Killer 84 Construction Fades Into The Dim Distant Future

It seems Muleshoe and Bailey County are at the very bottom of the totem pole so far as completion of the proposed, modern, four-lane, Highway 84 is concerned.

The Muleshoe Journal learned this week that the state highway department does not even expect to let contracts for the work in Bailey County for at least two and one-half years.

According to George Crane, state highway supervisor for this entire area, whose offices are in Lubbock, the department today doesn't even have the money to construct that section of the highway running through Bailey County.

He stated that although the money was available two years ago when the state first approached the county commissioners with the proposal, it has been spent in other areas where things moved along a bit faster.

The state spent the money in other areas because it felt that the appropriated monies should be put to work improving the state's highway immediately rather than remain static in the bank.

"It will probably be two years from this coming Spring before money is appropriated by the state to construct that part of the highway in Bailey County," Crane stated.

To the West of Bailey County half of the new highway lacks only seal-coating to be completed. Work is well along on the second half and is expected to be completed early this fall.

At the Bailey County line the smooth, wide, high-speed highway halts and suddenly becomes a rutted, pot-holed, narrow, driver's nightmare. It is nicknamed "Killer 84".

To the East of Bailey County the highway is already four-laned from just outside the Littlefield city limits to a point just beyond Shallowater.

This week it was announced by the state highway department that that part of the highway running from just west of Littlefield to within 1.7 miles of the Bailey County line will come under construction this fall.

Lamb County Commissioners purchased the necessary rights-of-way more than two years ago when the state first made its proposal to them. At that time the Bailey County Commissioners turned the proposal down. Later they approved the project and are today in the process of purchasing rights-of-way here.

Thus far four have been purchased in about four or five months.

Chamber Commerce Schedules Festival

Muleshoe's Annual 4th of July celebration almost floundered this week when it was learned that no lighting would be available at the football stadium where the event was to be held.

Lighting and poles at the field had been removed early this week as part of the school system's Summer remodeling and improvement plans, which include an entire new lighting system for the football field.

However, the event was rescued through the prompt action and generosity of Neil Dillman, superintendent of schools and

Needmore Man Jailed On Homocide Charge

Sixto DeLeon, 34, Needmore is today in Bailey County jail charged with murder with malice in the early Sunday shooting of Juan Robles as the result of a family argument.

According to sheriffs reports the shooting took place in the DeLeon home next to the Bean Grocery in Needmore at about 1 a.m. Sunday.

The shooting followed an interfamily argument as to whether or not the group would drive to Littlefield. According to the police report that group had been drinking at the time of the shooting.

DeLeon, in his confession and according to witnesses, left the house, went to his car, where he kept a loaded .22 caliber gun, returned and fired once.

The bullet struck Robles in the temple. He died in a local hospital about two hours later.

Southwestern Public Service, which are discussing ways and means of providing temporary lighting for the event.

Last minute details for the execution of the locally looked forward to event are today nearing completion, according to the chamber of commerce which sponsors it here.

Feature of the area wide celebration of the nation's birthday will be a specially designed "American West" fireworks display. Costing over $700, the colorful conglomeration of pyrotechnics will highlight the areas skys for about 45 minutes.

Second feature of the gigantic ceremonial will be the Muleshoe All-Area Talent Show featuring amateur performers from Muleshoe and neighboring towns.

Rules this year have been changed. This year there are two categories: under 18 - years of age and over 18-years of age. In addition, entries will be allowed only by persons living within a 50 miles radius of Muleshoe, according to Frank Ellis, chairman of the affair.

Prizes amounting to a total of $420 will be awarded by judges from throughout the 50-mile radius area. First prize in each category will be $100, second, $60; third, $35 and fourth $15, according to Roger Albertson, talent chairman.

ROAD END — U.S. 84 ends rather suddenly east of Muleshoe. The lake, measuring about a half mile by three or four hundred feet is the result of last week's six inch down pour. The road remains officially closed today and is expected to stay closed for another week or so. However, some enterprising local youths have graded out a road around the lake which is unofficially open at 50 cents per car. Why didn't I think of that? Better yet, why didn't the state or county?

