Ronald Reagan, relaxing today after his victory in the North Carolina primary, says he won because the voters are finally beginning to "catch on" to his attacks on President Ford.

The President said he will make a big effort in Wisconsin, adding that he expects to win the primary there and the nomination in Kansas City.

The Democratic victor, Jimmy Carter, already was campaigning in Wisconsin for the state's April 6 primary. Carter has won five of six primaries, but Tuesday's contest marked the first time he had received more than 50 per cent of the vote. He easily outdistanced Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace, who won in North Carolina in 1972, and four other Democrats who didn't campaign in Later this week, Carter will head for delegate-rich New York and a stiff challenge from Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington in New York's Discussing the Wisconsin contest, Ford said: "It will be close, but we expect to win. We expect to go to Kansas City and we expect to be nominated.

Reagan, who won his first primary after five defeats, getting 52 per cent of the North Carolina Republican vote to Ford's 46 per cent, cancelled most of his appearances for the next week, temporarily withdrawing from the campaign trail to work on what was billed as a major television address.

Ford's loss marked the first time an incumbent president had dropped a primary since 1968 when Sen. Eugene

J. McCarthy defeated Lyndon B. Johnson in Wisconsin two days after Johnson announced he would not run

Commenting on the North Carolina voting, White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen said, "The President lost. We have no excuse and no alibi."

Peter Kaye, a Ford campaign spokesman, said Reagan's cause may have been helped by talk of getting the former California governor out of the race. "I think maybe it was a sympathy vote," he said.

If Reagan had lost as expected in North Carolina it would have increased the cries for the former California governor's withdrawal perhaps to a level that would have been impossible to ignore. As it was, he left the state last weekend prepared to lose and issued one of those tough-it-out statements that he was in the race to stay.

He arrived in Los Angeles from Wisconsin early today and said of his supporters, "There was no panic, no one discouraged, everybody stayed with it. I'm very proud of them, happy to be coming home this way.

In Florida, Illinois and again in North Carolina, Reagan has been attacking the administration's detente with the Soviet Union, what he said is a weak defense posture and government spending. He said today, 'The issues we've been trying to talk about are beginning to catch on.

Ford, in a telephone chat with campaign workers in Raleigh, conceded that he expected a victory and (Continued on Page 2A)

Midland elementary school students are achieving on par with the national norm, according to test results presented Tuesday to mem-bers of the board of trustees.

The report was presented by Manuel Carrasco, director of elementary education, during the trustees' regular meeting in the school administration building: Results in mathematics indicate Midland's citywide norm is just slightly — about four to six weeks — below the national average.

Bryant Saxon, director of program development and research, told board

Saxon replied that city educators still are attempting to accomplish that goal.

The standardized test results, presented by Carrasco, show Midland has three elementary schools classified as high achievement schools, seven falling in the middle bracket and five dropping below the national norm.

Missing from the results were four elementary schools where the tests were not administered. Three would middle and four below normal, with have fallen into the bottom range and the fourth would have been in the middle bracket.

While the overall math scores where just slightly below the national norm - an "unimporant difference" according to the testing company — the reading results show Midland youngsters to be achieving about four months ahead of sixth grades across the country.

Those scores indicate six schools in the high range, five in the middle and four below normal. Again, four school scores are missing.

Isabel Peron deposed by coup

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)

— The armed forces overthrew
President Isabel Peron early today, flew her under arrest to the innterior of the country and immediately began sweeping away traces of Peronism and left-wing political organizations.
The coup left only two of South

America's major countries under civilian rule.

Heavily armed troops stormed the headquarters of the Communist party, three blocks from the national congress building, and arrested three persons, one apparently wounded by gunfire, party sources said.

The new military rulers suspended all political activity in the country. One of their first acts was to freeze the charity fund from which Mrs. Peron was accused of writing personal checks.

The coun came just after midnight

A number of other arrests were known to have been made, but few details were given. In early continuities, the new government said former presidential secretary Julio Gonzales and other deposed officials were under arrest and charged with gardens in a mountain setting.

Military sources said she was held at El Messidor, a mountain residence maintained by the air force in the Andes, 900 miles south of here. It is a Swiss-style chalet surrounded by gardens in a mountain setting.

Ten hours after Mrs. Peron's ouster, the three-man junta had itself sworn in and pledged to operate as a sort of "collective government," until the next president is appointed by the armed forces "in due time."

The military takeover, which had been expected for months, ended 21 chaotic months in office for the Western Hemisphere's first woman head of government.

A communique broadcast over the national radio said the army commander, Gen. Jorge R. Videla, 50, was heading the junta. Other members are the navy commander, Adm. Emilio Massera and the air force chief, Gen. Orlando R. Agosti.

The swearing-in ceremony at the army's huge Libertador building was attended by all generals, admirals and brigadiers on active duty.

The junta announced officially the dismissal of Mrs. Peron, national and provincial congressmen, provincial governors, all elected municipal administrations and members of the Supreme Court.

Political activity was ordered

Reaction was generally relaxed and, in many cases, almost in-different, as Argentines went about their morning business as usual. Armed soldiers watched street corners, and banks and public offices were closed. Otherwise, there appeared to be little change.

Today's coup means all but two of South America's 10 major countries are under military control. Civilians now govern only in Venezuela and Colombia and in two small nations on the Caribbean coast freed from colonial control within the past decade — Surinam and Guyana.

Traffic engineer Robert Chambers presented the proposal to council and said the five city streets which now have continuous left-turn lanes have worked well.

He said left-turn lanes increase the traffic capacity of streets and have proven to be safer than streets without the left-turn lanes. Left-turn lanes also provide a slow-down area so cars making a left turn do not interfere with through traffic, provide a space between vehicles reducing the possibility of head-on collisions, and provide for an acceleration of traffic trying to enter the street from a side street. Council approved continuous leftturn lanes on the following seven city streets: Big Spring Street from Liddon to Michigan; A Street from Scharbauer Drive to Wadley; Garfield Street from Cimmaron to FM 868; Wadley from I Street to Lamesa Road: Midland Drive from U.S. 80 to Andrews Highway; Illinois Avenue from C Street to Holiday Hill Road, and the extension of Midkiff Road from Wall to Interstate 20.

Carter continued his success at being all things to all voters. An NBC survey, for example, showed that he got the vote of 90 per cent of North Carolina's blacks and 50 per cent of the votes of those who thought the government was doing too much for minorities.

But arriving early today in Milwaukee to campaign for the April 6 Wisconsin primary, the former Georgia governor declined to portray himself as a frontrunner.

Wallace, who has been claiming victory in defeat throughout the early primary season, conceded this time that losing again "certainly doesn't help." He said he would continue to campaign, beginning this weekend in Wisconsin. But he said he will change is style and have fewer railies because they are expensive."

Udall, who did not campaign in North Carolina, said he took heart from Reagan's showing on the Republican side.

The outcome demonstrates that people shouldn't write off the candidates too quickly," he said as he boarded a plane in Buffalo, N.Y., on the way to campaign in Wisconsin.

"There are still 23 primaries to go. The full story has not yet been told.

Rollison fund established

On the first day of this month, Doc E. Rollison was helping load a scalper onto a pickup truck. A car went out of control and pinned Rollison between the car and the scalper.

He has been in the intensive care unit of a Midland hospital since that time. He has had surgery five times in the three-week period - for internal injuries, amputation of a leg, and loss of an eye. It is reported that he will be in intensive care for at least another week to 10 days, with additional hospitalization following. He and his wife, Jimmie, are members of Mount Rose Baptist Church.

Rollison is the uncle of Lester Rollison, long-time Midland resident, and James "Smoky" Young, who was the recipient of an award given by the YMCA for his outstanding work with young people prior to his transfer to Houston with Shell Oil Co.

A special "Doc Rollison Fund" has been established at The First National Bank by friends of the Rollisons to help them defray mounting medical and hospital ex-

U.S. joining in criticism of Israeli practices

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — With the United States joining in criticism of Israeli occupation practices, nonaligned members of the Security Council today prepared a resolution blaming Israel for the wave of Arab unrest on the West Bank of the Jordan river.

A working paper circulated by nonaligned members declared that the demonstrations were the result of 'Israel's violation of the rights of the inhabitants" of the occupied territories and the "measures of repression" taken against them.

The paper also condemned Israel for changing the character and status of Jerusalem and for building Jewish settlements in occupied Arab ter-

Addressing the Security Council Tuesday afternoon, U.S. Ambassador William W. Scranton declared that the "substantial resettlement" of Israelis in occupied territories was illegal under the Geneva Convention and "an obstacle to the success" of Arab-Israeli peace negotiations.

Scranton told the council that the United States would weigh any resolution to determine whether it "corresponds to the actual situation." whether it will "advance the proper administration of the areas involved" and "most important of all, will the council's action help or hinder the peaceful settlement process?"

There was no immediate indication whether the nonaligned paper would meet Scranton's condition

The new envoy opened his address, his first speech since he succeeded Daniel Patrick Moynihan, with a personal appeal to other U.N. members to "talk with me in the corridors or at the social functions or whatever" about possible solutions to the Mideast impasse.

The invitation, coupled with Scranton's earnest, non-combative tone, contrasted sharply with the fiery exhortations for which Moynihan was

Smith faces six more indictments

The Los Angeles Times

SAN DIEGO - Embattled financier C. Arnholt Smith was indicted Tuesday on six more felony counts charging him with California income tax evasion and grand theft in connection with his 1974 sale of the San Diego Padres baseball team.

Arraigned a short time later, the 77-year-old Smith pleaded not guilty. He also denounced the San Diego County grand jury as "the rubber stamp" of Dist. Atty. Ed Miller, whom he characterized as "overzealous and perhaps politically motivated." The latest charges were added to the 58-count indictment returned against Smith last Dec. 15. The earlier charges allege that he stole more than $60 million from his now-defunct U.S. National Bank.

The new charges accuse Smith of evading an unspecified amount of state income taxes in 1973 and 1974 and of obtaining $4.7 million under false pretenses when the Padres were sold to Chicago fast-food chain millionaire Ray Kroc.

Smith, once honored as "Mr. San Diego," headed a business empire worth an estimated $2 billion before it began collapsing more than two years Probation officers examine Hearst

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The probation officers who will help determine how much more time - if any - Patricia Hearst spends in jail have begun a wide-ranging examination of the newly convicted Miss Hearst met for more than two hours Tuesday at the San Mateo County Jail with Harry Schloetter, chief U.S. probation officer for northern California, and his deputy, Charles J. Roberts.

Defense attorney Al Johnson also attended the meeting. Schloetter said they would meet with Miss Hearst again, but he did not say when. He refused to say what had been discussed, though he had said Carter is scheduled to impose sen-previously that officers would study tence. her background, educational and social history and the trial.

Miss Hearst, 22, was convicted Saturday of joining her Symbionese Liberation Army kidnapers in the April 15, 1974, armed robbery of a Hibernia Bank branch here, two months after her abduction.

During her two-month trial, she testified that she was forced - under threat of death - to help rob the bank.

Schloetter and Roberts were ordered by U.S. District Court Judge Oliver J. Carter to draw up a report on Miss Hearst before April 12, when

The recommendations of the probation officers are not binding on Carter. Since Miss Hearst is a firsttime offender, she could receive a sentence of simple probation or she could get punishment of 25 years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

She has been in jail since her arrest Sept. 18 and that time will count toward her sentence, Carter has said.

