Sen. McClellan dies

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Sen. John L. McClellan, the Southern conservative who became a national figure through his investigations into labor unions and organized crime, died today in his sleep. He was 81.

McClellan's aides said the senator's body was found by his wife about 6:30 a.m. at their Little Rock apartment.

The Arkansas Democrat, who had served in the Senate for 35 years and ranked second in seniority, had announced last week that he would not seek another term when his sixth term ended Jan. 3, 1979.

The senator would have been two months from his 83rd birthday when his Senate term ended. He had been in public office for half a century.

McClellan had a pacemaker implanted to regulate his heartbeat last summer. Last Monday when he announced his decision to retire, McClellan said his health was not a factor in his plans. He said it would have been a major concern had he chosen to seek re-election.

As head of the Senate Appropriations Committee, McClellan oversaw billions in federal spending. The defense budget usually fared well under him.

Sen. John L. McClellan

McClellan's law-and-order reputation grew in the 1950s after he took over as chairman of the Senate permanent investigations subcommittee, succeeding Sen. Joseph McCarthy, R-Wis.

McClellan was second in seniority in the Senate to James O. Eastland, D-Miss. Both men were sworn in the same day, but a Senate rule gives higher seniority to the senator from a state in the union longer. Mississippi became a state before Arkansas.

McClellan was known during his long career in the Senate as a law-and-order man and as a relentless investigator of wrongdoing in and out of government.

McClellan was first elected to the Senate in 1942 after two terms in the House. He was chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee since August 1972.

The time-consuming responsibilities of that post forced him to give up the helm of the Senate's permanent investigations subcommittee, which he had chaired for a record 18 years, from January 1955 to January 1973.

In that span he directed headline-making investigations into labor racketeering, organized crime, securities thefts, the TFX aircraft contract, illicit operations in military service clubs overseas, the rash of riots that erupted in big cities and on college campuses in the late 1960s, and in many other areas.

He took over the chairmanship of the subcommittee from the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy after the Republicans lost control of the Senate. He had led a Democratic walkout in protest against what he called McCarthy's one-man rule of the panel, staying out for nearly six

Both sides claiming success

Ethiopians and Somali rebels were reported wrestling for the ancient walled city of Harar, but there were conflicting reports today from Addis Ababa and Mogadishu on the progress of the battle.

Harar, 225 miles east of Addis Ababa, is one of Ethiopia's last two strongholds in the Ogaden desert. Rebels of the Western Somali Liberation Front say they have seized 90 percent of the region, which they want to annex to Somalia.

Rebel sources in the Somali capital of Mogadishu said the rebels had breached the walls of Harar and battled government soldiers in the streets. They said rebels held hills on three sides overlooking Harar and had encircled a large Ethiopian

Snowstorm loses punch in Eastern states

By The Associated Press

Heavy snow that socked portions of the nation at the close of the Thanksgiving holiday tapered off early today.

In many areas, the snow was not as heavy as expected. In New Jersey, for instance, most areas received only about a quarter-inch of snow before the storm passed. The National Weather Service said the reason was that the storm had moved through the state much faster than had been expected.

More than 460 persons died on the nation's highways and streets during the Thanksgiving holiday period, which stretched from Wednesday evening through Sunday. The National Safety Council had predicted between 460 and 560 fatalities.

The storm hit hardest in the Midwest, western New York State and western Pennsylvania.

Six inches of snow were recorded at the Metropolitan Airport outside of Detroit between Sunday noon and early this morning, when the fall tapered off to flurries. The streets of Detroit suburbs were so slippery that taxi companies were refusing to take calls.

In Alpena, Mich., along Lake Huron, nearly 7 inches of snow was recorded and another 2 inches was expected today.

Motorists stranded in Caryville, Tenn., on Interstate 75 north of Knoxville, slept in motel lobbies, a church, an elementary school and on the floor of a coin-operated laundry.

Police Chief Wayne Gunter said, "We had about 4 inches of snow. Then it turned to solid ice." He said northbound cars were unable to climb Jellico Mountain.

"We had our grammar school completely full," Gunter said. He said Caryville's four motels were full, some 175 persons slept in the school, and another 150 to 200 persons found other makeshift lodging.

He said about 15 Caryville families invited stranded travelers to stay overnight in their homes.

More snow was expected today for parts of New York, Pennsylvania and New England.

Meanwhile, the West Coast was buffeted by high winds. Power failures and rough seas were reported in Southern California.

More than 50 boat rescues were reported Sunday after small craft warnings were posted.

On Sunday, five people were killed when an airplane crashed into a snow-covered Indiana farm field as the storm was passing.

Slick roads caused at least two traffic fatalities in Ohio and one in Kentucky Sunday.

Travelers and residents in Kentucky were dealing with up to 12 inches of snow that paralyzed traffic and filled motels. At least 30 school systems were closed today.

Two guerrilla bases destroyed, Rhodesian government reports

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) — The Rhodesian government reported today that its ground and air forces have destroyed two guerrilla bases in Mozambique and killed at least 1,200 black nationalists.

A military command statement said the bases were used by Rhodesian black nationalist guerrillas fighting to topple the white minority government.

Troops backed by air support penetrated 132 miles inside Mozambique at one point during raids in the past several days, the military communique said.

The military communique confirmed earlier reports from Mozambique that Rhodesian air and ground attacks had been launched against guerrilla positions in the neighboring country.

Observers noted that if 1,200 guerrillas have been slain in the raids starting last Wednesday, a fifth of the forces of Robert Mugabe's Zimbabwe African National Union forces known to be based in Mozambique have been wiped out.

Informed sources said, meanwhile, that three moderate nationalist leaders have agreed to meet with Prime Minister Ian Smith for talks that could lead to black rule.

The other chief leader of nationalist forces outside Rhodesia, Joshua Nkomo, rejected Smith's promise of elections with universal suffrage as a "deceit" to win time.

In a surprise announcement Thursday, Smith offered to open talks immediately with moderate black leaders living inside Rhodesia and promised elections with universal suffrage in exchange for guarantees safeguarding the interests of the 268,000 whites.

Informed sources said Smith's offer was accepted by Bishop Abel Muzorewa, head of the African National Council; the Rev. Ndebaningi Sithole, who leads a faction that broke away from the African National Council; and Chief Jeremiah Chirau, president of the Zimbabwe United People's Organization.

Government officials expect the talks to begin this week.

Smith said Nkomo and Robert Mugabe, the other leader of the guerrilla Patriotic Front, could also participate if they renounced violence.

British Foreign Secretary David Owen gave cautious approval to Smith's proposals, saying the elections he promised must be "demonstrably free and fair." But U.S. Ambassador Andrew Young, Owen's partner in the recent British-American peace initiative, said negotiations without Nkomo and Mugabe would intensify the five-year-old guerrilla war.

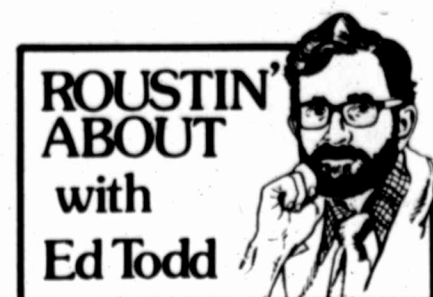

Meanwhile, neighboring Mozambique claimed Rhodesian ground and air troops were attacking guerrilla

Lamesa banquet hard act for any to follow

LAMESA — If ever you want to see a group effort done up right, you ought to pick up an invitation and hightail it over to the chamber of commerce banquet at Lamesa.

It's quite a show. At least, it was this year. And unless the chamber's wheels and cogs want to do some backsliding, next year's fare ought to best the one this year.

So wait. You have no choice... if you want to go.

The banquet's theme had something to do with the economic compatibility of cotton and petroleum.

The night's message went something like this: "Cotton Plus Oil Equals Dawson County Economy." Throughout the banquet hall were creative symbols of the economy.

And some of the women folks were wearing corsages made from fully-opened cotton bolls.

Cotton stalks were the centerpieces on some tables. Drill bits were on others.

And setting the mood for the feed for 400-plus folks was the jazzed-up Western swing music of the Texas Brass and Strings band. The six-piece band's repertoire included Bob Wills' "San Antonio Rose" and the old-fashioned song of man-woman romance, "Shine on Harvest Moon."

The bandsmen played without benefit of the cueing baton.

"They don't have a director," noted

Strenuous exercise found good for heart

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
AP Science Editor

MIAMI (AP) — Really strenuous exercise is good medicine for your heart, but sports like golf and bowling aren't enough, a new study finds.

The study also indicates that a high amount of energy spent each week in physical activity, including walking, could provide some insurance against premature heart attacks.

Spending a high total amount of energy and calories is significant, especially in exercises that demand bursts of energy output, says Dr. Ralph S. Paffenbarger Jr. of the University of California at Berkeley.

But the risk of heart attacks was lower for men engaging in "strenuous sports," while "casual" sports seemed to have no influence, Paffenbarger said.

Among strenuous sports, he listed swimming and running, basketball, handball and squash. "Casual" sports included golf, bowling, baseball, softball and volleyball.

As for tennis, he said it depends on how it is played.

"Batting the ball around on Sunday with young children generally isn't strenuous, but a stiff competitive game of singles is," he said.

Paffenbarger made his comments in remarks prepared for delivery at a scientific session of the American Heart Association today.

