Moslems call for all-out holy war

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Moslems called for all-out holy war against the Christians in Lebanon today in the wake of Moslem Premier Rashid Karami's resignation.

"Believers are called upon by their religious duty to rise in arms for jihad (holy war) to defend their attacked brethren," the muzzeins shouted through bullhorns at dawn from their needle-shaped minarets.

Loudspeaker vans toured Moslem quarters of Beirut repeating the call. Fierce fighting between rightwing Christians and leftist Lebanese Moslems and Palestinians raged through the night in Beirut and areas outside the capital. Police reported 102 more persons killed in the city and Karami resigned after the warring factions ignored another of his ceasefire calls. Local papers said President Suleiman Franjieh was planning to form a military government to replace Karami's six-man coalition of Christian and Moslems.

Franjieh installed a military government last May, a month after the civil war started, but pressure from most of the civilian politicians forced it to resign after three days. Another military government probably would run into the same opposition, particularly from the Moslems, since most of the officers are Christians.

Karami said in a broadcast he was passing responsibility for the country to the Christian president "to take whatever steps he thinks proper.

Karami, a 53-year-old millionaire. became premier in June with a pledge more than a dozen cease-fires, but all collapsed, and the nine-month death toll is now estimated at more than

Police reported house-tohouse fighting throughout the night in a firegutted Moslem pocket in eastern Beirut and a besieged Christian enclave in south Lebanon.

The whole of Beirut was illuminated during the night by huge fires in the Moslem slum area of Karantina, on the eastern edge of the city's harbor.

The district has been under attack by right-wing Christian militiamen for more than 24 hours. The Christians said they captured it Sunday night, but the leftist forces said they launched a counterattack at dawn, and "the rightist invaders are being pushed out."

The Christians attacked Karantina in retaliation for an assault by thousands of Palestinian guerrillas and Druze Moslems on four Christian villages about 15 miles south of Beirut. Among those under siege there was Interior Minister Camille Chamoun, who was trapped in his seaside mansion in Saadiyet.

Security headquarters and the army command lost contact shortly after midnight with the northern provinces of Tripoli and Akkar, the spokesman said.

"The last messages received spoke of massive Palestinian guerrilla units crossing the border from Syria, while the government house in Tripoli and the courthouse were burned out," the spokesman said.

Ford's 'Union' message tonight due to stress many economic issues

By JIM ADAMS

The President will address a joint session of Congress and a national television audience at 8 p.m. CST.

Democratic leaders in Congress already have served notice that they have some basic disagreements with Ford over economic policy. Those policy disputes are expected to figure

Income gain rate slows

WASHINGTON (AP) - The government reported today that the growth in personal income for Americans slowed to a rate of fourtenths of 1 per cent in December.

The Commerce Department said personal income grew by $433 million, or at an annual rate of $5.2 billion, in December to an annual rate of $1,301 billion. The increase compared to a rise at an annual rate of $8.5 billion in November.

The December figures left total personal income for 1975 at $1,246 billion, marking the smallest increase in four years. The gain of $91.3 billion represented a 7.9 per cent advance over 1975 and was the smallest for any year since 1971, when personal income grew by 7.2 per cent.

The growth rate in 1974 had been 9.5 per cent.

Ford worked during the weekend on his speech that is expected to propose a further cut in income taxes but a hike in Social Security taxes. The speech is said to be a broad overview of domestic and foreign affairs, with more details to be annunced Wednesday in Ford's budget

Officials also describe tonight's speech as more upbeat than Ford's first State of the Union message a year ago when he said, "The State of the Union is not good," citing problems of unemployment and energy

White House sources say this State of the Union message will call for holding the line on spending as a first step toward a balanced budget in three years. Ford's budget is expected to propose expenditures of $394 billion, including a $10-billion boost in defense spending, a $10-billion tax cut, a $4.2-billion hike in Social Security payments and a $42-billion federal

The proposed hike in Social Security taxes would boost the maximum for individuals to about $1,014 in 1977.

Soviet-backed forces reportedly driven back in Angolan fighting

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Pro-Western forces are reported on the march to reopen the railroad across central Angola after driving back attacking forces of the Soviet-armed Popular Movement (MPLA).

Sketchy battle reports reaching Johannesburg said National Union (UNITA) troops turned back an attack north of Luso by a column of 1,000 MPLA and 500 Cuban soldiers. UNITA troops were reported advancing on Texeira de Sousa, the only town on the railroad held by the Texeira de Sousa is on Angola's eastern border with Zaire, and Luso is 180 miles to the southwest. Both are on the British Benguela Railway over which Zaire and Zambia ship their copper to the Atlantic coast.

The second pro-Western Angolan group, the National Front (FNLA), announced in Zaire that it will continue to resist "the Soviet-Cuban invasion armies that now number 15,000 men." The MPLA is reported to have routed the FNLA in northern Diplomatic sources in Lisbon reported that Cuban planes carrying troops to Angola apparently have stopped using Portugal's Azores Islands as a fuel stop on the tran-satlantic flight. Newsweek Magazine reported that the Russians are providing long-range Ilyushin-62 jets to fly the Cubans from Havana to Africa. The magazine said 3,000 to 6,000 Cubans may be en route to join the estimated 9,000 already in Angola.

President Julius Nyerere of Tanzania, on a visit to India, told reporters that the letter which President Ford sent African heads of state before the recent summit meeting on Angola was a factor in the deadlock that developed at the meeting of the Organization of African Unity.

Nyerere said Ford wrote the Postal Service taking new look at photocopying

WASHINGTON (AP) — After yielding to congressional pressure to end photocopying service in post offices, Postmaster General Benjamin Bailar now is being pressured by some members of Congress to restore the service.

"We're in a damned-if-youdo, damned-if-you-don't situation," a Postal Service spokesman said.
Although the Postal Service made a

$1 million profit on the copiers in a recent year, it ended the photocopying service Jan. 1 after two House subcommittees said the practice could offer unfair competition to copying services offered by

The price generally was 15 cents per copy in post offices, with the company owning the machine and the Postal Service sharing the profit. Copying service elsewhere costs as little as 4 cents per copy, an industry source said.

As a result of the decision, the Postal Service says it has received nearly 11,000 protest letters and cards. By contrast, it has received only 323 letters and cards complaining about the Dec. 31 increase in postal rates.

Congressmen also report a high volume of mail on the copying issue. A number of congressmen who were not among those originally complaining about the machines now say the copiers should be retained as a public

Because of the new interest in the subject, one of the House subcommittees may reconsider its earlier request to end the service.

Super swindle leaves 5,000 holding sack

MIAMI (AP) - Up to 5,000 football fans sulked in hotel rooms or threw themselves at the mercy of scalpers after learning they had been swindled out of Super Bowl tickets in a "toogood-to-be-true" package tour to Florida, police say.

"I can't believe I came all the way from Toronto, Canada, to watch the game from a lousy hotel," Matt Crone said Sunday after watching the game on television. "It sounded too good to be true at the beginning — a guaranteed ticket to the game. I guess it was too good."

Police said the swindle may amount to $1.5 million and involved fans who paid $375 to $800 for package tours with promises of a ticket to the Super Bowl game between the Pittsburgh

Steelers and the Dallas Cowboys. But there were no tickets, and police said the tour company officials

A group calling itself Super Tours International and claiming to be associated with the International Travel Bureau contacted travel agents in several states and offered the package deals, police said.

Officials of ITB could not be reached for comment.

The fans were booked into several luxury hotels in Fort Lauderdale. Miami and Hollywood. Most of them got their rooms and transportation, but at least one group could find no accommodations and camped outside a hotel, police said.

Tempers flared the most at the Fort Lauderdale Sheraton Hotel, where police had to quiet several hundred fans who learned shortly before the game that they had no tickets.

Minister picks right spot for fall

Dr. Robert Boynton Smith, minister of First Presbyterian Church, doesn't recommend fracturing arms just for the fun of it, but he does believe in picking the proper place for such a happening if it has to occur.

For instance, he fell and broke his right arm last Thursday afternoon while visiting in — you guessed it — Midland Memorial Hospital. He received prompt medical attention.

The break didn't slow him down one bit, however. He attended meetings that night and Friday and was in his pulpit as usual at the Sunday morning worship service.

Robbery suspect turns himself in Charges have been filed against a 42-year-old man in connection with the armed robbery of Handy Spot Grocery at 1100 N. Lamesa Road, Saturday afternoon, police said.

According to police, Charlie Thompson, who told officers that he had no known address in Midland or elsewhere, turned himself in at 12:15 a.m. Sunday, after he had heard they had a warrant for his arrest.

Police said the $500, or any part of wasn't recovered and that impson denied knowing anything bout the robbery.

Bond was set at $25,000 by Justice of the Peace John Biggs.

Citizens favor effectiveness

Government agencies in Midland having the most favorable impression on citizens seem to function internally most effectively. This is the conclusion of a report prepared by the Human Relations Council of Midland in conjunction with the Texas Committee for the Humanities.

This conclusion was drawn after eight meetings involving citizens and county, education and church officials. The meetings were held between July and December, 1975.

The project of the Human Relations Council was designed to "plan the future of Midland by encouraging citizen participation and interaction with governmental agencies affecting the community. About 165 citizens attending the meetings, with average attendance about 20. This figure represents minority citizens and citizens from all occuaptions. The Human Relations Council concluded there may be too many planning meetings, and they appeal mainly to "socially and civically involved citizens." People are interested in dealing with the situation at hand, not with abstracts, according to the report. Only one citizen at. tended the meeting with county government officials. This led the Human Relations Committee to believe they were unconcerned with county government, had a high degree of confidence in county administrators, or that there were no problems in providing county services to the public. The Human Relations Council of Midland proposed three major goals. One is to develop the awareness of many persons in Midland, who may at times feel alienated, apathetic or be misinformed. They concluded forms of group interaction and communication beside meetings are needed to accomplish this goal.

