Italians tout new treatment for breast cancer

BOSTON (AP) — Italian medical researchers have found a drug treatment they say can lead to drastic reductions in recurrence of disease in women after surgery for advanced breast cancer.

The New England Journal of Medicine, which published the study, said the treatment program could save hundreds of thousands of lives. The journal called the discovery "of monumental importance."

The study was conducted by Gianni Bonadonna of the National Cancer Institute of Italy and a team of associates.

In late 1974, the U.S. National Cancer Institute reported a clinical study had found that treatment with combinations of drugs, rather than one drug, produced longer survival times in women with advanced breast cancer.

Bonadonna, at about the same time the U.S. study was reported, said that early results from his then-incomplete study indicated a decreased recurrence rate among women receiving the drug combination.

The World Health Organization has called breast cancer the leading cause of death of middle-aged women in the Western countries.

A combination of three drugs was used to treat women who, during breast surgery, were found to have cancerous lymph nodes, the journal said. The drug treatment involved a combination of cyclophosphamide, methotrexate and fluorouracil (CMF).

The researchers said an earlier use of CMF "was recently reported to produce complete as well as partial remission in about 50 per cent of patients previously untreated with chemotherapy and to be superior to mephalan on a randomized comparison."

It said the same combination, with the addition of prednisone, had been "demonstrated in a uncontrolled series to have a high order of antitumor activity."

The researchers found that cancer eventually recurred in only 5 per cent of the women who had the treatment, compared with 24 per cent of those who did not, the report said.

While expressing strong optimism about the findings, the article by Bonadonna said the study lasted only 27 months and noted that the long-term effects of the chemotherapy program are unknown.

The medical journal said in an editorial the results are "nothing short of spectacular." It said the conclusions "can be accepted with confidence."

It added, "How many hundreds of thousands of lives can be improved, or indeed saved, by application of the present information in the coming decade?"

Bonadonna said despite technical advances in the past decades and other new approaches for treating breast cancer, "the over-all cure rate has remained essentially unchanged for at least 30 years."

The researchers said they found several side effects during the therapy, including loss of hair, loss of appetite, conjunctivitis and an end to menses. But they said all were reversible in most patients except cessation of menses.

The article said the patients in the study generally tolerated the side effects well and "most working women continued to work during the entire period of chemotherapy."

Ex-student shoots, kills Beirut deans

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — A Palestinian student expelled for radical activity shot and killed two deans at the American University of Beirut today, a university spokesman announced. One of the dead men was American, the other Lebanese.

The assassin, identified as a former engineering student named Najim Najim, held the university vice president and five other officials hostage for three hours before he surrendered to army commandos. He was shot and wounded in the shoulder by a close friend of one of his victims as the troops led him from the university administration building.

A university spokesman said Dean of Students Robert Najemy and Dean of Engineering Raymond Ghosn were slain by pistol fire at close range. Najemy, 56, was born in Worcester, Mass., into a family of Lebanese origin. Ghosn, 55, was Lebanese.

and surrounded the administration building. He was reported armed with a pistol and two grenades.

"He made all sorts of demands. He seems a little unbalanced," said the spokesman.

At first, the spokesman said, he demanded to be taken to the Israeli-Lebanese border so he could make a suicide raid into Israel, then he asked to be turned over to Palestinian guerrillas.

As he was being led out after surrender, Najim was wounded by Joseph Cherbeka, a friend of Ghosn, who jumped out of a crowd and opened fire. Soldiers grabbed Cherbeka. Najim was taken to a hospital by

President, GOP chiefs discuss veto

After killing Najemy outside the university cafeteria and Ghosn on the steps of the engineering building, the gunman went to the administration building looking for the university president, Samuel Kirkwood, a police spokesman said.

He did not find Kirkwood but took six hostages, including Louis Calojoeas, of New Orleans, La., head of the university extension program, and Ernest Conklin of Newton Falls, Ohio, the university comptroller, officers said.

Police said Najim threatened to blow himself and his hostages up with a hand grenade as troops and Palestinian guerrillas rushed to the campus

Three Midland City Councilmen, meeting Monday afternoon with the city manager and four representatives of the Permian Basin Regional Planning Commission, agreed to recommend approval of the lease agreement for three Emergency Medical Service (EMS) ambulances by the full council next Tuesday.

The three-member council committee was appointed last Tuesday by Mayor Ernest Angelo Jr. to determine whether the city should go ahead and sign the lease agreement with PBRPC for the ambulances, buy the ambulances outright from PBRPC thereby giving up federal funds for the vehicles, or go back to using Thomas Funeral Home as the city-subsidized ambulance service.

In addition, $2,300 will be required for a hospital base station consisting of a transmitter-receiver, antenna, antenna cable and hospital radio controller.

Crawford said that, for advanced life support in the second or third year of operation, an estimated $26,813.50 will be required of the city for a telecare pack. He said the cost for personnel would change because EMS employees would receive increased pay as a result of their additional training.

Emergency Medical Technicians need about 40 hours of classroom training, and a basic EMT receives some $12,000 per year, Crawford said.

PBRPC health planner Reeves said the EMS system came about from a group of doctors who said the Permian Basin area was in need of such a system of comprehensive emergency medical care. He said the area doctors were actively cooperating and participating in the EMS system and noted that the system wouldn't work without their cooperation.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford planned strategy with Republican congressional leaders today to overcome substantial support for a $6.1 billion public works bill the President has vetoed. The Senate Republican leader said chances are good the veto will be sustained.

Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., made the statement after the strategy session at the White House. He and other Republicans pressed for an alternative to the public works bill. Democratic leaders plan to try to override the President's veto on Thursday.

LATE NEWS

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford will unveil his plan to reorganize supervision of the intelligence agencies during a televised news conference at 7 p.m. CST today, officials announced.

ROME (AP) — Italian authorities today issued arrest warrants for a prominent attorney and a businesswoman in connection with the sale of aircraft to Italy by the Lockheed Aircraft Corp.

PARIS (AP) — France today became the first major Western power to recognize the Soviet-backed Popular Movement as the legitimate government of Angola. The Netherlands said it would do so "very shortly."

Present at the out-of-quorum session were Councilmen Charles Tighe, Carroll Thomas and Martin Neill; City Manager James Brown; and PBRPC members Ernie Crawford, executive director, Harley Reeves, comprehensive health planner, Dean Williams, EMS director, and Andy Anderson, EMS systems engineer.

Crawford told the committee and Brown that one advantage of the city signing the agreement was it would then have control over the quality of the operation. He said that if the city were to use a private ambulance service and still remain in the EMS system, city officials must make sure the private service complies with 15 requirements spelled out in the lease in order to receive federal funds.

Funding in the program is on a 50-50 basis between the city and the federal government. This year's basic cost to the city is $29,687.85 for three ambulances and three radios.

Robert M. Turpin, 75, a prominent Midland attorney and business executive for almost 40 years, died early today in a hospital here, following a long illness.

Services will be at 4 p.m. Wednesday in the First United Methodist Church. Officiating will be Rev. Charles Lutrick, assisted by Rev. J. Albert Steele, retired Presbyterian minister. Burial will be in Resthaven Memorial Park under the direction of Newnie W. Ellis Funeral Home.

Turpin was born Jan. 4, 1901, at Nashville, Tenn., where he attended public schools, Duncan Preparatory School and Vanderbilt University. He received his law degree from Vanderbilt in 1924. He was a member of Phi Delta Phi fraternity at Vanderbilt.

He was admitted to the Texas Bar in 1924 and practiced law at Austin until 1929 when he moved to Tulsa, Okla., to join the legal department of Skelly Oil Co. He resigned his Skelly assignment in 1937 when he moved to Midland to enter private law practice. He was the senior member of the firm of Turpin, Smith and Dyer here.

He was a member and former director of the State Bar of Texas. He was a charter member and Life Fellow of the Texas Bar Foundation and was a past president of the Midland County Bar Association. He also was a member of the Oklahoma Bar Association and the International Association of Insurance Counsel. He held memberships in the Midland Country Club and the Midland Petroleum Club.

Turpin for many years was recognized as an authority on oil and gas matters.

He was a director of The First National Bank of Midland, FNB Corp., Reporter-Telegram Publishing Co., Flag-Redfern Oil Co., Adobe Oil Co., Adobe Oil and Gas Corp., and

Griffin and Brown said the effect of their bill would be felt faster than the effect of the public works bill and that it would make use of the private sector in pinpointing high unemployment areas where aid is needed.

The House approved the public works bill Jan. 29 by a 4-1 margin, substantially more than the two-thirds vote needed to override the veto. The 321-80 vote also created an almost even split among Republicans, who voted 62 for the bill and 67 against it. The measure passed the Senate by voice vote.

Henry Kissinger issues warning to Cuba

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger told Venezuelan leaders today the United States will not tolerate any new foreign aggression by Cuba similar to the Angolan adventure.

Kissinger met with Venezuelan President Carlos Andres Perez and other officials at a two-hour working breakfast. Kissinger told reporters later the meeting "was very good and went very well."

He said Perez brought up the question of the intervention of Cuban soldiers in Angola, although "I didn't need much encouragement."

The secretary indicated he repeated the American position that Cuba will be opposed if it tries to repeat its Angolan adventure.

He said Venezuelan leaders presented no great argument on the Cuba question and added: "I think we see it pretty much alike."

Other topics during the breakfast meeting included the question of the Venezuelan exclusion from U.S. trade preferences. Kissinger told Perez that he should not hold his hopes too high for a quick end to the exclusion.

Kissinger's message for this first stop on a six-nation Latin American tour was that he strongly supports trade preferences for Venezuela. But he said he can do no more than hope that Congress will act favorably in the near future.

Venezuela and Ecuador were excluded from the preference system in 1974 because of the oil boycott by the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC). Although both nations are members of OPEC, neither participated in the boycott, but Congress refused to exempt them from the retaliatory action.

Kissinger was to outline the main theme of his tour — hemispheric friendship — later today in a speech to a group of American and Venezuelan scholars, politicians and businessmen. He planned to stress the importance the United States places on relations with Latin America.

A senior American official told reporters on Kissinger's flight from Washington to Caracas that the secretary of state would put particular emphasis on the role of the United States as it affects the growing desire of Latin America to join with other less industrialized nations in the Third World.

Two zone changes win nods

Two zone change requests and a preliminary plat were all okayed by the Midland Planning and Zoning Commission Monday and will be recommended to the city council for final approval.

A request by Midland Savings and Loan Association for a zone change from single-family residential district to planned district was approved conditionally.

Jerry Cox and Jim Pugh presented the request to develop townhouses along Moss Avenue and single-family residences on the rest of the 19.5-acre property. The area is located north and west of Emerson Elementary School.

Although the request received no opposition, several conditions were placed on its approval — an agreement with landowners in the area regarding 10 additional feet in the north alley and changing the names of streets in that area, all of which are prefaced "Emerson."

The second zone change request was made by Mrs. Jesus B. Gonzales for a temporary trailer permit for her father-in-law. The commission approved the requested permit at 601 S. Jefferson St. for a two-year period with the notation that it can be renewed.

Panel excused

The jury panel that was to report to the 142nd Judicial District Courtroom for civil jury selection at 9 a.m. Wednesday has been dismissed, District Clerk Madge Wallis said this morning.

"They are not to report (for jury duty) because the defendant is ill," Mrs. Wallis said. "So they are dismissed."

District Court Judge Perry D. Pickett dismissed the panel, which numbered about 60, she said. A full civil jury panel is made up of 100 persons.

Lubbock man stabbing victim

ODESSA — A Lubbock man was stabbed Monday night during an argument at the Antlers Motel, a spokesman for the Odessa Police Department said.

Lonnie Garrett, 63, is in guarded condition in the intensive care unit of Odessa Medical Center with multiple stab wounds, a hospital spokesman said.

Police said they have a suspect, and are still investigating the incident.

Park board to convene

The Midland Parks and Recreation Commission was to meet at 4 p.m. today to discuss the proposed downtown park and a possible firm to do the design work.

The group was also to discuss a request for the city's participation in a tennis building at Lee High School. That request came up at the commission's last session, but it was assigned to commissioner Mrs. Tommie Strack for further study.

In other action, parks commissioners will:

— Hear a report on the Boy's Club of Midland Inc.'s request for additional property to expand their facility at Half Park;

— Assign more members to divisional committees;

— Discuss future appointments to the commission;

— Consider a request by the Girl Scouts for use of Wadley-Barron Park on March 12 and Elkin Park June 7-11;

— Consider a request by the Boy Scouts to use the Showmobile and Hogan Park in April, and

— Hear a progress report.

Trustee president to retire

By LUANNA CROW

James E. Winget Jr., president and two-term member of the board of trustees for the Midland public schools, announced this morning he will not seek a third term.

"I have found my time with the board most rewarding," Winget said, "and I feel I have other activities and endeavors I wish to devote more time to, therefore I will not seek reelection."

Winget assumed the board presidency in January 1975 upon the resignation of then-President C. Wallace Craig. Winget, who had been board vice president, then was elected to the office during regular officer elections last May.

Randall Lundy announced Monday he is seeking Position 5 on the board, the seat currently held by Winget. The only other candidate who has announced for the April 3 election is Steve Scott, who has filed for Position 7 which now is held by retiring board member C. Wallace Craig. The third post up for election is Position 6, held by Gilbert Tompson who has not declared his intentions.

an aluminum phone console made by NASA to be used in the EMS system. The group is hoping to secure three consoles from NASA — one for Big Spring, Midland and Odessa, they said. The consoles would enable EMTs to keep in touch with the emergency rooms at area hospitals so the patient can be stabilized until he arrives at the hospital.

Crawford urged the committee to sign the agreement with PBRPC, as the latter could save the city money by using the grant funds for the vehicles.

Tighe said that, from estimates by the city staff, the city should be able to recuperate some $18,000 per year of the $27,000 a year it would cost for the city to operate the service.

The committee agreed it is the city's responsibility to provide the best possible medical care for its citizens — just like police and fire department assistance, they noted.

Gas connection causes blaze

A fire at the home of Spencer Hon, 409 N. Baird, caused heavy damage to the kitchen and smoke damage throughout the house.

Firemen were called to the scene about 5:20 a.m. today. They said the cause of the fire was a broken gas connection on the kitchen range.

Laredo does it for real

LAREDO, Tex. (AP) — Residents of this Southwest Texas border city cannot tell a lie: they did not officially celebrate Monday as George Washington's birthday like everyone else did.

Laredo, and its sister city across the Rio Grande, Nuevo Laredo, Mexico, are going to celebrate Thursday, Friday, Saturday and, of course, Sunday, Washington's real birthday.

Heavy rains splash part of West Texas

Heavy thunderstorms doused parts of drought-plagued Texas generously today, and more rain was in prospect for some sections.

Occasional thundershowers brought light rain across the southeast half of Texas late Monday, and new storms developed elsewhere during the night and this morning.

By early today downpours falling at rates up to more than two inches per hour soaked parts of the countryside east of the Pecos River in West Texas and neighboring portions of North Central Texas.

Much of the moisture was concentrated in areas from around Mineral Wells and Stephenville in the north to Eagle Pass and Laredo on the Mexican border eastward toward Austin near the center of the state. The Associated Press reported.

Rain missed the Midland area, although it rained to the south in San Angelo.

Big Lake reported clouds and thunder overnight, but no rain. It was clear and warm there this morning. Temperatures were cool in Andrews, with scattered cloud clouds and winds reported. It was clear and cool in Crane, Midland, Stanton, Rankin, McCamey and Lamesa, where slight breezes were also reported.

Tonight should be slightly cooler, with winds from the northeast at 5-10 m.p.h., a spokesman for the National Weather Service said. Tonight's low should be in the 30s, with Wednesday's high expected to be near 70.

Dry air covered the rest of West and North Central Texas, which were fanned by southwest breezes. Winds from the south kept a cloud cover over most other sections of the state, where it was warm and humid.

Forecasts promise showers and possibly severe thunderstorms spreading over much of Central Texas and well into the east part of the state. Clearing skies were expected in other areas and a little cooling across most of Texas.

Temperatures near dawn today ranged from 41 degrees at Wink in West Texas and 42 at Dalhart in the Panhandle up to 71 at Lufkin in East Texas and McAllen in the extreme south.

Monday afternoon's top marks of 85 made Del Rio on the Mexican border and McAllen among the warmest spots in the nation.

Man charged in assault by gunshot

Cleo Melvin Miller, 37, of 1713 E. Oak St., has been charged with aggravated assault with a deadly weapon in connection with the Monday night shooting of Charlie Thompson, 49, at GiGi's Lunch Room, 211 S. Lee St.

Miller, manager of GiGi's, is being held in County Jail in lieu of $5,000 bond. Bond was set this morning by Justice of the Peace Robert Pine.

Thompson, of 803 S. Clay St., is in satisfactory condition at Midland Memorial Hospital with a gunshot wound in the scalp, a hospital spokesman said.

Witnesses told police Thompson left the restaurant through a back door during an argument with two men over a pool game. One of the men, who said was Miller, followed him outside, and then a shot was fired, police said.

Surviving are her husband; two daughters, Jill Caroline Mitchell and Julie Ann Mitchell, both of Big Spring, and her mother, Mrs. Sally Wright of Aspermont.

Junior League sponsors annual Charity Ball benefit

Midland Country Club was transformed into a replica of Mount Vernon, featuring decorating colors of green and white, for the 26th annual Charity Ball held Monday by the Junior League of Midland, Inc.

The "George Washington Birthday Ball" was held on the legal birthday of the first United States president, and the league used the Colonial decorating theme as a Bicentennial observance.

Lining the drive to the club were hurricane lamps. The foyer of the clubhouse was decorated to reflect a typical sitting room at Mount Vernon, complete with a 9-foot high mantle and a large mirror with sconces. A wallpaper in a green motif of the Washington era was on two walls of the foyer. Traditional pieces of furniture provided by individuals also were used in the foyer. A green floral designed rug was in the center of the furniture grouping. On one table was a George Washington birthday cake.

The formal mood of the ball was repeated in the main ballroom. The bandstand was draped in green, and there were Colonial columns. The fireplace area also was decorated in green and white with mirror and candelabra.

The sponsors' tables, draped in green, had brass candlesticks, low floral arrangements and large brandy snifters holding champagne.

Upper and private dining rooms had tables covered with white cloths swaged in green fabric. Centerpieces were hurricane lamps with ivy.

The Garden Room had tables covered in mini-print depicting Washington chopping down the cherry tree. Focal point for the room was a "living" cherry tree.

In the Men's Tavern, Add-on-Room and Ladies' 19th Hole, old-fashioned lanterns in green with candles were featured.

Chairman of the decorations committee for the ball was Mrs. Donald Jones. She was assisted by Mrs. Jack Nini. Other members of the committee were Mrs. T. E. Spires, Mrs. Dan Secker, Mrs. Robert Spears, Mrs. John Woodside, Mrs. James Alsop, Mrs. Robert Jones and Mrs. Parker Humes.

Ran Wilde and his orchestra of Dallas provided music for dancing in the ballroom. Also performing in other areas of the clubhouse were Jerry Burgess, the "Jubal" and "Topica" combos of Abilene.

Sponsors of the ball this year were Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Beal, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Allen Bird, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Evans Blake, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Addison Bradford, Mrs. Raiford H. Burton, Mr. and Mrs. Rufe Sinclair Bynum Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Louis A. J. Gordon, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hinkle, Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Frederick Hyer, Mr. and Mrs. Cullen J. Kelly, Mr. and Mrs. William Donald Kleine, Mr. and Mrs. Tony Allen Martin, Cowden Oliver, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Eugene O'Shaughnessy, Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Pendleton, Mr. and Mrs. William Glenn Ross, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Samples, Jack Benjamin Wilkinson Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. John Conwell Williamson.

Proceeds from the ball, one of two fund-raising activities of the league, will benefit the Audiometric Screening, docenting at the Permian Basin Petroleum Museum, Library and Hall of Fame, History of Midland Exhibit, Musical Therapy, Sara Woodruff Clinic, Children's Dental Clinic, Directory of Community Services, Film Service, "Getting Around Midland" publication, Museum of the Southwest, Puppetry for Public and Private Schools, Story Hour at the Midland County Public Library, Student Art Festival, Pickwick Players and Volunteers in Midland.

DEAR ABBY

"Shacking up" warning given

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Couples living together without marriage is a bummer. In cases where both parties invest in joint properties, if the man dies in an industrial accident, the woman can claim nothing. When the property goes to probate to pay off the bills, the woman is out of luck. Former wives, children and family can all claim a bigger share than this kind of "widow" can.

A good case was the woman who not only had one illegitimate child, but was carrying another. He always talked about marrying her, but never did. The husband-to-be was killed in a car wreck, wherein insurance could be claimed, but the woman had no legal standing.

If the man decides to "leave," the rejected woman must find another partner, but by that time, the woman has the reputation of a tramp.

Of course, if she can spawn enough children without matrimony, with Aid to Dependent Children, food stamps, low-cost housing and welfare, she can do pretty well and possibly even find a live-in boyfriend, which we taxpayers have to pay for. But the children from this unhappy mess is another matter, and your whole column could be filled with those problems. — MAGISTRATE IN ALASKA

DEAR MAG: Yours is only one of 50 states that has its own laws regarding "common-law marriages." However, your timely warning concerning the new cultural phenomenon known as "shacking up" is appreciated, and I hereby pass it on.

DEAR ABBY: My wife of 14 years has suddenly developed a strong desire for children. Both of us would enjoy having a child; however, at this time in our lives (I am 50 and she is 42), do you think it's practical for us to take on the responsibility of raising a child?

My wife constantly argues that a child would bring needed happiness and a more youthful outlook on life for both of us.

I contend it's too late in life for us to start out with an infant, but I am willing to adopt a child of elementary school age or even one in his (or her) early teens.

Our clergyman favors adoption. My wife's physician says she is capable of having a child.

I am more inclined to adopt a child who needs a home, but my wife feels strongly about having our own.

Please give me your views.—ABLE BUT UNWILLING

DEAR ABLE: Sorry, but this is one problem that you and your wife will have to solve yourselves. Some people are "old" at 30, and others are "young" at 60. It takes love, patience, understanding, determination, energy, fortitude, generosity and time to raise a child of any age. How much have you?

DEAR ABBY: This concerns people who never seem able to accept a compliment graciously. For years I was one of those people, and it took me a long time to understand why. It goes back to my childhood. My family (bless them) never gave me an honest-to-goodness compliment. If I looked especially nice, they would say, "You look nice—but can't you do something else with your hair?" This made it impossible for me to say, "Thank you." Instead, I was always trying to make apologies and put myself down.

Compliments should be given freely and without little digs to spoil them.—"THANK YOU!"

"DEAR THANK: And thank YOU!"

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Things handy in bag

Dear Heloise:

A hint on organizing your purse? Many women, I'm sure, have trouble finding things in their purses. I'm always stabbing myself on pencils or combs while digging for keys.

I tried using a couple of clear plastic packets made to hold pencils, etc. in ring notebooks. They are like a large envelope with a plastic zipper.

One contains my checkbook, pencils, pens and coupons. The other contains my lipsticks, combs, etc. Housekeys are attached to one with a ring through the notebook ring hole. Out of the way yet easy to find.

These packets have many advantages. You can see at a glance if you have the right item. The zippers have no teeth to snag items or hurt knuckles and it is easy to transfer items into another purse. B. Leahy

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

Dear Heloise:

After reading your column with hints from men, I thought I would tell you my best hint.

After being away from home for 17 years, I figured out the easiest way to keep house... I had my mother move in with me! Dave Mason

Dear Heloise:

Recently I read a letter in your column beseeching parents to read their young children's school papers. When our children come home at the busy pre-supper time, they place their papers on the buffet by my chair. After dessert I read each paper aloud (or parts if it's a math paper).

The children look forward to this special time each day.

Even our 3-year-old makes something each day so there will be one of his papers to be read too.

We do this with their Sunday School papers as well.

A Mother

I like that idea! With so much going on these days it's nice to have some family time.

But how do you read (let alone understand) those new math papers? What will we do when we convert to the metric system?

Heloise

Dear Heloise: We put our two twin beds together to make a king-sized bed but I couldn't afford the expensive king-sized sheets.

I bought two twin flat sheets and one double flat sheet on sale for under $10.

I tore the double sheet in half and sewed one half on to each twin sheet.

Now I have a set of king-sized sheets for almost half price. What savings!

After doing this, I am going to use my old sheets and fix them to fit our king-sized bed too.

Vera Jensell

Dear Heloise:

I go ape over those mail order catalogs that offer gadgets and gimmicks for every purpose.

But sometimes when the packages come I wonder, "What's this? Why?"

So now I have a plan for those catalogs. Before ordering anything I go through the catalog fast the first time. If I see something that I might want I turn down the page corner.

A couple days later I go through again, looking only at the corner-turned pages. If I don't know why I turned it I forget it.

The third time around, I check out the ones I am sure that I want.

This really works.

Vitamin can be doing harm

By SHIRLEY BRIGHT BOODY Registered Dietitian Copley News Service

Millions of people who have been dosing themselves with large quantities of vitamin C in the belief that they will be protected from colds, flu and numerous other ailments may be doing harm instead of good.

Indications of toxicity continue to be evidenced and suggest possible dangers of overdosing.

Sponsors for the Charity Ball included Mr. and Mrs. Louis A. J. Gordon, seated, and Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Hyer.

Lancaster Garden Center-Museum of the Southwest completed the first of its Bicentennial projects with the planting and dedication of a red oak tree on the grounds of the center.

Mrs. W. C. Putnam, chairman of the program, introduced Mrs. J. Keith Somerville, director of District 1, Texas Garden Clubs, Inc., who told of the national and state project of planting "Liberty Trees," named for the trees under which American patriots often held secret meetings during the Revolutionary period. As in 1776, these trees will symbolize a re-dedication to America's deep-rooted ideals.

The dedication address was given by W. E. Shipp Jr. He also introduced the contributors who made this planting possible. They are Midland Garden Club, Newcomers Garden Club, Pyracantha Garden Club, Rake and Spade Garden Club, Sand and Seed Garden Club, Tejas Garden Club, Yucca Garden Club and Mrs. T. C. Dukes.

County Commissioner John Thomas presented a framed certificate from the American Revolution Bicentennial Commission of Midland County to the garden center. Accepting for the center was Mrs. Ray Diemer, coordinator.

A devotional and prayer was given by the Rev. Billy Wilkinson, pastor of St. Luke's United Methodist Church.

tenion agent, presented a program on pattern alterations for a meeting of the Chaparral Home Demonstration Club.

The meeting held in the home of Mrs. Sybil Jeffreys Lynda Barber, vice president, presided. New members introduced were Mrs. Beverly Anderle and Mrs. Lucille Matthews.

Mrs. Mathilda Kuebler was a guest. Mrs. Barber gave a brief history of the 4-H Clubs and their activities.

No lawns to mow?
By TOM STEVENSON
The Washington Post
WASHINGTON — For many, the sound of a power lawn mower serves as the Saturday morning alarm clock during the growing season, the beginning of which is not far away. Is there an alternative? Professional turf managers and home owners have dreamed of having a lawn grass that would grow to a desired height and remain there for the season. Is it really a possibility? "Sounds like Utopia," says Thomas L. Watschke, assistant professor of turfgrass science, Pennsylvania State University. "But since it is not a plant breeding reality, this dream is unrealistic from a genetic point of view."

"From a management standpoint, lawn grasses must maintain growth capability to recover from injury caused by insects, diseases and traffic."

Are growth regulators the answer? Chemical growth regulation has proven useful on some ornamental plants and in commercial flower production.

So far as intensively maintained grass is concerned — home lawns, golf courses, etc. — the answer has to be, "someday, but not now," Watschke says.

"Considerable turf research with growth regulators has been conducted during the past five years at several institutions. Researchers at Penn State have been actively working with these chemicals for the past three years."

"All materials tested to date have exhibited some ability to retard growth. However, the severity of negative side effects seriously limit the usefulness of these chemicals for maintaining a fine lawn."

"First, and most important, is the discoloration that follows applications. Secondly, commercially available materials retard the growth of plant organs other than leaves, such as roots, rhizomes, and stolons."

"Consequently, treated plants are unable to recover from injury until the chemical stress disappears," Watschke

AT WITS END
She writes lousy 'on dogs'

By ERMA BOMBECK

The popularity of a column is reflected in the amount of mail it receives.

These are the six letters I got last year.

ON MANNERS: "Your column on manners brought back memories of our daughter. We had a freshly baked cake cooling on top of the refrigerator and of course she spotted it and began yelling, 'Pie, pie, pie.' (Do your kids call cake, pie, and pie, cake?)"

"I finally cut her a piece and in handing it to her said, 'Now, what do you say?' With a wide smile and blue eyes sparkling she muttered, softly, 'Spoop.'"

ON WEIGHT: "At the close of World War II, one of the first missions the Army undertook in the invasion of the Philippines was the rescue of allied civilians being held at the infamous San Tomas POW camp outside Manila."

"An Army doctor helped one of the first liberated American women on the scales and called out, 'This woman is five feet seven inches tall. She weighs 65 pounds.'"

"Sixty-five pounds," screamed the former prisoner. "That's wonderful. Now if I can just lose five more pounds, I'll be just right!"

ON DISCIPLINE: "When our kids were small, my wife and I would take turns being the 'bad guy' so that I wasn't always the bogey man with the spanking bit. She'd take a month and I'd take a month to even it out. We referred to one another as the 'designated hitter.'"

ON LETTER WRITERS: "When our son was in college and failed to write for some time, my husband and I would send him a newsy letter in which we would say, 'Thought you might need a little more money. Enclosed is a check.' Of course we left the check out."

"Almost immediately, we received a very newsy letter with a casual P.S. saying, 'By the way, you forgot to enclose the check.'"

ON UPMANSHIP: "A child psychologist was breakfasting with his daughter, who refused to eat. She insisted on being served a fried worm. The fried worm was brought in and the father told her to eat. The child said, 'You eat half of it!' The father complied and the child whined, 'You just ate my half.'"

ON DOGS: "You, lady, can go to h—! You don't know anything about dogs. They are better than people. They're kinder. Smarter. And care about you. I promise you if you write another column about dogs, I am not going to take your g— d— newspaper! Have a good day."

Leap year or not, wedding vows go on

NEW YORK (AP) — Will women exercise their traditional right to propose to men in this Leap Year?

No matter who does the asking, marriage is still a going proposition, contrary to some opinion. Last year some two million marriages took place, though many of these were remarriages — about three in ten in a recent year.

Whether it's the man or woman who pops the question, married women's lifespans are longer than unwed women's, according to government statistics.

Women who marry are also often more affluent if they have a career, and if they don't make it on their own their husbands often do. A University of Michigan study found that marriage practically triples chances of career success for men. Besides living longer and in comparative affluence, married women often also have better protection for the future, says the Institute of Life Insurance. The average size of an "ordinary" (most commonly purchased) life insurance policy bought in 1974 by a married person was $21,390, nearly twice as much as that purchased by a single person.

Vinyl wall coverings can endure the test of time

By ADELE FAULKNER
Copley News Service

Vinyl coverings on your apartment walls can stand up best to wear and tear.

The lightweight canvas-backed vinyl wall coverings are the most expensive, but low maintenance and durability may make them well worth the extra cost.

There also are wallpapers with a vinyl coating which are easier to clean than standard wall coverings. However, if you do select the more expensive kind with the canvas backing be sure to stay with the 20-ounce fabric. The heavier ones are more costly and usually designed for use in commercial installations.

The lightweight canvas wall coverings with vinyl surface come in a wide variety of good plain colors. The patterns are limited, but there are stripes and interesting textures, some of which even simulate silk.

The solid colors are good for children's bedrooms which will have ever-changing posters and collections hung and rehung on the walls. Nail holes are less visible on the vinyl wall covering than they are on painted plastered walls.

There are a number of decorative effects that can be created by combining different colors and patterns. If a plain vinyl is selected for the room, make one wall a contrasting color.

A pattern or wall covering of a different color could be used on the sliding closet door to provide contrast and a different look.

The door wall in a change of color from the rest of the room often balances the weight of the furniture on the other walls.

Women fear moving trauma

By ELAINE SMYTH
Copley News Service

Although moving from one home to another affects various family members in different ways, there is one feeling that everyone shares: fear of the unknown.

"That's the worst part of moving for anyone," says Miss Alice Bowman, home moving consultant. "It's the fear of being out of step and out of our comfortable routines — knowing exactly where to find everything from the best meat market to the best place to take your cleaning."

Miss Bowman was an expert on moving even before she joined Allied Van Lines in Broadview, Ill., nine years ago.

"Well, for starters, I went to about 10 different grammar schools and I've been moving ever since," she said during an interview.

In the United States, she said, one out of every five families will change its address each year. This can mean anything from moving across town to across country.

Based on day-to-day experience and from material that came out of three symposiums on moving, the industry people recognize that the woman is most affected by the move and, if handled properly, children affected the least.