He told of research involving some 17,000 male alumni of Harvard University, aged 35 to 74, studied periodically for six to 10 years. In all, they suffered 572 heart attacks, 257 of them fatal.

The research focused on the energy the men spent, in terms of activity such as the number of blocks walked, stairs climbed, sports engaged in and estimation of total calories "burned" each week.

"Heart attack rates declined with increasing activity, whether measured as stairs climbed, blocks walked or strenuous sports. This trend held for all ages and for both non-fatal and fatal attacks."

The more calories the men spent in total activity in a week seems to relate to less risk of heart attack, he added.

He said the protective effect from being active seemed to hold regardless of whether the men had other risk factors, such as "cigarette smoking, high blood pressure, obesity, parental heart attacks and prior athleticism."

Teen abortions termed 'essential'

By MICHAEL PUTZEL

WASHINGTON (AP) — A special task force on teen-age pregnancy has told the Health, Education and Welfare Department that abortions are "essential to reduce the numbers of high-risk adolescent births."

It was the second task force set up by HEW Secretary Joseph A. Califano Jr. to take a position conflicting with his and President Carter's off-stated opposition to abortion.

The chairman of the other group, which was established to seek alternatives to abortion, disbanded the panel after concluding that the only real alternatives are "suicide, motherhood and, some would add, madness."

The teen-age pregnancy unit, headed by Peter Schuck, a deputy assistant secretary for planning and evaluation, recommended that the Carter administration spend between $147 million and $251 million to deal with the problems of the nation's estimated 11 million sexually active teen-agers.

The task force proposals include expansion of existing birth control services, extension of welfare coverage to unborn children in states that don't now offer it, expanded day care services, more research and creation of a new, comprehensive "Youth and Family Services" program.

About three million babies are born in the United States each year, nearly 600,000 of them to teen-agers. Of the 1.1 million abortions performed each year, an estimated 300,000 terminate teen-age pregnancies.

The Schuck panel did not specifically include abortion among its wide range of options presented to Califano in a 60-page memorandum. But it said it considers abortion information, counseling, services and research essential to reduce the numbers of high-risk adolescent births, particularly for younger adolescents.

HEW currently is prohibited by law from financing Medicaid abortions for poor women unless their lives are threatened by continued pregnancy. The House and Senate have been deadlocked for months in a dispute over whether to extend those restrictions another year or ease them.

Califano, a Roman Catholic who has said his opposition to abortion is based on religious and ethical beliefs, is virtually alone in his position among top HEW officials.

Last spring, he directed that an interagency task force be set up to seek alternatives to abortion.

In a memorandum the department attempted to withhold from the public, the head of that group, Connie J. Downey, said the panel didn't have the direction, scope, authority or money necessary to attack the underlying problem of unwanted pregnancies.

The Associated Press, after being refused a copy of the memo by Eileen Shanahan, HEW assistant secretary for public affairs, obtained a copy from other sources.

Mail order shopping consumer tips given

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

'Tis the season when holiday catalogues appear to tempt consumers with visions of mail order merchandise which add up to a multibillion dollar industry.

Although December is not the biggest month for the mail order business — January sales are actually the largest — it does bring an increased number of offerings in mailboxes and as supplements to Sunday newspapers.

Consumers planning to shop by mail should take precautions, however, to avoid disappointments. Mail order firms consistently rank high on complaint lists. The federal Office of Consumer Affairs says that 8.1 percent of all complaints received from February through December 1976 concerned mail orders. Only automobiles drew more complaints.

to mail order seeds and plants or to COD orders. If you have a problem, you can write to Director, Bureau of Consumer Protection, MO-P, Federal Trade Commission, Washington, D.C., 20580.

The Direct Mail Marketing Association, which represents 65 to 70 percent of the industry, also tries to handle consumer complaints. The association's address is: 6 E. 43rd St., New York, N.Y., 10017.

To minimize potential troubles, industry spokesmen and government agencies advise consumers to follow a few basic rules:

- Shop around just as you would with a regular store. Ask friends if they have used a particular company. Check the Better Business Bureau.
- Read catalogues carefully. Make sure prices include shipping and handling charges. Compare prices with those in retail stores.
- Order as early as possible. Look at the fine print to find out if there is a cut-off date after which delivery cannot be guaranteed. This is particularly important at Christmas.
- Find out what sort of guarantee is included.
- Never send cash. Always pay by money order or check. Keep a record of the number along with the date you placed the order, the name and address of the company, the product and the price.
- Be sure to indicate your name and address clearly. If the item is a gift, make clear where it should be sent.

"I don't care what kind of system you come up with," the 50-year-old investigator said. "There is always going to be someone who can get into it, around it or by it."

He said odds are good that a small number of professional computer thieves and forgers will manage to get their hands on billions of dollars during the initial stages of electronic transfers.

"Ninety-nine percent of the people who try won't know what they're doing and what they get caught," Ballew said. "We're not worried about them."

"We're worried about the one percent...the highly professional thief who has made a science of beating the system. Right now I am trying to study all the existing rules and regulations. That's the first step."

"We are talking here of an entire new realm of crime. It leaves no tell-tale physical evidence behind. Someone gaining access to a computer can conceivably do anything."

Private investigator's bailiwick computer fraud

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Joe Ballew carries Indiana private investigator license number 007, but his business isn't dealing with spies or national secrets.

Ballew is a fraud investigator for a bank in Fort Worth, and he's boning up on what he thinks the next criminal gimmick will be — thievery by computer within electronic funds transfer operations.

A state referendum that would have permitted the electronic transfer of funds from a bank to a merchant failed recently, but Ballew thinks it's only a matter of time before such transactions are common place.

One killed, 25 hurt in nightclub shooting

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — The nightclub was packed — mostly parents and children — for Dave Wingert's puppet show. The lights were dimming, and Wingert promised "something new and different."

Then came a sound like firecrackers — and a stunned moment or two before it sank in that this was not part of the show.

One club patron was killed and 25 others wounded as pellets flew from six shotgun blasts fired by a well-dressed gunman.

Another patron was suffering an apparent heart attack.

Horrified, the patrons dived for cover.

Ten of the victims remained hospitalized today in conditions ranging from good to fair.

A disabled Vietnam veteran was arrested early Sunday at his home in Omaha and booked on suspicion of first degree murder and shooting with intent to kill or maim during the shooting at the Club 89 on Saturday night.

Douglas County Attorney Donald Knowles said he would file a formal murder charge today against Ulysses Cribbs, 32. Knowles said he would ask that bail be denied.

Questions, answers concern you and your money

By RONALD L. SOBLE
The Los Angeles Times

Q. I am a 1975 college graduate with loans outstanding to a private university and a state school in the amount of $4,000. My loans were made under the National Defense Student Loan and the Federally Insured Student Loan programs. I'm having difficulty repaying the loans on my present salary. I was recently told that if my total loan payments for the year were more than 6 percent of my annual income, I would not be obligated to pay the loans back. Is there such a break for former students?

A. You'd better start cracking down on your budget because the "break" you heard about doesn't exist. The first program under which you borrowed funds now is called the National Direct Student Loan Program and is funded through the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, with the cash going directly to the school, which, in turn, administers the loans. The annual interest rate is 3 percent, with the loan coming due on a monthly basis nine months after you leave school, according to a University of Southern California official familiar with the program. Typically, you have to pay a minimum of $30 a month and have 10 years to pay back the loan.

The other program you refer to also is supervised by HEW but is made by a bank that is backed up by Washington if the student defaults.

The federally insured loan has a 7 percent rate with terms similar to the other loan program, says the USC source. Since "you can't get blood out of a turnip," says the source, there might be room for negotiation between you and the university or the bank, but there is no automatic rule that relieves you of your responsibility to pay it back.

Q. My wife and I are American citizens, both over 65 and retired, and have income from stocks, savings accounts and Social Security. Do we have to pay taxes in the Netherlands if we decide to move to that country?

A. An Internal Revenue Service source says that as long as you don't plan to make a living in the Netherlands, that country won't tax you on your American income. That's the case with many other nations, too, says the IRS. You will, however, have United States tax obligations on your stocks and savings accounts but not on Social Security. Under a new federal tax law, however, if you are both over 65 and married, you don't have to file a joint return until you reach an annual income level of $6,200, an increase of $400 over the old law.

Q. I've been receiving quite a few solicitations in the mail inquiring whether I would be interested in signing up for various credit cards and credit services. Do these business firms have access to state and federal income tax files for mailing-list purposes?

A. No way. An Internal Revenue Service spokeswoman says the only returns open for public inspection are those generated by tax-exempt organizations. Otherwise, there is no access to either individual or corporate returns. The penalty for disclosing such information is a felony fine of $5,000 or a jail sentence up to five years, or both. A spokesman for the Franchise Tax Board in Sacramento says the same confidentiality applies for individual returns, and that only a limited amount of data is available from corporate returns. Aside from the penalties, notes the IRS source, there's another big reason why you keep your mouth shut:

"You can lose your job."

'Wild and Woolly' production slated

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "Wild and Woolly," a Western about four women who break out of Yuma Prison, will be made for ABC by Aaron Spelling Productions.

The two-hour film follows the women as their adventures lead them to prevent the assassination of President Theodore Roosevelt. No cast has been set for the film, which goes into production next month in Arizona and Southern California.

World food crisis

American farmers have grown such a surplus of wheat, corn and feed grains in the last two years that our government is back in the business of propping up prices and trying to get the farmers to leave some acreage idle.

