No relief likely for heat-weary, says forecaster

No relief from record-breaking high temperatures is in sight for Midlanders through the middle of this week, Jim Lunney, meteorologistin-charge for the National Weather Service at the Midland Regional Air Terminal, said today.

Because of the unusually hot weather, C. W. Barclay, Texas Electric Service Co. division manager, said electricity consumption has been running 16 to 17 per cent above last year's usage. He said this is due to continued use of air conditioning units.

Normally, he said, consumption drops this time of year because temperatures cool down.

Lunney said the city has had record-breaking high temperatures for five out of the last six days. Monday's high temperature of 105 degrees beat the old one of 101 degrees set in 1953. Also, Monday's high was the hottest temperature the city has had so late in the season. On Sunday, the high of 102 degrees broke the record high of 99 degrees set in 1953. Saturday's high hit 101 degrees, beating the record of 97 set in 1953. On Thursday the high of 100 degrees broke the record of 97 set in 1933. Wednesday's high temperature again reached 100 degrees, breaking the 1930 record of 97.

Lunney said this is "probably the hottest September (Midland) has ever had." He said if the current trend continues this month's average temperature will be over 80 degrees.

He predicted partly cloudy skies

through Wednesday with near record high temperatures in the afternoons.

The high temperature Wednesday should climb to 101 degrees, Lunny said. The low tonight should fall to the low 70s. Winds will be light and variable tonight.

The overnight low temperature was 73 degrees, setting a record high for that period of the day. The previous high temperature was 69 degrees set in 1933, the weatherman said

All area towns reported clear skies and warm temperatures this mor-

Temperatures across Texas were expected to climb as high at 105 degrees today as unseasonably hot weather continued

Forecasters said readings by midafternoon might reach as high as 105 degrees at some locations in Southwest and Central Texas. Highs generally were expected to be in the 90s with several areas expected to break the 100-degree mark again.

Texans have not even been able to gain, much relief from the searing heat at night as temperatures early today (4 a.m.) were in the 70s and 80s. Even the mountains of Southwest Texas, generally the coolest point in the state during the summer and fall, had readings above 75 degrees a few hours before sunrise.

There was some cloud cover over central and western portions of the state early today, but not even the clouds were expected to shield Texans in those areas from the blistering, record-breaking heat wave.

It's hot, but it ain't that hot. Midlanders may have done a double take at the 111 degrees posted on the Citizens Savings and Loan Association sign Monday. A spokeswoman for the bank agreed that the sign was off by an estimated nine to 10 degrees. The official high temperature for Monday was six degrees shy of 111. (Staff Photo by Bruce Partain)

O'Neill sees tough energy bill in end

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Carter, pleading with Congress to resist what he views as undue oil industry influence, won a prediction today from House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill that the final version of the energy bill will be a tough one.

After a congressional leadership breakfast with Carter at the White House, O'Neill told reporters: "I don't want to get into what the (House and Senate) conferees are going to do. I just say that we're going to come out with a strong bill.'

In a brief conversation with reporters after his meeting with the congressional leaders, the President said: "We'll have to wait for the outcome" of the conference committee that ultimately will determine the shape of the legislation.

The Senate scheduled more work today on natural gas pricing after voting down a new attempt Monday to bring up Carter's proposal for continuing controls on gas. It was the second defeat of the day for the administration's plan.

The Carter program has seen few encouraging moments since it sailed through the House last month. The President is fighting the Senate blows with a veto threat. But Majority Leader Robert C. Byrd says the Senate appears determined to 'exercise its own independent will, despite what remarks are made from the outside. O'Neill shied away from specifying what instructions House conferees will have to try to soften the Senate blows. "The House is not set in cement," the speaker said. But he added: "It is going to be pretty rigid."

Senate Majority Whip Alan Cranston of California echoed that, saying: 'Tip has indicated, not today but on previous occasions, that they'll be very tough on natural gas. They're willing to discuss compromise, but they're not going to go for deregulation.'

Tower wants report on oil profits public

HOUSTON (AP)-Sen. John Tower. R-Tex., has asked President Carter to release to the public a report which Tower says shows profits of the 40 largest oil companies are no more than those of other manufacturers.

In a statement released Monday in Washington, Tower said the report by Federal Energy Administration led to a conclusion that returns of oil companies correspond, in general, fairly closely to nonoil manufacturing

"I think it is imperative that all pertinent information available be provided, not only to the Congress, but the public as well," Tower said.

'Much has been written about 'oil company profits' which would make a report by the federal government most meaningful in arriving at objective conclusions as we debate such issues as oil and natural gas pricing

Tower quoted a draft of the report as saying "It appears that a choice may have to be made between allowing higher profits or probably seeing lower capital expenditures for privately financed energy development efforts." "The alternative will be increased federal partcipation in energy development by subsidy or direct operational participation," the draft was quoted as saying.

Commissioners seek new effluent hearing

Midland County commissioners Monday voted to request formally a new hearing on the City of Odessa's permit to dump more effluent down Monahans Draw than it presently

Commissioner Win Brown said the request for a rehearing is a necessary step before the matter can be taken to

The Texas Water Quality Board in its last meeting as a separate body Aug. 31 granted a permit to the City of Odessa to construct a sewer treatment plant in Midland County and dump up to five million gallons of effluent daily down Monahans Draw. That would be in addition to the up to

Brown said the City of Midland is required to dispose of its effluent in evaporation ponds and it is "inconsistent" for the City of Odessa not to be required to use ponds.

The rehearing, if granted, would be before the newly consolidated Texas Water Resources Board.

The commissioners also approved the 1977 tax roll. County Tax Asseasor-Collector Elmo Linebarger said revenue for 1977 will be $261,194 over 1976, with no increase in tax rate or assessment ratio.

Commissioners postponed consideration of a proposal to create a peace justice precinct for the five million gallons it is authorized to. Greenwood community: Commissioner Charlie Welch, who proposed the change in the peace justice precinct organization, was not at the meeting because of the death of his father Sunday night Also postponed was action on participation with the City of Midland in its penetration paving program.

The City of Midland is proposing the county provide men and equipment to help in paving six and a fourth miles of streets, primarily in east and southeast Midland, Commissioner Durward Wright said.

Wright said the county probably will participate in the program, but, before formal approval is given, county and city staff members need to plan best use of equipment. He said he believes the county will participate in at least part of the project this year and eventually all of it. Penetration paving does not have curb and gutters and is not as thick as assessment paving, Wright said. "It is an improvement (over dirt or caliche), but it's not exactly first class," he said.

The commissioners also postponed action on appointing substitute election judges and alternates for the Nov. 8 constitutional amendment election. Wright said a list of persons qualified was not available Monday.

The commissioners court accepted bids on carpeting, tile and draperies

by Midland United Way President Tony A. Martin.

The city's proclamation declared the 30-day period starting today as United Way Campaign Month.

It said, "Further, (today) is designated as the United Way's 'Day of Service' and the employers of campaign workers are hereby requested to support the United Way Campaign by giving these employes a full day to complete their visitations.

Gov. Briscoe's official memorandum designated the months of September. Ocotober and November as campaign months in the state. He praised the movement as a "leading example of America's distinctive tradition—the impulse of people to act voluntarily on the problems of their communities.

Martin expressed his pleasure at the support which has continually been

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) -Egypt has rejected Israel's new demand that leaders of the Palestine Liberation Organization be barred from Arab-Israeli peace negotiations, dimming prospects for a Middle East peace conference in Geneva this year.

Egyptian Foreign Minister Ismail Fahmy told reporters Monday night that Israel's offer to accept Palestinians at the conference as members of a unified, pan-Arab delegation was a "nonstarter" because Israel said known PLO members would not be acceptable.

"It is very clear that the PLO will have to be present at Geneva," said Fahmy. "The question is under what formula they will participate. "There is no question who will

Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance also rejected the conditions the Israeli cabinet put on its acceptance Sunday of the proposal for a single Arab delegation, which the United States pressed on Israel as a way around the procedural block to renewal of the Geneva conference.

The Los Angeles Times
WASHINGTON — Two top federal banking regulators, testifying in the wake of Bert Lance's resignation, said Monday they should be given powers to block an individual who seeks to buy control of a bank.

Many of Lance's financial and political difficulties stemmed from the millions of dollars he borrowed to buy a major share of stock in the National Bank of Georgia, which he served as president.

Without criticizing Lance personally, the comptroller of the currency and the chairman of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. told the Senate Banking Committee they would welcome having the authority to stop bank purchases by unworthy

The comptroller, John G. Heimann, told the committee that in New York State, a budding embezzlement was prevented from becoming a gigantic scandal because state law enabled regulators to stop a questionable foreign buyer from taking control of a bank. Heimann was the state banking commissioner before becoming federal comptroller in July.

George LeMaistre, the FDIC chairman, said he favored a process under which an individual seeking control of a bank would give regulators 60 or 90 days notice before consummating the purchase. The regulators could act within that period; if they did nothing, the purchase would go through.

Existing regulatory policies require federal approval of bank acquisitions by corporations or bank holding companies. Individuals who buy banks do not need such approval.

Stephen S. Gardner, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board disagreed with the proposal for advance approval of bank purchases by individuals. Instead, he said, the Reserve Board supports a "strengthening of disclosure and reporting requirements.

Anyone who buys 25 per cent or more of a bank's shares should be required to file a report, Gardner said. Only the banks themselves now file reports on changes in management; but bank officials often do not have details about new owners,

Each of the three banking regulators said he would hire Lance as a bank official, despite Lance's well-publicized problems and his forced resignation as director of the Office of Management and Budget. Sen. Edward W. Brooke (R-Mass.) posed the question about hiring

Heimann said Lance had been successful in building two banks, and noted that the unsafe and unsound practices at one bank - the maintenance of large overdrafts by Lance. his wife, LaBelle, and other relatives had been corrected.

WASHINGTON (AP) - The House of Representatives is sending the Senate a bill that would make it a federal crime to use children in pornography.

The bill's author, Rep. Dale E. Kildee, D-Mich., says thousands of boys and girls - some as young as three years old - are being sexually exploited in films and magazines.

'Just as pernicious as the sweat shops in the early part of the century which left physical scars are the modern-day conditions which leave psychic scars," Kildee said Monday. 'Cold-hearted abuse in the pursuit of profit is a particularly heinous

Some members of the House Judiciary Committee warned, however, that Kildee's measure may be so broad that it violates the First Amendment rights of freedom of speech and expression. They said they fear a prolonged court test if the bill becomes law. The measure would make it a federal crime to use children under age 16 in real or simulated sexual activities if photographs or films of them are sold across state lines. The maximum penalty would be 20 years in prison and a $50,000 fine. Kildee's bill would apply only to goods sold in interstate commerce. Rep. John Conyers Jr., D-Mich., chairman of the judiciary panel's crime subcommittee, advocated shelving the measure while a new bill is drafted to preclude a constitutional confrontation. Other members of the subcommittee backed his proposal.

Halston's classic fall designs pull up, wrap around women

By LANA CUNNINGHAM

Pull it up and wrap it around is all a woman needs to do with any of Halston's fall-winter designs to stay warm and fashionable this winter and for many to Halston's classic fashions have a way of staying in representative of New York who showed the collection at a Midland fashion store.

Natural fibers are employed for most of the designs with the major exception being the Ultrasuede line. Cashmere and wools are used in many day dresses and coats with silk charmeuses representative said, and chiffons highlighting the evening wear collec-

To show the longlasting wearability of Halston's designs, Ms. Corriel said one Ultrasuede shirtdress came out five years ago and is still part of the collection with only minor changes being made, such as lowering the hemline.

From this one shirtdress, Halston has expanded it into a simpler shirtdress with no yoke and buttoned front, to a fuller one with a shirred, molded shoulder, to one designed with an "envelope front" with the latter two capable of being worn alone as a dress or over another outfit as a coat. Another style is distinguished by square armholes.

Halston's Ultrasuede coats are basic, with the wrap and double-breasted coats included. These are interlined, and can be purchased with a button-out quilted silk lining which adds warmth during the extra cold days. These type are particularly suited to the warmer climates, such as Midland, Ms. Corriel

Halston's pant suits in Ultrasuede this year feature both the skinny-legged pant which can be worn stuffed inside a pair of boots, or the wider-legged

His fuller jackets can be worn over with the skirt or pant fashions or separately with other fashions.

Various wools are used in his daytime dresses, all of which wrap the figure. "These dresses can go from day to cocktail. They're great for dinner or the theater." Ms. Corriel said.

The dressy, but understated, dresses feature deep V or scooped necklines, waistlines and front-to-back sashes or ribbon ties. Cashmere is used for dress and poncho combinations

Halston has turned to some novelty fabrics, such as lurex, for his evening line. He combines the lurex with chiffon in several designs to give an unusual quality to the gown.

Velvet adds softness to several designs, including the long wrap front dress with pushup long sleeves which features a satin sash at the waistline.

Chiffon is used in the barer evening looks, such as style for years, according to Shirley Corriel, Halston the pajama outfit in aubergine fashioned with full cut pants that pull on, a halter top that ties on and a double layered chiffon shawl to give a "covered up" look to the design.