Q. Is it possible for sleepwalkers to do things they could not do if they were awake?

A. Sleepwalking is a condition in which a person carries out physical actions while he is asleep. Tests have shown that most sleepwalkers cannot hear ordinary sounds. The sleepwalker cannot see, taste or smell. But generally he has excellent control over his muscles. Many sleepwalkers have performed acts which they could not do if they were conscious. Upon awakening, sleepwalkers may remember what they have done, but they remember it only as a dream.

Kappa Kappa Gamma to install new chapter

Kappa Kappa Gamma, women's fraternity with 95 chapters on leading university and college campuses in the United States and Canada, and alumnae organizations in 368 cities, will celebrate Feb. 27-29 the installation of a new chapter at Texas A&M University at College Station.

TAMU enrollment reached 21,463 in the fall of 1975. Included in the student body enrollment are 5,437 women, giving it a larger coed enrollment than half of the other member schools of the Southern Conference.

This year, all fraternities are observing not only the 200th anniversary of our country, but also the 200th anniversary of the beginning of Greek-letter organizations in America with the founding of Phi Beta Kappa in 1776.

AFL-CIO almost sure to back Demos

By ROBERT A. DOBKIN
 MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The AFL-CIO appears ready to support almost any Democratic presidential nominee but George Meany says Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey stands the best chance of defeating President Ford.

Meany, president of the AFL-CIO called the Minnesota Democrat "the most electable" among the party's possibilities, and Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., "a very formidable candidate." But Meany stressed that neither he nor the labor federation was endorsing anyone at this time.

"I'm sure we will give a good deal of consideration to making a choice when the candidates have been chosen," Meany told a news conference Monday.

He said the only announced Democratic candidate the AFL-CIO could not support was Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace, whom Meany called "a disaster."

Kennedy has removed himself from the race this year, while Humphrey has said he would accept a draft at the convention.

On the Republican side, the 81-year-old patriarch of the labor movement denounced both President Ford and his challenger, Ronald Reagan, as "products of Republican conservatism."

Though the AFL-CIO has adopted a neutral position for the Democratic primaries, Meany said he has encouraged individual unions to take part in electing delegates to assure labor a voice in the convention next July.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., blitzed the AFL-CIO executive council meeting which opened Monday.

He promoted his candidacy by meeting with 26 union presidents over breakfast, met with other labor officials at a poolside reception and later was guest of honor at a cocktail party hosted by Steelworkers president I.W. Abel and 10 other union chiefs.

Jackson has endorsements from at least four AFL-CIO vice presidents and is expected to receive more.

Soviet envoy to carry back SALT proposals

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin will soon be headed for Moscow with new U.S. proposals that could point the way to a long-delayed treaty limiting offensive nuclear weapons.

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger completed his outline of the new American position Monday at the White House before leaving on a visit to South America. It was the second session between the two negotiators over the long holiday weekend.

Unless an unforeseen hitch develops, the relay of the U.S. proposals will set the stage for another Kissinger visit to Moscow within two months to try to nail down final terms that have eluded negotiators for almost 15 months.

The drive for a compromise centers on the Soviet Backfire bomber and the American cruise missile and to what extent, if any, they should be covered by a tentative agreement to hold both powers to 2,400 vehicles that could deliver nuclear weapons.

The administration's pursuit of a treaty now looms as a major political issue. Last week, campaigning in the New Hampshire Republican presidential primary, Ronald Reagan called the cruise missile "a bright spot for us in what has become a growing weapons imbalance" and warned against its limitation.

Last month, on a trip to Moscow, Kissinger received from Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev a proposed package deal that U.S. officials said includes "some significant and constructive new ideas."

Basically, these involved exempting the swinging medium range Backfires from the Soviet total provided the bombers are based beyond easy striking distance of the United States.

In the trade off, U.S. bombers could carry cruise missiles with ranges of up to 1,500 miles, with each bomber counting against the U.S. total while strict limits would be imposed on submarine and surface launched versions of the low flying drone missiles.

At a news conference last Thursday, Kissinger said after a Soviet reply to the latest U.S. counter proposal is received "we will be able to judge how close we are to an agreement and what the next step should be."

Texas woman wins harem ring

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Mrs. Amelia Flores bought three tickets for $1 to help out a Central Texas Roman Catholic church and then forgot about it. Now she owns a ring donated to the church by actress Sophia Loren.

"At first I couldn't believe it," said Mrs. Flores Monday night after she had driven about 100 miles to Mason to pick up the ruby-studded harem ring, which is a cluster of five rings worn as one.

The raffle was held Sunday in Llano by the Holy Trinity Parish Church. The priest there is Father Anthony Goossens, who has churches in Llano, Mason and Sunrise Beach.

It was Father Goossens, a good friend of Miss Loren, who got her to donate the ring to the Holy Trinity Parish's building fund. He then decided to raffle the ring.

From 60,000 to 70,000 tickets were sold, and about $25,000 was raised for the church, Father Goossens said.

"I bought the tickets from a friend at work who was selling them for the church," Mrs. Flores said. "I didn't think I would win. I just bought them to help the church."

She said she had forgotten them until Father Goossens telephoned her Sunday night.

Patty Hearst, jury view tiny closets

The Los Angeles Times
 SAN FRANCISCO — A shaken Patricia Hearst Monday returned to the two tiny closets she claims were makeshift jail cells where she was threatened, sexually abused and coerced into joining her captors in armed bank robbery.

Her attorney, describing to jurors inspecting the two former Symbionese Liberation Army hideouts, said Miss Hearst had been reluctant to return to the scene of her captivity and had broken down when she did so.

At both places, Miss Hearst, as well as each juror, stepped inside the closets she has testified her captors called "the people's prison."

"She was quite shaken," Albert Johnson told reporters. "When she saw the first closet she cried and sobbed... At one point, I, in fact, did have to hold her up. I thought she was going to faint."

UNDER HEAVY SECURITY, Miss Hearst and the jurors in her armed robbery trial were transported by armed U.S. Marshals to inspect first an apartment in a largely black neighborhood in San Francisco and then to a small stucco home in a palm-lined, mainly white residential area of nearby Daly City.

They were accompanied by U.S. Dist. Court Judge Oliver J. Carter, Asst. U.S. Atty. F. Steele Langford and defense counsel Johnson, as well as court aides. Reporters were not permitted inside the two residences during the jury's inspection of the premises.

An unwieldy caravan — sedans driven by marshals, the jurors in an aging blue and white bus and scores of reporters and cameramen chasing them all in everything from a Volkswagen Beetle to a black limousine — made its way erratically through the rain-spattered streets, passing through stop signs and red lights without the benefit of police sirens or motorcycle escort.

Lawyers for the 21-year-old heiress had requested the jury inspection to dramatize their contention that at these two hideouts her captors had threatened and abused her to the point that, against her will, she participated with them in holding up a bank here April 15, 1974 — just over two months after her kidnaping.

The prosecution contends she joined her captors voluntarily and that the story of threats and coercion she has told thus far in the trial is a fabrication.

ACCORDING TO JOHNSON, each of the jurors examined and then stepped into the tiny rooms Miss Hearst claimed to have spent a total of nine weeks following her abduction — first, the 1 foot 7 inch by 5 foot closet at the San Francisco apartment; second, the 2 foot by 5 foot, 6-inch closet in the home in Daly City.

"The first one is so small it did not accommodate me when I stepped inside," remarked the stocky attorney.

A visit to a third location — the Hibernia bank where the robbery took place — was postponed after bank officials advised lawyers in the case that its bonding company would not permit the bank to be opened on a holiday.

At the four-story brick apartment building, a crowd of 150 persons — most with news agencies — gathered in the streets, blocking traffic.

Marshals, mindful of security, looked down from building rooftops. Residents watched from open windows and children viewed the scene from fire escapes.

"See that apartment?" exclaimed one small boy to some young acquaintances. "That's where they had Patty Hearst!"

Miss Hearst was virtually carried to and from the apartment by marshals, as a swarm of photographers, cameramen and technicians converged in a crush on the frail, pale defendant and her escorts. She wore no manacles.

LATER, JUDGE CARTER entered the apartment, as did the jurors, moving single file from the bus in the street into the building and on up to the third floor and apartment No. 6.

When the apartment hide-out was discovered by authorities two years ago it was in substantial disarray. SLA slogans were painted on the wall, it was laden with debris and apparently, documents had been destroyed with acid in the apartment's bathroom.

Since then, two other tenants have lived in the apartment and it is now in the process of being painted.

After 15 minutes, the jurors filed out of the building, followed shortly by Miss Hearst.

The caravan then made its way south to Daly City. This time, the defendant was taken into the home through a garage entrance, as several neighborhood residents watched, some of them women in bathrobes looking on through living room windows.

Again, the news media were at full strength, one photographer taking a position atop a government sedan until he was admonished to climb down by a marshal.

It was to this home in Daly City, according to the defense, where Miss Hearst's kidnapers rushed her on the night of Feb. 4, locking her in a hot, darkened closet — with four carpeted walls and a foam rubber mat on the floor — for over four weeks.

THE HOME has since been occupied by other tenants.

At this residence, according to Johnson, the jurors were shown the closet, with nail holes in its wall showing where the dirty and dusty carpeting had been attached.

According to Johnson's chronology, Miss Hearst was kept a prisoner by the SLA until early April — perhaps a week or two prior to the bank robbery.

When the fourth week of her trial begins today, Miss Hearst is to resume the witness stand to continue her testimony under direct examination by chief defense counsel F. Lee Bailey.

Bailey is expected to complete his questioning of the defendant by Wednesday, at which time she is subject to cross-examination by the prosecutor, U.S. Atty. James L. Brown.

Johnson said the defense expects to call six more witnesses — three of them psychiatrists or psychologists to support the defense contention that the SLA attempted to "brainwash" Miss Hearst and that, in her own mind, she was the terrorists' "prisoner of war" until last September, when she was arrested in San Francisco.

The defense also intends to attempt to introduce as evidence results of polygraph, or "lie detector," tests administered to Miss Hearst. Bailey says the results corroborate her claim she was coerced into participating in the bank robbery. The prosecution opposes the introduction of such evidence, calling the polygraph testing unreliable.

Johnson said it was possible the defense could complete its case by next Monday.

Frozen Food Storage to open

Pioneering a new concept in frozen food bulk buys and storage, a group of Midland businessmen Wednesday will stage grand opening ceremonies for Dollar Stretcher Frozen Food Storage.

The facility is located at 3112-A W.

share a space, is designed to help the consumer save up to 20 per cent in cost by buying in bulk direct from the produce wholesaler.

Busby said the concept makes available to consumers more than 1,000 gourmet items normally offered only to restaurants, as well as 330 separate frozen food and produce items from local produce wholesalers.

The frozen food all may be ordered through the plant attendant in just one stop for an additional savings of time.

Flooding possible in Midwest

By The Associated Press

Unseasonably warm temperatures have spread north through the Ohio Valley and eastern Great Lakes, causing significant snow melt. This, along with heavy rains, is expected to trigger possible flooding on rivers and streams in New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio.

Thunderstorms continue today along a cold front from western New York and the Ohio Valley into southeast Missouri.

Monday afternoon and evening the storms brought severe wind damage from eastern Missouri into Ohio, including two tornadoes in southern Illinois. The storms also carried substantial rain to the area.

Officials at O'Hare International Airport at Chicago said flights were delayed nearly an hour late Monday because of thunderstorms that passed through the area.

Cold air lying north of a warm front still chilled northeastern border states. Snow fell from eastern Wisconsin into northern Michigan.

Monday's balmy weather was recordbreaking in Augusta and Athens, Ga., the National Weather Service said.

Augusta's record high for the date was broken with an 80 and Athens set a record of 78.

Temperatures around the nation early today ranged from 72 at Key West, Fla., and McAllen, Tex., to three at Limestone, Maine.

Some other reports: Anchorage 18 partly cloudy, Atlanta 60 cloudy, Boston 40 rain, Buffalo 37 cloudy, Chicago 39 cloudy, Cincinnati 62 cloudy, Cleveland 53 partly cloudy, Dallas 64 clear, Denver 37 cloudy, Detroit 40 partly cloudy.

Teens protest busing

BOSTON (AP) — Groups of teen-agers have thrown rocks, sticks and bottles at police for two days despite a vow by Police Commissioner Robert diGrazia to increase security and end violence.

About 500 young persons gathered near the Bunker Hill Monument in the Charlestown section Monday night, tossed objects, set small fires and destroyed the windshields of several police cars, authorities said.

Police called it an antibusing demonstration. They said no arrests were made.

The trouble came the night after diGrazia said he would assign 500 or 1,000 officers to the South Boston section if necessary to prevent an outbreak of violence that developed with an antibusing march Sunday.

An antibusing group said Monday it will hold a protest march next Sunday. Robert Dinsmore, a spokesman for ROAR (Restore Our Alienated Rights), told reporters, "We will apply for a permit. . . If the permit is turned down, we're going to march."

He was among marchers Sunday who became involved in a two-hour melee with police near South Boston High School.

The school and its neighborhood have been a focal point of opposition for nearly two years to a desegregation order that took effect in September 1974.

DiGrazia held a separate news conference Monday and said, "We will present the type of force necessary to prevent what happened yesterday."

Thirteen persons were arrested Sunday. Seven were charged with assault and battery and six with disorderly conduct.

DiGrazia said 80 police officers were treated at hospitals for injuries ranging from broken hands and teeth to cuts and bruises.

Finding jobs hard for Florida space engineers

The Los Angeles Times
TITUSVILLE, Fla. — Bill Stover is pumping gasoline at a Texaco station. Gene Corby is looking for a job, and doing some research on solar energy. Harvey Renshaw is divorced, drawing unemployment compensation, supporting three kids and getting into horology, the science of clock-building.
 Rufus Steadman gives daily thanks that he is nearing the age at which he will be eligible for Social Security benefits.

THEY ARE ALL former aerospace engineers or technicians who were cast adrift when the nation's space program powered down to a near-standstill after the Apollo and Skylab programs.

For years, Titusville, in Brevard County, has been the Kennedy Space Center's bedroom community. However, it never achieved the glamor of such places as Cocoa Beach or Cape Canaveral, and today some parts of Titusville could be Ghost City, U.S.A.

Brevard County, the heart of the U.S. space effort, today has one of the highest unemployment rates in the nation — between 16 per cent and 17 per cent. The national average is 7.8 per cent.

The good news in the local newspapers is that the county's cancer rate is 43 per cent lower than the national average, and that the state's newest prison will be built here and will employ 197 persons.

The bad news, as one state official puts it, is that "the outlook for 1976 for technical positions in Brevard County is bleak. Let's look elsewhere."

LOOKING ELSEWHERE, however, is something most of the engineers have declined to do. Many of the ex-aerospace workers simply refuse to leave this land of sun and sand and the easy-come, easy-go mode of living.

"It's unbelievable!" said J.H. Brewster, who works in a state unemployment office at nearby Cocoa. "Some companies won't even come in here to recruit because they know the people won't move."

Unemployment in Brevard County, 80 miles long and 20 miles wide, is almost as high as in some perpetual pockets of U.S. joblessness, such as the West Virginia mountains, Southwest Louisiana or the Rio Grande Valley in Texas.

There are between 3,000 and 4,000 unemployed aerospace engineers and technicians roaming the county, many of them making do with unemployment compensation ranging from $80 to $170 a week. Some of them now realize that they have remained too long and have missed the opportunity to get jobs elsewhere.

THE "MISERY INDEX," devised by federal economists, combines unemployment and inflation rates. Ten years ago the "misery index" in Brevard County stood at 3.7 per cent. Recently, while the national average was 14.5 per cent, Brevard County scored 22.9 per cent.

People like Bob Smith and his wife sell oranges and grapefruit from the back of a pickup truck to make ends meet. That is not their real name. They are reluctant to have their names known because they are also drawing unemployment compensation, fudging it, to make a living as best they can.

Some of the best television and air-conditioning repairmen in the nation are located around here — all highly skilled ex-aerospace engineers.

Edward M. Sears, head of the state Technical Mobilization Reemployment Program (TMRP) in Cocoa, a man who has dealt almost exclusively with aerospace joblessness, discussed the unemployed aerospace engineers bluntly:

"Many of these guys are the cream of the crop. They were held by their companies until the last possible month. Some have been here since the 1950s. They've got sand in their shoes and they don't want to move."

"Part of our job, a big part, is to psyche these guys into moving and quit using up their savings. We tell them to go to Houston. There are lots of jobs for engineers there.

"But it's funny about human nature...They felt it couldn't happen to them. They felt the big star would always continue to shine down on them."

"We don't expect much work from the space shuttle program until 1979 and when it is established it is just going to be like running an airport. Not many new jobs will be available," Sears said.

Sears' TMRP office is last of 14 set up throughout the nation to help reemploy aerospace workers. The others have all closed. The program pays a worker up to $500 to find a job, including an airplane ticket and daily living allowance while he is traveling, then up to $1,200 if he has to move his household.

Brevard County's high unemployment compares with a statewide jobless rate of about 13 per cent, the highest since the Great Depression of the 1930s.

In all the county, Titusville is the worst off. There are closed gasoline stations and boarded up windows — quite a few of them. There are 400 houses for sale.

THAT'S NOT as bad as it sounds, said Joseph L. McKnight, a real estate salesman and transplant from Oak Ridge, Tenn.

"I invest every penny I have in real estate in Brevard County. You can live real cheap around here. If you wanted to, and I don't know anybody who really does, you could live off the land, or in the back of a truck, get seafood from the ocean, plant potatoes, eat oranges. You can get a good buy on a house now. This area will come back up one day."

McKnight quotes an old Appalachia saying, "Burn-put cheaper than move-out," meaning that it is cheaper to stay put and rebuild, than to pick up and move somewhere else.

He said that is the philosophy of many unemployed aerospace workers.

Mrs. Pat Hagen of the Brevard Council, which is trying to stimulate economic recovery, said aerospace is finished. The economy was not helped when 300 workers of nearby Patrick Air Force Base were laid off some months ago.

Mrs. Hagen's husband was an aerospace worker. They have some vivid memories of the series of layoffs in the aerospace program.
 "A lot of the Ph.D.'s went to drugstores for jobs and gasoline stations and some are still there, and it seems as if a lot of the engineers went to places like Sears and Roebuck to clerk," Mrs. Hagen said.

A FEW — a very few — were successful. One of those is John Moore, who is now mayor of Cocoa Beach. A former test pilot, he began lecturing, got involved with several small companies and now has a thriving waterbed firm. Moore, who worked for the old North American Aviation, now Rockwell International, said he just did not want to go back to Los Angeles.

"A lot of people around here feel that way, not just about L.A. but also New York or Washington. It affected various people in various ways," Moore said. "Those with education and perseverance did the best."

There are some of the unemployed engineers, 10 to 15 years older than when they first came to Florida, who are becoming so anxious to get jobs that they will take work in Saudi Arabia or Iran or the Pacific — if it is available.

"A guy gets desperate," said Gary Major of Casselberry, Fla., who has been out of a job for eight months.

There is a frown on his face as he stands in front of the receptionist at the unemployment office in Cocoa. His appointment, she says, is tomorrow — not today.

There must be some mistake.

NOTHING SEEMS to be going right for Major.
 "I drove 50 miles to get here," he complained.

His frown turns into an angry grimace. This is almost too much. Back tomorrow. Another 50 miles. He stands in frustration. But he needs a job badly. The one he is trying to get is on Kwajalein Island, a missile test range in the Pacific, lonely and desolate.

In the vest pocket of his neat green tweed suit is tucked a resume of his experience. He has had two jobs during the last couple of years but both fizzled out. And to get both jobs he had to "underqualify" himself, not reporting that he has an engineering degree.

"A lot of these clowns won't hire you if they think you know more than they do," he said.

Lee Center Chatter

By JANA WILLIAMSON, LISA MCDONALD and JOLEE AYLESWORTH

No more Mojo in more ways than one! First, the score of 63-53 was the sweetest victory the Rebs have had all season. Our mighty Rebel Roundballers really stomped the punky Panthers Friday night. Not only did the team win, but the LHS cheering section was way ahead of those Panthers, too. Junior Miller and Brent Huckaby were ahead as high-point scorers in the game and Coach Stueckler wins as the most excited coach of the year. Way to go, Big Rebs!

Congrats also to the J.V. and sophomore squads for holding up their end of the ball game as they pounced on Permian also.

Tonight is the night, the time is now. Our Rebel team will show you how to put Lee Rebels in first place. We want to see all you Rebel fans tonight in our gym at 8 o'clock. Our support really wiped out that Mojo magic. Just think of what we can do to the Abilene Eagles' ego, so bring your vocal chords and see ya' tonight. Come on, Rebelettes, put out the effort for our very last home game and be at the gym at 7:30 sharp. Thanks for everything! Ya'll have been great this year, so don't let us down now. See ya tonight.

Not only did we mash Mojo in basketball but the golfers really put it to 'em, also as they beat 'em, by two strokes in the Midland Invitational Golf Tournament. Chris Brown won second medalist honors. Congratulations, Rebelmen.

The female branch of the golf team putted to a second in the San Antonio Invitational, with Liz Norton taking third place honors in medalist competition. Way to go, girls!

A Rebel salute goes out to the Lee girls tennis team for showing such Rebel talent at San Antonio Tennis Tourney last weekend. A special hand goes to Keri Ashford for battling her way to the semifinals. Way to net 'em girls!

The spirit of '76 has done it again, with Jeff Sapyta being named state winner in the "Voice of Democracy" contest. Jeff will represent Midland in national competition next month during a five-day trip to Washington, D. C., and then he's off to San Diego along with $2,000 worth of scholarships as one of the 50 students to attend a nationwide seminar.

Thanks N.H.S. members, sponsors and especially teachers for your time and patience as this Valentine's Day was definitely the most exciting ever.

Majority viewpoint

A number of noteworthy facts are revealed in a recent survey on national affairs conducted among its membership by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

The survey showed, for instance, that 88 per cent of the persons responding consider the federal government to be a bigger threat to free enterprise than any other group or organization.

This percentage figure undoubtedly would hold very close in a statewide poll, and it perhaps would not be too far off nationwide.

It is really something, a vast majority of the citizens feeling that their federal government is the real enemy of free enterprise, the very thing which has made this country great in many ways.

The survey results certainly should say something to members of Congress and the personnel of many of the bureaucratic agencies of government. Hopefully, they will get the message, but one wonders sometimes how many of them really care.

The survey also revealed that 80 per cent feel that Congress could best solve the nation's energy problems by removing all federal restrictions on the energy industry, letting it solve the problems, which it can and would do if the regulations were removed.

William A. Griffis Jr. of San Angelo, chairman of WTCC's National Affairs Committee, is so right in his comment that, "Almost every time Congress has tried to solve our energy problems, the situation has become worse. Congress has failed in its efforts and it is about time that they let the oil and gas people work out the nation's energy problems without interfering."

It also is noteworthy that 78 per cent feel that all farm feedlots should not be required to comply with EPA cleanup regulations if the costs are disastrous.

Sixty-eight per cent concurred with WTCC in opposing the National Park Service's proposal to designate 559,000 acres of Big Bend National Park as a wilderness area, thereby stopping all future development. Twenty-seven per cent did not concur.

Over in the Guadalupe Mountains National Park, the West Texas Chamber supports construction of a tramway to Guadalupe Peak as being in the best interest of the majority of visitors. Seventy-five per cent of the persons responding concurred, compared with only 11 per cent opposed.

And here is a really interesting one...79 per cent feel that the oil and gas industry is being persecuted by Congress. Eighteen per cent expressed the opposite view.

In answer to other questions, 69 per cent said they thought Social Security should be taken out of government administration and replaced by required, government insured annuities written by private enterprise, and 72 per cent said they are not in favor of having some areas of the state marked off as no-growth areas, in keeping with air quality standards of the Clean Air Act.

This speaks for the majority viewpoint in West Texas.

You are invited!

The Midland Chamber of Commerce will stage its annual membership banquet Thursday night in the Midland County Exhibit Building, with the public invited to attend.

Leon Jaworski, prominent Houston attorney, civic leader and former Watergate prosecutor, will be the principal speaker. Jaworski is a past president of the American Bar Association. He also is a past president of the Houston Chamber of Commerce, the Houston Rotary Club and the Houston Chapter of the American Red Cross. He is said to be one of the nation's most popular and most forceful after-dinner speakers.

A capacity crowd certainly should be on hand for this big annual event, not only to hear the speaker but to thank retiring President William J. Mewhorter for a job well done for the Chamber of Commerce and for Midland during the past year, and to greet the new president, Howard "Rocky" Ford, and to wish him well.

Democratic mishmash in New Hampshire primary

MANCHESTER, N.H. — Campaigning in the Democratic primary rushes to a close here with the voters in a lovely, diffident mood. The latest guess is that 40 per cent are undecided on which of the 17 names offered they should favor as presidential nominee.

What a vain effort. After all, it will be the media which decides the winner, no matter who gets the most votes.

Meanwhile, a collection of panting aspirants climb stairs, forage through shopping centers and clubs, and do sentry duty at plant gates. Their goal: to shake every last hand of those 92,000 Democratic souls who voted in the 1972 primary, and the mitts of the new voters as well. It is many candidates in search of not-so-many voters.

The New Hampshire primary is further diluted this year because neighboring Maine, Vermont and Massachusetts are holding their presidential preference exercise about the same time. So candidates and their TV and newspaper advertising cross state lines in an approximation of a regional primary.

Here, Jimmy Carter, Rep. Morris Udall and Sen. Birch Bayh are marked as leaders of the 14 packed on the Democratic ballot. Write-in efforts are under way for Sens. Hubert Humphrey and Henry Jackson, and John Connally, one of Texas' newest Republicans. No candidate will admit to being ahead, and it seems each works for votes from special "fans."

Carter comes off nice. His soft voice threatens the Washington bureaucracy while he advertises his own leadership as Georgia's governor. The knives are out for him because the national countsmen have put him slightly ahead of the pack. Liberal pecksniffs scrutinize his every utterance, partly because of their organic revulsion for Southerners.

But Carter's Southern speech and mannerism have worn well on the New Englanders. To help distinguish him in a melange of candidates, Carter's managers have twice brought into the state a contingent of 100 Georgians who canvass the precincts, leaving their accents as memorable souvenirs.

Being the tallest candidate isn't enough to make Rep. Morris Udall, a former basketball player, a standout, so Udall got Archibald Cox, famous after President Nixon fired him as Watergate prosecutor, to do TV commercials in flinty Yankee voice for him.

Udall has campaigned hard, and his saturation radio advertising probably pushes his spending to the $200,000 limit. He's easygoing and friendly as he drinks beer in the Polish-American Club, chats with bingo players in a church hall, and looks over card games at the Elk's

WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

MLPA requests talks with U.S.

By JACK ANDERSON with LES WHITTEN

WASHINGTON — The victorious communist-backed forces in Angola have sent a surprising secret message to Secretary of State Henry Kissinger, requesting talks with the United States.

In the appeal to Kissinger, the pro-Soviet MPLA leaders made the astonishing promise that they would ask Cuban and Soviet troops to leave Angola once the civil war is over.

The urgent message to Kissinger was delivered to the State Department by Mark Moran, foreign policy adviser to Sen. John Tunney, D-Calif. Moran spent eight days in the Angolan capital of Luanda talking with top MPLA leaders.

Both Tunney and Moran are cautious about the unusual communication. Although the message is quite specific, they recognize it could be an exercise in propaganda rather than genuine diplomacy.

The State Department is also skeptical. A rapprochement with the MPLA, of course, would be an admission that the past U.S. policy toward Angola was wrong. Kissinger and Company, therefore, may be merely trying to hedge their past mistakes.

Tunney feels the MPLA's offer of a detente at least is worth exploring, even if it should lead nowhere.

The four-page message to Kissinger was delivered in the form of an aide memoire written by Moran, setting forth his questions and the MPLA's answers. These are not the answers of a spokesman who can later be repudiated. They were given to Moran directly by MPLA's Prime Minister Lopo Nascimento, Defense Minister Iko Carrera and general secretary Lucio Lara.

From a copy of the confidential Moran memo, here are the key excerpts:

"Question (by Moran): What is the position of the MPLA on the presence of Soviet and Cuban troops and military advisers in Angola?"

"Answer: We have no desire for a permanent Soviet or Cuban presence. When the other foreign forces withdraw, so too will the Soviets and Cubans.

"Question: Is this an assurance which I can carry back to my government as representing the position of the MPLA?"

"Answer: Yes.

"Question: (Will) the MPLA ... allow the Soviet Union the use of air and naval facilities in Angola?"

"Answer: You may assure your government that we will never permit the establishment of any foreign bases on Angolan soil, air or naval, including those of the Soviet Union. This is superpower business, and we want none of it."

The idea of U.S.-MPLA talks "on a public or private basis ... on issues of mutual concern" drew an enthusiastic response from the Africans. "We are not only ready, we would welcome the opportunity," the three MPLA leaders told Moran.

INSIDE REPORT

Ford's swing through New Hampshire talked

By ROWLAND EVANS And ROBERT NOVAK

CONCORD, N.H. — That President Ford's swing through New Hampshire lethargic and unexciting though it was, breathed a little life into his previously comatose campaign here is evidence of his danger in this state's Feb. 24 primary.

Altered only slightly by the President's first overt campaigning, this is his grim New Hampshire balance sheet: the Ford campaign has been overwhelmingly and irrevocably outorganized by Ronald Reagan's forces; the Ford effort to downgrade Reagan has largely flopped; the intensity of Reagan's conservative hard core remains high; absolutely nothing is being done for the President in much of the state.

This balance sheet would make Reagan the clear winner of an ordinary election. But the aura of a President of the United States is such that nobody counts out Mr. Ford, and most politicians consider the outcome fifty-fifty. Shortly after Mr. Ford returned to Washington, however, Reagan opened an attack, long planned and even longer contemplated, aimed at the heart of Mr. Ford's incumbency: his stewardship of foreign policy.

"By acting as if we expect the Soviets to inherit the earth," Reagan declared in a new speech at Exeter, N.H., the President has botched up foreign policy. Reagan, convinced the public has turned against both detente and Secretary of State Henry Kissinger, has been thinking about this approach for weeks and preparing the actual speech for ten days.

Thus, as we forecast two weeks ago, Reagan has shifted from the nit-picking intricacies of governmental accounting to the broad sweep of global strategy. To combat this, the President risks much in relying only on his threadbare New Hampshire organization and an expected return trip here to the weekend before the election. To insure against disaster, he may need the major presidential initiative of Nixonian dimensions he so far has been incapable of making.

Mr. Ford still suffers from last year's mindless political barnstorming, which besides diminishing his prestige has restricted his present campaigning. His New Hampshire swing, limiting media exposure because it came on the weekend, was intentionally "presidential" rather than "political." The result: a leisurely schedule heavy on non-political appearances, light on crowds and devoid of the excitement associated with an incumbent President on the campaign trail.

Nevertheless, the "presidential" atmosphere was violated when his last event, a University of New Hampshire rally, provided the weekend's only excitement. The President's aides were elated and traveling reporters impressed by Mr. Ford's masterful handling of student hecklers. But many politicians here believe television news clips of the heckling stripped away the "presidential" image. "I think the President demeaned himself arguing with a bunch of nutty kids," one prominent Republican told us.

Nor do politicians feel that the negative campaign against Reagan, planned at President Ford Committee (PFC) headquarters in Washington, accomplished much. Moreover, it has caused friction between Rep. James Cleveland, the President's New Hampshire chairman, and the PFC in Washington.

Having wound up their attack on Reagan's $90 billion transfer plan, PFC operatives want a similar attack on Reagan's social security proposals. But Cleveland objects, refusing to repeat the 1964 social security assault here on Sen. Barry Goldwater. Ford men, however, suspect Cleveland is chary of Reaganite constituents in his congressional district. "There is a remarkably chummy relationship between the two campaigns here," one PFC operative grumbled to us.

While the PFC's anti-Reagan campaign seems fading, Reagan's new attack against Ford foreign policy is aided by Mr. Ford revealing he would ask Dr. Kissinger to stay on after the election. This is considered an avoidable blunder by Ford supporters here, who note the applause invariably generated by Reagan when he promises to replace Kissinger.

An unavoidable blunder was Richard M. Nixon's prospective trip to Communist China, which produced the first question to Mr. Ford when Air Force One landed in Manchester, N.H. While the President waved aside Nixon's trip as having "no political ramifications at all," it is now the principal topic of conversation among Republican insiders here. Their verdict: it cannot help and may well hurt Mr. Ford.

