The House and Senate conference committee moved toward perfecting a bill to be voted on next week, although final action was stalled by a deadlock on proposed tax credits for

Under present law, any Social Security retiree earning more than $3,000 a year would lose $1 of pension for every $2 of additional earnings. The limit next year would be $3,240, and automatic adjustments would follow in future years.

Under the conference bill, the earnings limit would go to $4,000 next year and increase in $500 increments to $6,000 in 1982. After that, the automatic adjustments would

Vance arrives for Cairo talks

By BARRY SCHWEID

CAIRO (AP) - Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance arrived Friday night to open a fast-paced Middle East tour in which he hopes to bolster Egyptian-Israeli peace efforts and bring other Arab states closer to the negotiating

On arriving from a North Atlantic Treaty Organization meeting in Brussels, Belgium, Vance told reporters he would be talking with President Anwar Sadat "about the ways we can best help move the process forward in support of the actions he has initiated.

Those actions include Sadat's planned peace talks in Cairo beginning next Wednesday. Israel, the United States and the United Nations are the only parties that have accepted Sadat's invitations to the talks.

Vance's plane landed less than eight hours after Jordan's King Hussein, trying to mediate between Egypt and "hardline" Arab states opposed to his bold peace overtures to Israel, abruptly flew back to Amman The king's apparently fruitless talks with Sadat were cut short.

The leader of the anti-Sadat Arabs, Syrian President Hafez Assad, met with Kuwaiti rulers in his campaign to win the support of powerful oil states against the Egyptian diplomatic maneuvers. Knowledgable sources in Kuwait said the sheikdom would maintain its neutrality in the dispute. Sadat implicitly threatened to make a separate peace with Israel if Arab attacks on his policies continued. In an interview with a Kuwaiti newspaper reported Friday by Egypt's official Middle East News Agency, Sadat said he is afraid the Egyptian people might "feel an-noyed" at Arab hostility "and insist that I turn my back on (the Arabs) and proceed in a way that will guarantee Egypt's regional rights while ignoring the Arab cause.

In related developments Friday: -Informed sources in Kuwait said that sheikdom and Saudi Arabia were trying jointly to mediate the Sadat-Assad dispute and might seek a meeting between the two that would also include other Arab leaders.

-A Kuwaiti newspaper said Assad plans to visit Moscow after his current tour of the Persian Gulf region, to brief Soviet leaders on the Syrian position.

-Eighty-two Arabs from the Israeli-occupied Gaza Strip, which was administered by Egypt before the 1967 Middle East War, arrived in Cairo in support of Sadat's peace initiative.

-Israel upgraded its delegation to the Cairo talks with the addition of Maj. Gen. Avraham Tamir, con-sidered an expert on the Mideast strategic situation.

At a news conference in Brussels before leaving for Cairo, Vance acknowledged that "the Soviet Union and ourselves do not agree with respect to the question of the Cairo

Soviets offer rare view of 'first lady'

By SETH MYDANS

MOSCOW (AP) - The Soviet Union offered Westerners a rare glimpse Friday of its first lady, Viktoria P. Brezhnev, on the occasion of her 70th birthday Sunday.

The official Tass news agency distributed to the Western press a portrait and brief article about the wife of Soviet President Leonid I. Brezhnev. Soviet officials said they did not yet know whether Russian readers would be given a look at the material in domestic newspapers.

Like the wives of other Soviet leaders, Mrs. Brezhnev is kept out of the limelight. The Soviet public does not even know for certain how many children were born to her and Brezhnev, who turns 71 later this Friday's Tass description called

Mrs. Brezhnev the president's "wife and helpmate" and praised her for being "full of spirit and vigor."

A plump, self-effacing woman who flashes a gold tooth when she smiles, Mrs. Brezhnev is said to have simple tastes and an uncomplicated philosophy of life.

"Once Viktoria Brezhnev was asked what New Year's wish she had for her children and grandchildren," Tass said. "She answered simply: 'The same as for all children of the earth — happiness and joy and clear blue skies. I would wish them to be healthy, strong, honest and courageous fighters and real sons and daughters of their people."

No official biography of Mrs. Brezhnev is available, but some details of her life and that of the Brezhnev children emerge from unofficial Moscow sources.

They say she was born of well-to-do Jewish parents and is believed to have met her husband when both were students at the Dneprodzerzhinsk metallurgical institute and to have helped support him during his early career as a party functionary.

After their marriage, she apparently had no career of her own, but Tass

said she "can often be seen (among) representatives of the international women's movement

Western reporters in Moscow last saw Mrs. Brezhnev in 1972 during former President Richard M. Nixon's visit, when she entertained America's first lady at tea.

Mondale tells AFL-CIO 'protectionism' taboo

The Washington Post

LOS ANGELES - Vice President Walter F. Mondale told the AFL-CIO Friday that the Carter administration will not resort to "protectionism" in its efforts to shield American jobs from cut-rate foreign competition.

Mondale's trade warning came in apparent response to AFL-CIO President George Meany's strongly worded call Thursday for import controls that will "do unto others as they do unto us, barrier for barrier, closed door for closed door.

Stepping gingerly around a possibly new flash-point in the already strained relations between the White House and the AFL-CIO, Mondale made only passing reference to the trade issue in what was obviously an afterthought to his prepared text.

But the message was clear.

Weather may warm

A slow warming trend is predicted to move the mercury up slightly this weekend in the Permian Basin.

According to the National Weather Service at the Midland Regional Air Terminal, the high today is predicted in the mid-40s and the low tonight will be in the mid-30s.

On Sunday, the daytime temperatures are expected to reach the

If, it felt cold last night it should have. At 10 p.m. it was 26 degrees and a 10 mph wind made the chill factor equivalent to 12 degrees, according to a National Weather Service spokesman. Friday's high temperature was 41 degrees and the overnight low Friday was 20 degrees.