Meanwhile, in other parts of the world about 650 million people do not have enough to eat.

Fortunately, there is more than hand-wringing over this familiar dilemma at the present conference of the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization at Rome. The have and have-not nations finally are getting together on new programs to deal with an impending world food crisis.

Early in November in London, preliminary agreement was reached on setting up a world grain reserve aimed at stabilizing prices and supplies. The International Fund for Agricultural Development is undertaking a $1 billion program to increase food production in poor countries — with the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries picking up 40 percent of the cost. President Carter wants to sponsor a major new study of nutrition which could lead to more efficient use of the world's food production.

The world food problem is getting too big to be met with grants of emergency relief. Thirty percent of the world's population — about 1.25 billion people — live in countries classified by the World Bank as "very poor." Inflation and high oil prices are making many of those countries poorer in terms of their ability to import food. There is a sense of "food insecurity" around the world.

The billion-dollar IFAD program will be aimed at making the land more productive in countries which can't feed themselves. But that isn't enough. Those countries also must develop an export trade which will help them pay for the additional food they import. Many of them need to be more serious about controlling their population growth.

Technical and economic aid from the industrial nations and OPEC should not be offered on a no-strings basis. The benefit to hungry people must be visible.

Countries receiving aid must reconsider their opposition to the attachment of conditions to aid programs.

When a nation as proud as Great Britain had to borrow $4 billion from the International Monetary Fund not long ago, it agreed to make politically difficult changes in its domestic economic policies.

India, on the other hand, is receiving a $3 billion loan from the International Development Association under no pressure to adopt policies which might enhance the success of the programs the loan will finance.

Why shouldn't poor countries receive aid under the same rules as the rich ones?

Third World leaders are quick to remind the well-fed, prosperous industrial countries of the world of their responsibility to help feed hungry millions in Africa and Asia.

When the average American, if there is such a person, consumes five times as much grain per year as a person in the poor countries, Americans can't shirk that responsibility.

But the best way to fulfill it is to help the poor countries become more self-sufficient. The food programs now emerging can move toward that goal if rich and poor embrace with the sense of mutual obligation which makes a productive partnership.

This is just as basic and fundamental as can be. It perhaps is past time for steering all food programs in this direction. The United States or any other nation cannot assume the entire responsibility of feeding a hungry world over an extended period of time. Cooperation must surface as the key word in the world program.

Senator would alter public image

By JACK ANDERSON and LES WHITTEN

Of course, all would be lost if the momentous event wasn't covered on the network news shows. Proposed Melancon: "Now, we'll have the old people talk from 2 to 4 (p.m.) Every one of them will have a story, so we'll have to cut it short. If we go past 4, it's bye-bye to the tube."

Our reporter Julia Keller, after verifying this fascinating conversation, went to the two aides for their comments. She asked McCord whether the senators had scheduled the hearing for publicity. "That's part of it," she admitted.

But Melancon bristled at the suggestion that Johnston was motivated by anything but concern for the elderly. "That's ridiculous!" I'm not surprised that Jack Anderson would come up with something like this!

When Keller confronted him with the exact words he had used, his voice softened. "I don't recall saying that." Then he became suddenly angry again, shouting: "I'm insulted! I am insulted!"

SHAH'S SOLICITOR: In an earlier column, we reported that the shah of Iran has left President Carter with a shopping list for additional jet fighters, radar planes, military transport planes and patrol boats. He is prepared to spend about $8 million in solid petrodollars for the new weaponry.

But he probably will get his dangerous new toys, although his military forces have been unable to absorb all the modern weapons that United States has already delivered to Iran. Indeed, Iran has received more U.S. military equipment than any other nation. The huge arms shipments and technical aid are helping the shah transform his country into a world power.

The shah's military build-up has upset neighboring Saudi Arabia, whose oil is vital to U.S. security. The Saudis have sought responsibly to hold down world oil prices. In contrast, the shah originally pushed harder than any other oil potentate for stratospheric oil prices.

Yet despite the misgivings of the Saudis and the economic damage the oil squeeze has caused the United States, the policymakers in Washington have courted the shah obsequiously. The shah, in turn, has courted U.S. policymakers. No other embassy throws more dazzling parties for Washington officials than does the Iranian embassy.

The shah has also developed an intimate personal relationship with the high and mighty in Washington. We wrote earlier about his close association with ex-CIA chief Richard Helms, who has now opened a consulting firm with an Iranian name.

The shah's relationship with ex-Secretary of State William Rogers is even more curious. At the State Department, he participated in building up the shah. It was Rogers' lofty purpose to assure that the fabulous oil fields of the Persian Gulf remain under friendly domination.

But within three months after Rogers resigned as secretary of state, he turned up as a director of the shah's Pahlavi Foundation. He insisted to our associate Joe Spear at the time that there was no conflict of interest. He was merely handling "real estate work" for the foundation, he said.

But six months later, in June 1974, we were tracking down rumors that the shah had funneled money into the Richard Nixon campaign. Suddenly out of the woodwork popped Rogers, who categorically denied the story.

Not only did Rogers call us in behalf of the shah but his law firm sent us a followup telegram, declaring that the firm "had been retained by the embassy of Iran" to communicate with us on the Nixon-Shah of Iran story.

This intervention raises two questions. Should Rogers have registered under the law as a foreign agent? And did he violate the law prohibiting former government employees for one year from representing corporations or foreign governments that had come under their jurisdiction?

This failure may stem from President Carter's flexibility, but the same flexibility is his saving virtue. Disorganized and rudderless though his administration may be, he will not follow disastrous policies to ruin. He has emerged from his competence crisis as a President who can abandon tax reform, soften oil-baiting rhetoric and certainly deal with Russell Long.

Dreamy dream trip at government expense

By BENJAMIN SHORE Copley News Service

WASHINGTON — William and Inez Scott of Fairfax, Va., took a dream trip this fall to the fabled Khyber Pass on the Pakistan-Afghanistan border.

Before they left their suburban Washington home, they managed to get briefings on Pakistan, Afghanistan and India from those countries' ambassadors here, and from the State Department.

And when they got to India, U.S. diplomatic officials even arranged for a government car and driver to take them to the pass, which is said to be beautiful in the fall.

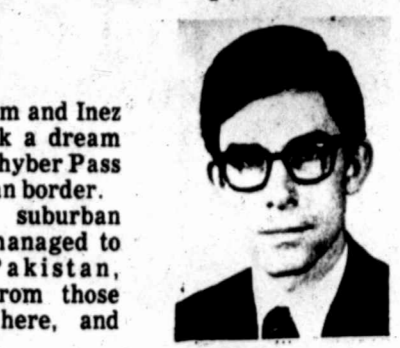

Best of all for the Scotts, the government paid for his transportation, room and board.

Just who are the Scotts to rate all this attention? Well, William Scott is a Republican U.S. senator from Virginia, and Inez is his wife.

A few years ago, a national magazine, after some investigation on Capitol Hill, decided Scott was the dumbest member of the Senate. (He actually said he decided not to sue the magazine because he was afraid he might lose.)

But Scott can't be all that dumb because he has logged more taxpayer-financed pleasure travel than any other member of Congress in recent memory.

More proof that he may not be so dumb: When he returns from his trips, he usually doesn't go through the charade of writing a report as most of his colleagues do for the sponsoring congressional committee.

Benjamin Shore

The only way a member of Congress can travel is to get committee sponsorship. Scott is a member of the Judiciary and Armed Services committees, but both deny sponsoring the trip to the Khyber Pass.

So how did he get on that Air Force C-141 for the flight to India via West Germany? The Air Force says call what Scott was investigating over there, replied, "Hell, I don't know. He told me, but I forgot." And did Eastland see abuse of government services and taxpayers' money? "No more than any other trip."

That may be the way the non-traveling Eastland views foreign travel, but it is an inaccurate view. Serious travel out of the United States is essential for thoughtful members of Congress who constantly are casting votes on issues that affect the rest of the world directly and indirectly.

But the Scott case is an outrage. He already has said he will not seek reelection to a second term next year, so the investment in his travel is wasted.

It's an outright junket. Eastland, 73, apparently is beyond embarrassment. But House and Senate members who are concerned about the public's image of Congress should take firm steps to eliminate abuse of travel privileges.

And why does the State Department and the Pentagon dole out go along with the expensive whims of legislators? Why can't the Carter administration find the courage to say "no more" to this waste of money? It's not the amount; it's the principle.

Of course, Scott might fool us and bring back some helpful information. Why, when he returned from the Panama Canal, he told us he "saw ships going both ways."

Since the Tartars, Persians and Mongols invaded through the Khyber Pass, maybe it indeed has some military significance today. If that's Scott's purpose, he disguised it well. He told the State Department he was going because "I've never been there before."

INSIDE REPORT:

President Jimmy Carter's flexibility is showing

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — The safety route taken by Jimmy Carter to rescue his presidency became clear Oct. 20 when he refused the advice of visiting liberal Democratic Senators on how to save his energy bill.

The way to pass the bill, these kindly Senators advised President Carter, was to stop all further dealings with the impossible Sen. Russell B. Long of Louisiana. Sen. Howard Metzenbaum of Ohio deplored reported presidential agreements with Long on energy. Instead, the liberals said they should be the President's partner: stick with us who believe in your program instead of negotiating with the enemy even if he is chairman of the Senate Finance Committee.

