Moslem tribesmen hijack Filipino jet

MANILA, The Philippines (AP) — Six men described as Moslem tribesmen hijacked a Philippine Airlines — PAL — jet with more than 100 persons aboard today and forced it to land at Zamboanga on the island of Mindanao, military authorities said. The hijackers demanded $375,000 ransom and a DC8 plane to fly them to Libya, sources said.

Retail food cost hikes lead jump in price index

WASHINGTON (AP) — Led by the first rise in retail food costs in four months, consumer prices increased four-tenths of a per cent in April, the government said today. The increase was the biggest price rise since January and was twice as large as the March increase of two-tenths of a per cent. However, it still was well within the Ford administration's prediction for an overall 6 per cent increase in prices during all of 1976.

Court site meeting in progress

SAN ANTONIO — The question of moving federal grand juries from Midland to El Paso was still being debated at noon today in a meeting of the five judges from the Western District of Texas in the courtroom of Chief Judge Adrian Spears.

Spears has proposed moving criminal grand juries and arraignments to El Paso in a move designed, he says, to comply with the Speedy Trial Act.

LATE NEWS

TOKYO (AP) — An 11-member air force delegation left Tokyo today for the United States on a three-week mission to make a final recommendation on the choice of U.S.-made jets as Japan's next mainstay fighters.

pistol to the pilot's head, authorities said. Officials said there were 103 passengers and six crewmen aboard the BAC111 jet, which sources said was commandeered shortly after it took off from Davao, 250 miles west of Zamboanga, on the other side of Mindanao. Six foreigners were believed to be among the passengers.

The pilot, Capt. Jovencio Lagaso, radioed the Davao airport 22 minutes after take off that the plane was "under hijack conditions," and he was "proceeding to Zamboanga under instructions," the sources said. At least 100 soldiers and three armored personnel carriers with machine guns surrounded the plane at the Zamboanga international airport, 530 miles south of Manila, witnesses said.

The hijacking was the third in the Philippines this year and the fourth in seven months. Military authorities identified the hijackers as Maranaos, members of a Moslem tribe from the provinces of North and South Lanao in north-central Mindanao, the scene of recent heavy fighting between dissidents who are seeking independence for the area and the armed forces of President Ferdinand E. Marcos' martial law government.

The military authorities identified the hijackers as: Pendatun Danansa, alias Jack Zapata; Nasser Nuhda; Omonda Donangsa; Makaliwang Tairan; Leong Raja, alias Tahil; and a man known only as Ibrahim, alias Copra. They gave no other details about the men.

Two of the three men who seized a PAL plane in another Mindanao city, Cagayan de Oro, on April 7 were also identified as Maranao. They and their leader finally flew to Libya at the end of the eight-day-long hijacking. Marcos ordered tighter security procedures following that hijacking.

The documents, which the FBI apparently never gave to the Warren Commission, are expected to be turned over to the intelligence committee today, according to Sen. Richard Schweiker, R-Pa., chairman of the subcommittee investigating the Kennedy slaying.

Schweiker said the new documents "could be very vital" in determining who in the FBI ordered the information about CIA attempts against Castro withheld from the Warren Commission, which investigated Kennedy's Nov. 22, 1963, assassination.

He said the information about the CIA plot against Castro may also have been withheld even from the FBI agents assigned to investigate the Kennedy slaying.

David W. Belin, who was an assistant counsel for the Warren Commission, said, "The fact that they would withhold information from an investigation of this kind has rather chilling implications. One of the things we were looking at was whether there was any Castro involvement in the Kennedy assassination."

Meanwhile, Sen. Daniel K. Inouye, D-Hawaii, has been named as ranking Democrat and likely chairman of the new Senate panel set up to monitor and control future spy activities. Eight of the 15 members, including Inouye, also serve on committees that have been responsible for monitoring the intelligence agencies in the past.

In another development, the committee released a report showing the CIA opened nearly a quarter-million private letters, even though senior officials knew the program was illegal and of little value. The FBI also opened mail on a smaller but "more intrusive" scale, the staff report said.

All of these mail-opening programs were initiated by agency officials acting without prior authorization from a president, attorney general or postmaster

NEW YORK (AP) — Sen. Edward Kennedy has decided he would accept a "genuine draft" for the presidential nomination or second place on a ticket headed by Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, the New York Daily News says.

The senator was not available for comment, but CBS News quoted him as saying he had not changed his mind about seeking the nomination.

to improve," the ministers said in a joint statement. Diplomatic sources said the conference communique strongly reflected Kissinger's views, expressed in his address to the council Thursday.

On other topics, the statement: —Expressed hope for a satisfactory U.S.-Soviet agreement on strategic arms limitation. Diplomats emerging from behind the closed doors told newsmen that Kissinger had little progress to report on SALT.

—Voiced concern about the serious situation caused by the continued instability in the Middle East. The ministers said rapid progress must be made toward a just and lasting settlement.

The ministers made no official mention of Africa, although it was reportedly discussed at some length in the morning session.