Federal marshals prepared Tuesday to take Miss Hearst to Los Angeles for arraignment on 11 state charges of robbery, kidnap and

However, he added that the newspaper heiress would be required to plead guilty to the most serious offense "which can be proved beyond a reasonable doubt."

A spokesman in van de Kamp's office said that would be the firstdegree robbery charge stemming from her rescue of two companions from a bungled shoplifting attempt.

That carries a maximum penalty of life in prison.

display of election-year harmony, key Democrats are predicting Congress will approve an administration bill to require government agencies to obtain court orders before using electronic surveillance devices in cases involving national security. The Democrats joined the administration in introducing the bill Tuesday in what Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., called "an extraordinary spirit of constructive

Under current law, warrants are not needed for wiretaps or bugging in cases involving national security. Warrants are necessary for electronic surveillance in domestic intelligence and criminal investigation cases.

Drafting of the new measure by Ford administration officials reversed previous White House stands against such legislation. Under the proposed bill, the chief justice of the Supreme Court would designate seven U.S. district judges to handle court orders and would name a special three-judge panel to handle cases in which the attorney general felt he had been wrongly denied a warrant.

The attorney general would have the power to authorize eavesdropping on his own in a"national security emergency if he felt he had no time to get a court order. But he would have to obtain a court order within 24

Divestiture opposed

J. Ben Carsey, Houston independent geologist, formerly of Midland, has written Congressmam George Mahon, furnishing him with authentic information, which, Carsey said, "should be useful to you in considering the proposed divestitures of the major oil companies."

The former West Texas geologist, well and favorably known in geological circles throughout the nation, is exceptionally well qualified to comment on the subject. He worked for a major oil company for 36 years, taking early retirement about 14 years ago. He has operated as an independent since that time.

"My experience in working for a major company plus that as an independent should qualify me to make some observations which are objective and not slanted one way or another," Carsey advised the West Texas congressman.

"First, let us look at the matter of competition," Carsey wrote in his interesting informative letter. "Concrete evidence of severe competition is easily demonstrated in the oil business. Competitive bidding in the sale of oil and gas leases for federal, state or other publicly owned lands furnishes undisputable evidence of great competition. The bidding of very high bonuses by some companies or group of companies when very low competitive bids or no bids by others are made is definite evidence that there is extreme competition between the bidders. This also shows that the companies reach their own decisions as to values."

Competition in marketing, as well as in the area of employing of personnel, also was cited by "Another assumption which is erroneous is that most of the wildcat drilling in search of new discoveries is done by independents," the Houston independent operator wrote. "I have promoted a few wildcat wells and participated in a minor way in the drilling of others. Very few pure wildcats are drilled where one or more major companies did not play some part in the effort. Often, the prospect itself is based on geophysical or geologic work by some major company. Also, the lease ownership is sometimes badly split between several companies.

The independent serves as a catalyst, securing leases or dry hole money and-or bottom hole money from several different companies. He may drill the prospect himself or turn it to another company or to a drilling contractor who will take an interest in the venture and drill the well.

"If a discovery is made, an independent gets credit for it insofar as the record goes. Few discoveries are made, however, where some very vital part in the venture was not played by some company. To conclude that the large companies are not playing an important part in our exploratory drilling effort is not correct.'

Carsey went on to say that the assumption that some benefit would result from the divestiture or breakup of the major companies is difficult to understand. He explained that a number of the endeavors of the oil industry are so expensive that great difficulty would be experienced in financing some of the projects if the companies were diversified.

"If a company is divested of all its operations except one facet such as production, then money and experienced management personnel must be found to run the other diversified arms of the business, such as refining and marketing and pipeline transportation," Carsey said. "In the past when we had a surplus of oil and as a consequence severe proration was necessary, income from production was low and the large companies depended on other facets of the business, such as transportation and marketing.... Much of the research in the oil and gas industry has been done by the larger companies. The breakup of the large companies would adversely affect this work." Carsey also explained that one credit to the large companies seldom mentioned is that they largely are responsible for finding and developing oil in other parts of the world.

"The diversification of the companies will result in additional overhead and in less efficiency and consequent higher prices to the consumer - not lower prices," he said.

"I think it would be a great mistake to break up our major oil companies," Carsey concluded.

IRS audits Montoya's returns

WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By JACK ANDERSON with LES WHITTEN

WASHINGTON - The Internal Revenue Service is conducting a quiet but exhaustive audit of the tax returns of Sen. Joseph Montoya, D.-N.M., whose subcommittee oversees the IRS budget.

It will be the first time his taxes have been thoroughly audited since 1950. Over this 25-year span, the senator has become a millionaire.

The Justice Dept., meanwhile, has examined whether Internal Revenue Commissioner Donald Alexander intervened to block the auditing of Montoya's finances. The government attorneys have serious reservations about Alexander's judgment in the Montoya affair, but they have recommended that he not be

Secretary of the Treasury William Simon personally advised the IRS to audit Montoya's tax returns. He made the suggestion pointedly after studying the results of two investigations, which he ordered last

One was conducted by the IRS, the other by Treasury general counsel Richard Albrecht following a Washington Post story that Alexander had squashed the Montoya audits.

Albrecht directed a painstaking study, involving more than 50 interviews, of Montoya's returns and Alexander's actions. The findings were so detailed that the summary alone ran 64 pages.

The investigation produced little evidence of actual wrongdoing by Alexander, but the report cited numerous "extenuating circumstances" and "erroneous assumptions.

Montoya's 1972 returns, for example, raised questions that clearly called for an audit. Alexander held off, however, because Montova had been appointed to the Senate Watergate Committee, which was investigating then-President Nixon's misuse of the IRS. Any probe of Montoya at that time, Alexander decided, would look like retaliation.

Nevertheless, Simon was so upset by the findings that he forwarded them to the Justice Dept. He also called the IRS and urged strongly that the senator's tax returns be audited for the past three years.

The IRS immediately began a major investigation of Montoya's 1972 tax statement and also began checking the "audit potential" of his 1973 and 1974 returns.

Footnote: Sen. Montoya told us he had not been notified that his tax returns were being audited. But he emphasized: "I do not fear an audit." Then he added that he planned a "thorough investigation" of IRS harassment of taxpayers "from California to New York.

AGNEW QUESTIONED: Spiro Agnew, the deposed Vice President, has been questioned behind closed doors by the Senate Intelligence Committee about his role in J. Edgar Hoover's vendetta against civil rights leaders and black militants. A memo turned up in the late FBI director's files reporting that Agnew had solicited information about Dr. Martin Luther King's disciples, the Black Panthers and others on Hoover's hate list.

The committee concluded after a brief investigation that Agnew hadn't participated in the Hoover campaign but had received FBI information on individuals Hoover considered to be un-American. Apparently, the FBI chief wanted Agnew to use the FBI information to mount public attacks on these individuals.

Senate investigators confronted Agnew with these charges last October and arranged to question him in his office in Crofton, Md. He was interviewed by committee counsel Lester Sidel in the presence of Agnew attorney Judah Best.

The former Vice President stated nequivocally that Hoover's memo was wrong about the original approach. Agnew insisted he hadn't solicited FBI information from Hoover but that Hoover had approached him.

As Agnew recalled it, Hoover contacted him shortly after he took office in 1969 and kept calling him sometimes several times a week. Agnew agreed with the old FBI curmudgeon about the black militants and other radicals. He was also disturbed over the black militant comic book that admonished children to "kill the pigs," meaning to murder police.

At first, Hoover spoke only of enlisting Agnew in a public campaign against terrorists but then began offering information on individuals, including nonradical black leaders such as Dr. Ralph Abernathy.

Agnew explained that he expressed an interest in seeing anything useful and the FBI data began to arrive in his office. He handled it as top-secret material, although most of it consisted of old newspaper clips and court records, he said.

The ex-Vice President insisted that he had not used the material to attack Hoover's civil rights enemies. The committee's investigation also indicated that Agnew had no knowledge of the FBI's illicit operations against the black militants.

Footnote: Agnew's attorney, Judah Best, said Hoover's contention that Agnew made the first approach wasn't true. The Hoover memo was obviously intended to cover the FBI chief in case his gambit with the Vice President was discovered, Best suggested. As for any Agnew involvement with dirty tricks against civil rights leaders, Best said this was 'just stuff and nonsense

EYE ON CUBA: Caribbean area fears meddling by Castro

Copley News Service
Countries in and around the Caribbean are fearful that Cuban Premier Fidel Castro may next export revolution their way.

The reality of the Cuban threat is being discussed in Honduras, Nicaragua, Costa Rica, Panama, Venezuela and Jamaica, among Indication of the basic distrust of Castro and his Communist dictatorship is that half of the countries that seem to consider themselves possible targets boast governments that maintain formal relations with Cuba. The other half do not. Venezuela, which has relations with Castro, made no secret of the fact that it was seriously concerned by reports that some of the 12,000 Cuban troops that Castro sent to fight for the Sovietbacked Popular Movement for the Liberation of Angola had been airlifted through Guyana, Venezuela's neighbor to the east.

The Venezuelan government also sought and obtained assurances from Guyana that reports of the existence in that former British crown colony of Cuban and Chinese guerrilla training camps were not accurate. The camps that are located in Guyana were described as existing for the training of agricultural workers. Honduras, Nicaragua and Costa Rica, all Central American countries, sound as though they are worried over the possibility that the Cuban Communists may intervene in Panama to help the isthmian republic take jurisdiction over the Panama Canal

United States. In San Jose, Costa Rica, the city where the hemisphere's foreign ministers met last July to ease the ban on formal ties with the Castro government, the newspaper Excelsior reported that President Daniel Oduber personally warned Panamanian dictator Gen. Omar

Torrijos against embarking "on an adventure with the Cubans to impress and the Canal Zone away from the

the United States in the canal affair.' According to the San Jose paper, one of whose top officials is chief of the Costa Rican presidential information office, "the Cubans could very well return to their interventions in Latin America now that they are euphoric over their success in

Of all the Caribbean countries worrying about possible Cuban intervention, though, Jamaica seems to be the most concerned.

Even some of the members of the Jamaican parliament who belong to Prime Minister Michael Manley's People's National Party (PNP) are troubled by the increasingly close relations between Manley and the Cuban Communists.

The opposition Jamaica Labour Party has been charging for some time now that Manley's government was not alert to the threat from Cuba. Recently, a PNP parliamentary group informed Manley that they felt 'that any time at all in the near future... might not be the most strategic time for Dr. Castro to visit the island.

Although there had been no official announcement on a Castro visit, it was thought that the Cuban would return the call Manley paid on him last July, starting on Jamaican Labor Day, May 23.

What is more, the PNP group also pressed Manley for a confidential report on the agreement he reached with Castro last summer. Manley said that he had nothing further to add to the report made after his return from

Nevertheless, Jamaicans are

The Kingston Daily Gleaner, the island's most important newspaper, recently carried a lengthy analysis of events in Jamaica tending to show that the nation was following the Cuban pattern. 'It is almost as though the Marxist element in the PNP had conspired to wreck the economy as a prelude to a back-door takeover," the article said.

