palmer, who recently purchased a home on the course, was 73-144. Thompson lashed his approach to within three and a half feet for birdie on the first hole, parred around to the 15th and dropped a 15-footer there that gave him a brief tie for the lead. He dropped back, however, with a bogey after missing the 17th green, then regained a share of the top spot with his dramatic birdie on the last hole. ALTHOUGH HE'S won less than $21,000 in three full years of tour activity, he has led two other times at the halfway point of tournaments in New Orleans and Jacksonville and "I played terrible the last two rounds each time," he said. The course, often one of the most beautifully conditioned the touring pros play, was damaged so badly by a severe winter, drought and recent storms that officials were forced to line the fairways and allow players to lift, clean and place the ball inside the lined areas.

Jackson nips Cubs in eighth

JACKSON, Miss.—The Jackson Mets scored two runs in the bottom of the eighth inning here Friday night to hand the Midland Cubs their second straight loss, 3-2. Midland was holding onto a slim 2-1 lead heading into the eighth as a pitching duel was brewing between Midland's Jack Ledbetter and Jackson's Mike Scott. Jackson took a 1-0 lead in the first inning when Dave Lazano scored from third base on a grounder by Ed Cipot. Midland came right back with two runs in the second inning when Karl Pagel scored from second on a bunt by Steve Davis that was mishandled.

Soviets defeat Americans

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union national team defeated the United States 114-105 Friday night for its fifth straight victory in the Intercontinental Cup basketball tournament. The halftime score was 50-37. Alexander Salnikov led the winners in scoring with 27 points. Dexter Reed of Memphis state was high point man for the U.S. team with 26. The Soviets drew away to a 31-21 advantage in the first half as the U.S. team turned over the ball repeatedly and was cold from the free throw line. Although the U.S. team, under Coach Gale Catlett of Cincinnati, sagged back on defense to try to prevent the bigger Soviets from scoring, the Americans could not halt the shooting of Salnikov and team captain Sergei Belov, who had 26 points. After a halftime advantage of 13 points, the Soviets built up a 73-52 margin with 12:05 left in the game before the United States began narrowing the gap. Cincinnati's Bob Miller scored on a three-point play to make it 96-85 with 4:11 left but the Soviets kept pace to the delight of a crowd of 12,000 persons in the Palace of Sports, part of the Lenin Stadium Complex that will be the scene of the 1980 Olympics. The Soviets, defending champion in the Cup competition, also has posted victories over Canada, 107-65, Argentina, 98-66, Brazil, 93-92 and Mexico 105-53. Italy and Yugoslavia also have undefeated records. The U.S. squad lost games to these two teams before coming to Moscow. It plays again Sunday against Belgium. The U.S. team was composed of players from Cincinnati, Florida State, Georgia Tech, Leisville, Memphis State, St. Louis and Tulane, members of the Metro Conference.

MC girls place third in national golf meet

KILLEEN, Tex. (AP) — Broward Community College of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., easily captured the national women's junior college golf championship Friday by 57 strokes over Temple, Tex., Junior College. Midland College fired a 412 Friday to keep their hold on third place. The Chaps were in third place ever since the first day completed Wednesday. Broward's 331 Friday increased their second day lead over defending champion Temple. Broward won the tournament by 55 strokes. The champs had a 41-stroke lead after the second round Thursday. Palm Beach, Fla., wound up fourth, 30 strokes behind Midland College. Representing the Chaps were Tammy Tyer, Carolyn Hopkins, Twila Kelly and Claire McFarland. The tournament ends the junior college golf season for Midland College. Broward fired a final-round 331 Friday and finished at 992 for the 34-hole tournament at the par-72 Killeen Municipal Course. Temple shot a 347 Friday and finished at 1,047. Midland, Tex., College was third at 1,216. Sandra Yount of Temple fired a final-round 78 Friday to capture the individual title with a 233. Ximena Dernaes of Broward shot an 80 Friday and finished in second at 235.