Mr. Carter listened politely, denied any agreements with Long and suggested intimate after-dinner meetings with the liberal Senators. Those meetings never have taken place, but the President has conferred more than ever with Long — and reached agreements. Indeed, he brought in trade negotiator Robert Strauss as a master maneuverer to help deal with Long.

The result: the President has quietly faded from the energy battlefield and can expect passage of a bill that, if scarcely monumental, can be labeled a moderate success.

Similar withdrawals from hard positions have characterized the President's response to his crisis of competence that peaked in early October when a "one-term President" became the catchphrase of Washington. Besides avoiding confrontation with Russell Long, the President has pulled back from tax reform and his round-the-world trip and markedly softened his rhetoric.

That displays the flexibility of Jimmy Carter. Whereas Lyndon Johnson and Richard Nixon pushed doggedly through the quagmires of Vietnam and Watergate to inevitable destruction, Mr. Carter can tack with the winds. Consequently, even though the Carter presidency has hardly begun to solve internal problems of purpose and organization, the one-term label (now spread to the nation's grassroots) is grossly premature.

The President is an avid reader of polls, as were LBJ and Nixon. But unlike them, he acts on their results. So, at the time of his mounting problems in early October, pollster Pat Caddell was in the Oval Office for long sessions. Soon afterward, Mr. Carter began scaling down programs and broadening contacts.

It was then that Strauss, at the threshold of the Carter inner circle for months, was led inside. Even Carter aides who have minimized this relationship were impressed when on Sunday evening, Nov. 6, the President dined at the Strauss apartment in the Watergate. Insider Strauss, more and more a Gray Eminence for Jimmy Carter, had joined the President's youthful outsiders.

While Strauss was first put in charge of a dubious scheme to sell the energy plan to the nation, he has predictably evolved into a backroom negotiator with Congress. That is accompanied by softened presidential rhetoric in baiting big oil. The denunciation of his Oct. 13 ("biggest ripoff in history") press conference was transformed to the benign generalities in his Oct. 27 press conference.

Conduct followed rhetoric. The President is working closely not only with Sen. Long but with the oil industry's Washington lobbyists — in drafting an energy compromise.

Next came postponement and drastic pruning of the madcap world tour and, more important, the decision to hold back tax reform. Still infatuated with his campaign rhetoric, the President was the last holdout on tax reform. But he too now is swayed by arguments on the necessity for quick tax reduction which would be impeded by major tax reform.

Such decisions do not go to the inner causes of the Carter crisis of competence. His White House staff remains weak and disorganized, in need of a chief of staff. One result was the dreadfully organized coast-to-coast trip in October, just when he did not need such ludicrous exposure, and what one administration official called "that ridiculous trip" around the world. More telling is the lack of theme in his administration reflected in public confusion and poor internal morale. Carter men wistfully note that former aides of John F. Kennedy 14 years later still wear PT-109 tieclasp and talk about "our administration." Such camaraderie is sadly absent in the Carter administration — partly the lack of personal relationships with the President, partly the lack of any common goal. Here is the source of future difficulties.

This failure may stem from President Carter's flexibility, but the same flexibility is his saving virtue. Disorganized and rudderless though his administration may be, he will not follow disastrous policies to ruin. He has emerged from his competence crisis as a President who can abandon tax reform, soften oil-baiting rhetoric and certainly deal with Russell Long.

Gubernatorial candidate believes he's only Republican who can win

By LINDA HILL SCHAFFRINA

Drilling contractor William P. Clements Jr. of Dallas is basing much of his campaign for the Republican nomination for governor on the contention he is the only Republican who can win in November.

And, he said in a telephone interview this morning, the state party leadership agrees with him. "I know of no one in the party leadership, both elected and otherwise, who is not enthusiastic and pleased with my being a candidate."

Clements was in Midland today for a press conference and to speak at a luncheon hosted by Stanley Moore at the Midland Hilton. He also was to meet with Republican precinct workers and other West Texas Republicans.

A frequently mentioned prospective candidate is former State Republican Chairman Ray Hutchison, but Clements said Hutchison is being advised not to run.

"Ray is making all the noises to indicate that he is going to continue to run," Clements said, but, "most of Ray's major backers and supporters are telling him that he ought not to do that because I can win in November and their opinion is that Ray can't."

Clements said Hutchison can't attract the kind of financial support it's going to take to win the general election.

Clements said he does not know of other potential Republican candidates. He numbers among his supporters former Republican gubernatorial candidate Jim Granberry of Lubbock.

Clements, who announced his candidacy Nov. 16, said he expects to get support for his campaign "out of the heart of the Republican party," from a "large base of independent voters" and a lot of "disenchanted" Democrats.

He also expects to get support from those connected with the oil and natural gas industry. "It has to be an important factor for me. . . . I've spent 40 years of my life in the petroleum industry. Naturally, there's going to be a great number of those people who will support me. That's not all the support I'll get."

It is "absurd, nonsense" for the governor of Texas not to play a major role in formulating energy policy, Clements said. That influence should take the form of "demonstrating the kind of energy that the state of Texas is entitled to have by understanding how the system works in Washington."

Clements said he does not think the fact that the present federal administration is Democratic would have an adverse impact on his ability to provide that leadership, because the Democratic leadership in the Senate currently is "giving leadership to this (energy) question."

On financing state government, Clements said he is opposed to a corporate income tax. He said no decision can be made on whether oil and gas leaving the state should be taxed until after the House-Senate Conference Committee acts on the national energy bill.

The 60-year-old candidate said 90 percent of the $7 billion in state funds going to education comes from oil and gas "in one form or another," and "we must manage those funds better than we have been doing."

Clements is chairman of the board and chief executive officer of SEDCO Inc., which he founded in 1947.

Dallas Cowboy quarterback Roger Staubach steps out of the pocket as runs with the ball Sunday as Washington Redskins' tackle Diron Talbert gives chase in first quarter action of NFL game.

Landry changes mind on fourth down gamble

WASHINGTON (AP) — It was just a matter of inches, a half-foot perhaps. The Dallas Cowboys gambled, won and virtually assured themselves of the National Football Conference East title.

TO SET the scene: with the score of their Sunday game against Washington tied 7-7 in the fourth period, Dallas had the ball on the Redskins' 2-yard line with fourth down and one yard needed for a first down. "My first inclination was to go for the field goal," said Cowboys' Coach Tom Landry. "I just felt like that when you get in there, you ought not come out without any points. If we come away without any points, then all the momentum is theirs."

Landry changed his mind, however, when field goal kicker Efen Herrera told him the ball was only six inches from the first down. "It was only a couple of inches," said Herrera. "I knew we could make it and I told him (Landry) if you want me to kick it, I'll kick it. So he called in the quarterback."

THE QUARTERBACK, Roger Staubach, also wanted to go for it. "It was the general feeling and my consensus that we go for it," said Landry, with a smile, after pointing out that Dallas had the ball on the 1-yard line in the first quarter but lost the ball on a fumble. Staubach faked right, then went up the middle for the first down against what Landry described as a kind of a defense "with a crack in it. If they had jumped real tight on us, if they had guessed that way with us, they might have stopped us." On the next play, rookie running back Tony Dorsett leaped high over the Washington line for a touchdown, giving the Cowboys a 14-7 victory, a 9-2 record and a two-game lead in the NFC East with three games remaining. A victory against Philadelphia, San Francisco or Denver would give them the title.

THE COWBOYS had tied the score in the third period on a 4-yard touchdown pass from Staubach to Golden Richards, a play put in only Saturday.

"I just slipped underneath," said Richards. "My man (defender Joe Lavender) was fooled and Roger got the ball to me."

Staubach said his first target was Dorsett, but he was covered so he went to Richards. "We were expecting a blitz, but they didn't. Golden kept his eyes on the ball because (safety Jake) Scott almost got his hands on the ball."

The Redskins had scored first on a 1-yard plunge by Joe Theismann in the second quarter.

"It's a tough loss to swallow," said Theismann, especially when you play a good football game like we did, and come up short."

WITH THE loss, the Redskins are 6-5, third in the NFC East behind Dallas and St. Louis, 7-4. The Redskins, who must play the Cardinals in two weeks, have a long shot at a wild card playoff berth.

Said Landry: "This game will help us. I hope it gives us momentum. The team was losing confidence because we weren't playing well." "Confidence is everything, and we were going the wrong way," he said. "We had to turn it around."

Baltimore is latest to learn of Orange Crush gospel

By The Associated Press Ted Marchibroda and the Baltimore Colts are the latest to learn what is becoming gospel around the National Football League: the Denver Broncos are for real. The Broncos jumped to a 14-0 halftime lead over Baltimore in Sunday's battle of division leaders, saw the Colts close within 14-13, then turned them back with two fourth-quarter touchdowns in posting a 27-13 victory.

"You have to give Denver credit," said Marchibroda, impressed by the offense led by surprising Craig Morton and the rugged Orange Crush defense. "This was probably the biggest game they've been in, and they played almost errorless football."

The Broncos now are 10-1, the best record in the league. They lead defending Super Bowl champion Oakland by 1 1/2 games in the American Football Conference's West Division. Denver is a newcomer to the ranks of the NFL's elite, but four more familiar names — Dallas, Pittsburgh, Minnesota and Los Angeles — strengthened their playoff chances with victories Sunday.

The Dallas Cowboys, 9-2, took a commanding two-game lead over St. Louis in the National Football Conference's Eastern Division by edging arch-rival Washington 14-7 on a fourth-quarter touchdown by rookie Tony Dorsett. The Redskins now are three games back at 6-5, but have a slim chance at the NFC wild-card playoff berth.