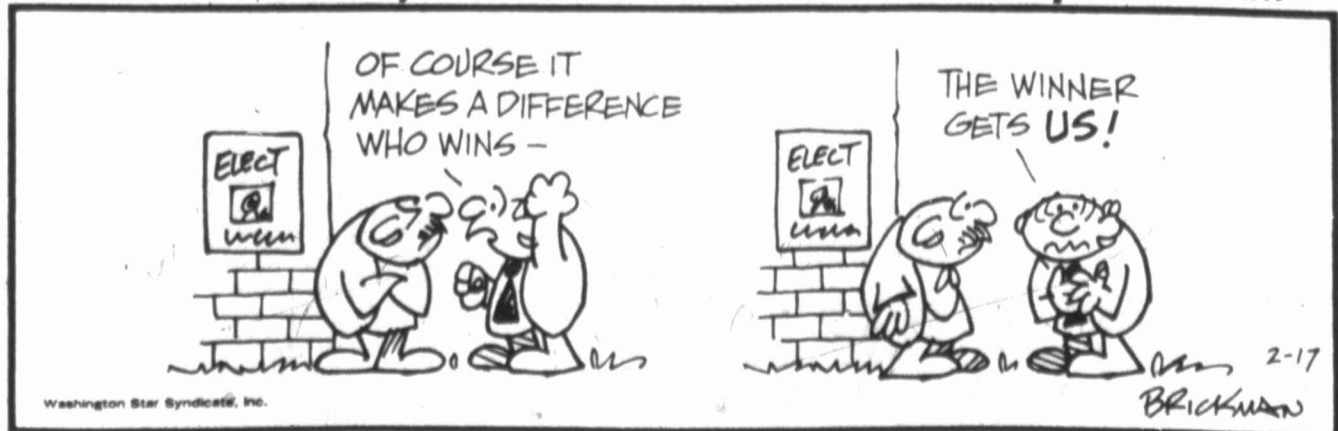

Even so, incumbency alone gives Gerald Ford an even chance to avert a disastrous defeat. To have more than an even chance, the Ford high command will have to think up something more than another humdrum presidential visitation.

BIBLE VERSE

But when I saw that they walked not uprightly according to the truth of the gospel, I said unto Peter before them all, If thou, being a Jew, livest after the manner of Gentiles, and not as do the Jews, why compellest thou the Gentiles to live as do the Jews? — Galatians 2:14.

Guthrie's aura captured by depression film

By JAMES MEADE
Copley News Service

HOLLYWOOD — Everyone knows it is expensive to construct plush sets for a motion picture depicting the idle, rich at play. But re-creating the 1930s depression should be inexpensive — right?

Wrong. Not the way co-producers Robert Blumofe and Harold Leventhal and director Hal Ashby did it for a United Know Ya," "Roll On" and "This Train Is Bound for Glory." Ironically, as well known as his songs are, Woody's son, Arlo Guthrie, is better known to contemporary audiences.

So the moviemakers have a problem of familiarizing potential ticket buyers with this transient troubadour who expressed his love of life, sense of social responsibility and instinct for the underdog in his lyrics and music.

"Woody hated fat banks and sheriffs for their farm foreclosures, sometimes unreasonably so," Blumofe said. "Oddly, with his basic sense of social responsibility to others, he would neglect his own family, going off for months at a time and leave them to shift for themselves."

Blumofe and Leventhal, who was Guthrie's manager, believe their movie has a "certain honesty." Blumofe said those close to Guthrie — his friends, his first wife, Mary, and his second wife, Marjorie, consider the movie true to Woody and where fictionalized, said, "It could have happened that way."

David Carradine, who is six inches taller than the late Woody Guthrie, plays the composer-singer. The size difference seems to be bothering no one since an aura and not a replica was the film makers' goal.

"David has Woody's vibes," said Joady, Marjorie's son, after watching Carradine. Daily Variety quotes Geer as saying, "Woody was just a grassroots radical, nothing more. All history tends to be romanticized, Robert Frost said, 'History is just gossip. I wish the picture well.'"

The movie's final scene has Carradine, as Guthrie, atop a boxcar singing "This Land Is Your Land," as the train passes through the beauties of the American countryside.

"I wonder what Woody would have thought about it — a multimillion-dollar movie about him," Blumofe mused. "He seldom had more than 50 or 60 cents in his pockets."

Artists' summer release, "Bound for Glory," which concentrates on 1936-40 in folk music composer Woody Guthrie's biography.

The moviemakers decided the film would be produced entirely on authentic locations with both dialogue and music recorded live and with neither musical playbacks nor process shooting.

Since much of the transient Guthrie's story involved freight trains, the movie, located in Northern California, Los Angeles and rural Texas, went a month and maybe $1 million or $2 million (Blumofe is not saying) over schedule and budget. Daily Variety places the final cost in the $6 million to $7 million range.

"The bottom line is we believe we have a great picture," Blumofe said. "Although the depression is not photogenic, we do not have a downbeat movie."

"Woody's good friends, Will Geer and Pete Seeger, said Woody always had a smile on his face and that's the way we played it," Blumofe said.

Guthrie was the southwestern composer-singer, who wrote such familiar songs as "This Land Is Your Land," "So Long, It's Been Good To

League will sponsor forum

By SANDER VANOCUR

The Washington Post

WASHINGTON — A series of live televised forums in which voters will have an opportunity to question presidential candidates was announced Tuesday by the League of Women Voters.

The series will be broadcast live on the 258 affiliates of the Public Broadcasting System beginning Feb. 23. All of the Democratic candidates except George Wallace have agreed to appear on at least one of the forums. Negotiations with Wallace are still under way. President Ford and Ronald Reagan have not yet decided whether to participate.

In making the announcement at a news conference, League President Ruth C. Clusen said: "These forums are designed for hard questions and even harder answers — a combination long overdue in the political process. There will be no debates, no confrontations, no gimmicks — just the candidates responding to issues which affect every citizen in this country."

The forums, arranged by Jim Karayn will be the closest thing to a national television debate that the voters have had since the Kennedy-Nixon debates in 1960. Elie Abel, dean of the Columbia School of Journalism, will moderate the forums.

Karayn said that of the three commercial networks, ABC and CBS have expressed interest in covering the forums. NBC, he said, had not yet made any commitment.

The commercial networks are now free to cover the forums without fear of demands for equal time from obscure presidential candidates because of a decision last September by the Federal Communications Commission. That decision freed broadcasters from equal time requirements so long as they were involved in "on the spot coverage" of "a bona fide news event."

The dates, locations and issues to be covered in each of the forums, are:
New England: Boston, Feb. 23 — High Employment, Low Inflation and Cheap Energy: Can We Have Them All?

Southern States: Miami, March 1 — From Social Security to Welfare: What's The National Responsibility?

Mid-Atlantic States: New York City, March 29 — Who is Responsible for the Cities?

Western States: Los Angeles, May 24 — Growth and Environment: How Much Can We Control?

The question will come from an audience of what the League calls "resource people," persons in each region who are involved in politics, business, labor and civic activities.

The forums, made possible by a grant to the League of Women Voters Education Fund from the William Benton Foundation, have received the blessings of Republican Party Chairman Mary Louise Smith and her Democratic counterpart, Robert S. Strauss, both of whom attended the news conference.

Bonded debt to increase

AUSTIN (AP) — The bonded debt of Texas state and local governments will rise to $15 billion by 1980, the Texas Advisory Commission of Intergovernmental Relations predicted Monday.

The current outstanding bonded indebtedness is $11 billion, with the 1974 growth totaling $1.48 billion.

Joints replaced

HALIFAX (AP) — Plastic surgeons here are installing artificial knuckles and finger joints using only local anesthetics. Plastic surgeon Dr. Winston Parkhill said five joints could be replaced within 90 minutes in the procedure.

The joint replacements are an "end-stage treatment" for sufferers of rheumatoid arthritis whose joints have become too distorted to respond to drugs or physiotherapy.

Seal designed

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Author-illustrator Don Freeman has designed a new seal for the Society of Children's Book Writers annual book award, The Golden Kite.

Freeman's design depicts a child standing on a hill flying a kite. It will be embossed on gold foil for each year's winning book and on silver foil for the honor books.

Traffic up in air

WASHINGTON (AP) — Domestic scheduled airline traffic gained 1.3 per cent for the 12 months ended Dec. 31, 1975, compared with 1974, the Air Traffic Association reports.

It said domestic traffic for the month of December alone increased by 5.4 per cent.

Total domestic and international scheduled airline traffic increased by 4.4 per cent in December. In 1975, total U.S. scheduled airline traffic decreased 0.4 per cent.

Bush to control all spy agencies in new setup

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Ford administration is scheduled to announce within a day a streamlined intelligence community that will put CIA Director George Bush in position to control all spy agencies, Ford administration officials say.

Bush will be chairman of a small inter-agency panel which will give him the power to control the budgets of other spy agencies, such as within the Defense Department and the National Security Agency.

The officials interviewed Monday said the plan is to be announced Wednesday.

Meanwhile, Bush is to meet with Sen. Walter Huddleston, D-Ky., a member of the Senate Intelligence Committee, to discuss the committee's request for the names of journalists and news organizations who have been on the CIA payroll.

A top intelligence official insisted that Bush would not turn over the names to the committee under any circumstance.

In another development, House members will be allowed to read the report of its special Intelligence Committee, but not to copy it or make the information public, House Speaker Carl Albert said Monday. Many sections of the report already have been made public, despite a House ban on publication.

Under the reorganization, Bush will not become an "intelligence czar" but will be in a better position as director of central intelligence, the officials said.

An interagency panel headed by Bush will consist of fewer than five members representing the various intelligence agencies and will report directly to the National Security Council, headed by the president.

The oversight panel would receive direct reports from the inspectors general of the intelligence agencies, except the FBI, and would have the power to recommend to the attorney general that a particular activity merited disciplinary action or prosecution.

Oversight of the FBI would remain with the attorney general.

Other aspects of Ford's reorganization plan are said to include:

—A three-member White House panel to monitor possible improprieties by intelligence agencies;

—Specific prohibitions against assassination and mail opening along with new guidelines for covert operations and domestic intelligence gathering;

—Proposed criminal penalties for members of the executive branch who reveal intelligence secrets.

Foes urge defiance of Peron

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Political foes of President Isabel Peron today urged defiance of her order ending a special session of Congress to block action on demands for her ouster.

Mrs. Peron decreed the end to the session Monday night during a 24-hour business strike which organizers said closed up to 90 per cent of the country's businesses and industries. The businessmen were protesting government price ceilings and recent wage hikes.

There was growing speculation that the military would seize control of the government and try to impose economic and political stability.

A government announcement said

the closing of Congress was due to recent cabinet shakeups and the need for new legislation to aid the unstable economy. But political sources said the 45-year-old president was afraid of a session of the lower house Wednesday at which her opponents were expected to press for her impeachment or resignation.

Congressmen from the center-left Radical Civic Union (UCR), the largest opposition party, said they would urge Congress to defy the order and declare itself in session. Mrs. Peron's order does not allow Congress to meet until its regular session May 1, but the Senate and Chamber of Deputies could declare itself in a permanent session of protest by a two-thirds vote. The Peronist movement has a majority in both houses, but the movement is split between supporters and foes of the president.

Mrs. Peron's order also canceled all bills pending in Congress, including one by small opposition parties calling for her impeachment on charges of mismanaging the government.

The business strike was called by eight national industrial and business associations grouped under the name Permanent Business Assembly (APEGE). The main business group, the General Economic Confederation, and the labor unions which are the chief strength of the Peronist movement refused to support it.

APEGE said Mrs. Peron's economic policies are leading Argentina to "chaos and ruin."

In Buenos Aires, the strike shut down nearly all food markets, retail and wholesale stores, restaurants, service shops and movie theaters. But banks and business offices were open; major industries were open for business; and buses and taxis operated normally.

In some provincial cities, bus service was halted. Activity was also severely curtailed on ranches and farms across the country.

GAO rates mail service

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although mail service is improving, the Postal Service still does not provide as good service as the old Post Office Department once did, the General Accounting Office says.

"Over-all, service today is not as good as it was before postal reorganization — in terms of timeliness of delivery and in terms of the bundle of other services provided by the Postal Service," the congressional auditing agency said Monday.

The GAO said a significant cause of delays is mail sent to the wrong place by letter-sorting machines. The machines cut the Postal Service's costs and improve productivity, but the GAO said they miss about 7 per cent of the mail they handle.

The GAO said the amount of misdirected mail probably will increase as the Postal Service continues to increase the number of machines in use.

Postal Service officials

frequently have cited statistics showing that mail delivery is faster than in the period immediately before the postal reorganization of July 1, 1971.

The GAO agreed but said the earlier period made a poor comparison because service then was especially bad due to

"turbulence caused by the impending reorganization."

Instead, the GAO used the year ending June 30, 1969, for comparison and concluded that the average time to deliver first-class mail then was 1.5 days, compared with 1.85 days now.

"The mail is moving well although not as well as in 1969," GAO said.

"It's also, unfortunately, probably correct to state that more mail is being delayed for longer periods than was the case a few years ago. And the part that isn't moving well, despite being proportionately small, still adds up to several billion pieces in the course of a year."

In a 96-page report to be provided to every member of Congress, the GAO noted "widespread dissatisfaction with the quality of service."

The GAO said the volume of such complaints prompted individual members of Congress and oversight committees to request the agency to look into the quality of mail service.

Jury selection begins in Franklin murder trial

death of nurse Mary Margaret Moran of San Antonio, Tex.

Mrs. Moran, 27, was abducted last July 26 from the parking lot of the Audie Murphy Veterans Hospital in San Antonio and found four days later in a brushy field.

The attractive brunette was nude, blood-caked from 10 stab wounds and dehydrated from her ordeal under the summer sun. She died 12 hours later without identifying her attacker.

Lawyer advertising facing opposition

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A limited proposal to let lawyers advertise fees strong opposition today as the American Bar Association winds up its midwinter meeting here.

"Some say it is going to get clobbered," said former ABA President Chesterfield Smith of Lakeland, Fla.

But Smith predicted a close vote, probably to approve. Few if any delegates expected the proposal to carry by a substantial margin.

In action on Monday, the association's policy-making House of Delegates:

—Postponed action on a proposal calling for guidelines for judicial "gag orders" governing publicity about criminal cases. It was postponed at the request of news media organizations because the Supreme Court is expected to rule on the issue this spring or summer.

—Rejected by a two-vote margin a proposal to repeal criminal penalties for prostitution.

—Overrode Justice Department objections and recommended creation of a three-judge court with power to appoint a special prosecutor.

—Recommended that unanimous jury verdicts be required for criminal convictions, even though the Supreme Court has said this is not constitutionally necessary.

—Approved by voice vote a proposal to create a National Court of Appeals as a buffer between federal circuit courts of appeals and the Supreme Court.

—Recommended that state courts, which say they are being short-changed in distribution of Law Enforcement Assistance Administration funds, be guaranteed a voice in how the money is divided.

The proposal on advertising would allow lawyers to include in directory listings some information about their fees and the areas of law on which they concentrate.

There is strong pressure for its approval because of lawsuits attacking the ABA ban on lawyer advertising in the wake of a Supreme Court ruling that the legal profession does not enjoy a blanket exemption from antitrust laws.

A suit by Consumers Union challenging the ABA restriction on publication of lawyers' fees and specialties is set for trial before a three-judge federal court in Richmond, Va., March 25.

Officials hunt for family of skid row derelict

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Turning 75-year-old Prince E. Gallagher loose with $1,000 in his pocket would be condemning him to beating and robbery by other skid row inhabitants, a judge said.

Gallagher asked last week to be imprisoned in the House of Detention for a few days while a court-appointed lawyer searched for his son and daughter.

Municipal Court Judge Eddie L. Sapir went along with Gallagher's request. Sapir said he learned to like Gallagher during the 25 or 30 times the old man appeared before him on minor charges.

Gallagher said he retired from the Southern Pacific Railroad 15 years ago and received pension checks. However, railroad officials said recent checks have been returned to them by the Houston hotel which they last knew as Gallagher's address.

Court-appointed lawyer Walter Wilkinson telephoned the railroad and received assurances that Gallagher's checks — totalling about $1,000 — would be issued to him.

But Wilkinson said that won't solve all the old man's problems.

The lawyer said there is no public home for the aged in Louisiana and there are no relatives or friends in the state who might take him in.

Efforts to find Gallagher's son and daughter — Prince Gallagher Jr. and Angellee Gallagher — have been unsuccessful, he added.

"We have to find a place for him to live," said Sapir.

The judge said turning Gallagher loose with money in his pocket would condemn him to beating and robbery by skid row denizens.

Willie Nelson back on stage after collapse

DALLAS (AP) — Country music entertainer Willie Nelson was back on stage Monday night at his "Whiskey River" night club after collapsing early in a performance the night before.

A club spokesman said the 42-year-old Nelson had collapsed from fatigue Sunday night with a broken down air conditioner compounding the problem. The spokesman said Nelson would finish his appearance at the club which runs through Wednesday night.

Nelson had to be carried off the stage by band members.

He had stopped on the middle of his first several songs and apologized. He stormed off the stage 10 minutes into the show, apparently upset. Nelson returned, but after several more false starts, went into an instrumental and finally collapsed.

Nelson has a large following in Texas, especially in the Austin area, where he writes and performs much of his progressive country sound. Nelson had appeared in fine form when he played to a full house at Dallas' Sportatorium on Saturday night.

About 300 persons were in the Whiskey River club Sunday night and the management said they were refunded their money.

Another price drop predicted

By JONATHAN C. RANDAL
The Washington Post

RIYADH — Sheikh Ahmad Zaki Yamani, Saudi Arabian petroleum minister, Monday predicted a further Iranian oil price slash, accused Iran of undercutting producer cartel agreed prices and revealed a planned shutdown of two Saudi oilfields.

But in an interview, Yamani insisted that the effect of these measures — reflecting decreased worldwide consumption because of the recession — on the 13-nation Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC) would not be "as much as pictured in the western press."

Nonetheless, he acknowledged that the Iranian price reduction announced Sunday night marked the first time that the OPEC cartel had failed to force consumers to accept its unilaterally imposed price increases in their entirety.

Only last September, OPEC announced a 10-per cent increase for Saudi Arabian light crude — known as the marker or yardstick for pricing all other varieties of oil.

Fingering a string of beads, Yamani said Iran's decision to shave 9.5 cents from every barrel of Iranian heavy crude was "something we expected and can live with."

Moreover, he said, "even the present price of Iranian heavy crude — now $11.40 a barrel — is higher than it should be" and doubted Iran could avoid a further price reduction. Industry sources here speculated that Iran may have to shave a further dime a barrel to sell the 740,000 barrels a day shortfall Tehran officials have mentioned recently.

Yamani accused Iraq of having "taken the lead in lowering prices" and suggested that "over the past year Iraqi price cuts had sometimes "reached almost $1 a barrel."

He said the Iranian decision might spur a further Iraqi price reduction in order to maintain the Baghdad regime's competitive edge. He said the Iranian price slash would have no effect on Saudi pricing since the kingdom produces very little such heavy crude oil.

With his back to a large gold-embroidered Koranic wall inscription proclaiming, "There is only one god, Allah, an Mohammed is his prophet," Yamani announced that the Zuluf and Marjan fields

— producing the same heavy crude as Iran, "will close down very soon."

He said that the kingdom had never before voluntarily shut down an entire oilfield. The shutdown affects about half of the country's production of heavy crude oil, which itself accounts for only 5 per cent of Sasudi totals.

Yamani's charges of Iraqi price cutting confirmed oil industry rumors which were denied last year by Baghdad after being published in a specialized western petroleum newsletter.

With reserves second only to Saudi Arabia's, Iraq apparently felt strong enough to brave fellow cartel members' wrath and refused to sign the Vienna agreement last September raising OPEC prices.

Yamani said, "Iraq is the only country to increase its production" and suggested Iraq was pumping "up to almost 2 million barrels a day."

Western oil industry sources suggested that that level of production constituted between 400,000 and 500,000 more barrels a day than had been true in the past.

The minister, dressed in a gold-trimmed brown gown called an abayah and a red and white checkered or headpiece, contrasted Iraqi actions with his country's.

Although Saudi Arabia has the capacity to pump 12 million barrels a day — and is OPEC policy agreed not to produce more than 8.5 million barrels a day — actual output went as low as 6 million barrels a day during the fall and now stands at 7.1 million barrels a day.

But although the minister sought to portray the lowered production as a conscious Saudi policy, industry sources here said that in fact Saudi Arabia could not find buyers for any more crude in the present depressed world market.

In the past two years, because of the world economic slump and conservation measures, world consumption has dropped from 31 to 27 million barrels a day.

Yamani saw the Iranian price reduction as the logical result of OPEC's failure to reach agreement on the so-called value differentials which set the prices for various grades of crude using the high-quality Arabian Light grade as the OPEC benchmark.

Geographical location, sulphur content and the crude's lightness or heaviness all constitute factors in price setting.

His insistence that Iranian oil was overpriced reflected both technical considerations and a longstanding difference pitting the shar's constant efforts to increase prices and Saudi Arabia's countervailing determination to limit increases and avoid bankrupting the industrialized world.

For the same crude Iran now is demanding $11.40 a barrel, Kuwait is asking $11.30 and Saudi Arabia $11.31. Both Kuwait and Saudi Arabia cut these prices last fall, if anything Kuwaiti crude should fetch a slightly better price, according to oil industry sources, because it contains less sulphur.

Yamani suggested that Iran may disguise any further price reduction by extending credit terms from 60 to 90 days, a move he estimated would be equivalent to an 8 cents a barrel price reduction.

The nation's known oil reserves have been cut in half since the 1930s and there are only six or so more years left, Wright said.

Natural gas reserves are estimated to last another 11 years, he said.

Wright suggested one important and promising alternative to oil and natural gas is coal.

"We have enough coal in the United States to last for several hundred years," he said. "We could be the Middle East of the world in coal."

L. E. Weaks Jr., production superintendent in the Monahans Area of the Midland Production District of Gulf Energy and Minerals Co.-U.S., has completed 35 years with the company, today marking that anniversary.

His career with Gulf began at Wickett where he was employed as a roustabout. He worked in various field operations throughout his tenure in the Wickett-Monahans vicinity. He has worked as roustabout foreman and maintenance foreman in addition to his present assignment.

E. E. Moore, senior accounting clerk in the Gas Account Unit of the Midland Production District, marked his 25th year with the company Feb. 5. He joined Gulf in 1951 as a helper in the geophysical department at Pecos. He also worked as junior assistant geophysicist at Pecos, Monahans and Pampa. He was promoted to clerk and transferred to Hobbs, N. M., 1957. He became senior clerk in 1959 and was transferred to the Crane Area. He then worked at New Orleans and Roswell before coming to Midland in 1971.

R. L. Smith is a new 20-year man with Gulf. He joined the company Feb. 1, 1956 in the Tulsa Division as an engineer trainee. He was transferred to the Midland District in 1956 and has worked in various production operations in several areas. Currently he is area engineer in the Odessa Area of the Midland Production District. He is a resident of Midland.

Jennings section yields oil on test

Tri-Star Petroleum Corp., Dallas, No. 1 F. O. Minzenmayer, Runnels County Goen reef oil prospect, has indicated production in a second zone, the Jennings, with the recovery of oil on a drillstem test.

Tool was open an unreported time on the test taken from 4,699-4,718 feet, which yielded 4,020 feet of free 40-gravity oil and 180 feet of oil- and gas-cut mud from the drillpipe. It also flowed gas at the rate of 40,000 cubic feet per day.

Production was indicated in the Goen with the reversing out of 2,225 feet of free oil on a test from 4,453-4,516 feet.

Operator has set 4 1/2-inch casing at 4,880 feet, total depth, and was preparing to perforate opposite the Jennings and test.

It is 467 feet from north and 1,500 feet from west lines of section 3, John L. Lynch survey 442, 2 1/2 miles south of Wilmett.

T. E. Byrne

Byrne gets promotion

T. E. Byrne has been promoted to regional sales manager for Daniel Industries, Inc., in charge of the Southwest Region with headquarters in Midland.

Byrne joined Daniel as a sales representative in 1965 and has worked the West Texas East New Mexico area.

The announcement of Byrne's promotion was made by Claude E. Sams, sales manager for the concern.

WT sectors get ventures

Exploration has been scheduled in Andrews and Mitchell counties.

William E. Hendon Jr., Midland, will reenter and plug back to 9,000 feet as a wildcat at No. 3-31 University, former Connell well in the Emma field of Andrews County, 14 miles southwest of Andrews township.

It was originally a deep oiler, which was recompleted by Hendon in January, 1974, from the Connell at 12,246-12,260 feet.

Location is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 31, block 9, ULS.

Drill site is 1,980 feet from northwest and 660 feet from southwest lines of section 2, block 16, SPRR survey, 15 1/2 miles south of Colorado City, and 1/4 mile southeast of a 7,429-foot failure.

Frank W. Cole Engineering of Dallas has amended location for No. 1 J. H. Nail Trustee, scheduled 7,200-foot wildcat in Mitchell, 12 miles southeast of Colorado City.

New location is 1,980 feet from north and 3,520 feet from west lines of section 26, block 12, H&T survey, 1/2 mile southwest of the originally scheduled location in section 25.

Producers are finalized

Field extensions have been completed in Loving and Sterling counties.

Forest Oil Co. has completed No. 1-R Cutthroat as a 1/2-mile east and northwest extension to Fusselman production in the Vermejo field of Loving, four miles southeast of Mentone.

Calculated, absolute open flow was for 64 million cubic feet of dry gas per day, producing from perforated section at 18,749-18,887 feet. The pay had been acidized with 11,000 gallons. Drilled to 21,300 feet, a 5-inch liner was hung from 14,988 feet to the bottom. Plugged-back depth is 19,009 feet.

Location is 664 feet from southwest and 1,325 feet from southeast lines of section 57, block 1, W&NW survey, four miles southeast of Mentone.

STERLING WELLS

Texaco Inc. has completed two Cisco wells in the Conger field of Sterling County, about 11 miles southwest of Sterling City.

No. 1-D Sterling Fee, a 3/4-mile northwest extension, finalized to flow 61 barrels of 45-gravity oil and three barrels of water daily, with gas-oil ratio measuring 4,328-1.

Production was through a 20-64-inch choke and perforations at 7,461-7,580 feet, which had been acidized with 2,000 gallons and fractured with 16,000 gallons and 24,000 pounds.

It is 1,403 feet from south and 1,501 feet from east lines of section 17, block 31, T-S-S, T&P survey.

No. 1-E Sterling Fee, 1 1/4 mile northwest of No. 1-D, gauged a 24-hour flowing potential of 118 barrels of 40-gravity oil, along with 19 barrels of water. Gas-oil ratio was 2,822-1.

Production was through a 26-64-inch choke and perforations at 7,582-7,778 feet, after acidizing with 2,200 gallons and fracturing with 33,000 gallons and 33,000 pounds.

Well site is 1,280 feet from south and 1,516 feet from east lines of section 13, block 31, T-S-S, T&P survey.

Graduate Center schedules classes

Course titles are "Production Engineering for Nonengineers," "An Introduction to Exploration Economics" and "Sand Facies — Modern and Ancient."

The exploration economics course is scheduled to meet from 7 to 10 p.m. Wednesday and from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. Thursday for a total of nine hours' instruction. Meeting place will be graduate center classroom No. 3 in the basement of Gihis Tower East, 119 N. Colorado St.

Robert E. Megill will instruct the course. He is coordinator of planning and analysis for headquarters exploration, Exxon Co., USA, in Houston.

The AAPG (American Association of Petroleum Geologists) continuing education course is offered in cooperation with the West Texas Geological Society. Class fee is $60 plus textbook.

Scheduled to begin Feb. 23 is "Production Engineering for Nonengineers." It will meet from 7 to 10 p.m. Mondays for six weeks in the same classroom location. Fee is $125. The team-taught course, coordinated by Randy McClay of Chevron Oil Co., is designed for independents, geologists, technicians and others who need a better understanding of production engineering.

The course outline includes the topics of drilling, mud engineering, drill string design and directional control, cementing, well-site geology and completion.

"Sand Facies — Modern and Ancient" is slated for Wednesday and Thursday, March 10 and 11. Classes will be held from 7 to 10 p.m. the first day and from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. and again from 7 to 10 p.m. on the second day. Students will meet in the auditorium of the Permian Basin Petroleum Museum, Library and Hall of Fame, located at 1500 Interstate 20 West. Fee is $60.

A comparative analysis of modern and ancient sandstone facies will be presented in the class, with an emphasis on processes, characteristics and distribution. Emphasis also will be given to an integrated approach to the interpretation of terrigenous clastics.

Dr. Alan J. Scott, professor in the Department of Geological Sciences at The University of Texas, will instruct the course.

Wright says public slow in reacting

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Rep. Jim Wright, D-Tex., says many congressmen have "sold their constituents short" in thinking that they would not back energy-saving legislation.

Wright said Monday at an energy seminar he believes citizens will do what is necessary when they know the scope of the problem, but the public has been very slow to react to the situation.

In the past Americans have been able to "rock along fat, dumb and happy until a crisis gets by the throat ...but that won't work in this energy problem" any longer, he said.

Wright said dwindling energy resources is "the most important long-range problem confronting the United States and perhaps the world."

"I don't think we've done nearly enough and I'm not really proud of the Congress' record in energy," he said. Congress has done some things, but not as soon as it should have, he said.

"People are slowly awakening to it," Wright said. Wright is chairman of the joint House and Senate Energy Task Force and has been emphasizing that it's certain the country is running out of oil and natural gas.

"It is a problem that will grow inexorably more binding and inexorably more difficult as time goes on," Wright said. Solutions and alternatives will be costly. They "will bite," he said.

The nation's known oil reserves have been cut in half since the 1930s and there are only six or so more years left, Wright said.

Natural gas reserves are estimated to last another 11 years, he said.

Wright suggested one important and promising alternative to oil and natural gas is coal.

"We have enough coal in the United States to last for several hundred years," he said. "We could be the Middle East of the world in coal."

Concho test completes

The Hartgrove pool of Northeast Concho County gained a 1/2-mile southwest extension to Tannehill gas production with completion of Fisher-Webb, Tnc. and Dixon Oil Co., Abilene, No. 1-1867 1/2 HS&N Ranch.

The calculated, absolute open flow gauge was 1.395 million cubic feet of dry gas per day, producing through over-all perforations at 1,056-1,246 feet, after acidizing the pay with 1,000 gallons.

It was drilled to 2,417 feet, and plugged back to 1,399 feet, in 4 1/2-inch production string cemented at 1,435 feet.

Well site is 660 feet from north and east lines of section 1867 1/2, block 71, J. W. Reeves survey, abstract 602, three miles north of Millersview.

Sackash joins Reda

Michael Sackash has joined TRW Reda Pump Co. as an application senior engineer in the Midland branch plant marketing office.

He was with Cities Service Oil Co. in Midland as a production engineer before joining Reda.

A native of Sykesville, Pa., he is a member of the Society of Petroleum Engineers of AIME.

Major leagues spring training still up in air

NEW YORK (AP) — It's very much like any other baseball road trip...two weeks and six cities long. But Marvin Miller's current nationwide journey is considerably more vital than a ball club's ordinary mid-season swing.

The results of Miller's meetings with the players and continuing negotiations with the owners will determine whether spring training will start on time, or in fact, whether it will start at all.

Baseball's rites of spring usually begin in the last week of February with pitchers and catchers reporting first, followed by other players, who are usually due in camp by March 1.

But no dates have been set for spring training, 1976, and the time is growing short if camps are to open on time. That is why the owners' negotiators have decided to follow Miller, executive director of the Major League Players Association, on his trip. Negotiations will continue while Miller briefs the players on the status of the talks.

The two sides met Monday in Los Angeles, with Miller set to talk to the players there today. On Wednesday, National League owners meet in Chicago and it's no coincidence that the site is the same hotel where Miller will be talking to players Thursday.

Miller moves on to Cincinnati Friday, returning to New York for a Saturday negotiating session before moving on to Houston and Philadelphia next week and concluding his swing in Miami March 2.

Publicly, the owners have maintained that they want to start spring training on time. Miller would be agreeable to that, but the owners insist that before they open camps they will have an agreement with the players. That simply may be impossible to accomplish in the two short weeks before the traditional March 1 start, especially with the two sides far apart on most issues.

The owners are seeking changes in the contract language dealing with the controversial reserve clause. Miller, of course, is perfectly satisfied with the way it reads right now, especially after it helped pitchers Andy Messersmith and Dave McNally win free agent status from arbitrator Peter Seitz. The arbitration ruling was upheld by federal court judge John Oliver and is now being appealed by the owners in Circuit Court.

In last week's talks, the owners proposed an altered reserve clause that would allow an eight-year veteran to play out his option. After the option year, the player would be subjected to a draft where up to eight clubs could select him. He then would be free to choose from among those teams drafting him.

Miller said such a proposal "would have represented progress in 1965, but not in 1976."

In other areas, the owners offered

Woody Hayes

Woody will coach Bucks again

GRANVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Despite criticism from Ohio State University students, Woody Hayes insists he will continue into a 26th football coaching season this fall with the Buckeyes.

Hayes, who turned 63 Saturday, has been the target of criticism from dismissing Nick Buonicami from the team without first informing the star defensive tackle. He was also criticized by the media for skipping out on a post-game news conference at the Rose Bowl.

The Ohio State Lantern, the Big Ten school's campus newspaper, went so far as to call for Hayes' resignation.

"I most certainly will remain in football as the head coach at Ohio State," Hayes told a Denison University Hall of Fame audience. He is a Denison graduate and also coached football at the Ohio College school.