Carner recovers from water ball

NEW ROCHELLE, N.Y. (AP) — JoAnne Carner sank a 12-foot chip shot for a par five on the 15th hole Friday after shanking her drive off the tee into muddy water, then forged on to register a two-under-par 70 for a second-round lead of 142 in a Ladies Professional Golf Association $100,000 tournament. Winner of the U.S. Open in 1971 and again in 1976, Mrs. Carner was in an 11-way tie for eighth place with a 72 after the first round. Mrs. Carner, who plays out of Lake Worth, Fla., opened Friday's round with a 32 on the front nine with birdies on putts of six, 18 and 12 feet on the third, fourth and sixth holes. Her 142, two under par on the 6,196-yard course of the Wykagil Country Club, is one stroke ahead of Sandra Palmer of Fort Worth, Tex., and Pat Bradley of Westford, Mass., the defending champion. Patty Hayes of Dallas is next with a 145. Palmer, who had a doublebogey on the par-four 17th, shot a 73 on Friday, while Bradley posted a par 72. "I was covered with mud after I completed the shot," related Carner, who needed her husband, Don, to find the ball. "As a matter of fact, I almost fell into the water. The ball was plugged in the sand in the water and I had to stand on the bank. "When I saw the shank, I figured I was on the other fairway. Once I saw where the ball was, I figured I might as well take a whack out of it." The 38-year Carner, who earned more than $103,000 last year and currently ranked No. 3 with $47,134, was asked by a spectator how much the shot was worth. "I told him I'd have the answer on Sunday," she reported, referring to the windup of the 72-hole classic that had a 155 as the cutoff after two rounds. After her rally out of the mud and water, the strawberry blonde Mrs. Carner used a seven-iron off the 157-yard 16th and landed within five feet of the pin. She putted for a birdie that proved to be the margin of her lead heading into the third round Saturday. "I'm dead tired," exclaimed the leader. "The wind blew all day long. That's not meant as a complaint. It was the same for all." Carner is winless this year and has captured 18 victories since turning pro in 1970 at the age of 30. Chako Higuchi of Tokyo, the first-round leader with a 69, skied to a 77 and is at 146 along with Jane Blalock of Highland Beach, Fla., Laura Baugh of Delrey Beach, Fla., and Judy Rankin of Midland Tex. Miss Baugh, who turned 22 on Friday and who has yet to win a title since joining the pros in 1973, carded a 70 on Friday to share best-round honors with Mrs. Carner.

TEE TIME

Goodeau posts first eagle

By REX WORRELL

It was reported this week that one of our regular players, Willie Goodeau, scored the first eagle of his golfing career.

There were 99 participants in the tournament with well over 300 attending the bar-be-cue held behind the ball park following play on Monday evening.

Credit for the fine turnout and superb tournament should be given to Bill Sitton, tournament chairman along with Ron Cunningham, Charles Dishman, Dixie Howle and Roland Davis.

Entry forms for the Men's Association tournaments, the Scotch Twosome for June 11 and the Ace Tournament June 12 along with the Match Play Tourney sometime in June, will be on hand at the golf shop this week.

The Hogan Park Women's Golf Association held Trophy Day this past week with Gail McCreary taking home the trophy for the 18-hole division with a fine net round of 68.

FLORENCE MAILEY was right behind her heels with a fine net of 70 to finish in second place. Joyce Parker was third with a 72 total.

The winner of the nine-hole division was Bernice Webb with 35 followed by Betty Williams with a 37.

Competition for the Trophy Day was as hot as the weather and just as pleasant with beautiful weather and fine rounds by the ladies.

THIS THURSDAY, June 9, the ladies will hold Penalty Play competition with the nine-hole division pairings as follows: Kim Gentry, Margaret Moore and Betty Williams; Marguerite Stoltz, Margaret Phelps and Peggy Parkins; Juanita Evinger, Aurelia Kiefer and Peggy Barry; Jeanne Allen, Marjorie Cardwell and Peggy Mattina; Mary Davis, Marilyn Berry and Anelle Mack; Bernice Webb, Kenzie Ashland and Pat Kolb; Rosa Lee Cook, Frances Stahl and Meadows, 588. Heading into the final week of competition, there are no Midlanders holding the lead in any division Baldwin Pianos is third in the Class D team competition with a 2623 while Lynn Hicks of Midland is second in the Class B All-Events with an 1832.