FHA Meeting Scheduled

Personnel of the Bailey County Farmers Home Administration will be in Lubbock June 22 and 23 attending a tri-area meeting.

Purpose of the meeting will be to discuss policies under which the agency will operate during the fiscal year beginning July 1.

Attending from Muleshoe will be: Arch T. Fowler, area supervisor, John C. Kennedy, county supervisor, and Dorothy M. Scott, county office clerk.

The Muleshoe office will be closed both Monday and Tuesday.

County Commissioners Plan Action On Past Due Taxes?

Bailey County Commissioners Court had scheduled a special meeting Monday to debate and attempt to outline possible methods to collect back taxes due the county on approximately 16,000 acres from as far back as the 1920's.

The meeting, however, was not held because Commissioners Eubanks and McCall failed to show up for what might possibly have been an important session.

The commissioners were forced to action on the matter when the Journal researched the county books last January and printed the details of the county's failure to attempt to collect his past due axes.

After public pressure the court passed a motion some weeks later, which stated that the county attorney was instructed to take all necessary action to collect the back taxes. The motion stated that if it was necessary that action was to be taken.

However, no action by the county attorney or the court was to be taken before tax billings were mailed during the first part of July. That time is growing near.

The question today "Is the county commission serious, or are they throwing up a smoke screen to avoid public pressure on the issue?" It is a valid question when compared with county actions in the instance of the past due bills for county

The county, in the same motion it passed on past due taxes, stated that all named of persons owing money to the county for such farm contract labor work would be turned over to the county attorney on March 1st. The county attorney was to take steps to collect all past due accounts. His first step was to be to send letters requesting payment to all past due accounts.

According to the commissioner's he was then to institute suit proceedings against those who did not pay within 30 days.

Last week it was learned that the county attorney had been instructed by the commissioners not to send collection letters to about 34 persons which the commissioners wished to handle personally for various and so far known reasons.

A look at the calendar shows that although the first of the letters were mailed about the end of March no suits have been instituted, and it has been three months — sixty days, past the deadline which the court had stated it had established as the last chance for payment of the (See TAXES, Page 4)

Republicans Attend Fete For Goldwater

Gil Lamb, Les Bruns, elected Bailey County delegates to the state Republican convention held in Dallas this week, attended the $100-a-plate dinner held there for Senator Barry Goldwater, ultra-conservative Republican presidential candidate. Bailey County's Republican party is solidly behind the senator despite widespread Republican party disenchantment with the candidates chances in the November election.

On the other side of the political fence, the Democrats elected Judge Glen Williams and Jess Osborn as their delegates to the state convention being held in Houston to elect delegates to represent the state in the forthcoming National Democratic Convention.

Judge Williams was unable to attend and the county was represented by Osborn and Pat Babin.

City Council Considering New Park Here

In recent action the City of Muleshoe has completed a detail survey of the lake area southwest of Avenue D in the Richland Hills section of the city to determine the feasibility of using the land for a new city park.

Parkland Place Corporation of Lubbock is the present owner of the tract involved, according to city officials. Ralph Douglass, city consulting engineer, was in charge of the survey.

In other city business, the council recently reported that paving assessments for that part of 7th street between Avenues J and H had been completed with the exception of two properties.

Local Artists Attend Workshop And Display Paintings In Show

Climaxing the Eleventh Annual Adult Painting Workshop in Lubbock, an exhibit of the 50 students enrolled opened Sunday at Municipal Gardens Art Center, 4215 College Ave. and will remain there for viewing until June 28.

Four artists from Muleshoe attended the two weeks workshop instructed by Paul Hanna of the Texas Tech faculty. They were Mrs. Jack Lenderson, Vera De Potter, Mrs. Bernard Phelps and Mrs. Charles Lenau.

Students Praised
"The workshop students have been most enthusiastic and responsive," Hanna said. "They have worked hard, and have enjoyed painting during the two weeks of the workshop. Many of them loosened up, let their fear of color, and in general gained self-confidence. I feel that as a whole they have been encouraged and inspired to continue their art study as a hobby or a possible profession."