The Pittsburgh Steelers, 7-4, took over sole possession of first place in the AFC Central, beating the New York Jets 23-20 as Terry Bradshaw threw two touchdown passes and the Steelers picked off five Jets' aeriels. The other three teams in the division, Cincinnati, Cleveland and Houston, are tied for second place at 6-5 in the league's closest divisional race.

The Minnesota Vikings got back on the winning track with a 13-6 triumph over Green Bay as Chuck Foreman ran through the snow for 101 yards. That put the Vikings, 7-4, one game ahead of Chicago in the NFC Central. And the Los Angeles Rams stayed two games ahead of Atlanta in the NFC West, blanking the Cleveland Browns 9-0 in another game played in snow. It was only the fifth time the Browns have been blanked in 367 regular-season games.

Buffalo plays at Oakland tonight in a game which the Raiders, 8-2, must win to stay within striking distance of Denver in the AFC West and remain the front-runner for the AFC wild card.

Morton staked the Broncos to their early lead with touchdown passes of 41 yards to Rick Upchurch and 19 to Jack Dolbin. Baltimore came back in the second half for a touchdown and two field goals behind the crisp short passing of Bert Jones.

Steelers 23, Jets 20 Bradshaw completed scoring strikes of 37 yards to John Stallworth and 5 yards to Lynn Swann, and Franco Harris ran 1 yard for a Pittsburgh touchdown, but Roy Gerela's 37-yard field goal with 5:58 to play proved to be the winning margin.

Glen Edwards had two of Pittsburgh's five interceptions. "Interception-wise, it was one of my games," said Edwards. "I guess you could say that for the rest of us, too." Harris gained 83 yards and became only the third player in NFL history to pile up over 6,000 yards in his first six seasons, joining Jimmy Brown and O. J. Simpson.

Vikings 13, Packers 6 Chuck Foreman rushed for 101 yards and Bob Lee hooked up with Sammy White for a 40-yard scoring strike through the snow as Minnesota beat Green Bay.

"Even in a snowstorm, you have to throw the ball sometimes," reasoned Lee. "In bad conditions, the offense often will have an advantage. Defensive players have to react and often slip."

Rams 9, Browns 0 Pat Haden completed 20 of 29 passes for 172 yards to Los Angeles while Lawrence McCutcheon and John Cappelletti led a solid ground game. Cappelletti's 7-yard touchdown run and Rafael Septien's 18-yard field goal were the scores, but it was Los Angeles' defense which dominated the game. "The defense executed the way it should," said Rams defensive end Jack Youngblood. "That's what happens when you execute as perfectly as possible — a shutout."

Bengals 34, Giants 13 The Bengals beat the Giants by beating the weather. Ken Anderson fired three first-half touchdown passes, including a 58-yard bomb to wide receiver Billy Brooks on Cincinnati's first play from scrimmage, before the snow came. "We thought we had to throw early," said Bengals Coach Bill Johnson. "We knew the weather was going to change."

Oilers 3, Chiefs 20 Houston built a 34-6 lead as Dan Pastorini threw three touchdown passes, including two to Kea Burrough, then coasted past Kansas City. Rob Carpenter rushed for 149 yards and Ronnie Coleman for 101 for the Oilers, while Tim Wilson scored on a pair of 1-yard runs.

Falcons 17, Buccaneers 0 "It's back to the practice field on Monday," said Tampa Bay Coach SWC cagers in slow start

The Southwest Conference, hoping to show its brand of basketball has improved, tackles 23 inter-sectional foes this week after a rocky start. Seventh-ranked Arkansas, which routed Southwest Missouri 64-47 Saturday night, hosts Mississippi State tonight in the headline encounter.

The SWC batted .333 against outsiders last week, posting a 14 ledger with only victories by Arkansas and Baylor, which mashed McMurry 78-52. Texas Christian, under new Coach Tim Somerville lost twice, Southern Methodist fell to Kentucky, and Texas made a strong showing on the road before dropping a 65-64 encounter to Southern California on two last second free throws.

John McKay, whose club now is 0-25 over two years after its fifth shutout of the season. "Our offensive line was horrible," added McKay. "That's our poorest offensive effort in two years."

Haskel Stankach scored both Atlanta touchdowns on 1-yard plunges. The Falcons have given up just 83 points in 11 games and have a shot at the record for fewest points allowed in a 14-game season, 133 by Minnesota in 1969.

OAKLAND (AP) — Since Ken Stabler is questionable, Mike Rae becomes the probable starting quarterback for the Oakland Raiders in tonight's National Football League game against the Buffalo Bills.

Going without Stabler, who suffered an injured knee in last Sunday's 12-7 loss to the San Diego Chargers, would seem to be a low-risk proposition for the Super Bowl champions. Buffalo has a 2-8 record and also is without its star attraction, injured O. J. Simpson whose only appearance will be as one of the weekly guests in the crowded broadcasting booth of the Monday night television series.

Stabler still was limping over the weekend, and Coach John Madden said, "I may not make the final decision until Monday." Unless the doctors rule it out, however, the No. 1 quarterback is sure to be in uniform and available for emergency duty if he doesn't start. The Raiders, 8-2, can't afford another slipup such as they experienced against the Chargers — not with the Los Angeles Rams and Minnesota Vikings next on their schedule.

The defending NFL champions need a victory to remain one game behind Denver in the American Football Conference West race, and a loss could seriously jeopardize their chances of making the playoffs even as a wild card team. Rae was rushed into last week's game at San Diego after Stabler was Patriots 14, Eagles 6 Steve Grogan passed for two touchdowns in the first half and the New England defense made them stand up, secking Philadelphia quarterback Ron Jaworski eight times. "Sacking a quarterback is like scoring a touchdown," said New England tackle Tony McGee. "That's my gig. That's my paycheck. I don't try to hurt anybody. I just like to let them know I was there."

Chargers 30, Seahawks 28 Dan Fouts, who rejoined San Diego

last week after a 125-day holdout, found Charlie Joiner with a 17-yard touchdown pass and defensive end Fred Dean raced 22 yards with an interception for another fourth-quarter score, leading the Chargers over Seattle.

Fouts completed 19 of 26 passes for 199 yards in his season debut. 49ers 20, Saints 17 Ray Wersching's 42-yard field goal as time ran out provided the winning points for the 49ers, who got 190 yards rushing from Wilbur Jackson.

Rosewall, King take wins

Ken Rosewall and Billie Jean King have had a lot of tennis seasons between them, but apparently both still have a lot left.

Two of the veteran names in the sport showed flashes of past brilliance in posting victories in the $125,000 International Tennis Tournament Sunday in Tokyo.

Rosewall, the 43-year-old Australian ace, claimed the men's singles title with a 4-6, 7-6, 6-4 triumph over Ilie Nastase of Romania while the 34-year-old King defeated Czechoslovakian Martina Navratilova 7-5, 5-7, 6-1. Both winners collected $20,000 and the losers $50,000 Taipei Summit Open Tennis Championships.

King combined with Ma Shuang-wei of Spain to win the mixed doubles by three-hour match was over Cliff Drysdale of evenly contested and, "I South Africa and Kristien was lucky to win the tie-Shaw of the United States. break in the third set."

Montreal captures Grey Cup

MONTREAL (AP) — quarterback Sonny Wade of the Montreal Alouettes early in the 1977 season that they did their best to make a deal for the nine-year veteran.

It's a good thing a deal never materialized, since Wade completed 22 of 40 passes for 340 yards and three touchdowns Sunday in leading the Alouettes to a 41-6 victory over the Edmonton Eskimos and bringing the Grey Cup to Montreal for the third time since 1970.

The 30-year-old Wade was named the outstanding player in the game at the icy Olympic Stadium, an honor he earned in his two previous appearances — in 1970, when Montreal defeated the Calgary Stampeders 23-10 and in 1974, when the Alouettes beat Edmonton, 20-7.

Wade's touchdown passes were thrown within a 3 1/2-minute stretch of the second half. kicker Don Sweet connected with Peter Dalla Riva on a 7-yarder at 12:47 of the heroics.

Longhorns shift gears for Irish

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) — About the only thing top-ranked Texas knows about fifth-ranked Notre Dame is that it is located in South Bend, Ind., but all that will change in about a week.

"It will take us some time to come down from beating Texas A&M and getting into the Cotton Bowl but we know Notre Dame has an excellent team and we'll be ready," said Texas halfback Johnny (Ham) Jones as the clock ticked off the final seconds of a 57-28 victory Saturday.

JONES SAID, "We want to be No. 1 because we really worked hard and paid the price to get where we are."

Under New Coach Fred Akers, the Longhorns swept 11 regular season opponents, won the Southwest Conference title and charged into the Cotton Bowl as the host team.

And the Cinderella Longhorns did it the hard way.

"I love this team," said Akers. "They've overcome a lot of adversity. When we lost our quarterbacks nobody complained... when we lost our kicker nobody complained. Somebody else just stepped in and did the job."

At the final game Saturday, the Longhorns, picked to finish fifth in the SWC race after a 5-5 season, remained as the only unbeaten, undefeated team in major college football.

They did so with a third string quarterback, Randy McEachern, a substitute punter, and a substitute placekicker.

THE VICTORY sets up a classic rematch between the Longhorns and Fighting Irish. Texas clinched the national title after the 1969 by defeating Notre Dame in the Cotton Bowl and the Fighting Irish knocked Texas off in the Cotton Bowl next year.