Kissinger missed most of the discussion on Africa, spending much of the morning in talks with Turkish Foreign Secretary Ishan Caglayangil, Britain's new foreign secretary, Anthony Crosland, and Icelandic Foreign Minister Einar Agustsson. Topics included the Greek-Turkish dispute and the Iceland-British "cod war."

Kissinger slams White House 'mumblers'

OSLO, Norway (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger insisted today that he coordinates all foreign policy decisions with President Ford despite any "mumbling" on the contrary in the White House.

As an example, Kissinger told a news conference that before his recent Africa trip he went over all the points he intended to make with the President and briefed all concerned members of the President's staff.

"That does not mean that there may not be somebody without anything to do with foreign affairs mumbling something in the corridors of the White House," he said. Kissinger's comments were his latest rebuttal to attacks on him and his foreign policies by candidates in the presidential campaign.

The secretary spoke at the conclusion of the semiannual meeting of North Atlantic alliance foreign ministers. The 1½-day meeting ended with a reaffirmation of the ministers' commitment to "deterrent and defensive strength."

"Only if the security of the peoples of the alliance is guaranteed in this way can East-West relations continue

Salvation Army begins campaign

"Let's give the greatest gift of all in this campaign — a gift of ourselves," Dan Eddy Jr. of Dallas said Wednesday at the kick-off luncheon for the development campaign for the Midland Salvation Army.

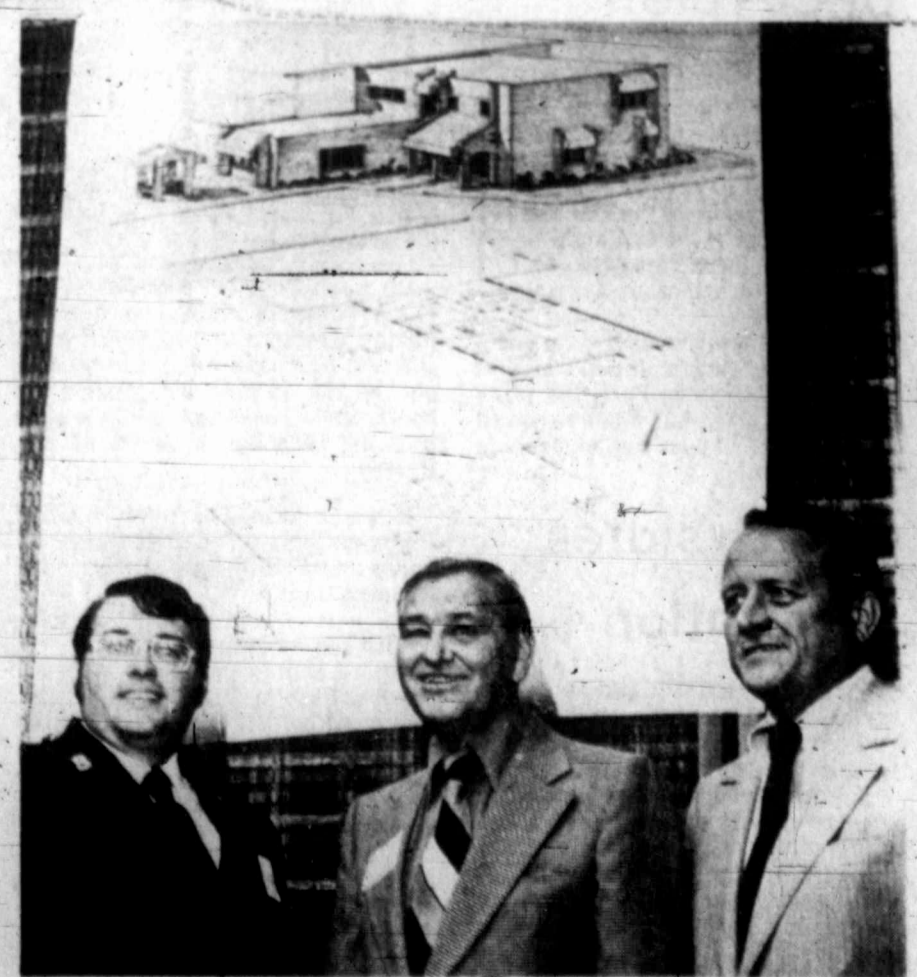

Eddy, the public relations director of the Salvation Army in Texas, has been involved in Salvation Army work for 22 years.

The freedom to conduct voluntary campaigns and the free enterprise system is what makes America great, Eddy said. He said there are 250 volunteers to every paid worker in the Salvation Army.

The Salvation Army is a "grass roots" agency that tries to keep its programs suited to changing community needs, Captain Robert Vincent, commanding officer of the Midland Salvation Army Unit, said.

Services provided by the Salvation Army are temporary lodging, alcoholic rehabilitation, educational and informative classes for clients, and a weekly men's and women's club, Vincent said.