The paintings on exhibition reflect various techniques emphasized in the class meetings of the five sections of the workshop.

Views of Mackenzie Park are based on sketches made during an outing last week. Portraits are shown of Mrs. Hanna, who posed for several classes.

Other paintings are still life arrangements in conventional or nature, figure studies, collages in tissue paper or fabric coated with gesso.

Work in experimental methods which consists of irregular patches of color combined to form subject matter, "negative painting in which a basic color is applied to the entire background and wiped with a rag into an abstract design or realistic subject."

The workshop membership of 50 students has been made up of persons from the ages of 15 to the sixties. Included were high school and college students, professional people and retired individuals. Fifteen were from cities other than Lubbock.

Mrs. Leon R. Upshaw, 3201 44th St., had the distinction of being the only student who had attended all of the 11 summer workshops sponsored by Lubbock Art Association.

Miss Vera De Potter of Verelbeke, Belgium, is the only foreign student in the group. The houseguest of Mrs. Jack Lenderson of Muleshoe, she accompanied Mrs. Lenderson home from abroad last summer.

Miss De Potter was a member of the recent graduating class at Muleshoe High School.

—thanks to America's Rural Electrics

Rural power is a wellspring of America's food abundance.

Thanks to his consumer-owned rural electric system, America's farmer does his work faster and more efficiently.

Electricity helps him feed and water more cattle and hogs, hatch and care for more chickens, milk more cows. It lights his barns, cools milk and cream, and keeps food fresh and safe. The end result is fresher, healthier food on your table. And it takes less of your family budget than ever before.

Consumer-owned rural electric systems—in most cases cooperatives—help guarantee that America's farmers will be able to meet all of this nation's growing demands for food. These rural electrics were built with the help of Rural Electrification Administration loans—and they are owned and directed by the people they serve.

As farmers use more and more electricity to produce more and better food, REA loans continue to help the rural electrics keep pace with the growing demand—and everybody benefits.

show will be held at the high school football field. It is expected the festivities will begin about 5 p.m. and continue to about 10 p.m.

The Chamber of Commerce, whose members sponsor the $14,000 show each year as a gesture of appreciation to the people of the Muleshoe area, have invited all to bring picnic lunches to the field to enjoy during the shows.

Last year about 6,000 attended the fête. A like number is expected this year, according to Mrs. T. R. White, talent show director.

Some problems arose last year with the sound distribution system. Persons sitting in what are termed "sound dead areas" were unable to hear clearly. It is believed the problem will be licked this year through the use of more and more powerful speakers spaced around the field, stated Bill McDonald, chairman of the sound committee.

Lighting of the area will be under the direction of Owen Jones, stage manager.

Early arrivals will be entertained by a musical group, which will probably be an area combo.

The formal program will open with a presentation of the colors by members of the Texas Tech ROTC. The Old Mule Skinner, Gil Lamb will act as master of ceremonies.

A special surprise feature is being planned to entertain those attending, according to Roy Davis, local Chamber manager.

All entries for the talent show must be in by July 2. Entries should be made at Cobbs Department Store, according to Roger Albertson.

The idea of the huge 4th of July celebration here was conceived originally by Harmon Elliott, who served as chairman of the celebration three years running.

in purchasing rights-of-way in Bailey County was centered. Crane replied that it was a six-to-one and half-a-dozen of the other problem.

He stated that in some instances Austin was slow in approving rights-of-way purchase prices and in other instances the county was slow in its negotiations.

County Judge Glen Williams has stated that although only four actual rights-of-way have been purchased, the county has made oral agreements on several others, which can not yet be closed because of technical reasons.

A total of seventy rights-of-way must be purchased here before that part of the two-prong construction program is completed.

Thus a safe, modern highway through Bailey County has faded into the dim distance of time.

Estimate on the program in Lamb County is $1,810,000 in the highway departments planning budget.

The project will immediately follow the building of a four-lane bypass route past Littlefield. Completion of the bypass is scheduled for early 1965, according to Rhea Bradley, resident highway department engineer for Lamb County.