Odessa bowlers lead two divisions with Keith Cummings on top with a 1708 in the Class D All-Events and W. Jackson and B. Barnhill of Odessa own the Class C Doubles lead with an 1178. Basin Answering Service of Odessa is in second place in the Class D team event with a 2633.

McEvoy, a 24-year-old law student, ran up a four-hole lead by the eighth when he holed from 12 feet. But although McEvoy bogeyed the ninth and turned 3-up and dropped both the 12th and the 14th, a 283-yard par-4 that McKellar birdied, McKellar couldn't make any lasting impression on the match and dropped two behind again when he took a five on the 16th against McEvoy's par 4.

Both men had par-4s on the 251-yard 17th. This was enough to give McEvoy the match 2 and 1.

Norman Harbin; Evelyn Guidry, Rita Boe and Dorothy Koons; Betty Ireland, Lucrecia Black and Evelyn Ballard; Margaret McClesky, Wilma Allenson and Ernestine Browning.

The 18-hole division pairings will be posted on the bulletin board at the golf shop this week.

Amateur finale takes form

GANTON, England (AP) — Hugh Campbell and Peter McEvoy advanced to the final of the British Amateur Golf Championship Friday when Campbell beat veteran Michael Bonallack of England on the 24th hole and McEvoy defeated Paul McKellar of Scotland 2 and 1.

There was some confusion whether the final Saturday over 36 holes of Ganton's 6,779-yard, par-72 course will be an all-Scottish or an Anglo-Scottish battle. Campbell is certainly Scottish, but McEvoy—born in London, living in the English Midlands and with Scottish parents—isn't sure what he is.

"When I'm with the Scots I feel English. When I'm with the English I feel Scottish," he said diplomatically.

The Campbell-Bonallack battle, which went into an extra six holes, was the high spot of the semifinals. Bonallack, 42-year-old executive with a firm of golfing consultants, is the elder statesman of British amateur golf, has won the amateur five times—a post-war record—during 1961-1970 and is chairman of Britain's Walker Cup selectors.

Playing his eighth semifinal in the amateur championship, he got off to a poor start against Campbell, the 39-year-old personnel director of an industrial firm. Campbell was 2 up by the seventh, but at the turn Bonallack had managed to grab back one hole. He got within two feet of the pin with a four-iron drive to tie at the 10th, then on the 13th took a couple of putts against Campbell's three to edge ahead for the first time.

But on the 16th Bonallack hooked his drive badly and Campbell tied it.

For the next seven holes it was a bitter battle on the greens. The 17th to 21st holes were all halved with each man matching the other's shots. So was the 22nd, but here Bonallack missed a golden chance when he was inches wide from three feet with his putt. They halved the short 23rd in three with par-3s but on the 24th Bonallack's putter let him down again. He three-putted for a bogey-5 while Campbell collected a par and the match.

The other semifinal went McEvoy's way right from the start and McKellar was never allowed even to get level.

McEvoy, a 24-year-old law student, ran up a four-hole lead by the eighth when he holed from 12 feet. But although McEvoy bogeyed the ninth and turned 3-up and dropped both the 12th and the 14th, a 283-yard par-4 that McKellar birdied, McKellar couldn't make any lasting impression on the match and dropped two behind again when he took a five on the 16th against McEvoy's par 4.

Both men had par-4s on the 251-yard 17th. This was enough to give McEvoy the match 2 and 1.

Feldner ready for Texas 500

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Stock car driver Paul Feldner, who courted his wife on a motorcycle and served as his own mechanic and pit crew in his first year of United States Auto Club (USAC) racing, will be better equipped for Sunday's Texas 500.

In addition to acquiring a pit crew and a marriage that remains intact after 22 years, Feldner will go into the USAC-sanctioned race at Texas World Speedway as the point leader on the USAC stock car circuit with one victory and a second place finish.

Feldner's early stock car lead will be tested over TWS's two-mile oval track by such challengers as Indianapolis 500 winner A. J. Foyt, Sal Tovelita, Ramo Stott, Bay Darnell and Roger McCluskey.

Feldner has been a regular top 10 finisher on the stock car circuit since he towed his stocker from Milwaukee, Wis. to Shreveport, La., in 1966 for his first USAC stock event.