Insurance agent causes tall man to fear early cardiac problems

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband (I'll call him John) took out a life insurance policy 15 years ago. The agent hesitated selling him a policy because John is 6 foot 9. The agent said "extra tall" people have a shorter life expectancy because they usually develop heart problems. He explained that the heart has to work much harder pumping the blood in a very tall person than in a person of average

I believe Mother Nature compensates by giving the extra large man a heart large enough to handle the job, but John believes the agent, and he keeps insisting he'll never see 55. (He's 45 now.) Both John's parents are alive and in their 80s.

Anything you can find out about this will be greatly appreciated .- JOHN'S

DR. NEIL SOLOMON

Better take no chances

Dear Dr. Solomon: How can you tell if you are having a heart attack, not just indigestion? The other evening we went out to dinner with one of my husband's oldest friends. He seened a bit uncomfortable, but he said it was just a touch of indigestion. The next day we heard he had had a heart attack shortly after he got home. Isn't there any way you can tell which is which?-Pat K.

Dear Pat: Unfortunately, the first symptoms of a heart attack are very often easy to mistake for indigestion, and doctors themselves may have trouble making a diagnoisis without special tests. So the best thing is not to try to figure the problem out for yourself, but to get in touch with your doctor immediately or go to the nearest hospital emergency room if you have any suspicious symptoms.

Here is how the American Heart Association sums up the symptoms:

1. One of the first signs may be pressure or pain in the middle of the chest. That is where your heart is not on the extreme left, as so many people believe. 2. This pain may get worse and spread through the whole chest as well as down the left arm.

The pain may also spread to both arms, shoulders, neck or jaw. A sensation of pressure, fullness or squeezing may occur in the stomach, which is often mistaken for indigestion.

4. Pain may occur in any of these areas, or in any combination of them at the same time. It may go away and then return later. Often sweating, nausea, vomiting or shortness of breath may come with the

The AHA urges you to call your doctor at the first sign of any of these symptoms, and if you can't reach him, to go the the nearest hospital emergency room and ask for prompt care. Many lives are lost because of delays in seeking treatment. So when in doubt, check. This is one time when it is better not to be your own doctor.

Dear Dr. Solomon: I find those little wet travel towels are such a handy thing to have on a trip, but I wonder if they would be all right to use on the baby. We are getting ready to go on quite a long trip, so I'd love to know before I go and buy out every store in town. Many thanks.—Dorothea W.

Dear Dorothea: I'm glad you asked this question, because there are a few cautions when it comes to using the premoistened towels on a baby. Pediatricians warn against letting them get near the eyes or mouth of a child under six years old if they contain benzalkonium chloride-a soluble gel used as a local antiseptic. In heavy concentrations, ben-zalkonium chloride is poisonous. When you go shopping, just check the label to see what the brand you are buying contains.

Bottle battle gaining steam across nation

By RANDOLPH E. SCHMID

WASHINGTON (AP) - Ninety-nine bottles of beer in the ditch.

Ninety-nine bottles of beer.

But put money down and you'll turn it around. There'll only be 18 bottles of beer in the ditch. Eighteen bottles of beer. That, at least, is the hope of environmentalists hoping for a law to require deposits on all beverage containers in an effort to keep the cans and bottles in use and off the roadside. Most of the nation's brewers, soft drink makers and can and bottle maufacturers are opposing the ef-OREGON LED the way five years ago and serves as the test case in the struggle, but both sides can produce statistics which they say prove their point. Since the Oregon law was passed most "bottle bills" calling for mandatory deposits have been defeated, except in Vermont, Michigan, South Dakota and a few local jurisdictions. Among the measures being held up is a national bottle bill, promoted by Sen. Mark Hatfield, R-Ore.

The measure was recently rejected 10-6 in committee, but Hatfield reportedly is considering submitting the proposal to the full Senate. In the meantime all government agencies, responding to earlier legislation, are scheduled to report late this month on plans to limit beverage sales on federal property to returnable containers. Getting a head start was the National Park Service, which instituted a returnable-only policy this summer at most of its facilities.

FINAL DETAILS of the project have not been compiled, but a spokewoman said that "aside from a few minor problems, it seemed to work well," and resulted in a reduction of litter. The Defense Department got into the act early, and is in the midst of a year-long trial of returnablesonly at 10 military bases. A spokesman said there had been some initial problems in starting the test, but no major difficulties have been reported. Meanwhile, the battle between environmentalists and manufacturers continues with both sides claiming their plan is the energy saver.

Albert Barr of the Glass Manufacturers Institute, noting that refillable bottles are heavier and require more energy and materials to make, said they must be returned seven or eight times before they constitute an energy savings over the lighter, throwaway bottles.

Barr said no definite figures on returns are available nationwide, commenting that return rates vary from city to city. In New York, for example, nearly everything is thrown away, while in Chicago the majority is returned.

He said that his most recent report from Oregon indicates that bottles are being returned an average of about 10 times each. That rate saves energy in comparison to throwaways, but he said that before Oregon's law was passed the return rate was 22 imes per bottle.

BY CONTRAST, environmentalists are estimating between 14 and 18 returns per bottle in Oregon, and a state spokeswoman said the latest figures available there indicate between 18 to 20 returns per bottle.

Both returnable and throwaway containers are available in most of the country, and sales figures show some contrasts in consumer preference.

For example, in New York City returnables make up less than one per cent of the sales, while in Chicago they account for 70 per cent.

While the lack of firm figures for returns on bottles, or trippage, has generated considerable debate, semantics themselves have led to much of the con-

The opponents of the bills refer in most of their literature to "refillable" containers. But the Environmental Protection Agency, a promoter of a bottle bill, refers instead to "returnable"

THE DIFFERENCE is not noticeable to the consumer, but the refillable container is sent back to the bottler after it is returned to be cleaned and filled for another use The non-refillable goes to a recycling center where it is ground up and its glass or steel or aluminum is put to another use.

Under the proposed bottle laws both refillable and non-refillable containers would be allowed, but the deposit would encourage consumers to return both, instead of throwing away the non-refillables.

The manufacturers have paid little attention to this difference, while environmentalists emphasize it as a means of saving and reusing resources.

The brewers, however, have confronted this issue, making their main emphasis resource recovery. They have been pushing for recycling of all trash, and suggest that using only returnable containers would remove much of the economic stimulus from recycling general trash. Jobs too have been a bone of contention with dire warnings of lost employment from manufacturers who fear the shutdown of can and bottle plants if large numbers of refillable containers come into use. But both sides admit that in Oregon there was a net gain in employment, with new jobs in recycling and collection outnumbering those lost in container manufacturing.

And then there is litter, the scenic blight that brought the controversy out in the first place. ENVIRONMENTALISTS claim that beverage-related litter in Oregon was reduced by 80 per cent after the state law was passed, while the manufacturers claim the reduction was 66 per cent.

The cost of the drinks in the containers is also a subject of dispute with opponents of restrictive legislation saying the laws would result in more costly beverages.

Last October the EPA released a survey of 28 cities in 24 states showing that beverages sold in returnable containers were generally cheaper than when throwaway bottles and cans were used.

Law school tests scheduled Oct. 8

ODESSA - The Law School Admissions Test (LSAT) will be administered Oct. 8 at: The University of Texas of the Permian Basin.

Dr. James Olson, assistant professor of psychology at the school, said persons who have already registered for the test must report by 8:30 a.m. that day at the west wing of the south campus building He said a limited number of walk-ins will be accomodated on a first-come, first-serve basis. They are encouraged to report as early as possible, beginning at 8 a.m. Olson said plans are being made to administer the test on the university campus again Dec. 3.

Persons who are interested in taking the test then may call Olson at 367-2167 as soon as possible. A minimum of five persons registering for the test is necessary before it can be held here.

Davis prosecutors use evidence to weave case

Prosecutors in the Cullen Davis murder trial offered a bloodsmudged telephone, a leisure jacket and a pair of woman's high-heeled shoes into evidence today. A Fort Worth police detective testified the items were recovered from Davis' mansion after a shooting spree last year that left two dead and two wounded According to previous testimony, the jacket and shoes belonged to two of the shooting victims - one who survived, and one who did not. And a third victim told the jury earlier he crawled criticaly wounded to a telephone and tried in vain to call for help 'What is the black stuff all over it?" asked a proseuctor, handling the phone with clear plastic gloves. "It's fingerprint powder," the detective said.

The state also produced a pistol and five cartridges found in a car parked at the mansion but the weapon was not the one used in the shootings. The items were among 150 pieces of physical evidence prosecutors are weaving into their circumstantial case of capital murder against Davis. Using police Detective Greg Miller as a catalyst, prosecutors offered evidence ranging from bullets and blood samples to a garbage bag and

Mennonite dilemma

Congressman George Mahon is doing all that he possibly can to aid the 500 Mennonites who recently migrated to West Texas, locating near Seminole, and who now are threatened with deportation.

But the congressman is not at all optimistic about the long-term future of the group. He does, however, believe that the Oct. 1 deadline for the Mennonites will be extended temporarily by government immigration officials.

"I don't know if we will be able to find a way" to aid them permanently, Mahon said.

It is hoped that he and others will be able to come up with something with can be helpful in this egard.

The Mennonites last spring established residence on a 6,400acre tract near Seminole, which their agents had purchased. It reportedly was a $2.6 million transaction.

The newcomers had temporary visas, mostly from Mexico, which now have run out.

They have said that a land dealer misled them about the availability of permanent residence status, but at the same time, they should have checked the immigration laws.

The bad part about it is that they went to work immediately in setting up a farm community. They cleared the land, planted crops and now are in the process of harvesting same. A lot of hard, hard work must have gone into the operation, but the Mennonites are known for hard work. It would appear that a claim of extreme hardship could be welldocumented in this instance. And itshould be helpful in dealing with the government.

The Mennonites have attended strictly to business and, insofar as is known, they haven't bothered anyone. They have been termed "good neighbors" by other persons residing in the area.

Still the immigration law is very clear in the matter.

Mr. Mahon attempted to persuade the Labor Department to grant the settlers temporary work visas, which it could do, for jobs for which American labor was not available. But the department refused.

It is true that there is considerable unemployment over the nation, but not in West Texas. And it is quite doubtful if laborers from other regions would be willing to move to the Seminole area to engage in dryland farm-

The Labor Department certainly would not be out of order in granting the temporary work visas, considering all the angles involved, including the money and effort which have been spent by the settlers. This would allow time to investigate other avenues which might be helpful in working out a satisfactory arrangement for the newcomers to West Texas, on a more permanent basis.

Anway, the Mennonites have one of the most influential members of Congress working in their behalf and it is hoped that he and others yet will be able to work out a plan satisfactory to all concerned.

It might not be a bad idea to bring representatives of the government departments involved to Seminole to view the Mennonite operation and what the settlers have accomplished there in a brief period, under somewhat trying condition.

WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Star witnesses in new probe

JACK ANDERSON and LES WHITTEN

KEEP OUR

CLEAN

WASHINGTON — Teamsters boss Frank Fitzsimmons and ex-Attorney General Richard Kleindienst will be the star witnesses in a new Senate drama next month. They have already been questioned behind closed doors about their role in a multimillion-dollar insurance Sources close to the investigation say Fitzsimmons and Kleindienst told Senate investigators conflicting stories. The Senate Permanent Investigations subcommittee will try to clear up the discrepancies by putting both men on the witness stand.

The incorrigibly promiscuous Fitzsimmons, who is usually found on the defensive in Washington proceedings, will be cast in the unfamiliar role of the accuser. He is full of righteous indignation over an alleged scheme to defraud the Teamsters' welfare fund.

The complex case involves the insurance coverage for Teamsters in 33 states. This amounts to a staggering $2.6 billion worth of insurance business. After a few wellplaced phone calls by Kleindienst, the contract went to Old Security Life Insurance Company.

Kleindienst, a wounded political warhorse still recovering from the Nixon debacle, collected $125,000 for his phone calls. This was his half of a $250,000 "finders fee" for helping the company land the contract. Kleindienst told Senate investigators earlier this month his $125,000 service to Old Security consisted of several telephone calls to

Fitzsimmons urging him to award the contract to the company. But the Teamsters chief reportedly told the investigators. Kleindienst did not ask him to swing the insurance contract to

The company got the contract despite the opposition of several-Teamsters officials who reportedly w/anted to give the business to F'rudential Insurance Company of America. The Senate investigators ucrative contract was awarded because of a backdoor deal. They have also learned that Old Security may not be old reliable. They have received allegations that the company has been involved in several shady transactions Kleindienst told us in a telephone interview that the conflicting accounts are a matter of "semantics." Fitzsimmons, he said, is a "good friend of mine ... I didn't ask Fitz to use his influence.

The former attorney general acknowledged telling Senate investigators that he made several telephone calls urging Fitzsimmons to grant the insurance business to Old Security. His $125,000 share of the finders' fee, he said, went to his law firm, not to himself. Despite Teamsters demands that the fee be returned, Kleindienst told us he has no intention of giving back the money.

Fitzsim mons Footpote: acknowledged that he "visited" the Senate subcommittee, but refused to comment on what he told the investigators.

Do-gooder approach

Yet Americans are starved ironically, for wholesome nourishment. They are the victims of massive advertising which promotes the wrong foods, nutritional experts tell us. The less nutritional value a food has, apparently, the more money the food companies spend to sell it.

The cereal companies, for example, are raking in millio food on children. The federal government spends $70 million a year advising the populace on their eating habits. But critics contend that the program is ineffective and the money is wasted. Neither the educational nor medical professions have responded to the nutritional crisis

"We should convince the food industry that selling nutritious products. is as easy and profitable as selling junk foods," suggested Rep. Frederick Richmond, D-N.Y.