The bypass was scheduled a year ago by the highway department and is expected to cost $840,000. The bypass will start at the city limits — where the four-lane portion of 84 presently ends — and will slash across the south end of the town, emerging near the west limit of the city, just beyond the cemetery.

The present city route of the highway will be maintained, but the bypass will carry most of the traffic through Littlefield.

So, by the end of 1965 Littlefield will have its four-lane bypass and the highway will be completed in Lamb County by the end of 1966. By that time the section running from Bailey County's west line will also probably be completed. And Bailey County will still probably be awaiting the start of construction here.

The intent of the law is that through such sale the county would satisfy its tax judgement, in part at least, and that the land would be placed in the hands of persons more likely to pay taxes regularly.

It is true that much of the indebted land is located in low value areas. However, a large amount is high priced irrigated property which sells at a premium.

Some of the accounts are so old the county doesn't even know to whom the property belongs, and carries it on the books as "owner unknown". In many instances the taxes owed on the land are so high as to surpass the actual real value of the property.

CAPLIN ON TAX

Internal Revenue Commissioner Mortimer M. Caplin said he favors moving toward a simpler income tax system with lower rates and fewer deductions, credits and other special allowances. Many experts believe such a simplified version would bring in almost as much revenue as the present structure. Caplin has resigned as commissioner to return to law practice in July.

Grass Seed Can Be A Cash Crop In Muleshoe Area

GRASS — Sideoats grama grown for seed rows and irrigated. production. This grass was planted in 40'

Many acres of land in the Blackwater Valley Soil Conservation District have been seeded to grasses in the past few years. Many more acres will be put to grass in the future. Although much land is being sprigged to bermudagrass, a great deal of the grass being planted is of the seeded varieties. Perhaps the two best examples are switchgrass and sideoats grama.

Seed for these grass plantings and farmers in this area can take advantage of the market for such seed. On areas which are not suitable for other crops and on which grazing would not be practical, grass seed may be the best method of getting a return from the land.

Although profits may not be as high as with some other crops, grass can have several advantages. For example, grass protects the soil from wind and water erosion. Grass also improves soil structure. It increases soil productivity and improves the biological life of the soil. Grass blades break up raindrops and slow them down, allowing the water more time to soak into the soil. Runoff of water is slowed, and soil particles are allowed to settle out before leaving the field. Grass top and roots decay, adding humus to the soil. The fine, numerous roots break up the soil particles and allow water to penetrate more readily. Where cotton may harm the soil, grass can actually improve it.

Producers of high quality seed will have a market for it. The best market is for certified seed. However, producing certified seed is a serious business and takes skill. To produce top grass seed, the seed must be kept relatively pure. Weed seed and seed from other varieties must be kept to a minimum. The seed must be kept dry. Insects must be excluded, and only healthy seed, free from disease, is acceptable. Also, the germination rate must be high. The seed should be as clean and free from trash as possible when harvested.

Before producing a seed crop, there are several steps which should be taken. Questions must be answered, such as "Will there be a market for the seed?" and "What kind of seed should be grown. Information on grass planting and management, seed harvesting and storage, and certification and marketing should be obtained. Some of the answers, particularly those on grass planting and management, can be found at the local Soil Conservation Service office.

Grass is certainly no cureall crop, and if everyone went into the business of producing grass seed, supply would soon exceed the demand. Management may differ from that with which the producer has been familiar. However, if a program of grass seed production is properly entered into, it should prove profitable to a number of local farmers. Profit will be derived from the preservation and improvement of the soil as well as from the cash income derived.

Cotton Seeding Disease . . .

Research by scientists at Stillwater, Okla., may explain why cotton seedling disease is generally more severe in cool weather.

Young cotton plants subjected to relatively low temperatures followed by a significant rise in the incidence of disease.

ARS plant physiologist Gene Guinn and plant pathologist R. E. Hunter, working in cooperation with the Oklahoma Agricultural Experiment Station, revealed the apparent interrelationships that exist between temperature, sugar, and disease.

The scientists found that the sugar content of cotton seedlings rose sharply when the temperature was lowered from 81 degrees to 61 degrees. F. The sugars dropped back to original concentrations when the temperature was returned to 81 degrees.