"It was just a junk yard dog (his car) and me," Feldner said Friday prior to the start of practice at TWS. "I had a flat during the race and you should have seen me coming out of the window upside down to try and get it changed."

Feldner and his junk yard dog finished seventh. As the 1966 season progressed, Feldner's easy smile and willingness to learn enabled him to get a little help from his friends, including Ernie Durr, who would occasionally help Feldner on pit stops.

"I remember once I had a flat and came into Ernie's pit," Feldner said. "They changed my tire, gassed me up and sent me back out again."

Feldner came within two car lengths of having two victories on the USAC circuit this year but he finished second to Stott in the Indiana Classic, a 100-mile stock race held prior to the Indianapolis 500. "I misjudged that little car," Feldner said of Stott's small block-car, which he will run again in the Texas 500. "I think I could have caught him in a couple more laps."

Newberry loses dream

PARIS (AP) — Brian Gottfried and Raul Ramirez won the men's doubles title in the French Open tennis championships Friday for the second time in three years, and Janet Newberry lost her dream of a European clay court double.

Gottfried, U.S. Davis Cup star from Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and Ramirez of Mexico downed Jan Kodes of Czechoslovakia and Wojtek Fibak of Poland 7-6, 4-6, 6-3, 6-4 in the final. It was a follow-up to their success in Rome, where they won the Italian title for the fourth straight year.

Ms. Newberry of La Jolla, Calif., fell in the women's semifinals. Florentia Mihai, a mobile little Romanian, outthrew her in baseline duel to win 7-6, 6-3.

The American won the women's crown in the Italian championships two weeks ago. In a weak field, she had visions of joining the select band of seven women stars who have won both titles in the same year.

Gottfried and Ramirez, partners in victory Friday, could be rivals in the men's singles final Sunday. Gottfried faces Phil Dent of Australia in the semifinals and Ramirez has to play Guillermo Vilas, the left-hander from Argentina.

Gottfried and Ramirez, who won this title in 1975, regained it after negotiating some tight corners against two of Europe's best clay court players.

With Ramirez serving at 5-6 in the first set, they saved two set points before edging the Europeans in a tie-breaker by seven points to five.

Kodes and Fibak tied at one set all. Gottfried and Ramirez then gradually pulled away.

Turner's suspension reinstated by Kuhn

NEW YORK (AP) — Ted Turner's one-year suspension as active owner of the Atlanta Braves was officially reinstated Friday by baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn.

The effective date of the resumed suspension is May 19, the date a federal judge upheld Kuhn's power. Kuhn suspended Turner for a year on Jan. 18 after the controversial, high-spirited club owner made remarks at a cocktail party that he would outbid anyone for free agent outfielder Gary Matthews, formerly of the San Francisco Giants. Matthews eventually did sign with the Braves.

Kuhn ruled that Turner's comments constituted tampering. The commissioner also took away the Braves' first-round choice in the baseball draft.

Turner filed suit March 8 and, on May 19, U.S. District Judge Newell

Edenfield ruled in Atlanta that Kuhn had the power to suspend Turner but did not have the authority to take away the draft choice.

Pirates close gap against Cubs

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Jim Rooker pitched a five-hitter and Dave Parker drove in two runs to lead the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 5-0 victory over the Chicago Cubs Friday night.

The triumph moved the Pirates within a half-game of the first-place Cubs in the National League East.

The Pirates took the lead to stay in the first inning with three runs off Chicago starter Ray Burris, 7-5.

Frank Taveras and Phil Garner opened the Pirate first with singles, and Garner took second as a throw was made to third base in a vain try to get Taveras.

Parker followed with a two-run single, then stole second and scored himself on a single by Bill Robinson.

The 6-foot, 202-pound Green will be returning to the National Football League after spending four seasons in Ottawa.

Last year he rushed for 1,257 yards on 234 carries and had 53 pass receptions and a league-leading 15 touchdowns.

Laub leads bowl list

BEAVERTON, Ore. (AP) — Defending champion Larry Laub of San Francisco heads a field of 128 bowlers who begin competition Sunday in the $60,000 Portland Open, the first stop of the Professional Bowlers Association's 13-week summer tour.