Cold and clear weather was reported Friday in Lamesa, Andrews, Stanton, Rankin, Big Lake, Odessa and Crane.

One out of every six American jobs depends on exports of American products. Mondale told the huge labor federation's 12th biennial convention. and "protectionism is a threat to all of Short of erecting new barriers to what he called 'responsible international trade." Mondale said the administration will take steps to bar the so-called "dumping" of foreign products in this country at prices below their cost of production and transportation-a step it has already taken in proposing minimum price guidelines for steel product imports.

He also reasserted the pledge by chief U.S. trade negotiator Robert S Strauss to reject any new international trade rules now being negotiated in Geneva if they threaten U.S. jobs. "We will walk away from those talks before we accept a bad deal for the workers of the United States," said Mondale.

While this line drew applause, only silence greeted Mondale's warnings against protectionism, a concept that Meany embraced in his keynote speech and the convention is expected to endorse next week a resolution advocating stiff trade controls.

Mondale got a generally enthusiastic response from the labor crowd, helping overcome the coolness that Meany and the delegates have shown toward President Carter. The president has thus far declined to address the gathering - making him the first Democratic president not to have spoken to the AFL-CIO's convention since the federation was formed 22 years ago.

There was no applause at all when Mondale said he was bringing "greetings from your friend, the president of the United States." Later in his speech. Mondale dropped a line referring to Carter that would ordinarily have evoked applause from a friendly crowd.

In the envelope was a note, written in Spanish, saying, "In agreement with the exchange of prisoners treaty. you are permitted to leave the country, having finished in Mexico the sentence you received for crimes committed in national territory."

Brenda Lee Richards of Los Angeles, Calif., mother of 18-month-old Jennifer Lynn, scooped up her baby as her name was called out and waved to the crowd of reporters as she boarded the plane.

Mrs. Richards had served four years and three months of a sevenyear sentence for smuggling cocaine. The baby's father was an American prisoner released some time ago. Mexican laws permit conjugal visits in prison.

Accompanying the prisoners on the plane were seven guards from the U.S. Bureau of Prisons, and U.S. and Mexican officials.

Inquiry on encounters

Strange, indeed, is the reported national revival of interest in Unidentified Flying Objects (UFO) reports.

The White House even has asked the National Aeronautics and Space Administration to reopen the subject. This is difficult to understand

NASA, however, is reluctant to reopen the UFO inquiry, and we would go along with the agency in its decision, which certainly is with reason.

The Air Force concluded after a decade of study and expense that further inquiry into the subject was unwarranted. That was 10 years ago, when Project Blue Book was closed down.

In connection with the White House request, it is said that President Carter himself has reported sighting a UFO in 1973. Such sightings are termed

MARTINI LUNCHES:

President Jimmy Carter is taking wrong approach

By MICHAEL GRANT Copley News Service

President Carter clearly is against the tax deductibility of luncheon as a business expense. And his tax reform package, when or if it ever comes. before Congress, is expected to ask for a limit on how much of the tab may be written off.

As a tax reform, the proposition has its pros and cons. These comments should not be taken as an effort to argue them; it is rather to register an objection to the manner in which President Carter argues them.

In seeking the support of the proletariat for his cause. Mr. Carter has hung a name on it that suggests exclusivity, if not outright

He calls it the "martini lunch" or. the "three-martini lunch" or the "$50 martini lunch.

Thus is sketched a mental image: There are the white-collared captains of commerce, loitering stylishly, and no doubt a bit drunkenly, over a lordly lunch whose tab will be written off. later to float down and land smack on the tax burden of the working stiff.

Again, the accuracy of the fact is not the present issue. This is only to insist that the image is distorted and the martini thereby most maliciously maligned.

President Carter means well, heaven knows, but he has a talent for alienating people in the act of looking a body to call him up, all at once on the telephone, so they could tell their problems directly to their newly accessible chief executive.

Forty-two constituents got through. and about nine million didn't. Thus was redefined the word "accessible."

Now, in behalf of the little man's taxes, he seeks to shift part of the load to the inordinate midday hungers of the business community, using the martini as a lever.

It is impossible to know how many among the unwashed, dutch-treat work force take in a martini or two at noontime. It can only be an assumption - albeit a confident one - that the number probably surpasses the total of those who last-spring dialed the White House and got a busy

The President may be excused for his failure to gauge the depth of the martini's support. His background is Southern Baptist, and that community's opinion of any blend of strong waters could not be slipped under a snake's belly.

He lately has moved in looser circles, where martinis are as regular a part of the daily routine as the brushing of teeth, so he must have developed at least an observer's familiarity with them. There are signs in abundance, particularly in the haunts of the elite, that the martini is in fact an institution.

Is there any legend that mentions "the perfect scotch and water"? James Bond directed that his martinis be "shaken, not stirred," because stirring "bruises the gin. Subsequent research has indicated this to be so much of Ian Fleming's imagination. How much research has been done on bourbon and seven?

The "classic formula" for the perfect martini insists on a ratio of 3.7 parts gin to one part vermouth.

These are poured over ice so cold it. is "dry," and stirred rapidly, no more than 10 times, lest the ice get "wet" and dilute the gin. The drink then is poured quickly into stemmed, chilled glasses, and the glass is held ONLY BY THE STEM.

How much 'literature has accumulated on the preparation and consumption of a daiquiri? How many business people drink daiquiris at

A cartoon some time ago in a men's magazine of Mr. Carter's acquaintance neatly summarized the martini's status. The executive just home from the office is slouched in a chair, hat still on. At arm's length he holds a martini, at which he gazes in lustful anticipation.

Next to him stands his wife in a skimpy negligee. "I can remember when you looked at me-like that," she But the President still, by this tax campaign, shows an ignorance of the martini's character. Off the top, his sobriquet martini lunch suggests the martini is responsible for running up the tab into the lavish territory the President sodeplores.