The report also offered suggestions on improving communications and answering citizens' questions as its second goal. The third objective was to encourage all citizens to feel part of the community and share in decisions that affect community life According to the report, the gulf between city, and county government and the citizens was evident throughout the eight meetings of the project.

DEAR ABBY: There must be thousands of women in my position, so if you have an answer for me, please print it and help all of us.

I am married to a man who has children by a previous marriage. I love his children and they love me. The problem is their mother. On occasions such as first com-

Naturally, I stay away. When the children ask me why I didn't come, I say that I was "ill." I don't want to tell them the truth because it would only cause trouble. Maybe lots of women will see

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Offer hand with heart to lonely people

This hint is not for housework. I like to call it heart work. I have recently been visiting my mother-in-law in a nursing home and would like to tell you about it. I never knew how many lonely and forgotten people there are in these homes. Most of us never have an occasion to go visit unless we have a

I've been thinking how nice to wouldf be if other people could make it a project of theirs to visit these lonely people and make life a little more cheerful to them.

You can walk into a room and say "Hello, how are you?" and they grab your hand and hold on like they never want to let you go. They are starved for love, affection and a little at-

Why couldn't a lot of us with a little free time on our hands visit some of these dear people. We don't have to make a visit long. Just say a few words of encouragement to let them know that someone cares.

Many of these people have no one at all. I am sure that we can think of things that each of us could do to make life a little better for these poor

Please, everyone, let's give it a try. I think we will all feel better for it and it will make someone else so happy.

Our own lives will be richer for helping someone else. Mrs. D.G.

You are so right. I started thinking about what you said and asked a girlfriend, Sue Cary who works with nursing homes, for some suggestic ;.

She said it would be fantastice if the general public did get more involved. All you have to do is call either the program director or administrator of your local nursing home and offer your time. It could be as little as an hour a week or as much as you can

These centers always need magazines and books. Clean out your stack of old magazines and put them to good use.

Some places have a program similar to foster parents. You can adopt someone and take them to dinner once a week. Have them over on a Sunday for dinner or take them shopping or just out for an afternoon.

Another suggestion is to clean out your records. One reader said she took all of the records she hadn't listened to in years and dropped them by a retirement home.

There are some dear people who do not have relatives or friends and often need clothing or shoes. Ask what is needed and see if you can help.

Always ask before taking candy or food to anyone.

Want to know what to do with the leftover knickknacks from your garage sale? Call the nursing home and tell them what you have and see if they can use it.

Sue also suggested that when you visit try to take along someone young. If your children are well behaved let them wander around. These people rarely get to see young children!

Friends, it takes only a little of your time and does so muck good. Remember, we all grow old. No matter how hard we try, we might be there someday...

And our thanks to Sue for giving us these "love tips". Heloise II

Dear Heloise: As I sit here getting my tongue unstuck from filling my trading stamp books, I thought your readers might find my hint handy. I tacked a paper napkin box (free when the napkins are gone) on the inside of the cabinet door. Then with a plastic produce bag (free again) lines this box. I put those valuable trading stamps in this bag.

When it comes time to fill the books, I just pull the bag out and go to work. No stuck together stamps or stamps flying all over.

THIS COLUMN is written for you...the housewife and homemaker. If you have a hint or a problem write to Heloise in care of this newspaper. Because of the trememdous volume of mail, Heloise is unable to answer all individual letters. She will, however, answer your questions in her column whenever possible.

Give bedroom French 'flavor'

By BARBARA HARTUNG

Copley News Service Q. We are remodeling our family home and adding a new master bedroom suite so we will have a large area including a sitting room at one end of the bedroom. I want to tie the sitting room and the bedroom together and I like a formal and elegant look. I would like pale colors in the French manner. Please, would you give me home ideas on how to create a pleasant and relaxing retreat? — T.W.

A. If the bedroom and sitting room tie together as one room I would paint the walls a soft blue with ivory woodwork and ceiling.

For the bedspread and a small chaise or love seat in your sitting room you might use a floral in the French style - perhaps in a pale blue background with pale yellow, greens and a soft apricot. If you are choosing new bedroom furniture, you might consider a baroque secretary in an ivory washed in blue or green (to highlight the carving) which could function as a desk as well as a storage piece. Borrow from the French the luxurious swagging of fabric at your windows and soften them with sheer curtains to match the walls. Give yourself a luxury underfoot with wall-to-wall carpeting in a soft shade of blue or green. Accessorize with lamps, small chairs, cache pots for flowers and plants and paintings with a French flavor.

Music teachers meet

The Midland Music Teachers Association held a joint meeting with the Odessa Music Teachers Association at High Sky Restaurant.

Midland president, Mrs. C. J. George introduced Mrs. Ruth Ardis, president of the Odessa association, and also the speaker, Dr. Larry Marsh, director of choral music at the University of Texas of the Permian Basin. Dr. Marsh's subject was "The Role of the Private Music Teacher in Preparing the Student for Public School Music," in which she stressed the concepts of Jean Piaget.

Mrs. Ray Chappelle, Bicentennial chairman for the Midland association, announced a Recital of American Music honoring the Bicentennial to be held Jan. 29 at the First United Methodist Church choir room.

Humphrey urges lowered interest to boost housing

DALLAS (AP) —Sen. Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn., called Sunday for a reduction in interest rates and the creation of a Federal Housing Bank to help assure a steady supply of mortgage money and give a boost to the U.S. housing industry.

Humphrey's statements were made in a speech he delivered here at the opening session of the National Association of Home Builders (NAHB) calling for more aggressive federal action by the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD). He asked for "a fair rate of interest" and more careful planning to help eliminate the "urban sprawl." Sen. Edward Brooke, R-Mass, was to be the guest speaker today.

Humphrey citicized the policies of President Ford's administration saying it "has failed and failed miserably" to me meet the nation's housing needs.

"It is no wonder that the American people are so cynical about the ability of the federal government to meet their needs," Humphrey said. "Administration actions have turned the government's promise of a decent ome in a suitable environment for every American into an empty pro-mise and a cruel hoax," Humphrey

He predicted that housing starts, which reached a record low during 1975, would increase only slightly during 1976 to about 1.5 million homes. In the early 1970s, the number of starts reached two million annually.

Humphrey blamed the housing slump on what he called the Ford administration's policies of slow growth and high interest rates.

The former vice president, who has twice been a Democratic presidential candidate, said the best way to cut back on federal spending and increase government income "is to restore health to the economy.

"Strong recovery in 1976 and 1977 could reduce greatly the need to spend billions of dollars that we now must pay out in food stamps, unemployment compensation and the like to the victims of the recession,"

Another speaker, HUD Secretary Carla A. Hills, announced $1 million in grants for the installation of solar power units in 143 new and existing dwellings in 27 states. She said it would be the nation's first large-scale test of solar power.

Mrs. Hills, following the Republican political line, said an economic recovery already is in progress. She said family income rose more quickly in 1975 than did housing costs and that the Ford administration has taken steps, through HUD, to help people buy homes.

The homebuilders association (NAHB) expects some 50,000 of its 76,000 members to attend the annual convention here this week. J. S. 'Mickey" Norman of Houston, NAHB president, said much of the convention will be aimed at ways to speed up housing's recovery.

More than 50 educational workshops are scheduled beginning today and those attending will be able to view more than 500 exhibits of building materials and fixtures.

Hearst attorneys may try to offer lie test

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - With her trial a week away, Patricia Hearst's attorneys today may try to introduce the results of a lie detector test to support her contention that death threats forced her to rob a bank, according to a published report.

Wayne Smith, an associate of defense attorney F. Lee Bailey, would not confirm or deny on Sunday the New York Daily News report.

"It's all being coordinated in San Francisco and will be released Monday," he said.

Smith also said the defense plans to file new motions to limit or preventfurther interviews by Dr. Harry Kozol of Boston, a prosecution psychiatrist who Miss Hearst claims drove her to

"The motions will be based on Kozol's background and why the pro-secution selected him. I think you're going to see a lot of surprises," Smith said in a telephone interview from

The News reported in today's edi-tions that Miss Hearst's attorneys are expected to file an application with U.S. District Court Judge Oliver Carter seeking to have the results of the polygraph tests admitted as evidence. Such tests are usually not admissible as evidence in court cases. Defense attorney Al Johnson would not comment on the report — "On the was given would not be right because of the inference the public would

The News quoted New York City sources close to the defense as saying the tests were conducted over three days by four experts - Charles Zimmerman of the Scientific Security Co. of Boston; Drs. Gordon Barland and David Ruskin of the University of Utah, and Dr. Stanley Abrams of Kaiser Hospital in Portland, Ore.

Dr. Barland declined comment, and the others were not immediately reachable

The News reported that tests indicated Miss Hearst was telling the truth when she claimed she was held in a dark closet for days after her Feb. 4, 1974, kidnaping, then was forced by her Symbionese Liberation Army captors to take part in the April 15, 1974, robbery of the Hibernia Bank

Last week, the defense tried to prevent further examinations of Miss Hearst by Kozol, claiming he had bullied her to hysteria with accusatory questions during a Jan. 7 session. After Kozol denied the accusations during a two-day hearing. Judge Carter last week ordered the 21-year-old newspaper heiress to either undergo further qustioning or face sanctions, which could bar use of defense psychiatrists in the trial

Miss Hearst'sstrial on bank robbery charges is scheduled to start Jan. 26 and may last from six to eight weeks.

JACK STAGNER, left, has been named Jaycee of the Quarter, while Richard Verdery was voted Jaycee of the month for December for his work on the Christmas float and the Crier

Senate panel may ponder quizzing Frank Sinatra

The Senate intelligence committee this week is expected to consider calling Frank Sinatra to testify about the relationbell Exner and mobster Sam Giancana.

"I think the committee will be asked when it meets" to consider calling Sinatra as a witness, a committee source said Sunday night. The panel is scheduled to meet Tuesday.