Footnote: Food industry leaders privately have expressed a willingness to work with Congress to deal with the nutritional crisis.

PAY REFORMS: Most congressmen aren't happy about facing the voters after helping themselves to a 29 percent pay raise without an "aye" or "nay" vote.

Fearing the taxpayers' wrath, several congressmen have been trying to reform the pay hike procedure during secret meetings this summer in House Speaker Thomas "Tip" O'Neill's office. A measure suggested by Rep. Charles Whalen, R-Ohio, would forbid any future pay Traise voted by Congress from taking effect until the following session.

Supporters argued behind closed doors that the bill would assure voters that Congress would not use the same trickery to boost its salaries again. But two generally reform-minded members, Reps. Morris Udall, D-Ariz., and Thomas Foley, D-Wash., surprisingly tried to shoot down the reform plan. The bill's backers conceded that it wouldn't affect the House vote, but they insisted it would pacify the public. So the group, with O'Neill's approval, decided to postpone action on the plan.

But the determined Whalen soon sent word that the battle wasn't over. The reformers rounded up nearly 100 co-sponsors, both liberal and conservative, and made clear they would symptoms. In this case, the problem is not a hungry child but a parent who is either so sorry or lazy he or she won't feed the kid.

The latest fad in do-gooderism to As all government actions do, this program teaches a lesson. It teaches a free breakfast for children so they the parents they can forego their responsibilities and the state will take Now who in the world could object care of the consequences. It teaches to giving a hungry child a free breakthe child to look to the state for sustenance. It's not that I want the kids to go

I once only half facetiously suggested to a school superintendent that the county school district go to the courts and formally adopt all the children. They might as well if they are going to feed them, check their teeth and eyes, provide them psychological counseling, recreation and a place to stay for a good part of the year.

But just where do you draw the line? Some parents don't love their children. Are you going to pass a law requiring the teachers to give each child a warm embrace when he steps off the bus?

Some parents abuse their children. Are you going to station a policeman in each home to see that the child is

The do-gooder approach reminds me of an obscene description to fight forest fires. It is stupid to think you can have a child for a few hours a day, put a band-aid on his psyche, and overcome the effects of a rotten

If your goal is to replace the parents, then quit beating around the bush. Go on, be honest. Do what the Nazis did and take the child out of the home away from his parents and put him in a state institution. That's the only way the state can become effectively a parent.

Most do-gooders, however, don't have the stomach to face the logical consequences of the policies they advocate. They prefer to live with the double pretense that their policies won't lead to totalitarianism but will solve the human problem that so distresses them. Well, their policies will lead to totalitarianism but they won't solve the human problem. The alternative is to face the fact that human beings are not perfect, that not every parent will be the kind of parent the so-called experts think is normal, that some human beings will suffer pain and injustice, that no system can ever guarantee they won't, but that, as they have forever, most of them will survive anyway.

Finally, the do-gooder themselves create an injustice, for they compel the responsible parent to bear the cost, not only of their own children, but of those of the irresponsible parents. There is no free lunch. There is no free anything.

A just solution would be to send a note home suggesting the parent feed the child and follow it up with a visit by the school nurse. If that doesn't work and the child is suffering from genuine neglect, go to court and have the child taken from his parents. If, as suspect is true in most cases, the child is in no real danger, then mind your own business.

UNQUENCHABLE SPIRIT:

Senator Hubert Humphrey hasn't given up the fight

By JAMES CARY Copley News Service

WASHINGTON - The cheers, the bobbing placards, the band blaring "Happy Days Are Here Again," the upturned faces and extended hands of the campaign crowd - they are all receding memories now for Sen. Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn.

They belong to a past that can be treasured and recalled but never recaptured.

In their place there is the present and the future to be lived and savored as always. For despite the ravages of cancer and the toll of 66 years, the Humphrey spirit is as unquenchable as ever.

Now recovering at home from recent surgery that revealed an inoperable pelvic tumor, he has been on the phone almost daily to his office here, dictating letters and making plans to return to his desk early in October

That will be in time to participate in the final weeks of debate, hearings and other congressional business before the House and Senate adjourn for the year probably in the last week of October or early in November.

During that time and later the senior senator from Minnesota has made it clear he intends to carry not only his full load of responsibilities as a member of the Senate Agriculture. Foreign Relations and Select Nutrition and Human Needs committees, but will have outside ac-

On Sept. 12 he accepted the chairmanship of a coalition that will lobby Congress for change, in the National Labor Relations Act to strengthen workers' rights to organize

Called 'Americans for Justice on the Job.' the organization is engaged in what Humphrey calls a human rights struggle that will affect millions of workers he says have been denied the opportunity to be represented by a union

In picking up that banner Humphrey emerges as a frail but upright figure of a man marching again at the head of a controversial political cause, as he has so many times before, a man facing forward, preparing to return to the scene of some of his greatest triumphs and tragedies.

They have been many in a political career that has spanned an age from the depression years through the debacle of Vietnam. And wherever he moved during those years he has left a clear imprint on the times: Many images have emerged:

There was Humphrey, the flaming liberal reform mayor of Minneapolis, who delivered an impassioned appeal for a strong rivil rights plank at the 1948 Democratic National Convention. His electrifying speech precipitated a walkout by then Gov Strom Thurmond of South Carolina that divided the Democratic Party Thurmond ran for president on a third party. Dixiecrat ticket.

There was Humphrey, the freshman sénator from Minnesota who in his 1949 maiden address frontally attacked the shortcomings and selfdeceptions of the U.S. Senate, a move that cost him dearly in influence for many years.

Then there is Humphrey, the man of great legislative achievements, involving the originating, sponsoring and approval of bills to provide medical care under the Social Security system, support health research, end lynchings of blacks in the South, combat drug addiction, establish the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency, establish the Rural Electrification Administration, the Food for Peace program, the Department of Housing and Urban Development, the Fair Employment Practices Commission. the limited nuclear test ban treaty. the Peace Corps, the Job Corps, the Alliance for Progress, Medicare and the landmark Civil Rights Act of 1964.

Then there was Humphrey, the tragic Democratic nominee for president in 1968, left with a shattered party after a riot-scarred Chicago convention was torn apart by the emotional divisions of the Vietnam War. Left without funds and organization, and deserted by the party's liberal wing, he nevertheless closed in the final weeks and came within 310,608 popular votes of overhauling and defeating the eventual Republican victor, Richard

That was perhaps the zenith of Humphrey's career, the bid for the presidency that so many thought one day be would achieve.

There was a brief flurry of activity again in 1972 when for a time it appeared Humphrey might again make a serious bid for the presidency, and even in the early preprimary stages in 1976 there was talk of a deadlocked convention turning to Humphrey.

Health problems soon ended all such thoughts.

To his many admirers he will always seem a man who should have been president, a giant among his colleagues, revered and respected in both parties for his courage, spirit and pervasive sense of fair play.

PROPOSED GAS TRANSPORTATION

ENERGY SECRETARY James Schlesinger puffs his pipe during testimony before the Senate Energy and Natural Resources Committee Monday in Washington. Schlesinger used the map behind him to show proposed routes for natural gas pipelines.

Fisher wildcat included among new West Texas activity reports

A wildcat site has been staked in Fisher County, while a strike offset is slated in Sutton, and a stepout is planned in a Runnels sector. Also, two extensions finaled in a Crockett gas field. C. W. Seely, Fort Worth, will drill a 6:850-foot venture in Fisher, two miles north of Claytonville. It is No. 1 B. L. Kidd. Location, 11/4 mile northwest of the Claytonville (Canyon) pool, is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 182, block 3, H&TC survey.

SUTTON OFFSET UV Industries, Inc., Salt Lake City. filed application to drill a 3/8-mile east offset to the one-well Hardgrave (Strawn) oil pool of Crockett. It is No. 2 Hardgrave.

Drillsite is 1,980 feet from north and west lines of section 25, block 6,

Two sectors gain tests

Exploration has been scheduled for Mitchell and Winkler sectors, while attempt will be made to reopen an East Culberson field.

WES-TEX Drilling Co., Abilene, will drill No. 3 M. C. Hendry, a 7,300foot prospector in Southeast Mitchell, one location south of production in the Dixon (Strawn) oil field.

Location is 2,173 feet from south and 467 feet from west lines of section 2, block 1-A, H&TC survey, five miles

WINKLER SITE

Lyda Hill, Midland, has scheduled No. 1 Minnehaha as a 3,500-foot wildcat in Winkler, one location south of the most northerly well in the twowell Capitan reef oil sector of the Cheyenne field.

It spots 1,275 feet west of the southeast corner of section 16, block C-23, thence 124 feet from north line of Scrap File 13022, abstract 1903, 13 miles northwest of Kermit.

The Cheyenne (Capitan reef) field produces at about 3,140 feet.

Moore Production Co., Odessa, will attempt to reopen the Marsh (Delaware sand) field of East Culberson with the scheduling of No. 1 Hope Lease, 17 Miles southwest of Orla and 21/2 miles northwest of the depleted discovery well.

Location is 610 feet from south and 1,418 feet from east lines of section 5, block 45, PSL survey. It is slated for a bottom depth of 2,900 feet. The Marsh field was opened in

Field wells potential

Two pool wells have been completed in West Texas fields.

Hanley Co., Midland, finaled No. 1-7-31-B University as a 1/2-mile south extension to the Martin County part of the Hutex (Dean) field, for a daily flowing potential of 101 barrels of 41.6gravity oil and two barrels of water. with gas-oil ratio of 1,634-1.

Potential test was taken through a 16-64-inch choke and perforations at 9.653-9.914 feet.

Location is 1.980 feet from south and 660 feet from west lines of section 31. block 7, ULS, 13 miles northeast of Tarzan

The Homann (San Andres) field of Gaines got its eighth well with completion by Cleary Petroleum Corp., Midland, of No. 4-74-B Cunningham-Davis, 61/2 miles northeast of Seminole.

The 24-hour pumping potential gauged 29 barrels of 33-gravity oil and 60 barrels of water, with gas-oil ratio of 486-1. It finaled through perforations at 5,380-5,408 feet, after 2,000 gallons of acid. It is 467 feet from south and 2,181 feet from west lines of section 74, block G. WTRR survey. inside production in the field.

The pool opener, UV Industries No. 1 Hardgrave, finaled April 11, 1976. for 78.7 barrels of oil daily, gravity 38 degrees, plus 22.7 barrels of water, through perforations at 4,599-4,765

RUNNELS STEPOUT Production Oil Corp., Metairie, La., filed application to drill No. 1-A Galatian as a southeast stepout to the discovery well in the two-well Clarke (Gardner) oil pool of Runnels.

It is slated to 4,600 feet, and spots 1,167 feet from south and 603.5 feet from east lines of section 64, block 64, H&TC survey. It is about six miles northeast of Winters. CROCKETT EXTENDER

A 1/2-mile southeast and 5/4-mile north extension has been completed in the Live Oak Draw (Strawn) gas field of Crockett, by Dan J. Harrison Jr., of

No. 2 Joe Wylie McMullan gauged a calculated, absolute open flow potential of 6.2 million cubic feet of gas per day, through perforations at 9,117-9,252 feet, following 7,500 gallons of acid on the pay section.

It is 660 feet from north and 990 feet from west lines of section 15, block F, GC&SF survey, 10 miles southeast of

Another well has been completed in the same field, with the flowing of gas at the rate of 3.580 million cubic feet per day at Harrison No. 3 Joe Wylie

FEA predicts supply drop

WASHINGTON (AP) - A forecast by the Federal Energy Administration says natural gas curtailments should be reduced this winter for most Southwestern states, including New Mexico, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Texas. A slight increase in curtailments was predicted for Louisiana. The FEA's state-by-state breakdown showed:

New Mexico - supply up fourtenths of one per cent, curtailment down from 13.4 to 8.8 per cent.

Oklahoma—supply up 2.3 per cent, curtailment down from 2.3 to 1.7 per Louisiana-supplies down 3.5 per cent, curtailments up from 27.9 to 29.4 Arkansas-supplies down eighttenths of one per cent, curtailments down from 45.9 to 44.5 per cent. Texas-supplies down 1.2 per cent, curtailments down from 2.4 to 1.6 per

Kent areas probe set

Stringer & March, operating out of San Angelo, has made plans to drill No. 1 Hulen Lemmon in Kent County. Scheduled as a 4,500-footrwildcat, it spots 1,700 feet from south and 3,363 feet from west lines of section 2, block OK, J. M. Coker survey, abstract 1420, six miles north of Jayton. There is no nearby production.

McNamara calls on rich nations to import more from poor ones

WASHINGTON - World Bank President Robert S. McNamara Monday called on the rich industrial nations to accept a $60 billion increase annually in the level of manufactured goods they import from poor nations

Although sources said that this influx would "displace" about 3 million jobs in the major developed countries in that period, McNamara said that the industrial world could tolerate such a burden with the use of "adjust-

McNamara is said to believe that the industrial world would have a 'tolerance' for this new influx of imports, provided there is a pattern of orderly expansion of trade as suggested by French Prime Minister Raymond Barre, who has outlined a concept of "organized free trade.

Optimistic President predicts vigorous, noninflationary growth'

By HOBART ROWEN The Washington Post

WASHINGTON - President Carter Monday gave world financial leaders an up-beat assessment of U.S. economic prospects for next year, forecasting "Vigorous and noninflationary growth.