Jimmy Carter continues his phantom-beating ways

By ROWLAND EVANS And ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON - No single event has so shaken deeply rooted expectations of the Democratic party's power brokers to tap Sen. Hubert Humphrey for President in the smoke-filled bowels of Madison Square Garden this summer than the massacre of Sen. Adlai Stevenson's favorite-son delegate slate in downstate Illinois. A sparse turnout of downstate Democrats simply refused to vote for national convention delegates oledged to Stevenson, the state's most opular Democrat. Nor would they upport delegates pledged to Gov. Dan Walker (although they did back Walker's unsuccessful attempt at enomination). Instead, they voted ot for a phantom but delegates ledged to the only legitimate canlidate in sight: Jimmy Carter.

Thus, preliminary counts show arter elected 61 of his 85 delegate andidates filed for 155 delegate slots wiping out Stevenson's downstate lates. Nearly all Stevenson's stimated 87 elected delegates came rom Cook County, where Mayor Richard J. Daley's organization talwarts ran pledged to Stevenson and unopposed by Carter or anybody

That dilutes Daley's ecstasy over quidating Gov. Walker and retur-ing to the 1976 convention in riumph. With better than one-third of is delegation controlled by Carter, he mayor will be inhibited at the onvention. Beyond Illinois, it un-erlines what politicians habitually nd must relearn everys fo years: voters prefer a legitimate candidate for President to any favorite-son phantom.

That eviscerates the secret plan of Humphrey's inner circle. Until the Illinois returns came in, Humphrey advisers were crowing about favorite sons - Rep. Peter Roding in New Jersey, Sen. Lloyd Bentsen in Texas, perhaps Sen. John Glenn in Ohio and especially Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. in California — who would create a deadlock tailor-made for Humphrey. Now there is doubt whether any of them — Jerry Brown included — can

The doubt deepens under careful scrutiny of Carter's Illinois success. Spending only three days in the state this month (one day downstate) and almost no money, Carter was written off by party regulars as a possible winner of the meaningless "beauty contest" but no threat for delegates.
"Are you kidding?" one pillar of the Daley organization asked us just before the primary. "He'll be lucky to get 15 delegates — if that much."

If Illinois results apply elsewhere, Humphrey's hopes are dead and the only real alternative to Carter is Sen. Henry M. Jackson. But Jackson's political braintrust proved as myopic in Illinois as the Chicago city hall crowd which could not take Carter seriously

Once Daley put together the Stevenson favorite-son slate, Jackson's political managers abandoned their Illinois delegate slates in hopes that deference to the mayor would in time deliver the full Illinois delegation to Jackson. In fact, Jackson's genuflection by no means guarantees the mayor's help.

Daley is neither wedded to Jackson nor alienated from Carter. Considering the mayor's obsessive desire for a unified delegation, he could well move just before the convention to add the Stevenson delegates to Carter's if Carter is by then the frontrunner - thereby assuring his nomination. Thus, Carter's triumph in Illinois far transcends his 60-plus

Furthermore, given a Jackson-Carter choice, the party's left wing is moving to Carter - preferring his calculated refusal to take a stand on anything to Jackson's hard line on national security and Vietnam record. Meeting secretly in Washington with left-of-center labor chieftains the day of the Illinois primary, Carter bluntly informed them his submarine was leaving the dock and they better get aboard. The union leaders were impressed, though they probably will back a final Rep. Morris Udall shot in Wisconsin April

On the same day, a Carter emissary arrived in Washington with a softer line for the left. Patt Dorian, Democratic national , com-mitteewoman, has deserted her intransigent liberalism to sing Carter's praises here for selected liberal politicians and newsmen. Whatever Carter's past conservatism and present waffling, Mrs. Dorian has an explanation for it.

Thus, two preventives blocking a Carter nomination are crumbling. A veto from the party's left which once seemed inevitable is now unlikely in the extreme. The annihilation of the phantom Stevenson slate points to fatal defects in the favorite-son strategy.

The burden is on Scoop Jackson to defeat Carter in a potentially elimactic April 27 primary in Penn-sylvania. The results in five of the first six primaries, however, suggest voters are more interested in Carter's fervent professions of love and his contempt for Washington than in oldfashioned bread-and-butter liberalism and a strong national

U.S. invasion of Cuba

DALLAS (AP) - Secretary of State Henry Kissinger refuses specifically to rule out a U.S. invasion of Cuba if troops of the Caribbean nation engagein further intervention in

Kissinger declined to specify what action the United States would take if Cuba — as it did in Angola — sent armed troops into another southern Africa nation. What we will do I cannot say, but we are serious and we have pointed this out to Cuba. We were accused of not making our issues clear in Angola, but we are making them clear to Cuba," Kissinger said here Tuesday during one of a series of regional visits designed to bolster support for

In recent weeks, Kissinger repeatedly has said Cuba should not ignore U.S. warnings against further African intervention. He repeated those warnings in a speech here Monday night and said at a new conference Tuesday that his statements concerning Cuba had been approved by President Ford.

He was asked specifically during the news conference if the United States might invade Cuba if it defies the U.S. warnings. Kissinger replied, "I do not want to answer that ques-

"What we will do in complete circumstances I don't think I should say under present conditions, and we are still studying this," he replied to another question about what actions might be taken. "It is impossible for any senior official to put out ahead of time all the things the United States will or will not do in all the circumstances that may arise.

Kissinger said time will tell what steps will be necessary, and he added, "We have no concrete proposals to present to Congress. But we have made clear our refusal of further military action from Cuba.'

A major U.S. concern in Africa at this time is that 12,000 Cuban soldiers now in Angola might be used in wars against the minority white rulers of Rhodesia and South Africe. 'We stand strongly for majority rule in the African nations, but not as a threat from Cuba," Kissinger said in explaining the U.S. policy toward those nations. "We have pointed out the dangers to Cuba. We are serious about what we have said." Kissinger stoutly defended the Ford administration's foreign policy, but when asked if his appearances here were to assist the President in his bid for renomination and victory in November, Kissinger answered: 'I have been speaking once a month some place since January 1975. What I am attempting to do is explain to the public our approach to foreign policy. I want to learn what the people think of this policy. "This has nothing to do with politics, and I will not participate in partisan politics," said Kissinger, who has come under sharp criticism from GOP presidential candidate

Ronald Reagan and several Democratic presidential hopefuls.

Ford, scientists meet on flu vaccine drive

WASHINGTON (AP) - Two dozen of the nation's top scientists are meeting with President Ford amid reports that government health experts are recommending a massive campaign to innoculate every American against a rare and deadly flu strain.

Any such immunization program would be the largest in the nation's history and would be aimed at the swine flu virus, a strain that has been dormant for nearly a half century. The swine flu strain was blamed for 20 million deaths world-wide during a 1918 epidemic that claimed more American lives than World War I combat. In all, 500,000 Americans died of the flu strain during the epidemic.

Last month, the virus killed an Army recruit and afflicted four other soldiers at Ft. Dix, N.J.

Since then, public health specialists have been weighing whether a massive public innoculation program should be launched. The Washington Post said today that Ford's health advisers have concluded that such a program is needed.

Officials at the National Center for Disease Control in Atlanta indicated that a decision would be announced shortly.

The center said Tuesday it would take nearly six months to produce enough vaccine to provide shots for 215 million Americans.

Estimates of the crash program's cost range from $107 million to $150 million. Pharmaceutical companies would use millions of fertilized chicken eggs as cultures to develop the vaccine.

The center reported last week that this winter's epidemic of A-Victoria type flu has passed its peak. Through February, the flu had caused 1,270 more deaths in the United States than the 3,700 flu and pneumonia deaths the center predicted for this winter.

The center listed 12,700 deaths above normal expectations during the Hong Kong flu epidemic of

Since flu deaths usually are among the elderly or chronically ill, those persons usually are urged to take flu

But center officials noted the flu victims at Ft. Dix were all healthy young men, none of whom had been in contact with swine. Scientists have continued to find the swine flu in pigs and hogs, but the outbreak at Ft. Dix was the only one involving humans since researchers first isolated flu viruses in the 1930s.

Senate nearing agreement on election panel measure

The Washington Post

WASHINGTON - Senate leaders reached agreement Tuesday after two days of negotiations on a compromise bill to break the deadlock over extending the Federal Election Commission

But while the outlook was brightening in the Senate, the House bill was put off until next week becasue a flap developed over public financing for congressional elections as well as presidential.

This provision, written by House Democratic caucus chairman Phillip Burton (Calif.), would allow the party caucuses in each chamber to distribute up to $1 million in matching funds among any campaign committees they designate.

Sources said it was feared this provision would increase the power of Burton and House Administration Committee chairman Wayne Hays (D-Ohio) — who also heads the campaign commtitee — at the expense of the speaker and the majority a source close to the leadership said. The new Senate bill, which doesn't contain any congressional campaign subsidy provisions, was introduced Tuesday by Rules Committee chairman Howard Cannon (D-Nev.), committee senior Republican Mark Hatfield (R-Ore.), party leaders Mike Mansfield (D-Mont.) and Hugh Scott (R-Pa.) and party whips Robert P. The new bill significantly softens provisions opposed by President Ford. Scott said, "The initial White House reaction was favorable, but they must study it first.'

framework of the Rules Committee contributions from all employes and bill and floor amendments already adopted:

-A section of the bill giving Congress more opportunities to veto commission advisory opinions and rulings was dropped. Republicans had charged this provision gave the Democratic-dominated Congress too much control over the commission.

—A section of the bill forbidding corporate political action committees to solicit voluntary contributions from blue-collar and nonsupervisory employes was modified.

This was the most controversial provision of the bill, which corporations said would tie their hands in soliciting funds while allowing union political action committees to solicit voluntary funds from millions of union members. Under the compromise, corporations will be allowed to solicit funds from all employes - but only by mail and only twice a year, before primaries and elections, and with strong guarantees against corporate pressure on the employes.

Also, twice a year unions would be permitted to solicit voluntary political stockholders by the same methods. The rest of the year corporate political action committees could solicit only from stockholders and executives, and unions only from their own members.

-An amendment by Sen. Robert W. Packwood (R-Ore.), requiring both corporatations and unions to report how much of their own corporate and dues money the spend to advise their own stockholders and members how to vote, was retained and broadened to cover all membership organizations. Packwood had said unions spend millions in such "interior communications" that come from dues money, not voluntary Odessa missed two chances early in the game to score off Nix, but came away empty-handed both times. In the bottom of the first, trailing 1-0 on Laughlin's homer, OHS leadoff hitter Don Connally rapped a single into right where the ball got away from Robin Todd for a two-base error with Connally winding up at third with nobody out.

Nix got Mickey Cargile to ground back to second with Connally staying at third, but walked Sullinger, his only free pass of the afternoon. Tommy Muncy grounded to Greg Howard at third who held the runner on the bag and got out of the jam by striking out

Shortstop Eddie Shelton greeted Nix with a single to start off the bottom of the second and went to second on a passed ball by catcher Brad Wright, but once again, Nix retired the side, getting Terry Sheehan to look at a third strike, retiring Cal Adams on a grounder and getting catcher Mike Webster on a fly into shallow left that Lee's Alan Neal made a great catch of, picking it off just above the shoe laces on the dead

Howard and Laughlin had back-toback singles off Sullinger in the third with two out, but Neal skied out to left. Nix had been robbed moments earlier in the inning when Cargile raced all the way to the fence in dead center to grab his long drive. Cargile bounced up against the fence as he made the catch.