Rankin students deliver addresses at graduation

RANKIN — Sarah Barrett delivered the valedictory address and Jerald Head the salutatory speech Tuesday evening during commencement exercises for Rankin High School. Thirty-two students were presented their diplomas by Dr. James D. Gossett, school board president, and A. C. Copeland, superintendent. Tommy Johnson was presented a cum laude award, and magna cum laude designations were awarded Rick Hurst, Hugh Jackson, Head and Miss Barrett.

petroleum industry pioneer in the area. Miss Barrett has attended Rankin schools throughout her 12 years' education and her grade point is 96.4. Head, the salutatorian, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Head of Midkiff. He is a former student at Midland High School who transferred to Rankin High School his senior year. His grade average is 85.6. Other students cited during commencement ceremonies were those tapped for scholarships. Recipients and their sponsors are Donnie Cole, Rankin Lions Club; Hurst, Rankin Study Club; Kirby Shipp, Xi Epsilon Chi and Omicron Tau chapters of Beta Sigma Phi; Pansy Peterson and Rosemarie Kelley, Hospital Auxiliary; and Tommy Johnson, Booster Club.

MC taking applications for 1976-77 cheerleaders

Midland College is now accepting applications for 1976-77 cheerleaders. The five applicants accepted will receive scholarships that will include tuition, fees, and books. All high school seniors who have had cheerleading experience may apply, according to Chester Story, athletic director at Midland College. Midland College cheerleaders will perform for the college's basketball games, including some road trips. They will also attend other Midland College athletic events and will work with the athletic department and student organizations in developing enthusiasm and support for the Chaparral teams. Deadline for applications is June 18, and final selections will be made prior to the end of June. Those chosen will be sent to a cheerleading school at Southern Methodist University in Dallas during July. For more information, contact Chester Story, athletic director, Midland College. The telephone number is 684-7851, extension 160.

Kennedy said willing

Kennedy said today, will not seek the nomination and has not changed his basic position since he said in 1974 that he would not accept a draft and would oppose such an attempt on his behalf. But Kennedy urged Humphrey to run in the New Jersey primary June 8 and when Humphrey decided against it, Kennedy "became increasingly concerned that with Humphrey out of the picture, Carter virtually had the nomination wrapped up," the News said. "This is what prompted Kennedy's ultimate decision that if Carter failed to win the 1,595 delegates needed to clinch the Democratic nomination and if party leaders came to him with a legitimate draft, he would accept," the News said. "Further," the newspaper said, "Kennedy also decided that if Humphrey were the subject of such a draft movement, he would agree to serve as Hubert's running-mate if such a decision would be required to put a Humphrey draft over the top."

New Reagan group formed

AUSTIN (AP) — A new Reagan for President Committee has been formed in Texas. John Sears, executive vice chairman of the National Citizens for Reagan Committee, said today. Sears said the Texas headquarters will be in Houston with Ray Barnhart, chairman of the Harris County Republican Party, as state chairman. Mayor Ernest Angelo of Midland will be vice chairman and James E. Lyon will be state finance chairman. Barnhart and Angelo were co-chairmen of the Texas Citizens for Reagan organization that organized for the May 1 primary.

Extended Texas forecast

North Texas: Partly cloudy and continued warm Sunday through Tuesday. Slight chance of showers Sunday and again on Tuesday. Highest temperatures lower 80s to near 90. Lowest temperatures lower 60s to near 70.

Texas area forecasts

North Texas: Cloudy to partly cloudy with scattered showers and thundershowers through Saturday. Low tonight 62 to 68. High Saturday 79 to 85. South Texas: Scattered showers and thundershowers tonight but more numerous in east. Considerable cloudiness tonight and early Saturday, becoming partly cloudy Saturday afternoon with chance of showers and thundershowers. Low tonight 64 to 72. High Saturday 82 to 92.

New Mexico, Oklahoma

New Mexico: Widely scattered showers and thundershowers through Saturday. Low tonight in 60s and 50s. High Saturday upper 70s to low 80s. Oklahoma: Variable cloudiness through Saturday. Widely scattered showers and thundershowers tonight and Saturday. Low tonight upper 50s and mid 60s. High Saturday upper 70s and lower 80s.

Most area towns get thundershowers

Scattered thundershowers brought rain to most area towns Thursday night with the exception of Crane. Big Spring received an inch and a half of rain which caused flash flooding in low lying areas. North of Big Spring, lightning reportedly struck a tank battery and volunteer firemen reportedly had difficulty in getting to the scene because of muddy roads. Andrews, Lamesa, and Stanton all reported up to one-half inch of rain this morning. Midland received three-tenths of an inch. Andrews reported cloudy skies, calm winds, and cool temperatures as did Big Lake. Lamesa, Crane, Stanton, and Rankin all reported partly cloudy skies, slight winds, and cool temperatures. The National Weather Service is predicting more rain with a 30 per cent chance for thundershowers tonight and 20 per cent Saturday.

There will be partly cloudy skies thru Saturday with a chance of mainly afternoon and evening thunderstorms. There will be no significant change in temperature. It was warm and damp across a wide expanse of Texas today. Often heavy thunderstorms mixed with showers dotted much of the Panhandle-Plains sector from Dalhart southward past Lamesa, and rained from Alpine in far West Texas to the northeast around Kermit.