Hayes has said little publicly since the 23-10 Rose Bowl upset by UCLA that cost the Buckeyes an undefeated season and probably the national championship. But he took the opportunity at Denison to laud out at colleges who cheat to recruit high school athletes.

"This is the first time I have spoken on this recruiting thing," said Hayes. "But I am getting sick and tired of some of our colleges cheating in recruiting. We don't cheat at Ohio State. I would report any cheating by any college if I knew it to be true."

He did not say if Ohio State was one of the schools that reported Michigan State to the National Collegiate Athletic Association for recruiting violations.

An NCAA investigation found the Spartans guilty and placed the school on probation for three years, barring it from appearing on television or playing in post-season bowls.

Jimmy Connors to train harder

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — Jimmy Connors aims to keep a tighter rein on himself this year than in 1975, when he was disappointed in the results despite big financial gains.

Connors, 23, lost at Wimbledon and at Forest Hills in the finals of each, though he did capture two singles challenge matches and one in doubles, which boosted his bank account.

The three challenges netted him more than $400,000.

He admits he didn't train the way he had previously and the outspoken left-hander says it won't happen again.

"I was messing around too much last year, that's true," he said in an interview. "I can mess around the night before a big match but the things I do two or three weeks before finally caught up with me."

Connors has broken with his longtime adviser, Bill Riordan, although the latter still is a copromoter of the Feb. 28 challenge match in Las Vegas against Manuel Orantes of Spain.

Orantes was the victor against Connors at Forest Hills in the U.S. championships and now goes in a $250,000 wintertake-all challenge.

"I hate to lose more than I like to win," Connors said. "The way these guys acted after they beat me told me little secrets."

He referred to Arthur Ashe at Wimbledon and Orantes at Forest Hills but didn't quote them. Jimmy had won both events in 1974.

Connors, trying to tone down his brashness, added: "So you get down to work so they won't beat you anymore. I worked hard on my tennis when I was playing matches, but I never did anything outside of that. My training habits kind of went bad for six months or so."

The Connors romance with Chris Evert, the queen of women's tennis, appears at an end.

NTSU whips Trinity five

DENTON, Tex. (AP) — Fred Mitchell, who played only half the game, got 21 points and led six North Texas players in double figures as the Mean Green beat Trinity 113-66 Monday night in a non-conference basketball game.

Every North Texas player scored and Coach Bill Blakeley rested his starters half the time in anticipation of Tuesday night's makeup game with West Texas State in Amarillo.

The Amarillo game was delayed from Feb. 5 due to bad weather.

North Texas, the nation's third highest scoring team, led by only eight points at the half but the Mean Green starters outscored the Tigers 17-0 at one stretch of the second half.

North Texas, ranked 19th nationally, outbid Trinity 63-24 in the final period.

North Texas ran its record to 18-3 while Trinity dropped to 7-14.

For North Texas, Terry Bailey had 19, Mel Davis, Ken Williams and Earl King all had 12 and Paul Tedder had 10.

AP protests ban by Vols

BOSTON (AP) — The ejection of two Lexington, Ky., Herald-Leader photographers from a college basketball game between Tennessee and Kentucky has been formally protested by The Associated Press Sports Editors Association.

Photographers Frank Anderson and E. Martin Jessee were forcibly removed from the Feb. 7 game in Knoxville, Tenn.

APSE President Dave Smith, sports editor of the Boston Globe, and Vice President Earl Cox, executive sports editor of The Courier-Journal and Louisville Times, protested the action in a letter to Dr. Edward Boling, president of the University of Tennessee.

Dr. Boling was asked to investigate the ejections and to inform the APSE of his findings.

The ejections occurred just after a fight broke out in the game. Anderson was taking pictures of the fight and had stepped onto the edge of the playing court, or had been pushed onto it.

Two policemen grabbed Anderson and escorted him out of the fieldhouse. They also ejected Jessee when he took pictures of Anderson being thrown out.

The APSE, an organization that deals with sports coverage and related matters and represents newspapers which receive Associated Press service, also joined with Don Mills, editor of the Lexington newspaper, in requesting a written apology to the two photographers.

FUNKY WINKERBEAN

AT THE LAST CURRICULUM STUDY COMMITTEE MEETING, MANY ISSUES AND TOPICS WERE DISCUSSED!

WE WERE ABLE TO REACH AGREEMENT IN SEVERAL DIFFERENT AREAS!

MANY OF THEM EVEN PERTAINED TO THE CURRICULUM!

BLONDIE

DAGWOOD LOOK WHAT I BOUGHT CORA FOR HER BIRTHDAY

GEE, AN ELECTRIC POPCORN MAKER

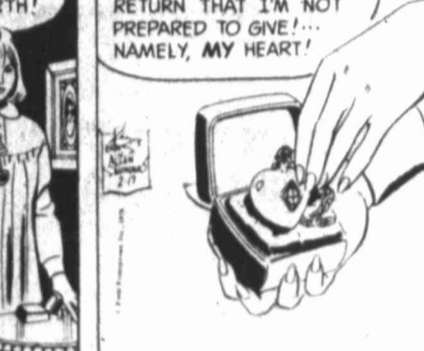

IS IT GOING TO BE A SURPRISE?

MARY WORTH

NO WAY, MRS. WORTH!

HE EXPECTS SOMETHING IN RETURN THAT I'M NOT PREPARED TO GIVE!... NAMELY, MY HEART!

IN THE SECOND PLACE, I NEVER ACCEPT GIFTS FROM PEOPLE I INTERVIEW!... OTHERWISE I MIGHT BE INFLUENCED TO... CUT OUT FACTS THEY'D RATHER NOT SEE IN PRINT!

JUDGE PARKER

ARE YOU CERTAIN IT WOULDN'T BE AN IMPOSITION FOR OLIVER AND ME TO USE YOUR COTTAGE HERE AT SPENCER FARMS, ABBEY?

NOT AT ALL, SHELBY!

DINNER IS READY TO BE SERVED TO BE SERVED MISS SPENCER!

STEVE ROPER

ONCE MORE--WHICH UNIT WANTS THE FARE AT MAIN AND ASHLAND?

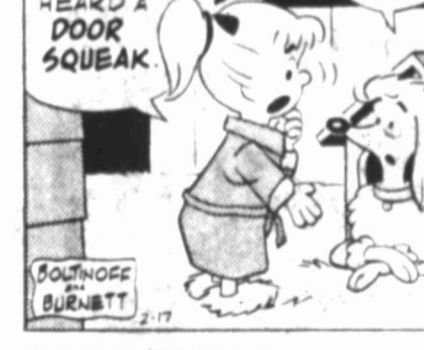

SHOULD I TAKE THE CALL, LEO?

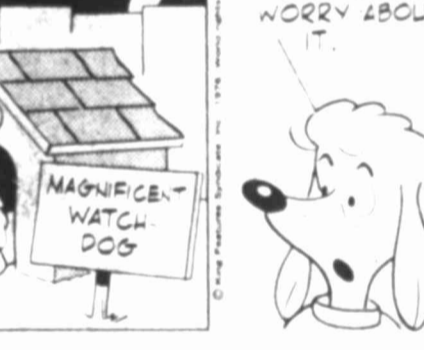

BUT JUST ACROSS THE STREET FROM THAT PHONE BOOTH--

NUBBIN

SO?

PROBABLY JUST THE WIND DON'T WORRY ABOUT

STEVE CANYON

SURROUND HIM WITH KINDNESS

BEFITTING THE MESSIAH

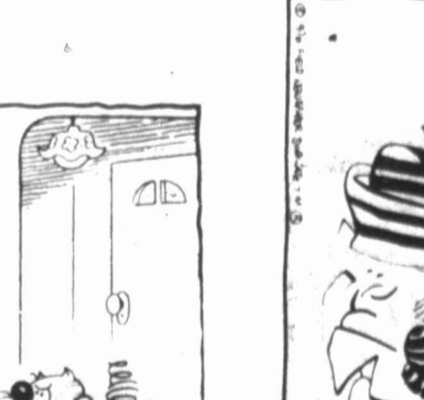

PARADE HIM THROUGH THE STREETS

HEATHCLIFF

LOOK OUT!...DON'T GET CRUMBS IN HIS BED!

DO YOU ALSO HAVE THE TIME?

THEN TO THE LEADER'S HOUSE IN TRIUMPH!

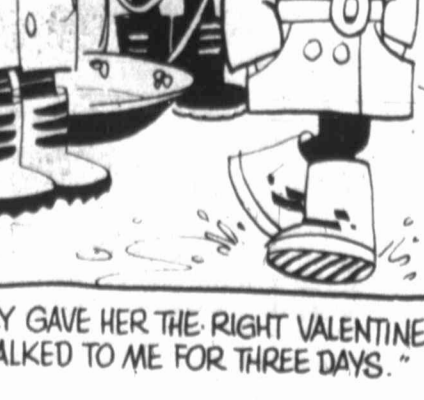

DENNIS THE MENACE

BOY, I REALLY GAVE HER THE RIGHT VALENTINE... SHE HASN'T TALKED TO ME FOR THREE DAYS.

WHEN DID SHE LEAVE YOU?

NO MAAM

ANDY CAPP

OH, DEAR! NEVER AGAIN!

OOOH! ME POOR 'EAD!

OOOH! OOW!

THAT WAS NOTHIN' - YOU SHOULD 'EAR 'IM WHEN 'E'S BEEN OUT THE NIGHT BEFORE!

NANCY

MISTER--- DOES THAT JOB MAKE YOU NERVOUS?

NOT AS MUCH AS MY LAST JOB--I USED TO DRIVE A SCHOOL BUS

You can scratch 23159 from postal Zip Code underwary

By DON SHANNON
The Los Angeles Times
STAGE JUNCTION, Va. — If you have a Postal Guide, you can scratch out Zip Code 23159. And another piece of the American past.

That was the number inscribed on the neat black and white sign that said "U.S. Post Office, Stage Junction" and hung until Jan. 31 on Alan G. Dillard's general store in this southern Virginia hamlet. The post office and the store had been a Dillard family operation for 90 years until Alan retired after 41 years and 11 months in charge of the mail service here.

With only 21 families, including that of the postmaster, being served by the tiny office, Stage Junction easily fell within the 12,000 third and fourth-class facilities that the General Accounting Office reported last June could be closed for a saving of $100 million a year by the Postal Service.

holding spools of thread got an affectionate touch from the storekeeper.

"Do you know what O.N.T. means?" Dillard asked. "Our New Thread — people used to say 'Pure as O.N.T.'"

History didn't seem far away as the storekeeper relaxed in his worn chair beside the oil stove that replaced the former fireplace. Dillard talked casually about October of '81 — meaning 1781 — when his great-grandfather was part of the British army that surrendered to George Washington at Yorktown, at the mouth of the James River that flows nearby. And he recalled an old customer who was a witness to the march of Gen. William Tecumseh Sherman's Union troops through Stage Junction after Appomattox ended the Civil War.

"There was a powerful big old fellow here who wore size 50 overalls and a Northern soldier, so the story goes, went in his house, tied up the legs of the overalls, filled 'em up with all the food in the house and threw 'em over his horse," Dillard said.

AUSTIN (AP) — The first of a series of public hearings throughout Texas on controversial new child care licensing standards begins today at the State Department of Public Welfare.

Other hearings will be held later in Houston, Dallas-Fort Worth, Lubbock, San Antonio and Alice.

Commissioner Raymond Voughl said if there would enough public interest other public hearings might be held in the Rio Grande Valley and in East and West Texas.

The 1975 legislature passed a new child care law and mandated the department to establish revised standards for homes, schools, nurseries and shelters which provide child care. The new legislation applies to both day care and 24-hour care.

LEGISLATION setting up the Service in 1970 as the successor to the old Post Office Department prohibited shutdowns for economic reasons only, but Postmaster General Benjamin Bailar said an impending $1 billion deficit called for a change in ground rules.

Bailar at one point started closing down small offices without waiting for their postmasters' retirement until congressional protest brought a reversal and the Service is now waiting for retirements.

It was under the new rules that the sign came down at Stage Junction after Dillard decided to turn in his badge, "the saddest thing I've had to do since I've been postmaster."

The 69-year-old retiree said he intends to keep the store open if business warrants but in an hour-long interview on a bright winter day no customer interrupted his reminiscences.

Dillard isn't sure exactly when the store and the post office began but he thinks a December, 1884, calendar page pasted on the wall near the post office corner of the store may approximate the founding date.

THIS PART of Virginia once boasted several gold mines and the store formerly had a small pair of scales for measuring gold, long since gone. An early mine owner, Dillard recalled, was Commodore Robert Stockton, who went to California after the 1849 gold strike there and gave his name to the Sacramento Valley city.

"They say he rode all the way back here for a visit, stayed six months and then rode back," Dillard said.

THE STATE OF TEXAS, COUNTY OF MIDLAND.
WHEREAS, on the 28th day of January, 1976, in Cause No. 7-306, in the District Court of Midland County, Texas, wherein Midland Independent School District, City of Midland, Texas, the State of Texas, and the County of Midland, Texas, were Plaintiffs, Impleaded Party Defendants, and Intervenor, and recovered judgment against FRED HARRIS, Defendant, for taxes, penalty, interest, and cost against the hereindefendant described property.

WHEREAS, on the 30th day of February, 1976, by virtue of said judgment and the mandates thereof the Clerk of the above mentioned District Court of said county did cause to be issued an Order of Sale commanding me as Sheriff of said county to seize, levy upon, and sell in the manner and form as required by law the hereindefendant described property.

WHEREAS, by virtue of said judgment and said Order of Sale and the mandates thereof, I did on the 30th day of February, 1976, seize and levy upon as the property of the above defendant the following described property, situated in Midland County, Texas, to-wit:

Lot 11, Block 28, Moody Addition, an addition to the City of Midland, Midland County, Texas as shown by deed from H. W. Egan recorded in Vol. 313, Page 375 of the Deed Records of Midland County, Texas as dated August 11-22-1968.

And I will, on the first Tuesday in the month of March, 1976, the same being the 2nd day of said month, proceed to sell all the right, title, and interest of the defendant in and to said property at the Court House door of said county in the city or town of Midland, at 2:00 P.M. to the highest bidder for cash; provided, however, that none of said property shall be sold to the owner of said property directly or indirectly or to any party other than a taxing unit which is a party to this suit for less than the amount of the adjudged value of said property or the aggregate amount of judgments against said property in said suit, whichever is lower, subject also to the right of the Defendant to redeem same in the time and manner provided by law and subject also to the right of the defendant to have said property divided and sold in less divisions than the whole.

Said sale is to be made by me to satisfy the judgment rendered in the above styled and numbered cause, together with interest, penalties, and cost of suit; and the proceeds of said sale are to be applied to the satisfaction thereof, and the remainder, if any, to be applied as the law directs.

THE STATE OF TEXAS, COUNTY OF MIDLAND.
WHEREAS, on the 28th day of January, 1976, in Cause No. 7-306, in the District Court of Midland County, Texas, wherein Midland Independent School District, City of Midland, Texas, the State of Texas, and the County of Midland, Texas, were Plaintiffs, Impleaded Party Defendants, and Intervenor, and recovered judgment against FRED HARRIS, Defendant, for taxes, penalty, interest, and cost against the hereindefendant described property.

WHEREAS, on the 30th day of February, 1976, by virtue of said judgment and the mandates thereof the Clerk of the above mentioned District Court of said county did cause to be issued an Order of Sale commanding me as Sheriff of said county to seize, levy upon, and sell in the manner and form as required by law the hereindefendant described property.

WHEREAS, by virtue of said judgment and said Order of Sale and the mandates thereof, I did on the 30th day of February, 1976, seize and levy upon as the property of the above defendant the following described property, situated in Midland County, Texas, to-wit:

Lot 11, Block 28, Moody Addition, an addition to the City of Midland, Midland County, Texas as shown by deed from H. W. Egan recorded in Vol. 313, Page 375 of the Deed Records of Midland County, Texas as dated August 11-22-1968.

And I will, on the first Tuesday in the month of March, 1976, the same being the 2nd day of said month, proceed to sell all the right, title, and interest of the defendant in and to said property at the Court House door of said county in the city or town of Midland, at 2:00 P.M. to the highest bidder for cash; provided, however, that none of said property shall be sold to the owner of said property directly or indirectly or to any party other than a taxing unit which is a party to this suit for less than the amount of the adjudged value of said property or the aggregate amount of judgments against said property in said suit, whichever is lower, subject also to the right of the Defendant to redeem same in the time and manner provided by law and subject also to the right of the defendant to have said property divided and sold in less divisions than the whole.

Said sale is to be made by me to satisfy the judgment rendered in the above styled and numbered cause, together with interest, penalties, and cost of suit; and the proceeds of said sale are to be applied to the satisfaction thereof, and the remainder, if any, to be applied as the law directs.

A FADING PARCHMENT signed by Postmaster General Wilson S. Bissell, testifies to the appointment of Joseph S. Dillard on June 9, 1883. A simpler printed document with what looks like a rubber stamp signature by Postmaster General James A. Farley marks the passage of the office to the second generation of the family nearly 40 years later on May 24, 1933.

"We didn't get paid in those days," Dillard recalled. "Fourth class postmasters got a cancellation fee on letters and some of the money from registration and money order fees. They didn't put us on salary until 1940."

At his retirement, the annual salary was $5,600 and his wife received $480.48 as assistant. In addition, there was a $514.02 yearly rental for the space occupied by the little office.

Stage Junction in its last days averaged 18 pieces of mail incoming and 20 outgoing daily and the total cash receipts for the last full year were $962.67. Dillard will get the maximum pension — 80 per cent of his final pay.

The families still being served — six within walking distance of the crossroads and 15 along a side road — are now getting their mail from a truck that passes once a day. The driver gets an extra $527 a year for the additional stops.

POSTAL SERVICE officials say the rural customers get "equivalent services" when they are shifted to delivery routes but congressional opinion varies.

Rep. James M. Hanley (D-N.Y.), chairman of the House Post Office subcommittee on Postal Service, pointed out that the rural office often serves as a "town hall where the people may gather to enjoy a little camaraderie with their fellow citizens."

Hal L. Hemmingsen, president of the National Association of Postmasters of the United States, questioned whether a mail truck really replaces an office. Besides delivering mail, he said, it is often the only federal office in a wide area to provide information on taxes and government programs. A delivery truck driver, Hemmingsen said, would be "too busy to help read a letter, wrap a package or locate friends and relatives."

POSTAL SERVICE spokesman said his agency opposes any consultation with the associations about closing offices but has worked with them on alternatives for reassigning personnel after a shutdown. The agency also contends that provision of equivalent postal services should be the criterion for closing an office, and says it has not acted on economic grounds alone.

Jesse Collins an official of the Richmond, Va., regional office, emphasized that rural route customers at Stage Junction can buy stamps and money orders from their mailman now.

But C. R. Colley, who lives only 100 yards from the general store in what was once a stagecoach stop and tavern that gave the hamlet its name, had reservations.

"Some days we miss our mail, and packages might disappear from the box," he said. "That was something we never had to worry about before, but I guess all good things have to come to an end."

Across the road, Raymond E. Robertson said he had gone to the post office for his mail all his life. He doesn't like the new truck delivery because he can't answer a letter the same day he receives it. "It was very convenient," Robertson said of the old system. "If it cost the government too

'Enriched Flavor' Entry Outdates Conventional Low Tar Cigarettes.

New flavor discovery for 9 mg. tar MERIT achieves taste of cigarettes having 60% more tar.

Now there's a way to cut tar without the usual loss in taste. That's the report from Philip Morris on a new taste discovery called 'Enriched Flavor.' A way to pack flavor—extra flavor—into tobacco without the usual corresponding increase in tar.

The kind of flavor that outdates conventional low tar brands.

The cigarette with 'Enriched Flavor' is remarkable new MERIT.

If you smoke—whether it's a low tar brand with a taste you can't quite get used to, or a full-flavor smoke you enjoy but with a tar level you'd like to drop—you'll be interested.

Smoke "Cracked": Key Ingredients Isolated

After a twelve-year research effort, a team of scientists at our Richmond Research Center succeeded in isolating the "key" flavor ingredients of tobacco as they exist in cigarette smoke.

By adding only those ingredients which are of extreme high quality as flavor producers yet low tar producers as well, we're now able to pack incredible flavor into a cigarette without the usual corresponding increase in tar.

'Enriched Flavor.' It's extra flavor. Natural flavor. Flavor that can't burn out, can't drop out, can't do anything but come through.

We packed 'Enriched Flavor' into the tobacco used to make MERIT.

And began an extensive series of taste tests. The results were startling.

Taste-Tested By People Like You

9 mg. tar MERIT was taste-tested against five current leading low tar cigarette brands ranging from 11 mg. to 15 mg. tar.

Thousands of filter smokers were involved, smokers like yourself, all tested at home.*

The results were conclusive:

Even if the cigarette tested had 60% more tar, a significant majority of all smokers tested reported new 'Enriched Flavor' MERIT delivered more taste.

Repeat: delivered more taste.

In similar tests against 11 mg. to 15 mg. menthol brands, 9 mg. tar MERIT MENTHOL performed strongly too, delivering as much—or more—taste than the higher tar brands tested.

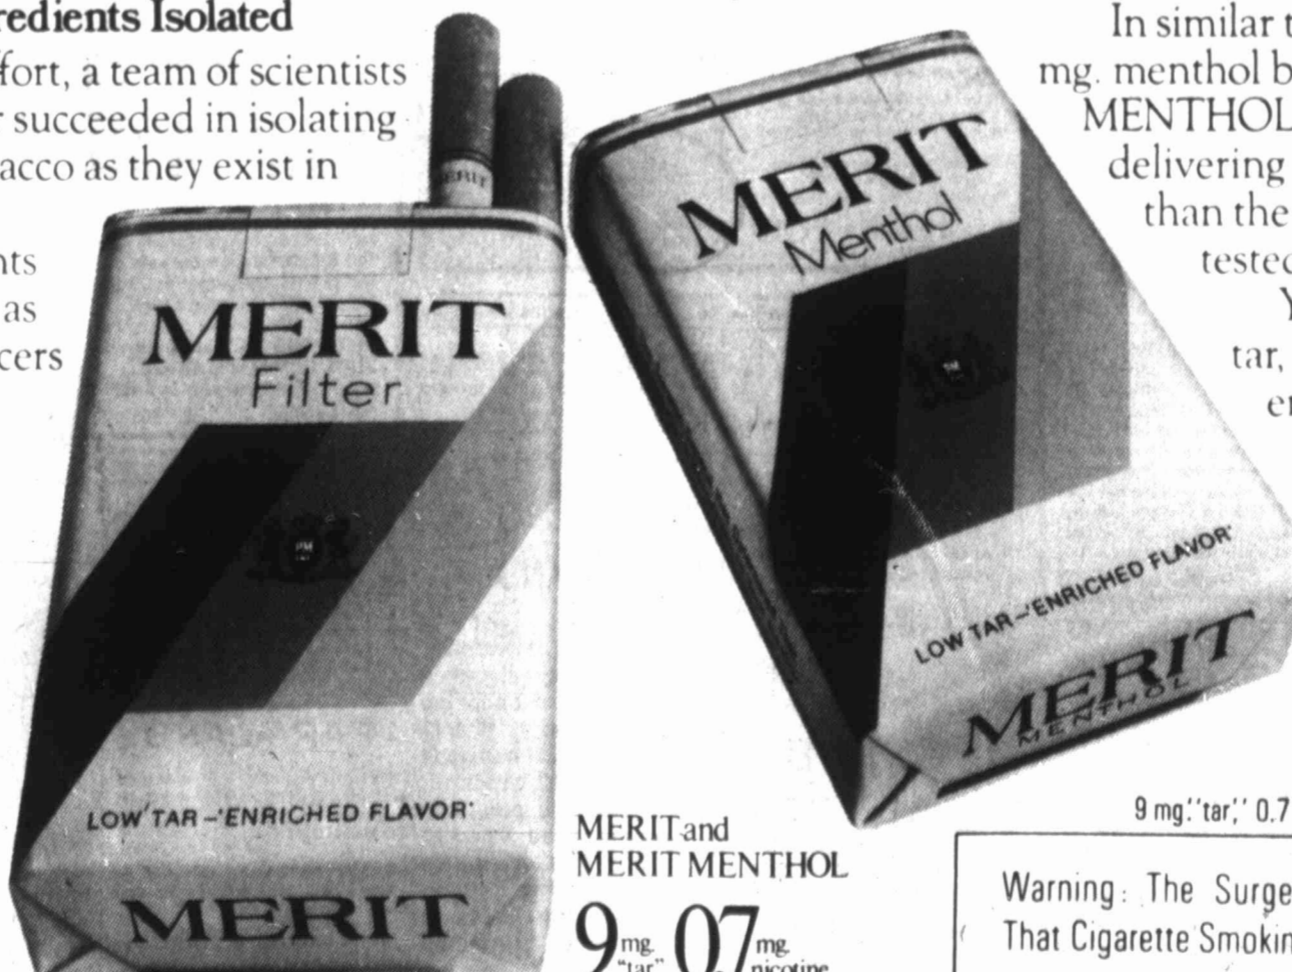

You've been smoking "low tar, good taste" claims long enough. Now you've got the cigarette.

MERIT. Incredible smoking pleasure at only 9 mg. tar.

From Philip Morris.

*American Institute of Consumer Opinion. Study available free on request. Philip Morris Inc., Richmond, VA 23261.

Italians tout new treatment for breast cancer

BOSTON (AP) — Italian medical researchers have found a drug treatment they say can lead to drastic reductions in recurrence of disease in women after surgery for advanced breast cancer.

The New England Journal of Medicine, which published the study, said the treatment program could save hundreds of thousands of lives. The journal called the discovery "of monumental importance."

The study was conducted by Gianni Bonadonna of the National Cancer Institute of Italy and a team of associates.

In late 1974, the U.S. National Cancer Institute reported a clinical study had found that treatment with combinations of drugs, rather than one drug, produced longer survival times in women with advanced breast cancer.

Bonadonna, at about the same time the U.S. study was reported, said that early results from his then-incomplete study indicated a decreased recurrence rate among women receiving the drug combination.

The World Health Organization has called breast cancer the leading cause of death of middle-aged women in the Western countries.

A combination of three drugs was used to treat women who, during breast surgery, were found to have cancerous lymph nodes, the journal said. The drug treatment involved a combination of cyclophosphamide, methotrexate and fluorouracil (CMF).

The researchers said an earlier use of CMF "was recently reported to produce complete as well as partial remission in about 50 per cent of patients previously untreated with chemotherapy and to be superior to melphalan on a randomized comparison."

It said the same combination, with the addition of prednisone, had been "demonstrated in an uncontrolled series to have a high order of antitumor activity."

The researchers found that cancer eventually recurred in only 5 per cent of the women who had the treatment, compared with 24 per cent of those who did not, the report said.

While expressing strong optimism about the findings, the article by Bonadonna said the study lasted only 27 months and noted that the long-term effects of the chemotherapy program are unknown.

The medical journal said in an editorial the results are "nothing short of spectacular." It said the conclusions "can be accepted with confidence."

It added, "How many hundreds of thousands of lives can be improved, or indeed saved, by application of the present information in the coming decade?"

Bonadonna said despite technical advances in the past decades and other new approaches for treating breast cancer, "the over-all cure rate has remained essentially unchanged for at least 30 years."

The researchers said they found several side effects during the therapy, including loss of hair, loss of appetite, conjunctivitis and an end to menses. But they said all were reversible in most patients except cessation of menses.

The article said the patients in the study generally tolerated the side effects well and "most working women continued to work during the entire period of chemotherapy."

Ex-student shoots, kills Beirut deans

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — A Palestinian student expelled for radical activity shot and killed two deans at the American University of Beirut today, a university spokesman announced. One of the dead men was American, the other Lebanese.

The assassin, identified as a former engineering student named Najim, held the university vice president and five other officials hostage for three hours before he surrendered to army commandos. He was shot and wounded in the shoulder by a close friend of one of his victims as the troops led him from the university administration building.

A university spokesman said Dean of Students Robert Najemy and Dean of Engineering Raymond Ghosn were slain by pistol fire at close range. Najemy, 56, was born in Worcester, Mass., into a family of Lebanese origin. Ghosn, 55, was Lebanese.

After killing Najemy outside the university cafeteria and Ghosn on the steps of the engineering building, the gunman went to the administration building looking for the university president, Samuel Kirkwood, a police spokesman said.

He did not find Kirkwood but took six hostages, including Louis Cajoleas, of New Orleans, La., head of the university extension program, and Ernest Conklin of Newton Falls, Ohio, the university comptroller, officers said.

Police said Najim threatened to blow himself and his hostages up with a hand grenade as troops and Palestinian guerrillas rushed to the campus and surrounded the administration building. He was reported armed with a pistol and two grenades.

"He made all sorts of demands. He seems a little unbalanced," said the spokesman.

At first, the spokesman said, he demanded to be taken to the Israeli-Lebanese border so he could make a suicide raid into Israel, then he asked to be turned over to Palestinian guerrillas.

As he was being led out after surrender, Najim was wounded by Joseph Cherbeka, a friend of Ghosn, who jumped out of a crowd and opened fire. Soldiers grabbed Cherbeka. Najim was taken to a hospital by Palestinian guerrilla policemen.

Najim, a Jordanian citizen of Palestinian origin, was one of more than 100 students expelled from the university in 1974 following leftist campus disturbances. In February 1975 an anonymous letter to the school threatened the life of the president, Kirkwood.

Meanwhile, the cease-fire commission continued to report progress in its efforts to enforce the truce that halted fighting in the Christian-Moslem civil war 27 days ago. All but two of 50 persons kidnaped Monday by the Kurdish Democratic party have

Approval of ambulance pact to be recommended to council

By DEBBIE PIERCE

Three Midland City Councilmen, meeting Monday afternoon with the city manager and four representatives of the Permian Basin Regional Planning Commission, agreed to recommend approval of the lease agreement for three Emergency Medical Service (EMS) ambulances by the full council next Tuesday.

The three-member council committee was appointed last Tuesday by Mayor Ernest Angelo Jr. to determine whether the city should go ahead and sign the lease agreement with PBRPC for the ambulances, buy the ambulances outright from PBRPC thereby giving up federal funds for the vehicles, or go back to using Thomas Funeral Home as the city-subsidized ambulance service.

Present at the out-of-quorum session were Councilmen Charles Tighe, Carroll Thomas and Martin Neill; City Manager James Brown; and PBRPC members Ernie Crawford, executive director, Harley Reeves, comprehensive health planner, Dean Williams, EMS director, and Andy Anderson, EMS systems engineer.

Crawford told the committee and Brown that one advantage of the city signing the agreement was it would then have control over the quality of the operation. He said that if the city were to use a private ambulance service and still remain in the EMS system, city officials must make sure the private service complies with 15 requirements spelled out in the lease in order to receive federal funds.

Funding in the program is on a 50-50 basis between the city and the federal government. This year's basic cost to the city is $29,887.85 for three ambulances and three radios.

In addition, $2,300 will be required for a hospital base station consisting of a transmitter-receiver, antenna, antenna cable and hospital radio controller.

Crawford said that, for advanced life support in the second or third year of operation, an estimated $26,813.50 will be required of the city for a telecare pack. He said the cost for personnel would change because EMS employees would receive increased pay as a result of their additional training.

Emergency Medical Technicians need about 40 hours of classroom training, and a basic EMT receives some $12,000 per year, Crawford said.

PBRPC health planner Reeves said the EMS system came about from a group of doctors who said the Permian Basin area was in need of such a system of comprehensive emergency medical care. He said the area doctors were actively cooperating and participating in the EMS system and noted that the system wouldn't work without their cooperation.

President, GOP chiefs discuss veto

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican congressional leaders are meeting with President Ford in a search for ways to overcome a massive House lineup that favors a $6.1 billion public works bill that Ford vetoed.

Democratic leaders in Congress plan to attempt to override Ford's veto Thursday. Ford scheduled a meeting today with GOP congressional leaders for a strategy session on the vote.

The House approved the bill Jan. 29 by substantially more than the two-thirds vote needed to override the veto. The 321 to 80 vote also created an almost even split among Republicans, who voted 62 for the bill, 67 against. The measure passed the Senate by voice vote.

Among other things, the bill would authorize special grants to states and local governments for public service jobs during times of high unemployment.

The measure is one of two pending jobs bills. Last week, the House narrowly approved, and sent to the Senate, a public service jobs bill that also is expected to be vetoed.

The administration argues against the measure on the ground that the economy already is improving as shown by the January jobless rate, which fell to 7.8 per cent from 8.3 per cent in December.

When Ford vetoed the public works bill, he said it was "little more than election year pork barrel" with "so many deficiencies and undesirable provisions that it would more harm than good."

As Ford was contending the bill would "do little to create jobs for the unemployed," the House Democratic leadership branded his action an example of presidential "disdain for the nation's unemployed."

Pot 'bill' gets okay

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — The message from Iowa high school students is clear: They don't want to go to jail for smoking marijuana.