"I know nothing about Notre Dame," said bruising tailback Earl Campbell, who scored four touchdowns, rushed for a career high 222 yards, caught his first touchdown pass, and cinched the national scoring and rushing leadership.

Akers' plans on Notre Dame were indefinite. He was more worried about the condition of linebacker Lance Taylor, who suffered a shoulder separation against the Aggies and may have to undergo surgery.

"SOMEBODY WILL just have to step in for Lance like we have all season," said Akers.

McEachern came off the bench in the first quarter of the Oklahoma game to lead Texas to a 13-0 victory.

Russell Erklebeck, bothered by leg problems, was replaced by Ted Constanzo (punting) and Steve McMichael (placekicking) against the Aggies.

"I'm so proud of this team... I really appreciate 'em," said Akers, who has made a brilliant debut following the giant footsteps of retired Darrell Royal.

Notre Dame victory could cause deadlock

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON

If No. 1-ranked Texas defeats Notre Dame in the Cotton Bowl, does anyone else have a realistic shot at the national championship?

"Nah, they got it," says Barry Switzer, who coaches third-ranked Oklahoma, "and if they beat Notre Dame they deserve it."

But?

In other words, what if fifth-ranked Notre Dame knocks off Texas? That probably would touch off a bunch of No. 1 claims for The Associated Press Trophy that would make the Gold Rush resemble a leisurely stroll in the park.

In fact, the anticipation is already beginning even though front-running Texas, the nation's only unbeaten team, completed an 11-0 regular-season Saturday with its own version of The Campbells Are Coming in a 57-28 thrashing of 12th-ranked Texas A&M. That's running back Earl (27 carries, 222 yards, four touchdowns) Campbell and defensive end Tim (four tackles, one sack) Campbell.

"If Texas doesn't beat Notre Dame, then we deserve the national championship if we beat Arkansas in the Orange Bowl," Switzer said following Oklahoma's 38-7 rout of 11th-ranked Nebraska on Friday.

But what about second-ranked Alabama, a 48-21 winner over Auburn and headed for a Sugar Bowl meeting with No. 8 Ohio State?

"Alabama played Nebraska and lost while we destroyed Nebraska," Switzer said. "I think Alabama's got to go out and kind of do to Ohio State — which we also beat — like we did to Nebraska."

Alabama and Oklahoma have 10-1 records. So do No. 4 Michigan, which meets No. 14 Washington in the Rose Bowl; No. 6 Arkansas, a 17-4 come-from-behind winner over Texas Tech on Thanksgiving Day; No. 7 Kentucky, whose season is over because of NCAA probation, and No. 9 Penn State, which edged No. 10 Pitt 15-13 and has a Fiesta Bowl date with No. 19 Arizona State. The Sun Devils became the Western Athletic Conference's Fiesta representative Friday night by swatting Arizona 23-7.

And you can make book that Notre Dame, 9-1 with a regular season game remaining against Miami of Florida next Saturday night, will have a few things to say about the rankings if it disposes of Texas.

The post-season bowl line-up was completed over the weekend and it looks like this:

Cotton Bowl—No. 1 Texas vs. No. 5 Notre Dame.

Sugar Bowl—No. 2 Alabama vs. No. 8 Ohio State.

Orange Bowl—No. 3 Oklahoma vs. No. 6 Arkansas.

Rose Bowl—No. 4 Michigan vs. No. 14 Washington.

Fiesta Bowl—No. 9 Penn State vs. No. 19 Arizona State.

Gator Bowl—No. 10 Pitt vs. No. 13 Clemson.

Liberty Bowl—No. 11 Nebraska vs. No. 15 North Carolina.

Bluebonnet Bowl—No. 12 Texas A&M vs. Southern California.

Tangerine Bowl—No. 20 Florida State vs. Texas Tech.

Sun Bowl—Louisiana State vs. Stanford.

Peach Bowl—Iowa State vs. North Carolina State.

Hall of Fame Classic—Maryland vs. Missouri.

Independence Bowl—Louisiana Tech vs. Louisville.

Of course, those rankings are likely to change a bit when The AP releases its final regular season poll tonight.

Not only did Pitt, Nebraska and Texas A&M lose, so did No. 17 UCLA, which dropped a 29-27 thriller to Southern Cal on Frank Jordan's 38-yard field goal with two seconds left. That kick knocked UCLA out of the Rose Bowl in favor of Washington and enabled Southern Cal to win its way to the Bluebonnet Bowl.

The only other Top Twenty team to see action over the holiday weekend was No. 18 Brigham Young, which walloped Texas-El Paso 68-19 and gained a share of the WAC championship with Arizona State. However, the Cougars wouldn't have gone to the Fiesta Bowl in any event — (1) because they lost to Arizona State and (2) because the game is on a Sunday, which is a day of rest in the Mormon Church.

Instead, BYU has lined up a post-season trip to Japan.

In other traditional wind-ups, Army beat Navy for the first time in five years, 17-14, and Holy Cross shocked Boston College 35-20.

Texas' Campbell won the national rushing crown with 1,744 yards to 1,686 for Louisiana State's Charles Alexander, who carried 43 times — a school record — for 231 yards in a 66-7 romp over Wyoming.

Suns shine over Denver

The third quarter.

"When Paul Westphal is hot," says Phoenix Suns Coach John MacLeod, "you want to make sure he has the basketball."

When Paul Westphal is hot and has the basketball, the Suns usually shine.

The Phoenix guard was blazing Sunday night, scoring 48 points to set personal and team highs for a game in leading the Suns to a 115-97 triumph over the Denver Nuggets.

"He's an offensive machine," said MacLeod.

And a modest one at that. "I think of the few shots I missed more than those I made," said Westphal, who exceeded by one point the club record set by Alvan Adams and Gail Goodrich and bettered by eight points the personal best he set last season.

Denver's David Thompson, the National Basketball Association's scoring leader with 27.6 points per game, was held to 24 points by the Suns. Dan Issel was second for the Nuggets with 17.

The Suns held a 33-24 lead at the end of the first quarter and never trailed. Denver managed only 17 points in the second quarter and trailed 57-41 at the half. The Suns expanded the lead to 83-72 at the end of Maurice Lucas, who missed his fourth consecutive game due to bronchitis, and scored 23 of his points in the first half.

The Lakers led by a point early in the third period and were within 41-39 with 3:20 remaining before Portland ran off nine straight points to put the game away.

Jazz 115, Kings 106

Pete Maravich scored 41 points and Leonard "Truck" Robinson collected 19 rebounds to carry New Orleans past Kansas City for its fifth consecutive victory.

Maravich scored 27 points in the fourth quarter for New Orleans, which made 66.7 percent of its shots in the third period and shot 60 percent in the fourth.

Otis Birdsong led the Nets 99, SuperSonics 96

Center George Johnson blocked three shots in the last three minutes and scored a crucial basket to lead New Jersey over Seattle.

The Nets trailed by a point with 3:27 remaining and ran off six straight points, including Johnson's lay-in, to take a 95-90 lead with 1:13 left. They held on for their average — to carry first road victory of the Portland past Los Angeles. Neal replaced

Fans silent for Elmore

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — The fans who so boisterously had cheered Robert Elmore for three basketball seasons — "Mo, Mo, Mo" in awe of his slam dunks and Herculean rebounding — bowed their heads in an uncomfortable silence.

The news that Elmore was found dead Saturday morning in his Rome apartment, according to police an apparent victim of drug overdose, was difficult to accept for the 8,926 who gathered for Wichita State's season opener Saturday night.

"It was only a few short months ago when we cheered him so wildly in his final appearance here at Henry Levitt Arena," the public address announcer said. "Let us honor this memory of 'Big Mo' by standing in silent homage for one who brought so many minutes of fun and excitement to WSU, the city of Wichita and the state of Kansas."

The cheers returned to Levitt Arena as Wichita State went on to defeat Hardin-Simmons 79-72 with a new Shocker star — Lynbert "Cheese" Johnson — helping lead the way.

But when the arena had emptied and the silence returned after the game, the question on the lips of those who knew Elmore well could find no answer to the question: why?

"You know the shock of Robert's death?" asked a shaken Coach Harry Miller. "If it in fact occurred as reported, that's the shock of it. We don't know the circumstances there and we probably never will."

The young Wichita State players huddled after the pregame meal and dedicated the game to Elmore, a team spokesman said, but Miller asked reporters not to talk with them because several "took it very, very hard."

"I can't honestly say how it affected them in the game," Miller said. "We attempted to key it down a little bit because we knew it affected a couple or three of them pretty hard."