"I am, committed to make sure that optimistic prediction comes true." he said in a brief address to the joint annual meeting of the World Bank and the international Monetary Fund. Carter invited all nations "to pursue economic growth along with us.

A subtle shift in strategy to be pursued by the world's financial leaders, emphasizing the need for an increase in economic growth and a reduction in unemployment, has been the focal point of preliminary discussions in advance of the joint meeting.

Carter told the 3,000 delegates that the two main economic challenges facing world leaders are "to restore and maintain the steady, noninflationary expansion of the world economy and to increase the pace of growth in the developing nations of the world.

The President said that the United States would meet its target of 6 per cent growth for this year. That is a reference to the expected fourth quarter rate this year compared with the fourth quarter of 1976. For the year 1977 as a whole. Carter's economists talk in terms of a 5 per cent gain over 1976.

He also claimed that "the unemployment rate is going down steadily" and said that "bodes well for the future." The unemployment rate actually rose from 6.9 per cent in July to 7.1 per cent in August, but is below its recession peak of 9 per cent in 1975.

Carter endorsed new initiatives by IMF Managing Director H.J. Witteveen and Bank President Robert S. McNamara. He said Witteveen's establishment of a new special $10 billion fund to help meet balance of payments deficits "has my country's full support.

And he expressed the "hope that a negotiation for a major general capital increase for the World Bank will permit the bank to increase its real lending." This represents a change from the position of the Ford administration, which barred the. general capital increase proposed by McNamara.

Meanwhile, in their own keynote addresses to the joint meeting Monday morning, McNamara and Witteveen joined in the call for acceleration of the growth rate in the industrial

Witteveen noted that previously, the IMF had told governments that because of the dangers of inflation they should prevent too much growth in their economies.

Controversial judge loses seat for now

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) - A judge who uttered "Oh, for God's sake" because he was bored by a fellow judge's "unnecessary and inane questions" is being replaced on a state appeals court.

Judge Charles Galbreath, 52, appeared in the Supreme Court building here Monday wearing his robe only to find his seat on the Court of Criminal Appeals taken by another judge. Judge William Russell, presiding member of the three-judge panel, said Galbreath for remarks about a colleague that appeared in a Nashville newspaper. Russell and Judge Martha Craig Daughtrey accused Galbreath of uttering "Oh, for God's sake" while Daughtrey was questioning an attorney during the court's session Sept. 16 in Nashville.

Galbreath told the Nashville

'unnecessary and inane questions by Judge Daughtrey.

'I'm sure that I said 'for God's sake' under my breath, but for God's sake so what?" Galbreath said: "If I've done something so wrong that makes me unfit to serve, I'd like to know what I've done.

It was not the first time Galbreath has lost favor with his fellow judges.

Last year, the Tennessee Judicial Conference joined the appellate court in censuring Galbreath for writing Larry Flynt, publisher of the sexually explicit . Hustler magazine, on stationary that bore the names of all members of the criminal appeals

No relief likely for heat-weary until week's end

No relief from record-breaking high temperatures is in sight for Midlanders through the middle of this week, Jim Lummey, meteorologistin-charge for the National Weather Service at the Midland Regional Air Terminal, said today.

METRO EDITION

Because of the unusually hot weather, Winston Barclay, Texas Electric Service Co. division manager, said electricity consumption has been running 16 to 17 per cent above last year's usage. He said this is due to continued use of air conditioning units.

Normally, he said, consumption drops this time of year because temperatures cool down.

Lummey said the city has had record-breaking high temperatures for five out of the last six days. Monday's high temperature of 105 degrees beat the old one of 101 degrees set in 1953. Also, Monday's high was the hottest temperature the city has had so late in the season. On Sunday, the high of 102 degrees broke the record high of 99 degrees set in 1953. Saturday's high hit 101 degrees, beating the record of 97 set in 1953. On Thursday the high of 100 degrees broke the record of 97 set in 1933. Wednesday's high temperature again reached 100 degrees, breaking the 1930 record of 97.

Lummey said this is "probably the hottest September (Midland) has ever had." He said if the current trend continues this month's average temperature will be over 80 degrees. Normally, the average runs around 75

The high temperature Wednesday should climb to 101 degrees, Lummey said. The low tonight should fall to the low 70s. Winds will be light and variable tonight.

The overnight low temperature was 73 degrees, setting a record high for that period of the day. The previous high temperature was 69 degrees set in 1933, the weatherman said

Temperatures across Texas were expected to climb as high at 105 degrees today as unseasonably hot weather continued.

Forecasters said readings by midafternoon might reach as high as 105 degrees at some locations in Southwest and Central Texas. Highs generally were expected to be in the 90s with several areas expected to break the 100-degree mark again.

Texans have not even been able to gain much relief from the searing heat at night as temperatures early today (4 a.m.) were in the 70s and 80s. Even the mountains of Southwest Texas, generally the coolest point in the state during the summer and fall, had readings above 75 degrees a few hours before sunrise

There was some cloud cover over central and western portions of the state early today, but not even the clouds were expected to shield Texans in those areas from the blistering,

It's hot, but it ain't that hot. Midlanders may have done a double take at the 111 degrees posted on the Citizens Savings and Loan Association sign Monday. A spokeswoman for the bank agreed that the sign was off by an estimated nine to 10 degrees. The Actual high temperature for Monday was six degrees shy of 111. (Staff Photo by Bruce Partain)

Carter works to repair his energy shield

By TOM RAUM

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Carter, recoiling under repeated Senate blows to his energy plan, is fighting back with a veto threat and a plea to senators to resist what he views as undue oil industry influence.

But the Senate, according to Majority Leader Robert C. Byrd, appears determined to "exercise its own independent will, despite what remarks are made from the outside."

The Senate scheduled more work today on natural gas pricing legislation after voting down Monday a new attempt to bring up President Carter's proposal for continuing

It was the second defeat of the day for the administration's plan, which has seen few encouraging moments since it sailed through the House last

In the other setback, the Senate Finance Committee rejected the President's proposal to force conservation by taxing U.S. crude oil, a central element of Carter's energy

However, Sen. Russell Long, D-La., vote may not completely kill the tax, which would add about seven cents a gallon to the prices of gasoline and other petroleum products.

He planned another meeting later in the week in hopes of working out a compromise tax that could make if

The Senate also approved Monday a motion to limit debate in an effort to halt a filibuster led by a handful of Senate liberals opposed to any relaxation of gas price controls. The move allows each senator to speak for no more than an hour.

But the vote may have been a hollow victory for the Senate

Those staging the filibuster quickly switched to other tactics, including a demand for lengthy roll call votes on each of the nearly 400 pending amendments.

That appeared to guarantee Senate debate continuing through the week and possibly into next week

Stung by the recent setbacks, Carter accused the oil and gas industry of trying to "jeopardize our energy future" by waging a heavy campaign in the Senate.

"The lobbying efforts of the oil and gas industry on deregulation (of natural gas prices) itself show how special interests are trying to block enactment of the entire energy program," Carter told reporters

"I call on the Senate to act responsibly in the interests of the great majority of Americans to reject narrow special interest attacks on all segments of the national energy plan," he added.

That followed his warning over the weekend that he would veto any energy legislation lifting price controls from natural gas, as the industry is seeking and as the Senate approved as recently as 1975.

Meanwhile, the Federal Energy Adminstration forecast natural gas shortages this winter, but not as severe as last winter.

The FEA said greater conservation efforts and more seasonal weather should make up for an expected smaller supply of gas.

Commissioners seek new effluent hearing

Midland County commissioners Monday voted to request formally a new hearing on the City of Odessa's permit to dump more effluent down Monahans Draw than it presently

Commissioner Win Brown said the request for a rehearing is a necessary step before the matter can be taken to the courts. The Texas Water Quality Board in its last meeting as a separate body Aug. 31 granted a permit to the City of Odessa to construct a sewer treatment plant in Midland County and dump up to five million gallons of effluent daily down Monahans Draw. That would be in addition to the up to dump now.

Brown said the City of Midland is required to dispose of its effluent in evaporation ponds and it is "inconsistent" for the City of Odessa not to be required to use ponds.

The rehearing, if granted, would be before the newly consolidated Texas Water Resources Board.

The commissioners also approved the 1977 tax roll. County Tax Asseasor-Collector Elmo Linebarger said revenue for 1977 will be $261,194 over 1976, with no increase in tax-rate or assessment ratio.

Commissioners postponed consideration of a proposal to create a peace justice precinct for the five million gallons it is authorized to Greenwood community. Commissioner Charlie Welch, who proposed the change in the peace justice precinct organization, was not at the meeting because of the death of his father Sunday night.

Also postponed was action on participation with the City of Midland in its penetration paving program.

The City of Midland is proposing the county provide men and equipment to help in paving six and a fourth miles of streets, primarily in east and southeast Midland, Commissioner Durward Wright said.

Wright said the county probably will participate in the program, but, before formal approval is given. county and city staff members need to plan best use of equipment. He said he believes the county will participate in at least part of the project this year and eventually all of it.

Penetration paving does not have curb and gutters and is not as thick as assessment paving, Wright said. "It is an improvement (over dirt or caliche), but it's not exactly first class," he said.

The commissioners also postponed action on appointing substitute election judges and alternates for the Nov. 8 constitutional amendment election. Wright said a list of persons qualified was not available Monday.

The commissioners court accepted bids on carpeting, tile and draperies

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - A ruling in favor of a white medical student who, challenged a minority admissions program could bring an onslaught of lawsuits from other white applicants, the University of California's attorney says.

"There are a lot of other wellqualified applicants out there with every bit as much a complaint 'said attorney Donald Reidhaar.

The 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals rejected, 2-1, on Monday the university's appeal of a lower court ruling allowing Rita Clancy, 22, to be admitted to the UC Davis branch.

Her attorney, Merritt Weisinger, said his law firm has turned away other rejected applicants seeking to challenge minority admissions policies because "anybody who getsturned down has sour grapes.

"In those cases it would have been tough to prove they were turned down in favor of minority applicants. They might have been rejected anyway." he said.

He said Mrs. Clancy was first on the medical school's waiting list and would almost certainly have been admitted had it not been for the minority admissions program.

Weisinger said Davis' admissions policy was exclusive because it set aside 16 places for minority students. Minority admissions policies at other schools are not as clear cut, he claimed. Mrs. Clancy, a Russian immigrant, was described by her husband, Patrick, as "very nervous" on her first day of classes Monday. Rather than answer questions herself, Mrs. Clancy referred reporters to her husband. She did say, however, "I'm happy to be in and I hope I can stay."

Although the NAACP had criticized Mrs. Clancy's admission, there were no protests or disruptions as she arrived for her class in cellular

The university had asked that she be barred from entering until the U.S. Supreme Court decides the case of Allan Bakke, another white applicant who challenged Davis' program of reserving some classroom admissions for minority students.

Victimization reportedly

WASHINGTON (AP) - Sen Charles H. Percy is charging that White House "inner circle" engineered a campaign to destroy him and save the job of former budget director Bert Lance, the Chicago Sun-

Times says in today's editions. The Illinois Republican said in the story that President Carter was not involved. He said the White House "inner circle" included Press Secretary Jody Powell and top political aide Hamilton Jordan.

Percy later told the newspaper in a telephone conversation Monday night following publication of his interview with the newspaper that he thought the White House "inner circle" "did not extend beyond Powell, Lance and Clark Clifford," and added, "I don't think Hamilton Jordan was in this thing as deep as Jody Powell.

Clifford served as Lance's attorney before the Senate Governmental Affairs Committee, which conducted the hearings on Lance, who resigned last week. Percy is the ranking minority member on that committee. The newspaper said in its story that

Percy "named Jordan and Powell as 'inner circle' members whose actions should 'shake the President's confidence in their judgment. The Sun-Times quoted Percy as saying the "inner circle" sought to plant false rumors about him.

Percy said in the story that the White House played a role in the "harrassment and constant interruptions" he experienced during Senate hearings this month into Lance's banking affairs.

Percy, however, told The Assoc-ciated Press in a telephone interview Monday night that the only White House involvement he knew of was a well-publicized call by Powell to the Sun-Times Washington bureau on Sept. 13. Powell said Percy had accepted free rides on a corporate plane and questioned his dealings with a Chicago bank.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) -Egypt has rejected Israel's new demand that leaders of the Palestine Liberation Organization be barred from Arab-Israeli peace negotiations, dimming prospects for a Middle East peace conference in Geneva this year.

Egyptian Foreign Minister Ismail Fahmy told reporters Monday night that Israel's offer to accept Palestinians at the conference as members of a unified, pan-Arab delegation was a "nonstarter" because Israel said known PLO members would not be acceptable.

'It is very clear that the PLO will have to be present at Geneva," said Fahmy. "The question is under what formula they will participate.

"There is no question who will represent the Palestinians - the PLO. If the PLO will not be represented at Geneva, the Geneva conference will serve no useful purpose.

Fahmy added that Egypt and the United States were trying to work out a formula acceptable to all. He said it could involve the simultaneous recognition of the PLO by Israel and the PLO's acceptance of U.N. resolutions on the Arab-Israeli conflict which implicitly recognize Israel's right to exist as a state.

Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance also rejected the conditions the Israeli cabinet put on its acceptance Sunday of the proposal for a single Arab delegation, which the United States pressed on Israel as a way around the procedural block to renewal of the Geneva conference.