Lee added another run in the fifth inning when Nix bounced a double over the fence in left and scored on Neal's base hit past second for a 2-0

Another run scored for the Rebels in the sixth inning. Sophomore shortstop single, went to second on an over-throw and scored on Wright's solid single up the middle, making it 3-0. For good measure, the Tall City team scored another run in the seventh inning when Laughlin singled up the middle, stole second and raced home on Brent Huckabay's single. Nix retired 11 consecutive batters until Pressly's homer to lead off the seventh for the Bronchos who stand 6-

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. — Midland's Cubs rallied for three runs in the bottom of the ninth inning to pull out an 8-7 victory over Chattanooga at Scottsdale Stadium Tuesday in the season's opening Cactus League

The Cubs were down to the Oakland A's farmhands 6-0 after five and a half innings before rallying to pull it out.

The Texas League champions travel to Mesa today for another game with Chattanooga.

Jim Webber went the final three innings in two hit fashion to pick up the win. He walked three, struckout four and surrendered just one run in his 49 pitch stint.

Jack Uhey went the middle three innings, giving up five hits and a run in a 44 pitch workout.

The brunt of the A's attack fell on starter Dave Wood, South Bend, Ind., who was raked for five runs, four hits and four walks. It took him 68 pitches

OFFENSIVELY, CENTERFIELDER Joe Hernandez cracked out two singles in five at bats and rightfielder Aaron Randall, who was with Midland at the start of last year, knocked in a run with double.

Third baseman Byron Loomans knocked in a pair of runs with a two bagger as did Julio Gonzalez. Gonzalez helped the Cubs to a Texas League co-championship last year.

Manager Denny Sommers was most pleased, however, with catcher Mike Gordon, who knocked in a big run with a double to right center in the

Midland High second baseman Steve Cole cuts in behind Permian base runner Jeff Midkiff in third inning of District 5-4A baseball action Tuesday at the Memorial Stadium diamond. Midkiff doubled to lead off the third.

Permian's Cats spoil Pack's league opener

By TERRY WILLIAMSON

The Permian Panthers destroyed Midland High's District 5-4A home baseball opener at Memorial Stadium diamond Tuesday afternoon as the Black Cats churned out five doubles and a homer for an 8-2 conquest.

But even more important than Permian's potent bats was the pitching performance of senior ghthander Ricky Coskrey. The fireballer snuffed out the Bulldogs' power with a nifty two-hitter.

Coskrey got off to a shaky start as the Bulldogs scored a run in each of the first two frames, but he went on to retire nine in a row at one point before he hit Kevin Widner with a pitch in the fifth inning. Coskrey had a double play behind him in the sixth and retired the side in order in the final

PERMIAN STAKED Coskrey to a three run pad in the top of the first, and that proved to be all the righty really needed as the Panthers climbed to 6-5 on the season and 1-0 in district play.

Widner, who absorbed the loss for the Pack, walked Tommy Inzer and Jeff Midkiff with one out in the first. Luke Groves followed with a booming double to left as two runs scored. Groves later scored when catcher Gary Merritt overthrew third in attempt to pick Groves off the bag.

The Bulldogs came back with a run Johnston walked, went to second on a throwing error by Coskrey, moved to third on Clellan Pearce's grounder to first and scored on Billy Shock's single to left.

The Pack inched closer to the Cats in the second when Chris Gaddy stole second and scored on Raymond Phelps' single to left.

THAT, UNFORTUNATELY, was the extent of the Bulldogs' plate power as Midland fell to 4-12 on the year and 0-1 in district action.

Permian scored two runs in the Steers slug Abilene; Bobcats edge Cooper

Big Spring outslugged Abilene, 12-10 and San Angelo scored three unearned runs to topple Abilene Cooper, 3-1, Tuesday in District 5-4A baseball action. The Steers and Bobcats join Midland Lee and Odessa Permian in the win column in 5-4A lidlifters.

Big Spring had a 8-0 lead over Abilene after two innings, but the Warbirds erupted for seven runs in the third off starter Pat Carroll, but the Steers came back with three more runs in the fourth and one more in the Big Spring outhit Abilene, 14-6, but committed seven errors to make it close. Mike Warren collected three doubles for the Steers while team-doubles for the Steers while teammate Ray Don Box ripped a triple. Carroll and Dick Battle, the winning hurler, chipped in with home runs.

Sammy Tindall had a two-bagger for Abilene while Randall Edwards blasted two homers for the Warbirds who are 7-3 on the year and 0-1 in loop play compared to Big Spring's 10-4 and 1-0 reading.

The Bobcats handed Rodney King his first loss of the year as Central ace Steve Winger picked up his fifth win of the year against no losses, but needed relief help from John Jeschke in the seventh who struck out the batter with the bases jammed.

San Angelo is 9-0 going into its next game with Midland Lee in San Angelo Saturday while Cooper is 5-4 and 0-1.

third. One came on doubles by Midkiff and Scott Edge. Edge's double bounced off Midland left fielder Gaddy after the wind played havoc with the ball and Midkiff scored. Groves, who had walked, scored when Widner walked Curtis Pittman with the bases loaded.

The Panthers added a three-run insult in the seventh off relief pitcher Larry Murphey, who had pitched Edge led off with a homer to left. Dicky Rivera, who had walked, scored from first when Pittman's single to right got past right fielder Billy Shock. Pittman came on in to score on a pinch hit single by Joey Fields.

THE BULLDOGS will try to get their bats back in the business of production Thursday when they host the Monahans Loboes at 4 p.m. in a non-conference game. The Pack will get back into the thick of the 5-4A chase Saturday when they host Big Spring for a 2 p.m. encounter, Big Spring is favored to win the 5-4A race, so a victory by the 'Dogs would propel' Midland back into a first half title run.

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — "Running is no longer a kid's sport," says a former world record-holder in the 3,000-meter steeplechase who has resigned his membership in the Amateur Athletic Union because he doesn't feel it "is doing the job."

chief sanctioning organization for amateur sports.
"It's a long, involved story," Higdon said in a telephone interview from his home at Michigan City, Ind.

"It started in Indiana. I thought it was a local phenomenon, but I discovered an undercurrent of rebellion all through the country. There are a lot of dissatisfied run-

Bill Virdon pleased with new experiment

COCOA, Fla. (AP) - Bill Virdon, manager of the Houston Astros, is pleased with an idea he developed to offset lost time when spring training was three weeks late in starting.

Virdon's imaginative and admittedly experimental practice scheme has players on their feet continuously with assigned duties every moment.

The 38 players are split into two groups with both utilizing one field. Pitchers take turns throwing to hitters, who get a specific amount of plate time. But several players also assume roles as base runners, with the pitcher and the hitter working under a game-situation on every

The pitcher works on pickoffs and holding runners close. The hitter drills on bunting, the hitand-run, protecting runners on pitchouts. The remaining players are fielders under orders to play each batted ball as if it were in a game. "The only drawback is it takes a lot of time," Virdon said.

A pitcher may need 30 minutes on the mound to get a normal 15 minutes of pitching. The hitter may get only 10 fourth-ranked Rutgers, also unbeaten this season, against Michigan. "We're healthy, excited and it shapes up as a super game," Bartow said of the UCLA-Indiana clash. "Indiana has proven it is an excellent basketball team. They're sound in every phase of the game and have an outstanding coach in Bobby Knight."

WOODEN'S BRUINS and Knight's Hoosiers have met before—in the opening game of the 1975-76 regular season. Indiana won, 84-64.

"I've usually never been caught up in what an opponent does," Bartow said. "But that was my first game as UCLA's coach and, as I've said, Ioverprepared my team and put too much pressure on them."

Kemp could be last of big bonus babies

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) - Could Detroit Tiger rookie outfielder Steve Kemp be the last of the big bonus players?

He thinks that's possible if major league baseball teams get stuck with a free agent rule that would hind players to a team for only two years. Tiger General Manager Jim Campbell, meanwhile, won't predict the fate of bonuses until an agreement on the controversial free agent situation is settled between club owners and the player's union.

"Even then you probably won't know for a year or so," he said. Kemp, the No. 1 pick in last January's free agent draft, figures much of the destiny of big bonuses depends on "how much a team wants a player." But even then, "a team is not going to invest a lot of money with a big bonus in a player if they aren't going to be assured of holding on to him for a while. It really hurts a team to vest a lot of money if they're going to lose him in two years. Kemp won't say how much of a bonus Detroit gave him for signing but the 6-foot, 185 pound, former Southern California University star said the figures reported have been way off base The Tigers say only that they signed him to a "sizeable bonus." He inked a major league contract rather than the standard minor league pact generally accorded draft picks. That was part of his bargain. Surprisingly, perhaps, the 21yearold didn't employe an agent to handle his negotiations. That will help put him in good graces with the Tigers right off the bat, he believes.

"I talked to quite a few people in-volved in baseball and knew a lot about signing," said Kemp, who was born San Angelo, Texas.

"I talked to agents and lawyers and I decided to handle it myself and I'm glad I did because I've got a respect for General Manager Jim Campbell and have a good rapport with him.

"A good relationship between the two of us is goma help me in the long run because he's an important man."

Kemp was an impressive hitter for three years at Southern Cal. He dropped out of school after his junior year to become eligible for the draft. That final season he set a USC record with a .435 batting average, had 17 doubles, eight triples, 13 home runs and 67 runs-battedin in 57 games.

"He's obviously a strong kid, a lot of power, which is what we thought," Tiger Manager Ralph Houk said. Al Kaline, all-time Tiger great who is serving as a special hitting in-structor during spring training said: "The main thing I have noticed is that he's an aggressive hitter, which is very good, very important. He gets his bat around quick and meets the ball way out in front. He doesn't wait for it to play him. He attacks."

Kemp said he's eager to prove himself, but "to be realistic about it. I don't think I'll stick with the big club. They've got a lot of outfielders. Hopefully I can go to Triple A...but I'll go where they send me.

Short spring camps could hurt Rangers

POMPANO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Last year Billy Martin predicted a pennant. The Texas Rangers came in third place in the American League West and the fiesty manager got the axe. The optimism is toned down this season and for good reason. The short spring training camp hurt the Rangers more than most American League teams because Manager Frank Lucchesi is desperate to find pitching help behind his star veteran Gaylord Perry. PERRY IS ready but after that a lot of "ifs" come If Bill Singer, obtained in the offseason from California in a trade for first baseman Jim Spencer, can come off arm surgery and if Nelson Briles can regain the form he once had before going sour at Kansas City T-H-E-N the Rangers might make a championship move. The Rangers are counting on a lot of longshots like lefty Jim Umbarger, a second-year man, who was 8-7 as a rookie last year...like Jim Gideon, the mainstay of the University of Texas 1975 NCAA championsh team...like rookie right-hander Jeff Terpko in the bullpen...like reserve outfielder Juan Beniquez, obtained in a trade for pitcher Fergie Jenkins settling down an errorprone outfield...like the Roy Smalley experiment at second base.