Laub is seeking his 10th career title. The veteran right-hander is the PBA's 14th all-time leading money winner with earnings of almost $300,000.

"If the conditions are the same as they've been the past two years, I'm confident I'll bowl well," said Laub, who finished second here at Valley Lanes two years ago.

"But you never know. There are several great bowlers entered and it's almost impossible to predict who will do well."

Farley resigns

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — New York State Athletic Commission Chairman James Farley Jr., under fire for his activities promoting boxing outside the state, submitted his resignation Friday to Gov. Hugh Carey.

Carey, who had earlier proposed legislation that would have removed Farley from office by wiping out his job, accepted the resignation with "a full understanding of the difficult situation that has existed for you in the past few weeks."

Farley suspended himself without pay from the job earlier this year, after his links to promotion of Don King's U.S. Boxing Championships came to light.

PHILS nip Mets

NEW YORK (AP) — Jim Lonborg and Ron Reed combined to pitch a five-hitter as the Philadelphia Phillies defeated New York 1-0 Friday night and snapped the Mets' three-game winning streak under new Manager Joe Torre.

Lonborg, 1-0, earned his first victory of the season as Reed pitched two innings in relief and collected his fifth save.

Jon Matlack, 3-6, went the distance for the Mets and absorbed the loss although allowing only six hits.

The Phillies scored the game's only run in the third inning off Matlack when Larry Bowa singled and raced all the way to third on Lonborg's sacrifice.

Lenny Randle was charged with an error for failing to cover third on the play.

With two out, Ted Sizemore lined a single to center, scoring Bowa.

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Cardinals pitcher Steve Carlton pitched a two-hitter and struck out 10 batters to lead the Cardinals to a 2-0 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals Friday night.

Cardinals blanked Braves sweep

ATLANTA (AP) — Pinch-hitter Tom Pinchiff pitched a bases-loaded sacrifice fly to center field in the ninth inning, giving the Atlanta Braves an 8-7 victory and a sweep of the St. Louis Cardinals Friday night.

The Braves won the opener 5-2 on two-run homers by Willie Montaner and Gary Matthews.

Matthews opened the ninth inning of the nightcap with a single, went to third on a single by Junior Moore and the Braves loaded the bases when Gary Lavelle, 4-2, walked Rod Gilbreath intentionally.

St. Louis starter Eric Rasmussen, 3-7, struck out five and walked none before he was lifted for a pinch-hitter in the eighth.

Brewers 15-8 Friday night

Campaneris contributed two doubles and a single and Beniquez slammed a double and a single as the Rangers shelled four Brewer pitchers for 18 hits.

Steve Hargan, 2-3, who relieved starter Mike Marshall with one out in the third, went the rest of the way to gain the victory. He surrendered six hits.

Jerry Augustine, 6-6, lasted two innings and absorbed the loss.

The Rangers took a 5-2 lead in the second inning, then exploded for seven runs on seven hits in the third inning.

Nine different Rangers picked up hits in the game and Tom Grieve got three singles. The Rangers slammed a club record-tying six doubles.

For the Brewers, Robin Yount had four hits and Charlie Moore knocked in three runs.

Carew explodes

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (AP) — Rod Carew tripled twice and singled and Dan Ford belted a two-run homer to back the strong pitching of Dave Goltz and help the Minnesota Twins beat the Boston Red Sox 6-2 Friday night.

Carew, who has eight hits in his last 10 at bats, boosted his average to .383, tops in the American League.

Goltz, 5-3, fanned eight and walked one, scattering nine hits. It was his third straight victory and third complete game of the season.

Cleveland Manager Frank Robinson replaced Eckersley with Jim Kern at the start of the seventh inning.

Young set the mark of 23 straight hitless innings in 1964 when he was pitching for the Boston Red Sox. Vander Meer pitched successive no-hitters for Cincinnati in 1938.

Eckersley, who fired a no-hitter against California Monday night, was in total control through the first three innings, striking out two.

Royals lose

KANSAS CITY (AP) — A freakish triple play, with Baltimore shortstop Mark Belanger getting two putouts, short-circuited a Kansas City ninth-inning rally and allowed the Orioles to escape with a 7-6 victory over the Royals Friday night.