Mrs. Exner has said Sinatra introduced her to Kennedy and to Giancana and John Rosselli, another underworld

She said in a 10-page book outline released by a literary agent that she had an affair with Kennedy in the early 1960s and personal relationships with Giancana and

The Central Intelligence Agency enlisted Giancana and Rosselli in an effort to kill Cuban Premier Fidel Castro. The Senate panel uncovered Mrs. Exner's relationship with Ken-nedy in trying to deter-mine if Kennedy knew about the Castro assassination plot. It con-cluded he did not learn of it through Mrs. Exner.

However, the commit-tee source said, "I don't think the staff is eager at this point to go back and open that up again. They feel they investigated the relationship in the first place — whether or not Sinatra had anything to offer in connection with the question of whether

THE ENERGY POLICY AND CONSERVATION ACT OF 1975

In an effort to eliminate prevalent misconceptions and allay unwarranted over reaction to the new crude oil pricing rules to be imposed on February 1, 1976, the Federal Energy Administration is making available the top FEA officials listed above for the purpose of a free exchange of knowledge and ideas regarding crude oil pricing. The FEA recognizes the need for the earliest possible explanation of this bill and has a desire for "grass roots" input to guide its responsibility for rule making under the new law.

YOU HAVE THE OPPORTUNITY TO PRESENT OBJECTIVE RECOMMENDATIONS AND TO OBTAIN ON-THE-SPOT ANSWERS TO YOUR QUESTIAN

TIONS REGARDING THE PROPOSED RULES, WITHOUT HAVING TO CORRESPOND WITH OR TRAVEL TO VISIT THESE TOP OFFICIALS!

The FEA has prepared a document . . . NOTICE OF PROPOSED RULE MAKING AND PUBLIC HEARING — DOMESTIC CRUDE OIL PRICES . . . in preparation for public hearings commencing on January 22, 1976, in Washington, D.C. A limited number of copies of this notice, which thoroughly outlines the probable new rules, are available in the east lobby entrance at The First National Bank of Midland, Texas. You are encouraged to obtain a copy, study the proposed rules, and bring your questions and suggestions to the ENERGY BILL FORUM.

All interested persons involved with the oil & gas industry are encouraged to attend.

'Make city beautiful'

Fifth and sixth grade students in Room 23 at Midland's De Zavala School, 1101 South St., merit the designation "Good Citizens" because of their interest in city beautification and their announced desire to do something about it.

The editor one day last week received the following letter from the students:

"We are 5th and 6th grade students at De Zavala. We have been studying the history of our country and we are very proud of it. Since we are celebrating the two hundredth birthday this year. we want people to look at our city and to help beautify it.

"We can't be real proud of our town when the alleys behind houses and stores are filled with trash. Have you looked at your alley and have you looked behind stores?

"We want to start a campaign and these are our suggestions. We promise to do our share and get another person to promise to do his share and pass it on. We have made some slogans and we would like to get other kids to make slogans too. And we need the grown-ups to help us.

"We want to make Midland beautiful all over. We are sending some slogans, as follows:

"Don't be bitter. Clean up the "Start a rally. Go clean up your

"Have you looked at your alley

"Be a good neighbor. Keep

Beautify garbage cans that ain't.' "Boxes that mash make smaller trash." Now, how about this from a great, thoughtful and energetic group of youngsters at De Zavala. They are due a round of applauses for their suggested program and slogans. Actually this is great leadership in the making. The youths have come up with an excellent program, while offering to do their share. They even go beyond this in interesting others in doing likewise.

How many adults of the city have offered such suggestions? How many have offered to WORK in implementing their recommendations. How many have looked at their alleys with an idea of doing something about them?

These 5th and 6th graders, bless them, realize that they will need some grown-up help in getting the job done, and they have sounded a plea for same. Who will heed their call?

Here is a real opportunity for a service club, a garden club or some other organization to be of real service to the community in joining hands with this group of youngsters in a program of city beautification. Who will be first?

Chances are that the program would spread community-wide through the suggested "pass it on" method. And with the remaining winds of winter expected off-and-on, followed by the anticipated spring breezes, now is the time for a thorough clean-up. The 5th and 6th graders at De Zavala promise to do their part. Will you join them?

Thank you, students, for a great and meaningful Bicentennial year

Americans warned in advance on Angola

By JEFFREY ST. JOHN Copley News Service

WASHINGTON — "I am shocked and dismayed at the lack of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's planning when it comes to Portuguese Africa," Portuguese Gen. Antonio de Spinola told me in an interview in Lisbon on Sept. 29, 1972. "We have common interests in Africa with America, but your contradictory policy on the question makes it very. very dangerous."

The contradictory policy Spinola had in mind was Secretary of State Henry Kissinger seeking detente with the Soviets while Moscow was plotting to colonize African countries like Angola. He was also referring to the U.S. policy of supporting African de-frustration that "it was impossible to even raise in the councils of NATO the issue of the strategic importance of Angola because of the opposition of some NATO countries to Portugal's colonial policy in Africa."

Spinola's charge that NATO was not planning to support its strategic interests in African nations like Angola was further underscored during the December, 1975, NATO meeting in Brussels. By that time the Russians had taken full advantage of NATO's inaction and of Kissinger's fallacious policy of detente and had moved into Angola. Kissinger's evasion of the importance of the issue was indicated by his being publicly irritated that the NATO meeting was dominated by the discussions of Angola.

Portugal had given up its colonial possessions in Africa, including Angola, as demanded by some NATO members and a majority of the United Nations. The power vacuum created by that withdrawal has been filled by Soviet, Cuban and Chinese intervention which, in the process, had forced the United States to reverse its policy and belatedly supply military hardware to block Communist aggression. Nothing illustrates better the bankruptcy of Kissinger's detente policy than Russian aggression in Angola which could have been prevented five years

The strategic importance of Angola to the very NATO nations that would not even discuss the issue several years ago is twofold.

First, Soviet domination of Angola will give Moscow control of the shipping routes of huge oil tankers bound from the Middle East to the NATO nations of Europe. Second, a Soviet takeover in Angola will give them an enclave from which to wage guerrilla warfare against bordering South Africa and its sister state, Rhodesia. This is why South Africa has committed military supplies and men to fight in Angola against Sovietbacked forces. The United States has been forced to side with South Africa in an effort to salvage a potentially disastrous situation.

Congressional success in cutting off the belated American aid to the anti-Communist forces in Angola provides fresh evidence that our foreign policy is in the hands of fools. The historian, Otto J. Scott, in his forthcoming work on the 17th Century British monarch James I observes: "The figure of the fool is widely misunderstood

"He is neither a jester nor a clown nor an idiot. He is, instead, the dark side of genius. For if a genius has the ability to see and make connections beyond the normal range of vision, the fool is one who can see - and disconnect."

The cynics are saying that democracy is failing. They point to the refusal by great numbers to participate in the democratic processes. This is evidence, claim the cynics, that the processes don't work

In the 1974 elections, only 38 per cent of the electorate voted. Current polls show that confidence in political parties and public institutions is at an all-time low.

The survival of democracy, we believe, depends on public participation. We complain that there are no real leaders. But the qovernment official who is elected by only a majority of a minority becomes inevitably overtaken by the reality that he has no mandate to do anything: Indeed, he has no real idea of what

In a democracy, if there is no popular following, there can be no bold leaders - only wheelers and dealers engaged in backroom manipulations that are often against the public interest. For rest assured, the special interest lobbyists will not desert their posts just because the

INSIDE REPORT

Foreign aid versus human rights hearing explodes

By ROWLAND EVANS And ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON - What began as a routine congressional hearing into the humdrum question of human rights violations in Indonesia suddenly erupted into an angry backlash when testimony of the key witness, a for-mer British Communist lobbying gainst American aid for Jakarta. nfuriated two House members. The immediate and completely unplanned effect of the hearing was to ore up the Ford administration's case for increasing aid to anti-Communist Indonesia, despite new fforts to block U.S. arms for countries charged with a "consistent pattern" of gross violation of human rights.

Thus, the Dec. 18 hearing, unreported until now, ended in a surprising defeat for those in Congress using the human rights issue as another weapon to whittle down the administration's freedom to conduct foreign policy, and to expand congressional power.

The purpose of the hearing held by Democratic Rep. Donald Fraser of Minnesota, chairman of the House International Relations sub-International Relations subcommittee, was to spread on the public record a vivid description of what has long been known about Indonesia and many other developing and developed countries: that human rights have been and are being systematically eroded and violated.
Partly due to Fraser's efforts.
Congress easily adopted an amendment to the foreign aid bill last, year
"recommending" that President Ford take account of the human rights balance sheet in parceling out
"U.S. aid.

Upset that the President, despite that recommendation, is now asking quadrupled arms aid for Indonesia an obvious result of the American debacle in Vietnam and new Communist pressures in what remains of non-Communist Asia - Fraser started the Dec. 18 hearing by complaining that "these figures (for new aid) suggest that human rights did not have much impact, if any, in the decision-making process."

He then introduced Mrs. Carmel Budiardjo, a British citizen and former member of the British Communist party. She said her husband, an Indonesian Communist in the regime of former President Sukarno, has been in jail almost the full ten years since the Communist party in Indonesia (PKI) attempted its coup d'etat in September 1965. The coup was drowned in a bloodbath.

Mrs. Budiardjo was not shy in in-structing the U.S. Congress how to treat Indonesia today. "I believe that a clear case exists," she told the subcommittee, "for regarding Indonesia as a country that is grossly and persistently violating human rights. No aid should be allowed to flow until these violations end."

She then proposed that a "congressional mission" go to Indonesia "to make an independent investigation of the problem of political imprisonment.