Students from across the state participating in a model legislature voted 73 to 22 Monday in favor of a bill to decriminalize possession of less than two ounces of marijuana.

"We are not saying that marijuana isn't bad," said Rhonda Simmons of Bloomfield, the bill's sponsor. "We don't advocate that everybody go out and smoke it. But with the law the way it is now, we are making criminals out of people who aren't really criminals."

Student debate on the marijuana issue centered on whether the substance is harmful.

Andrew Jones of Jesup said no study has substantiated that marijuana isn't harmful.

It's less harmful than either alcohol or tobacco, insisted Miss Simmons.

But Mark Crozier of Melcher said, "I can't vote for this bill because

Trade main Kissinger breakfast topic

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger is telling Venezuelan leaders not to get their hopes up for a quick end to their nation's exclusion from U.S. trade preferences.

U.S. officials said trade was one of the major topics scheduled for a working breakfast Kissinger had today with Venezuelan President Carlos Andres Perez and other leaders.

Kissinger's message for this first stop on a six-nation Latin American tour was that he strongly supports trade preferences for Venezuela. But he said he can do no more than hope that Congress will act favorably in the near future.

Venezuela and Ecuador were excluded from the preference system in 1974 because of the oil boycott by the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC). Although both nations are members of OPEC, neither participated in the boycott, but Congress refused to exempt them from the retaliatory action.

Kissinger was to outline the main theme of his tour — hemispheric friendship — later today in a speech to a group of American and Venezuelan scholars, politicians and businessmen. He planned to stress the importance the United States places on relations with Latin America.

A senior American official told reporters on Kissinger's flight from Washington to Caracas that the secretary of state would put particular emphasis on the role of the United States as it affects the growing desire of Latin America to join with other less industrialized nations in the Third World. He said Washington realizes Latin America seeks a destiny of its own but hopes it will reflect a special relationship with the United States.

Kissinger spoke warmly on his arrival of traditional relations between the United States and Venezuela.

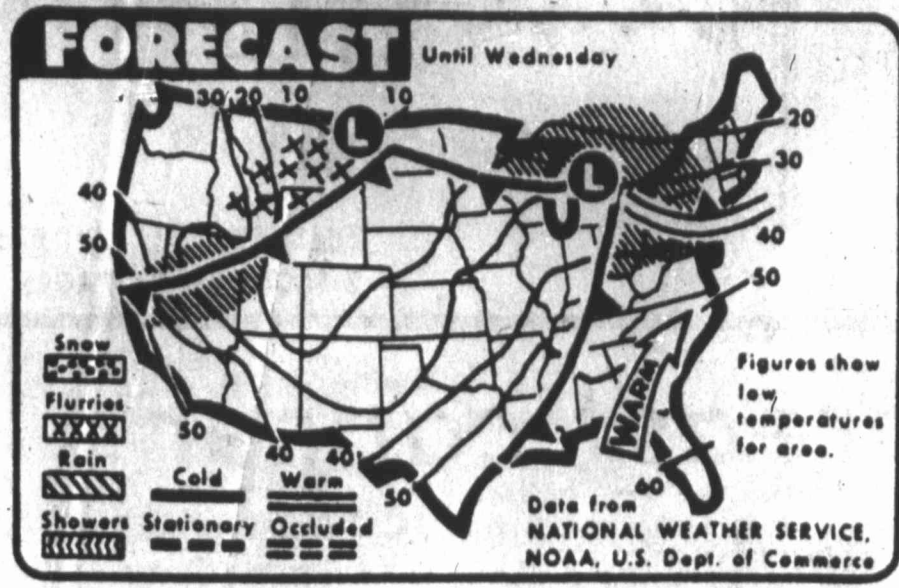

Students at the Venezuelan Central University staged two small demonstrations Monday protesting Kissinger's visit.

Heavy rains splash part of West Texas

Heavy thunderstorms doused parts of drought-plagued Texas generously today, and more rain is in prospect for some sections.

Occasional thundershowers brought light rain across the southeast half of Texas late Monday, and new storms developed elsewhere during the night and this morning.

By early today downpours falling at rates up to more than two inches per hour soaked parts of the countryside east of the Pecos River in West Texas and neighboring portions of North Central Texas.

Much of the moisture was concentrated in areas from around Mineral Wells and Stephenville in the north to Eagle Pass and Laredo on the Mexican border eastward toward Austin near the center of the state, The Associated Press reported.

Rain missed the Midland area, although it rained to the south in San Angelo.

Big Lake reported clouds and thunder overnight, but no rain. It was clear and warm there this morning. Temperatures were cool in Andrews, with scattered cloud clouds and winds reported. It was clear and cool in Crane, Midland, Stanton, Rankin, McCamey and Lamesa, where slight breezes were also reported.

Tonight should be slightly cooler, with winds from the northeast at 5-10 m.p.h., a spokesman for the National

Midlander wounded by gunshot

A Midland man was shot Monday night following an argument with two men over a pool game at GIG's Lunch Room, 211 S. Lee St., police said.

Charlie Thompson, 37, of 603 S. Clay St., is in satisfactory condition at Midland Memorial Hospital with a gunshot wound in the scalp, a hospital spokesman said.

Witness told police Thompson left the restaurant through the back door during the argument. One of the men followed him, and then a shot was fired, witnesses said.

One man is in custody in City Jail, police said. The investigation into the incident continues, police said.

Truman O'Neil dies at 55

Two zone changes win nods

Two zone change requests and a preliminary plat were all okayed by the Midland Planning and Zoning Commission Monday and will be recommended to the city council for final approval.

A request by Midland Savings and Loan Association for a zone change from single-family residential district to planned district was approved conditionally.

Jerry Cox and Jim Pugh presented the request to develop townhouses along Moss Avenue and single-family residences on the rest of the 19.5-acre property. The area is located north and west of Emerson Elementary School.

Although the request received no opposition, several conditions were placed on its approval — an agreement with landowners in the area regarding 10 additional feet in the north alley and changing the names of streets in that area, all of which are prefaced "Emerson."

The second zone change request was made by Mrs. Jesus B. Gonzales for a temporary trailer permit for her father-in-law. The commission approved the requested permit at 601 S. Jefferson St. for a two-year period with the notation that it can be renewed.

Police said they have a suspect, and are still investigating the incident.

Panel excused

The jury panel that was to report to the 142nd Judicial District Courtroom for civil jury selection at 9 a.m. Wednesday has been dismissed, District Clerk Madge Wallis said this morning, cause the defendant is ill," Mrs. Wallis said. "So they are dismissed."

District Court Judge Perry D. Pickett dismissed the panel, which numbered about 60, she said. A full civil jury panel is made up of 100 persons.

Robbins of Austin, Mrs. Iola Denver of Ruidoso, N.M., Mrs. Johnny Hardeman of Great Falls, Mont., Mrs. Carl McDaniel of Belen, N.M. and Mrs. Ed Mays of Siloam Springs, Ark.; 22 grandchildren and 28 great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Moore dies in Lubbock

SWEETWATER — Mrs. Ira Moore, 70, mother of Mrs. Richard Lenz of McCamey, died Monday morning in a Lubbock hospital.

Services will be at 10 a.m. Thursday in Evangelical Methodist Church here with burial in Garden of Memories Cemetery directed by Cate-Spencer Funeral Home.

Other survivors include her husband, two sons, two sisters, three brothers, nine grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Mitchell dead at 41

BIG SPRING — Mrs. Jo Ann Mitchell, 41, a Big Spring school teacher, died Sunday afternoon in a local hospital following a long illness.

Services were to be at 2:30 p.m. today in the First Baptist Church of Aspermont, with burial in Aspermont Cemetery directed by Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

Mrs. Mitchell was born Dec. 18, 1934, in Abilene. She attended public schools in Aspermont and received a B.S. degree from North Texas State University. She had held teaching posts in Aspermont, Jayton, Post and Elbow. She was married June 9, 1957, in Aspermont to Jerry Mitchell.

Surviving are her husband; two daughters, Jill Caroline Mitchell and Julie Ann Mitchell, both of Big Spring, and her mother, Mrs. Sally Wright of Aspermont.

Mrs. Jackson services set

Mae Ella Jones Jackson, 45, of Midland died Saturday afternoon in a Lamesa hospital.

Services will be at 2:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Lee Street Church of Christ with the Rev. L. H. Alexander officiating. Burial will be in Fairview Cemetery directed by Jackson Funeral Home.

Mrs. Jackson was born Feb. 2, 1931, in San Angelo and moved with her family to Midland in 1939. She attended the former Carver Junior-Senior High School and was an active member of the Rainbow Social Club.

Survivors include a son, Willie Ray Gray Sr. of Louisville, Ky.; her mother, Mrs. Robert Jones of Stanton; two sisters, Mrs. Ada Clay Factor of Lamesa and Mrs. Ruby Jo Wlaker of Midland; five brothers, Robert Lee Jones of Los Angeles, Calif., Charles Jones of Amarillo, Jim W. Jones of Fort Worth, Will Jones Jr. and Walter Lee Jones, both of Midland, and one grandchild.

Pallbearers will be Walker Cadd, Booker T. Chandler, Joe E. Johnson, Evan Lewis, J. B. McGowan and R. J. Morris.

Honorary pallbearers include Yancey Battie, Horace Knott, Jesse Price, James Robinson and Elijah Sanders.

Park board to convene

The Midland Parks and Recreation Commission was to meet at 4 p.m. today to discuss the proposed downtown park and a possible firm to do the design work.

The group was also to discuss a request for the city's participation in a tennis building at Lee High School. That request came up at the commission's last session, but it was assigned to commissioner Mrs. Tommie Strack for further study.

In other action, parks commissioners will:

- Hear a report on the Boy's Club of Midland Inc.'s request for additional property to expand their facility at Half Park;
- Assign more members to divisional committees;
- Discuss future appointments to the commission;
- Consider a request by the Girl Scouts for use of Wadley-Barron Park on March 12 and Elkin Park June 7-11;
- Consider a request by the Boy Scouts to use the Showmobile and Hogan Park in April, and
- Hear a progress report.

He said the eight-man commission and Palestinian guerrilla chief Yasir Arafat put strong pressure on the Kurds to free the captives, who were kidnaped in retaliation for the killing of a member of the party.

marijuana is sold by criminals and I would feel like I was voting for organized crime."

The students, chosen by educators and other local officials, voted 68 to 30 against raising the minimum legal drinking age from 18 to 19.

An Iowa house committee will consider this week a drinking age bill similar to the one rejected by the model legislature. Chairman Norman Jesse, a Des Moines Democrat, says it will be approved because of "a lot of heat from school boards" for it.

The students were personally lobbied by state Sen. William Plymat, a Republican from Des Moines, to favor the change.

"I'm not convinced high school students are as much against it as everyone assumes," said Plymat. He contends traffic deaths have risen sharply since the drinking age was cut from 21 four years ago.

up aluminum phone console made by NASA to be used in the EMS system. The group is hoping to secure three consoles from NASA — one for Big Spring, Midland and Odessa, they said. The consoles would enable EMTs to keep in touch with the emergency rooms at area hospitals so the patient can be stabilized until he arrives at the hospital.

Crawford urged the committee to sign the agreement with PBRPC, as the latter could save the city money by using the grant funds for the vehicles.

Tighe said that, from estimates by the city staff, the city should be able to recoupate some $18,000 per year of the $27,000 a year it would cost for the city to operate the service.

The committee agreed it is the city's responsibility to provide the best possible medical care for its citizens — just like police and fire department assistance, they noted.

Ants pay million to Gidney

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Some "penny anty" operation. So far, catching ants has grossed grandfather Ken Gidney $1.4 million.

Gidney's career as an ant catcher has spanned 20 years. To date, he's snared 140 million of the little creatures.

Back in 1956, Uncle Milton Industries of Culver City advertised for an ant catcher. Next morning, there was an ant-like line of applicants stretching around the block.

Gidney was first in line and got the job, a company official said. He's done so well hunting bugs to populate the company's popular plastic ant farms — about 20 per farm — that he's still the only catcher on the payroll, the official said.

Gidney got into the ant-catching business to help feed his nine children. Now the La Mirada, Calif., man has 13 grandchildren, and often, ant hunting becomes a family affair.

"Sometimes, like after a rainstorm, we have to dig real deep," said Mrs. Gidney. "Ken sends one of the boys down and later we hold down a shovel for him to climb back up."

Uncle Milton, meanwhile, has sold 7 million ant farms with the help of Gidney's plastic proboscis.

"At first I excavated and I would catch them on broom straws," he explained. "Then I found I could dig a narrow hole alongside an ant hill and place a baby food jar next to it."

He said he would blow into the hole using a plastic hose and the ants would scurry out, right into the jar.

"Before I thought of the hose I used to bend over and blow right into the hill," he said. "but I always got sand in my face."

Now he's automated his craft, Gidney said.

He uses an auto heater as a blower and the plastic hose to increase the quantity of ants.

"I hook it up to my car's battery and run it like a vacuum," he said. "Sucks 'em up by the dozen."

Another price drop predicted

By JONATHAN C. RANDAL

The Washington Post RYADH — Sheikh Ahmad Zaki Yamani, Saudi Arabian petroleum minister, Monday predicted a further Iranian oil price slash, accused Iran of undercutting producer cartel agreed prices and revealed a planned shutdown of two Saudi oilfields.

But in an interview, Yamani insisted that the effect of these measures — reflecting decreased worldwide consumption because of the recession — on the 13-nation Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC) would not be "as much as pictured in the western press."

Nonetheless, he acknowledged that the Iranian price reduction announced Sunday night marked the first time that the OPEC cartel had failed to force consumers to accept its unilaterally imposed price increases in their entirety.

Only last September, OPEC announced a 10-per cent increase for Saudi Arabian light crude — known as the marker or yardstick for pricing all other varieties of oil.

Fingering a string of beads, Yamani said Iran's decision to shave 9.5 cents from every barrel of Iranian heavy crude was "something we expected and can live with."

Moreover, he said, "even the present price of Iranian heavy crude — now $11.40 a barrel — is higher than it should be" and doubted Iran could avoid a further price reduction.

Industry sources here speculated that Iran may have to shave a further dime a barrel to sell the 740,000 barrels a day shortfall Teheran officials have mentioned recently.

Yamani accused Iraq of having "taken the lead in lowering prices" and suggested that "over the past year Iraqi price cuts had sometimes reached almost $1 a barrel."

He said the Iranian decision might spur a further Iraqi price reduction in order to maintain the Baghdad regime's competitive edge. He said the Iranian price slash would have no effect on Saudi pricing since the kingdom produces very little such heavy crude oil.

With his back to a large gold-embroidered Koranic wall inscription proclaiming, "There is only one god, Allah, a Mohammed is his prophet," Yamani announced that the Zuluf and Marjan fields

— producing the same heavy crude as Iran, "will close down very soon."

He said that the kingdom had never before voluntarily shut down an entire oilfield. The shutdown affects about half of the country's production of heavy crude oil, which itself accounts for only 5 per cent of Saudi totals.

Yamani's charges of Iraqi price cutting confirmed oil industry rumors which were denied last year by Baghdad after being published in a specialized western petroleum newsletter.

With reserves second only to Saudi Arabia's, Iraq apparently felt strong enough to brave fellow cartel members' wrath and refused to sign the Vienna agreement last September raising OPEC prices.

Yamani said, "Iraq is the only country to increase its production" and suggested Iraq was pumping "up to almost 2 million barrels a day."

Western oil industry sources suggested that that level of production constituted between 400,000 and 500,000 more barrels a day than had been true in the past.

The minister, dressed in a gold-trimmed brown gown called an abayah and a red and white checkered or headpiece, constricted Iraqi actions with his country's.

Although Saudi Arabia has the capacity to pump 12 million barrels a day — and is OPEC policy agreed not to produce more than 8.5 million barrels a day — actual output went as low as 6 million barrels a day during the fall and now stands at 7.1 million barrels a day.

But although the minister sought to portray the lowered production as a conscious Saudi policy, industry sources here said that in fact Saudi Arabia could not find buyers for any more crude in the present depressed world market.

In the past two years, because of the world economic slump and conservation measures, world consumption has dropped from 31 to 27 million barrels a day.

Yamani saw the Iranian price reduction as the logical result of OPEC's failure to reach agreement on the so-called value differentials which set the prices for various grades of crude using the high-quality Arabian Light grade as the OPEC benchmark.

Geographical location, sulphur content and the crude's lightness or heaviness all constitute factors in price setting.

His insistence that Iranian oil was overpriced reflected both technical considerations and a longstanding difference pitting the shar's constant efforts to increase prices and Saudi Arabia's countervailing determination to limit increases and avoid bankrupting the industrialized world.

For the same crude Iran now is demanding $11.40 a barrel, Kuwait is asking $11.30 and Saudi Arabia $11.31. Both Kuwait and Saudi Arabia cut these prices last fall, if anything Kuwaiti crude should fetch a slightly better price, according to oil industry sources, because it contains less sulphur.

Yamani suggested that Iran may disguise any further price reduction by extending credit terms from 90 to 90 days, a move he estimated would be equivalent to an 8 cents a barrel price reduction.

Wright is chairman of the joint House and Senate Energy Task Force and has been emphasizing that it's certain the country is running out of oil and natural gas.

"It is a problem that will grow inexorably more binding and inexorably more difficult as time goes on," Wright said. Solutions and alternatives will be costly. They "will bite," he said.

The nation's known oil reserves have been cut in half since the 1930s and there are only six or so more years left, Wright said.

Natural gas reserves are estimated to last another 11 years, he said.

Wright suggested one important and promising alternative to oil and natural gas is coal.

"We have enough coal in the United States to last for several hundred years," he said. "We could be the Middle East of the world in coal."

Wright says public slow in reacting

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Rep. Jim Wright, D-Tex., says many congressmen have "sold their constituents short" in thinking that they would not back energy-saving legislation.

Wright said Monday at an energy seminar he believes citizens will do what is necessary when they know the scope of the problem, but the public has been very slow to react to the situation.

In the past Americans have been able to "rock along fat, dumb and happy until a crisis gets us by the throat...but that won't work in this energy problem" any longer, he said.

Wright said dwindling energy resources is "the most important long-range problem confronting the United States and perhaps the world."

"I don't think we've done nearly enough and I'm not really proud of the Congress' record in energy," he said. Congress has done some things, but not as soon as it should have, he said.

"People are slowly awakening to it."

Wright is chairman of the joint House and Senate Energy Task Force and has been emphasizing that it's certain the country is running out of oil and natural gas.

Concho test completes

The Hartgrove pool of Northeast Concho County gained a ½-mile southwest extension to Tannehill gas production with completion of Fisher-Webb, Tnc, and Dixon Oil Co., Abilene, No. 1-1867½ HS&N Ranch.

The calculated, absolute open flow gauge was 1,395 million cubic feet of dry gas per day, producing through over-all perforations at 1,056-1,246 feet, after acidizing the pay with 1,000 gallons.

It was drilled to 2,417 feet, and plugged back to 1,399 feet, in 4½-inch production string cemented at 1,435 feet.

Wellsite is 660 feet from north and east lines of section 1867½, block 71, J. Reeves survey, abstract 602, three miles north of Millersview.

Three Gulf employees mark anniversaries

L. E. Weeks Jr., production superintendent in the Monahans Area of the Midland Production District of Gulf Energy and Minerals Co.-U.S., has completed 35 years with the company, today marking that anniversary date.

His career with Gulf began at Wickett where he was employed as a roustabout. He worked in various field operations throughout his tenure in the Wickett-Monahans vicinity. He has worked as roustabout foreman and maintenance foreman in addition to his present assignment.

E. E. Moore, senior accounting clerk in the Gas Accounting Unit of the Midland Production District, marked his 25th year with the company Feb. 5. He joined Gulf in 1951 as a helper in the geophysical department at Pecos. He also worked as junior assistant geophysicist at Pecos, Monahans and Pampa. He was promoted to clerk and transferred to Hobbs, N. M., 1957. He became senior clerk in 1959 and was transferred to the Crane Area. He then worked at New Orleans and Roswell before coming to Midland in 1971.

R. L. Smith is a new 20-year man with Gulf. He joined the company Feb. 1, 1956 in the Tulsa Division as an engineer trainee. He was transferred to the Midland District in 1956 and has worked in various production operations in several areas. Currently he is area engineer in the Odessa Area of the Midland Production District. He is a resident of Midland.

T. E. Byrne has been promoted to regional sales manager for Daniel Industries, Inc., in charge of the Southwest Region with headquarters in Midland.

Byrne joined Daniel as a sales representative in 1969 and has worked the West Texas East New Mexico area.

The announcement of Byrne's promotion was made by Claude E. Sams, sales manager for the concern.

WT sectors get ventures

Exploration has been scheduled in Andrews and Mitchell counties.

William E. Hendon Jr., Midland, will reenter and plug back to 9,000 feet as a wildcat at No. 3-31 University, former Conrad well in the Emma field of Andrews County, 14 miles southwest of Andrews townsite.

It was originally a deep oiler, which was recompleted by Hendon in January, 1974, from the Connell at 12,246-12,260 feet.

Location is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 31, block 9, ULS. MITCHELL TESTER

Drillsite is 1,980 feet from northwest and 660 feet from southwest lines of section 2, block 16, SPRR survey, 15½ miles south of Colorado City, and ¼ mile southeast of a 7,429-foot failure.

Frank W. Cole Engineering of Dallas has amended location for No. 1 J. H. Nall Trustee, scheduled 7,200-foot wildcat in Mitchell, 12 miles southeast of Colorado City.

New location is 1,980 feet from north and 3,520 feet from west lines of section 26, block 12, H&TC survey, ¼ mile southwest of the originally scheduled location in section 25.

indicated production in a second zone, the Jennings, with the recovery of oil on a drillstem test.

Tool was open an unreported time on the test taken from 4,699-4,718 feet, which yielded 4,020 feet of free 40-gravity oil and 180 feet of oil- and gas-cut mud from the drillpipe. It also flowed gas at the rate of 40,000 cubic feet per day.

Production was indicated in the Goen with the reversing out of 2,225 feet of free oil on a test from 4,453-4,516 feet.

Operator has set 4½-inch casing at 4,880 feet, total depth, and was preparing to perforate opposite the Jennings and test.

It is 467 feet from north and 1,500 feet from west lines of section 3, John L. Lynch survey 442, 2½ miles south of Wilmetts.

Producers are finalized

Field extensions have been completed in Loving and Sterling counties.

Forest Oil Co. has completed No. 1-R Cutthroat as a ¼-mile east and northwest extension to Fusselman production in the Vermejo field of Loving, four miles southeast of Montone.

Calculated, absolute open flow was for 64 million cubic feet of dry gas per day, producing from perforated section at 18,749-18,887 feet. The pay had been acidized with 11,000 gallons. Drilled to 21,300 feet, a 5-inch liner was hung from 14,988 feet to the bottom. Plugged-back depth is 19,009 feet.

Location is 664 feet from southwest and 1,325 feet from southeast lines of section 57, block 1, W&NW survey, four miles southeast of Mentone.

STERLING WELLS Texaco Inc. has completed two Cisco wells in the Conger field of Sterling County, about 11 miles southwest of Sterling City.

No. 1-D Sterling Fee, a ¾-mile northwest extension, finalized to flow 61 barrels of 45-gravity oil and three barrels of water daily, with gas-oil ratio measuring 4,328-1.

Production was through a 20-64-inch choke and perforations at 7,461-7,580 feet, which had been acidized with 2,000 gallons and fractured with 16,000 gallons and 24,000 pounds.

It is 1,403 feet from south and 1,501 feet from east lines of section 17, block 31, T-S-S, T&P survey.

No. 1-E Sterling Fee, 1¼ mile north-west of No. 1-D, gauged a 24-hour flowing potential of 118 barrels of 40-gravity oil, along with 19 barrels of water. Gas-oil ratio was 2,822-1.

Production was through a 26-64-inch choke and perforations at 7,582-7,778 feet, after acidizing with 2,200 gallons and fracturing with 33,000 gallons and 33,000 pounds.

Wellsite is 1,280 feet from south and 1,516 feet from east lines of section 13, block 31, T-S-S, T&P survey.

Graduate Center schedules classes

Course titles are "Production Engineering for Nonengineers," "An Introduction to Exploration Economics" and "Sand Facies — Modern and Ancient."

The exploration economics course is scheduled to meet from 7 to 10 p.m. Wednesday and from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. Thursday for a total of nine hours' instruction. Meeting place will be in the basement of Ghils Tower East, 119 N. Colorado St.

Robert E. Megill will instruct the course. He is coordinator of planning and analysis for headquarters exploration, Exxon Co., USA, in Houston.

The AAPG (American Association of Petroleum Geologists) continuing education course is offered in cooperation with the West Texas Geological Society. Class fee is $60 plus textbook.

Scheduled to begin Feb. 23 is "Production Engineering for Nonengineers." It will meet from 7 to 10 p.m. Mondays for six weeks in the same classroom location. Fee is $125.

The team-taught course, coordinated by Randy McClay of Chevron Oil Co., is designed for independents, geologists, technicians and others who need a better understanding of production engineering.

The course outline includes the topics of drilling, mud engineering, drill string design and directional control, cementing, well-site geology and completion.

"Sand Facies — Modern and Ancient" is slated for Wednesday and Thursday, March 10 and 11. Classes will be held from 7 to 10 p.m. the first day and from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. and again from 7 to 10 p.m. on the second day. Students will meet in the auditorium of the Permian Basin Petroleum Museum, Library and Hall of Fame, located at 1500 Interstate 20 West. Fee is $60.

A comparative analysis of modern and ancient sandstone facies will be presented in the class, with an emphasis on processes, characteristics and distribution. Emphasis also will be given to an integrated approach to the interpretation of terrigenous clastics.

Dr. Alan J. Scott, professor in the Department of Geological Sciences at The University of Texas, will instruct the course.

Brown now in new post

NEW YORK — G. Reynolds Brown, a former district petroleum engineer in Midland, Tex., for Texaco Inc., has been named manager of Texaco Overseas (Nigeria) Petroleum Co., a wholly-owned subsidiary of Texaco.

He will be headquartered at Lagos, Nigeria.

Brown, a graduate of Colorado City, Tex., High School, was in Midland from 1949 to 1952.

He was named division petroleum engineer at Fort Worth in 1952, and in 1958 he was appointed staff petroleum engineer at New York. He was named assistant manager of Texaco Exploration Canada, Ltd., in 1959, and became assistant to the producing division manager of Texaco in 1963 at Tulsa, Okla.

Rebels entertain Abilene

BY BOB DILLON
Midland Lee, defending District 5-4A champions in basketball for the past two seasons, face their most important game tonight when the Rebels entertain the tall and talented Abilene Eagles.

Hills or Haltom in a best-of-three series sometime next week. Both Richland Hills and Haltom stand 5-2 in the South Zone of the league.
Joining Miller in the lineup tonight against the Eagles will be 6-5 Steve Reiter; 6-1 Brent Huckabay; 5-9 Robin Todd and 6-1 Roy Lee Smith.

Baxter and Little will be joined by Willie Stephens or Andre Hickman, a 6-6 senior along with Eddie Forkey, 6-1 and Steve Thomas.

Abilene brings a 25-5 season record into the game compared to Lee's 19-10 record while Midland sports a 14-18 season record and 2-3 loop mark. Cooper, meanwhile, is 16-15 and of course, 4-1.

Prize Aggie freshmen are declared ineligible

DALLAS (AP) — Texas A&M has officially appealed to the Southwest Conference a ruling by league faculty representatives that two of the Aggies top freshmen basketball players are ineligible for the rest of the season.

Texas A&M faculty representative Charles Samson Jr. served notice of the formal appeal late Monday afternoon, just hours after the Southwest Conference office in Dallas announced that players Karl Godine and Jarvis Williams had been declared ineligible.

There is the possibility that the two players could go to state district court for relief. Southern Methodist University football player Mike Smith was declared ineligible by the National Collegiate Athletic Association last season but still played several games after a state court in Dallas issued a temporary restraining order against the NCAA.

The faculty representatives took the action following a meeting Sunday at the Dallas-Fort Worth Regional Airport.

Southwest Conference officials would not say much beyond their brief statement and left open the question of whether Texas A&M, currently the conference leader, would have to forfeit any of its previous games. The Southwest Conference then goes into a playoff tournament to determine who goes on to postseason play but the league champion draws a bye until the tournament championship game.

The Dallas Times Herald quoted an Aggie player as saying Coach Shelby Metcalf had informed the team that no games would be forfeited.

Southwest President Dr. Kenneth Herrick, the faculty representative from Texas Christian, used the phrase "pending further clarification" in his announcement of the ineligibility.

Herrick reached at his home Monday night, would not expand on his earlier statement or to say, "We realize that we had to put it out because we figured someone would notice they weren't in uniform for the game with Houston (Tuesday night)."

Godine and Williams were both recruited from Houston Kashmere. Although no officials were speaking publicly, there was some speculation that recruiting violations are involved. One league official did say that no criminal acts are involved.
The Times Herald also said Godine and Williams had taken lie detector tests at the request of Southwest Conference investigators.

Godine confirmed his suspension to reporters but said he didn't want to talk about it.

The 6-foot-2 guard has averaged 13 points and 2.7 rebounds per game this season as the Aggies built a 10-2 conference mark. Williams, a 6-foot-6 forward, has averaged 7.7 points and 5.4 rebounds per game.

One conference official did say the conference was not pressured into acting swiftly and added: "When a serious matter like this confronts the conference we feel it's best to make an immediate move rather than wait."

Aggie scoring star Sonny Parker said his team would be forced into a new strategy without Godine and Williams, possibly having to go to a zone instead of man-to-man, in its remaining four games.

Midland College celebrates with 80-74 win over Bulldogs

BY TED BATTLES

Midland College broke out of a 37-37 halftime tie to seize a 45-37 lead early in the second half and never trailed in defeating Clarendon College on Green and Gold Night at Midland College gym Monday night.

That sounds like laughter, doesn't it? But the Chaparrals never took an easy breath until 5-9 Scott Stamp converted a couple of free throws with 14 seconds left to give the Chaps a six point lead and an 80-74 Western Junior College Conference victory.

The green and gold theme proved a huge success, so much so that Clarendon showed up wearing the colors, and then seemed on the verge of almost making off with the game.

WHILE THE Bulldogs from the Panhandle never led in the last half, they twice closed Midland's lead to one point and kept the pressure on the Chaparrals all the way.

In fact, Clarendon led most of the first half and the Chaps didn't catch up until the final 1:42 as Coach Chester Story kept players streaming in and out of the lineup.

"It was just trying to find someone who wanted to play," Story said. "I could tell by the way we were warming up we weren't ready to play and that's been one of the few times that has happened this year."

It was Stamp who came off the bench and made things happen, scoring 13 of his 18 points in the last half and keeping the offense moving.

FOR A while it appeared Terry Blanks might shoot the Chaparrals right out of the tub as he staged a 28-point performance. The 6-3 postman from Kansas City, who is built like a football fullback, but leaps like Bill Russell, kept the Bulldogs alive in the second half after Midland took that 45-37 lead on baskets by Jeff Jackson, Stamp, 6-8 Dan Vanderzee and Rick Daniel.

Even with Blanks' efforts, the Bulldogs trailed 64-53 midway through the final half.

CLARENDON (7): Terry Blanks 13-24-28, Charles Quisenberry 6-2-14, Randy Merkey 6-2-14, Larry Murky 1-2-4, Mike Winkle 1-0-2-2, Anthony Morris 6-0-12. Totals: 33-8-19-74.
MIDLAND COLLEGE (8): Tommy Park 7-5-12, Rick Daniel 6-6-12, Dan Vanderzee 2-5-4, Pace 3-0-4, Crawford Williams 0-0-0, Sim Nickerson 5-1-2-11, Jeff Jackson 4-0-8, Scott Stamp 6-2-18, Ken Adams 0-0-0. Totals: 33-14-18-80. Halftime: MC 37, CC 37. Fouled out: Quisenberry, Norris, Vanderzee.

"When we finally did shut off Blanks inside, Charles Quisenberry and Randy Merkey kept hitting from outside," Story noted.

That's about what happened as the Bulldogs reeled off 10 straight points to trail 64-63. A three-point play by Sim Nickerson and Tommy Parks' free throw took the heatoff, but not for long.

Quisenberry hit two outsiders and it was down to one point, 68-67, again with 7:42 to go. Nickerson from the circle and Jackson Pace an eight-footer made it 72-67 in favor of the Chaps.

Merkey hit for Clarendon and Parks deflected a pass and Stamp scooped it up and soloed for the layup to increase MC's lead to five with 4:15 left.

Quisenberry and Parks swapped baskets and then Blanks hit a three-point play with 1:29 left and it was 76-74. Parks passed to Nickerson driving for the hoop to give the Chaps four-point breathing room with 43 seconds left and Stamp finally stowed it away.

Parks led MC with 19 points on seven of 17 from the field while Stamp's 18 came on six of seven from the floor and the same at the line.

RICK DANIEL crashed double figures with 12 and Nickerson scored 11. Six-six Jeff Jackson came up with eight rebounds, seven in the last half and several crucial caroms in the final moments.