Nuclear test facility still in place

By NORMAN KEMPSTER The Los Angeles Times

WASHINGTON - Although it has promised to forego development of atomic weapons, South Africa has not dismantled its Kalahari Desert nuclear test facility and probably could explode a bomb any time it wished, a Carter administration official said Monday

The official said Pretoria might test a nuclear device as "an ultimate gesture of defiance" if the United Na-white supremacy regime. The official conceded there is a difference of opinion among Administration foreign policy experts concerning South Africa's intention. Some of Carter's advisers do not believe Prime Minister John Vorster's regime would risk the additional world condemnation that would follow

Shortly after the Kalahari site was discovered, some U.S. analysts speculated that South Africa had never really intended to test a bomb

a nuclear explosion

there. These analysts said Vorster may have ordered development of the site as a warning both to the superpowers and to South Africa's neighbors that Pretoria was capable of nuclear development.

Once analysts even suggested at the time that the site was a "Potemkin village," a sham development intended only to confuse spy satellites.

However, the official said Monday that the Administration is quite concerned about the South African situation. The official, who is in a position to read all U.S. intelligence reports filed on the subject and asked not to be quoted by name, said some of Carter's advisers believe Pretoria feels it has little to lose from exploding a nuclear device because it already has few international sup-

"I think South Africa - very much like Israel - has a view of Armageddon. And - like the Israelis - they are determined to go down fighting." the official said during a lunch with a small group of reporters.

The Soviet Union discovered what appeared to be a nuclear test site in South Africa's Kalahari Desert last August. After the Russians informed Washington of the development, U.S. spy satellites confirmed the presence of a deep hole and surrounding outbuildings, forming the patern of an underground test facility.

The United States, the Soviet Union, France and other nations all warned South Africa against going ahead with a nuclear explosion. At his press conference Aug. 24, Carter said he had been assured by Pretoria that the site 'is not designed for use to test nuclear explosives, and that no nuclear explosive test will be taken in South Africa now or in the future."

But the official said that in the month that has passed since Carter received the South African pledge. satellite photographs have shown that nothing has changed at the desert

South Africa has rich deposits of uranium and a technologically sophisticated industrial base, the two essentials for joining the nuclear club. A dozen or so other nations probably could test a nuclear device from a technical point of view. But none has the natural resources enjoyed by Pretoria

tions votes new sanctions against the Administration effort to sell treaty begins

The Los Angeles Times WASHINGTON - The Carter administration Monday launched its uphill effort to sell the Senate on ratification of the new Panama Canal treaties, portraying the current arrangement under which the United States controls the waterway as dangerously outmoded

Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance and treaty negotiators Ellsworth Bunker and Sol Linowitz began making the formal case for ratification. They told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee the recently negotiated agreements provide the best chance for improved relations with Latin America and for longterm operation of the canal.

'All the countries of the hemisphere have made common cause in looking upon our position in the canal as the last vestige of a colonial past which evokes bitter memories and deep animosities." Linowitz said.

"The greatest threat to the operation and security of the canal would be to try to insist upon retention of the present outmoded treaty and its anachronistic provisions - provisions which have in the past, and can so easily again in the future, trigger hostility and violence," he said.

"The simple fact is that if we do not agree upon treaties which are mutually agreeable and acceptable, the time may come when we may find ourselves in the position of having to defend the canal by force against a hostile population and in the fact of widespread condemnation by the countries of Latin America and even

The first testimony before the committee opened what is expected to be a prolonged fight. Senate majority leader Robert C. Byrd (D-W.Va.) said Saturday the Administration would now lose that fight if it tried to produce the two-thirds majority in the Senate that is necessary for ratification.

Early in the hearings Monday, questioners seized on apparent U.S.-Panamanian differences in interpretation of important treaty provisions.

Linowitz acknowledged that remarks by Panamanian negotiator Romulo Escobar Bethancourt after the conclusion of negotiations last month have created deep concern among U.S. officials.

In an address to the Panamanian National Assembly and at a press conference, Escobar expressed views much different from those of U.S. officials on treaty sections dealing with canal access by U.S. ships, the requirement to keep the canal open to traffic, the United States' right to intervene to protect canal neutrality. and possibe future planning for a new sea-level canal.

Carter okays low-cost flights

The Washington Post

WASHINGTON - President Carter overruled the Civil Aeronautics Board Monday and approved lowcost transatlantic air fares that will be available at

The President approved a $256 roundtrip budget fare between New York and London, and advanced purchase excursion ("super-APEX") fares ranging from $290 to $440 for roundtrip service between London and eight U.S. cities, including Washington. The new super-APEX roundtrip fare between

British-based Laker Airways began its so-called

'skytrain' service between London and New York.

Washington and London will be $323. Carter's action came the same day that the

The no frills, no reservations Laker service costs $236 roundtrip. The competitive threat that the Laker fare posed prompted U.S. airlines to seek the lower fares that the CAB rejected and which the President approved Monday The super-APEX plan requires that tickets be purchased 45 days in advance and that travelers return to their homes 14 to 45 days after leaving. The new

'super-APEX" fare will be $290 roundtrip between New York and London, and slightly more between London and the other U.S. cities where it is available. The old super-APEX fare between New York and London was $350 roundtrip Under the budget plan, a traveler must buy his ticket three weeks in advance and can specify only the week in which he wants to travel. Ten days before departure, the airline must inform the traveler of the exact date and flight number for his journey.

The CAB recently approved a $280 budget fare. However, expressing fear that lower fares for scheduled airlines would damage the charter airline business, the agency rejected the $256 budget fare sought by the airlines as well as the $290 super-APEX

The President's action Monday does not affect a CAB-approved $256 roundtrip standby fare between New York and London. Under the standby fare, which will now cost the same as the budget fare, travelers have no reservations and must wait at the airport for seats to become available on flights.

In a letter to the CAB Monday, Carter said, "I have decided to reject the board's order as inconsistent with this administration's foreign economic policy. I must emphasize that my international aviation policy carries with it a commitment to low fare, competitive international air service for the benefit of American consumers.

According to White House officials, the President also urged the CAB to remove federal regulations that impede low-cost charter service. The Departments of State and Transportation will soon begin discussions with European government aviation authorities on removing such restrictions on charters and other low-fare transatlantic air service.

The fares approved Monday are effective immediately, although under the super-APEX plan travelers will not be able to leave for London for at least 45 days. They are considered winter rates and will be available until March 31

Meanwhile, according to White House officials, Transportation Secretary Brock Adams will study how well the new fares serve the public and how to make the low-cost transatlantic air service more

Regular, tourist-class roundtrip air fare between New York and London is $629 during the winter season. First class, luxury service costs up to $1,312. In addition to New York ($290) and Washington ($323), the other cities with super-APEX service and the new roundtrip fares are Boston ($285), Philadelphia ($313), Chicago ($353), Detroit ($336). Los Angeles ($440) and Miami ($332)

HEW secretary tells 'bed plan'

WASHINGTON - A plan to save billions of dollars in health costs by eliminating one hospital bed in 10 in most parts of the nation was proposed by Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Joseph A. Califano Jr. Monday. The proposed regulation was published in the Federal Register as part of the government's first guidelines for health planning by 205 new health systems agencies throughout the country. The measure, if implemented, could help bring both hospital growth and costs under control by eliminating nearly 100,000 of the country's 970,648 acute-care hospital beds. It would do this by drastically limiting the number of such beds in any area to no more than four per 1,000 persons, with an everall occupancy rate of at least 80 per cent. This would account for all but 495,352 of the country's hospital beds. Those excluded are mainly federal hospitals and long-term or extended care facilities.

These limits, Califano predicted, "will help put the brakes" on expensive new hospital building or expansion and the proliferation of high-cost services like open-heart surgery and half-million-dollar machines to make computerized X-rays.

The proposed HEW guidelines cite "documented evidence" - in large part, a National Academy of Sciences study - that this country has too many hospital beds. Key members of Senate committees dealing with health legislation - including Edward M. Kennedy (D-Mass.) and Jacob Javits (R-N.Y.)-all given an advance look at the (HEW)proposal wrote Califano they were "most pleased that (HEW) has "bitten the bullet," and "we believe the time has come to set numerical standards...

Documents reveal more CIA funding

The Los Angeles Times

PALO ALTO, Calif. - Stanford medical school faculty and facilities were used for seven research projects secretly funded by the Central Intelligence Agency as part of its MK-ULTRA mind control experiments, formerly classified documents released Monday by the university show. The projects, which cost taxpayers $388,063 between 1953 and 1961 were aimed at altering human behavior, detecting falsehoods and positively identifying CIA agents who had been posted overseas. Human volunteers were used in the largest of the projects, a five-year $147,255 effort aimed, a proposal states, at "permitting consumption of larger amounts (of alcoholic beyerages) without an increase in nervous system depression."

The more than 500 pages of heavily censored documents give little insight into the success or failure of the research efforts.

Official buttons could shut off Michigan, Arkansas cooling units

By MARTIN MERZER

NEW YORK (AP) - On hot summer evenings in coming years Americans may find that when the air conditioner shuts down it isn't on the

As early as next summer utilities in Michigan and Arkansas expect to be able to shut off home air conditioners when they feel they need the power elsewhere to avoid serious shortages.

Under such systems, companies will be able to turn off thousands of air conditioners simultaneously from the utility's headquarters to reduce load and avoid a general blackout such as the one that hit New York City this

"Eventually, all utilities will be going to some sort of automation like predicted Jeff Serfass of the Energy Research and Development Agency. With serious questions arising about the reliability of electricity during the next 10 years, many utilities are searching for new methods of "load management." Building new generators is expensive and time consuming, so finding ways to reduce or restructure power usage is attractive to electric companies. Several major utilities already are

Association will meet

Charles A. Peebles, area manager for the Copper Development Association, Inc., Dallas, will be the speaker for the Tuesday meeting of the Alternate Energy Aseociation-Solar Energy Society of the Permian

The meeting will be held at 7:30 p. m. in the Plaza Cafeteria in Odessa. Peebles topic will be "Domestic Hot Water Solar System Sizing and Calculations." The presentation, including slides, will be based on data contained in the "Uniform Solar Energy Code" published by the International Association of Plumbing and Mechanical Officials.

Peebles is a native Texan. He is a journeyman plumber and has served as a plumbing inspector for more than 10 years in Dallas where he was also chief of plumbing for that city. He has served 10 years as technical representative and area manager in CDA Building Products Market Development Division.

The meeting is open to the public The purpose of the organization is to provide a forum for exchange of ideas, problems and solutions encountered by individuals and builders who are using or planning to use solar and-or wind energy.

Reeves gets extension

Chevron USA, Inc., has completed its No. 1-23 Reeves-State, a third well and one-mile east and northeast extension in the Marsh, South (Delaware) gas field of Reeves County, nine miles south of Orla.

It finaled for a calculated, absolute open flow of 980,000 cubic feet of dry gas per day, through perforations at 1,766-2,786 feet, after fracturing with 10,000 gallons and 10,000 pounds:

'We're able to clip the peak off our peak load," said Pete Rice, a spokesman for Arkansas Power and Light in Little Rock. "It also saves money in future generating capacity and we don't have to run more expensive equipment now. John Hamann, president of Detroit Edison Co., agreed. this (remote control) help reduce investment in generating plants by shaving peaks, but also by shifting load to offpeak hours, we can reduce fuel costs as well." he said.

The federal government and the Research Institute are funding a $7 million experimental program in San Diego, Detroit, Omaha, Neb., and Raleigh, N.C., in which two-way devices are used.

Detroit Edison is one of the leading users of remote-control devices. Back in 1934, the firm began installing timers on water heaters for customers who agreed to have their power interrupted at certain hours in return for special rates.

The company switched to radio controls in 1968 and now 200,000 customers - nearly all those with electric water heaters - have volunteered for the program.

Under the plan, the utility can deactivate water heaters for up to four hours a day. The average customer gets a credit of about $60 per year. The company says there have been few complaints about the system.

Now, Detroit Edison is experimenting with cutting off central air conditioning systems for up to 15 minutes an hour, five times a day. Arkansas Power and Light is pushing an air conditioning control

Menard test to complete

M. Brad Bennett, Inc., Robert K. Hillin & NRM, Midland, were moving in a completion unit after setting 51/2inch casing at 3,292 feet, at No. 2-106 Jacoby, indicated extension to the Jacoby (Fry) oil pool of Menard County, 15 miles northwest of Menard.

It recovered 450 feet of free 37gravity oil and 120 feet of very slightly salty and heavily oil- and gas-cut mud on a 43-minute drillstem test in the Fry sand from 3,217-3,237 feet. Gas surfaced in 12 minutes, gauge unreported, on a 1/s-inch choke. Drilled to 3,302 feet, it is plugged back to 3,251 feet. It is 1,980 feet from south and 660 feet from east lines of Hooper & Wade survey 106, abstract 1485.

But so far, even though everybody agrees on the need to prevent the proliferation of nuclear weapons, there remains a wide gap between the Carter administration and the rest of the world on how to handle the problems of reprocessing and fastbreeder reactor development, which also produces plutonium. The United States recently had to back down after long efforts to try to block the Japanese starting up a reprocessing plant. It has also brought heavy political pressure, so far unsuccessfully, on both Pakistan and Brazil to try to get them to desist from agreements signed earlier with France and West Germany respectively for the building of reprocessing plants. Nevertheless, in the main American policy speech to the conference delivered by Robert W. Fri, acting administrator of the Energy Research and Development Administration, said that "there is now emerging a growing realization in the world that we share fundamental nonproliferation objectives and that these are within reach through the determined exercise of reason, goodwill and enlightened international cooperation.