Eckersley hit

SEATTLE (AP) — Cleveland Indian pitcher Dennis Eckersley's bid to break Hall of Famer Cy Young's streak for consecutive hitless innings was thwarted by Seattle with two outs in the sixth inning Friday night.

The Indians were leading the Mariners 6-1 after six innings.

Eckersley's sensational string of hitless innings had gone 2 1/2 innings before Jones blasted his ninth homer of the year over the 365-foot fence in right-center field. Jones hit a 1-2 pitch, battling Eckersley by fouling off three pitches before connecting.

Eckersley, whose bid to match Johnny Vander Meer's feat of consecutive no-hitters was also foiled by Jones' homer, showed no outward emotion after his phenomenal streak ended. He then retired the side by getting Carlos Lopez to fly to center on the first pitch.

Harvey Glance burns Texas' Johnny Jones

By The Associated Press

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. — Harvey Glance, running with a painful groin injury, bolted from the blocks to an impressive victory Friday as he successfully defended his 100 meter dash title at the 56th Annual NCAA Outdoor Track and Field Championships.

Glance of Auburn outraced a strong field that included fellow Olympian Johnny Jones of Texas. Glance's time was 10:22, .06 off his best time of the year. Jones was second in 10:27.

The last time they faced each other was at the Drake Relays on April 30. Jones was second and Glance finished third, but both were beaten Mike Robertson of FSU. He is not competing in the NCAA meet at the University of Illinois. ICAA champion Calvin Dill of Seton Hall finished third Friday.

After being eliminated Thursday in the 200 meter dash, which he won last year, Glance said he had suffered a groin injury during training this week. But it did not seem to affect his performance Friday when he anchored Auburn's 400 meter relay team which posted the best qualifying time.

"I had to make up my mind that thing would really kill me if I ran hard. I felt great pain but unlike yesterday I didn't think about it," Glance said.

Six final events were staged Friday with the remaining 14 scheduled for Saturday.

Washington State one of the favorites for the team title because of its long distance men from Kenya, finished the day in a second place with 16 points. Samson Kimombwa got 10 of those when he beat back a challenge from Craig Virgin of Illinois to win the 10,000 meter run in a meet record of 28:10:27. BYU, with 17 points was first. Illinois, Stanford and UCLA had 16 points each. Texas-El Paso with 14 and Arizona with 12 also are expected to fight for the team title.

UCLA backed up its credentials as a contender when its runners finished 1-3 in the 110 meter high hurdles.

Reds win, 4-0

CINCINNATI (AP) — Fred Norman pitched a two-hitter and Johnny Bench lashed a two-run homer as the Cincinnati Reds whipped the Houston Astros 4-0 Friday night.

Norman, 5-2, the winner of his last four decisions, was plagued with wildness. He walked six batters in the first four innings, and later walked two batters in the ninth before pitching out of trouble.

Mark Lemongell, 1-8, lost his first career start against the Reds. He worked the first 2-1-3 innings, giving up four runs on five hits.

The Reds scored all the runs they needed in the second when George Foster opened with a single and scored ahead of Bench's ninth homer of the season, a 425-foot blast into the left-center field seats.

Rangers erupt

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — Bert Campaneris and Juan Beniquez drove in three runs apiece as the Texas Rangers defeated the Milwaukee Brewers 15-8 Friday night.

Bannister, who earlier had driven in a run with a sacrifice fly, tripled in two more in the fourth after Essian had singled with the bases loaded.

Reform order upheld

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A federal appeals court tinkered a little with a court-ordered reform of the El Paso, Tex., jail Friday but said most of it stands as drawn up.

The 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals sent the case back to U.S. District Judge William S. Sessions in El Paso with instructions to push on.

Protests by El Paso County officials that it costs too much to run a jail that meets Constitutional requirements were rejected.

Humane considerations and constitutional requirements may be measured or limited by dollars, the 5th circuit said.

In two instances, the 5th said Judge Sessions overstepped his authority: his order that guards be paid on the same scale as patrol personnel, and an order that the jail temperature be maintained between 65 and 85 degrees.