The "if" list is endless. The only tested relief pitcher the Rangers could count on last season was right-handed Steve Foucault who has posted 22 of the 29 saves registered in the last two years.

SMALLEY, a highly regarded shortstop, has been. switched to second base so he won't be playing behind American League All-Star Toby Harrah, who hit .293 with 20 home runs and 93 RBI in a banner 1975

THE OUTFIELD will find Jeff Burroughs in right. field. The 1974 AL's Most Valuable Player slumped to a .226 average despite 29 home runs and 94 RBI last year. He recently signed a three-year contract and said, "I'm not going to try for the longhall as much this year. I get mad every time I think about how many times I struck out (155)."

The Rangers hope Beniquez can provide a solid bat to go along with his speed in center field. He hit .291 in 78 games for Boston last year.

ALL-PURPOSE Lenny Randle is expected to hold down the left field post. He hit .276 in 1975 and played second base, third base and all the outfield positions.

Tom Grieve will be in the line-up every day either as a designated hitter or in an outfield position. Grieve thrived under Lucchesi's handling last year, coming on strong to hit .276.

"I'm not making any predictions," Lucchesi said. "But don't sell this team short."

A Swiss ski team official said his squad is seriously considering leaving the World Series of Skiing here prematurely even though slalom specialists Heini Hemmi and Ernst Good gave Switzerland the lead Tuesday after the first day in this three-day team event.

But the head-to-head parallel slalom Thursday doesn't count toward FIS points and the Swiss are more concerned with catching their plane from Kennedy Airport Thursday night than running in the parallel, the official said.

Sailer's thinking apparently runs along the same lines. "I've been standing on snow for 10 months," the Austrian coach said. "I want to get

The old, familiar challengers are there-Tom Weiskopf, Lee Trevino, Bruce Crampton and Gary Player.

In addition, Nicklaus now faces a new wave of younger playersambitious, talented and titlehungry-who are claiming the game for their own.

Chief among them are Johnny Miller, Hale Irwin, Ben Crenshaw and Hubert Green. They've been the outstanding figures in golf this year. Each has won two titles already this season. Every one of them is in position to bid for the Player of the Year crown Nicklaus won in 1975. Each and every one is a decided threat to Nicklaus in this invitational

Irwin and Miller, perhaps, head the list. They won four Heritage titles, on alternate years, before Nicklaus broke the string last season on the 6,655-yard, par-71 Harbour Town Golf Links-a seaside layout hacked out of a South Carolina swamp and nov quite possibly the most demanding of all the courses in this country.

But Green and Crenshaw have enormously impressive credentials of their own. Green is unbeaten in his last two starts. Crenshaw won consecutive titles in the Bing Crosby and the Hawaiian Open and has played well since then.

And, too, there's Mark Hayes, a non-winner but a challenger in all of his last four starts. That string includes a tie with Nicklaus for second in the Doral Open two weeks ago, Jack's last previous start.

"I think it's obvious there are more good, young players now than ever before," Nicklaus said. "The competition is greater than every before.'

He paused, then continued. "But that's what this game is all about. Competition. That's the fun of the whole thing.

And, as usual, he has met the competition very well. In four starts this season he has won (the prestigious Tournament Players Championship), tied for second, led through three rounds in another and was one shot out going to the last round of another.

He's just about on schedule in his preparations for the Masters, annually his first big goal of the year.

"I've played pretty well," he said, "but at Doral (his last start) I just couldn't seem to get anything going. I'd put myself in position to do something, and then not do it." Still, he ranks as the man to beat in

Blanda field goal try may fail in court bid

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - They play by different rules in the courtroom, where George Blanda discovered after 26 seasons in pro football he is "wholly unqualified" to rate Joe Kapp as a quarterback.

Blanda was called Tuesday as the National Football League's final witness in the Kapp trial. Defense attorney Joseph Alioto had joked earlier that the NFL would bring in the 48-year-old Oakland Raiders' star in the closing seconds "and have him kick a field goal."

Instead, it appeared Blanda might rike out.

"Twe never testified in court before," Blanda said before taking the witness stand, just vacated by NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle, who completed five hours of testimony in the U.S. District Court trial.

Blanda had fun for a while as Alioto asked questions intended to establish him as an expert witness, When asked what positions he played in 1949 with the Chicago Bears, he replied: "I played quarterback, linebacker, defensive back, did some placekicking and also sold popcorn at the halftimes."

But when Alioto tried to ask Blanda how he'd compare Kapp to several other NFL quarterbacks, Kapp's countel objected and called Blanda "wholly unqualified" hecause he'd seen Kapp play in person only once, "I'm inclined to sustain the objection," said Judge Sweigert, and he did, although telling Alioto he could further question Blanda today in attempts to establish the old pro's qualifications to judge Kapp, Miami bolphins Coach Don Shula, whose teams had played against Kapp many times, appraised Kapp Monday. Kapp, 37, contends he was forced out of football in 1971 after refusing to sign an NFL standard player contract with the New England Patriots. He seeks a multimillion dollar settlement from the league and the Patriots.

"By signing the contract, Joe Kapp would not have been hurt in any way," Rozelle said near the end of his Kapp's lawyer, John Elliott Cook, told the NFL he considered the memo agreement signed in 1970 by Kapp and Pats' president Billy Sullivan a legal and binding contract. He advised Kapp not to sign the standard contract on the grounds that parts of it were illegal and that Kapp would waive any rights to sue the NFL, any of its clubs or officials.

While Kapp was playing in 1970, Rozelle testified, the NFL called the Patriots at least once a week asking that a standard contract signed by Kapp be mailed to the league office.

Kapp be mailed to the league office.
The team explained there was a delay because Kapp's accounting firm was studying deferred payment proposals.

Rozelle ordered Kapp to leave the Patriots' training camp the following summer. In 1973, after Kapp had gone to court and the Patriots had waived rights to the quarterback, Rozelle wrote a letter to Cook saying Kapp was welcome back to the NFL.

But he still would have been required to sign a standard contract, Rozelle said Tuesday, eiting many times the owners' 1970 collective bargaining agreement with players which required all players to sign the contracts.

Miller called the camp lockout, "a that did not work."

The owners had refused to open camp, demanding that a contract with the players be reached first. "That was a phony issue," said Miller. "They said they wanted to protect themselves against a strike but we already had offered them a nostrike pledge."

The camps were opened one week ago under orders from Commissioner Bowie Kuhn. The commissioner's action did not have total support from Bowie Kuhn. The commissioner's action did not have total support from the owners and he heard considerable criticism from them when the 24 major league clubs met last Saturday.

IT WAS at that meeting that the owners, also angered over what they considered an overly liberal proposal, listened to a three-hour report from the Player Relations Committee.

Afterwards, they gave the negotiating

Afterwards, they gave the negotiating team a vote of confidence and directed them to resume talks.

The players have asked that the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service be called into the dispute and that until the impasse is solved, the owners extend the old basic agreement which expired last Dec. 31. Those proposals were expected to be discussed by the two sides today.

Concrete slab falls at stadium

MONTREAL (AP) — A fourfoot slab of concrete broke loose from a beam attached to the mast of the Olympic stadium and plunged 185 feet to the ground Tuesday.

No workers were injured in the accident, officials of the Olympic Installations Board said.

Board director Roger Trudeau said the accident— which he termed minor—occurred when a faulty cement joint linking the base of the beam to the stadium mast gave way.

He said there was no structural weakness in the beam itself.

The tower-like mast was designed to support the stadium's retractable roof.

Dodgers seek to rekindle image

VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The Los Angeles Dodgers were the wonder team of the National League in 1974. when a sprinkling of veterans and a host of young lions led them to the West Division title, the pennant and into the World Series.

Last year, however, Los Angeles' brief dreams of a National League dynasty evaporated as the Dodgers sank slowly in the West to finish 20 games back of Cincinnati in the divi-

THIS SEASON, Dodger followers wonder if the pitching staff can get along without Andy Messersmith; wonder if Tommy John and a newcomer - Ron Bryant - can snap back from injuries; wonder if new arrivals Dusty Baker and Ted Sizemore can help the club as much as Dodger officials believe; and wonder if reliever Mike Marshall will have time between his legal hassles with Michigan State to do his usual yeoman job.

For awhile.

Manager Walter Alston, beginning his 23rd year at the Dodger helm, says a healthy Los Angeles club can beat the Reds this year.

"We got super years out of a great many fellows in 1974 who didn't match that performance in 1975 mainly because of injuries," Alston commented.

"You hate to blame it on injuries, but I know how much it hurt us to lose Bill Russell, Joe Ferguson, Bill Buckner, Mike Marshall and Tommy John, just to name a few, from the injury list that totaled about 50 for the vear

THE DODGERS appear to be completely healed this spring, although it's not certain if a few of them -Tommy John the most prominent will be as good as they were before being injured.

Los Angeles apparently has lost Messersmith, a 19-game winner last season, since he was declared a free agent and is currently negotiating with other clubs. But he is still unsigned, and although the Dodgers did not enter the bidding for his services, a slim possibility exists that he might

the players?"

But even without Messersmith, Alston thinks the Dodgers have a sturdy pitching staff.

We've led the National League in earned run average the last four years," Alston said, "and we have outstanding depth in our staff of 1976.

'Don Sutton has been with the Dodgers 10 years and has done an outstanding job. Burt Hooton surprised many people last season with his 18 victories. Doug Rau won 15 games last season, and has a bright future ahead.

"Tommy John will be making his comeback this season and he adds to our deputh of start ers. John was off to his finest season ever in 1974 when he was 13-3 and suffered a tendon tear."

BRYANT, 25, won 24 games for the San Francisco Giants in 1973. But he was injured in a swimming pool accident following that season and won but three games the next year. He was unable to regain his '73 form, and this winter was picked up the last season, is again expected to be the mainstay of the Dodger bullpen. Knuckleballer Charlie Hough and youngster Stan Wall will probably also see considerable relief action.

Steve Yeager seems to have the inside track on the catching job, with Ferguson relegated to right field. The Dodgers recently acquired catcher Ellie Rodriguez from California, and utility man Sizemore can also catch, so the Ferguson may be traded. The Dodger outfield will most likely consist of Buckner, hobbled by an ankle injury last year, in left; Baker, acquired from Atlanta in a trade that sent Jimmy Wynn, among others, to the Braves, and Ferguson and John Hale splitting duties in right.

ALSTON HAS indicated that he'll experiment with his infield. Ron Cey has third base locked up, and the same goes for Steve Garvey at first.

But Alston plans to work Davey Lopes at shortstop, with Sizemore at second. Russell, Los Angeles' regular shortstop, was injured much of last season, and slipped to a .206 batting average.

Alston, who likes to point out that the Dodgers whipped Cincinnati 10-8 in the clubs' headto-head competition last year, said it will take a good allaround team effort, plus two or three Dodgers having outstanding seasons, for Los Angeles to beat the Reds this year.

1975 finish—Second in National League West, 20 games behind Cincinnati.

Strength—Pitching, despite loss of Andy Messersmith, still ranks among best in league. Leadoff hitter Davey Lopes dangerous on the basepaths, and Steve Garvey. Ron Cey, and newly acquired Dusty Baker give club potent threat in the power part of the batting order.

Weakness—Bullpen too dependent on Mike Marshall, who was injured part of last season. Shortstop Bill Russell also hobbled by injuries last season, so position up in air. Despite trades, still lacking good left-handed pinch hitter.