FBI aware of CIA plot

(Continued from Page 1) general," the report stated. Schweiker released a copy of a May 6 letter to Atty. Gen. Edward H. Levi stating that "recently received materials reveal that the FBI, in 1964, had knowledge of the CIA's AM LASH plot and that there even exists an FBI file captioned 'Plans to Assassinate Cuban Leaders.'" AM LASH was the code name of a highly placed Cuban official who met with a CIA officer in Paris the same day Kennedy was killed and received a poison pen device to be used in killing Castro.

Dr. Lutrick to give report

A report on significant actions and decisions taken during the recent quadrennial General Conference of the United Methodist Church will be given by Dr. Charles Lutrick Sunday afternoon. Dr. Lutrick, pastor of Midland's First United Methodist Church and one of four clergy delegates to the convocation from the Northwest Texas Conference of the denomination, will make his report to the congregation and all other interested persons during the Sunday Vesper service. The service, scheduled for 5:30 p.m., will be in the Mabel Holt Glass Memorial Chapel.

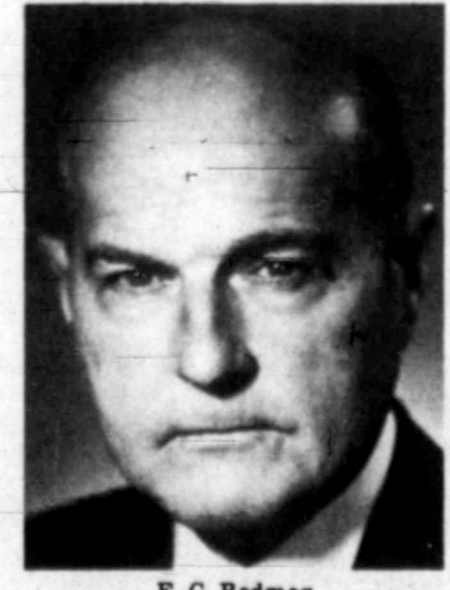

Church slates 'Playcation'

First Christian Church is announcing dates for its annual "Playcation" for children, a community-wide service. The non-denominational program, presented early each summer season at First Christian, is scheduled this year from June through June 24. Playcation days will be Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday each week. Sessions will offer crafts, music, nature studies and sports and recreational events, said Mrs. Charles Jackson, Playcation director. Additional information on this year's program is available from her at 684-7288, or from the First Christian Church office, 682-2541.

DEATHS

E. G. Rodman dies at Odessa hospital

ODESSA — E. G. Rodman of Odessa, pioneer West Texas independent oilman, industrialist, banker, rancher, civic leader and philanthropist, died Thursday afternoon in an Odessa hospital after a brief illness. He was the father of Mrs. Nancy Hodge of Midland. Services will be at 4 p.m. Saturday in the First United Methodist Church with interment in Sunset Memorial Gardens. Rodman was born in Gridley, Kan. He served in the Marine Corps in World War I and was in France when the Armistice was signed. He was associated with the oil and gas business for more than 50 years, having started as a roughneck in El Dorado, Kan., and went on to become one of the largest independent oil operators in Texas and Oklahoma. He was an early-day resident of McCamey. Rodman founded and headed Rodman Supply Co., Rodman Oil Corp., The Rodman Corp., and Rodman Gas Co. With his longtime partner, W. D. Noel, Rodman founded Odessa Natural Gasoline Co., Trebol Oil Co., Rodman-Noel Oil Corp., West Texas Gathering Co., Frontier Natural Gasoline Co., R-M-N Corp., Rodman-Noel Ranch and the American Bank of Odessa. The Rodman-Noel partnership largely was responsible for the location and development of the huge petrochemical complex located in Odessa. Rodman was a director of American Bank, Texas Commerce Bank of Lubbock, San Angelo National Bank and First National Bank of San Antonio.

E. G. Rodman

Since he came to Odessa in 1932, he had been active in the civic and industrial development of the city. He was a former mayor of Odessa and a trustee of Odessa College, honorary life member of the Chuck Wagon Gang and recipient of the Outstanding Citizen of Odessa Award. He was instrumental in the development of the Colorado Municipal Water District. Survivors, in addition to the Midland daughter, include the widow; two sons, Earl Rodman Jr. and Thomas E. Rodman of Odessa, and eight grandchildren, Earl George Rodman III, Thomas Allen Rodman, Rosemary Rodman, William Noel Rodman, Robert Earl Rodman, Thomas Edward Rodman Jr., James Armin Rodman and John Rodman Steele. The family requests that memorials be directed to the Ector County Heart Fund or the First United Methodist Church.

DEAR ABBY

Reader finds nursing homes to be depressing

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I just returned from having visited an elderly friend in a nursing home, and it was so depressing to see all those old people sitting in their rooms just staring at the bare walls I could have cried.

The windows are so high they couldn't look out unless they stood up, and most old people cannot stand up for very long—if they can stand at all! Abby, why can't they build the windows in those homes low enough for people to look out of while sitting in their chairs? To see the leaves turn colors, the flowers blooming, the seasons changing, the people and automobiles pass, or even an occasional bird or squirrel would mean so much to them. It couldn't help but reduce their feeling of isolation and loneliness.

I hope you care enough to print this.—SOMEONE WHO CARES
DEAR SOMEONE: I care, too. Thank you for a wonderful letter.