That infuriated Rep. Leo Ryan, a California Democrat who, although not a subcommittee member, attended the hearing as a member of the full committee. Drawing from Mrs. Budiardjo the admission that before the PKI's effort to take power ten years ago, she had worked for both D. K. Aidet, former head of the now-outlawed Communist party, and foreign minister Subandrio — the two principal leaders in the attempted coup — Ryan exploded:

"I do believe that adherents of a government and a foreign Communist party that terrorized their own people and vilified the United States have their guts to appear before this body as defenders of human rights and as accusers of anyone." Ryan made no effort to pretend that human rights aren't still being violated in Indonesia. "I am not going to defend the Indonesian government nor do I wish to imply that I believe that government's record is without blemish in the field of human rights,"

The only other Congressman present with Fraser was Rep. Wayne Hays of Ohio, tough, irascible and a Democratic power in the House. Hays, also a full committee member. told Mrs. Budiardjo it was curious she had not complained about human rights violations during her work for Subandrio and Aidet. In those turbulent last days of Sukarno, he said, "every jail and prison camp in Indonesia (were) full of people."

When the witness replied, "That is bsurd," Hays flared. "I resent the fact that you are a British Communist itting here in front of this committee." he said. That resentment, widely shared by all who have read the transcript of the Dec. 18 hearing, has now fortified the President's arms aid program for But the Indonesian case is unique. Mr. Ford's plan to quadruple aid to the pro-Western Asian giant was safeguarded by coincidence: the backlash from testimony of a witness regarded by most Congressmen as unfit to instruct the U.S. on how to handle its foreign policy. The larger question is very much alive. Stiffer controls over the President's power to use foreign aid to enlarge American influence abroad are now being pushed by Fraser, based on human rights violations. Their probable approval by Congress shows the unmistakable trend of the postwar Vietnam era: setting general rules and standards for foreign policy that stymie imaginative diplomacy and build congressional power. "But later he took me over to Metro where I met Pan Berman (a producer) and, to make a long story short, they gave me a screen test with Esther Williams."

The result was an MGM contract for Davis.

"For a long time, every script they gave me was a Gable script," he remembered. "He'd gone into service, and I guess they needed some big hulk to play some of those parts.

"I had the regular seven-year contract. They wanted to give me sixmonth options but I said, 'I'll never last six months,' and I got them to make it a year between option times. "It was just an accident or luck or

"I might have been president of the oil company," he says. "But I wouldn't have had as much fun."

Davis had never so much as gone out for a school play prior to his acting debut at MGM, because, as he explains, "that was considered sissy stuff back in my day. I went out for football.'

It's well that he's always been brawny, because his new Disney picture, destined for a television debut next year, was physically demanding in the extreme. "It's about an old cowboy who gets

Democrats air economic issues

By MIKE MOORE
Associated Press Writer
Hubert H. Humphrey, a non-candidate who many observers see leading the crowded field of Democratic candidates seeking their party's presidential nomination, is stepping up his political tempo. Humphrey drew record crowds on a weekend Missouri tour that comes on the threshold of Iowa's first steps to select delegates to the 1976 nominating conventions. That begins tonight; the first state primary will be New Hampshire's on Feb. 24.

Meanwhile, four announced hopefuls for the Democrats' top spot pointed to unemployment as a key issue to score with the voters. In a Sunday television appearance, the four called for guarantees of jobs for

And California was the major scene of the Republican battle, with the campaign managers for President Ford and challenger Ronald Reagan each predicting his man will triumph in the early primaries.

Humphrey, the man who isn't running but says he will accept the honor if it is offered to him by the convention, took swipes at both Ford and Reagan during his Midwest swing.

The senator from Minnesota, appearing at an affair to honor retiring Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., in Columbia, Mo., Saturday, drew 1,800 faithful, which some claimed set a record for Democrats in the state.

The 64-year-old former vice presi-dent also attended a Sunday brunch for Symington's son, Rep. James Symington, DMo., and later drew 1,700 to a Kansas City forum sponsored by Rep. Jerry Litton, D-Mo. Aides said that was a record for the meetings that were begun three years

Humphrey said Reagan's statement that citizens unhappy with a state's management can "vote with your feet" by moving away is "the most callous, brutal, political state-ment I've heard in the 20th century."

Of Ford's policy in Angola, Hum-phrey said, "If we can't learn the lesson we had in Vietnam, we're too dumb to be a world power."
The California Republican campaigning was primarily waged in Sacramento by campaign managers addressing GOP volunteers. Sen. Paul Laxalt of Nevada, who heads the Reagan effort, said there is "no major dittical p between Ford and Reagan.

Echoing support for guaranteeed jobs were Rep. Morris K. Udall of Arizona, former North Carolina Gov. Terry Sanford and Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington.

Sanford, in his first appearace since being hospitalized for chest pains last weekend, said his health is excellent following a week's rest. He called for action to improve neighborhoods through housing and rent subsidies.

Jackson said he feels detente should be a major issue, with the U.S. using its economic power to keep the Soviets out of Angola. He called for use of U.S. grain sales, technology exports and other ecomonic tactics to squeeze the Russians out of the African state.

Udall said he would seek to bring the races together to work out a solution to school desegregation busing. He criticized Jackson's plan that three-judge panels be required before busing can be impsed, noting that all busing orders have been appealed to such panels and have

In Miami campaigning for the March 9 Florida primary. Pennsylvania Gov. Milton Shapp sharply criticized Ford's proposal to raise Social Security taxes as a move that will "take billions of dollars" from working people and be a boon for the rich.

"The President doesn't seem to understand that almost all money taken from the pockets of low-income families is money withdrown from the purchasing power and has immediate negative impact on the economy," the Democratic governor said.

An aide to Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace, speaking of the March 23 North Carolina primary, said, "Our approach is one of increasing our margin of victory - we know we're

The book was written by George McMillan, who said he talked to members of Ray's family and to inmates who knew Ray when he was at the Missouri State Prison.

McMillan, a free-lance writer, said today that his book quotes members of Ray's relatives as discounting Ray's story that he was set up by a man called "Raoul," whom he met in Montreal.

Ray, who is serving a life sentence after pleading guilty to King's assassination, has been trying to win a new trial.

McMillan said Jerry Ray dismissed his brother James' story about meeting "Raoul" in Canada. He said "Jimmie" only went to Canada "to look the place over, to see how to get out of the country."

McMillan said today that "actually, it was nearly $5,000, but you have to realize that this was in nickels and dimes over seven years. For instance, I would talk to Jerry Ray and give him $200 sometimes." He said he talked to Jerry Ray more than 100 times.

Mc Millan said he also spoke with inmates at the Missouri State Prison at Jefferson City. James Earl Ray escaped from that prison in April 1967, one year before King was shot to death in Memphis.

One inmate who was at the prison when James Earl Ray was there said there had been talk around the prison that some Mississippi businessmen would pay to have King killed, McMillan said. But the author said that did not necessarily mean that Ray heard the same rumor.

The Pittsburgh Steelers, for the second straight year the greatest team in professional football, dealt he wild-card Cowboys of Dallas a fistful of fundamentals Sunday and ame away with a 21-17 victory in what was easily the most thrilling Super Bowl game yet played.

And having carved an X on the bad ap these National Football League extravaganzas have carried since their inception, the Steelers immediately began thinking about carving a special niche of their own in the record books by winning a third title in a row.

The Cowboys, with quarterback Roger Staubach passing out of a deepset shotgun offense and a "flex" defense designed to consternate Pittsburgh, had added a few new wrinkles to this game. But for all their efforts, all they got were furrowed brows. It was blocking and tacklingall there really is to football, when you get down to it—that made the dif-ference.

"I'm a big deal today-but tomorrow we start working for Super Bowl XI," said Reggie Harrison, the bemused, almost embarrassed Steeler whose fourth-quarter blocked punt produced a safety and started Pittsburgh working in earnest toward the triumph in Super Bowl X.

"I think we'll be enjoying this one a lot more than the last one," added running back Franco Harris, a star in the Steelers' Super Bowl IX victory over Minnesota but little more than a bit-part player in this one. "We're No. 1 two times in a row and there's not too many teams that can say that. Now it'll be nice to try for No. 3- and no team can say that yet.'

And Jack Lambert, the hyperactive spearhead of the Pittsburgh defense that gave Dallas fits until it was too late to alter the outcome, said simply: "Two is nice...but three would be

Two was hard to come by. The game was a relatively even one statistically, but those are only cold numbers on a chart. On the field it was as uneven as a manic-depressive, first raising the Cowboys hopes, then dashing them, then doing the same to the Steelers' emotions. The tempo crashed back and forth, bouncing as crazily as the football that careened into and out of the Dallas end zone after Harrison had collided with it in mid-air, jawbone to

It was the Cowboys who got on the scoreboard first. They stampeded into Pittsburgh punter Bobby Walden as he juggled the ball. In one play, a 29-yard touchdown pass from Roger Staubach to a shockingly wide-open Drew Pearson, Dallas bashed a gaping hole in the aura of Pittsburgh's Steel Curtain invincibility, becoming the first team all season to score a first-quarter touchdown against the Steelers. It took Pittsburgh less than 4½ minutes to dispel those fears, tying the game on a touchdown pass from Terry Bradshaw to an equally wideopen Randy Grossman.

From then until the fourth minute of the fourth period, it was a war of attrition, a series of missed opportunities. Toni Fritsch kicked a 36yard field goal 15 seconds into the second period, putting Dallas on top again 10-7. He might have had a shot at another three-pointer later in the period if Pittsburgh's defense hadn't flexed its own muscles, turning a second-and-10 situation on the Pittsburgh 23 into a fourth-and35 by creaming Staubach on successive pass attempts. Meanwhile, Pittsburgh was blowing some chances of its own, but doing it more blatantly, compliments of placekicker Roy Gerela's inaccurate right foot. He lined a 36-yard try of his own to the left of the luminescent yellowgreen uprights in the final minute of the second period, then repeated his act of futility about a third of the way into the third quarter by hooking a 33-yarder.

He had a pretty good excuse, though, for his lack of marksmanship. It seems he was nursing a broken rib. He busted it on the first play of the game by knocking Dallas' Tom Henderson out of bounds, preventing the razzle-dazzle reverse runback from the Super Bowl's first kickoff

So into the fourth quarter these two teams went, the Steelers pounding away at Dallas and coming up empty; the Cowboys cracking away at Pittsburgh and holding, ever so tenuously, their three-point lead.