Blanks scored 17 of his 28 in the final half and his 10 rebounds were high for the game. Quisenberry and Merkey each had 14 points and Anthony Norris, a six-footer from Philadelphia, scored 12 and could have been trouble if he hadn't gotten into foul trouble early in the game.

The win gives MC a 7-8 WJCC record going into Thursday's game at South Plains and leaves the Bulldogs at 2-13. For the season, the Chaps are 17-10 with three games to go.

Lee knocked Odessa Permian from the unbeaten ranks in the second half of the torrid 5-4A race last Friday, to stay in contention, but must win tonight. It won't be any easy task since the Warbirds won the first half with a perfect 7-0 mark.

In the second half, Abilene has posted a 2-3 record, but still is in the playoff for the overall title, so the Key City team will be trying to get back on the winning track at the expense of Coach Paul Stueckler's Rebs.

While Abilene and Lee are squaring off, Midland meets Abilene Cooper in Abilene. Cooper, Lee and Permian, all share first place with 4-1 records, so that also is a big game. Permian, meanwhile, faces San Angelo in San Angelo and the Bobcats have not lost a game on their home court this year and Mojo had to beat Central the first time around in overtime in Odessa.

Arnold McDowell, Central's great shooter, continues to lead the scoring race in 5-4A with 285 points in 12 games for an average of 23.7 per loop game.

Next comes Abilene's Derrell Baxter, 6-8 senior center with 267 points and an average of 22.3. Lee's Junior Miller is scoring at a 19.7 clip in league play and the 6-6 senior destroyed Permian Friday with 27 points.

Mike Little, Abilene's great outside shooting guard, follows with a 17.5 average, but the senior missed the bus for the San Angelo game Friday and it hurt since the Bobcats won, 46-41.

Permian's James Hunter has 214 points and a 17.8 average for the Panthers who must try and find a way to stop McDowell.

The winner of 5-4A faces the District 6-4A champion in bi-district play. District 6-4A is split into two zones, the North and South. Wichita Falls High won the North Zone with a 6-0 mark and will face either Richland

Western Texas takes victory in WJCC play

In other WJCC action, Odessa College surprised New Mexico Junior College, 94-91.

Western is now 23-4 on the season under Coach Mike Mitchell and 12-3 in conference play, to stay two games ahead of Amarillo College and NMJC with 10-5 records.

Howard College upended Amarillo, 91-85, Monday while Frank Phillips of Borger, surprised New Mexico Military Institute, 83-70.

Lawrence Buther poured in 27 points to lead Western to its victory while Tyrone Clopton added 15 and Larry Orton 14. Henry Taylor, former Hobbs, N.M. star, tallied 21 for the Texans.

Lamesa names Bonds new football coach

LAMESA—Lamesa school trustees have named David Bonds, 33, as head football coach for the Lamesa Golden Tornadoes, effective March 1.

Bonds, head coach at Hamlin for the past four years, has compiled a 30-12-1 record with three district championships and one bi-district crown.

Bonds received a two-year contract at $15,370 a year. He was selected after a field of 50 had been narrowed to four choices. Other top candidates were Bernie Hagins, Lockhart; Houston Powell; Roosevelt; and Pete Hurst, Cooper. Bonds is a graduate of Hamlin High School. He played football at Texas A&M and McMurry College, where he was named All-Texas College Defensive Back in 1966.

Bonds was also the NAIA national 440 hurdles champion in 1965. Bonds was with the Kansas City Chiefs for two years, 1967-68, before entering coaching. He was an assistant in Ballinger, McCamey and Alice before becoming the head coach at AA Hamlin.

Aggie cops SWC honor

DALLAS (AP) — Sonny Parker, Texas A&M's indispensable senior forward, has been named Southwest Conference basketball Player of the Week, the conference headquarters announced Monday.

Parker helped the Aggies remain atop the SWC title chase as he pumped in 24 points in a losing effort to Southern Methodist, then answered with another 24 points in the Aggies' important victory Saturday over second-place Texas Tech.

Indiana takes 32nd straight Big 10 contest

By The Associated Press

Indiana, the college basketball team with 51 varieties of successful recipes, found a 52nd against Purdue.

—Start with a red-hot Boilermaker, add an 11-point first-half deficit for flavor, then throw in your surprise ingredient: a bench with very little seasoning.

—Place ingredients in a pressure cooker.

—At halftime, put the Boilermaker in a dressing room and let it cool for 15 minutes. Serve with some hot shooting of your own in the second half.

Hoosiers' Coach Bobby Knight, master chef of a 32-game Big Ten winning string, used the concoction to advantage Monday night when Scott May and Quinn Buckner got into early foul trouble and top-ranked Indiana was looking up from a 27-16 score.

Knight called on four reserves, who brought the Hoosiers within two points late in the opening period.

The victory was the 52nd straight in regular season play for the Hoosiers, 22-0 this season and 13-0 in the conference. Purdue dropped to 8-5 in Big Ten play, 13-9 over-all.

Seven other Top Twenty teams played Monday night. No. 2 Marquette clubbed Tulane 75-63; eighth-ranked Notre Dame bopped Butler 92-79; Auburn upset ninth-rated Tennessee 73-72 in overtime; No. 10 Alabama topped Mississippi 78-70; Michigan, ranked 15th, blasted Eastern Michigan 94-76; No. 16 St. John's, N.Y., trimmed Seton Hall 68-63, and DePaul surprised No. 18 Virginia Tech 73-65.

Marquette, 20-1, ran its winning streak to 10 games behind 23 points by Earl Tatum. The Warriors have won at least 20 games in each of their last 10 seasons.

Notre Dame was paced by Adrian Dantley's 27 points, although Butler's Wayne Burris led all scorers with 30.

Leon Douglas scored 35 points to help Alabama take the Southeastern Conference lead—thanks to Auburn's victory. Rickey Green scored 25 points and Phil Hubbard 24 as Michigan pounded Eastern Michigan for the 30th time in a row.

Freshman cager collapses, dies

JACKSON, Tenn. (AP) — The family of a Union University basketball player who died during a scrimmage has requested that no autopsy be held, college officials said.

Aaron Boddie was declared dead Monday afternoon shortly after he was rushed to a hospital, Coach Jim Swope said.

Officials called off Union's scheduled game tonight against the University of Tennessee-Martin. Swope said it is likely a Thursday night game against Delta State at Cleveland, Miss., would also be cancelled.

Boddie, a freshman from Florence, Ala., transferred to Union from Alabama A&M and had been in school since January. He had not participated in any games.

"I really didn't see what happened," Swope said. "We were scrimmaging and the players said Boddie just suddenly clutched his chest and fell to the floor."

"We called an ambulance immediately and he was rushed to the hospital but never regained consciousness."

Union's next scheduled game, after the two this week, is against Southwestern on Feb. 26 at Jackson.

Lockheed may lose giant Canadian order

By The Associated Press
The Lockheed Aircraft Corp. is threatened with the loss of a $950-million Canadian order in addition to the $1.3-billion order Japan is reported to have canceled.

Canadian Defense Minister James Richardson said Monday that his government may call off plans to buy Orion patrol planes from the embattled American corporation unless the firm can overcome its financial troubles.

Richardson met with top Lockheed officials and said the company's new board chairman, Robert Haack, assured him a new financing arrangement could be expected later this year. But "the difficulty has not been resolved," Richardson said.

U.S. Comptroller General Elmer B. Staats told Congress last week that Lockheed's estimated profits for the next three years are not sufficient to repay all of the $250 million in loans which the Nixon administration got Congress to guarantee in 1971.

Following Staats' report, Treasury Secretary William E. Simon said the company was revising its profit projections and that the new figures would likely give a more favorable picture.

But the next day the New York Times reported that the Japanese government had canceled plans to buy 100 Orion planes because of Lockheed's admission that it paid $12.6 million to Japanese intermediaries to get orders in Japan.

Canadian officials said their government's decision to buy the Lockheed planes depends partly on whether Japan buys them. They explained that the Canadian aircraft industry expects to get subcontracts as a result of the Japanese order that would total nearly as much as the government would pay for the Orions.

The Japanese parliament's investigation into the alleged payoffs in Japan continued for the second day today with denials from four officials of the aircraft company's Japanese agent that they handled or knew about any payoffs.

Hiro Hiyama, chairman of the Marubeni Corp., and three of his officials testified under oath that the payments they got from Lockheed were legitimate fees for services rendered as sales agents.

Hiyama also denied the testimony of former Lockheed president A.C. Kotchian to a U.S. Senate subcommittee that Hiyama suggested to Kot-chian that Lockheed pay off Japanese officials to promote sales.

Hiyama said he was considering legal action against Kotchian for making a "false remark." Millionaire Kenji Osano, the key witness Monday at the hearing, also threatened legal action against Kotchian.

Sen. Frank Church, whose subcommittee investigating multinational firms uncovered the Lockheed payoffs, told a news conference in London the U.S. Justice Department may be asked to look into the possibility of perjury charges against Lockheed officials who have given conflicting information about alleged bribes in West Germany.

"We don't know who's been telling the truth," the Idaho Democrat said.

BRIDGE Scientific bridge has its advantages

The rough-and-ready bridge player is often the salt of the earth. "I don't hold with this scientific folderol," he will tell you. "I play bridge by the seat of my pants." How easily we are led astray by our pants.

play immediately, because even his pants could tell there was a problem.

West eventually decided to lead the king of clubs, but now the defenders were limited to three clubs and the ace of hearts.

West didn't have to be a great scientist to find the right answer to his problem. If East has four or more clubs he returns his original fourth-highest card; otherwise he returns his highest club. The seven of clubs cannot be a fourth suit so must be highest from an original holding of A-7-6 or A-7-3, or possibly just the doubleton A-7.

BEST CHANCE
The best chance is to play East for one more club and a high card that will gain him the lead. West should switch to a diamond and hope for the best. The defenders would then get one heart and four clubs.

No sensible bridge player despises the seat of the pants. It would be a nuisance to play bridge standing up. But it's wise to remember that heads also were given to us for a reason.

DAILY QUESTION
As dealer, you hold: S-QJ95; H-QJ92; D-AQ9; C-82. What do you say?
ANSWER: Pass. You have 12 points in high cards and 1 point for the doubleton, but this is not a good 13-point opening bid. Beware of opening a borderline hand with only one of the eight aces and kings.

Civil Service probes alleged hiring abuses

WASHINGTON (AP) — During the eight months he was trying to find work with the General Services Administration, the applicant was told repeatedly that no openings existed.

But the man was hired within weeks after a congressman wrote to the head of the agency.

The personnel file of another individual at the GSA contained an evaluation that she had no chance of being promoted to the next highest Civil Service grade and that she was performing below standards for her current rating.

Both cases represent the kind of episodes now being studied by a special U.S. Civil Service Commission investigator looking for evidence of hiring abuses.

These government workers are among the dozens who an earlier investigator discovered had been referred for government jobs with the GSA by congressmen and senators and whose files show special handling by GSA personnel officers.

The previous investigator, Ben Joseph, then was a lawyer for the U.S. Civil Service Commission and now is a special prosecutor for the Pennsylvania Justice Department.

It is within the law for congressmen and senators to write references for their constituents who apply for government jobs. However, the law requires government officials to base their hiring and promotion decisions solely on the basis of merit.

When Joseph's findings were not acted on after his superiors determined there was no "basis on which to make a case," he quit.

But now the 1973 Joseph investigation has been dusted off for one more look. The new probe is headed by Milton I. Sharon, a retired Philadelphia regional director for the Civil Service Commission. His report may be completed sometime next month, a spokesman for the commission says.

Ford's plan could hurt small cities

AUSTIN — A proposal by President Ford to end the FBI's free training of local police officers will have little effect on the Texas Department of Public Safety, Col. Wilson E. Speir, said.

But it could have an effect on some of the smaller police departments in the state that have limited budgets.

The administration's plan would charge local departments $2,350 per officer for the 11-week course at the FBI Academy at Quantico, Va.

Many police chiefs value the school as a place where officers can hone special skills and build contacts with federal crime experts.

But Speir noted that the DPS has "excellent academy" and that there are a number of other fine law enforcement programs being offered around the nation.

He cited as examples the Southern Police Institute in Louisville, Ky., and Northwestern University.

Speir said the DPS sends an average of two or three criminal investigation officers to the FBI Academy each year, and the cost would not be prohibitive to the state.

The same holds true, Speir said, for the police departments in the state's larger cities.

"However it could hurt some of the smaller departments," he said.

Jury indicts former Zale treasurer

DALLAS (AP) — Sol Shern Rovinsky, treasurer for Zale Corp. until his recent dismissal, has been indicted on one count of theft over $10,000.

The specialized crime division of the Dallas County district attorney's office sought the indictment, returned Monday by a Dallas County grand jury.

Zale officials say that an internal investigation of its financial records last week revealed that at least $543,000 but not more than $1 million in company funds had been misappropriated since 1972.

Donald Zale, president of Zale Corp., said Monday that the corporation and some of its subsidiaries may have understated their federal tax liability for a number of years but it is thought that such additional liability would not exceed $4 million.

Zale said the Internal Revenue Service has been advised of possible underpayments of tax.

Police said an arrest warrant was scheduled to be served on Rovinsky Wednesday or Thursday but Rovinsky may surrender before then.

Rovinsky, 43, has been unavailable for comment since his dismissal Feb. 6.

The district attorney's office said it had examined reports of Rovinsky's alleged gambling activity in connection with the misappropriated funds.

The theft charge is a second degree felony and carries a maximum penalty of two to 20 years in prison and a maximum fine of $10,000.

Guatemalan recalls night of terror, death

By KERNAN TURNER
CHIMALTENANGO, Guatemala (AP) — The whole world shook; his ears filled with the din of houses falling and people screaming. Juan Rumpich Chay, 37, held tight to his wife Juana in their tiny adobe bedroom beside the corn crib in their home in this village 20 miles northwest of Guatemala City.

The children huddled on the mats. "I prayed in the dark, eyes wide open, that God would stop this awful punishment," Juan recalled later.

It was 3 a.m. Wednesday, Feb. 4. At that moment the earth shifted along the Caribbean fault, dealing death and destruction to much of Guatemala and shaking a region from Mexico through Guatemala and into Honduras and El Salvador.

In an instant, thousands upon thousands of Guatemalans died. No one knows yet exactly how many, but the official estimate of the dead approached 22,000 last week. An estimated 62,000 persons were reported injured and more than 200,000 homes collapsed or were damaged beyond repair, leaving an estimate one million homeless.

"I ran to the door and it was blocked," Juan said. "The earth shook violently for a full minute before I could open the door, using all the strength of my body. My father was crying for help down the corridor, past the kitchen. I ran to his room, crawling and climbing over the debris that had been my home."

Juan found his father. One of his feet was buried under mud bricks where his bed had been; the other was on the floor of the now roofless room.

Juan tried to find help. But so many other neighbors were shouting, dogs barking, cows bellowing that he could not make himself heard. He worked furiously in the dark, pulling asphalt roof tiles and mud bricks off his father.

"It took nearly half an hour to free him. His leg was broken," Juan said. Then Juan rushed to the rubble of his mother's room next to his father's. It took the help of a neighbor and a half-hour to find her broken body at the bottom of a three-foot pile of debris. Her body was bent double by the terrible weight, her head bowed between her knees, as in prayer.

So ended the first hour of punishment. Juan's town lost more than 3,000 lives at least count. About 10,000 died in the department (state) of Chimaltenango, population 195,000, a region west and northwest of Guatemala City. This was where the quake's full fury hit. Whole villages were leveled, their rooftops resting on flattened buildings. Houses crumbled all across the countryside, at Indian villages with ancient names such as Tecpan, Patzicia, Putzal, Zupangon Joyabaj, San Martin Jilotepeque and dozens of others.

Guatemala City was not as badly hit, although the damage and casualties were high in the working class neighborhoods, where houses fell, water lines were broken and electricity was cut off for several days. Most of the central business district was open for business a while later.

When the first aircraft flew over the rugged mountains and canyons of the western region, following the quake, it was clear that much of Guatemala had been destroyed on that first day, Feb. 4.

Juan gathered his family in the courtyard. He and the others, his four children, a sister and her child, held each other in a tight group, in the dark, dusty hours until dawn.

"We stayed there because the earth still shook strongly. My throat was bitter," he said. "We expected another earthquake. We tried to talk to God because we knew he was punishing us, not just us but everyone. Because everything comes from God, the good and the bad."

At dawn Juan hitched a chair to his back and loaded his father into it. Straining against a rope hooked to the chair and wrapped around his head, he walked to the hospital. Others were arriving with similar burdens.

His brother Jose went to the police station to see what to do with the body lying in the courtyard. Later that afternoon they built a crude coffin from the splintered wood of their house and buried Juan's 55-year-old mother in the town cemetery, alone, without a priest.

"That night about 8 o'clock they buried hundreds of others in a common grave," he said. The family went to bed with empty stomachs that night, trying to sleep on the ground beside the livestock.

"We hadn't eaten because we were not hungry. I lay next to my wife and some of the children and asked God not to touch our land again. I couldn't sleep," Juan said.

The next day, Thursday, Feb. 5, Juan built a sleeping shelter in the courtyard out of sheet metal, matting, burlap sacks, pieces of boards and topped it with a cornstalk roof.

"I will never again build another house of adobe brick," he said. By Friday Feb. 6, the rest of the world began to realize that damage outside Guatemala City was more extensive than at first believed.

Juan went out in the morning to look for wood and saw his shattered village. "Everyone had similar problems and we had to make do by ourselves," he said.

The strongest aftershock — there had been hundreds of them since that Wednesday — hit Friday afternoon. Juan and his family again clung to each other in the yard, wondering when it would all end.

The women washed clothes at the community washroom Saturday, Feb. 7. On Sunday, Feb. 8, Juan took the livestock to the nearby hills to graze.

They didn't even try to go to Mass Sunday. The main church in the central plaza, built in the 1500s when the Spanish priests first came to Guatemala, was destroyed. Later the faithful removed a glass crib containing an effigy of Christ wrapped in a velvet robe and wearing a crown of thorns. They would place it and some pews beside the plaza.

Juan's wife went to the plaza Monday, Feb. 9, and firemen gave her some food. One tamale and three small rolls for the entire family.

Juan estimates he has enough food to last the rest of the month, mostly dried corn, black beans and some mashed avocados. No fruit or vegetables.

"We don't have any money," he said. "I had been working in Guatemala City at a soap factory but lost that job two months ago."

He continued to clear the debris, hurrying to build a new home of splintered wood beams and cornstalks before the spring rains begin, usually about May 15.

He hopes to earn money by hiring out as a carpenter to help reconstruct the town.

"My friends are helping me now and I'll help them when we get the yard clean. Then, when the house is done, I'll try to look for work. Maybe I can get a job at a clothing factory in Guatemala City."

By Tuesday, Feb. 10, a relief operation coordinated by the National Emergency Committee was in full swing. Many governments sent aid, including the United States. Huge American helicopters delivered food, water and medical supplies throughout the stricken area. Water purification experts surveyed the country.

The U.S. Army had set up a completely equipped hospital near Chimaltenango. Juan doesn't know where they took his father.

Many people waited in line at the public cemetery. Some relatives helped dig the graves or placed their dead in small crypts honeycombed in 300-yard-long walls.

Flights from all over the world have come and gone from the international airport in Guatemala City, sharing the landing strip with military craft bringing aid to the stricken country.

Many of the churches throughout the city are severely damaged. While helicopters flutter overhead and long lines of more desperately affected Guatemalans gather at key distribution centers in the countryside, Juan and his family stoically accept the wrath of God and bend their backs to the task ahead.

Supervisor charged in major mail heist

BOSTON (AP) — A Post Office supervisor arrested after authorities found $27 million in negotiable securities at his home faced arraignment in Chelsea District Court today.

Pasquale Luzzo was charged on Monday with receiving stolen property and released later on $50,000 bail.

Federal, state and local authorities said more arrests are expected in the case. Asst. Dist. Atty. John Gaffney said recovery of the securities smashed the operations "of an organized group which has been negotiating these illegal bonds and notes throughout the country."

Recovered were $25 million in notes belonging to Avco Financial Services, Inc., of Long Beach, Calif., payable to the bearer, and $2 million in Maine municipal bonds.

The chief postal inspector in Washington called it the largest known mail heist in U.S. history. Luzzo, who was 36 Monday, has been an employee of the postal service for 18 years.

Postal inspectors, police and federal authorities found the securities in Luzzo's home in Revere Sunday night, some of them in a briefcase in the kitchen and others rolled up in newspapers in the fireplace.

Postal Inspector Fred Ricker said the heist might never have occurred had the senders used registered mail. That would have meant the securities would be sent by special pouch under lock and key.

Authorities would not say how they believe Luzzo obtained the securities.

Smuggling once rife

WASHINGTON (AP) — Smuggling was both profitable and patriotic during the Revolutionary War.

But many Americans continued the practice after the war was over and the 13 colonies had won their independence, according to the National Geographic.

Alexander Hamilton, the nation's first secretary of the treasury, did something about it. He prevailed on Congress to authorize 10 armed vessels to enforce payment of customs duties on goods entering American ports.

'Enriched Flavor' Entry Outdates Conventional Low Tar Cigarettes.

New flavor discovery for 9 mg. tar MERIT achieves taste of cigarettes having 60% more tar.

Now there's a way to cut tar without the usual loss in taste. That's the report from Philip Morris on a new taste discovery called 'Enriched Flavor'. A way to pack flavor—extra flavor—into tobacco without the usual corresponding increase in tar.

The kind of flavor that outdates conventional low tar brands.

The cigarette with 'Enriched Flavor' is remarkable new MERIT.

If you smoke—whether it's a low tar brand with a taste you can't quite get used to, or a full-flavor smoke you enjoy but with a tar level you'd like to drop—you'll be interested.

Smoke "Cracked": Key Ingredients Isolated

After a twelve-year research effort, a team of scientists at our Richmond Research Center succeeded in isolating the "key" flavor ingredients of tobacco as they exist in cigarette smoke.

By adding only those ingredients which are of extreme high quality as flavor producers yet low tar producers as well, we're now able to pack incredible flavor into a cigarette without the usual corresponding increase in tar.

'Enriched Flavor'. It's extra flavor. Natural flavor. Flavor that can't burn out, can't drop out, can't do anything but come through.

We packed 'Enriched Flavor' into the tobacco used to make MERIT.

And began an extensive

series of taste tests. The results were startling.

Taste-Tested By People Like You

9 mg. tar MERIT was taste-tested against five current leading low tar cigarette brands ranging from 11 mg. to 15 mg. tar.

Thousands of filter smokers were involved, smokers like yourself, all tested at home.*

The results were conclusive:

Even if the cigarette tested had 60% more tar, a significant majority of all smokers tested reported new 'Enriched Flavor' MERIT delivered more taste.

Repeat: delivered more taste.

In similar tests against 11 mg. to 15 mg. menthol brands, 9 mg. tar MERIT MENTHOL performed strongly too, delivering as much—or more—taste than the higher tar brands tested.

You've been smoking "low tar, good taste" claims long enough. Now you've got the cigarette.

MERIT. Incredible smoking pleasure at only 9 mg. tar.

From Philip Morris.

Major leagues spring training still up in air

NEW YORK (AP) — It's very much like any other baseball road trip...two weeks and six cities long.

Baseball's rites of spring usually begin in the last week of February with pitchers and catchers reporting first.

But no dates have been set for spring training, 1976, and the time is growing short if camps are to open on time.

Miller moves on to Cincinnati Friday, returning to New York for a Saturday negotiating session before moving on to Houston and Philadelphia next week.

Publicly, the owners have maintained that they want to start spring training on time.

In last week's talks, the owners proposed an altered reserve clause that would allow an eight-year veteran to play out his option.

Miller said such a proposal "would have represented progress in 1965, but not in 1976."

In other areas, the owners offered to increase annual pension contributions over the next four years and double medical insurance coverage from the current $50,000 to $100,000.

Other proposals offered an increase in the current $16,000 minimum salary of $1,000 per year through 1979 and cost of living considerations for spring training and in-season expenses.

Woody Hayes

Woody will coach Bucks again

GRANVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Despite criticism from Ohio State University students, Woody Hayes insists he will continue into a 26th football coaching season this fall with the Buckeyes.

Hayes, who turned 63 Saturday, has been the target of criticism for dismissing Nick Buonamici from the team without first informing the star defensive tackle.

The Ohio State Lantern, the Big Ten school's campus newspaper, went so far as to call for Hayes' resignation.

Hayes has said little publicly since the 23-10 Rose Bowl upset by UCLA that cost the Buckeyes an undefeated season and probably the national championship.

Jimmy Connors to train harder

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — Jimmy Connors aims to keep a tighter rein on himself this year than in 1975, when he was disappointed in the results despite big financial gains.

Connors, 23, lost at Wimbledon and at Forest Hills in the finals of each, though he did capture two singles challenge matches and one in doubles, which boosted his bank account.

NTSU whips Trinity five

DENTON, Tex. (AP) — Fred Mitchell, who played only half the game, got 21 points and led six North Texas players in double figures as the Mean Green beat Trinity 113-66 Monday night in a non-conference basketball game between Tennessee and Kentucky.

Every North Texas player scored and Coach Bill Blakeley rested his starters half the time in anticipation of Tuesday night's makeup game with West Texas State in Amarillo.

The Amarillo game was delayed from Feb. 5 due to bad weather.

North Texas, the nation's third highest scoring team, led by only eight points at the half but the Mean Green starters outscored the Tigers 17-0 at one stretch of the second half.

North Texas, ranked 19th nationally, outbid Trinity 63-24 in the final period.

North Texas ran its record to 18-3 while Trinity dropped to 7-14.

For North Texas, Terry Bailey had 19, Mel Davis, Ken Williams and Earl King all had 12 and Paul Tedder had 10.

AP protests ban by Vols

BOSTON (AP) — The ejection of two Lexington, Ky., Herald-Leader photographers from a college basketball game between Tennessee and Kentucky has been formally protested by The Associated Press Sports Editors Association.

Photographers Frank Anderson and E. Martin Jessee were forcibly removed from the Feb. 7 game in Knoxville, Tenn.

APSE President Dave Smith, sports editor of the Boston Globe, and Vice President Earl Cox, executive press editor of The Courier-Journal and Louisville Times, protested the action in a letter to Dr. Edward Boling, president of the University of Tennessee.

Dr. Boling was asked to investigate the ejections and to inform the APSE of his findings.

The ejections occurred just after a fight broke out on the edge of the playing court, or had been pushed onto it.

Two policemen grabbed Anderson and escorted him out of the fieldhouse. They also ejected Jessee when he took pictures of Anderson being thrown out.

The APSE, an organization that deals with sports coverage and related matters and represents newspapers which receive Associated Press service, also joined with Don Mills, editor of the Lexington newspaper, in requesting a written apology to the two photographers.

Scarlet Knights move to fourth

By The Associated Press

The undefeated Scarlet Knights of Rutgers continued their assault on No. 1, and Indiana held onto its top ranking in The Associated Press major college basketball poll released today.

Rutgers — with a pair of victories last week, one a 92-91 overtime decision over Manhattan — picked up one first-place vote and moved up from fifth to fourth.

Rutgers, 21-0 through Sunday, picked up 815 points in balloting by a countryside panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

Indiana, also 21-0 after victories over Michigan State and Illinois last week, received first-place votes on 60 of 63 ballots cast for 1,254 points.

Marquette and North Carolina continued to hold down the No. 2 and 3 spots. The Terrapins, 19-1, received 1,064 points after downing Virginia Tech 88-61, and the Tar Heels, 20-2, picked up 996 points after beating Maryland and Tulane.

The lost dropped Maryland from fourth to seventh.

Anthony to defend title in PBA tourney

GARDEN CITY, N.Y. (AP) — After a week of relaxation at home, Earl Anthony, Tacoma, Wash., returns to the pro bowling wars to try to defend the championship he won at Garden City Bowl last year.

This year, however, the tournament is the $100,000 Pro Classic, and although Anthony is defending titlist, he cannot be termed a clear-cut favorite.

Anthony has bowled well thus far in 1976, but has yet to win a crown. Still, two runner-up finishes, at Las Vegas and Kansas City, have helped him acquire $15,400 in winnings, placing him among the Professional Bowlers Association (PBA) tour leaders.

But there may be a battle raging within the 200-man field which will take some of the limelight away from Anthony's attempt to defend his title.

That battle would be between Dick Weber of St. Louis and Don Johnson of Las Vegas. They are tied for career titles with 24, and both are looking to break that

Bush to control all spy agencies in new setup

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Ford administration is scheduled to announce within a day a streamlined intelligence community that will put CIA Director George Bush in position to control all spy agencies, Ford administration officials say.

Bush will be chairman of a small interagency panel which will give him the power to control the budgets of other spy agencies, such as within the Defense Department and the National Security Agency.

The officials interviewed Monday said the plan is to be announced Wednesday.

Meanwhile, Bush is to meet with Sen. Walter Huddleston, D-Ky., a member of the Senate Intelligence Committee, to discuss the committee's request for the names of journalists and news organizations who have been on the CIA payroll.

A top intelligence official insisted that Bush would not turn over the names to the committee under any circumstance.

In another development, House members will be allowed to read the report of its special Intelligence Committee, but not to copy it or make the information public, House Speaker Carl Albert said Monday. Many sections of the report already have been made public, despite a House ban on publication.

Under the reorganization, Bush will not become an "intelligence czar" but will be in a better position as director of central intelligence, the officials said.

An interagency panel headed by Bush will consist of fewer than five members representing the various intelligence agencies and will report directly to the National Security Council, headed by the president.

The oversight panel would receive direct reports from the inspectors general of the intelligence agencies, except the FBI, and would have the power to recommend to the attorney general that a particular activity merited disciplinary action or prosecution.

Oversight of the FBI would remain with the attorney general.

Other aspects of Ford's reorganization plan are said to include:

- A three-member White House panel to monitor possible improprieties by intelligence agencies;
- Specific prohibitions against assassination and mail opening along with new guidelines for covert operations and domestic intelligence gathering;
- Proposed criminal penalties for members of the executive branch who reveal intelligence secrets.

Foes urge defiance of Peron

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Political foes of President Isabel Peron today urged defiance of her order ending a special session of Congress to block action on demands for her ouster.

Mrs. Peron decreed the end to the session Monday night during a 24-hour business strike which organizers said closed up to 90 per cent of the country's businesses and industries. The businessmen were protesting government price ceilings and recent wage hikes.

There was growing speculation that the military would seize control of the government and try to impose economic and political stability.

A government announcement said

the closing of Congress was due to recent cabinet shakeups and the need for new legislation to aid the unstable economy. But political sources said the 45-year-old president was afraid of a session of the lower house Wednesday at which her opponents were expected to press for her impeachment or resignation.

Congressmen from the center-left Radical Civic Union (UCR), the largest opposition party, said they would urge Congress to defy the order and declare itself in session. Mrs. Peron's order does not allow Congress to meet until its regular session May 1, but the Senate and Chamber of Deputies could declare itself in a permanent session of protest by a two-thirds vote. The Peronist movement has a majority in both houses, but the movement is split between supporters and foes of the president.

Mrs. Peron's order also canceled all bills pending in Congress, including one by small opposition parties calling for her impeachment on charges of mismanaging the government.

The business strike was called by eight national industrial and business associations grouped under the name Permanent Business Assembly (APEGE). The main business group, the General Economic Confederation, and the labor unions which are the chief strength of the Peronist movement refused to support it.

APEGE said Mrs. Peron's economic policies are leading Argentina to "chaos and ruin."

In Buenos Aires, the strike shut down nearly all food markets, retail and wholesale stores, restaurants, service shops and movie theaters. But banks and business offices were open; major industries were open for business; and buses and taxis operated normally.

In some provincial cities, bus service was halted. Activity was also severely curtailed on ranches and farms across the country.

GAO rates mail service

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although mail service is improving, the Postal Service still does not provide as good service as the old Post Office Department once did, the General Accounting Office says.

"Over-all, service today is not as good as it was before postal reorganization — in terms of timeliness of delivery and in terms of the bundle of other services provided by the Postal Service," the congressional auditing agency said Monday.

The GAO said a significant cause of delays is mail sent to the wrong place by letter-sorting machines. The machines cut the Postal Service's costs and improve productivity, but the GAO said they miss about 7 per cent of the mail they handle.

The GAO said the amount of misdelivered mail probably will increase as the Postal Service continues to increase the number of machines in use.

Postal Service officials

frequently have cited statistics showing that mail delivery is faster than in the period immediately before the postal reorganization of July 1, 1971.

The GAO agreed but said the earlier period made a poor comparison because service then was especially bad due to

"turbulence caused by the impending reorganization."

Instead, the GAO used the year ending June 30, 1969, for comparison and concluded that the average time to deliver first-class mail then was 1.5 days, compared with 1.65 days now.

"The mail is moving well although not as well as in 1969," GAO said.