Guinn and Hunter also noted that pulverized tissue from the chilled cotton seedling stems supported nearly twice as much growth of the seedling disease fungus Rhizoctonia solani as tissue from unchilled plants. This disease, which is called damping off, causes the seedlings to rot and die.

Chilling the tops of the cotton plants had little effect on sugar content if the roots were kept warm. But chilling the entire seedlings caused rapid increases in sugars throughout the plants, the greatest increase occurring in the stems. This biological change apparently promoted the development of disease organisms in the seedlings.

The scientists plan further research to learn more about the effects of chilling on sugar content and disease development in young cotton plants.

Endrin-methyl parathion can deliver the bollworm kills you need (see above) but it must be applied on schedule. For best control, worms should be sprayed soon after hatching and must be hit before they're 1/2-inch long.

Endrin-methyl parathion kills bollworms fast.
Spray on a 4 to 5 day schedule and you'll have your cotton made.

Endrin-methyl parathion gets weevils too, resists weathering, protects your crop through the critical fruiting period.

It's easy to see why bollworms are tough. There just isn't any magic bollworm killer.

Yet you can get excellent bollworm control with endrin-methyl parathion if you apply the right amount in a regular program, and get thorough coverage.

It will automatically control and stay ahead of boll weevils, including resistant strains.

And you will stop cabbage loopers, leafworms, plant and stink bugs—a total of 9 other insects that attack your cotton.

Protects two ways

1. Methyl parathion gives you fast action. Just hours after application, it kills the worms.

dying worms and weevils methyl parathion knocks off your cotton.

2. Endrin gives endrin-methyl parathion its long lasting quality. It resists weathering. Pound for pound, it's the longest-lasting chlorinated insecticide you can use on cotton.

Endrin puts a chemical barrier on your cotton that helps protect it until the next spray in your schedule. That's why you can expect 4 to 5 days' protection from each spray.

Cuts spray costs two ways:

1. Because endrin-methyl parathion has staying power, you can lengthen the intervals between sprays in your regular program up to a total of 5 days. Result: you will probably apply fewer sprays—yet you'll get excellent control of bollworms and other insects. By keeping down insect populations, you slow down reinfestation. You may eliminate one or more costly, late-season sprays altogether.

2. Low dosages do the job. By applying sprays regularly you won't have to use extra-high dosages to "catch up" with bollworms and other insects. Result: you save money.

A regular endrin-methyl parathion schedule also increases your income by helping you grow more, early cotton.

Reasons For Cotton Low Price Varies

Cotton Talks: "Reduction in price or loan value because of low micronaire, gin damage or excessive foreign matter — cost High Plains farmers in the neighborhood of $3,000,000 in reduced income from the 1963-1964 crop.

Obviously, some of this loss was unavoidable but most of it could have been saved by the use of proper cultural practices and care in harvesting. The loss figure is calculated from a USDA report which sets out the number of bales of such cotton, by causes, in the Southwestern area. The report itself states: "Many causes of 'reduction cottons' cannot be controlled by mortal man but those factors that can be controlled far outnumber those that cannot.

Foreign matter found in cotton that reduce its price are listed in the report as bark, dust, grass, hulls, motes, oil, sand, seed and stems. Of these, the High Plains produced almost 19,000 "barkies, about 2,500 "grassies and negligible amounts of the others. Total bales reduced in price at least one step by all these causes is reported as just below 22-

000. This involves a reduction in price of one cent per pound below the grade to which the cotton is reduced by the presence of any of these extraneous materials.

Only about 8,000 of the High Plains two million bale crop last year were reduced in price because of "preparation or gin damage. Such damage can result from the condition in which cotton arrives at the gin or from faulty gin machinery.

Where the High Plains is really hurt each year is in cotton that is classed as "wasty, principally by reason of its low micronaire, or immaturity of the fibers. Wasty bales in 1963-64 numbered about 100,000 in this area at about a $20.00 per bale reduction — $2,000,000 in lost income from wasties alone. And even that loss is not the whole story of "lowmike cotton. Those bales which miked 2.6 or below are classed as wasty, while buyers quote 3.5 as the tenderable micronaire limit and look with some degree of "disfavor on any cotton miking below that level. This causes additional price losses in the millions of dollars.