Something had to give. Something did. It was, of all things, the Cowboys' punting unit. And what had been an intense, fierce, frustrating game of near-misses became a rollercoaster of scoring, changing the numbers on the scoreboard almost as quickly as the numbers on the big board in the stock exchange.

Harrison, a 1974 midseason acquisition by Pittsburgh after the St. Louis Cardinals cut him adrift, came through the line like a locomotive at full throttle and met the football face first, an instant after punter Mitch Hoopes' foot hit the ball.

"I think I got it with my mouth," he said later, impishly displaying a tongue with a gash up the middle. "I thought I had it with my arm, but after the block I turned around and spat and got nothing but blood, so I guess I took it in the face."

It seemed impossible to some that Harrison wouldn't know where he'd been hit. It was even more incredible that he didn't know how much impact his play had. In fact, it wasn't until he was in the locker room that he found out he'd drawn Pittsburgh within one

He didn't think much about the block itself, either. Both coaches— Chuck Noll of Pittsburgh and Tom Landry of Dallas—and plenty of players on both sides said it was the turning point, the instant the Steelers

"I don't think it was so important. Heck, there were some really big plays," he said, referring to a Mike Wagner interception that helped the Steelers pad their lead and a 64-yard Lynn Swann touchdown catch that put

Barely two minutes later, Gerela made another three points, inching The Steelers' lead out to 15-10 with a chip-shot 18-yarder. After the 36-yard kick, Dallas quarterback Roger Staubach, whose success with the shotgun had been minimal, went to the air immediately—and Wagner

This time Swann beat Washington flat out. He flew down the right side and gained a step on the Dallas defender. Bradshaw, unloading as though he had the aid of a bombsight, laid the ball right into Swann's arms

"I didn't know it was a touchdown," said Swann, who made four catches for 161 yards against the Gowboys, just two weeks after suffering a concussion in the American Con-ference championship game against Oakland. "Terry just told me to run

Chaparrals face South Plains, another toughie

Midland College takes on another of the Western Junior College Athletic Conference giants when the Chaparrals meet South Plains College at 8 p.m. today in the MC gym.

It also is a vital game for the Chaps if they are to keep their title hopes alive. MC is 3-3 in league play while South Plains, after suffering two league defeats last week, is one of five teams tied for second at 4-2.

Ruling the roost is defending national champion Western Texas College of Snyder at 5-1' but the Westerners face two formidable challenges this week. First they host New Mexico

NO dome closes posh club

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Due to lack of business, the Superdome's posh Stadium Club has decided to shut down on nonevent evenings, beginning today.

Not enough members show up to drink or dine, even though they paid a $500 initiation fee plus $360 in annual dues for the privilege.

"If the members don't support it there's no sense in keeping it open," said Frank Fry, who heads Ogden Foods operations at the $163 million sports palace.

It was reported that some members, unhappy over the new policy, now want their money back.

Fry said he kept 12 people working at the club and they have been serving one or two tables on the average nonevent night.

The Superdome has had a lot of nonevent nights since it opened last August and Fry said sparse attendence at the club was a financial drain.

On non-event days, customers are not numerous at the public restaurant, either, or at the cafeteria. Fry said the solution is for the dome to line up more events and bring in more people. He said the state should out money into national promotion to help attract dome tenants.

MIAMI (AP) — "That play changed the whole thing," said Dallas Coach Tom Landry. "It changed the momen-

"That play really hurt us," agreed wide receiver Drew Pearson.

"That play" was Reggie Harrison's block of a Dallas punt. The ball bounced wildly through the end zone, giving the Pittsburgh Steelers a safety, two points, good field position and the spark that erupted into a 21-17 Super Bowl victory over the Cowboys.

The Steelers, down 10-7 with 3:32 gone in the fourth quarter, lined up in a 10-man rush and poured through the Cowboys line, going for punter Mitch Hoopes. Harrison, a reserve running back, had a clean shot at the ball.

"UNTIL THEN, we had it well under control," said Landry, whose Cowboys were the first wild-card playoff entry to survive until the finals. "It cost us five points and that was the difference.'

After the Cowboys free-kicked from their 20, Pittsburgh climaxed a seven-play, 45-yard drive with a 36yard Roy Gerela field goal.

The Cowboys promptly gave the ball to Pittsburgh when quarterback Roger Staubach drilled a pass right to Steelers safety Mike Wagner. The defending champions wasted no time capitalizing on the interception, collecting another three points on Gerela's 18-yard field goal for a 15-10

"When I looked down the middle, it was open," said Staubach, who was trying for Pearson. "But Wagner came up and made the play.

"The blocked punt and the interception by Wagner did it to us," he said.

"They made the really big plays when Pittsburgh dented the Cowboys' well-publicized "flex" running defense 46 times, collecting 149 yards. Bradshaw completed nine of 19 passes for 209 yards and two touchdowns.

"I'm disappointed we didn't contain their run as well as we expected," said middle linebacker Lee Roy Jordan, who may retire after 13 years. 'We let them have five or six yards on first down too often.

ASKED ABOUT his plans for the future, Jordan, 34, said: "I'll wait until June, see how I feel and what football mean to me then."

Staubach, who completed 14 of 24 passes for 204 yards and two touchdowns but who suffered three interceptions, said he was at times confused by Pittsburgh's defense.

"Overall, Pittsburgh is the best, even though my protection was pretty good," said Staubach, sacked seven times. "They mixed us up a few times. We anticipated man-toman, and they were in a zone, or the other way around. Their defense was

But Bradshaw found Lynn Swann for a 64-yard touchdown play with 3:02 left, giving the Steelers a seemingly insurmountable 21-10 ad-

Staubach, however, drove the Cowboys 80 yards in five plays, capped by a 34-yard TD pass to Percy Howard.

The extra-point brought the challengers to within four, and after the Steelers surprised most of the 80,000-plus crowd by trying, and fail-ing, to convert a fourth-and-nine from the Dallas 41 with only 1:28 remaining, Dallas had a final shot.

"I was a little surprised when the Steelers didn't punt." said Landry.
"They gave up field position, but we were out of timeouts and couldn't get outof-bounds to stop the clock."

Aggies flex muscles

The defending champion Texas Aggies are making signs they may be better than anyone suspected in the Southwest Conference and they are doing it with two-on-two basketball.

Steeler decision baffles experts

The Washington Post
MIAMI — It was the best of the 10 Super Bowls, the one with a catch that may never be topped and a decision that would ranked with the all-time blunders had it backfired. It was a chilly affair in a warm-weather site that Pittsburgh won with an un-characteristic bolt of bravura.

The Steelers fattened a five-point lead to 11 with slightly more than three minutes left in the game on a decision that surprised nearly everyone but the Steelers. On third-and-four from his 36, there was Terry Bradshaw going for broke, calling for "maximum protection" and telling Lynn Swann to fly toward the

ALL SEEMED in order for the Steelers in the final 107 seconds, even after Bradshaw had walked to the dressing room holding ice to his left eye. All they had to do was play Arthur Murray football, one-two-threepunt. Incredibly, coach Chuck Noll choose to run the ball on fourth-andnine from the Dallas 41. Even his offense was dazed. "We were coming off the field

BLEIER GOT NOdaylight, and instead of gaining at least 25 yards and — more importantly — a good deal of time on a probably Cowboys' runback - the Steelers gained two yards and only six seconds.

It all ended well for the Steelers, as three Cowboy passes from their 37 were broken up in the end zone by Steeler defenders, the last a tip by Wagner that Glen Edwards intercepted. Noll later said the risk to his defense was worth the chance that punter Bobby Walden would bobble the ball, as he did earlier, or have his punt blocked. However, Walden got off two kicks earlier under heavy pressure.

So Noll remains a genius of our time, joining Vince Lombardi and Don Shula as coaches of back-to-back winners of the Super Bowl.

By FRED ROTHENBERG

AP Sports Writer NEW YORK (AP) - It seems, CBS forgot what the nation's football fans

do on Sunday. There is little doubt that America's living room signal callers watch foot-ball and more football on Sunday. It is ingrained in our culture, like trips to the super market or family outings

But equally certain is that any football afficionado worth his post pattern forsakes the glitter, glamour and glop of halftime shows for more expedient things, like trips to the bathroom, the kitchen or maybe taking out the gar-

So, with 90 minutes to kill before Sunday's Super Bowl game, what did

IT DROPPED a 90-minute halftime show, a real festival of film-flam, or its audience. Even though CBS switched signals by putting this halftime show on before the game and stretched it to 90 minutes, the people who burn out TV tubes on Sundays weren't

And when Phyllis George pleaded to an audience which was projected to reach 70 million less than two hours later, "Let us entertain you, hop aboard the Super Bowl merrygoround," millions of viewers decided they still could get some errands done before the real kickoff.

Instead of 11/2 hours of football action, something a football fan could expect on the most super Sunday of the season, he got a fashion show; an interview with Raquel Welch; a 20pound lobster; punt, pass and kick, and a yacht ride. SOMEWHERE in those 90 minutes of Hollywood, hoopla and hype, CBS provided highlights of the past decade of Super Bowls. Nowhere did it give the fans much in the way of footage tracing how Pittsburgh and Dallas got to be the only two survivors of a 26team National Football League that opened the season six months ago.

Fortunately, the most important element of the CBS Super Bowl coverage was more down to earth-the broadcast of the game.

Play-by-play man Pat Summerall and analyst Tom Brookshier allowed the game, which turned out to be a superb struggle won by Pittsburgh 21-17, to be the main show.

There were no sideline interviews with the water boy or press box gossip sessions with movie stars, just Summerall's crisp coverage and Brookshier's critical commentary. And that was enough because, after all, this was television, not radio. The audience could see the game.

THERE WERE some slip-ups, however-wrong names being called and a superimposed clock that momentarily-and tantalizingly-obscured Roger Staubach's desperation lastminute pass as it settled down into the end zone.

There were a couple of cases when cameras, and CBS had 16 of them. drifted away from the action at the wrong time, or didn't follow through on a replay. And there was no mention that Dallas linebacker Dave Edwards slipped, leaving tight end Randy Grossman all alone in Edwards' zor for the Steelers' first touchdown.