DEAR ABBY: I see so many letters in your column from wives worrying about the "other woman." The smart wife doesn't have to worry. She looks at it this way:

The male animal is an automobile with the key always in the ignition. Just because another woman comes along and wants to steal him—even for a joyride—she is no more entitled to keep him than the thief who steals an automobile.

The smart wife doesn't panic. She faces the matter forthrightly and takes positive action. After all, the key is in the ignition for HER use, too.

She should run the motor until her Don Juan is completely out of gas, and let the other woman wonder what happened when her lover registers "empty."—SECURE IN LONG ISLAND

DEAR SECURE: In defense of the male animal, I consider your metaphor a prime example of "reverse sexism." But I'm sure the males won't object.

DEAR ABBY: About the NERVOUS WRECK whose husband taught their 15-year-old son to mistreat his mother: The poor woman said, "Our preacher is very young and says he's had no training in marriage counseling, so he can't help me. Besides, he won't even talk to people who do not tithe, and my husband is one of them."

First, what kind of lily-livered nincompoop can that preacher be? Ask him how he would have dealt with the Samaritan woman at the well of Sychar (John 4, N.T.)! The Savior this pastor claims to serve broke Jewish tradition by daring even to speak to the woman; I wonder if she "tithed"?

I further wonder at the attitude this hypocrite would take toward the woman taken in adultery (John 8:1-11), or the widow who cast a mite into the treasury of the temple (Mark 12:41-44)? That smart aleck needs to be "shepherding" a flock like I need a hole in my head, and you can see from this letterhead that I am a preacher.

Let's call a spade a spade. That hypocrite pastor should be brought to his knees.

Thanks, kid!—R. B. IN L. A.

Lion Tamers hear quartet

A quartet from the Bell Ringers group of the First Methodist Church presented the program Wednesday noon at the meeting of the Lion Tamers Club at the Midland Country Club.

Members of the quartet are Mrs. H.V. Beck, Mrs. Patrick McNair, Mrs. Charles Reeder and Mrs. Frank Vitano.

At a business session which followed, Mrs. Robert B. Bechtel was awarded a life membership in the club, presented by Mrs. Horace Robb, president.

Mrs. Robb also named Mrs. Victor Horn as chaplain of the organization.

Letters of appreciation from recipients of gifts from the club were read.

It was announced that club members will be in charge of decorations for the Downtown Lions Club's officer installation banquet Tuesday night at Ranchland Hill Country Club.

Guests present were Mrs. John Colvin and Mrs. C.M. Dunagan.

Pair celebrates event

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbern Peden celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary with an open house in their home, 2607 Cimmaron St.

Daughters of the couple and their husbands, Mr. and Mrs. Tony Golsen of Midland and Mr. and Mrs. Steve Rutland of Ovalo, were host couples.

Mrs. Peden's sister, Mrs. Curtis Wells of Bowie, and her niece, Mrs. Gary Peden of Grand Prairie, served refreshments.

Mr. and Mrs. Peden have lived in Midland three years. They are formerly of Coleman.

Couple engaged

RANKIN — Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Routh of Rankin have announced the engagement of their daughter, Gay Lynn, to Robby Dale Mobley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Mobley of Midkiff.

Miss Routh is a graduate of Rankin High School and is employed at Sul Ross State University. Her fiancé is a student at SRSU and is employed by the National Park Service at Ft. Davis.

The couple will be married June 19 in the First Baptist Church of Rankin.

Reports given at meeting

The Xi Alpha Mu Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi met in the home of Mrs. Carl Emerson, with the new president, Mrs. Jerry Moritz, presiding.

Committee chairmen presenting reports were Mrs. Oland Butler, Mrs. Steve Montgomery, Mrs. David Owens, Mrs. Pat McNair, Mrs. Andy Schumann and Mrs. Bill McCoy.

The chapter voted to purchase bedspreads for the High Sky Girls Ranch. The group also voted to support the ranch during the coming year.

Winners of the Round Robin Bridge Tournament sponsored by the Permian Chapter, National Secretaries Association (International), Faye Mott, center, and Sue Gardiner, right, receive awards from the tourney chairman, Violet Brown.

Bridge tourney winners listed

The Permian Chapter of the National Secretaries Association (International) announced winners of its second annual six-month Round Robin Bridge Tournament during a meeting in the clubroom of the Haystack Apartments.

Sue Gardiner and Faye Mott were the first place winners and were presented engraved trophies.

The purpose of the tournament is to raise money for the chapter's scholarship fund, which provides assistance for Midland and Lee High School students.

Violet Brown, chairman of the tournament, presented the chapter president-elect, Kim Kunkel, with a check for $220, proceeds of the tournament. On behalf of Haystack Apartments, Brown presented a $50 check for the fund.

Florence Shade, assistant vice president of The First National Bank and a member of the chapter, presented a $150 check for the fund on behalf of FNB.

Several Midland merchants donated special prizes and gifts for the tournament.

Other winners were Harriet Reaves and Diane Porter, second; Lynn Green and Brown, third; Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Buehler, fourth, and Mrs. J. T. Dickson and Mrs. D. E. Morris, fifth.