He should sit down before lunch sometime and drink a couple. He then would better understand the martini defenders' contention that if two businessmen spend $50 on lunch, and no more than $15 of that is at--tributable to martinis (even at the inflated scale of $1.50 a pop), then no business will be done, at lunch or for some time thereafter.

'Respect" is the operative word. Of all the libations, the martini commands it most sternly. Brother Billy can drink beer down at the station all day long, until his waist shades his shoes

Try that with martinis, and he will be measuring his length upon the floor

Approached respectfully, martinis are remarkable conversational catalysts. And the first sip causes a strained spirit to respond with the same relaxed shiver a weary body gets from a hot shower. But stay too long at either, and you will shrivel like a prune.

.It becomes a contradiction in terms. The three-martini lunch just doesn't add up to a $50 martini lunch. If price is the objection, the President would more accurately slur the "fourcourses-with-wine lunch," and get off the martini's back.

Stage II of Boston's busing: the violence has ended

By ROWLAND EVANS And ROBERT NOVAK

BOSTON - When federal District Judge W. Arthur Garrity Sr. on Nov. 29 made clear that he - not the elected Boston School Committee will ultimately decide which schools close here, he continued the judical overlordship that has driven half the city's white students out of the school

What makes this remarkable is that the school committee is no longer the bastion of bitter-end anti-busers. Its chairman, Kathleen Sullivan: provides moderate leadership that accepts the inevitability if not the wisdom of court-ordered busing. Sheled all candidates for reelection Nov. 8, when Boston's voters elected the committee's first black (a moderate) and defeated its foremost anti-busing

But the new school committee is treated no differently than the old school committee by Judge Garrity. He and what Miss Sultivan calls "those crazy experts of his" are not surrendering control. That suggests continued white exodus from the system, where Garrity's rule brought soaring per-pupil costs without im-proving education. "The victims are the kids." Miss Sullivan told us. This is Stage II of Boston's busing

Violence and demonstrations have ended, and one-issue politicians are. driven from office. But liberals elsewhere make a mistake if they interpret this as approval of busing. 'The people don't go out and chant slogans," Miss Sullivan told us. "They merely creep out of the system

Unable to lick the judge, they escape him. Since Garrity's busing order: in June 1974, white school enrollment dropped from 58,000 to 29,000. Experts had predicted a normal yearly loss of 3,000 whites, thanks to population patterns - 12,000 over the last four years. So, an additional 17,000 white students have left the system because of busing. In a city where the black population is only 20 per cent, the black school population is nearing 60 per cent.

'A classic case is the Morris School in the West Roxbury section, which in November 1974 had an all-white enrollment of 347. A 1975 "Masters Panel" of distinguished citizens (appointed by Garrity) recommended, as part of a citywide plan, 260 whites and 70 blacks at Morris. But Garrity rejected the whole plan and redrew school boundaries to insure a 50-50 racial mix. The result? current enrollment at Morris is 23 whites and 122 blacks. The whites have disappeared, Nor has the exodus concluded. A Garrity-ordered school reassignment last summer (later suspended) led many white liberals finally to give up and put their children in private schools. Garrity's resistance to the special program for gifted students has lowered another possible barrier to flight from city schools.

The decline of the Morris School enrollment, down from 347 to 146 in three years, is no extreme example. Unfilled schools, along with busing costs, have boosted costs per pupil to over $3,000 (and $5,500 at embattled South Boston High)

To Mayor Kevin White, the tragedy is that high costs have produced education no better and likely worse than it was. But Garrity, and his chief expert. Boston University Dean of Education Robert A. Dentler, have. fought school closings as a covert attempt at resegregation.

When we interviewed Miss Sullivan and Dean Deatler on television in September 1976. Dentler steadfastly denied any white flight. "It was then for the first time," Miss Sullivan told us more than a year later that I realized how little those people understood what was goung on.

Ignorance of political realities is characteristic of colonial rule by overlords who do not live in the political unit they control. Garrity lives in suburban Wellesley. Dentlerin Lexington.

Garrity obviously regards Boston' politicians and people with intense suspicion. Although he may relinquish school control in about two years, Garrity exhibits a patternalistic need to protect Bostonians from themselves - another colonial characteristic. So, at the Nov. 29 hearing on school closings. Garrity gave no support for Miss Sullivan's hope that the Nov. 8 elections would induce the judge to "get out of the business of running the schools."

The constitutional scholar Raoul Bergem, in "Government by Judiciary" (Harvard University Press), concludes: "The judges might begin by curbing their reach for policymaking power, by withdrawing from extreme measures such as administration of school systems - government by decree which have disquieted even sympathizers with the ultimate obectives. Such decrees cannot rest on the assertion that the Constitution demands busing, when in truth it is the justices who require it in contravention of the framers' intention to leave such matters to the states

For Carrity to take that advice would be welcome news for Bostonians and their elected school committee, who want nothing more than to run their own affairs without the good judge's protection.

By DAVE GOLDBERG

NEW YORK (AP) - On mornings when the weather is good, a portly young man stands on Fifth Avenue playing a sousaphone and hawking The News World, the daily newspaper financed by Sun Myung Moon's Unification Church.

Most of the time, he draws only a curious look or or The Moonies have blended into the New York scenery.

In 1976, Moonies were the best-publicized sect in America, spreading their doctrine of the coming of the Messiah and the Kingdom of God; preaching on street corners and at big rallies in New York and Washington and, as opponents protested, alienating impressionable or unstable youngsters from their

As 1977 ends, less is heard of the sect's aggressive recruiting. The Unifivation Church is midway in its two-year drive to evangelize America, but thereas no indication that its message has caught on with more than a tiny fraction o Americans. Church officials put the membership at 30,000 (which is fewer than many an obscure denomination's), and those who have studied the movement say there may be no more than 3,000 hard-core converts.