A special high-level technical conference to evaluate the problems of the nuclear fuel cycle in all aspects from the availability of natural uranium to the problems of reprocessing, fuel storage and possible alternative fuel cycles - is to convene in Washington in mid-October and probably will take two years to complete its studies.

'Many are now prepared to reexamine and review the options in an objective manner to be sure that our respective nuclear programs can continue to move forward aggressively but under terms that afford the greatest possible assurances to the international community," Fri said "As an energy-hungry world gropes with the twin challenges of energy shortage on the one hand and nuclear proliferation on the other, the importance of meaningful international co-operation has never been greater

The Washington Post

WASHINGTON - World Bank President Robert S. McNamara Monday called on the rich industrial nations to accept a $60 billion increase annually in the level of manufactured goods they import from poor nations

Although sources said that this influx would "displace" about 3 million jobs in the major developed countries in that period, McNamara said that the industrial world could tolerate such a burden with the use of "adjust-

Police charge Evel Knievel with assault

The Los Angeles Times

LOS ANGELES - Motorcycle daredevil Evel Knievel, accused of using a baseball bat to break the arm and wrist of a television executive, was formally charged with felony assault Monday.

Knievel was charged with one count of assault with a deadly weapon with force likely to produce great bodily injury as the result of a Sept. 21 attack on Sheldon Saltman, 46, author of a book about the motorcycle stunt man which Knievel has called a "filthy lie.

According to police, witnesses said Knievel beat Saltman with a baseball bat while an as yet unidentified man held the 20th

-Called for added efforts to relieve poverty and end stagnation in the poorest countries, with an aggregate population of one billion

-Said that "uncertainties over the World Bank's future financial operations are now largely resolved' because there is a broad consensus that a substantial general capital increase is needed. He predicted that over the next five years, the bank would provide $30 billion to $35 billion in new financing.

-Warned that the "north-south dialog" (between rich and poor nations) on transferring more real resources to the poor had ended so far in failure.

-Revealed that the bank would increase its financing of labor-intensive activities to about $300 million by 1980 for stimulation of rural farm employment and in assisting "cottage industries" and small-scale enter-

McNamara conceded that an increase from exports of $33 billion of manufactured goods in 1975 to a projected $94 billion total in 1985 - an 11 annual incre "practical adjus! ment assistance" for workers and industries in the developed world that: might be displaced by the new wave

On that basis - one million jobs per $20 billion of added exports over a 10year period - the expansion McNamara called for would displace an additional 3 million workers in the industrial West.

McNamara is said to believe that the industrial world would have a 'tolerance' for this new influx of imports, provided there is a pattern of orderly expansion of trade as suggested by French Prime Minister Raymond Barre, who has outlined a concept of "organized free trade."

Optimistic President predicts vigorous, noninflationary growth'

By HOBART ROWEN The Washington Post

WASHINGTON - President Carter Monday gave world financial leaders an up-beat assessment of U.S. economic prospects for next year, forecasting "Vigorous and noninflationary growth.

"I am, committed to make sure that optimistic prediction comes true," he said in a brief address to the joint annual meeting of the World Bank and the international Monetary Fund. Carter invited all nations "to pursue economic growth along with us.

A subtle shift in strategy to be pursued by the world's financial leaders, emphasizing the need for an increase in economic growth and a reduction in unemployment, has been the focal point of preliminary discussions in advance of the joint meeting.

Carter told the 3,000 delegates that the two main economic challenges facing world leaders are "to restore and maintain the steady, noninflationary expansion of the world economy and to increase the pace of growth in the developing nations of the world.

The President said that the United States would meet its target of 6 per cent growth for this year. That is a reference to the expected fourth quarter rate this year compared with the fourth quarter of 1976. For the year 1977 as a whole, Carter's economists talk in terms of a 5 per cent gain over 1976.

He also claimed that "the unemployment rate is going down steadily" and said that "bodes well for the future." The unemployment rate actually rose from 6.9 per cent in July to 7.1 per cent in August, but is below its recession peak of 9 per cent in 1975.

Carter endorsed new initiatives by IMF/ Managing Director H.J. Witteveen and Bank President Robert S. McNamara. He said Witteveen's establishment of a new special $10 billion fund to help meet balance of payments deficits "has my country's

And he expressed the "hope that a negotiation for a major general capital increase for the World Bank will permit the bank to increase its real lending." This represents a change from the position of the Ford administration, which barred the general capital increase proposed by McNamara,

Meanwhile, in their own keynote addresses to the joint meeting Monday morning, McNamara and Witteveen joined in the call for acceleration of the growth rate in the industrial world

Witteveen noted that previously, the IMF had told governments that because of the dangers of inflation they should prevent too much growth in their economies.

Davis prosecutors dip into physical evidence

By MIKE COCHRAN

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) - Prosecutors dip into their physical evidence again today in a painstaking effort to tie millionaire Cullen Davis to a 1976 shooting spree at his Fort Worth mansion.

Two died and two fell critically wounded in the midnight rampage and the state has produced some 150 items of evidence it is methodically weaving into its circumstantial case of capital murder

Using police Detective Greg Miller as a catalyst, prosecutors offered evidence ranging from bullets and blood samples to a garbage bag and wig fibers. Davis, 44, whose vast business interests stretch around the world, is on trial for the gunshot death last year of his stepdaughter, Andrea Wilborn, 12.

He stands accused also of wounding his estranged wife. Priscilla, 36, killing her lover, Stan Farr, 30, and firing the bullet which remains lodged in the spine of 22-year-old Gus Gavrel Jr.

Gavrel's date. Beverly Bass. 19, fled the 181-acre estate on foot and later returned with police Officer Miller testified Monday he took morgue pictures of Farr and Miss Wilborn and the state propelled the graphic photos through defense objections into the hands of jurors.

Miller also identified two more bullets recovered at the mansion, including the one which Mrs. Davis testified struck Farr when the gunman fired through a hall door.

Six other bullets and the door itself were offered into evidence previous-

Chillingly visible on one photo was a bullet hole in Farr's neck, which prosecutors said tends to corroborate the jet-set blonde's testimony that Farr was gasping for air when he died on the mansion floor

State attorneys also got into evidence a plastic garbage sack that apparently was used by the blackclad gunman to conceal both his hands and the deadly .38 caliber

Plastic particles were recovered in or near the areas where the victims

Miller testified that investigators also found dark fibers on the garbage bag and a prosecutor identified them as synthetic hairs from a wig.

7-year-old girl killed

HOBBS, N.M. - A 7-year-old girl was killed here Sunday when she reportedly ran in front of a car.

Kristi Newman, daughter of Mr and Mrs. Donald Newman of Hobbs, was struck by a car driven by Mrs. Phyllis Fillmore, 30, of Hobbs, according to police reports.

The girl was hit about 7 p.m. Sunday. She died about 20 minutes later of head and chest injuries at Llano Estacado Medical Center, according to hospital personnel

No charges are pending in the accident, according to police.

Bottle battle gaining steam across nation

By RANDOLPH E. SCHMID

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ninety-nine bottles of beer in the ditch.

Ninety-nine bottles of beer.

But put money down and you'll turn it around. There'll only be 18 bottles of beer in the ditch.

Eighteen bottles of beer.

That, at least, is the hope of environmentalists hoping for a law to require deposits on all beverage containers in an effort to keep the cans and bottles in use and off the roadside.

Most of the nation's brewers, soft drink makers and can and bottle maufacturers are opposing the effort.

OREGON LED the way five years ago and serves as the test case in the struggle, but both sides can produce statistics which they say prove their point.

Since the Oregon law was passed most "bottle bills" calling for mandatory deposits have been defeated, except in Vermont, Michigan, South Dakota and a few local jurisdictions.

Among the measures being held up is a national bottle bill, promoted by Sen. Mark Hatfield, R-Ore. The measure was recently rejected 10-6 in committee, but Hatfield reportedly is considering submitting the proposal to the full Senate.

In the meantime all government agencies, responding to earlier legislation, are scheduled to report late this month on plans to limit beverage sales on federal property to returnable containers.

Getting a head start was the National Park Service, which instituted a returnable-only policy this summer at most of its facilities.

FINAL DETAILS of the project have not been compiled, but a spokewoman said that "aside from a few minor problems, it seemed to work well," and resulted in a reduction of litter.

The Defense Department got into the act early, and is in the miust of a year-long trial of returnables-only at 10 military bases.

A spokesman said there had been some initial problems in starting the test, but no major difficulties have been reported.

. Meanwhile, the battle between environmentalists and manufacturers continues with both sides claiming their play is the continues.

ing their plan is the energy saver.

Albert Barr of the Glass Manufacturers Institute, noting that refillable bottles are heavier and require more energy and materials to make, said they must be returned seven or eight times before they constitute an energy savings over the lighter, throwaway bottles.

Barr said no definite figures on returns are available nationwide, commenting that return rates years from eith to city. In New York for example available nationwide, commenting that return rates vary from city to city. In New York, for example, nearly everything is thrown away, while in Chicago the majority is returned.

He said that his most recent report from Oregon indicates that bottles are being returned an average of about 10 times each. That rate saves energy in comparison to throwaways, but he said that before Oregon's law was passed the return rate was 22 times per bottle.

BY CONTRAST, environmentalists are estimating between 14 and 18 returns per bottle in Oregon, and a between 14 and 18 returns per bottle in Oregon, and a state spokeswoman said the latest figures available there indicate between 18 to 20 returns per bottle. Both returnable and throwaway containers are available in most of the country, and sales figures show some contrasts in consumer preference.

For example, in New York City returnables make

For example, in New York City returnables make up less than one per cent of the sales, while in Chicago they account for 70 per cent.

While the lack of firm figures for returns on bottles, or trippage, has generated considerable debate, semantics themselves have led to much of the conflict.

The opponents of the bills refer in most of their literature to "refillable" containers.

But the Environmental Protection Agency, a promoter of a bottle bill refers instead to "returnable" moter of a bottle bill, refers instead to "returnable" containers.

THE DIFFERENCE is not noticeable to the consumer, but the refillable container is sent back to the bottler after it is returned to be cleaned and filled for another use. The non-refillable goes to a recycling center where it is ground up and its glass or steel or aluminum is put to another use.

Under the proposed bottle laws both refillable and non-refillable containers, would be allowed, but the non-refillable containers would be allowed, but the deposit would encourage consumers to return both, instead of throwing away the non-refillables.

The manufacturers have paid little attention to this

The manufacturers have paid little attention to this difference, while environmentalists emphasize it as a means of saving and reusing resources.

The brewers, however, have confronted this issue.

making their main emphasis resource recovery. They have been pushing for recycling of all trash, and suggest that using only returnable containers would remove much of the economic stimulus from recycling general trash.

Lebs too have been a hone of contention with dire

Jobs too have been a bone of contention with dire warnings of lost employment from manufacturers who fear the shutdown of can and bottle plants if large numbers of refillable containers come into use.

But both sides admit that in Oregon there was a net

But both sides admit that in Oregon there was a net gain in employment, with new jobs in recycling and collection outnumbering those lost in container manufacturing.

And then there is litter, the scenic blight that brought the controversy out in the first place.

ENVIRONMENTALISTS claim that beveragerelated litter in Oregon was reduced by 80 per cent after the state law was passed, while the manufacturers claim the reduction was 66 per cent.

The cost of the drinks in the containers is also a subject of dispute with opponents of restrictive legislation saying the laws would result in more costly beverages.

Last October the EPA released a survey of 28 cities in 24 states showing that beverages sold in returnable containers were generally cheaper than when throwaway bottles and cans were used.

Law school tests scheduled Oct. 8

ODESSA — The Law School Admissions Test (LSAT) will be administered Oct. 8 at The University of Texas of the Permian Basin.

Dr. James Olson, assistant professor of psychology at the school, said persons who have already registered for the test must report by 8:30 a.m. that day at the west wing of the south campus building. He said a limited number of walk-ins will be accomodated on a first-come, first-serve basis. They are encouraged to report as early as possible, beginning at 8 a.m.

Olson said plans are being made to administer the test on the university campus again Dec. 3.

Persons who are interested in taking the test then may call Olson at 367-2167 as soon as possible. A minimum of five persons registering for the test is necessary before it can be held here.

OU replaces Wolverines

By The Associated Press

Michigan Coach Bo Schembechler, who asked newsmen a week ago not to vote his team No. 1 in The Associated Press college football poll, got his wish today.

The Wolverines, who squeaked past Navy 14-7 after struggling to beat equally-unheralded Duke 21-9, dropped to third place in this week's poll behind Oklahoma and Southern California.

Oklahoma, the preseason leader, surrendered the top spot to Michigan for the first two weeks of the season but climbed from third place back to No. 1 by nipping Ohio State, last week's No. 4 team, 29-28.

The Sooners received 23 first place votes and 1,164 of a possible 1,260 points from a nationwide panel of 63 sports writers and broadcasters.

Southern Cal. a 51-0 winner over Texas Christian, actually got one more first-place ballot than Oklahoma but the Trojans only totaled 1,116 points while remaining

Then came Michigan with eight first-place votes and 981 points, compared to last week's 42 and 1.094.