Beginning with the 1964-65 crop, micronaire will be one of the factors incorporated into government loan values and placed on the "green card. Wasties, as such, are being done away with and premiums and discounts for micronaire are set up on the following schedule:

2.6 and below	— 300 points
2.7 to 2.9	— 150 points
3.0 to 3.2	— 50 points
3.3 to 3.6	Even
3.7 to 4.8	+13 points
4.9 to 5.1	Even
5.2 to 5.4	— 10 points
5.5 and above	— 25 points

By applying this schedule of micronaire premiums and discounts to the High Plains crop of 1963-64 it becomes readily obvious that this cotton quality measurement will take on added significance this year.

Last year, the High Plains crop, as we said above, had about 100,000 bales of cotton miking 2.6 and below at a cost to the farmer of about $2,000,000. Then there were another 308,700 bales (14.7 per cent of the crop) miking 2.7 to 2.9, which this year will carry loan reductions of $15.00 per bale — another loss of over 4 1/2 million dollars. PCG figures show 33.6 per cent of the crop, or over 700,000 bales miking between 3.0 and 3.4. Under the schedule above possibly one half of that amount would carry a 50 point (5.00 a bale) discount.

Late plantings, early frost dates, drought conditions, varieties — all play a part in the production of immature cotton, but research people tell us that they play only a minor part. The real villain is the improper use of harvest-aid chemicals. Dessiccants OR defoliant should never be applied before at least 60 to 70 per cent of the bolls in a field are open. Application before that time not only cuts that price of cotton sold but also reduces total production substantially.

It is impossible to calculate precisely how much is lost on the High Plains as the direct result of immature cotton, but in the face of the overall drop of 2.55 cents per pound in the price of cotton it behooves every farmer to keep such losses to an absolute minimum. This can be done with high potential "mikenability and by following the 70 per cent rule in the use of harvest aid chemicals.

CALIFORNIA VOTE

Senator Barry Goldwater scored a narrow but crucial victory in California's key primary election, further improving his front-running spot in the race for the Republican presidential nomination. According to a survey, Goldwater now has close to 655 first ballot nominating votes by this victory in California.

WATER ATTRACTS CHILDREN

Owning a swimming pool is becoming rather common in Texas and it places some legal duties on the owner. Your main duty hinges on the "doctrine of attractive nuisance" under which you become legally responsible to young children who trespass on your land.

As a rule you owe no duty to trespassers. They must take property as they find it: if dangerous, that is their tough luck. Not so for children who wander on your land. The attractive nuisance doctrine says that if you have some man-made things on your land which entice youngsters you have a legal duty to make your land safe for them.

A high tension line, an old mineshaft, a railroad turntable, a pool of clear acid may be irresistible to children. If they are likely to be attracted and unable to grasp the dangers, you have an "attractive nuisance," and you must make your premises safe.

Recently a court held that a swimming pool may be an attractive nuisance. In this case a toddler drowned in Jones' pool. Jones and the boys parents lived across the street from each other. About 30 feet from the street, the pool was fenced but with openings through which children could enter. On weekends the Jones were not home, only the Jones children. Animals often played near the pool.

The pool and the animals could attract a youngster; he could not grasp the waters danger. The Joneses could have had a locked gate. A jury properly held Jones responsible for the drowning.

How young is the child? Can he appreciate the dangers? How easy is it for the owner to make the place safe for children?

There are times when an older child should appreciate dangers. An older child playing on a scaffold should appreciate the dangers of height. In another case a twelve year old boy tried to jump on a train which was moving along a public street. When he fell he could not get damages for his injury. He should have seen his danger. Besides how could one put up a barrier along a public street which could keep out twelve year old boys?

A land owner may have other duties to trespassers. He cannot set a "trap on his land, create hazards on his land on purpose; he cannot put a pit on his land where people frequently trespass, put in spring guns, or other traps to harm trespassers.