But if the Unification Church has yet to make a significant impact as a religion, it's made progress in other ways - in part because the failure of a mass response from American youth has quieted the most serious apprehensions. The church has won court fights against deprogrammers who sought to reconvert young members of the movement. And if church recruiters haven't turned every kid on the block into a Moonie, they've turned a large contingent into street vendors of candy and flowers and put others to work in church-affiliated businesses that generated $24 million in profits last year. But that is not to say the Unification Church has left all of its troubles behind.

It is still under investigation by a Congressional Radio makers offer subcommittee, by the Immigration and Naturalization Service, and local tax boards. The Internal Revenue Service is said to be inquiring into its tax exemptions.

The church still is accused of brainwashing young men and women and estranging them from their families; of subjecting them to a totalitarian lifestyle, and of filling them with alien dogmas. Some of the investigations center on allegations that Moon is an agent of the South Korean Central Intelligence-

Finding a Moonie in a big city today takes more work than it would have in the spring and summer of 1976, when they were busy promoting rallies at Yankee Stadium and the Washington Monument. The best place to spot them is suburban shopping centers; in northeast Pennsylvania or Minnesota or college communities.

The church is now spending a lot of time on its business enterprises. It runs, for example, a small tuna-fishing fleet in Gloucester, Mass., a jewelry store in New York, and the daily newspaper, The News World, that members hawk for a dime on New York streets. It is seeking accreditation for the Unification Theological Seminary in Barrytown, N.Y., about 100 miles north of New York City.

It is also accumulating property - downtown buildings for headquarters, rural farmland for training centers and schools. In New York, it owns the old New Yorker Hotel - a dormitory - and national headquarters in what used to be the Columbia University Club.

Northern California is the most active commercial front. The church-affiliated International Exchange Enterprises Inc. in San Francisco operates International Exchange Maintenance, a cleaning firm. Its contracts include one with the federal government to clean rugs in federal office buildings in Monterey, Solano, San Joaquin, San Mateo, Santa Clara and San Mateo counties; at Mather, McClellan and Travis Air Force Bases; the FBI office in Sacramento and the offices of two Democratic congressmen from California, John E. Moss and Robert Leggett

National leaders maintain that the California businesses are owned by individual church members, not by the church.

But they acknowledge that most of the profits from California are turned over to the church, if not directly, then as tithes.

The profits in those enterprises vary. The News World is losing money. But others are profitable, in part because labor is cheap. Many church members donate their time; others, who are paid, often contribute salaries to the church. They often work un-

Most students of the movement agree that the biggest profits come from street sales.

St. Peter's dedicates new sanctuary

By GEORGE W. CORNELL

NEW YORK (AP) - Smackdab in the middle of Manhattan, about the last place a church would consider locating these days, historic St. Peter's Lutheran Church has reared a grand, new sanctuary amid the urban bustle

"For the glory of God and the good of the city's people," says the pastor, the Rev. Dr. Ralph E.

With a varied, colorful series of worship and celebrations Sunday, topped off with an all night

'soul' session by 45 jazz musicians, the unusual, 'urbanoriented church had its opening dedication.

Instead of "retreating in fear." as many inner-city churches across America have done in the face of flight and blight. St. Peter's determined to stay and "extend a blessing to the people of the city." Peter-

Panel admits Bible 'sexist,' still won't change translation

By LEE LESCAZE The Washington Post

NEW YORK - The Bible is a sexist book, a panel of scholars agreed Thursday, but a sizeable portion of their audience was disappointed to hear that the forthcoming edition of the Revised Standard Version will contain no reference to God as "her.

William Holladay, one of the 24 scholars now working on the new edition, said there would be no "hers" or "shes" because translators must be faithful to the gender of pronouns in the original Greek and

Speaking to an audience made up of men and women whose questions made clear their concern over sexism in the Bible, Phyllis Trible said that feminism had enabled people to scrutinize the male dominance of scripture. It would be "impossible and dishonest" to purge the Bible of all pro-male bias, she said, but one should "sweep diligently through scripture to discover female imagery for God.'

Trible and Holladay cited Deuteronomy 32:18 as an example of female imagery that had been distorted by sexism in translations, not in the original. You were unmindful of the rock that begot you.

and you forgot the God who gave you birth," reads the revised Standard Version, but it adds a footnote that "begot" could be "bore. In fact, the scholars said the Hebrew original can only refer to the pains of labor and the only correct translation gives the verse a female image. Sister Ann Patrick Ware told the forum on sexism in the Bible at the headquarters of the National Council of Churches that sexism in the Bible is not surprising since the Bible is the church's book and it is a manifestly sexist church. The problem is much deeper than simply one of translation, she said, and she challenged the idea that fidelity to the original documents is paramount.

Speaking of the anti-semitic nature of passages in the narratives of the passion, Sister Ann said: "If we have a 2,000-year-old history of fostering contempt for Jews then it becomes horrendous to talk of fideli-Holladay, who like Trible teaches at the Andover-Newton Theological School in Newton, Mass., said that all secondary sexism introduced by translators was being removed for the Revised Standard Version, expected to be published in the mid-1980s, but opposed removing pronouns used for the Lord altogether vecause that results in excessive repetition of the word "God.

Holladay said that the debate over sexism in the Bible today is reminiscent of the mid-19th century controversy over references to slavery in the Bible. Pauls Epistles contain repeated injunctions to women to obey their husbands and to slaves to obey their masters. The discussion's moderator, Beverly Harrison of Union Theological Seminary, urged the audience to experience more fully the problems of sexism in Christianity this week by praying to "Our Mother."

GRAPEVINE, Texas (AP) - Officials in this Fort Worth suburb say they may decide by Monday if they will seek adult certification for a 16-year-old girl arrested in connection with a newborn infant's death.

Police believe the high school student delivered her own child and then left it in a car where two teenagers found the infant's body Wednesday.