And there was the failure to ask Pittsburgh Coach Chuck Noll in the Steelers' locker room why he elected to go for the first down on a fourthandnine situation on the Dallas 40, rather than punt. The Cowboys held then still had 82 seconds left for a final assault on the Steelers' goal line.

BUT MOSTLY, the CBS eye was telescopic, zeroing in on the important plays and putting them in focus. Did Franco Harris step out of bounds before taking Terry Bradshaw's pass and racing untouched to the goal line? The replay caught Franco's big toe just leaving the playing surface. Was linebacker Jack Lambert suckered by Staubach's sleight-ofhand, as Drew Pearson slipped by the uncovered area and grabbed Staubach's pass for Dallas' first touchdown? CBS found egg on Lambert's face mask for all to see?

So CBS gets good grades here for covering a super football game, but failing marks for dabbling into high society in trying to bring the color of the game to the average armchair

Maybe George Halas, a founder of the NFL in 1920, said it best.

"I knew we had a good game, an in-teresting game," Halas told Musberger before the CBS crew boarded its yacht for a cruise down Biscayne Bay. "But I never thought we'd reach these proportions."

Eddie Sutton suggests boss to grade officials

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) -University of Arkansas basketball coach Eddie Sutton said Sunday that the Southwest Conference needs a "full-time basketball man" to regularly observe and assess the eague's game officials. Sutton's Razorbacks had problems with the officials last week. No SWC officials showed at Rice on Wednesday because of a foulup in scheduling. Two high school officials were recruited at the last minute and the tipoff had to be delayed. SWC official John Kloza was late for the tipoff Saturday at Fayetteville against TCU and an official from the preliminary high school giris game worked the first six minutes of the WC game. "First, we need another man in our

(SWC) office, a basketball man," Sutton said. "I'm going to talk with Frank (Athletic Director Broyles)

"I don't think we'll get one this year, but hopefully it will happen before another year rolls around," Sutton said, "Until it does, things like this are bound to happen."

grade the officials and offer con-structive criticism," Sutton said. "We have some good people officiating, but we also have some people who don't belong in the league.

last week, officials called 50 fouls and 59 free throws were attempted. In Arkansas' 100-65 victory over TCU Saturday, there were 62 fouls and 75 free throws were attempted.

want to watch a freethrow shooting contest," Sutton said. "I have become very disturbed because I think the game will be ruined. I think other coaches feel the same way.
"I'm not sure I would like to see the game like it is in the Big 10, where it's reach a point somewhere in bet-ween," he said. "We're playing with bigger, faster people and there will be more incidental contact. There will be more bumping, particularly under the boards. Our officials aren't allowing

Gilder snaps Miller's string

PHOENIX (AP) — There wasn't much about Bob Gilder's golf game that would impress you: His only amateur credentials consisted of a threeyear-old Western Athletic Con-

He had to make four tries before he was able to gain his card as an approved player on the pro golf tour. He was making only his second start on the American circuit. He'd never been under pressure, or before the television cameras.

And in this tournament, Gilder and the field faced the challenge of Johnny Miller, seeking an unprecented sweep of the tour-opening Tuscon and Phoenix tournaments for the third consecutive year.

IT DIDN'T seem to bother Gilder a bit. "I knew I had the game," he said after his victory in the $200,000 of getting in position to show that I had it." Phoenix Open. "It was just a matter

"This kid is some kind of player. He can really play the game. Some kind of dude," said Lee Trevino, who, like Gilder, was once an unknown and who also burst into the spotlight rather spectacularly.

Gilder, 25, shot a final round 67, four under par, and finished the 72 holes over the 6,726-yard Phoenix Country Club course with a 268 total, 16 under Roger Maltbie, the 1975 Rookie of the Year and the leader through the first three rounds, slipped to a 70 and was two strokes back in second at 270.

TREVINO, WHO GOT to within a single shot of the lead late in the warm, sunny day, blew himself out of it with three consecutive bogeys starting on the 12th hole. He faded to a 71 and a tie for third at 273 with Rod Curl, Jim Simons and Bruce Lietzke. Curl had a 65. Lietzke 67 and Simons a

Miller, who had won five consecutive Arizona tournaments in-cluding last week's Tucson Open, finally saw his string end. He tied for seventh at 274, six shots back. Miller had a last round 66, but it was too little after he shot a 73 in Saturday's third

Pittsburgh wins Super

(Continued from 1 B) Cowboys' onside kick failed, three plays netted one yard. Then, incredibly, a fourth play gained two more and Pittsburgh had to give up the ball right there instead of burying the Cowboys with a Walden punt.

"I didn't want to risk a blocked punt," Noll explained later. "They were out of timeouts. They needed a touchdown and we thought we could hold them." The Steelers almost didn't. With 1:22 to work with, Staubach got the Cowboys from their own 39 to the Pittsburgh 38. Now there were 20 seconds to go and counting. An incompletion stopped the clock at 12.

Another stopped it at three. And on a wing-and-a-prayer pass into the logjammed end zone, safety Glen Edwards got to the ball for an interception and Pittsburgh got the game for the title.

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) - Stan McNeill, Arkansas State's second leading scorer and rebounder, was dismissed from the team Sunday night because of what Coach John Rose termed disciplinary problems.

The 6-9, 220-pound junior had started ten games at center and averaged 16 points and eight rebounds per game.

Rose refused to detail the problems that caused dismissal.

A team spokesman said 6-8 forward Dan Henderson will move into the starting center position, where he was a starter last year.

Blues may move NHL franchise

PHILADELPHIA (AP) - The possibility that the St. Louis Blues may move confronted the National Hockey League's Board of Governors as league officials gathered here for a meeting today on the eve of the NHL's 29th All-Star game.

Although league President Clarence Campbell said a move—possibly to Miami—was "hard to con-template," he admitted in a telephone interview that "the question of a transfer of their franchise is not excluded. I suppose that's their ultimate weapon." Although Blues President Sidney Salomon III was unavailable for immediate comment, having arrived here late Sunday night from a business trip to Miami, a St. Louis source said Salomon probably would ask the Board for a vote on the move.

THAT WAS not meant to indicate that a positive vote would send the team southward. The vote would be intended as a barometer of league opinion, to be used as a lever to force action by the city of St. Louis which, the Blues feel, has not given them sufficient help in taxation and other areas.

"They're finding the conduct of their building (the St. Louis Arens, which they own) enormously onerous due to unfavorable treatment in their community," said Campbell. A new convention center in the city is expected to be ready within two years and a third building. Kiel Auditorium, competes with the Arena for top events. The Blues, who have spent a reported $12 million on the Arena's renovation and maintenance, may opt for relocation despite one of the league's highest average attendances.

SHOULD A move take place, it definitely would not be before next season, sources said.

Other items also faced the Board, including the setting in motion of a plan to find a successor for Campbell; the division of revenues from the recentlycompleted eight-game series with two teams from the Soviet Union; further discussion on international play; reports from various committees involving finances and player development; and the continuation of attempts to return NHL games to network

Of those topics, the one that will draw closest scrutiny will be the formulation of procedures to name a new president. Although it was highly unlikely that a candidate would be named at today's meeting, the names of certain prospects have cir-

Wolfpack stuns Tar Heels

By The Associated Press

The feeling that comes with a big victory was one Norm Sloan got to know well the past three years, but it was one the North Carolina State coach hadn't experienced lately.

"I'd forgotten what ecstasy is like-and believe me, this is sheer ecstasy." Sloan said after his Wolfpack stunned seventhranked North Carolina 68-67 Sunday on a free throw by sophomore guard Al Green after time had run out.

With David Thompson and Tom Burleson leading the way, Sloan's teams compiled records of 27-0, 30-1 and 22-6 the past three years. But with those two gone to the pros, this was to be a rebuilding year.

APPARENTLY the Pack has rebuilt in a hurry.

'We've agonized and struggled all 12-2 and ranked 13th nationally, so it couldn't have been such agony.

'We're young, but we're going to get better. This is a big win for us.

Making it even bigger was the fact it took place in Chapel Hill, on North Carolina's home court. And winning away from home in the tough Atlantic Coast Conference is a difficult task.

Green scored only three points. The big one came after he was fouled at the buzzer by John Kuester in a rush downcourt after a North Carolina pass had been picked off by Dirk Ew-

N.C. State wiped out a 10-point deficit in the nationally televised battle with a 12-2 burst midway through the second half. With the score tied at 67-67, Ewing missed a free throw with 1:11 left, got his own rebound but Green was called for traveling with 20 seconds remaining. Ewing then intercepted a pass by Phil Ford near the Tar Heel baseline and set up Green, who was fouled by Kuester.

There is no oil drilling yet along the Atlantic shoreline, but the Interior Department has tentatively planned to auction leases off the Middle and North Atlantic Coasts. Shirley said if this leasing takes place on schedule, there could be four or five rigs drilling for oil off New Jersey and Delaware by the end of this year.

That prospect worries the governors and others in the Atlantic states, who fear that a major oil spill might blacken resort beaches and inflict heavy economic losses, especially if a spill came at the start of the summer tourist season.

Shirley, who is safety and environmental manager for Shell Oil Co., said there is little chance of a large oil spill reaching the Atlantic beaches. He pointed out that the closest oil rigs would be at least 50 miles from shore and that prevailing currents are usually pointed away from the beaches.

But if oil were spilled from a drilling platform, Shirley said, the companies want to be ready to rush equipment to the scene to contain the oil and remove it, and - if necessary - clean up any oil that does reach

Shirley said a steering committee of Clean Atlantic Associates agreed last week to purchase some $1 million in cleanup equipment, including four 'skimmers' used to pick up floating

In addition, the group has been taking an inventory of cleanup equipment and chemicals already stockpiled by individual companies in the area, he said.

He said standby materials would include chemicals to disperse oil or to coagulate it, and equipment for dispersing chemicals by helicopter.