New faces—Center fielder Dusty Baker, infielder Ed

Goodson from Atlanta; Utility man Ted Sizemore from St. Louis: catcher Ellie Rodriguez from California; pitcher Ron Bryant, free agent. 1976 forecast—Second in West again.

DALLAS (AP) - Jerry Don Wood

had been hunting that Sept. 17 morning and when he saw two men enter the State National Bank of Caddo

Mills with ski masks in their hands he took a rifle from his car and waited.

When the robbers fled with the bank president's daughter as a hostage,

Wood opened fire, puncturing one tire of the getaway car. The 29-year-old farmer leaped into the back of a pickup truck driven by a friend and led a posse of citizens in pursuit. The robbers freed their kidnap victim, abandoned the crippled car and dashed into an open field. Wood fired a warning shot, then held a rifle on the men while other citizens of Caddo Mills disarmed them.

Groundwater district managers cite gains

Austin Bureau

AUSTIN - Managers of three High Plains groundwater districts have told a House subcommittee public acceptance of their efforts indicates they are effectively regulating groundwater

But two of the managers indicated they would like for their districts to have some additional powers, including coordinating use of surface water and groundwater, and selling water imported from outside their

Frank Rayner, High Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1, Lubbock; J. W. Buchanan, North Plains Water District, No. 3, White Deer, made their comments to the Natural Resources Subcommittee on water. Rep. Tom Craddick, Midland, chairs the committee and subcommittee. which is considering groundwater

Rayner said he feels the groundwater district provides a means for equitable development of groundwater and eliminates disputes between landowners through its well permitting system.

High Plains UD No. 1 has the most complete records on wells in the U.S., Rayner said.

He described the district's efforts to promote conservation and wise water use, including programs for waste

More than 80 per cent of the tailwater waste has been cured, Rayner said, except for "unfortunate accidents and just a few hardheads that we'll eventually have to take to

He credited the district with promoting public awareness throughout Texas of the decline of water in the Ogallala formation, but warned that other areas (such as Dallas and Waco) are suffering from similar problems, although they aren't as aware of the problem.

Recommendations for study that Rayner suggested to the subcommittee included revision of the Water Code to allow underground water districts to have "conjuntive management" of surface water resources (to lessen costs and avoid proliferation of special districts). electing directors and changing directors' terms to four (instead of two) years. Buchanan said he had been told by farmers in his district that North Plains WD's well-spacing function alone was worth the cost of their tax

He recommended including all of an underground reservoir within a district, instead of allowing counties to vote themselves in or out of a

Buchanan also urged allowing districts to buy, sell and transport water, and allowing districts to extend the terms of their directors. In one election, he said, it cost $2,000 to get only 36 votes.

Ryals said he feels the present law is generally adequate for such districts, but he endorsed allowing districts to sell imported water-from the Mississippi River, East Texas or from other out-of-area sources.

All three managers invited the committee to hold hearings in the

O'Rourke to 'wipe out' gas banking

AUSTIN (AP) - Railroad Commission candidate Terence O'Rourke promised Tuesday to wipe out $100 million in LoVaca Gathering Co. gas 'banking" charges "with the stroke of a pen" if he is elected.

He said it would be "fair to say" that commissioner Mack Wallace would join him to make a commission majority for such a step, but "I haven't talked with him, though."

O'Rourke called a news conference to give reporters the "O'Rourke Report," which he said he prepared as chairman of a State Bar of Texas committee on utilities.

He described gas "banking" this

Lo-Vaca "borrowed" billions of cubic feet of natural gas from Amoco Oil, Kerr-McGee Oil and Dow Chemical Co. in 1968 when the prevailing rate was about 20 cents per 1,000 cubic feet (mcf). The three "lenders" obtained in return the right to buy the same amount of gas back from LoVaca after a five-year wait at the O'Rourke said Lo-Vaca now is ex-ecuting its part of the bargain and will be for another two years.

"Currently, this means, for exam-ple, that Lo-Vaca is buying gas on the open market at prices ranging above $2 per mcf and selling this same gas to 'bank' customers such as Amoco for only 20 cents per mcf," O'Rourke

Fuel unit scheduled

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP) - Central Power & Light Co. today said it will build a fuel gasification unit at San Benito in the Lower Rio Grande Valley for conversion of coals and heavy oils to gas.

Phil Franke, manager of CP&L's nuclear development and technical research division, said the gaseous product will be used at the CPAL generating plant.

"If the process is as good in operation as it is on paper, it will mean substantial cost savings in years to come. It will allow us to use existing power stations for their natural lifetime, rather than replacing them with coal and nuclear units," Franke said.

The Texas Railroad Commission recently ordered gas suppliers to begin gradual reduction of natural gas to electric utilities.

Reeves County gained a Delaware gas discovery, a Winkler field gained a dual producer and production was extended in a North Martin pool.

Monsanto Co. completed its No. 1 Johnson as a Delaware discovery in Reeves, 12 miles southwest of Toyah, for a calculated, absolute open flow potential of 2.2 million cubic feet of dry gas per day.

Production is through perforations at 3,836-3,848 feet. The pay has been acidized with 750 gallons and fractured with 10,750 gallons and 11,000

Drilled to 9,440 feet, it has 51/2-inch ipe set at 4,500 feet, and is plugged back to 3,870 feet.

Wellsite is 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of section 22, block C-11, PSL survey. It is 1% mile northeast of a Belaware oil discovery.

HNG Oil Co., Midland, has announced dual completion of its No. 262 University Block 21 Gas Unit, in the Apollo field of Winkler County, three miles southwest of Wink.

From the Ellenburger, a calculated, absolute open flow of 1.3 million cubic feet of dry gas per day, was gauged through perforations at 18,423-18,865 feet. The pay was treated with 15,000 gallons of acid and 12,000 gallons and 60,000 pounds of fracture. It is the fourth Ellenburger well and 214-mile south extension to that pay.

The Fusselman calculated, absolute open flow was for 16 million cubic feet of gas daily, with gas-liquid ratio of 2,866-1. Gravity of the con-densate was not reported. Completion was effected through perforations at 15,592-15,820 feet, after 500 gallons of Subsequent drillstem test from 6,226-6,290 feet, open 2½ hours, surfaced gas in three minutes at the rate of 40,000 cubic feet per day. Recovery from test tool was 1,410 feet of gassey oil, gravity 39.2 degrees, plus 2.6 cubic feet of gas and 1,400 cubic centimeters of oil from the sample chamber. Flowing pressures were 147-611 pounds; one-hour initial and four-hour ounds; one-hour initial and four-hour inal shut-in pressures were 2,964 and

Industrialist fined in contributions case

By ROBERT RAWITCH The Los Angeles Times

LOS ANGELES - Industrialist Armand Hammer Tuesday was fined $3,000 and placed on one year's probation for illegally making and concealing $54,000 in campaign contributions to the 1972 reelection campaign of former President Richard M. Nixon.

Sentencing of the 77-year-old board chairman of Occidental Petroleum Corp. culminated proceedings which started last Oct. 1 when Hammer, in a plea bargain with the Watergate special prosecutor's office, agreed to plead guilty to three misdemeanor charges.

Prior to the imposition of sentence by U.S. Dist. Judge Lawrence T. Lydick, Hammer said, "This was the first time I have been charged with a criminal offense and I greatly regret health when Lydick interrupted him to state that he had no intention of imposing a prison sentence on a 77-year-old man. Groman then shortened his remarks to simply assert that Hammer's actions were not motivated by evil intent and that because of his past record of public service a monetary fine would be appropriate in the case.

Throughout his attorney's remarks to the court, Hammer, in a gray suit and white shirt, appeared calm but watched Lydick intently.

Hammer showed no visible reaction when the judge said that because of the industrialist's age and health he was suspending any prison sentence in favor of probation and the maximum fine allowed by law.

Neither Hammer nor Groman had any comment after the proceeding, nor did assistant special prosecutor Michael Lehr, who had handled the case for the government.

Each one of the three counts of making and concealing illegal campaign contributions carried a maximum prisons term of one year.

Frozen gas plans told

LAKE CHARLES, La. (AP) -Three firms have disclosed plans to ship frozen natural gas from Algeria to the United States through new facilities to be built here by 1980.

Two 900-foot refrigerated tankers will be built by General Dynamics at its Quincy, Mass., shipyards to haul the frozen, liquefied gasat minus 120 degrees to Lake Charles.

When it reaches the United States, the liquefied substance will be thawed and converted back into a gas, a joint announcement from the firms said.

The project is expected to yield 165 billion cubic feet of gas annually over a 20-year period.

From the conversion plant the gas will flow into a Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Co. line for transport to the Midwest. The firm serves cities and utility companies in Illinois, Missouri, Indiana, Ohio and Michigan.

An announcement from the com-panies said Panhandle Eastern and General Dynamics will each own 40 per cent of the project, with Moore McCormack Bulk Transport, Inc., owning the other 20 per cent.

The Lake Charles Port Authority said its Industrial Canal into the Gulf of Mexico will be widened and deepened to accomodate the refrigerated tankers and a conversion plant will be built on Port Authority

Cancer said chief killer of children under 15

By DON SHANNON The Los Angeles Times

WASHINGTON - Cancer is the chief killer of children under 15 in the United States and population growth is at least partly to blame, three environmental researchers said in a study published recently.

The assertion was made by Lester R. Brown, president of Worldwatch Institute, and institute staff members Patricia L. McGrath and Bruce Stokes. Their report, "Twenty-two Dimensions of the Population Problem," warned that in addition to the threat of famine raised by Thomas Malthus in the 19th century, accelerating population growth poses an array of other dangers, from disease death in the world today is directly at-tributable to human changes in the environment," the authors said. "These changes stem from new technologies, population growth, and the need to produce ever more goods to satisfy human needs."

Worldwatch Institute is a nonprofit research organization dedicated to "global problem solving." It was initially financed by the Rockefeller Brothers Fund and receives support from the United Nations Environment Program. Its study of population growth was paid for by the U.N. Fund for Population Activities.

The National Cancer Institute confirmed that the 1974 cancer death rate of 5.2 per 100,000 children topped the list of fatal diseases for this group.

The spokesman also said that the conquest of other diseases has helped make cancer the leading cause of death in children because its incidence has remained relatively

The Worldwatch study, in discussing "environmentally induced illnesses," said "cancer now ranks as one of the most feared killers in industrial societies."

"The spreading incidence of environmental illness is largely attributable to the introduction of new chemicals into the ecosystem, increased levels of air and water pollution, and crowding," it said.

Brown and his colleagues said that if cancer is the price of population indeveloping nations have been af-flicted by schistosomiasis, a disease caused by microscopic parasites that thrive in water and attack the bladder and liver.

It is a growing menace in the developing world because nations there are expanding irrigation in the face of the rising food needs of their growing populations. Two out of five Egyptians, a total of 15 million people, are victims of the nearly incurable

"Those of us working with students are struck by the students' return to the party system," he says. # Duval County may be flat broke by Aug. 1

AUSTIN (AP) — Public money that "has just simply vanished" and an apparently overloaded county payroll might break Duval County by Aug. 1, says State Comptroller Bob Bullock.