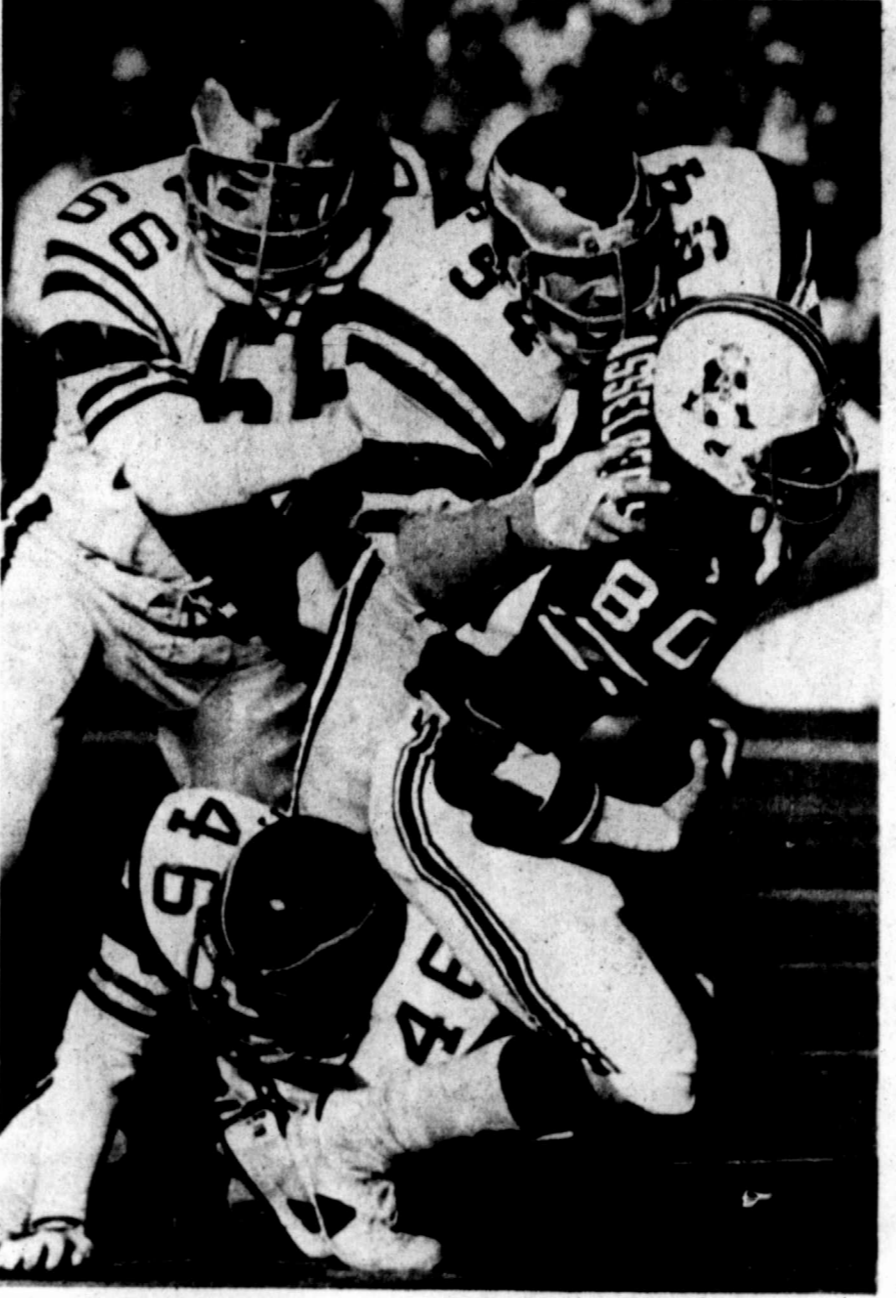

Italian police said they found Elmore slumped in his bachelor apartment with a syringe next to his body and drugs around him, including heroin and hashish.

An autopsy was scheduled for today to determine the exact cause of death of the 23-year-old New York native, a three-time All-Missouri Valley Conference performer.

"To our knowledge, he had never used any type of (drugs) and I have no reason to believe he ever could," Miller said of Elmore, who completed his career at Wichita State last spring and was playing professionally in Italy after being cut by the New Jersey Nets of the National Basketball Association.

The possibility of a drug overdose "is the thing that's so hard to believe out of this situation," said former Shocker assistant coach Ron Heller.

Elmore's only brush with the law at Wichita State occurred in March 1976 when he and two Shocker football players were charged with breaking and entering after a barrel was thrown through a liquor store window. But Elmore was acquitted.

Miller heads Big Eight stars

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Terry Miller, the swifty who set fire to conference record books, was a unanimous selection to head The Associated Press All-Big Eight football team for 1977.

The Oklahoma State senior, the Big Eight's all-time leading rusher with a career total of 4,754 yards, was joined in the backfield by two juniors and Nebraska sophomore I.M. Hipp.

Dexter Green of Iowa State filled a third running back position while Oklahoma's Thomas Lott, who led the Sooners to the Big Eight championship, was picked at quarterback.

A pair of Greys — Roberts of Oklahoma and Jorgensen of Nebraska — were named offensive guards.

At tackle, the AP panel chose Missouri's James Taylor, 6-foot-5, 280 pounds, and Oklahoma's Karl Baldishwiler, 6-4, 260. Tom Davis of Nebraska, 6-3, 240, is at center and Missouri junior Kellen Winslow, 6-6, 235, the tight end.

Rounding out the starting offense is wide receiver Joe Stewart, Missouri's career reception leader.

Defensively, Iowa State's tackle tandem of Mike Stensrud and Tom Randall were selected as the finest in the league. Stensrud, a 6-4, 270-pound senior, was the foundation of a solid defense which led the Cyclones to their best-ever conference mark, 5-2, and a berth in the Peach Bowl.

This was one of the richest years in Big Eight history for linebackers. The three drawing the most votes were

DEAR ABBY

She's in love again with her husband

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: After 32 years of marriage, my husband and I separated. He was hard-working, non-drinking and faithful. I forced the separation because he was terribly hard on our three children (they're now all college graduates and married). Also, he refused to socialize with anyone. I felt trapped and stifled, and couldn't take his selfish, insulated way of life. He moved out of our lovely home and into a small apartment.

About a month ago I bumped into him at the shopping center. He invited me to see his apartment, so I went. Before I knew it I found myself in a very amorous situation and I stayed overnight. He served me breakfast in bed and confessed that the separation made him truly appreciate me. He said he could never love anyone the way he loved me and if I took him back he would try his best to be more sociable and make me happy. The next weekend we drove out of town secretly like two young lovers. I didn't want anyone (especially my family) to know. Since then, he's been wining and dining me, and I have been loving it. It's better than our courtship ever was!

People keep telling me how marvelous I look since I got rid of "that pill." They don't know I'm in love all over again.

If I take him back, my friends and family will think I've lost my mind. I'm still ashamed to let them know I'm seeing him. What would you do?—WALKING ON AIR

DEAR WALKING: I'd take him back and give him a chance to prove his sincerity. And the last thing I'd worry about is what my friends and family think.

DEAR ABBY: I just had a confrontation with a woman in a laundromat over her smoking.

I am asthmatic, and cigarette smoke not only offends me, it makes me sick.

When I asked her to please put her cigarette out, she told me—and everyone else in the place—in no uncertain terms that she will smoke wherever she wants to. Furthermore, she said there were no "No Smoking" signs in evidence, so I had better get used to it because everybody smokes.

Unfortunately I will now have to go into debt to buy a washer-dryer. I'm sick of bringing home a cough and clothes that stink of cigarette smoke from the laundromat.—WINCHESTER, VA.

DEAR WIN: I am no defender of smokers, but it's a rare smoker who will not quickly douse his cigarette if someone complains. More and more public places post "No Smoking" signs, which I think is a step in the right direction.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 64-year-old woman and my problem is my husband. He is 68, and no matter where we go, he ogles the women, young or old. His head looks like it's on a swivel. He's been impatient for the last 15 years, so I can't understand why he's looking. He doesn't lust—leers. One of these days somebody is going to take a poke at him.

When I tell him that his looking is obvious and ask him to please cut it out, he says I am jealous. I'm not really, because I know darn well that all he can do is look.

What I want to know is this: Is he wrong for looking? Or am I wrong for complaining?—LOOKER'S FRAU

DEAR FRAU: Looking in the manner that you describe is rude, so I don't blame you for complaining. However, I seriously doubt that your complaining will put an end to his looking.

DEAR ABBY: I am just about ready to lose my mind. I have talked to our minister, my family doctor (he gave me some pills for my nerves), all my relatives and some of the neighbors, and everyone tells me there is nothing I can do. You are my last hope.

I have a beautiful daughter. She is 54 and has never been married. She had her chances, but she was particular. She worked steady for 35 years, saved her money and never ran around.

Well, she finally met a man she thinks is worth marrying. He is 57 (he says) and has never been married (he claims). He travels for some kind of electronics company, and all I know about him is that he drives a nice car and has my daughter in a trance.

Here is the blow. My daughter says she doesn't want a wedding, so if she doesn't come home one night, I shouldn't worry—she'll have gone to Las Vegas to get married. How can I talk some sense into that child's head?—HEARTBROKEN MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: I'll have to vote with the minister, your family doctor, the relatives and the neighbors. Your "child" is a big girl now and well able to make her own decisions. Don't take it personally. She's entitled to have the kind of wedding she wants.

Indoor gardens for kids

FAIR LAWN, N.J. (AP) — When youngsters want to get into mother's act growing plants under lights indoors, here's a project for them, advises Woody D. Bickford of the Duro-Lite Home Lighting Institute.

Buy a fluffy sponge, sow mustard or watercress seeds in its open pores and soak in a dish of water. Then hang the sponge on the side of mother's light garden and watch it sprout with edible foliage. When the sponge dries out, give the plants a drink by holding a shallow dish of water under it till it absorbs the water.

VIKING Works with you, never against you.

Don't feel bad. Most machines can't sew all these stitches like a Viking 6460 can. Especially through stretch fabrics, sheer tricot, tough leather, or sixteen layers of denim. Most machines aren't jam-proof, permanently lubricated, and capable of adding new stitches like a Viking either. Want to know more? Then clip the open house coupon and bring it in for some free coffee, donuts, and a demonstration. Better bring your old sewing machine too. In case you decide to trade.