Members of the chapter provided food for the awards dinner party.

Nancy Kay Long wed to Ronald K. Unruh

Nancy Kay Long, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Long of 3513 Imperial Drive, became the bride of Ronald Keith Unruh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Unruh, 3610 Shell St., in a double ring ceremony held at 7 p.m. Friday in St. Luke's United Methodist Church.

Officiating was the Rev. Billy Wilkinson. Mrs. Hugh Dickson was the organist.

Attending the couple were Jo Ann Ellis and David Wallace.

The bride, presented in marriage by her father, wore a formal gown of candlelight satin trimmed with Venise lace. Her headpiece was a Venise Camelot with a three-tiered veil. She carried a cascade of pink roses, white daisies and pink carnations.

The Petroleum Club was the setting for the reception.

The couple will reside at 201 Howard St., following a trip to El Paso.

The bride is a graduate of Lee High School and is employed by Berg Motor Co. The bridegroom attends Midland College and is employed by A. W. Thompson, Inc., in Odessa.

Musicians Club sets luncheon Wednesday

The Musicians Club, Robert Winkler Jr., Texas Federation of Music Clubs, will complete its two-year Bicentennial survey of American music at a luncheon meeting to be held Wednesday in the home of Mrs. Frank L. Thompson, 1400 W. Pine St.

Members and selections to be presented will be Mrs. Thompson, soprano, with Mrs. Hugh Dickson, pianist, "The Year's at the Spring;" Mrs. A. J. Evans Jr., violinist, and Mrs. R. Donald Janssen, pianist, "Yiskor," and Mrs. George F. Harley, soprano, and Mrs. Dickson, pianist, "Willow Song" from "The Ballad of Baby Doe."

Seniors feted with supper

Mrs. Larry Freeman entertained Lee High School seniors, Sherry Drennan, Montie Watson and Kim Freeman, and Midland High School senior, Susan Mendenhall, with a spaghetti supper in her home at 2305 W. Shandon St.

Miss Freeman and Miss Drennan plan to attend The University of Texas-Austin, and Miss Mendenhall will attend Angelo State University.

Students honored

Sherri Bassett and Marsha Waldron, Lee High School seniors, were entertained with a Coke party given by Teresa Callaway.

Swimming party reported

The Permian Basin Landmen's Auxiliary met recently at the home of Mrs. Jacque Manough, 3101 Haynes St., for card games, swimming and a luncheon.

Bridge winners were Mrs. John R. Stringer, Mrs. Ed Taylor and Mrs. James R. Blackmon.

The hostesses were Mrs. Sam Bills, Mrs. James W. Rogers, Mrs. Robert Ross and Mrs. Robert Watson.

Cab driver receives tip

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Taxi driver Henry Rhoden was paid for his services in pennies. All $12 of it.

At the destination, his fare, a young woman, told him he'd have to let her go into the house and get the money.

"She was gone about five minutes and came back with a paper bag in her hands," Rhoden said. "She took out two quart fruit jars full of pennies. Said she was sorry, but that was all she had."

"I told her that was perfectly all right and thanked her. She told me there were 600 pennies in each fruit jar. I had to believe her. After all, money is money."

He took the jars home and counted them. There were 12 hundred and 2 pennies in them. Which meant Rhoden got a 2-cent tip.

An ancestor

A metal brooch used in ancient Greece and Rome was called a "fibula" and probably was the ancestor of the safety pin.

Also stimulant

Pepper is not only used as a condiment, but is often regarded as a heart and kidney stimulant.

Mrs. Pylant hosts courtesy

Susan Haile was honored with a bridal shower in the home of Mrs. Thurman Pylant, 311 Upland St. Miss Haile is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Max Haile, 49 Perrie Lane.

Co-hostesses were Mrs. Rufus Hodges, Mrs. Don Fellers, Mrs. Bill Gallagher, Mrs. Gerald Hyde, Mrs. Shepard Griffin, Mrs. S. E. Etheredge, Mrs. H. D. Banks, Mrs. M. C. Graham, Mrs. Jim Prince, Mrs. R. L. Buck and Mrs. Spec Hardy.

Miss Haile is the bride-elect of Dunois Beman. The couple will be married June 4 in Crestview Baptist Church.

HOROSCOPE

By CARROLL RICHTER

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Rely upon your intuitions which are accurate now, but do some additional doublechecking as others may not give you the facts as you understand them and you are likely to need some additional information to cement an interesting plan.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): Listen to the advice given you by some very wise person you know. Evening should be spent at home.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20): Be sure the campaign you are planning privately is right for you before you go on with it. Postpone handling a puzzling responsibility.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): Get needed backing from bigwig and avoid an associate who isn't thinking straight today. Consider matters well before reaching important decisions.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21): Get good pal's assistance to improve set-up for personal activities. Handle only that work that is absolutely necessary today.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21): Take care of those affairs that will give you added prestige and monetary comfort and then you can have a good time with congenials.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): Get needed data to proceed with new interests. Be patient at home and a problem straightens out naturally.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): Get that bigwig who can give you the added support you need now to handle some important matter well, using a different approach.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Use different tactics in handling some matter that is important to you and get far better results. Build up savings. Be charming.

SAGGITARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Don't be so positive about stating your ideas which need more study first. Get out of that feeling of despondency.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Put your finest skills to work for profit, prestige, and pleasure. Forget a private anxiety and concentrate on the constructive.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 18): Give more attention, affection to family. Avoid friends today not properly attuned to you. Spend time reading, improving your lot in life.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): You can reach a really fine understanding with partners. Don't argue with higher-ups, or you get into trouble.

Dining room becomes important apartment area

By ADELE FAULKNER
Copley News Service

For people who love to entertain, the dining room becomes one of the most important areas of the apartment.

Designing the room so that it provides the proper backdrop for the type of entertaining you like to do is a challenge.

When deciding on a dining room color scheme, remember to consider the wood furniture which covers the major area of the room. Woods can be gray, yellow or red in cast, so blend the other colors to enhance the beauty of the wood tones.

Table settings with silver or stainless flatware serving pieces and crystal look best against a cool background of blues or greens.

Lighting in the dining room is an important consideration. In modern interiors, recessed pinhole down lights often are installed in the ceiling over the dining room table.

By using dimmers, the amount of brightness can be controlled to set the mood. Through the elimination of a chandelier with this type of recessed lighting, taller candles can be used for the table setting.

Pull-down-type lights over a dining table can provide a choice of raising or lowering the light to fit the mood and type of dinner party.

When hanging a chandelier, an S-shaped hook works well to catch up the chain. In this way, when the dining table is extended and the chandelier is no longer centered over the table, the chains can hold the chandelier closer to the ceiling.

If your condominium is under construction, it's a good idea to work with the electrical contractor to make sure outlets are placed where you want them. First, work out a furniture placement plan carefully to scale, and try to get the ceiling outlets properly placed to avoid later "swagging" of the droplights.

Another consideration is placement of the buffet. This generally will mean an off-center location for the ceiling chandelier outlet — something developers seldom consider.

Dining room color schemes are best when quiet, with patterns used sparingly. Borders around the ceiling, placement of narrow strips of mirror in corners of the room and misty, grayed, neutral colors help enlarge the room.

A more spacious effect also can be created if draperies, wall coverings and carpeting are in the same color family.

Young-Fisher repeat vows in Hondo rites

HONDO — Dana Carol Young, daughter of Lt. Col. (Ret.) and Mrs. William K. Young, was married to Patrick K. Fisher, son of Mrs. John C. Fisher of 1500 S. Loraine St., Midland, and the late Mr. Fisher, Saturday in a garden ceremony.

The service was held at the home of Mrs. Larry Winkler, sister of the bride.

Jackie Winkler, soloist, accompanied by Larry Winkler, guitarist, provided the music.

The Rev. Bill Landers of the First Baptist Church officiated.

Rhonda Graff of Hondo was maid of honor, and Bill Gardner of Houston was best man.

Fisher is a graduate of Texas A&M University, with a degree in accounting. He is employed in Houston, where the couple will reside.

The bride attended Texas A&M University also.

'For women only' sign of times in Japan

By SUMI OKUMA Kyodo - Copley News Service

TOKYO — All-women organizations or those catering exclusively to feminine needs still are few in male-oriented Japan, but their number and kind are growing.

They now include women-only hotels, a voluntary-service bank and "host clubs."

"Ladies' hotels," for example, which began almost two years ago with the Arashiyama Ladies Hotel in Japan's tourist capital of Kyoto, now number three in Kyoto and have spread to other tourist centers, including Nara, Takayama, Kanazawa and the Noto peninsula.

Their guests are mostly high school and college students and young office workers.

Sharing recipe secret soothes the soul

By KAY JARVIS Copley News Service

Sometimes the temptation is almost overwhelming to keep a spectacular recipe to myself, a practice I find ridiculous in others.

There is nothing more frustrating than to ask what is in a dish only to have a sly smile pass across the face of the hostess. "I couldn't possibly tell you. It's a family secret," she announces loudly. It makes one wonder if the "secret" is something horribly unappetizing — ground toad's claws passed along in a dusty purple vial from relatives in Transylvania.

So, it has always been my policy to share the recipe as freely as the food.

However, having recently eaten the best spinach salad of a career made up of preparing it at home as often as others will stand for it and ordering it a la carte at every opportunity, I had the feeling the chef was NOT going to tell me how to duplicate it.

Wrong. Chef Gerard Moser presides over an extraordinary restaurant in an extraordinary setting, The Covey Restaurant at Quail Lodge in Carmel, Calif., and he was pleased to pass along the recipe.

COVEY SPINACH SALAD
2 bunches fresh spinach, stems removed
Three-fourths cup cubed Canadian bacon
2 cloves garlic, finely chopped
One-half tsp. dry mustard
4 tbsps. Worcestershire sauce
2 dashes Tabasco sauce
5 tbsps. brown sugar
One-third cup malt vinegar
One-fourth cup cognac
Wash spinach leaves. Pat dry with towel. Place in large salad bowl.