The order regarding guard pay "directly interferes with the authority of the Commissioner's Court in setting the amount of the budget," the 5th said.

As to temperature, the 5th said setting such limits would be allowable only if "proof shows the occurrence of extreme of temperature that are likely to be injurious to inmates health."

The jail has about 550 inmates and the 5th rejected county claims that it was unable to provide exercise. However, the 5th said a deadline of Sept. 1, 1977, for completion of permanent exercise facilities did not provide enough time.

A requirement that the jail provide medical services was approved, but the 5th said it did not seem necessary to require that all income prisoners be given a medical examination with 36 hours after arrival.

Sessions' requirement that more guards be placed at the jail was upheld. The 5th said jails protect society from those considered dangerous, but anybody put in jail must be protected from others in there.

The ruling came in a civil rights class action suit filed by Richard B. Smith, Hector Salvada Amaya and other inmates.

Newspaper dismisses reporter

ODESSA, Tex. (AP) — One of three reporters arrested in separate incidents this week has been dismissed by the Odessa American, the newspaper said Friday.

Editor Olin Ashley said courthouse reporter Robert C. Borden was fired in the wake of charges Wednesday of burglary and indecency with a minor.

Borden is free under $45,000 bond.

Ashley said two other newsmen, Robert Luckett and John Moulder, would retain their jobs. Moulder pleaded guilty to public drunkenness and was fined. Luckett was charged with driving while intoxicated and driving without a license and was released on $1,000 bond.

Dist. Atty. John Green, who notified the Associated Press of the arrests, said there was no connection between the incidents and his longstanding conflict with the American.

"This simply reflects the caliber of people covering the courthouse for the American," he said.

Green said, however, there was no question but that this week's episode intensified the controversy between his office and the American.

Ashley said, "It's obvious I have no evidence that this is part of Green's fight against the newspaper. If I had such evidence, I'd let it be known."

"To suggest such a link would be to suggest that the Odessa Police Department is in Mr. Green's hip pocket. I don't suggest that because I don't believe it. I have too much respect for the police."

Green barred the newspaper's reporters from his office last year after the American reported he had flown to Las Vegas in 1972 with a notorious ex-convict, Joe D. Hicks.

After a series of confrontations with the newspaper in recent months, Green filed a $3.5 million libel suit against the American May 12. He also secured a bribery indictment against the city editor.

Ferry sinks; all rescued

HALIFAX, Canada (AP) — An icebreaker and helicopters Friday rescued all 128 passengers and crew members of an 8,300-ton ferry that smashed into an iceberg and sank in the frigid waters off Labrador, shipping officials reported.

The ship, the Canadian National icebreaking ferry William Carson, went down at about midnight Thursday, about three hours after the iceberg tore a gaping hole in its bow.

The car-and-passenger ferry was on its maiden voyage of the season.

plying a 500-mile coastal route from St. John's, Newfoundland, to Goose Bay in Labrador, which is part of Newfoundland province.

The passengers and crew abandoned the sinking ship in lifeboats and many were waiting on nearby ice floes when rescue helicopters and the icebreaker Sir Humphrey Gilbert arrived to pick them up. The rescue craft took them to St. John's and St. Anthony, Newfoundland.

Authorities reported no injuries.

The ship sank near Square Island just north of the strait of Belle Isle, about 18 miles off the Labrador coast.

The Carson left St. John's at 6 p.m. Tuesday and made stops at Lewisporte and St. Anthony. The ship plowed into the iceberg off Mary's Harbor at about 9:30 p.m. and radioed back to St. Anthony's: "Hole in bow and taking on water fast. All pumps in operation. Unable to tell extent of damage. Request immediate assistance."

"The captain and crew acted fast," said passenger Bert Simmons, 75, of St. John's. "We got in the boats and they were lowered down — the ship was in ice and we had to get the oars and push the lifeboat clear."

Crewmen said there was no panic among the passengers.

Within three hours, witnesses said, the Carson's bow dipped under, the stern rose straight in the air and the ship slipped below the surface.

Simmons said he was picked up by a helicopter about four hours after the Carson sank. A full moon helped the search craft.