Sometimes a condition on your land may be a trap to children but not one for adults. The adult may grasp the danger of slippery algae growing in a partially drained pool, but not a child. But even with a trap on your land the attractive nuisance doctrine will not apply without some allurements or enticement to bring children to trespass on your land. And above all, keep your place safe. For all the money may not undo the harm.

ROCKEFELLER ADVISES

Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller has informed major Republican leaders that someone else must take the initiative now if the Arizona conservative is to be stopped. It does not mean that Rockefeller is pulling out of the Presidential race. He feels the importance of moderate Republicans uniting behind a candidate more representative of party philosophy than he believes Senator Goldwater to be.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Vern Sanford

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN, Tex. — A study of the number of Republican candidates in recent party primaries and run-offs on the upcoming General Election reveals that the Election ballot, in the grassroots area, will strengthen the ever-growing trend toward a complete two-party state.

For example, 18 Democratic nominees for sheriff will face Republican opponents in November.

Also, the Republican party is engaged in one county judge race (in Lubbock County); seven races for county attorney; two for county clerk; 12 for county tax assessor; two for county superintendent of schools; and 78 for county commissioner.

GOP also has candidates for most top state posts and for more than half of the 150 House of Representative posts. In addition George Bush will carry the Republican banner in the U. S. Senate race against incumbent Democrat Ralph W. Yarborough.

WATER POLLUTION — Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carrs opinion committee on the oil-field-waste disposal question may postpone its decision meeting indefinitely now that Superior Oil Company has filed suit against the Texas Water Pollution Control Board, asking for a declaratory judgment against the agency.

A decision by former Atty. Gen. Will Wilson ruled that the board has jurisdiction over disposal of oilfield wastes under the Water Pollution Control Act passed by the 1961 Legislature.

Railroad Commission asked Carr to issue a new opinion after a group of oil companies raised strong objections to the board's regulatory actions. Superior filing of the suit may change the picture entirely on any new opinion.

CONNALLY HONORED — Gov. John Connally returned from the national Governors Conference in Cleveland, Ohio, with an important new appointment. His selection as first chairman of the Democratic Governors Caucus was a unanimous one by the 50 Democratic state chief executives.

Reportedly, Connally also was given some consideration for chairman of the 1965 Governors Conference, although he is in his first term. The governors will hold their first major caucus just before the National Democratic Convention in Atlantic City, N. J., during August.

NATIONAL GUARD CONCERN — Texas National Guard Association expressed concern over reports that U. S. Department of Defense would stop logistical support to the so-called "reinforcing reserve."

These units, said NGAT, would provide a mobilization base on which the company would build its force in event of large-scale war.

Texas 49th Armored and 36th Infantry divisions are both part of this "reinforcing reserve, as is the 90th Reserve Division.

TOTAL — Texas had a total of 10,325 manufacturing plants which added $6,400,000,000 of value by processing raw materials into finished goods in 1962, according to the "Annual Survey of Manufacturers," recently released by the Bureau of Census.

Figures represent an addition of $589,900,000 capital expenditure for new plants during a single year. Some 500,000 plant workers earned a total of $2,700,000,000 for the year, while 350,000 production workers earned $1,600,000,000.

Food processing was the largest employer with 80,239 employees. Biggest investment was made by the chemical industry, with $167,000,000 in new capital expenditures. The petroleum refining industry spent $155,000,000 for plant construction and improvement.

RAILWAY AUTHORITY — U. S. Representative Henry B. Gonzales has asked support from Governor Connally, Lt. Gov. Preston Smith and House Speaker Byron Tunnell on his recently introduced bill which aims at creating a multi-state railway authority for Texas, New Mexico, Arizona and California.

Gonzales told them, "This is truly a states rights program. States involved would jointly investigate and determine their enger rail transportation. He own needs in the area of passenger rail transportation. In his judgment, passenger rail transportation has not been adequately developed and is not presently competitive with other modes of transportation — particularly in the Southwest.

FIRE INSURANCE — After July 1, it will be illegal for an insurance company to charge less than 6 percent interest per year on delayed premium payments for fire insurance, a new State Board of Insurance ruling decrees.