"It's also, unfortunately, probably correct to state that more mail is being delayed for longer periods than was the case a few years ago. And the part that isn't moving well, despite being proportionately small, still adds up to several billion

Jury selection begins in Franklin murder trial

death of nurse Mary Margaret Moran of San Antonio, Tex.

Mrs. Moran, 27, was abducted last July 26 from the parking lot of the Audie Murphy Veterans Hospital in San Antonio and found four days later in a brushy field.

The attractive brunette was nude, blood-caked from 10 stab wounds and dehydrated from her ordeal under the summer sun. She died 12 hours later without identifying her attacker.

Lawyer advertising facing opposition

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A limited proposal to let lawyers advertise faces strong opposition today as the American Bar Association winds up its midwinter meeting here.

"Some say it is going to get clobbered," said former ABA President Chesterfield Smith of Lakeland, Fla.

But Smith predicted a close vote, probably to approve. Few if any delegates expected the proposal to carry by a substantial margin.

In action on Monday, the association's policymaking House of Delegates:

- Postponed action on a proposal calling for judicial "gag orders" governing publicity about criminal cases. It was postponed at the request of news media organizations because the Supreme Court is expected to rule on the issue this spring or summer.
- Rejected by a two-vote margin a proposal to repeal criminal penalties for prostitution.

- Overrode Justice Department objections and recommended creation of a three-judge court with power to appoint a special prosecutor.
- Recommended that unanimous jury verdicts be required for criminal convictions, even though the Supreme Court has said this is not constitutionally necessary.
- Approved by voice vote a proposal to create a National Court of Appeals as a buffer between federal circuit courts of appeals and the Supreme Court.
- Recommended that state courts, which say they are being short-changed in distribution of Law Enforcement Assistance Administration funds, be guaranteed a voice in how the money is divided.

The proposal on advertising would allow lawyers to include in directory listings some information about their fees and the areas of law on which they concentrate.

There is strong pressure for its approval because of lawsuits attacking the ABA ban on lawyer advertising in the wake of a Supreme Court ruling that the legal profession does not enjoy a blanket exemption from antitrust laws.

A suit by Consumers Union challenging the ABA restriction on publication of lawyers' fees and specialties is set for trial before a three-judge federal court in Richmond, Va., March 25.

Hofheinz tells choice

HOUSTON (AP) — Mayor Fred Hofheinz says if he had a choice between a telephone directory assistance charge and a general rate increase he would support the rate increase.

The rate hike would boost residential bills from $8.50 to $9.30 a month and business lines from $27.00 to $29.50.

Officials hunt for family of skid row derelict

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Turning 75-year-old Prince E. Gallagher loose with $1,000 in his pocket would be condemning him to beating and robbery by other skid row inhabitants, a judge said.

Gallagher asked last week to be imprisoned in the House of Detention for a few days while a court-appointed lawyer searched for his son and daughter.

Municipal Court Judge Eddie L. Sapir went along with Gallagher's request. Sapir said he learned to like Gallagher during the 25 or 30 times the old man appeared before him on minor charges.

Gallagher said he retired from the Southern Pacific Railroad 15 years ago and received pension checks. However, railroad officials said recent checks have been returned to them by the

Willie Nelson back on stage after collapse

DALLAS (AP) — Country music entertainer Willie Nelson was back on stage Monday night at his "Whiskey River" night club after collapsing early in a performance the night before.

A club spokesman said the 42-year-old Nelson had collapsed from fatigue Sunday night with a broken down air conditioner compounding the problem. The spokesman said Nelson would finish his appearance at the club which runs through Wednesday night.

Nelson had to be carried off the stage by band members.

He had stopped on the middle of his first several songs and apologized. He stormed off the stage 10 minutes into the show, apparently upset. Nelson returned, but after several more false starts, went into an instrumental and finally collapsed.

Nelson has a large following in Texas, especially in the Austin area, where he writes and performs much of his progressive country sound. Nelson had appeared in fine form when he played to a full house at Dallas' Sportatorium on Saturday night.

About 300 persons were in the Whiskey River club Sunday night and the management said they were refunded their money.

Guthrie's aura captured by depression film

By JAMES MEADE
Copley News Service
HOLLYWOOD — Everyone knows it is expensive to construct plush sets for a motion picture depicting the idle rich at play. But re-creating the 1930s depression should be inexpensive — right?
Wrong.
Not the way co-producers Robert Blumofe and Harold Leventhal and director Hal Ashby did it for a United Know Ya," "Roll On" and "This Train Is Bound for Glory." Ironically, as well known as his songs are, Woody's son, Arlo Guthrie, is better known to contemporary audiences.

So the moviemakers have a problem of familiarizing potential ticket buyers with this transient troubadour who expressed his love of life, sense of social responsibility and instinct for the underdog in his lyrics and music.
"Woody hated fat banks and sheriffs for their farm foreclosures, sometimes unreasonably so," Blumofe said. "Oddly, with his basic sense of social responsibility to others, he would neglect his own family, going off for months at a time and leave them to shift for themselves."

Blumofe and Leventhal, who was Guthrie's manager, believe their movie has a "certain honesty." Blumofe said those close to Guthrie — his friends, his first wife, Mary, and his second wife, Marjorie, consider the movie true to Woody and where fictionalized, said, "It could have happened that way."

David Carradine, who is six inches taller than the late Woody Guthrie, plays the composer-singer. The size difference seems to be bothering no one since an aura and not a replica was the film makers' goal.

"David has Woody's vibes," said Joady, Marjorie's son, after watching Carradine. Daily Variety quotes Geer as saying, "Woody was just a grassroots radical, nothing more. All history tends to be romanticized. Robert Frost said, 'History is just gossip.' I wish the picture well."

The movie's final scene has Carradine, as Guthrie, atop a boxcar singing "This Land Is Your Land," as the train passes through the beauties of the American countryside.

"I wonder what Woody would have thought about it — a multimillion-dollar movie about him," Blumofe mused. "He seldom had more than 50 or 60 cents in his pockets."

ENTERTAINMENT

Artists' summer release, "Bound for Glory," which concentrates on 1936-40 in folk music composer Woody Guthrie's biography.

The moviemakers decided the film would be produced entirely on authentic locations with both dialogue and music recorded live and with neither musical playbacks nor process shooting.

Since much of the transient Guthrie's story involved freight trains, the movie, located in Northern California, Los Angeles and rural Texas, went a month and maybe $1 million or $2 million (Blumofe is not saying) over schedule and budget. Daily Variety places the final cost in the $6 million to $7 million range.

"The bottom line is we believe we have a great picture," Blumofe said. "Although the depression is not photogenic, we do not have a downbeat movie."

"Woody's good friends, Will Geer and Pete Seeger, said Woody always had a smile on his face and that's the way we played it," Blumofe said.

Winners named

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The winner of the 1975 Golden Kite Award was "The Garden Is Doing Fine," (Atheneum) by Carol Farley, it was announced by the Society of Children's Book Writers.
Berniece Rabe's "Naomi" (Nelson) and Jane Yolen's "The Transfigured Heart" (Crowell) were named Golden Kite Honor Books.

The winners were selected by five judges picked from the children's book field.

Bonded debt to increase

AUSTIN (AP) — The bonded debt of Texas state and local governments will rise to $15 billion by 1980, the Texas Advisory Commission of Intergovernmental Relations predicted Monday.
The current outstanding bonded indebtedness is $11 billion, with the 1974 growth totaling $1.48 billion.

Joints replaced

HALIFAX (AP) — Plastic surgeons here are installing artificial knuckles and finger joints using only local anesthetics. Plastic surgeon Dr. Winston Parkhill said five joints could be replaced within 90 minutes in the procedure.
The joint replacements are an "end-stage treatment" for sufferers of rheumatoid arthritis whose joints have become too distorted to respond to drugs or physiotherapy.

League will sponsor forum

By SANDER VANOCUR
The Washington Post

WASHINGTON — A series of live televised forums in which voters will have an opportunity to question presidential candidates was announced Tuesday by the League of Women Voters.

The series will be broadcast live on the 258 affiliates of the Public Broadcasting System beginning Feb. 23. All of the Democratic candidates except George Wallace have agreed to appear on at least one of the forums. Negotiations with Wallace are still under way. President Ford and Ronald Reagan have not yet decided whether to participate.

In making the announcement at a news conference, League President Ruth C. Clusen said: "These forums are designed for hard questions and even harder answers — a combination long overdue in the political process. There will be no debates, no confrontations, no gimmicks — just the candidates responding to issues which affect every citizen in this country."

The forums, arranged by Jim Karayn will be the closest thing to a national television debate that the voters have had since the Kennedy-Nixon debates in 1960. Elie Abel, dean of the Columbia School of Journalism, will moderate the forums.

Karayn said that of the three commercial networks, ABC and CBS have expressed interest in covering the forums. NBC, he said, had not yet made any commitment.

The commercial networks are now free to cover the forums without fear of demands for equal time from obscure presidential candidates because of a decision last September by the Federal Communications Commission. That decision freed broadcasters from equal time requirements so long as they were involved in "on the spot coverage" of "a bona fide news event."

The dates, locations and issues to be covered in each of the forums are:
New England: Boston, Feb. 23 — High Employment, Low Inflation and Cheap Energy: Can We Have Them All?

Southern States: Miami, March 1 — From Social Security to Welfare: What's The National Responsibility?

Mid-Atlantic States: New York City, March 29 — Who is Responsible for the Cities?

Midwestern States: Chicago, April 26 — Defense, Detente and Trade: What Are Our Goals?

Western States: Los Angeles, May 24 — Growth and Environment: How Much Can We Control?

The question will come from an audience of what the League calls "resource people," persons in each region who are involved in politics, business, labor and civic activities.

The forums, made possible by a grant to the League of Women Voters Education Fund from the William Benton Foundation, have received the blessings of Republican Party Chairman Mary Louise Smith and her Democratic counterpart, Robert S. Strauss, both of whom attended the news conference.

Kissers keep world record

SEAFORD, England (AP) — Paul Trevillion and Sadie Nine claim to have kept their world kissing record here after the last of their challengers were disqualified for cuddling.

"They got too passionate," said Paul, 29, who with Sadie, 19, claimed a world record for kissing 25,000 times in two hours in Cleveland, Ohio, last May.

Paul and Sadie, British professional entertainers, put their record up for challenge in a night club here Saturday. More than 300 couples tried it, but only three couples got as far as 6,000 kisses.

"One man retired after 22 minutes with a stiff neck, the next passed out after 28 minutes, and the runners-up lasted 35 minutes and 6,702 kisses and then got carried away," said club owner Roger Lewendon.

Sadie and Paul claimed they kissed over 7,000 times in 40 minutes and will be in New York in June to welcome any new challengers. But they don't think they can be beaten.

"We can now kiss 300 times a minute," Paul said.

Kin reunited after 69 years

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Joe Peake is back, and he says he had the most glorious time he's ever had in his life.

"I was treated like visiting royalty," said the 87-year-old Welshman, who recently returned from a reunion in Llandudno, North Wales, with his sister, Mary Peake, 90, whom he hadn't seen in 69 years.

Peake's sister lives in a nursing home in Llandudno. Mayors from surrounding communities visited him and his sister, and he was called to the Llandudno Town Hall, where he was presented with gifts.

Midland Country Club was transformed into a replica of Mount Vernon, featuring decorating colors of green and white, for the 28th annual Charity Ball held Monday by the Junior League of Midland, Inc.

The "George Washington Birthday Ball" was held on the legal birthday of the first United States president, and the league used the Colonial decorating theme as a Bicentennial observance.

Lining the drive to the club were hurricane lamps. The foyer of the clubhouse was decorated to reflect a typical sitting room at Mount Vernon, complete with a 9-foot high mantle and a large mirror with sconces. A wallpaper in a green motif of the Washington era was on two walls of the foyer. Traditional pieces of furniture provided by individuals also were used in the foyer. A green floral designed rug was in the center of the furniture grouping. On one table was a George Washington birthday cake.

The formal mood of the ball was repeated in the main ballroom. The bandstand was draped in green, and there were Colonial columns. The fireplace area also was decorated in green and white with mirror and candelabra.

The sponsors' tables, draped in green, had brass candlesticks, low floral arrangements and large brandy snifters holding champagne.

Upper and private dining rooms had tables covered with white cloths swaged in green fabric. Centerpieces were hurricane lamps with ivy.

The Garden Room had tables covered in mini-print depicting Washington chopping down the cherry tree. Focal point for the room was a "living" cherry tree.

In the Men's Tavern, Add-on-Room and Ladies' 19th Hole, old-fashioned lanterns in green with candles were featured.

Chairman of the decorations committee for the ball was Mrs. Donald Jones. She was assisted by Mrs. Jack Nini. Other members of the committee were Mrs. T. E. Spires, Mrs. Dan Secker, Mrs. Robert Spears, Mrs. John Woodside, Mrs. James Alsop, Mrs. Robert Jones and Mrs. Parker Humes.

Ran Wilde and his orchestra of Dallas provided music for dancing in the ballroom. Also performing in other areas of the clubhouse were Jerry Burgess, the "Jubal" and "Topica" combos of Abilene.

Sponsors of the ball this year were Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Beal, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Allen Bird, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Evans Blake, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Addison Bradford, Mrs. Raiford H. Burton, Mr. and Mrs. Rufe Sinclair Bynum Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Louis A. J. Gordon, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hinkle, Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Frederick Hyer, Mr. and Mrs. Cullen J. Kelly, Mr. and Mrs. William Donald Kleine, Mr. and Mrs. Tony Allen Martin, Cowden Oliver, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Eugene O'Shaughnessy, Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Pendleton, Mr. and Mrs. William Glenn Ross, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Samples, Jack Benjamin Wilkinson Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. John Conwell Williamson.

Proceeds from the ball, one of two fund-raising activities of the league, will benefit the Audiometric Screening, decenting at the Permian Basin Petroleum Museum, Library and Hall of Fame, History of Midland Exhibit, Musical Therapy, Sara Woodridge Clinic, Children's Dental Clinic, Directory of Community Services, Film Service, "Getting Around Midland" publication, Museum of the Southwest, Puppetry for Public and Private Schools, Story Hour at the Midland County Public Library, Student Art Festival, Pickwick Players and Volunteers in Midland.

DEAR ABBY "Shacking up" warning given

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Couples living together without marriage is aummer. In cases where both parties invest in joint properties, if the man dies in an industrial accident, the woman can claim nothing. When the property goes to probate to pay off the bills, the woman is out of luck. Former wives, children and family can all claim a bigger share than this kind of "widow" can.

A good case was the woman who not only had one illegitimate child, but was carrying another. He always talked about marrying her, but never did. The husband-to-be was killed in a car wreck, wherein insurance could be claimed, but the woman had no legal standing.

If the man decides to "leave," the rejected woman must find another partner, but by that time, the woman has the reputation of a tramp.

Of course, if she can spawn enough children without matrimony, with Aid to Dependent Children, food stamps, low-cost housing and welfare, she can do pretty well and possibly even find a live-in boyfriend, which we taxpayers have to pay for. But the children from this unhappy mess is another matter, and your whole column could be filled with those problems. — MAGISTRATE IN ALASKA

DEAR MAG: Yours is only one of 50 states that has its own laws regarding "common-law marriages." However, your timely warning concerning the new cultural phenomenon known as "shacking up" is appreciated, and I hereby pass it on.

DEAR ABBY: My wife of 14 years has suddenly developed a strong desire for children. Both of us would enjoy having a child; however, at this time in our lives (I am 50 and she is 42), do you think it's practical for us to take on the responsibility of raising a child?

My wife constantly argues that a child would bring needed happiness and a more youthful outlook on life for both of us.

I contend it's too late in life for us to start out with an infant, but I am willing to adopt a child of elementary school age or even one in his (or her) early teens.

Our clergyman favors adoption. My wife's physician says she is capable of having a child.

I am more inclined to adopt a child who needs a home, but my wife feels strongly about having our own.

Please give me your views.—ABLE BUT UNWILLING

DEAR ABLE: Sorry, but this is one problem that you and your wife will have to solve yourselves. Some people are "old" at 30, and others are "young" at 60. It takes love, patience, understanding, determination, energy, fortitude, generosity and time to raise a child of any age. How much have you?

DEAR ABBY: This concerns people who never seem able to accept a compliment graciously: For years I was one of those people, and it took me a long time to understand why.

It goes back to my childhood. My family (bless them) never gave me an honest-to-goodness compliment. If I looked especially nice, they would say, "You look nice—but can't you do something else with your hair?" This made it impossible for me to say, "Thank you." Instead, I was always trying to make apologies and put myself down.

Compliments should be given freely and without little digs to spoil them.—"THANK YOU"

DEAR THANK: And thank YOU!

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Sponsors for the Charity Ball included Mr. and Mrs. Louis A. J. Gordon, seated, and Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Hyer.

Mrs. Jack Nini, shown with her husband at the Charity Ball, was assistant decorations chairman for the event.

HINTS FROM HELOISE Things handy in bag

Dear Heloise:

A hint on organizing your purse? Many women, I'm sure, have trouble finding things in their purses. I'm always stabbing myself on pencils or combs while digging for keys.

I tried using a couple of clear plastic packets made to hold pencils, etc. in ring notebooks. They are like a large envelope with a plastic zipper.

One contains my checkbook, pencils, pens and coupons. The other contains my lipsticks, combs, etc. Housekeys are attached to one with a ring through the notebook ring hole. Out of the way yet easy to find.

These packets have many advantages. You can see at a glance if you have the right item. The zippers have no teeth to snag items or hurt knuckles and it is easy to transfer items into another purse. B. Leahy

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

Dear Heloise:

After reading your column with hints from men, I thought I would tell you my best hint.

After being away from home for 17 years, I figured out the easiest way to keep house...

their papers on the buffet by my chair. After dessert I read each paper aloud (or parts if it's a math paper).

The children look forward to this special time each day.

Even our 3-year-old makes something each day so there will be one of his papers to be read too.

We do this with their Sunday School papers as well.

A Mother

I like that idea! With so much going on these days it's nice to have some family time.

But how do you read (let alone understand) those new math papers?

What will we do when we convert to the metric system?

Dear Heloise:

We put our two twin beds together to make a king-sized bed but I couldn't afford the expensive king-sized sheets.

I bought two twin flat sheets and one double flat sheet on sale for under $10.

I tore the double sheet in half and sewed one half on to each twin sheet.

Now I have a set of king-sized sheets for almost half price. What savings!

After doing this, I am going to use my old sheets and fix them to fit our king-sized bed too.

Vera Jensell

Dear Heloise:

Recently I read a letter in your column beseeching parents to read their young children's school papers.

When our children come home at the busy pre-supper time, they place

I go ape over those mail order catalogs that offer gadgets and gimmicks for every purpose.

But sometimes when the packages come I wonder, "What's this? Why?"

So now I have a plan for those catalogs. Before ordering anything I go through the catalog fast the first time. If I see something that I might want I turn down the page corner.

A couple days later I go through again, looking only at the corner-turned pages. If I don't know why I turned it I forget it.

The third time around, I check out the ones I am sure that I want.

This really works.

Center completes first project

Lancaster Garden Center-Museum of the Southwest completed the first of its Bicentennial projects with the planting and dedication of a red oak tree on the grounds of the center.

Mrs. W. C. Putnam, chairman of the program, introduced Mrs. J. Keith Somerville, director of District 1, Texas Garden Clubs, Inc., who told of the national and state project of planting "Liberty Trees," named for the trees under which American patriots often held secret meetings during the Revolutionary period. As in 1776, these trees will symbolize a re-dedication to America's deep-rooted ideals.

The dedication address was given by W. E. Shipp Jr. He also introduced the contributors who made this planting possible. They are Midland Garden Club, Newcomers Garden Club, Pyracantha Garden Club, Rake and Spade Garden Club, Sand and Seed Garden Club, Tejas Garden Club, Yucca Garden Club and Mrs. T. C. Dukes.

County Commissioner John Thomas presented a framed certificate from the American Revolution Bicentennial Commission of Midland County to the garden center. Accepting for the center was Mrs. Ray Diemer, coordinator.

A devotional and prayer was given by the Rev. Billy Wilkinson, pastor of St. Luke's United Methodist Church.

Vitamin can be doing harm

By SHIRLEY BRIGHT BOODY
Registered Dietitian
Copley News Service

Millions of people who have been dosing themselves with large quantities of vitamin C in the belief that they will be protected from colds, flu and numerous other ailments may be doing harm instead of good.

Indications of toxicity continue to be evidenced and suggest possible dangers of overdosing.

A recent VA study by Dr. Victor Herbert caused concern when he demonstrated that megadoses of vitamin C—100 to 500 milligrams taken orally—substantially destroyed vitamin B 12 (cobalamin, the vitamin that prevents pernicious anemia).

She writes lousy 'on dogs'

By ERMA BOMBECK

The popularity of a column is reflected in the amount of mail it receives.

These are the six letters I got last year.

ON MANNERS: "Your column on manners brought back memories of our daughter. We had a freshly baked cake cooling on top of the refrigerator and of course she spotted it and began yelling, 'Pie, pie, pie.' (Do your kids call cake, pie, and pie, cake?)

"I finally cut her a piece and in handing it to her said, 'Now, what do you say?' With a wide smile and blue eyes sparkling she muttered, softly, 'Spoon.'"

ON WEIGHT: "At the close of World War II, one of the first missions the Army undertook in the invasion of the Philippines was the rescue of allied civilians being held at the infamous San Tomas POW camp outside Manila.

"An Army doctor helped one of the first liberated American women on the scales and called out, 'This woman is five feet seven inches tall. She weighs 65 pounds.'"

"Sixty-five pounds," screamed the former prisoner. "That's wonderful. Now if I can just lose five more pounds, I'll be just right!"

ON DISCIPLINE: "When our kids were small, my wife and I would take turns being the 'bad guy' so that I wasn't always the bogey man with the spanking bit. She'd take a month and I'd take a month to even it out. We referred to one another as the 'designated hitter.'"

ON LETTER WRITERS: "When our son was in college and failed to write for some time, my husband and I would send him a newsy letter in which we would say, 'Thought you might need a little more money. Enclosed is a check.' Of course we left the check out.

"Almost immediately, we received a very newsy letter with a casual P.S. saying, 'By the way, you forgot to enclose the check.'"

ON UPMANSHIP: "A child psychologist was breakfasting with his daughter, who refused to eat. She insisted on being served a fried worm. The fried worm was brought in and the father told her to eat. The child said, 'You eat half of it!' The father complied and the child whined, 'You just ate my half.'"

ON DOGS: "You, lady, can go to h—! You don't know anything about dogs. They are better than people. They're kinder. Smarter. And care about you. I promise you if you write another column about dogs, I am not going to take your g— d— newspaper! Have a good day."

Leap year or not, wedding vows go on

NEW YORK (AP) — Will women exercise their traditional right to propose to men in this Leap Year?

No matter who does the asking, marriage is still a going proposition, contrary to some opinion. Last year some two million marriages took place, though many of these were remarriages — about three in ten in a recent year.

Whether it's the man or woman who pops the question, married women's lifespans are longer than unwed women's, according to government statistics.

Women who marry are also often more affluent if they have a career, and if they don't make it on their own their husbands often do. A University of Michigan study found that marriage practically triples chances of career success for men. Besides living longer (most commonly purchased) life insurance policy bought in 1974 by a married person was $21,390, nearly twice as much as that purchased by a single person.

CLUB NEWS ROUNDUP

Business women slate annual Boss Night

The Tall City Charter Chapter of the American Business Women's Association met in Sambo's Restaurant to hear the guest speaker, Gloria Henjosa of the Midland Presbyterian Corporate Ministry.

Henjosa teaches a citizenship class at St. Andrews Center. She also is a member of the Midland College board.

It was announced the annual Boss Night banquet will be held at 7 p.m. Monday in the Rodeway Inn.

Attending as a guest was Joyce Morris.

Sam Turner, Midland College English professor, discussed creativity and creative writing at a meeting of the Literature Study Group of the American Association of University Women, Midland Branch, in the home of Mrs. Colleen Scurry, 2509 Humble St. Co-hostess was Mrs. Helen Bell.

In his remarks, Turner, who teaches a writing course at MC, discussed the mental state which fosters creativity, and the way in which the creative process works. He stressed that each person possesses the capacity to think creatively.

Jim Crawford, director of the Cerebral Palsy Center, gave a slide presentation showing the activities of the center at a meeting of the Junior Woman's Association at the center.

Final plans were announced by the social chairman, Mrs. Heasley Rook, for the social to be held Feb. 27 in the Hospitality Room of the Coors Distributing Co. Husbands of members will be special guests. There will be a chili supper, and a White Elephant Auction will be conducted.

The Fireside Home Demonstration Club met in the home of Mrs. J. C. Washburn, 1606 W. Golf Course Road. Mrs. Judy Germany, Midland County extension agent, gave a program on "Pattern Alterations."

A St. Valentine's Day theme was used by hostesses Mrs. Sue Baker, Mrs. Mary Dawson and Mrs. Brune Torres at a party for children of members of St. Ann's Pre-school Mothers' Club in the Knights of Columbus Hall.

The children were entertained by the St. Valentine legend, and were given a lesson on the making of valentines.

The Perennial Garden Club met in the home of Mrs. Joe Chastain, 2200 Midland Drive, with Tommie Smith, president, presiding. Hazel Lyles, plant, seed and exchange chairman, said she and Maria Spencer had plants to be given away, and Spencer said she would have daisies to be given away in the near future.

Members signed a thank you card to be sent to Aubrey Reid for the work his school class did at the Dorsey-Brown Historical Home.

Mrs. Chastain gave a program on transplanting trees, shrubs and flowers.

Mrs. Judy Germany, county exchange chairman, said she and Maria Spencer had plants to be given away, and Spencer said she would have daisies to be given away in the near future.

By TOM STEVENSON The Washington Post WASHINGTON — For many, the sound of a power lawn mower serves as the Saturday morning alarm clock during the growing season, the beginning of which is not far away.

Is there an alternative? Professional turf managers and home owners have dreamed of having a lawn grass that would grow to a desired height and remain there for the season.

Is it really a possibility? "Sounds like Utopia," says Thomas L. Watschke, assistant professor of turfgrass science, Pennsylvania State University. "But since it is not a plant breeding reality, this dream is unrealistic from a genetic point of view."

"From a management standpoint, lawn grasses must maintain growth capability to recover from injury caused by insects, diseases and traffic."

Are growth regulators the answer? Chemical growth regulation has proven useful on some ornamental plants and in commercial flower production.

So far as intensively maintained grass is concerned — home lawns, golf courses, etc. — the answer has to be, "someday, but not now," Watschke says.

"Considerable turf research with growth regulators has been conducted during the past five years at several institutions. Researchers at Penn State have been actively working with these chemicals for the past three years."

"All materials tested to date have exhibited some ability to retard growth."

"However, the severity of negative side effects seriously limit the usefulness of these chemicals for maintaining a fine lawn."

"First, and most important, is the discoloration that follows applications. Secondly, commercially available materials retard the growth of plant organs other than leaves, such as roots, rhizomes, and stolons."

"Consequently, treated plants are unable to recover from injury until the chemical stress disappears," Watschke tension agent, presented a program on pattern alterations for a meeting of the Chaparral Home Demonstration Club.

The meeting held in the home of Mrs. Sybil Jeffrey, Lynda Barber, vice president, presided. New members introduced were Mrs. Beverley Anderle and Mrs. Lucille Matthews.

Mrs. Mathilda Kuebler was a guest. Mrs. Barber gave a brief history of the 4-H Clubs and their activities.

Vinyl wall coverings can endure the test of time

By ADELE FAULKNER
Copley News Service
Vinyl coverings on your apartment walls can stand up best to wear and tear.

The lightweight canvas-backed vinyl wall coverings are the most expensive, but low maintenance and durability may make them well worth the extra cost.

There also are wallpapers with a vinyl coating which are easier to clean than standard wall coverings. However, if you do select the more expensive kind with the canvas backing be sure to stay with the 20-ounce fabric. The heavier ones are more costly and usually designed for use in commercial installations.

The lightweight canvas wall coverings with vinyl surface come in a wide variety of good plain colors. The patterns are limited, but there are stripes and interesting textures, some of which even simulate silk.

The solid colors are good for children's bedrooms which will have ever-changing posters and collections hung and rebung on the walls. Nail holes are less visible on the vinyl wall covering than they are on painted plastered walls.

There are a number of decorative effects that can be created by combining different colors and patterns. If a plain vinyl is selected for the room, make one wall a contrasting color.

A pattern or wall covering of a different color could be used on the sliding closet door to provide contrast and a different look.

The door wall in a change of color from the rest of the room often balances the weight of the furniture on the other walls.

Salad tasting lunch held by GG Auxiliary

The Permian Basin Geological and Geophysical Auxiliary had a salad tasting luncheon in the Parish Hall of the Episcopal Church of the Holy Trinity.

"There's a Song in My Heart" was the theme of the program presented by the Desert Winds Chapter, Sweet Adelines, Inc. Mrs. J. Stewart Martin and Mrs. Charles R. Tierce were co-chairmen for the program. The hostesses were Mrs. G. Gerald Calhoun, Mrs. Charles M. Hartwell, Mrs. H. W. Hollingshead Jr., Mrs. Forrest M. Muire Jr., Mrs. James C. Osburg, Mrs. C. Newton Page, Mrs. James J. Storrie and Mrs. James R. Story. Eighty-three members and guests attended. The guests were Mrs. Nat Harben, Mrs. Caroline Sharp, Carolyn Holland, Mrs. Jack Latha, Mrs. Frank Cornish and Mrs. Clift Hancock. Winners of the membership prizes were Mrs. Calhoun, Mrs. James McCreight and Mrs. S. W. Tift. Mrs. Wayne Woodside, president, presented the following slate of officers: Mrs. Jim Sparks and Mrs. A. E. Simmons, president-elect; Mrs. Bill Finch and Mrs. Henry Libby, first vice president; Mrs. Jerry Carson and Mrs. Jack Jordan, second vice president; Mrs. Hugh Frenzel and Mrs. Lawrence Smith, recording secretary; Mrs. Calhoun and Mrs. Robert Frazier, treasurer; Mrs. Gary Geron and Mrs. James Murphy, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Sam Conley, Mrs. Ken Green, Mrs. McCreight, Mrs. Osburg, Mrs. Joseph Reese, Mrs. John Ryan, Mrs. E. Leonard Shepherd, Mrs. Storrie, Mrs. G. J. Wilson and Mrs. Fred Yates, directors. The newly elected officers will be presented at the March meeting, which will be a luncheon and guest day featuring a Bicentennial theme. Models will wear costumes dating from the 1880s through the 1970s. Information concerning membership in the auxiliary may be obtained from Mrs. Wilson Comola, 694-2728.

Slow and steady

Slow and steady is the rule to remember when cooking bacon and sausage for best flavor, tender texture and least taste. By keeping the heat low, these meat products can be cooked thoroughly without drying or scorching.

For drooping

When draperies droop at the top, showing the traverse rod, perk them up by washing in the usual way and place them back on the rod while slightly damp holding them in place with clip clothespins. Spray with spray starch. When dry, remove clothespins and they will stand up perky like new.

Women fear moving trauma

By ELAINE SMYTH
Copley News Service

Although moving from one home to another affects various family members in different ways, there is one feeling that everyone shares: fear of the unknown.

"That's the worst part of moving for anyone," says Miss Alice Bowman, home moving consultant. "It's the fear of being out of step and out of our comfortable routines — knowing exactly where to find everything from the best meat market to the best place to take your cleaning."

Miss Bowman was an expert on moving even before she joined Allied Van Lines in Broadview, Ill., nine years ago.

"Well, for starters, I went to about 10 different grammar schools and I've been moving ever since," she said during an interview.

In the United States, she said, one out of every five families will change its address each year. This can mean anything from moving across town to across country.

Based on day-to-day experience and from material that came out of three symposiums on moving, the industry people recognize that the woman is most affected by the move and, if handled properly, children affected the least.

Q. Is it possible for sleepwalkers to do things they could not do if they were awake?

A. Sleepwalking is a condition in which a person carries out physical actions while he is asleep. Tests have shown that most sleepwalkers cannot hear ordinary sounds. The sleepwalker cannot see, taste or smell. But generally he has excellent control over his muscles. Many sleepwalkers have performed acts which they could not do if they were conscious. Upon awakening, sleepwalkers may remember what they have done, but they remember it only as a dream.

AFL-CIO almost sure to back Demos

By ROBERT A. DOBKIN
 MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The AFL-CIO appears ready to support almost any Democratic presidential nominee but George Meany says Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey stands the best chance of defeating President Ford.

Meany, president of the AFL-CIO called the Minnesota Democrat "the most electable" among the party's possibilities, and Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., "a very formidable candidate." But Meany stressed that neither he nor the labor federation was endorsing anyone at this time.

"I'm sure we will give a good deal of consideration to making a choice when the candidates have been chosen," Meany told a news conference Monday.

He said the only announced Democratic candidate the AFL-CIO could not support was Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace, whom Meany called "a disaster."

Kennedy has removed himself from the race this year, while Humphrey has said he would accept a draft at the convention.