The body, wrapped in pieces of a sheet and placed in a paper bag, was accompanied by a note saying: Please take care of him. His name is Gary Don. And I love him

Don Armstrong, Grapevine juvenile officer, said Friday the girl was taken to a Fort Worth hospital after being arrested Thursday night at the apartment where she lived - adjacent to where the body was found Wednesday.

"When she's released she will be taken to the Tarrant County Juvenile Detention Center," Armstrong said.

The arrest came after Grapevine police sought the public's help in the case. Armstrong praised the local press for its aid We appealed for press coverage and we got it. We got hundreds of tips," Armstrong said. The tips included one from a Fort Worth woman who talked with investigators for four hours.

'She said she had left the baby there. She turned out to be a kook," Armstrong said. Officers conducted a door-to-door search in the area before several corroborating tips led them to Armstrong said the teenager was living with an aunt and uncle. He added she had no record of truancy or legal trouble of any sort. Investigators are trying to locate the infant's father for questioning Gary Don's funeral is set for Monday and officials said no decision has been reached on whether the girl in custody will be allowed to attend.

the verdict was announced in a courtroom that has been packed this week, mostly by supporters of the defendants.

'We've been railroaded," said Leinweber. "That's all I can say.

Defense lawyer Will Morriss called the verdict "a terrible miscarriage of justice." He said the case will be appealed.

LUBBOCK - Odessa Permian and Plano will be greeted by cold temperatures today

The Panthers and Wildcats tangle at 2:30 p.m. today in Jones Stadium in a big Class AAAA semifinal football piayoff battle with the winner gaining the state finals next week. It will be in the mid-40's today.

In 1972 when Permian won the state championship, it faced Dallas Skyline in the semifinals and two years ago when Mojo reached the finals, it battled Longivew on this same Jones Stadium turf and won, 10-9. Longivew was undefeated and ranked No. 1 in the state at that time. Port Neches-Groves beat Mojo in the finals, 20-10.

Jones Stadium has been a good place for Permian to play as the Panthers have chalked up a 4-0 record in the four games played on the artificial turf, beating Monterey twice, Longview and Dallas South Oak Cliff in the 1970 semifinals.

Permian's potent Wing-T attack is ready for today with tailback Greg Lambert the only doubtful starter. He scored the lone touchdown last week against Monterey in the 7-3 victory before 17,000 fans in W.T. Barrett Stadium

TAILBACK BARRY BABCOCK will start in the slot and the 190-pound senior is the leading rusher on the team with 692 yards in 151 carries for an average of 4.6 yards per carry and Lambert, who suffered a twisted ankle last week, is the No. 2 rusher with 643 yards in 102 carries for an average of 6.3 yards per carry and nine touchdowns.

Joining Babcock in the backfield for Mojo will be either Swann or Mark Graves at fullback and Vic Vines at quarterback. John Murey is the wingback. Swann has rushed for 538 yards and a a 6.5 average per carry while Graves has picked up 484 yards and Vines 360

Vines has connected on 42 of 87 passes for 755 yards and 10 touchdowns. The talented junior a has only had three passes intercepted in 13

BRIAN VINE'S favorite targets are Vickers and John Murey along with Huey Chancellor. Vickers has latched on to 10 passes for 261 yards and six touchdowns while Murey has 11 receptions for 162 yards and four TDs. Chancellor, meanwhile, who has come into his own in the playoffs has six catches for 145 yards.

The kicker and punter for the Mojo are juniora. Robert Orosco has booted 31 extra points and five field goals for 46 points while Greg Rodriguez has an average of 37.1 on 50 punts.

Up front, the Panthers are led by Leman Lemay (195), Tommy Sager (205), Chris Berger (186) along with Tim Justis and Steve Williams, both at aroumd 190 at the tackle slots.

Tickets for the game can be obtained at the gates in Jones Stadium. beginning at 12:30 p.m. today and are $5 each. They are general admission since no seats are reserved for this playoff game in the 40,000-seat stadium

Teddy Hayes' book relives Golden Age

One-time Midlander Teddy Hayes and biographer Mickey Herskowitz were Tall City visitors this week for a reception to announce the coming publication of the book With The Gloves Off, to be on the bookshelves early next year.

Hayes, 89, now living in retirement in Scottsdale, Ariz., is the former trainer for heavyweight champion Jack Dempsey and middleweight champion Mickey Walker during the Golden Age of Sports back in the 1920s

"In 1932, Teddy just turned his back on boxing and never looked Herskowitz revealed. From boxing, Hayes went into politics and held positions of high responsibility in the Franklin D.

Roosevelt administration. "I went through crates of scrapbooks and memorabelia and spent days taping conversations with Teddy." Herskowitz, who still does a oncea-week column for the Houston Post. "It took about 18 months to write the book.

'Mostly, it was a question of what to leave out and what to put in. There was so much. It's really two books in one, the first about his days in boxing and the other about his days in politics.

Herskowitz, who was a familiar face to Midlanders when he hosted the Gene Stallings TV show back when Gene was Texas A&M football coach, is a free lance writer and has a syndicated column.

And he's still convinced that Stallings could be a fine college head coach.

'He won a championship at A&M back when it was impossible to recruit athletes for

A&M. It was all-male, marched to class, and the Viet Nam war was going on. I don't think most people realized the job

he did there."
HERSKOWITZ SAYS he was approached about doing the Candace Moseler story, but his next project probably more likely will be a biography on Leon Jaworski and perhaps another book on Hayes. "'There's no dearth of material."

Despite his age, Teddy says he still keeps physically active. "I jog a little and walk on the ranch and skip rocks just to keep my arms in shape.

Terry Jastrow, the former Midland Lee athlete who went into TV while at the University of Houston, and is now producer for ABC sports events worldwide, is branching out ... into acting.