Penn State continued to climb, rising from fifth to fourth with seven first-place votes and 860 points for a 27-9 whipping of Maryland. The Nittany Lions were followed by Texas

A&M, up from sixth to fifth with no first-place votes but 798 points thanks to a 33-17 victory over Texas Tech. The loss dropped the Red Raiders from eighth to 13th.

Next came Ohio State with 601 points, followed by Colorado with 581. The Buffs, seventh last week, trounced New Mexico 42-7.

The remaining first-place ballot went to Texas, which had the weekend off. The Longhorns, who have outscored their two opponents 112-0, received 430 points in climbing from ninth to eighth.

Florida, 13th a week ago, defeated Mississippi State and cracked the Top Ten, vaulting to ninth place with 395 points. Rounding out the Top Ten is Alabama with 320 points. The Crimson Tide, also 10th a week ago, defeated Vanderbilt 24-12.

Gregg's decision sticks

Browns Coach Forrest Gregg watched intently during overtime as nis team moved steadily toward the New England goal line

Suddenly, defensive backfield coach Billy Kinard broke into his thoughts with a surprising suggestion. 'Why not get it?" Kinard said, referring to a field goal attempt.

Gregg gave it some thought, quarterback Brian Sipe tried to talk him out of it and-after the coach rejected Sipe's plea-Don Cockroft calmly booted a 35-yard field goal to give the Browns a 30-27 National Football League victory over the Patriots.

The Browns won the toss and received the kickoff in the fifth period. Sipe felt he had good reason to try to veto his coach, since he had directed the Browns from their own 29-yard line to New England's 17. It was second-and-nine when Cockroft connected on his third field goal of the see-saw game 4:45 into the extra period.

A crowd of 76,416 at Cleveland Stadium and a national television audience watched as Cockroft's kick stayed barely inside the right upright. giving Cleveland, 2-0, its second straight upset victory.

"I felt we have a field goal kicker who can get it through the uprights." Gregg explained.

Cockroft, whose second 37-yard field goal of the night had given the Browns a short-lived 27-24 lead with 55 seconds remaining in the fourth quarter, agreed enthusiastically with Gregg's decision

"I was ready at 50 yards," he said. "I hit some 55-yarders in practice." New England Coach Chuck Fairbanks said, "I was not necessarily surprised by the field goal at that point. He was close enough to make it

Schembechler rates Aggies as best team

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) - Bo Schembechler insists it isn't part of his hype for Saturday's game, but the Michigan football coach says he'd rank Texas A&M No. 1 in the country and that the Aggies will be favored over the Wolverines.

Schembechler knows Michigan, ranked first the last two weeks, won't be on top Tuesday when the latest Associated Press poll of sports writers and broadcasters is released.

"We'll be down somewhere around the second five," he told reporters at his weekly news luncheon.

He said he thought Southern California, Texas A&M. Penn State, Oklahoma and Texas might be rated ahead of his Wolverines - who are coming off a modest 14-7 triamph over Navy, which lost 70-14 to Michigan a

"Texas A&M may be the best team in the country," Schembechler said. "I'm not turning down No. 1. I'm just saying what's gonna happen...I suspect if I was voting right now I'd vote A&M (first)

Asked if that was strictly strategy, since the Aggies play Saturday at Michigan, Schembechler said,

Before the season started I said after the Texas Tech game they'd be first, second or third.'

While Michigan was struggling to beat Navy, sixth-ranked A&M was defeating No. 7 Texas Tech 33-17 as barefoot kicker Tony Franklin booted field goals of 48, 25, 51 and 37 yards.

Sooners depend on Thomas Lott

Coach Barry Switzer conceded Monday that his offensive team is heavily dependent on junior quarterback Thomas Lott.

The top-ranked Sooners, with Lott at the helm of their wishbone offense. rolled over Ohio State in the first quarter last Saturday, but faltered when he left the game with an injury in the second quarter. Oklahoma had to come from behind for a 29-28 vic-

The first quarter, offensively, we played as well as we have all year.' Switzer said. "After that we lost all consistency, rhythm and confidence.

"If Lott hadn't got hurt we might have won by two or three touchdowns. When Lott turns up field he'll get three, four yards after getting hit. That's the difference.

When the 205-pound Lott went out with a sprained knee, he was replaced by freshman Jay Jimerson, a 170pounder.

"Jay made some mistakes but there was tremendous pressure on him. A player shouldn't be thrown into such situations, but under the freshman rule he is," Switzer said.

"There was times when Jimerson would make the same play as Lott would have, but get turned completely around. He's just hasn't got the strength that Lott does.

In the fourth quarter, with Oklahoma down 28-20, Switzer went to senior Dean Blevins, who guided the Sooners to one touchdown and then marched them downfield to set up

"Tabor (tackle) made an exceptional play that stopped what probably would have been a scoring drive when he chased Ray Griffin down from behind.

Switzer, noting the Sooners have given up 23, 24 and 28 points in games this season, said: "Our defense is a better team than what has been scored against them.

DALLAS (AP) - If it wasn't for Ohio State football, Ron Meyer wouldn't be coaching a team against the Buckeyes Saturday night.

"I used to watch Ohio State play when I was a kid with all their great backs and it kind of spurred me on/ said Meyer, who was born in Columbus but couldn't get a football scholarship.

Meyer later went to Purdue and became a starter as a walk-on.

"I remember selling programs in Ohio Stadium so I could see the Buckeyes play football," said Meyer. "I became a Boy Scout because that was the only way I could gain admission to the sell outs.

Meyer later became an Eagle Scout.

"I went as far as I could in order to see them play," said Meyer. "If there had been something higher than Eagle. I probably would have been that too.

Meyer sends a young Southern Methodist team against Ohio State Saturday night in the Cotton Bowl.

"I saw Woody Hayes coach his first game for Ohio State," said Meyer, who was later an assistant at Purdue under Jack Mollenkopf from 1965-

Ohio State Dallas rookies contribute

By BOB DILLON R-T Sports Writer

IRVING - When the 1977 NFL season opened play two weeks ago. there were nine rookies on the Dallas Cowboys' roster.

Of course, leading the year's group is last year's Heisman Trophy winner, Tony Dorsett.

Others who made the cut to join Dorsett on the roster were Glenn Carano, Tony Hill, Guy Brown, Andy Frederick, Jim Cooper, David Stalls, Larry Brinson and Bruce Huther.

Dorsett has already proven himself and will be waiting to do some more proving this Sunday against Tampa Bay in Texas Stadium

Carano won the third-string quarterback job behind Roger Staubach and Danny White after a long, competitive struggle with another sterling yearling. Steve DeBerg, the last rookie to be cut by the Cowboys.

WHILE DORSETT is working with Preston Pearson and Doug Dennison at the tailback slot. Brinson is behind Robert Newhouse and Scott Laidlaw at the fullback slot.

Hill is currently backing up flanker Drew Pearson while Brown, a 6-4 215pounder from the University of Houston, is second team at weakside linebacker, behind D. D. Lewis.

Frederick is backing up both left tackle Ralph Neely and right tackle Pat Donovan. Frederick is a 241pounder from the University of New Mexico.

Cooper will ready himself this year to assist at a tackle slot while also backing up Burton Lawless at a guard

Stalls, a 236-pounder from Northern Colorado, is working at both defensive tackles and could move to a defensive end slot, if necessary. Huther, a rookie from New Hampshire, is middle linebacker Bob Breunig's replacement.

IN 1975, twelve Cowboy rookies, known as the 'Dirty Dozen' made themselves known in the NFL.

Last year, ten rookies made the team and the Cowboys won the NFC Eastern Division crown and now with nine first year players. Dallas is again picked to be a Super Bowl con-

When the 'Dirty Dozen' came on the scene two years ago, only Lawless was a starter that year. He is nowjoined in the lineup by fellow thirdyear men in Herbert Scott at guard, Donovan at tackle (replacing the injured All-Pro tackle, Rayfield Wright), Breunig at middle linebacker, Thomas Henderson at strongside linebacker and Randy White at defensive tackle.

In addition, Laidlaw and safety Randy Hughes still are filling key backup roles as they also remain from the Class of '75.

Second-year starters from the Class of '76 include cornerback Aaron Kyle, messenger wide receiver Butch Johnson and guard Tom Rafferty along with backups Jay Saldi at a tight end slot and Mike Hegman at punter and back-up quarterback. White is considered a Class of '76 member although he spent his professional first two years in football in the World Football League.

Dorsett, four-time college All-America and the NCAA's all-time rushing leader with 6,082 yards, plus 58 career touchdowns, came to Dallas via the trade of three second-round draft choices and a position swap in the first round with the Seattle

Seahawks. All nine rookies must learn the complexities of the Dallas offense and defense while they wait in the wings for more playing time and this includes Dorsett. "I've still got a long way to go, but feel I can help the Cowboys win some games this season," said Dorsett.

Stalls, while admiring his new uniform number 65 two weeks ago during the annual picture day the week of the regular season opener against the Minnesota Vikings, may have spoken for all of the rookies when he said, "I would have worn triple zero to make this team."

The cost of being a New England sports fan with a craving for major league action is climbing rapidly. It amounts to nearly $5,000 for yearround spectators.

The family man who takes his wife and two kids to a few events each season better budget at Bruins and Celtics sections are up $1. The Patriots hiked their sideline seat tickets by $2 last year and the Red Sox drew the fans' wrath when they eliminated $1.50 bleacher seats this year and went to $2.00.

For the true sports nut. of course, money isn't a problem. At least it better

Let's say he doesn't want to miss a single home game of the Red Sox, Patriots, Celtics or Bruins. Here's the budget:

-Red Sox: He'll want $5.50 box seats for 81 home games. Of course this fellow will want some company, so make it about $900 for a pair of season boxes.

Walking to the game or taking public transit, is out, so add about $240 for parking. A few beers and Fenway Franks, if not a taco and some popcorn, will be about double the parking tab for the season. Total estimated cost: $1,600.

-Patriots: Our fan will want the best seats for himself and his friend at $12 per ticket, or $24 per game for seven home games. That's $168 per

Parking will be $21, and to save himself from sitting in the cold with the others, joining the exclusive Stadium Club is the only thing to do. For $250 per year he can watch the game from the club room overlooking the north end zone. Lunch is $8.75 per person and members can bring three guests for each game.

The fan wants to show off his membershipafter all, there's a waiting list-so he'll use guest privileges to the fullest, spending $35 per game, or $245 per season.

There's also a one-time $1,000 Stadium Club initiation fee and a $2,500 bond required.

Total estimated cost: $700, not including the fee or bond

-Celtics: Thirty-five home games for two, a $10 per ticket, is $700. Add about $100 for Boston Garden parking and figure on $3 per person per game for food and drink. Total estimated cost: $980.

-Bruins: Forty home games, $11 a ducat. Using the same parking and concession estimates. total season tab: $1,200.

Silverdome Yanks draw victory plan lures cagers

DETROIT (AP) - The Detroit Pistons, finally reacting to one of the worst-kept secrets in pro sports, will move their National Basketball Association games to the Silverdome in suburban Pontiac.

For weeks, various newspaper and broadcast accounts detailed how the shift would be made in the 1978-79 season.

The Pistons, who issued a long string of "no comments" on the reports, made the official announcement at a news conference Monday

Though they reached the NBA playoffs, the Pistons averaged about 7,000 fans per game at Cobo Hall in downtown Detroit last year. They hope the Pontiac location, with its nearby affluent suburbs and superhighway network, will mean bigger attendance.

Asked about moving out of the city, the team's legal counsel, Oscar Feldman, said, "We gave it (Detroit) a fair chance. I keep repeating it to the point of nauses. Here we are in the sixth largest city in the country, we've got a representative, exciting basketball team—and last season we're 20th of the 24 teams in terms of attendance.

The city is building a new downtown riverfront arena which pro hockey's Red Wings have agreed to use. The city had hoped to keep the Pistons downtown in the new building.

The Detroit Lions of the National Football League and the Pistons will be based in the same domed stadium. which seats 86,000 for football.

The Pistons said they will have the basketball court in the end zone area. As an NBA site, a goodly portion of the stadium will be curtained off at the 50-yard line, with 22,000 seats set aside for basketball. This will include Mike Estep beat Alex Metrevell 64 6,000 prime bleacher seats with for the only U.S. victory in the competition at Leningrad facilities to add another 10,000 seats quickly if needed to meet fans' demand

The New York Yankees have it all figured out. If they win their remaining six games, it doesn't matter what the second place Boston Red Sox do.

'We want to do it ourselves," second baseman Willie Randolph said after the Yankees defeated the Cleveland Indians 4-2 Monday night. 'We don't want any help from

The Yankees have a 31/2 game edge over the Red Sox, who have seven games left to play after having Monday's contest against Toronto rained out. New York's "magic number" is four-any combination of Yankee victories and Boston losses totaling four-to capture its second straight American League East title. "I can't worry about the Red Sox," said Yankee Manager Billy Martin. "I don't care if they win a doubleheader tomorrow as long as we

In the other AL game played Monday, Oakland crushed Kansas City 7-1. In the National League, Chicago downed Philadelphia 10-7, Atlanta beat Houston 12-10, Montreal defeated St. Louis 9-5 and San Francisco clobbered Los Angeles 9-1.