Bullock said in a report Tuesday that his auditors have informed him that Duval County has only about $400,000—plus possible late tax payments-to cover county government expenses of $200,000 a month.

Duval County has about 12,400 persons. One in every 57 works for the county, the report said, and the county will be unable to pay them 'around Aug. 1, assuming spending continues at current levels.

By contrast, Bullock said, neighboring Webb (Laredo) County has one county employe for every 231 residents.

"Duval County government has lost-this is right, lost-half as many motor vehicles as Webb County government operates altogether," a report from Bullock said.

'Despite the county's deteriorating financial condition, in 1973 and 1974 it rented a Cadillac for $275 per month and a Thunderbird for $175 per month from the Duval Motor Co. for use by county officials," Bullock's report said.

Bullock said auditors sent to Duval County "listed some fiscally hairraising transactions. There were no records, no system of accounting. People were just walking off with the Bullock said he had the authority to require Duval County government to keep "adequate records of all financial transactions" and to "require all persons who have received and not accounted for state money to settle their accounts." The report stated that various property owners had been excused from property taxes "for no apparent valid reason, resulting in considerable loss of revenue to the county and the state.'

Listed were Coastal States Companies, which was excused from paying $172,321 in taxes; Driscoll Foundation, $317.881: and Duval County Ranch, Inc., $19,452.

In addition, a vote by the county commissioner's court to reduce the ranch's $23-an-acre assessment by 75 per cent saved the company at least $100,000, the report said.

Duval County Ranch, Inc., belongs to Clinton Manges, a politically powerful figure who has been Bullock's law client and host on dove hunting trips.

Other 'abnormally low assessments," the report said, included $1.21 an acre for Mrs. Atlee Parr's 14,047 acres, and 49 cents an acre for Archer Parr's 690 acres. These assessments, however, were suddenly raised to over $40 per acre in

Before his death, George Parr also had 50 acres on the tax rolls at $2.20 an acre and 2,808 acres at $1.92 per acre.

"The former assessor-collector, Jesus Oliveira Jr., was himself delinquent while he served in that office." Bullock said.

Bullock said the Duval County Conservation and Reclamation District keeps an average balance of "roughly $500,000" at the First State Bank of San Diego, but the funds have never been put in interest-bearing accounts.

"Over the past 10 years, the district has thus lost-and the bank savedsome $250,000 in interest," the report

In November 1967, Bullock said, "the bank did not require a signature on a $678,985 check from the county to the water district, and in effect allowed an unidentified individual to walk off with a quarter million dollars city of San Diego, which has no record of public money with no accounting of what it was to be used for or where it was going. Bullock said the water district has collected an estimated $11 million since it was organized in 1965 and has only about $1.6 million in capital improvements to show for it.

More than $1 million has been paid out of the district's "special account," Bullock said, adding: "In a few instances, a bank officer noted the recipient and supposed purpose of the withdrawal. Some examples: $81,700 to Archer Parr, county judge, for legal services...$65,493...to cover cashier's checks to Stewart & Stevenson Co. of Houston for irrigation equipment which, according to invoices, was delivered to the Parr ranch; (and) $96,000...to the

of receiving the money.'

Bullock said the district paid out of its operating funds $148,000 in legal fees for George Parr and $39,000 for legal fees to Archer Parr, in addition to legal fees paid out of the special fund

The late George Parr, once political kingpin of the county, was known as the "Duke of Duval." Archer Parr, his nephew, is serving a federal prison term for perjury.

Bullock said his staff will develop an accounting system "to accurately trace the receipt and expenditure of public funds" and will audit the county regularly.

He said county commissioners should "cut its payroll to the bare minimum to provide" essential

"Increased tax collections and a reduced payroll might possibly carry the county government through its impending financial crisis," Bullock said.

Bullock said the State Banking Board should see whether it can require banks such as the First State Bank of San Diego "to be more accountable in their handling of public funds."

With his report, Bullock released a copy of a March 12 letter from Dist. Atty. Arnulfo Guerra of Rio Grande City renewing an invitation to the comptroller to help "in all matters of mutual interest involving the mishandling or misapplication of public funds in connection with fiscal or taxation matters in Duval County."

World Bank loan to Chile hit

The Washington Post

WASHINGTON — Rep. Henry S. Reuss (D-Wis.) charged Tuesday that the World Bank's own documents show that it had made a $33 million loan to Chile for political reasons.

The deteriorating Chilean economy raises questions about its credit-worthiness, Reuss said in a letter to McNamara dated March 19.

"One is left with the unhappy conclusion," Reuss wrote, "that the bank succumbed to political pressure to shore up an inhuman right-wing dictatorship tottering on the edge of bankruptcy.'

The congressman, chairman of an international economic subcommittee of the Joint Economic Committee of Congress, invited McNamara to testify in public session "to defend the record of the World Bank in this matter." But a bank spokesman, who refused comment on the letter, also said McNamara would likely refuse the invitation. The controversial loan, a 15-year credit for copper development, was approved over the opposition of s of the 20 World Bank directors, including almost all major European countries, representing about 40 per cent of the bank's voting stock. Questions were raised not only about Chile's credit-worthiness, but about its policy of human oppression and negation of civil

Policemen's names, addresses not secret

AUSTIN (AP) — The names and addresses of police officers are not necessarily confidential by law, says

Atty. Gen. John Hill. Hill advised city attorneys in Houston and El Paso of this Tuesday in his 123rd opinion dealing with the 1973 Open Records Act.

Hill said El Paso had been asked to supply a list of all police personnel, and Houston had been asked for a list of all city employes, including police Hill determined in 1974 that the 'identity of undercover law enforcement agents is excepted from disclosure" under the act. "However, we believe that the names of regular police personnel ordinarily must be treated the same as other city employes." Hill said.

But Hill added that "exceptional circumstances might exist" that might make it legal to withhold an employe's home address.

He said, for example, if a public employe has taken steps to gain privacy by maintaining an unlisted

"If and when an employe has asserted and has met the burden of establishing a substantial privacy interest in his or her home address. the governmental body should promptly provide the names of such employes to the requesting party, and notify the requestor of its determination that those home addresses are excepted from disclosure," Hill

What happens if a good customer suddenly shows up as a slow pay?

Well, there's the old stand-by: the collection letter. Although it's not a cheap solution, considering the rising costs of postage and clerical time. But the real problem is that the collection letter is impersonal. And unresponsive.

It can't listen to a businessman's reasonable explanations. ("Sorry. We had a computer foul-up. The check is on its way.")

And it can't apologize to smooth your customer's righteous wrath. ("Whaddaya mean? Half of that shipment was missing! I've written three letters...")

By the time your answers cross in the mail, you've lost time. And you may have lost a good customer.

The well-trained telephone can help.

It's not just a matter of using the phone instead of writing a letter.

It's a matter of using the phone with a definite plan... with techniques that get results instead of resentment.

That's where our Phone Power programs come in.

Phone Power is the planned use of Long Distance to build business and increase your profits.

At Southwestern Bell, we have specialists who can analyze your needs, then show you how to use Long Distance to accomplish specific objectives - like improving your collections.

We'll tailor a program to your business, train your people, test market the concept, even help you evaluate the results.

Phone Power is a smart investment. Obviously, if you use more Long Distance, your phone bill may go up. But if you use the phone well, the results will more than pay for your investment. (That's the only way we'll keep your business, month after month.)

Phone Power is designed for results: in this case, speeding collections without sacrificing future sales. That means profits for your business. Can we train your telephone to round up receivables and speed your cash flow? Just pick up the phone and call your account executive at Southwestern Bell.

We talk business. Your business.

The report said the system was "laden with superfluous gimmickry but under-designed from the standpoint of damage prevention." It called parcel damage "the most serious immediate problem."

"Despite postal assertions that most damage results from insufficiently wrapped packages using tissue paper and thread, the clear evidence was that most of the damage

One machine the investigators considered to be in the "nonsense" category was a device that shakes packages out of mail sacks. The report said the machine was responsible for considerable damage and called it "the epitome of needless and wasteful technology

Craddick to head water panel

AUSTIN - State Rep. Tom Craddick of Midland has been named chairman of the House of Representatives' water rights ownership subcommittee.

The subcommittee is charged with studying the scope of water-ownership rights under Texas law.

Serving with Craddick on the subcommittee are Reps. Bob Close of Perryton, vice-chairman; Tom Dramberger of San Antonio, and Tom

Ford, Kissinger OPEN read Nixon's report on trip

The Los Angeles Times

WASHINGTON - President Ford and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger have received, read and returned separate copies of former President Richard M. Nixon's report on his eight-day visit to China, the White House said.

Presidential press secretary Ron Nessen said Ford found the 60-page paper "very interesting and useful." But Nessen told a questioner he believed it was "fair to say it didn't contain any startling new in-

Calling the report "sensitive" in part, but not classified. Nessen said the White House copy had been read by only two officials in addition to the President: George Bush, director of Central Intelligence and former chief of the U.S. mission in Peking, and Brent Scowcruft, Ford's assistant for national security, who made "about half a page of notes" from the report.

State Department press offlicer Robert L. Funseth said Kissinger found his copy "interesting and essentially useful," but had shown it to none of his associates at the department.

Both spokesmen denied that either copy of the report had been duplicated in any way and indicated that it would remain secret unless Nixon decides to release it.

When a Los Angeles Times reporter reached Lt. Col. Jack Brennan, a Nixon aide, at San Clemente to ask if it was possible to obtain a copy of the report, Brennan replied: "Hell no. The report will not be released now or ever. There is no possibility it will be

Nessen, who had denied several times last week that the report was at the White House, appeared to blame the National Security Council staff under Scoweroft for failure to inform him of the document's

Without saying when he learned what, Nessen gave the following account:

About two weeks ago, Nisson telephoned Warren J. Gulley, a civilian attached to the White House military aide's office whose main responsibility is liaison with former Presidents, to say he had completed the report he prumised to prepare on his return from China. At Nixun's request, Nessen said, Gulley flew to San Clemente and picked up the two copies of the report in an envelope addressed to Kissinger, returning to Washington March 13 or 14.

Scoweroft received the envelope from Gulley, then gave one copy to a Kissinger aide and the other to Ford. Ford's copy was returned to Scowcroft Thursday and Kissinger's on Friday. At Ford's instruction, the White House copy was shown to Bush Meanwhile, Nessen said. Nixon telephoned Scowcroft Wednesday to "ask if Brent had found it useful, and Brent said yes.

Under an agreement with Nixon, Nessen continued, the two copies of the report were sent back to San Clemente by air mail on Saturday, and Brennan telephoned Gulley Monday to report safe arrival of Replying to questions, Nessen said the report was not classified because it was "written by a civilian with no authority to classify." He said it is regarded as a communication by "a private citizen who has had a unique experience and has a unique background

FCC to issue immediate CB temporary license

WASHINGTON (AP) - New citizens' hand radio owners will be able to obtain a temporary license to use their sets immediately under a new Federal Communications Commission plan.

An FCC official said that the new licensing procedure should take effect in a month. At the same time, he revealed that the agency has delayed expansion of the 23-channel hand on which the sets operate pending solution of a serious interference problem.

Charles Higginbotham, chief of the FCC's Safety and Special Radio Services Bureau, said the commission would formally announce both actions later this week

He said the temporary permit is intended to end the current licensing logiam that has been created by a nationwide craze for CB radios.