Some of the helicopters landed on ice floes to begin the rescue.

About 1,000 tons of general cargo went down with the Carson.

Priest found guilty of sex acts with boys

By ERIC NEWHOUSE

WINCHESTER, Tenn. (AP) — An Episcopal priest who ran a home for wayward boys was convicted Friday night of committing homosexual acts with the young residents and of filming the acts as the boys engaged in orgies.

The Rev. Claudius I. "Bud" Vermilye Jr., 48, was sentenced to serve 25 to 40 years in a penitentiary.

"I have taken into account the fact that this crime occurred over a period of four years and was at least partly for a profit," Circuit Court Judge Thomas A. Greer said. "I have also considered that some of these boys were as young as 11 or 12 years old."

The Rev. Mr. Vermilye, dressed in a dark blue business suit, stood before the bar with his hands clasped in front of him and listened solemnly as the judge imposed the sentence and ordered him jailed on $20,000 bond.

Defense attorneys said they would request a new trial within 30 days.

The prosecutor had accused the priest of operating one of the nation's largest homosexual pornography rings at the home, Boys Farm, Inc.

A jury of 10 men and two women deliberated slightly more than one hour before finding the Rev. Mr. Vermilye guilty of five counts in three indictments charging him with having committed homosexual acts with young boys.

The jury also found him guilty of seven individual counts in five indictments charging that he aided and abetted crimes against nature by filming them.

The Rev. Mr. Vermilye testified Friday that he took photographs of nude boys, including his own son, but he denied having homosexual relations with them.

Midland native appointed

Austin Bureau

AUSTIN—A 31-year old Midland native, Steve Bickerstaff, was appointed Friday by Attorney General John Hill to head the Attorney General's State and County Affairs Division.

Bickerstaff served as Hill's legislative liaison during the 65th session.

During the 1975 legislative session, Bickerstaff was named by Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby as parliamentarian to the Senate.

After a stint as director of the special office of constitutional research in the Texas Legislative Council, Bickerstaff joined Hill's staff in January 1976.

The division which he will oversee—state and county affairs—was led for 33 years by Assistant Attorney General J. C. Davis of Austin, who retired early in 1976. During much of the interim, First Assistant Attorney General David Kendall was overseer of the division, which serves as legal counsel to most state agencies and institutions and is responsible for defending the state in civil suits.

In announcing the appointment, Hill said Bickerstaff "has the knowledge, the legal skills, the patience and the leadership qualities necessary for the difficult task of heading the team of attorneys who represent about 200 state boards, commission and educational institutions."

Bickerstaff was vice president of his class when he graduated with honors from the University of Texas Law School in 1971, and was associate editor of the Texas Law Review, in addition to he held a variety of jobs—including tax examiner for the Internal Revenue Service.

DON'T STASH IT - CASH IT IN THE WANT ADS

CASH IT IN

They say everything has its place and there's a place for everything. Right? But what happens when you run out of places? When "everything" begins to fill up the attic and the basement, and piles up where you used to park your car, what then?

There is one solution to the problem that makes a lot of sense, and dollars, too. The answer is in the Classified pages of your newspaper. Here is the great merchandising mart for your stored items which are still serviceable and of value to someone.

A call to our Classified department will put you in touch with a congenial Advisor. She will help you compose a low-cost Want Ad for any or all of your excess articles.

You will be surprised how many eager buyers will read your ad. They scan Classified constantly for just such bargain opportunities. Take inventory and then make that "Cash it in" call.

DON'T STASH IT - CASH IT IN THE WANT ADS

Call the Right Play

If your goal is extra cash, tackle those idle items with a fast-action Want Ad!

Fighting inflation can be likened to football -- if you want to gain ground you must make the right moves.

In the buying and selling game, the smart players make the move to Classified. They can find extra cash by selling their no-longer-needed items in a sure-fire Want Ad. They make gains two ways -- added income and roomier storage areas.

To further bolster your defense against inflation, rely on Classified for money-saving bargains. Whether your needs are great -- such as a better home or new car -- or whether you would like a CB radio, Classified is the great stay-at-home bargain center.

Hold that line against inflation and make some big gains in cash and savings. Call our Classified department.