Several years ago, the board issued this same rule, but withdrew it when an objection was made by a company which charged no interest at all for deferred payments. An attorney general has held on two previous occasions that the board has no authority to set minimum interest rates on delayed payments, but Attorney General Carr has advised the board to take a new tack.

However, litigation is entirely possible on the part of insurers who would prefer to deviate from the ruling by charging less than the new minimum.

APPOINTMENTS ANNOUNCED — Governor Connally named Tom Pegues of Mineola and Charles T. Wickersham of Orange to the board of directors of the Sabine River Authority. He reappointed Gus Orsborn Jr. of Emory. Appointments extend until July 6, 1963.

Col. Homer Garrison, Jr. has chosen Norman V. Suarez of Austin as legal counselor for the Texas Department of Public Safety. He succeeds the late Bill Kavanaugh of Round Rock.

VISITING MRS. NEELY — Guests in the home of Mrs. George Neely were the children of her late husband, Mrs. Horace Neely and Mrs. Lloyd Neely, San Diego, Calif.; Mrs. Cecil Archer and Tim Wynn, Anaheim, Calif.

FROM TENNESSEE — Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Smith of Loretta, Tenn. visited Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Lenau last weekend.

TRADE AND ROMANIA — Armed with new United States trade policy pledge, Communist Romania hopes to buy large quantities of American industrial equipment. The Bucharest Government, which has rejected Soviet economic domination, is reported to have a shopping list ready amounting to possibly $150,000,000 to buy equipment from the United States and Western Europe.

Clawson to assist Mrs. Landers on the program committee for another year.

Meditations and closing prayer was given by Mrs. Bogard.

Following the program, secret pals were revealed and gifts exchanged also new names drawn for another year.

While in the vicinity, Mrs. Rogers was in Lubbock for a check-up following surgery a short time ago and is reported to be doing fine. They are former Muleshoe residents who moved to Raton several weeks ago.

Another guest was Richard Shoudy, Roswell, N. M. who spent last Thursday night with the Askews.

IN OKLAHOMA CITY

Mrs. George Neely visited her brothers and sisters in Oklahoma City last week.

These signs help maintain an even flow of traffic. Although traffic congestion is a twentieth century development, Paul advocated "No Parking" signs along the roadway of life:

1. Don't park alongside your old weaknesses. We do not have to be permanently stymied by our weaknesses when Christ has dropped them in the sea of forgetfulness.

2. Don't park alongside your past failures and mistakes. They will frustrate all attempts to undertake new projects. These unfortunate memories should be forgotten.

3. Don't park alongside your successes. To become satisfied with what has been done in the past is the prelude to deterioration. If we park too long in the region of our successes, we will become self-centered and look at others through the small end of the binoculars whereby everything is reduced to dwarf size.

Paul's formula for not parking, and to keep-life dynamic and challenging, is to press toward the mark of the high calling that was in Christ Jesus.

"Help us to observe the "No Parking" signs thou hast placed along life's highway so that we may keep pressing forward to the mark of thy high calling.

Don Teague
Pastor, Church of Nazarene

Today's Meditation

NO PARKING

PHILIPPIANS 3:12-21

Not as though I had already attained, either were already perfect; but I follow after, if that I may apprehend that for which also I am apprehended of Christ Jesus.

Brethren, I count not myself to have apprehended; but this one thing I do, forgetting those things which are behind, and reaching forth unto those things which are before, I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus.

Let us therefore, as many as be perfect, be thus minded; and if in any thing ye be otherwise minded, God shall reveal even this unto you.

Nevertheless, whereto we have already attained, let us walk by the same rule, let us mind the same thing.

Brethren, be followers together of me, and mark them which walk so as ye have us for an example.

For many walk of whom I have told you often, and now tell you even weeping, that they are the enemies of the cross of Christ:

Whose end is destruction, whose God is their belly, and whose glory is in their shame, who mind earthly things.

For our conversation is in heaven; from whence also we look for the Saviour, the Lord Jesus Christ:

Who shall change our vile body that it may be fashioned like unto his glorious body, according to the working whereby he is able even to subdue all things unto himself.

One of the most familiar signs of modern life is "No Parking".