The new system will allow the buyer of a CB set to obtain a temporary license form from a radio store or from the FCC. The 60-day temporary license will be valid as soon as the form is sent to the FCC by cer-

Then, pending solution of the jammed-channel pro-blem, all the new owner has to worry about is getting

Sales of CB radios have soured from 300,000 in fiscal 1974 to 1.1 million in 1975 and are expected to reach 3.8 million this year.

The popularity of the sets for use in business and the family auto has caused chronic jamming on the 23 channels assigned by the FCC to citizen broadcasters. To solve the jamming problem, it was proposed to expand the CB band to 50-plus channels. "We were all set to go with 50-plus channels," Higginbotham said, "but we got a flood of comments in Industry representatives warned that because of the design of the receiving sets, there would be serious interference with anything over 40 channels, Higginbotham said the FCC will propose several alternate solutions that will allow splitting some channels to one or two sidebands.

Five seldom-used channels now assigned mainly to fliers of model aircraft may be switched to the citizens' hand. Higginbotham said this should achieve a minimum of 44 channels and 44 sidebands. Higginbotham said he expects the channel-expansion question to be settled in about 75 days, allowing 60 days for comment and 15 days for replies. In the meantime, he said, the current 70-day waiting time for permanent licenses should be reduced by a new system of opening license mail within two or three days instead of 30.

Sharing anticipated in Lockheed probe

WASHINGTON (AP) agreeing with Japanese officials to share information about Lockheed Aircraft Corp. payoffs, U.S. officials say they hope to negotiate agreements with several other countries to trade information in the widening probe of Lockheed.

Assistant Atty. Gen. Richard L. Thornburgh reported that development Tuesday night as he signed an agreement obligating U.S. and Japanese law enforcement agencies to share information gathered in their separate investigations of Lockheed payoffs in Japan.

"I anticipate there will be a number of other countries we will undertake negotiations with," he told reporters.

He acknowledged that U.S. officials have scheduled negotiating sessions with some foreign representatives. But he declined to say how many nations are involved or to identify Lockheed officials said last month that the company had paid $12.6 million for sales promotion in Japan and some of that money allegedly went to bribe high Japanese officials Other countries mentioned unofficially in connection with Lockheed payoffs include Italy, West Germany, The Netherlands, Spain, Greece, South Africa, Turkey, Nigeria and Colombia.

In Tokyo, Prime Minister Takeo Miki described the terms of agreement as "stiff," referring to the the agreement's requirement that names of Japanese officials allegedly involved not be made public until their cases are brought up for prosecution.

Miki, however, said that information to be delivered by the uncover the truth on the scandal. The agreement was prompted by a letter Miki wrote to President Ford asking for all information available on the scandal and warning Ford that "if the whole issue is kept unsolved, democracy in Japan may suffer a fatal blow.

Thornburgh, head of the Justice Department's criminal division, said he and his staff are conducting "an ongoing investigation' of the Lockheed payoffs in Japan. He declined to say whether American laws may have been violated by corporate payoffs abroad.

The unusual four-page writter agreement with Japan came after five lengthy negotiating session involving Thornburgh and other Justice Department officials and representatives of the State Department, the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission, the Japanese Ministry of Justice and the Japanese

The negotiations began after Japan sought access through the State Department to the Lockheed information gathered by U.S. investigators. U.S. officials had been expected to honor the request under certain conditions. But the reciprocal nature of the pact came as something

"We certainly want to have full advantage of the material developed by the Ministry of Justice," Thorn

He said he expects Japan to request information under the agreement "rather soon." U.S. officials will respond "with dispatch," he added.

Laborers to slate contract talks date

ABILENE - The Midland Laborers Union and other West Texas laborers unions will meet with the Associated General Contractors of America in Abilene April 23 to set dates for contract talks, Frank D. Fuller, manager of the West Texas chapter of the AGC, said.

Contracts for laborers in Abilene Lubbock, Wichita Falls, Midland and Odessa expire June 30, 1976.

"Certified-mail requests for negotiations for contract changes for the Abilene and Wichita Falls working agreements have been received by the chapter office," Fuller said.

The Lubbock and Midland-Odessa groups will probably make a similar request in the near future, he said.

Contracts for Midland and Big Spring bricklayers and Big Spring cement masons and plasterers expire Sept. 30, 1976, but are automatically renewed in lieu of notification by the union, Fuller said.

In addition to setting dates for contract talks, election of new officers, public relations efforts. training courses, safety regulations and other topic of interest to the construction industry will be discussed at the April 23 meeting in Abilene, Fuller said.

The hourly wage for laborers in the Midland-Odessa area is $4, but it will go up to $4.27% on April 1.

Hourly wages for other Midland craftsmen are: $6.60 for bricklayers; $7.23 for carpenters, rising to $8.13 when the contract ends on June 30, 1977; $6 for cement masons; $9.88 for iron workers and $9.40 for equipment operators, with the hourly wage being 40 cents less for light equipment.

In Big Spring, bricklayers are paid $6.60 per hour. The hourly wage scale for other crafts is: $7.35 for car-penters, rising to $8.05 by the time their contract ends on June 30, 1977; $5.45 for cement masons; $9.88 for iron workers; $9.40 for equipment operators, with operators earning 40 cents less and $5.70 for plasterers.

IRS opens audit of Sen. Montoya

The Washington Post

WASHINGTON - The Internal Revenue Service has begun an audit of recent tax returns filed by Sen. Joseph M. Montoya (D-N. Mex.), according to informed IRS sources. The audit was ordered after a four-month investigation conducted by the Treasury Department into allegations published last October by The Washington Post that IRS Commissioner Donald C. Alexander blocked audits of Montoya's returns for two years.

The Montoya audit — begun this was first reported Wednesday by syndicated columnists Jack Anderson and Les Whitten It was confirmed by well-placed IRS

Montoya, who heads the Senate subcommittee which oversees the IRS budget, has not had his tax returns audited since 1950. An audit and investigation had been strongly recommended by some IRS officials and is called for under normal IRS procedures in the case of a taxpayer like Montoya who had become a The Post story reported five occasions on which Alexander cited Montoya's power over the IRS budget as the reason for delaying or curtailing an audit or criminal fraud investiga tion.

Secretary of the Treasury William E. Simon, who is in charge of the IRS, declined Tuesday to comment on the Montoya audit Simon said that the Treasury investigaiton which he ordered had been forwarded to the Justice Department to determine if any criminal charges should be brought.

Simon said he expects the Justice Department to make a decision within two weeks when a public report will be made.

Justice Department sources said that the Treasury investigaton is being reviewed to see if Alexander should be charged with obstruction of

The sources said they doubted that charges would be brought and Simon reportedly believes that Alexander exercised poor judgment but did not commit a criminal act.

After the Post story about the efforts to block audits of Montoya's record, the IRS issued a public statement saying that Montoya's tax returns had been reviewed and no audit was required.

Senior government sources said this week that the decision to begin an audit of Montoya is a repudiation of that statement.

Montoya has a poor record as a taxpayer, according to IRS sources. He has often been delinquent in paying taxes and twice was recommended for prosecution because he failed to file returns in 1945 and 1946 when he was a New Mexico state senator

Police 'labeling' not cause for civil rights suit

The Washington Post

WASHINGTON - The Supreme Court ruled Tuesday that police do not violate the constitutional rights of citizens by publicly branding them as active criminals, even when they have never been convicted of a crime.

By a 5-to-3 vote the bitterly divided court held that circulating such defamatory information, no matter how harmful to an individual's reputation, does not expose state or federal officials to lawsuits for invasion of civil rights.

The decision called into question a trend in federal court decisions curbing the FBI and police in their dissemination of incomplete or inaccurate criminal records.

None of the high court's rulings, Justice William H. Rehnquist wrote for the majority, supported a claim that officials "may not publicize a record of an official act such as an arrest. Maligned individuals may have a right to sue for libel under state law. Rehnquist said, but they may not use the federal courts to sue for the deprivation of a constitutional right without due process of law.

The decision continued the high court's own recent trend of rulings,

It cut down on Supreme Court precedents protecting individuals against blacklisting by government agencies and congressional committees investigating alleged subversives and organized crime figures.

The court dismissed a suit for damages by Edward D. Davis III of Louisville over a police circular, distributed to 800 merchants during the 1972 Christmas season, listing Davis among "active shoplifters" for whom shopkeepers should be on the alert, davis had been arrested the previous year but the charges against him were dropped.

Davis, a photographer for the Louisville Courier Journal and Times, had no record of criminal convictions. The flyer, which included a "mug shot" of Davis, came to his supervisor's attention. The supervisor warned Davis that he would not be fired but he "had best not find himself in a similar situation" in the future.

In dissent, Justice William J. Brennan Jr. said the injury to Davis' reputation and the hazard to his job security were more than enough to warrant relief in federal court.

'The court today holds that police officials, acting in their official capacities as law enforcers, may on their own initiative and without trial constitutionally condemn innocent individuals as criminals and thereby brand them with one of the most stigmatizing and debilitating labels in our society," Brennan said.

He added, "If there are no constitutional restraints on such oppressive behavior, the safeguards constitutionally accorded an accused in a criminal trial are rendered a sham, and no individual can feel secure that he will not be arbitrarily singled out for similar ex parte punishment by those primarily charged with fair enforcement of the

But Rehnquist said the opposite ruling would expand federal civil rights law beyond "any logical stopping place," converting every injury inflicted by a government official into a constitutional violation.

Under that view, he said, a person arrested and charged with a crime could sue law enforcement officers "who announce that they believe such person to be responsible for a particular crime in order to calm the fears of an aroused populace." And since the Constitution protects individuals from deprivation of life without due process, officials could be sued for constitutional violations for negligently killing someone in a traffic accident while driving a government vehicle, Rehnquist said.

Brennan's dissent called it "strange" that the court should downgrade the individual's right to a good name when it is injured by a government official only three weeks after the court ruled, over his dissent, that "the same interest" was sufficient to override the First Amend-

Krishna followers wear hair

The Los Angeles Times
LOS ANGELES — Something new has been added to the Hare Krishna movement: the toupee.

Numerous male members are wearing hairpieces on their shaved nates these days while they are out soliciting donations and distributing literature.

AND BOTH SEXES are shedding their orange saffron robes in favor of more traditional dress in public.

"We sort of freak out people with our normal appearance," said Krishna member John Robinson, 27. "Our culture is so atheistic that peo-ple get upset when they see anything

Robinson, who was canvassing the Korean Air Lines terminal at Los Angeles International Airport, doffed his brown toupee to reveal a head devoid of hair except for one lock on

The lock is there, devotees say, so Lord Krishna can yank them into heaven at the appropriate time.

Robinson was asked if he felt comfortable wearing the toupee.

He shrugged. "I am not my body."

Sartorially speaking, he affected a sporty look with an orange shirt (on which he wore a Krishna identification card), black slacks and tennis shoes.

He was teamed with Terry Daun, who at age 19 is probably one of the world's youngest toupee-wearers.

BOTH LIVE at the Hare Krishna Temple in Culver City, a Los Angeles suburb, where they are sup-plied with the wigs (which are all brown) and the clothes.