Shirley said the oil companies participating in the cleanup plan were Amoco, Atlantic Richfield, British Petroleum, Cities Service, Chevron, Continental, Exxon, Gulf, Houston Oil & Minerals Corp., Mobil, Pennzoil, Shell, Skelly, Sun, Texaco and

Shirley said these companies would share the expenses of the oil cleanup contingency equally at first. After leases are awarded, he said, each company would contribute financial support in proportion to the amount of offshore acreage it has leased in the Atlantic, but companies without leases would be allowed to continue their cooperation, since they might

Solar energy know-how available but cost high

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) - Little by little, Americans are turning on to solar power, tapping the sun's strength to do the work of man.

Solar energy is only in its infancy, but already sunlight is heating, cooling or doing both for more than 200 U.S. homes and a dozen or more office buildings, mostly in the sunny

A university professor in Tucson, Ariz., cooked a Thanksgiving turkey in a solar oven of his own design. Since the 1940s, a Florida company has been installing rooftop solar heat collectors, at a cost of up to $1,500 a unit, to heat water in homes. The sun both warms and cools an Atlanta school, a New Hampshire federal office building, a Texas college dormitory and a New Mexico laboratoly experts say all signs point to the birth of a solar energy industry. Recently, the federal government conducted a survey to determine private industry's interest in solar research. There were more than 200 replies from companies, large and small. Right now, at least 23 companies are selling solar heat collector panels to heat and cool homes or to heat water. The glass and metal panels cost from $100 to more than $500 each, and a three-or fourbedroom home usually requires a dozen or more. They look like sandwiches or very narrow flower boxes three to six feet in depth, eight to 10 feet long and four to eight inches thick. They usually are placed on rooftops.

Nobody knows exactly how many have been sold, but one expert, in a "very rough estimate," said it is "no more than a few million dollars worth this year.

"It's difficult to give a good number," said Dr. Lauren VantHull, associate director of the University of Houston's Solar Energy Research Lab. "Solar panels are something you can build yourself."

Arthur D. Little Inc., a research firm, estimates that solar power equipment will be a $1.3-billion industry by 1985 and more than a million homes will be plugged into sunlight for heat, air-conditioning, or to generate electricity. But less than $60 million was spent in 1975 on solar energy, an Associated Press survey indicates, and most of that was

Despite the incredible promise of solar energy, and the technology to use it, the economics of sun power is a major obstacle. So far, solar energy systems are more expensive than fossil fuel systems.

The federal Energy Research and Development Agency— ERDA—has a program designed to demonstrate and test equipment for heating and cooling. The agency is funding demonstrations of systems developed by private companies and is making technical assessments of equipments under development. ERDA also is funding research into advanced solar electric-generating systems. Private companies, universities and other government agencies are performing this research.

ERDA spent $48.5 million last year on more than 20 solar projects. It is asking Congress for $70 million for solar energy demonstrations this year in 2,400 homes and 200 commercial buildings in 12 different U.S. climates.

Engineers and scientists say that solar energy on a wide scale is now technically possible. Our know-how, they say, even includes ways to fire industries with sunshine sponges and to fuel cars with hydrogen harvested with solar heat.

The amount of energy spewed out by the sun is immense. Experts estimate that the sun showers the earth with 800 trillion kilowatts of energy hourly, about 100 times more energy each hour than man has used throughout history.

But even for relatively easy jobs, such as water and space heating, sun power is costly, mostly because of the large storage units that are necessary to keep a solar system running when the sun isn't out.

In Tucson, which has one of the nation's best climates for the use of solar energy, builder Ernest Carreon estimates that a sun-power heating system in a three or four bedroom home adds roughly $5 per square foot to the cost of the house. Carreon built a 1,200-square-foot home with a solar system. The cost was $45,000. He said it would have been $39,000 or $40,000 with a conventional heating system.

"The solar system will pay for itself (through energy savings) in 11 years at today's electrical rates," says Carreon, "but it would take 62 years at today's natural gas prices."

The cost of installing a solar energy unit to heat and cool a 2,000-squarefoot house in Austin, Tex., is about $12,500, or $11,000 more than a conventional system burning fossil fuels, says Dr. Gary Vliet, a University of Texas professor.

Much of this cost is in the water storage tanks holding 8,000 to 12,000 gallons, buried and insulated, that are needed to store heat for an average home in a moderate climate for up to three consecutive cloudy, sunless

However, Vliet estimates that mass production and other factors could bring cost down to $8,600 within three years.

The simplest solar energy collectors, and the most commonly used today, are called flat plate collectors.

They look like sandwiches 3 to 6 feet by 8 to 10 feet, and they're made of glass, metal and insulation. A clear top layer of glass or plastic allows sunlight to strike a metal panel. The panel, painted black, concentrates the heat. Liquid-filled tubes or moving air carry the heat to a storage system which can be a buried tank of water or a basement full of rock. This system can achieve temperatures of up to 210 degrees even in winter.

ENERGY

Such systems easily provide heat for buildings when air is pumped around the storage unit and back out into rooms. With various adapters, the flat plate collector system also heats water in homes and swimming pools, and operates absorption air conditioners.

'We can build a storage system that would hold heat virtually forever," said James Leonard, head the Sandia Laboratories in Albuquerque, N.M., which has an ERDA contract. "But cost is the driving factor."

A more difficult job for solar energy is generating electricity. Two methods are being developed, one using collected sun heat and the other direct conversion of sunlight to power, a process called photovoltaics.

The collected sun system uses concentrators that produce temperatures of 1,000 degrees or more with sunlight. Such processes use liquid to move the heat and drive a turbine. They usually are called 'liquid transfer' systems.

A concentrator invented by Ronald Winston, a University of Chicago professor, is a troughshaped mirror with a blackcoated pipe along the bottom of the trough. Liquid run through the pipe collects heat. A similar system is being used by a Sandia Laboratory team, headed by Sandia team is using curved plywood, coated white, to save money. An oil collects and stores the heat. Leonard said the system can collect up to 600 degrees of heat, enough to power steam turbines and others that generate electricity.

Another "liquid transfer" system under study has fields of curved mirrors tracking the sun across the sky and reflecting its heat onto a globe atop a tower.Liquid circulated through the globe is heated and returned to a central power generating station.

Photovoltaics, or solar cells, directly convert sunlight to electricity. These cells, actually silicon crystals, powered the Skylab space station and are used in many unmanned spacecraft.

Both liquid transfer and photovoltaic solar electric systems cost more, presently, than conventional fossil fuel power plants. This could change over the lifetime of a solar electric plant, however, if fossil fuel costs rise.

Photovoltaic power is the most costly. The Electric Power Research Institute-EPRI- estimates that a solar cell power plant would cost $20,000 per kilowatt capacity. This compares with $600 for a fossil fuel plant with the same capacity and $1,000 for a nuclear plant.

The cost picture is more favorable compared with nuclear power plants. Dr. A. F. Hildebrandt, director of the University of Houston Solar Energy Lab, which developed the solar tower concept, estimates that power plants using the solar tower could be built for about $930 per killowatt, or less than the current cost of nuclear plants.

But heat storage is still a problem for the fluid transfer systems used in electric power generation because temperatures of 600 degrees and more must be stored at night and on cloudy days. Scientists are looking into the use of a variety of liquids, oils, salts and metals with low melting points

Error causes delay in school land sale

AUSTIN - The School Land Board has postponed its next oil and gas lease sale from Feb. 3 to April 16 because of an error the General Land Office committed in posting the legal notice of the upcoming sale.

Land Commissioner Bob Arnistrong said the postponement might mean more income to the state.

"Not many companies are willing to grab up a bunch of land right now," Armstrong said. "They're still digesting the effect of the (new)

By law, any lease sales conducted by the Land Board must be on the first Tuesday of any month. Because March 2, is a state holiday, the decision was made to postpone the sale until April 6.

Notices to prospective bidders on postponement of the sale have been mailed, Armstrong said.

Income from leases of state property goes into the state treasur and Armstrong said two factors might make the April sale larger.

First, the Federal government has a similar sale set for late Februrary on Gulf Coast tracts, an postponing the similar state sale until April might make the Land Board's property more attractive Secondly, Armstrong said, many oil and gas exploration firms will be attending a March 1 meeting called by the Federal Energy Administration (FEA) to discuss energy matters, and acquiring leases after that meeting might appear more stable to many prospective bidders. On April 6, the state proposes to lease a total of 840 tracts totaling 611.522 acres.

Showing the additional off-shore drilling activity of recent, 386 of the tracts, totaling 380,584 acres, are in the Gulf of Mexico, while and additional 385 tracts, totaling 212,216 acres, are in bays. Riverbed tracts total 4,195 and 45 tracts, and 34 upland tracts amountimg to 10,527 acres will be up for lease on April 16.

Profit-taking pressures turn stock prices mixed stock market was mixed today, churning in the midst of profit taking pressures.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was off 1.50 at 928.13, but gainers maintained a 5-3 edge on losers at the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts noted a favorable response to continued Friday. declines in some key interest rates. But they said that influence was being offset by more of the profit taking that several times last

Bicentennial becoming an individual effort, too

The Washington Post

WASHINGTON - A 50-year-old paraplegic from Orland, Calif. is crossing the country in a wheelchair pulled by a horse.

A Nebraska man who built "the world's largest time capsule" which he plans to bury with a 1975 Chevrolet and the top 50 tunes of the day inside. A Richmond postal clerk dug into his savings to send $50 money orders to the payment of each of the 50 states "as one man's tribute to this great nation, the United States of America."

That much-heralded and occasionally abused spirit of independence appears to have surfaced in hundreds of individual efforts by ordinary citizens to celebrate the nation's 200th anniversary.

MILLIONS OF DOLLARS are being spent by corporations and federal agencies on highly visual Bicentennial projects including historical parks folk festivals and exhibitions. But Americans are not content to let official programs be the only commemoration.

They want to say "Happy Birthday" in their own way.