Ken Jastrow, Sr., relates, "Terry decided if he was going to have any kind of a home life, he'd have to get into producing and directing shows other than sports and he figured the best way to learn about it was to get involved."

So Terry went to the Lee Strassberg school of acting and discovered he had some talent. At least, he was one of those not cut as hopeless when Lee trimmed his class to the final workable 16. Terry has appeared in the Nancy Drew series and is in line for meatier roles in the near future.

It's the season for rumors and no less than five former District 5-4A coaches have either expressed an interest or have been contacted about coaching jobs in the league, although there are no present vacancies. RECOGNIZING its No. 1 ranked football team and honoring Heisman Trophy-winning back Earl Campbell, the administration building at Texas-Austin was bathed in orange light, sporting a huge white No. 1 on each side of the tower. (AP Laserphoto).

Austin goes wild over big Earl

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Earl Campbell's teammates whooped and hollered, and other University of Texas students thronged into campus streets screaming when Campbell won the Heisman Trophy.

Curbside jubilation has marked top-ranked Texas' 11-0 football season, and police have been out in force after several victories, but the Campbell pandemonium caught them by surprise Thursday night.

'All hell's broken loose on the 'Drag' " - the main campus street a resident complained. Honking cars were bumperto-bumper for at least a mile within

IT SEEMED that one in five cars had a horn that sounded the opening of "The Eyes of Texas." Many had minutes after it was announced on national television from New York that

Campbell had won the coveted award as the best college football player of windshields painted "Earl."

Campbell, a 220 pound senior from Tyler, Texas, who is often referred to as the "Tyler Rose," had a yellow rose tucked in his tuxedo coat pocket / when he accepted the Heisman.

He is the first Longhorn football player to win the Heisman and only the fourth in Southwest Conference history "It's great," yelled center Wes Hubert, one of about 15 Longhorn players who watched the Heisman ceremonies on television at the athletic dormitory. "I knew he was Campbell praised his offensive linemen, but tackle George James said, "He did it on his own" - noting that statistics showed that Campbell had gained 1,054 of his 1,744 yards this season after at least/one would-be tackler had hit him.

"YOU CAN'T help but love the guy," James said.

Said linebacker Morgan Copeland, "I think he'll go down being recognized as one of the all-time great college football players.

"I was too happy to cry and too happy to smile." Campbell said in New York. "I can't tell yoy how thrilled I

To Texas players and fans the only discordant note in the Campbell celebration was the remarks of Notre Dame's Ken MacAfee — who finished third in the Heisman voting. MacAfee, a three-year All-American tight end, said Notre Dame would be after Texas' No. 1 ranking in their

Jan. 2 Cotton Bowl game.

Kuhn holds up Vida Blue swap

HONOLULU (AP) missioner Bowie Kuhn advised the Cincinnati Reds and Oakland A's Friday that he was calling a hearing on the trade of ace left-hander Vida Blue from the A's to the Reds. The Reds obtained Blue, a standout left-hander, for minor league first baseman Dave Revering and an undisclosed amount of cash, believed to be in excess of $1 million.

Eighteen months ago, the commissioner blocked the sale of Blue for $1.5 million to the New York Yankees. At the same time, he ordered two other players, outfielder Joe Rudi and reliever Rollie Fingers, returned to Oakland by Boston. The Red Sox had purchased the pair for $2 million.

THE COMMISSIONER ruled that the sales were not in the best interest of baseball. When Reds President Bob Howsam was asked if he thought Kuhn might block Blue's sale to the Reds, he said, "It's just like any other trade, but I guess you'd have to ask

About two hours after the trade was announced, Kuhn issued the following statement:

"I am advising Cincinnati and Oakland that I am calling a hearing relative to the Blue-Revering deal. believe the deal raises substantial questions as to whether it should be approved or not. I would expect to have the hearing in the next 7 to 10

"I would not plan to have anything more to say on this subject until I have heard thre views of the clubs."

While the Blue deal was placed in limbo by the commissioner's action, the New York Yankees announced the signing of free agent-pitcher Rawley

The commissioner was away from his beachfront hotel when the Blue transaction was announced. When he learned of it, however, he reacted quickly and his action raised the question of whether the pitcher's sale would be blocked a second time by the commissioner's office.

BLUE AND outfielder Billy North were the last surviving members of the Oakland team that swept three world championships from 1972-1974. Stripped by the departure of many stars, including Rudi and Fingers, through the free-agent re-entry draft, the A's finished in last place in the American League West in 1977 and, in a record-breaking year in attendance in baseball, attracted less than 500,000

Oakland owner Charles O. Finley has been rumored ready to sell the franchise and interests in Denver and New Orleans have been talking with him. The removal of Blue, however,

Efren untrustworthy, say foes

Some field goal kickers live in a little world all of their own. Not Efren Herrera, the Dallas Cowboys' 5-9, 190pounder from Guadalajara, Mexico, via UCLA. He's a team player.

Efren is a great competitor," says Dallas Coach Tom Landry. "The team really thinks the world of him."

When the Cowboys line up in field goal formation, it is no sure thing that Herrera is going to try a field goal. Coach Landry has installed a play known as the "pooch" kick. Herrera has been known to pass up the field goal and punt the ball

Tanner delighted with Blyleven

By RALPH BERNSTEIN

HONOLULU (AP) - Manager Chuck Tanner of the Pittsburgh Pirates believes he now has the best righty-lefty pitching combination in baseball in newly acquired right-hander Bert Blyleven and lefthander John Candelaria.

"I think they can be as good as the Catfish Hunter-Vida Blue combination in Oakland," said Tanner, a former manager of the A's.

THE PIRATES obtained Blyleven and first baseman-outfielder John Milner Thursday in a fourclub, 11-player swap involving Pittsburgh, the New York Mets, Atlanta and Texas.