"Thank God for Sparky," said Yankee starter Mike Torrez, 17-13, after Lyle came on in the seventh to record his 26th save of the season and the 201st of his career.

New York scored two runs in the first inning when, with the bases loaded, Dave Kingman was hit by a pitch and Cliff Johnson was walked by loser Don Hood, 2-1. The Yankees got run-scoring singles from Thurman Munson in the fourth inning and Paul Blair in the seventh.

Cubs 10, Phillies 7

Home runs by Bobby Murcer, Greg Gross and Larry Biittner paced Chicago's 20-hit attack as the Cubs defeated Philadelphia, keeping the Phillies from clinching the NL East

Philadelphia's "magic number" remains at one.

Braves 12. Astros 10

Seventh-inning home runs by Jeff Burroughs and Gary Matthews snapped a tie and boosted Atlanta over Houston. Matthews also had a two-run homer in the second inning and Brian Asselstine added a solo shot. Jose Cruz and Bob Watson homered for the Astros. Expos 9, Cardinals 5

Montreal erupted for four runs in the ninth to defeat/St. Louis. Gary Carter slammed a three-run homer in the seventh and added a two-run single in the ninth to spark the Expos. Gary Templeton had a two-run, inside-the-park homer for St. Louis.

Giants 9, Dodgers 1

Willie McCovey and Gary Thomasson slammed two-run homers and Ed Halicki, 15-12, backed his sixhit pitching with a solo shot as San Francisco crushed Los Angeles. The homer was McCovey's 27th of the season and 492nd of his career, one short of Lou Gehrig, who holds 12th place on the all-time list.

A's 7, Royals 2

Joe Coleman scattered five hits and Jeff Newman and Mike Jorgensen both homered as Oakland snapped Kansas City's eight-game winning streak and handed the AL West champion only its second loss in 26

Jerry Tarkanian tries to save job

LAS VEGAS (AP) - Nevada-Las Vegas basketball Coach Jerry Tarkanian's teams are known for their high-powered offense, but the coach himself is putting on some legal moves as he tries to save his job.

As part of a two-year probation slapped on the UNLV basketball program by the National Collegiate Athletic Association, it was recommended that "Tark the Shark" be severed from the university's athletic program-in other words, suspended. Seeing no other alternatives and stiffer sanctions if he did not comply. UNLV President Dr. Donald Baepler suspended Tarkanian earlier this The probation stems from NCAA violations dating back to the early 1970s, well before Tarkanian moved here from Long Beach State.

The university has admitted some of the violations, but an investigation by the Nevada Attorney General's office came to the conclusion the allegations against Tarkanian are not backed up-by-any evidence.

After his initial suspension Tarkanian obtained a temporary order prohibiting the university from enforcing the suspension. He went in court Monday to get a permanent injunction.

The basics of Tarkanian's arguments are that his right to due process was violated by NCAA investigators. In short, Tarkanian claims he was convicted without being offered a means of defending himself.

One investigator in particular, David Berst, was griddled in absentia Monday by Tarkanian's attorney, Sam Lionel.

Lionel accused Berst of making false statements about Tarkanian before the NCAA Committee on Infractions. He also questioned Berst's methods and motivation in the case. accusing Berst of using threats to coerce statements against Tarkanian.

The alleged improprieties came to light from a study known as the "Pink File," which was compiled by attorneys investigating the NCAA

The "Pink File" appears to be Tarkanian's legal answer to a gamewinning 30-foot jump shot at the buzzer, because it turns the charges around

Using the conclusions drawn by the attorney general's office, Tarkanian now is leveling his own allegations at the NCAA.

Some thoughts from Woody Hayes after a weekend in Hayesville, also known as Columbus, Ohio;

Vanderbilt's Fred Pancoast criticized Alabama's Bear Bryant for trying a two-point conversion after

"He just wanted to get two more points on the scoreboard," Pancoast said. "I don't appreciate that kind of football."

"I've read the book on when you can go for two and it's automatic in that situation when you lead by 12 or 19. I always do it. You don't change things like that or you get into bad habits."

NEW YORK (AP) - The stock market gave up on a weak rally attempt and headed lower again today amid continuing interestrate worries.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was off 5.20 at 836.45.

Losers ran about even with gainers among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues, after trailing by as much as 2 to 1 earlier. The Dow rose more than 2 points with a late upswing Monday, and added another point at the outset today. But the upswing quickly faltered amid persistent uneasiness over rising interest rates. Money-market observers said Federal Reserve actions Monday suggested that the central bank was seeking to tighten credit further in its effort to reduce the growth rate of the money supply.

General Electric dropped % to 511/2. The company disclosed management changes in its troubled nuclear-reactor operations.

The NYSE's composite index of more than 1,500 common stocks was off .11 at 52.09. At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index rose .24 to 117.37.

Volume on the Big Board came to 8.60 million shares by noontime, against 6.78 million at the same point on Monday.

General Motors, the most active NYSE issue, was down 1/4 at 695%

Carter okays low-cost flights

The Washington Post

WASHINGTON - President Carter overruled the Civil Aeronautics Board Monday and approved lowcost transatlantic air fares that will be available at least until March 31.

The President approved a $256 roundtrip budget fare between New York and London, and advanced purchase excursion ("super-APEX") fares ranging from $290 to $440 for roundtrip service between London and eight U.S. cities, including Washington. The new super-APEX roundtrip fare between

Washington and London will be $323. Carter's action came the same day that the British-based Laker Airways began its so-called 'skytrain' service between London and New York. The no frills, no reservations Laker service costs $236 roundtrip. The competitive threat that the Laker fare posed prompted U.S. airlines to seek the lower fares that the CAB rejected and which the President approved Monday.

The super-APEX plan requires that tickets be purchased 45 days in advance and that travelers return to their homes 14 to 45 days after leaving. The new 'super-APEX" fare will be $290 roundtrip between New York and London, and slightly more between London and the other U.S. cities where it is available. The old super-APEX fare between New York and London was $350 roundtrip.

Under the budget plan, a traveler must buy his ticket three weeks in advance and can specify only the week in which he wants to travel. Ten days before departure, the airline must inform the traveler of the exact date and flight number for his journey:

The CAB recently approved a $280 budget fare. However, expressing fear that lower fares for scheduled airlines would damage the charter airline business, the agency rejected the $256 budget fare sought by the airlines as well as the $290 super-APEX

The President's action Monday does not affect a CAB-approved $256 roundtrip standby fare between New York and London. Under the standby fare, which will now cost the same as the budget fare, travelers have no reservations and must wait at the airport for seats to become available on flights.

In a letter to the CAB Monday, Carter said, "I have decided to reject the board's order as inconsistent with this administration's foreign economic policy. I must emphasize that my international aviation policy carries with it a commitment to low fare, competitive international air service for the benefit of American consumers. According to White House officials, the President also urged the CAB to remove federal regulations that impede low-cost charter service. The Departments of State and Transportation will soon begin discussions with European government aviation authorities on removing such restrictions on charters and other low-fare transatlantic air service.

Council discusses committee since housing funds gone

By JIM STEINBERG

At a work session this morning, Midland City Council members discussed the possibility of forming a volunteer citizens' committee to explore ways of carrying on a $220,000 housing rehabilitation program without federal funding.

The suggestion came from Midland accountant Gary Therman who, during a brief speech to the city council, stressed the importance of citizen commitment to solve problems which are not really a governmental concern.

There was some discussion to having this committee solicit funds for the rehabilitation project and turn the funds over to existing framework of the Midland Housing Authority, which had administered the project under Community Development Block Grant funding. However, it was not known if this would be legal under the framework of the Texas Constitution, which prohibits cities from engaging directly in housing activities.

The purpose of this morning's meeting was to discuss ways projects that were to have been funded by a $946,000 Community Development Grant application could be carried on locally.

The grant was turned down by the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) last week. It came out during the session that $107,000 thought to have been allocated for penetration pavement projects out of revenue sharing funds for fiscal years

Money for this project will have to juggled out of existing revenue sharing allocations - an action expected to take place during this afternoon's city council meeting. Changes regarding federal procedures for adopting revenue sharing funds were a partial reason for the oversight, Mayor Ernest Angelo Jr. said. "We sort of dropped the ball on this one." Angelo said.

1977 and 1978 had not been allocated.

Council members again stressed their commitment to a senior citizen's center a project that lost $140,000 when the grant was turned down. No formal decision was reached or was expected to be reached during the regular council meeting today. Director of Planning and Community Development Richard Hennessy explained the functions of his department, a move that apparently-from comments made during the session- saved his department from personnel cuts contemplated by various council members.

A part-time draftsman, a clerk typist and a planning assistant were to be funded by the Community Development Grant.

Mayor Angelo said that a means of paying these salaries through the general fund should be explored.

Man transferred to Midland jail

A man allegedly involved in the October 1974 aggravated kidnapping of Mrs. Robert L. Pendleton was taken in custody Monday and placed in county jail, according to Lt. Earl Luckey.

James T. Young, 20, surrendered to Big Spring officials, Luckey said, and was transferred to Midland Monday. Young was released on $5,000 bond Monday night, set by District Judge Vann Culp.

Young was indicted in the case in 1976. He has been stationed with the Air Force in Italy and recently returned to the United States for his mother's funeral, Luckey said.

The kidnapping charge revolved around a call to Robert L. Pendleton, president of Commercial Bank and Trust Co. in October, 1974. The callers demanded $400,000 for Pendleton's wife. When Pendleton arrived home an hour later with the money, he found his wife tied in a bedroom closet.

Growth mixed blessing

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) -For half this century, 50 years spanning from 1920 to 1970, the state of Oklahoma lost population. Today, the state is booming but Gov. David Boren says the 'blessings may be problems in disguise. "I traveled to 84 cities in towns in our state, and in every place, without exception, I heard the same story - they''re all growing," said Boren.

'And in every place the mayor asked me, 'Where can I get a water supply to take care of my growing town? How can I pay for more police? More sewers? Another classroom building The question is, how do you deal with growth?"

Growth costs money. and Boren says he fears the Sunbelt states may be penalized for their economic health because of "the myth that we are being aided by some magic infusion of federal funds.

Houston Mayor Fred Hofheinz says he would gladly give up his city's share of general revenue sharing money in exchange for federal aid on big ticket, capital spending items such as those listed by Boren.

"It is just as important to meet the needs of an American in Texas as an American in Indiana." said Hofheinz. He noted that Houston is growing so fast that it has not been able to bring water and sewer services to some outlying parts of the city. Director Clarence M. Kelley

Subpoenas flourish over possible bugging, affect on treaty talks

treaty negotiations.

The Los Angeles Times WASHINGTON - A Senate subcommittee issued secret subpoenas Monday for the directors of the CIA, the FBI, the secretary of the Army and five others in connection with charges of electronic bugging and blackmail during the Panama Canal

Also among those subpoenaed was

former U.S. Army Sgt. Hor Rodriguez

Brustmeyer of Brooklyn, N.Y., who was honorably discharged from the military last month and now is reported to be visiting in Panama. Congressional sources reported earlier this month that a U.S. Army sergeant sold or gave Panamanian Torrijos' conversations that had been intercepted electronically by U.S. intelligence agents. The sources said Torrijos used the knowledge of the bugging to put pressure on U.S. treaty negotiators.

leader Omar Torrijos transcripts of

'He held this over our head and blackmailed us," one source said. Both the State Department and the Panamanian government denied any blackmail had been involved in the canal negotiations, which were concluded earlier this month with the signing of two treaties by Torrijos and

President Carter in an elaborate Washington ceremony. After a weekend inquiry, the Senate Intelligence Committee said a week ago that it had "no evidence" that U.S. electronic bugging in Panama had affected the outcome of the treaties. Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance took a similar position Monday in testifying in behalf of the treaties before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. He said the pacts were "not affected in any way" by U.S. intelligence activities and that he wanted to "lay to rest" reports that the United States monitored Panamanian negotiators. Dissatisfied with this conclusion, the Senate Judiciary Subcommittee on Separation of Powers began its own inquiry, which resulted Monday in the issuance of the eight secret subpoenas. Copies of the subpoenas were obtained by the Los Angeles Times. In addition to former Sgt.

Brustmeyer, those named were CIA

Director Stansfield Turner, FBI Houston policeman says Torres jumped on own

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (AP) - A former Houston policeman charged with the drowning death of a Mexican-American laborer last May returns to the witness stand today after telling a state court Monday that he thought the man jumped into Buffalo Bayou in an escape attempt.

Stephen Orlando, said he "felt real bad" about the death of Joe Campos Torres in testimony Monday. Denson said he thought Torres leaped from a 16-foot wall into the bayou because. "He probably thought it was a good time to make his escape or prove to policemen around there

Terry Denson, charged along with another former Houston officer, that he could escape." Asked by prosecutor Ted Poe if he thought a man wearing combat boots, fully dressed, and drunk could survive a leap from that height and swim away. Denson said be though he could if the man had received (U.S. Army) Ranger training.

Denson has been singled out in testimony as the man who pushed Campos Torres into the bayou.

Witnesses, including some of the dismissed officers, have testified that other officers he was a former Ranger and "knew karate."

He described how he and other officers arrested Torres and then took him to the bayou "to talk to him, reason with him.

Campos Torres was arrested during a bar disturbance, beaten and kicked by police, and then taken to a police station. At the station, a sergeant refused to admit him and ordered him taken to a hospital for treatment. Witnesses testified that Campos Torres was taken instead back to the