Let color set room's mood, says designer

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Charlotte Finn, designer of interiors and furnishings, encourages young people to live in their own time — they may not be able to afford antiques and "why live in another world anyway," she says.

"Contemporary rooms are really more suitable to our casual, care-free lives and it suits the mode of dress for the young especially," she says.

Color is a big influence "on the way we feel about the way we live," she maintains. Choose color for its soothing effects, to provide a warm, friendly feeling, and to set the mood for an entire house. She likes combinations of shrimp and apricot, perhaps teamed with taupe brown. In another room of the same house, she may use a deeper salmon color and another brown.

"You want to be able to walk in a room and smile," she says. "I like happy rooms. White combined with bone or yellows or other fresh, clear colors makes a very attractive focal point. You really need only one fabric, print or solid, to pull a room into place. It can be the key to an entire environment."

Young people should be inspired by portability, modular rooms that can move easily from home to home. And there are all sorts of boxes and bins that can be stacked and combined and used for storage, display or whatever. Many young people are living in studio apartments and they should realize, Mrs. Finn says, that a real bed can fit beautifully into their decorating scheme. Topped with an interesting blanket or inexpensive throw, it can serve as extra seating. Never leave it unmade, though, she advises. One bed of her own design is designed to fit in anywhere — it is made of mica, a soft look, and is rounded at the corners.

HOROSCOPE

By CARROLL RIGTER (TUES., NOV. 28)

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A number of problems are in effect that concern home, family, property and possessions. Settle them sensibly before you consider plans of a social or romantic nature.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Know what your family wants from you and try to please them more. Study a new interest carefully before you present it to loved ones or higher-ups.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Be careful in what you say today since others are apt to misinterpret you. Watch what you spend.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Be careful in the handling of monetary affairs as some advice given you could be erroneous. Look into a new interest that is fascinating to you.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Don't be forceful where personal affairs are concerned; use tact instead. Any treatments you may need are best taken at the end of the day.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Don't let your emotions run away with you because of personal wishes or you can get into trouble. Take no chances in credit affairs.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You may be disappointed by friends and you may have a difficult time in dealing with others right now, but everything changes in a little while. Forget social matters for now.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Analyze a civic matter before you decide what to do about it. Not a good time for handling credit matters, either.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Study new situations that arise since they can bring you much benefit in the future. A new contact can be disturbing just now. Don't give in to temper.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Study responsibilities and then handle them objectively and get good results. Don't argue with mate, loved one. Strive for harmony.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Evening is best time to have that talk with a partner and you get good results. A civic affair is not to your liking, but study it well and you gain benefits.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Although business affairs may not be going well today, look on the bright side of things. Take better care of your health.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Attend to business affairs that are important and relieve pressures. Enjoy company of good friends in the evening.

Israel announces oil discovery near Sinai

The Los Angeles Times
JERUSALEM — Israel announced Friday that it had struck oil off the western coast of the Sinai peninsula — part of the occupied Arab territory of which Egyptian President Anwar Sadat said here, "Our land is sacred."

Israeli Energy Minister Yitzhak Modai called the new discovery "a gusher" and said that the well was expected to produce about 3,000 barrels a day.

Such an output would be substantial. "Indications" of oil have been reported earlier in the same area, which is off the Arab oasis of El Tur. The site is about 50 miles south of the Abu Rodeis oil fields which were returned to Egypt by Israel in 1975.

The exact location was not disclosed, but most of the waters off El Tur are part of a lease granted by the Egyptian government in 1964 to the Egyptian General Petroleum Co. and Amoco International Oil Co., a subsidiary of Standard Oil Co. (Indiana).

When it was disclosed last January that Israel was drilling in the Sinai waters in an American-Egyptian oil lease area, the U.S. State Department criticized the operation as a possible obstacle to peace, commenting that international law forbids such developments.

News of the oil strike — coming within days of Sadat's return from Israel after again demanding Israeli withdrawal from all occupied lands — was expected to add a new complication to the efforts to achieve Middle East peace.

Early in the year an Israeli official said that an oil find in the Sinai "would give Israel another card to deal at the peace table." It presumably would make the Egyptians more insistent on the area's return and raise the anti on what Israel would expect in return for giving it up.

Modai disclosed news of the gusher in a talk to the Engineers Club at Tel Aviv, saying the strike had been made earlier Friday. He said later that he did not believe the discovery would be a bar to peace.

If peace is achieved, he said, Israel could lay a pipeline to the rich Amoco oilfield on the Egyptian side of the Gulf and get oil from it. Amoco's El-Morgan field lies off El Tur but stops at mid-gulf, where Israeli gunboats have halted all drilling crews from the Egyptian side at gunpoint, barring them from venturing into lease land on the Israeli-held Sinai side.

"Under peace conditions, even if all the oil sources will be in Egyptian hands, Israel will be able to control some of them, even if it does not have sovereign rights, since it developed the field," Modai said.

"A less desirable alternative, in case peace is not achieved, and a lesser settlement is arranged with Egypt, is that we will at least continue to obtain the oil from the sites where we found it."

For the next few days oil from the new well will be burned off, Modai said, and flames and smoke from the offshore rig are rising high in the air above the gulf — sure evidence to the Amoco and Egyptian oil officials on the other side that Israel has finally struck a viable source of oil.

The drilling is being directed by the Neptune Co., a Panamanian-registered American investment group that includes a number of Houston men in its top echelons. The work at the site is being contracted out by a group of British oil specialists, and the entire project is under the Israeli National Oil Co., set up by the government to coordinate oil searches.

The agreement between Neptune and the government gives the American firm 25 percent of any income while the remainder goes to the Israeli treasury.

Modai said that after the well is capped a survey will be made to determine if the oil field is large enough to be commercially viable. He said the strike had been made at a depth of 5,400 feet — much shallower than many wells drilled in the offshore area. More bores will be drilled in the area to determine the extent of the field, he said, adding that initial tests indicated that the oil had a low sulfur content.

Israel captured the Abu Rodeis fields developed by Egypt on the Sinai coast when it seized the desert peninsula in the six-day war of 1967. Under the disengagement agreement of 1975, arranged in the "shuttle diplomacy" of Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, Israel returned the fields to Egypt.

The area reclaimed by Egypt ends below Abu Rodeis, and the Israelis maintained control over the rest of the heart-shaped peninsula coastline. Abu Rodeis at one time filled all of Israel's petroleum needs, and work on the offshore fields and onshore plots at El Tur were begun soon after Israel relinquished the operating fields at Abu Rodeis.

President makes plans for late energy pitch

By RICHARDE E. MEYER

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter is putting together a year-end pitch to Congress to salvage as much of his energy program as possible.

Aides say the president has set aside time for meetings with senators and congressmen as they return from Thanksgiving vacation in an effort to persuade them to approve the kind of energy program he wants.

Meanwhile, Carter planned to meet a tax on U.S.-produced crude oil, which would drive up the price of gasoline by about 7 cents a gallon.

Carter wants the conferees to retain a House-passed ceiling on natural gas prices as well as the crude oil tax, approved by the House as an incentive to conserve.

The Senate has rejected the crude oil tax and voted to lift controls on natural gas prices after two years.

During the president's own Thanksgiving holiday at Camp David, his vacation White House in the Catoctin Mountains of western Maryland, his press secretary, Jody Powell, renewed Carter's threat to veto energy legislation that isn't tough enough.

"Anyone who believes the president will sign a bad bill is seriously mistaken," Powell said. "No bill may be better than a bad bill."

He said Carter still intends to leave after Christmas on a foreign trip and will look for signs this week that Congress will complete an acceptable energy program by then.

Carter originally had planned to leave Nov. 22 on an 11-day, nine-country journey to South America, Africa, Asia and Europe, but he called off the trip to push his energy proposals.

ENERGY OIL & GAS

today with Army Secretary Clifford Alexander and representatives of the Army Corps of Engineers to determine what can be done to improve dam inspections.

After a privately-owned dam collapsed in Georgia earlier this month, killing 39 persons, Carter said he would step up federal inspection of non-federal dams.

The president also is meeting this week with Joseph A. Califano, secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, and James McIntyre, acting director of the Office of Management and Budget, to talk about reorganizing HEW's education effort.

Carter promised during the presidential campaign to create a separate Department of Education.

But Claudia Townsend, an associate White House press secretary, said there was "lots of room" in the president's schedule to arrange meetings with members of Congress trying to resolve House and Senate differences over energy legislation.

"It's not such a crowded schedule that he couldn't get those things in," Ms. Townsend said.

House and Senate conference committees are negotiating tax and price portions of the energy program. And it appears likely that energy will keep the lawmakers busy until close to Christmas.

The most controversial issues they face are the pricing of natural gas and Oil-industry sources seem confident that the initial purchases by Peking are only what one described as "the tip of the iceberg."

Executives of two other U.S. companies have arrived in the Chinese capital to compete for the sale of moveable jack-up rigs costing more than $30 million each, Peking and Houston sources say.

The sales, involving several American companies that have been actively courting the Chinese over the last few months, indicate Peking has decided to overlook its diplomatic problems with Washington in its rush to gain advanced U.S. oil technology. The negotiations are the most concrete sign to date that China is determined to become an industrial and trade leader through development of its rich oil resources.