Pittsburgh had to give up slugging outfielder Al Oliver in the deal. "Blyleven is capable of winning 25 games," said

Tanner "People wrote us off when we lost (Rich) Gossage and (Terry) Forster," said Tanner of the two relievers who played out their options and became free agents after the 1977 season.

Well, they can put us right back in it," the Pirates' field boss said gloatingly. Tanner said the Pirates came to baseball's winter meetings with one priority: bolster the pitching staff. baseball

"WE WANTED Blyleven," he said. "And anytime you get a Blyleven, you have to feel good. The name of the game is pitching. We're sure we'll score some runs, but if you don't have pitching you don't win.'

Tanner feels that he can make up for the loss of Oliver, a .308 hitter with 19 home runs and 82 runs batted in, with a quartet of Dave Parker, Bill Robinson. Milner and Omar Moreno. Robinson and Milner also can play first base if veteran Willie Stargell needs a rest Tanner said that the best pitchers in the American League when he was there were Baltimore's Jim Palmer, Hunter and Blyleven, then with Minnesota. But I think that Blyleven (26) has attained more at his age than Palmer and Hunter." Tanner observed.

THE PIRATES, who refused to give ace reliever Gossage the rich, long-term, contract that he sought, took over Blyleven's contract, which is supposed to guarantee him security through the year 2,000.

Texas owner Brad Corbett, who orchestrated the big trade, said he had Blyleven's contract insured with a policy that the Pirates would have to assume. Not that Oliver came cheap. He reportedly is in the $300,000 a year class, with one of the best contracts in

But under the Major League Players Association agreement, both Blyleven and Oliver could demand to be traded at the end of the 1978 season.

Blyleven started 30 games last season, completed 15, posted a 14-12 record and a 2.72 earned run average for the Rangers. He has a 122-113 lifetime record. He will start in a rotation with Candelaria (20-5), Jerry Reuss (10-13), Bruce Kison (9-100, and Jim Rooker (14-9). Kent Tekulve and Grant Jackson are the top relievers.

What's worst place in football to be?

The Los Angeles Times Syndicate

The worst place in football to be is (choose one), (1) the 5-yard-line of the Chicago Bears with the score tied (2) opposite Mean Joe Greene on fourth and one at the goal line or (3) on the Minnesota Vikings in the Super Bowl. The worst place in football to be is none of the above. The worst place in football to be is in the locker room of the Philadelphia Eagles when your wife calls to say your baby daughter has leukemia. That's when the real two-minute warning sounds, when you're deep in your own territory. third and long yardage, and you're out of timeouts. That's when the real Super Bowl starts.

It happened to Fred Hill, tight end for the Philadelphia Eagles, one afternoon about eight years ago. He was shortly to take the field against the Detroit Lions.

IN FOOTBALL when they talk tough about "playing hurt" they usually mean with a sore knee, a pinched nerve, a pulled hamstring or a broken wrist. Hill's "hurt" was deeper. He played with a broken

Steelers, Bengal to freeze

CINCINNATI (AP) - Frigid weather is expected Saturday when the Cincinnati Bengals and Pittsburgh Steelers put on the gloves to clear up the hottest race in the National Football League

And if the Bengals are going to end the Steelers' long reign in the AFC Central Division, they'll have to do it the hard way

For starters, they technically enter the game with the score already 6-0 in Pittsburgh's favor. Under a complicated playoff formula, Cincinnati, 7-5, must win by seven or more points Saturday, then defeat Houston on the road next week to claim its first outright title since 1970. The Steelers

And then there's the weather. A wind chill factor is expected to push temperatures below-zero in ice-glazed Cincinnati. A high of 15 degrees is predicted. The game is a sellout.

Matters were compounded when club officials discovered Friday that the artificial surface at Riverfront Stadium was a sheet of ice. Recent sleet storms caused seepage in the tarpaulin covering, leaving a layer of ice 2-3 inches in thickness. Workmen frantically chipped at the frozen sur-

A national television audience will watch the renewal of the flaming rivalry, which begins at 1:00 p.m. EST. The Steelers, who have won the last six meetings between the two clubs, -are considered three-point

A month ago, Cincinnati's chances of making the playoffs were bleak. The Bengals, hailed in the pre-season as a prime Super Bowl contender, had lost four of their first six games.

"We have a chance to be the Cinderella story of the season;" said veteran center Bob Johnson.

Or abominable snowmen.

Lynn Swann, the Steelers' star receiver, says the adverse weather conditions mean a return to basi football

The Detroit Lions gave him a leg to match by the third quarter, because Fred Hill couldn't concentrate on anything so unimportant as catching a pass that afternoon. He had a tougher defense to fool. You talk about a stacked defense, leukemia is tougher to score on than the Fearsome Foursome. This was one pass Hill didn't want to drop.

The Philadelphia Eagles are not exactly what you'd consider a winning team, not one of your basic powerhouses of the NFL. But they have run through leukemia like the 1940 Bears through the Washington Redskins. The score is not exactly 73-0 but, as they say in the radio booths, there's plenty of time left.

NOT ONLY is Kimberley Hill alive and well eight years after she contracted leukemia, but the Eagles launched a two-minute drill-which has scored at will and has seen new leukemia facilities set up in Philadelphia, Chicago, and, this week, Los Angeles.

To give you an idea what a bad second half leukemia is having. Dr. Stuart Siegel, director of the hematology-oncology division at Children's Hospital here in Los Angeles, announced the other day at a press conference kicking off the Southern California leukemia fund drive that one-half of today's children's cancer cases can have the malignancy eradicated. Since the most common form of childhood cancer is leukemia, this means the defenses must key on it. And the docs have a better won-lost record than the Oakland Raiders. Over 70 per cent of leukemia victims can now expect to lie five years or more-and some, 50 years or more.