Milton Mitler, a White House official in charge of Bicentennial matters, said "We get as many as 100 letters a day from people suggesting ideas, poems, songs, slogans.'

Many of the suggestions are forwarded to the American Revolution Bicentennial Administration (AR-BA), the small government agency created by Congress to coordinate the birthday commemoration. "People have a deep-seated feeling of wanting to do something," said Harry Allendorfer ARBA's special projects director. "It sounds corny, but they like America."

Some are the competitors - people who want to climb the highest mountain, run the longest distance, paint the largest American flag. Some are the sentimental patriots who, sensing perhaps that nationalism is less popular than it used to be, want to demonstrate their enthusiastic love of country.

There are the promoters songwriters who want their song adopted as The Bicentennial song, religious disciples who would like to convert the country to their brand of spirituality.

AND WHAT ABOUT the kooks? "I don't say that anything is kooky,' says Allendorfar, a retired Navy captain. "Gosh darnit, if someone's got an idea, it's his own.'

A midwestern engineer wrote AR-BA suggesting that bonfires be lit every few miles from coast to coast to create a spectacular visual effect on

"I called him on the phone," Allendorfer remembers. "He said, 'I bet you think I'm crazy.' But I gave him some thoughts on it if he really wanted to pursue it."

Occasionally, ARBA officials have to be discouraging - like the time a tall man in a top hat and tails wandered around their office corridors insisting that he be made "master of ceremonies" for the Bicentennial. "He couldn't understand why there was no such thing," Allendorfer said.

A selfish motive could possible be attributed to Frederick Hillegas, a Scottsdale, Ariz. man who has undertaken a campaign to honor the nation's first treasurer, Michael Hillegas, with commemorative postage stamps and other honors.

PHYSICIAL FITNESS enthusiasts may shed a few pounds, but this, they insist, is a secondary goai. Two GI's undertook to walk 1,500 miles from one end of Japan to the other to publicise the Bicentennial, distributing explanatory cards along

A number of people are riding horses across the country. An Omaha man, Noah Willford, rode to New York passing out "Keep America Smiling" stickers. A Colorado couple, Chuck and Kathy Payne, are on their way to Washington by horse to present duplicates of Colorado's statehood petitions to President Ford.

MANY ARE CONTENT to do their Bicentennial thing without anyone noticing, but others have relied on the media to sell their idea or the government to implement it, and have often

John Kanline, a former government worker for Alexandria, Va., spent three years trying to persuade ARBA to adopt his idea of a park depicting U.S. historical sites in miniature.

Now retired in Florida, Kanline says regretfully: "One small voice cannot be heard (now) as it might have been 200 years ago when life was less complex.

Horace DeLisser, a retired insurance salesman, moved to Washington last year from Long Island to mount a one-man campaign for a religious-oriented Bicentennial While he claims to have invested as much as $250,000 in the effort (including lost income), he's had little success in involving the President or sparking publicity for his program.

Congressmen have their own Bicentennial ideas. Bills were introduced last session to issue gold coins with the likenesses of Abigail Adams and Susan B. Anthony, to make the marigold the national flower and to remove the remains of Pocahantas from England to the Tax forms complicated

By R. GREGORY NOKES

WASHINGTON (AP) - The tax form package t at taxpayers will use in computing their 1975 taxes begins with the following apology from Donald C. Alexander, the commissioner of Internal Revenue: "I am sorry to say that the 1040 form is more complex than last year's and this package is larger than last year's." But that's putting the bad news first. The good news is that the tax rate for most taxpayers will be lower. For example, a family of four with $15,000 income would pay about $1,612 in income taxes for 1975, a savings of $208 from 1974, if the standard deductions are claimed.

The complicated tax forms result from the tax reductions voted by the Congress, and approved by the President in March. Most of the tax savings already have been paid to taxpayers through lower withholding tax rates that went into effect in May.
As usual, the deadline for filing 1975 tax returns is April 15. Tax form packages were in the mail to most taxpayers in early January, and employes should have their W-2 forms from their employers by Jan. 31.

Persons who fail to receive tax forms, and need them, may obtain them from most banks and from any local IRS office. Because the forms are complex, the series - of some major changes in the 1975 tax law:

IRS says taxpayers will benefit more than ever by getting an early start in preparing them.

explained in greater detail in this

Here is a brief summary - to be

-Taxpayers are entitled to an extra $30 credit for each personal

First in a series exemption claimed on the tax return. This is in addition to the regular $750 exemption for each dependent.

—Persons with earned income below $8,000 may qualify for a so-called earned income credit. The maximum credit of $400 would be paid to a husband and wife with joint earned income of $4,000.

—Taxpayers who have contributed to an individual retirement savings program may be able to deduct up to $1,500 in savings.

-Buyers of new homes during 1975 may be eligible for a tax credit equal to 5 per cent of the purchase price of the home, up to a maximum of $2,000.

—Both the minimum standard deductions and maximum standard deductions have been increased.

The maximum standard deduction for 1975 is 16 per cent of income to a maximum $2,600 for a joint return, $2,300 for a single return, and $1,300 for a married person filing separately.

The minimum deduction, also called the low income allowance, is $1,900 for married persons and $1,600 for singles. The effect of this allowance, which is built into the tax tables, is to reduce or eliminate the tax liability for many low-income

Because of the higher deductions and other changes in the 1975 returns, taxpayers who itemized deductions in past years may find they can do better by taking the standard deduction this time.

The IRS says that as a general rule the following taxpayers will do best by itemizing: joint returns with incomes less than $11,875 and itemized deductions totaling more than $1,900; joint income between $11,875 and $16,250 and deductions totaling more than 16 per cent, and joint returns i income is more than $16,250 and

As for single persons, they should itemize if income is less than $10,000 and deductions total more than $1,600. if income is between $10,000 and $14,375 and deductions are more than 16 per cent, or if income is more than $14,375 and deductions total, more

There are both the short and long 1040 forms again this year. Taxpayers who don't it mize and whose interest and dividend income does not exceed $400 may use the short form.

Two survivors found from missing supertanker

OSLO, Norway - Two survivors from the Norwegian supertanker Berge Istra were picked up in good condition by a Japanese fishing vessel early Sunday after drifting for about 20 days, the U.S. Air Force rescue base on Okinawa told the Bergesen Shipping Co. of Oslo Sunday.

Director Ingolf Strangeland of the Bergesen company said the search for the remaining 30 crew members. which was called off last Friday after nine days of fruitless search by planes and ships, would be resumed today from Okinawa.

THE NATIONALITY of the two is not known. The 32-man crew included Norwegians, Spaniards, Yugoslavs, Belgians and one Brazilian, one Briton and one Swede.

However, one report from Nor-way's charge d'affairs in Tokyo, Rolf Bergendahl, said the two men rescued apparently were from Taiwan. There were no Taiwanese citizens reported aboard the Berge Istra.

Trustees may call bond election

Midiand College trustees are expected to call a bond election for funding three new campus structures when they meet in regular session at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the administration building.

The matter has been discussed during the last two board meetings and the chairman of the long range planning committee said in November that February "might be an appropriate time" for a bond

Trustees have viewed possible plans for a fine arts facility, addition to the occupational-technical building and a multi-purpose facility. In December, architect Preston Geren estimated the trio could cost in the vicinity of $6.2 million.

In addition to hearing another report from the long range planning committee, trustees also will appoint a representative to the Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors, act on city tax litigation and discuss developmental leave request.

Other agenda items include the nnual review and evaluation of the college president's contract, em-ployment of new teaching personnel and consider purchasing louvered blinds for instructional areas.

Many colleges to enforce tougher grading systems

The Washington Post
WASHINGTON — Concerned about problems of "grade inflation" on the nation's campuses, faculty members at some colleges are beginning to buck the trend and press for tougher academic standards. Faculty members at New Hampshife's Dartmouth College, where 60 per cent of last year's seniors graduated with honors, have anounced that beginning next year the onor roll will become more selective.

At Stanford University in California, the grade of D was restored to the scholastic rating scale in the fall and. for the first time in a decade, the number of As awarded went downsignificantly.

Massachusetts in Amherst who fail a course will now have a grade of zero counted in computing their grade point averages — a restoration of a practice dropped in 1971.

THESE DEVELOPMENTS come after a decade of steadily increasing grades at colleges across the country. Educators concede that in recent years As and Bs have dominated most semester reports and at many colleges the once common "gentleman's C" has all but disappeared.

Faculty members and graduate students have complained that this made it difficult to distinguish outstanding students from mediocrenes. Students countered that chance in the highly competitive process of admission to graduate or professional school.

There have been no national studies to determine whether grade inflation has peaked and is leveling or receding. However, The Chronicle of Higher Education reported late last month that grade averages at Michigan State University apparently had reached a plateau and had not risen significantly in the last two years. A current study at the University of Minnesota shows grades in some departments declining while others have leveled off.

The Dartmouth experience, with 60 per cent of the class graduating with honors, is common to several camspokesman said, the faculty concluded that honors were no longer an honor if most students could get them.

So, beginning with the next academic year. Dartmouth will move toward a system in which to graduate summa cum laude a student will have to have grades as good as the top 5 per cent of the previous year's graduating class. For magna cum laude the grades will have to equal the top 15 per cent of the previous year's graduates and for cum laude the top

Last June, 12 per cent of Dartmouth's seniors graduated summa cum laude, 21 per cent magna cum laude and 27 per cent cum laude.

At Stanford, the grade of D was hiatus. It came after a year of campus debate over laxity in grading stan-dards and coincided with a decline in the percentage of A grades.

BETWEEN the academic years 1968-69 and 1973-74, the percentage of A grades rose from 27 to 41 in Stanford's College of Humanities and Sciences. Last year, As dropped from 41 to 37 per cent, the first year showtrum, giving a "truer characteriza-tion of a student's performance." Previously, Stanford had been on an A,B,C, or "pass" grading system.

In voting to restore the grade of D, Stanford's faculty said it hoped to curve the general distribution of grades downward by adding another grade at the lower end of the spec-ing a significant decrease.