On the Republican side, the 81-year-old patriarch of the labor movement denounced both President Ford and his challenger, Ronald Reagan, as "products of Republican conservatism."

Though the AFL-CIO has adopted a neutral position for the Democratic primaries, Meany said he has encouraged individual unions to take part in electing delegates to assure labor a voice in the convention next July.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., blitzed the AFL-CIO executive council meeting which opened Monday.

He promoted his candidacy by meeting with 26 union presidents over breakfast, met with other labor officials at a poolside reception and later was guest of honor at a cocktail party hosted by Steelworkers president I.W. Abel and 10 other union chiefs.

Jackson has endorsements from at least four AFL-CIO vice presidents and is expected to receive more.

Soviet envoy to carry back SALT proposals

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin will soon be headed for Moscow with new U.S. proposals that could point the way to a long-delayed treaty limiting offensive nuclear weapons.

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger completed his outline of the new American position Monday at the White House before leaving on a visit to South America. It was the second session between the two negotiators over the long holiday weekend.

Unless an unforeseen hitch develops, the relay of the U.S. proposals will set the stage for another Kissinger visit to Moscow within two months to try to nail down final terms that have eluded negotiators for almost 15 months.

The drive for a compromise centers on the Soviet Backfire bomber and the American cruise missile and to what extent, if any, they should be covered by a tentative agreement to hold both powers to 2,400 vehicles that could deliver nuclear weapons.

The administration's pursuit of a treaty now looms as a major political issue. Last week, campaigning in the New Hampshire Republican presidential primary, Ronald Reagan called the cruise missile "a bright spot for us in what has become a growing weapons imbalance" and warned against its limitation.

Last month, on a trip to Moscow, Kissinger received from Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev a proposed package deal that U.S. officials said includes "some significant and constructive new ideas."

Basically, these involved exempting the swinging medium range Backfires from the Soviet total provided the bombers are based beyond easy striking distance of the United States.

In the trade off, U.S. bombers could carry cruise missiles with ranges of up to 1,500 miles, with each bomber counting against the U.S. total while strict limits would be imposed on submarine and surface launched versions of the low flying drone missiles.

At a news conference last Thursday, Kissinger said after a Soviet reply to the latest U.S. counter proposal is received "we will be able to judge how close we are to an agreement and what the next step should be."

Texas woman wins harem ring

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Mrs. Amelia Flores bought three tickets for $1 to help out a Central Texas Roman Catholic church and then forgot about it. Now she owns a ring donated to the church by actress Sophia Loren.

"At first I couldn't believe it," said Mrs. Flores Monday night after she had driven about 100 miles to Mason to pick up the ruby-studded harem ring, which is a cluster of five rings worn as one.

The raffle was held Sunday in Llano by the Holy Trinity Parish Church. The priest there is Father Anthony Goossens, who has churches in Llano, Mason and Sunrise Beach.

It was Father Goossens, a good friend of Miss Loren, who got her to donate the ring to the Holy Trinity Parish's building fund. He then decided to raffle the ring.

From 80,000 to 70,000 tickets were sold, and about $25,000 was raised for the church, Father Goossens said.

"I bought the tickets from a friend at work who was selling them for the church," Mrs. Flores said. "I didn't think I would win. I just bought them to help the church."

She said she had forgotten them until Father Goossens telephoned her Sunday night.

"It feels good to know that it belonged to Sophia Loren." She said she was going to put the ring in a safe deposit box the first thing this morning. She said she was told the rings was worth between $1,500 and $2,000.

Father Goossens began corresponding with Miss Loren after the actress had financed a trip to Houston for a French woman so she could have heart surgery several years ago. He has visited her several times in Italy and saw her when she came to Dallas last year.

Patty Hearst, jury view tiny closets

The Los Angeles Times
SAN FRANCISCO — A shaken Patricia Hearst Monday returned to the two tiny closets she claims were makeshift jail cells where she was threatened, sexually abused and coerced into joining her captors in armed bank robbery.

Her attorney, describing to jurors inspecting the two former Symbionese Liberation Army hideouts, said Miss Hearst had been reluctant to return to the scene of her captivity and had broken down when she did so.

At both places, Miss Hearst, as well as each juror, stepped inside the closets she has testified her captors called "the people's prison."

"She was quite shaken," Albert Johnson told reporters. "When she saw the first closet she cried and sobbed...At one point, I, in fact, did have to hold her up. I thought she was going to faint."

UNDER HEAVY SECURITY, Miss Hearst and the jurors in her armed robbery trial were transported by armed U.S. Marshals to inspect first an apartment in a largely black neighborhood in San Francisco and then to a small stucco home in a palm-lined, mainly white residential area of nearby Daly City.

They were accompanied by U.S. Dist. Court Judge Oliver J. Carter, Asst. U.S. Atty. F. Steele Langford and defense counsel Johnson, as well as court aides. Reporters were not permitted inside the two residences during the jury's inspection of the premises.

An unwieldy caravan — sedans driven by marshals, the jurors in an aging blue and white bus and scores of reporters and cameramen chasing them all in everything from a Volkswagen Beetle to a black limousine — made its way erratically through the rain-spattered streets, passing through stop signs and red lights without the benefit of police sirens or motorcycle escort.

Lawyers for the 21-year-old heiress had requested the jury inspection to dramatize their contention that at these two hideouts her captors had threatened and abused her to the point that, against her will, she participated with them in holding up a bank here April 15, 1974 — just over two months after her kidnaping.

The prosecution contends she joined her captors voluntarily and that the story of threats and coercion she has told thus far in the trial is a fabrication.

ACCORDING TO JOHNSON, each of the jurors examined and then stepped into the tiny rooms Miss Hearst claimed to have spent a total of nine weeks following her abduction — first, the 1 foot 7 inch by 5 foot closet at the San Francisco apartment; second, the 2 foot by 5 foot, 6-inch closet in the home in Daly City.

"The first one is so small it did not accommodate me when I stepped inside," remarked the stocky attorney.

A visit to a third location — the Hibernia bank where the robbery took place — was postponed after bank officials advised lawyers in the case that its bonding company would not permit the bank to be opened on a holiday.

At the four-story brick apartment building, a crowd of 150 persons — most with news agencies — gathered in the streets, blocking traffic.

Marshals, mindful of security, looked down from building rooftops. Residents watched from open windows and children viewed the scene from fire escapes.

"See that apartment?" exclaimed one small boy to some young acquaintances. "That's where they had Patty Hearst!"

Miss Hearst was virtually carried to and from the apartment by marshals, as a swarm of photographers, cameramen and technicians converged in a crush on the frail, pale defendant and her escorts. She wore no manacles.

LATER, JUDGE CARTER entered the apartment, as did the jurors, moving single file from the bus in the street into the building and on up to the third floor and apartment No. 6.

Frozen Food Storage of Midland will open Wednesday.

Frozen Food Storage to open

Pioneering a new concept in frozen food bulk buys and storage, a group of Midland businessmen Wednesday will stage grand opening ceremonies for Dollar Stretcher Frozen Food Storage.

The facility is located at 3112-A W.

share a space, is designed to help the consumer save up to 20 per cent in cost by buying in bulk direct from the produce wholesaler.

Busby said the concept makes available to consumers more than 1,000 gourmet items normally offered only to restaurants, as well as 330 separate frozen food and produce items from local produce wholesalers.

The frozen food all may be ordered through the plant attendant in just one stop for an additional savings of time.

Gerald Helm, president; Bob Conner executive vice president; Roger Allen, vice president; David Hoelscher, secretary-treasurer.

Other members of the corporation include Martin Neill, Fred M. Allison, Raymond Jenkins and Dr. Jack Young.

BUSINESS

Cuthbert St. and boasts 1,600-square-foot storage capacity.

Ribbon-cutting and opening ceremonies will be at 10 a.m. Wednesday. Several official guests will be present for the event. H. R. Busby, general manager, said opening ceremonies will continue through Feb. 24.

Dollar Stretcher Frozen Food Storage, the first plant of its kind, will feature several hundred frozen food items from national concerns throughout the opening days.

Workshop uses miles of yarn

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — A popular art workshop for children here uses enough yarn in a year to link the Empire State Building to the Washington Monument.

The kids in the Crown Center workshop, which is called "Kaleidoscope," consume 500 miles of yarn in a year. They also use 56 miles of ribbon and 110,000 pompons.

Flooding possible in Midwest

By The Associated Press

Unseasonably warm temperatures have spread north through the Ohio Valley and eastern Great Lakes, causing significant snow melt. This, along with heavy rains, is expected to trigger possible flooding on rivers and streams in New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio.

Thunderstorms continue today along a cold front from western New York and the Ohio Valley into southeast Missouri.

Monday afternoon and evening the storms brought severe wind damage from eastern Missouri into Ohio, including two tornadoes in southern Illinois. The storms also carried substantial rain to the area.

Officials at O'Hare International Airport at Chicago said flights were delayed nearly an hour late Monday because of thunderstorms that passed through the area.

Cold air lying north of a warm front still chilled northeastern border states. Snow fell from eastern Wisconsin into northern Michigan.

Monday's balmy weather was recordbreaking in Augusta and Athens, Ga., the National Weather Service said.

Augusta's record high for the date was broken with an 80 and Athens set a record of 78.

Temperatures around the nation early today ranged from 72 at Key West, Fla., and McAllen, Tex., to three at Limestone, Maine.

Some other reports: Anchorage 18 partly cloudy, Atlanta 60 cloudy, Boston 40 rain, Buffalo 37 cloudy, Chicago 39 cloudy, Cincinnati 62 cloudy, Cleveland 53 partly cloudy, Dallas 64 clear, Denver 37 cloudy, Detroit 40 partly cloudy.

Teens protest busing

BOSTON (AP) — Groups of teen-agers have thrown rocks, sticks and bottles at police for two days despite a vow by Police Commissioner Robert diGrazia to increase security and end violence.

About 500 young persons gathered near the Bunker Hill Monument in the Charlestown section Monday night, tossed objects, set small fires and destroyed the windshields of several police cars, authorities said.

Police called it an anti-busing demonstration. They said no arrests were made.

The trouble came the night after diGrazia said he would assign 500 or 1,000 officers to the South Boston section if necessary to prevent an outbreak of violence that developed with an anti-busing march Sunday.

An anti-busing group said Monday it will hold a protest march next Sunday. Robert Dinsmore, a spokesman for ROAR (Restore Our Alienated Rights), told reporters, "We will apply for a permit... If the permit is turned down, we're going to march."

He was among marchers Sunday who became involved in a two-hour melee with police near South Boston High School.

The school and its neighborhood have been a focal point of opposition for nearly two years to a desegregation order that took effect in September 1974.

DiGrazia held a separate news conference Monday and said, "We will present the type of force necessary to prevent what happened yesterday."

Thirteen persons were arrested Sunday. Seven were charged with assault and battery and six with disorderly conduct.

DiGrazia said 80 police officers were treated at hospitals for injuries ranging from broken hands and teeth to cuts and bruises.

Finding jobs hard for Florida space engineers

The Los Angeles Times
TITUSVILLE, Fla. — Bill Stover is pumping gasoline at a Texaco station. Gene Corby is looking for a job, and doing some research on solar energy.

Harvey Renshaw is divorced, drawing unemployment compensation, supporting three kids and getting into horology, the science of clock-building.
Rufus Steadman gives daily thanks that he is nearing the age at which he will be eligible for Social Security benefits.

THEY ARE ALL former aerospace engineers or technicians who were cast adrift when the nation's space program powered down to a near-standstill after the Apollo and Skylab programs.

For years, Titusville, in Brevard County, has been the Kennedy Space Center's bedroom community. However, it never achieved the glamor of such places as Cocoa Beach or Cape Canaveral, and today some parts of Titusville could be Ghost City, U.S.A.

Brevard County, the heart of the U.S. space effort, today has one of the highest unemployment rates in the nation — between 16 per cent and 17 per cent. The national average is 7.8 per cent.

The good news in the local newspapers is that the county's cancer rate is 43 per cent lower than the national average, and that the state's newest prison will be built here and will employ 197 persons.

The bad news, as one state official puts it, is that "the outlook for 1976 for technical positions in Brevard County is bleak. Let's look elsewhere."

LOOKING ELSEWHERE, however, is something most of the engineers have declined to do. Many of the ex-aerospace workers simply refuse to leave this land of sun and sand and the easy-come, easy-go mode of living.

"It's unbelievable!" said J.H. Brewster, who works in a state unemployment office at nearby Cocoa. "Some companies won't even come in here to recruit because they know the people won't move."

Unemployment in Brevard County, 80 miles long and 20 miles wide, is almost as high as in some perpetual pockets of U.S. joblessness, such as the West Virginia mountains, Southwest Louisiana or the Rio Grande Valley in Texas.

There are between 3,000 and 4,000 unemployed aerospace engineers and technicians roaming the county, many of them making do with unemployment compensation ranging from $80 to $170 a week. Some of them now realize that they have remained too long and have missed the opportunity to get jobs elsewhere.

THE "MISERY INDEX," devised by federal economists, combines unemployment and inflation rates. Ten years ago the "misery index" in Brevard County stood at 3.7 per cent. Recently, while the national average was 14.5 per cent, Brevard County scored 22.9 per cent.

People like Bob Smith and his wife sell oranges and grapefruit from the back of a pickup truck to make ends meet. That is not their real name. They are reluctant to have their names known because they are also drawing unemployment compensation, fudging it, to make a living as best they can.

Some of the best television and air-conditioning repairmen in the nation are located around here — all highly skilled ex-aerospace engineers.

Edward M. Sears, head of the state Technical Mobilization Reemployment Program (TMRP) in Cocoa, a man who has dealt almost exclusively with aerospace joblessness, discussed the unemployed aerospace engineers bluntly:

"Many of these guys are the cream of the crop. They were held by their companies until the last possible month. Some have been here since the 1950s. They've got sand in their shoes and they don't want to move."

"Part of our job, a big part, is to psyche these guys into moving and quit using up their savings. We tell them to go to Houston. There are lots of jobs for engineers there.

"But it's funny about human nature... They felt it couldn't happen to them. They felt the big star would always continue to shine down on them."

"We don't expect much work from the space shuttle program until 1979 and when it is established it is just going to be like running an airport. Not many new jobs will be available," Sears said.

Sears' TMRP office is last of 14 set up throughout the nation to help reemploy aerospace workers. The others have all closed. The program pays a worker up to $500 to find a job, including an airplane ticket and daily living allowance while he is traveling, then up to $1,200 if he has to move his household.

Brevard County's high unemployment compares with a statewide jobless rate of about 13 per cent, the highest since the Great Depression of the 1930s.

In all the county, Titusville is the worst off. There are closed gasoline stations and boarded up windows — quite a few of them. There are 400 houses for sale.

THAT'S NOT as bad as it sounds, said Joseph L. McKnight, a real estate salesman and transplant from Oak Ridge, Tenn.

"I invest every penny I have in real estate in Brevard County. You can live real cheap around here. If you wanted to, and I don't know anybody who really does, you could live off the land, or in the back of a truck, get seafood from the ocean, plant potatoes, eat oranges. You can get a good buy on a house now. This area will come back up one day."

McKnight quotes an old Appalachia saying, "Burn-out cheaper than move-out," meaning that it is cheaper to stay put and rebuild, than to pick up and move somewhere else.

He said that is the philosophy of many unemployed aerospace workers.

Mrs. Pat Hagen of the Brevard Council, which is trying to stimulate economic recovery, said aerospace is finished. The economy was not helped when 300 workers of nearby Patrick Air Force Base were laid off some months ago.

Mrs. Hagen's husband was an aerospace worker. They have some vivid memories of the series of layoffs in the aerospace program.

"A lot of the Ph.D.'s went to drugstores for jobs and gasoline stations and some are still there, and it seems as if a lot of the engineers went to places like Sears and Roebuck to clerk," Mrs. Hagen said.

A FEW — a very few — were successful. One of those is John Moore, who is now mayor of Cocoa Beach. A former test pilot, he began lecturing, got involved with several small companies and now has a thriving waterbed firm. Moore, who worked for the old North American Aviation, now Rockwell International, said he just did not want to go back to Los Angeles.

"A lot of people around here feel that way, not just about L.A. but also New York or Washington. It affected various people in various ways," Moore said. "Those with education and perseverance did the best."

There are some of the unemployed engineers, 10 to 15 years older than when they first came to Florida, who are becoming so anxious to get jobs that they will take work in Saudi Arabia or Iran or the Pacific — if it is available.

"A guy gets desperate," said Gary Major of Casselberry, Fla., who has been out of a job for eight months.

There is a frown on his face as he stands in front of the receptionist at the unemployment office in Cocoa. His appointment, she says, is tomorrow — not today.

There must be some mistake.

NOTHING SEEMS to be going right for Major.

"I drove 50 miles to get here," he complained.

His frown turns into an angry grimace. This is almost too much. Back tomorrow. Another 50 miles. He stands in frustration. But he needs a job badly. The one he is trying to get is on Kwajalein Island, a missile test range in the Pacific, lonely and desolate.

In the vest pocket of his neat green tweed suit is tucked a resume of his experience. He has had two jobs during the last couple of years but both fizzled out. And to get both jobs he had to "underqualify" himself, not reporting that he has an engineering degree.

"A lot of these clowns won't hire you if they think you know more than they do," he said.

No more Mojo in more ways than one! First, the score of 63-53 was the sweetest victory the Rebs have had all season. Our mighty Rebel Roundballers really stomped the punky Panthers Friday night. Not only did the team win, but the LHS cheering section was way ahead of those Panthers, too. Junior Miller and Brent Huckaby were ahead as high-point scorers in the game and Coach Stueckler wins as the most excited coach of the year. Way to go, Big Rebs!

Congrats also to the J.V. and sophomore squads for holding up their end of the ball game as they pounced on Permian also.

Tonight is the night, the time is now. Our Rebel team will show you how to put Lee Rebels in first place. We want to see all you Rebel fans tonight in our gym at 8 o'clock. Our support really wiped out that Mojo magic. Just think of what we can do to the Abilene Eagles' ego, so bring your vocal chords and see ya' tonight. Come on, Rebelettes, put out the effort for our very last home game and be at the gym at 7:30 sharp. Thanks for everything! Ya'll have been great this year, so don't let us down now. See ya tonight.

Not only did we mash Mojo in basketball but the golfers really put it to 'em, also as they beat 'em, by two strokes in the Midland Invitational Golf Tournament. Chris Brown won second medalist honors. Congratulations, Rebelmen.

The female branch of the golf team putted to a second in the San Antonio Invitational, with Liz Norton taking third place honors in medalist competition. Way to go, girls!

A Rebel salute goes out to the Lee girls tennis team for showing such Rebel talent at San Antonio Tennis Tourney last weekend. A special hand goes to Keri Ashford for battling her way to the semifinals. Way to net 'em girls!

The spirit of '76 has done it again, with Jeff Sapya being named state winner in the "Voice of Democracy" contest. Jeff will represent Midland in national competition next month during a five-day trip to Washington, D. C., and then he's off to San Diego along with $2,000 worth of scholarships as one of the 50 students to attend a nationwide seminar.

Thanks N.H.S. members, sponsors and especially teachers for your time and patience as this Valentine's Day was definitely the most exciting ever.

Majority viewpoint

A number of noteworthy facts are revealed in a recent survey on national affairs conducted among its membership by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

The survey showed, for instance, that 88 per cent of the persons responding consider the federal government to be a bigger threat to free enterprise than any other group or organization.

This percentage figure undoubtedly would hold very close in a statewide poll, and it perhaps would not be too far off nationwide.

It is really something, a vast majority of the citizens feeling that their federal government is the real enemy of free enterprise, the very thing which has made this country great in many ways.

The survey results certainly should say something to members of Congress and the personnel of many of the bureaucratic agencies of government. Hopefully, they will get the message, but one wonders sometimes how many of them really care.

The survey also revealed that 80 per cent feel that Congress could best solve the nation's energy problems by removing all federal restrictions on the energy industry, letting it solve the problems, which it can and would do if the regulations were removed.

William A. Griffis Jr. of San Angelo, chairman of WTCC's National Affairs Committee, is so right in his comment that, "Almost every time Congress has tried to solve our energy problems, the situation has become worse. Congress has failed in its efforts and it is about time that they let the oil and gas people work out the nation's energy problems without interfering."

It also is noteworthy that 78 per cent feel that all farm feedlots should not be required to comply with EPA cleanup regulations if the costs are disastrous.

Sixty-eight per cent concurred with WTCC in opposing the National Park Service's proposal to designate 559,000 acres of Big Bend National Park as a wilderness area, thereby stopping all future development. Twenty-seven per cent did not concur.

Over in the Guadalupe Mountains National Park, the West Texas Chamber supports construction of a tramway to Guadalupe Peak as being in the best interest of the majority of visitors. Seventy-five per cent of the persons responding concurred, compared with only 11 per cent opposed.

And here is a really interesting one...79 per cent feel that the oil and gas industry is being persecuted by Congress. Eighteen per cent expressed the opposite view.

In answer to other questions, 69 per cent said they thought Social Security should be taken out of government administration and replaced by required, government insured annuities written by private enterprise, and 72 per cent said they are not in favor of having some areas of the state marked off as no-growth areas, in keeping with air quality standards of the Clear Air Act.

This speaks for the majority viewpoint in West Texas.

You are invited!

The Midland Chamber of Commerce will stage its annual membership banquet Thursday night in the Midland County Exhibit Building, with the public invited to attend.

Leon Jaworski, prominent Houston attorney, civic leader and former Watergate prosecutor, will be the principal speaker. Jaworski is a past president of the American Bar Association. He also is a past president of the Houston Chamber of Commerce, the Houston Rotary Club and the Houston Chapter of the American Red Cross. He is said to be one of the nation's most popular and most forceful after-dinner speakers.

A capacity crowd certainly should be on hand for this big annual event, not only to hear the speaker but to thank retiring President William J. Mewhorter for a job well done for the Chamber of Commerce and for Midland during the past year, and to greet the new president, Howard "Rocky" Ford, and to wish him well.

NICK THIMMESCH

Democratic mishmash in New Hampshire primary

MANCHESTER, N.H. — Campaigning in the Democratic primary rushes to a close here with the voters in a lovely, diffident mood. The latest guess is that 40 per cent are undecided on which of the 17 names offered they should favor as presidential nominee.

What a vain effort. After all, it will be the media which decides the winner, no matter who gets the most votes.

Meanwhile, a collection of panting aspirants climb stairs, forage through shopping centers and clubs, and do sentry duty at plant gates. Their goal: to shake every last hand of those 92,000 Democratic souls who voted in the 1972 primary, and the mitts of the new voters as well. It is many candidates in search of not-so-many voters.

The New Hampshire primary is further diluted this year because neighboring Maine, Vermont and Massachusetts are holding their presidential preference exercise about the same time. So candidates and their TV and newspaper advertising cross state lines in an approximation of a regional primary.

Here, Jimmy Carter, Rep. Morris Udall and Sen. Birch Bayh are marked as leaders of the 14 packed on the Democratic ballot. Write-in efforts are under way for Sens. Hubert Humphrey and Henry Jackson, and John Connally, one of Texas' newest Republicans. No candidate will admit to being ahead, and it seems each works for votes from special "fans."

Carter comes off nice. His soft voice threatens the Washington bureaucracy while he advertises his own leadership as Georgia's governor. The knives are out for him because the national countsmen have put him slightly ahead of the pack. Liberal pecksniffs scrutinize his every utterance, partly because of their organic revulsion for Southerners.

But Carter's Southern speech and mannerisms have worn well on the New Englanders. To help distinguish him in a melange of candidates, Carter's managers have twice brought into the state a contingent of 100 Georgians who canvass the precincts, leaving their accents as memorable souvenirs.

Being the tallest candidate isn't enough to make Rep. Morris Udall, a former basketball player, a standout, so Udall got Archibald Cox, famous after President Nixon fired him as Watergate prosecutor, to do TV commercials in flinty Yankee voice for him.

Udall has campaigned hard, and his saturation radio advertising probably pushes his spending to the $200,000 limit. He's easygoing and friendly as he drinks beer in the Polish-American Club, chats with bingo players in a church hall, and looks over card games at the Elk's

INSIDE REPORT

Ford's swing through New Hampshire talked

By ROWLAND EVANS And ROBERT NOVAK

CONCORD, N.H. — That President Ford's swing through New Hampshire lethargic and unexciting though it was, breathed a little life into his previously comatose campaign here is evidence of his danger in this state's Feb. 24 primary.

Altered only slightly by the President's first overt campaigning, this is his grim New Hampshire balance sheet: the Ford campaign has been overwhelmingly and irrevocably outorganized by Ronald Reagan's forces; the Ford effort to downgrade Reagan has largely flopped; the intensity of Reagan's conservative hard core remains high; absolutely nothing is being done for the President in much of the state.

This balance sheet would make Reagan the clear winner of an ordinary election. But the aura of a President of the United States is such that nobody counts out Mr. Ford, and most politicians consider the outcome fifty-fifty. Shortly after Mr. Ford returned to Washington, however, Reagan opened an attack, long planned and even longer contemplated, aimed at the heart of Mr. Ford's incumbency: his stewardship of foreign policy.

"By acting as if we expect the Soviets to inherit the earth," Reagan declared in a new speech at Exeter, N.H., the President has botched up foreign policy. Reagan, convinced the public has turned against both detente and Secretary of State Henry Kissinger, has been thinking about this approach for weeks and preparing the actual speech for ten days.

Thus, as we forecast two weeks ago, Reagan has shifted from the nipping intricacies of governmental accounting to the broad sweep of global strategy. To combat this, the President risks much in relying only on his threadbare New Hampshire organization and an expected return trip here the weekend before the election. To insure against disaster, he may need the major presidential initiative of Nixonian dimensions he so far has been incapable of making.

Mr. Ford still suffers from last year's mindless political barnstorming, which besides diminishing his prestige has restricted his present campaigning. His New Hampshire swing, limiting media exposure because it came on the weekend, was intentionally "presidential" rather than "political." The result: a leisurely schedule heavy on non-political appearances, light on crowds and devoid of the excitement associated with an incumbent President on the campaign trail.

Nevertheless, the "presidential" atmosphere was violated when his last event, a University of New Hampshire rally, provided the weekend's only excitement. The President's aides were elated and traveling reporters impressed by Mr. Ford's masterful handling of student hecklers. But many politicians here believe television news clips of the heckling stripped away the "presidential" image. "I think the President demeaned himself arguing with a bunch of nutty kids," one prominent Republican told us.

Nor do politicians feel that the negative campaign against Reagan, planned at President Ford Committee (PFC) headquarters in Washington, accomplished much. Moreover, it has caused friction between Rep. James Cleveland, the President's New Hampshire chairman, and the PFC in Washington.

Having wound up their attack on Reagan's $90 billion transfer plan, PFC operatives want a similar attack on Reagan's social security proposals. But Cleveland objects, refusing to repeat the 1964 social security assault here on Sen. Barry Goldwater. Ford men, however, suspect Cleveland is chary of Reaganite constituents in his congressional district. "There is a remarkably chummy relationship between the two campaigns here," one PFC operative gumbled to us.

While the PFC's anti-Reagan campaign seems fading, Reagan's new attack against Ford foreign policy is aided by Mr. Ford revealing he would ask Dr. Kissinger to stay on after the election. This is considered an avoidable blunder by Ford supporters here, who note the applause invariably generated by Reagan when he promises to replace Kissinger.

An unavoidable blunder was Richard M. Nixon's prospective trip to Communist China, which produced the first question to Mr. Ford when Air Force One landed in Manchester, N.H. While the President waved aside Nixon's trip as having "no political ramifications at all," it is now the principal topic of conversation among Republican insiders here. Their verdict: it cannot help and may well hurt Mr. Ford.

Even so, incumbency alone gives Gerald Ford an even chance to avert a disastrous defeat. To have more than an even chance, the Ford high command will have to think up something more than another humdrum presidential visitation.

BIBLE VERSE

But when I saw that they walked not uprightly according to the truth of the gospel, I said unto Peter before them all, If thou, being a Jew, livest after the manner of Gentiles, and not as do the Jews, why compellest thou the Gentiles to live as do the Jews? — Galatians 2:14.

WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

MLPA requests talks with U.S.

By JACK ANDERSON with LES WHITTEN

WASHINGTON — The victorious communist-backed forces in Angola have sent a surprising secret message to Secretary of State Henry Kissinger, requesting talks with the United States.

In the appeal to Kissinger, the pro-Soviet MPLA leaders made the astonishing promise that they would ask Cuban and Soviet troops to leave Angola once the civil war is over.

The urgent message to Kissinger was delivered to the State Department by Mark Moran, foreign policy adviser to Sen. John Tunney, D-Calif. Moran spent eight days in the Angolan capital of Luanda talking with top MPLA leaders.

Both Tunney and Moran are cautious about the unusual communication. Although the message is quite specific, they recognize it could be an exercise in prologandia rather than genuine diplomacy.

The State Department is also skeptical. A rapprochement with the MPLA, of course, would be an admission that the past U.S. policy toward Angola was wrong. Kissinger and Company, therefore, may be merely trying to hedge their past mistakes.

Tunney feels the MPLA's offer of a detente at least is worth exploring, even if it should lead nowhere.

The four-page message to Kissinger was delivered in the form of an aide memoire written by Moran, setting forth his questions and the MPLA's answers. These are not the answers of a spokesman who can later be repudiated. They were given to Moran directly by MPLA's Prime Minister Lopo Nascimento, Defense Minister Iko Carrera and general secretary Lucio Lara.

From a copy of the confidential Moran memo, here are the key excerpts:

"Question (by Moran): What is the position of the MPLA on the presence of Soviet and Cuban troops and military advisers in Angola?"

"Answer: We have no desire for a permanent Soviet or Cuban presence. When the other foreign forces withdraw, so too will the Soviets and Cubans.

"Question: Is this an assurance which I can carry back to my government as representing the position of the MPLA?"

"Answer: Yes.

"Question: (Will) the MPLA allow the Soviet Union the use of air and naval facilities in Angola?"

"Answer: You may assure your government that we will never permit the establishment of any foreign bases on Angolan soil, air or naval, including those of the Soviet Union. This is superpower business, and we want none of it."

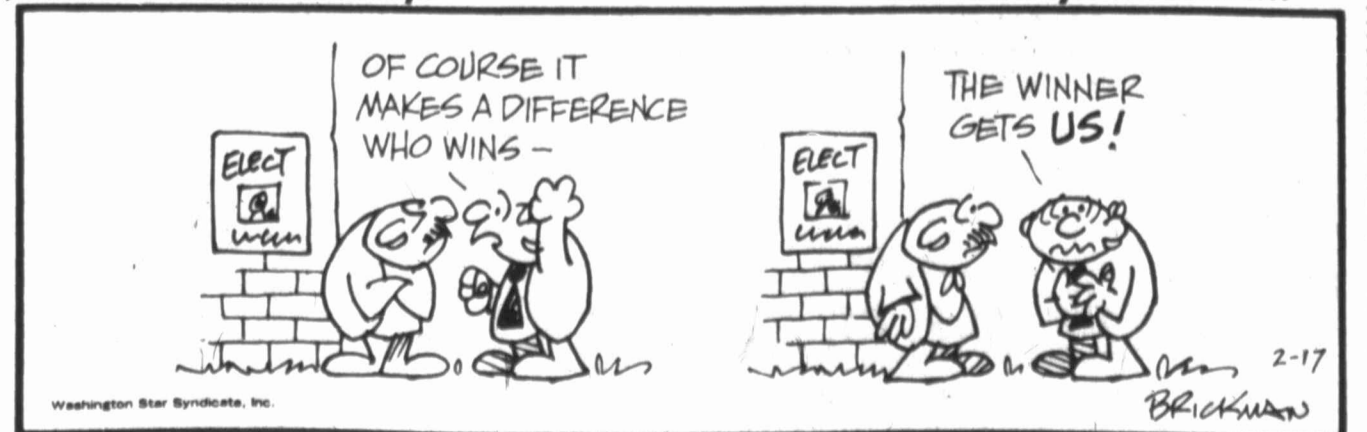

The idea of U.S.-MPLA talks "on a public or private basis... on issues of mutual concern" drew an enthusiastic response from the Africans. "We are not only ready, we would welcome the opportunity," the three MPLA leaders told Moran.

just another relative. He was gutsy enough to deliver a good speech in French (hide Berlitz) to a gathering of Franco-Americans in Nashua, amusing them with stories about Charles de Gaulle. He fends off the frequently asked abortion question by declaring his opposition to abortion, vowing to uphold the Supreme Court and reciting his efforts to find abortion alternatives.

Abortion is the only hot issue here. Everybody thunders against special interests, bureaucratic inefficiency and Republican ogres. Oil companies catch uncommon hell.

There should be no conclusions drawn from the results, but there will be. No candidate, Harris included, will ever be able to carry out what he or she promised, not even the best-known names, nor Rick Loewenherz, Billy Joe Clegg, Frank J. Bona, Arthur Blessitt or Mrs. Ellen McCormack, the right-to-Life candidate.