Any disease which strikes a member of a family affects the whole family. But an adult can go to a hospital and endure treatment with a shrug. A child who must go to a hospital for several nights and be away from his mother and father is a poorer medical risk. For this reason, parents of leukemic children often spend sleepless nights on hospita room carpets, waiting-room divans, rollaway cots, or just plain sitting in the dark in a corner of the room. Their meals are catered by the hospital vending machines. Mothers with dying children want to be with them

SEATTLE (AP) - Not in his wildest dreams did Delaporte said in mock surprise. Otis Delaporte, the longtime coach of unbeaten, topranked Southwestern Oklahoma State, expect his team to be unbeaten and top ranked this season.

But the Bulldogs fooled even the best of preseason prognosticators, who picked them to finish last in their conference, and will meet second-ranked Abilene Christian Saturday in the Apple Bowl, the NAIA Division 1 championship football game.

Hrabosky's beard goes to Royals

By HAL BOCK

HONOLULU (AP) - The Mad Hungarian is taking his act and his Fu Manchu beard to the American

Al Hrabosky, whose affinity for facial hair put him on a collision course with Manager Vern Rapp in St. Louis last season, was traded to Kansas City Thursday night in a deal which sends pitcher Mark Littell to the Cardinals.

Hrabosky, a left-hander, became a favorite in St. Louis for his antics around the pitching mound. He often would stalk away, staring at center field, trying to psyche himself, and perhaps the opposing batter. The beard, he said, was part of his power and when Rapp ordered it off, the loss of the hair, claimed Hrabosky, reduced his effectiveness.

WHATEVER THE reason, Hrabosky slipped to a 6-5 record with 10 saves and a 4.40 earned run average last season. That followed an 8-6, 3.32 in 1976 after Hrabosky had won 21 Of 24 decisions in the previous two seasons-

'There were two reasons for our trading Al Hrabosky," said Gussie Busch, president. "First, his failure to provide us for the past two seasons with the performance expected of a player of his reputation, and secondly, we have acquired one of the best young pitchers in baseball-a real stopper. We are delighted to have Mark Littell on our team.

Littell was 8-4 with 12 saves and a 3.60 ERA for Kansas City last year. He is best remembered for throwing the home run pitch to Chris Chambliss that clinched the 1976 American League pennant for the New York Yankees in the ninth inning of the fifth playoff game. He also pitched in the ninth inning of the fifth game last season, when the Yankees rallied to edge the Royals for the pennant again.

"IT WAS a lefty-righty decision," said Bing Devine, general manager of the Cardinals. "It seemed to fit both clubs. They wanted a left-hander and we wanted a right-hander.

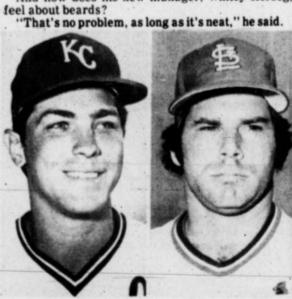

The Cardinals felt they were set from the left side in the bullpen with Buddy Schultz and Dave Hamilton. They also have right-handers Butch Metzger and Pete Vuckovich, who was acquired from Toronto earlier this week. The Royals wanted a lefthander to balance righty Dough Bird in their bullpen.

The deal was cooking for most of the week, delayed only by several bonus clauses which Hrabosky has in his contract. They include payoffs for various accomplish ments and reportedly must be paid in advance should the pitcher be traded. Apparently, some settlement was concluded on that part of the contract in order to allow the swap to be made.

"I'm trying to look at it in a positive way," said Hrabosky. "It's not easy to leave. It's a new life. I leave with a warm feeling for the St. Louis fans."

The feeling might not be quite as warm for Rapp, a tough disciplinarian, who clashed with Hrabosky over the beard among other things. The split got so wide that the pitcher was suspended briefly in midseason before Busch promoted a peace settlement that included allowing Hrabosky to grow his beard

And how does his new manager, Whitey Herzog, feel about beards?

Mark Littell, left, was traded to the St. Louis Cardinals while the Kansas City Royals got Al Hrabosky in return.

Miller saw handwriting on the wall

NEW YORK (AP) - At the start of the football season, Terry Miller was the early favorite for the Heisman Trophy. But along around mid-season, he began to see the handwriting on the wall, as well as in the newspapers.

"I'm not disappointed," the Oklahoma State running back- and the Big Eight Conference's alltime rushing leader-said after Earl Campbell of No. 1-ranked, Texas won the 1977 Heisman Thursday night. "I'm a finance major and I can put 2 and 2 together and get 4.

When Texas beat Arkansas was probably the biggest turning point. I came here with a certain amount of hope, but I anticipated Earl's winning it." After gaining 1,541 yards during the regular season a year ago and finishing fourth in the Heisman voting—the top three finishers all graduated—Miller improved his statistics to 1,680 this season, breaking his own Big Eight record.

But he was the only offensive starter back from Oklahoma State's Tangerine Bowl team and the Cowboys' record slipped from 8-3 to 4-7 as last year's Big Eight Cinderella club became this year's also rans.

Miller finished second in the Heisman voting with 612 points compared to 1,547 for Campbell. Notre Dame tight end Ken MacAfee was third with 346 points. Ironically, Campbell was the top vote-getter in five of the six regions, except for his home area of the Southwest which favored Miller by 20 first-place votes over Campbell.

"I'd like to see the situation had Earl been on a 4-7 team like I was or had we both been on 11-0 teams like he was," said Miller, who finished third nationally behind Campbell's 1,744 yards and the 1,686 piled up by Louisiana State's Charles Alexander. Both passed him in their final game.

"Either way." Miller continued, "I'm not going to lose my composure."

Kuhn may block trade of Blue to Cincinnati

That same night, Finley tried to sell him to the Yankees and to send outfielder Joe Rudi and reliever Rollie Fingers to Boston for $1 million season's end. Blue had to stay. He finished 1976 with an 18-16 record place team that had been stripped of the departed free agents, he compiled a 14-19 record. That gave him a nine-