Fry bacon in frypan just until crisp. Leave dripping in pan. Add garlic, mustard, Worcestershire sauce, Tabasco sauce and sugar. Mix well. Add vinegar. Cook over medium heat until mixture reaches boiling point. Remove from heat.

Leaving bacon in pan, pour liquid mixture over spinach leaves. Toss spinach with dressing. Place on warm salad plates.

Add cognac to bacon in frypan. Ignite cognac when very hot. When flames die down sprinkle bacon over spinach with sauce. Add fresh ground pepper and salt to taste.

Serves four to six.
Note: Beware of the flames when igniting cognac. They can be quite high for a few seconds: So stand back.

Poppy Day under way

The American Legion Auxiliary of Woods W. Lynch Post No. 19 is sponsoring the annual sale of poppies, memorial flower for American war dead, today and Saturday throughout Midland.

The red crepe paper memorial poppies worn on Poppy Day are made by veterans in hospitals and workshops in 40 states. These disabled servicemen are paid for each hand-made poppy they make, and the materials are furnished free by the American Legion Auxiliary in the states where the hospitals are located.

In addition to serving as a memorial to the war dead, the poppy helps lighten the burden carried by the men who returned disabled in mind and body. Making poppies gives employment to veterans who otherwise would not be able to earn support for themselves and their families.

Ford's war on drugs

The enemy is drug abuse — a multibillion-dollar business which feeds on its victims and robs American taxpayers of another $17 billion a year in drug-related crimes, treatment and law enforcement efforts.

President Ford acknowledged the persistence of the drug-abuse problem in a message to Congress April 27 in which he noted that 5,000 Americans die each year from the misuse of drugs.

But despite the renewed emphasis on the "war on drugs," victory seems remote.

The tolerance of the public — or perhaps its apathy — toward the drug culture has combined with tighter law enforcement budgets to encourage more individuals to risk the hazards of trafficking in drugs.

And the President's approach offers little new or dramatic. He has proposed stiffer penalties for persons convicted of dealing in hard drugs, search and seizure provisions to curtail the flow of cash across the border for purchases, and use of tax laws to crack down on drug profiteers.

But the one area in which federal officials see real hope for improvement is the cooperative effort with the Mexican government to wipe out heroin sources south of the border.

There are no guarantees, however, that new sources will not emerge overnight. This is the really difficult problem.

New trends in legislatures and in the courts leaning toward more tolerance — decriminalization is the euphemism — toward possession and use of drugs have not captured the public fancy.

President Ford's determination to remain tough on drug dealers clearly puts the burden on federal officers to close the gates through which narcotics flow into the United States.

Our drug problem, however, is a global problem, too, and eventually must involve experts worldwide in the search for solutions.

It will be a long, hard fight, but one which surely must be made ... and eventually won. It is that important.

The support of all law enforcement officers, the courts and, yes, individual citizens is needed in this all-out war on drug abuse.

Mr. Ford has taken the lead in this particular instance. It is our responsibility to join hands in forceful, meaningful support.

Free enterprise

University of Texas System regents have approved the establishment of a Chair of Free Enterprise in the College of Engineering at The University of Texas at Austin.

This is great news, indeed, something which should be heartwarming to every member of the business community.

Even more significant is the fact that funds for the chair were raised through the efforts of the Engineering Foundation Advisory Council. And the rules are that an academic chair must have an endowment of at least $500,000. It is reported that the response of contributors, large and small, was overwhelming.

The teaching and research activities of the chair will include an examination of the relationship between business management, governmental affairs, social sciences, engineering, secondary education and the free enterprise system.

"The chair is intended to enhance the development of scholarly relationships between the academic program of the University and government, industry and other educational units in the state," Dean Ernest F. Gloyna, of the College of Engineering said.

Congratulations are in order for the sponsors of the movement and to the UT System regents for approving establishment of the chair.

Red China reportedly tense as Mao Tse-tung fades

By TILLMAN DURDIN
Copley News Service

HONG KONG — The consensus among China-watchers in this watering place for the breed is that tensions are high in China between radicals and moderates as these two rival Communist Party factions maneuver warily for advantage while waiting for the approaching death of Mao Tse-tung.

That event, or at least the decline of the party chairman into complete and ineffectual senility, is believed to be imminent.

A palsied, pathetic figure at 82, Mao is still receiving high-ranking state visitors, but his speech is an unintelligible mumble only made into understandable language by translators who know by heart what he means to say.

He looks vacantly at the ceiling instead of his guests and is unable to rise or sit without assistance.

It is considered inconceivable here that Mao could be anything more than a symbol of leadership, an instrument of whoever is in control of his physical person. Even in his present condition, however, his mere presence in the land of the living keeps the shaky power structure intact and signals to the Chinese people that the leadership they are familiar with is still at the helm of state.

Mao's condition repeats circumstances experienced with imperial rulers scores of times in China's long history. It is ironic that a Communist system so dedicated to breaking with the past is perpetuating, with Mao and other Communist leaders, the long Confucian tradition of retaining elders in title and authority until they die.

Chou En-lai preceded, Mao, in exemplifying the tradition. He and his intimates knew as long ago as 1972 that he had incurable cancer, but he continued to be premier until his death last February.

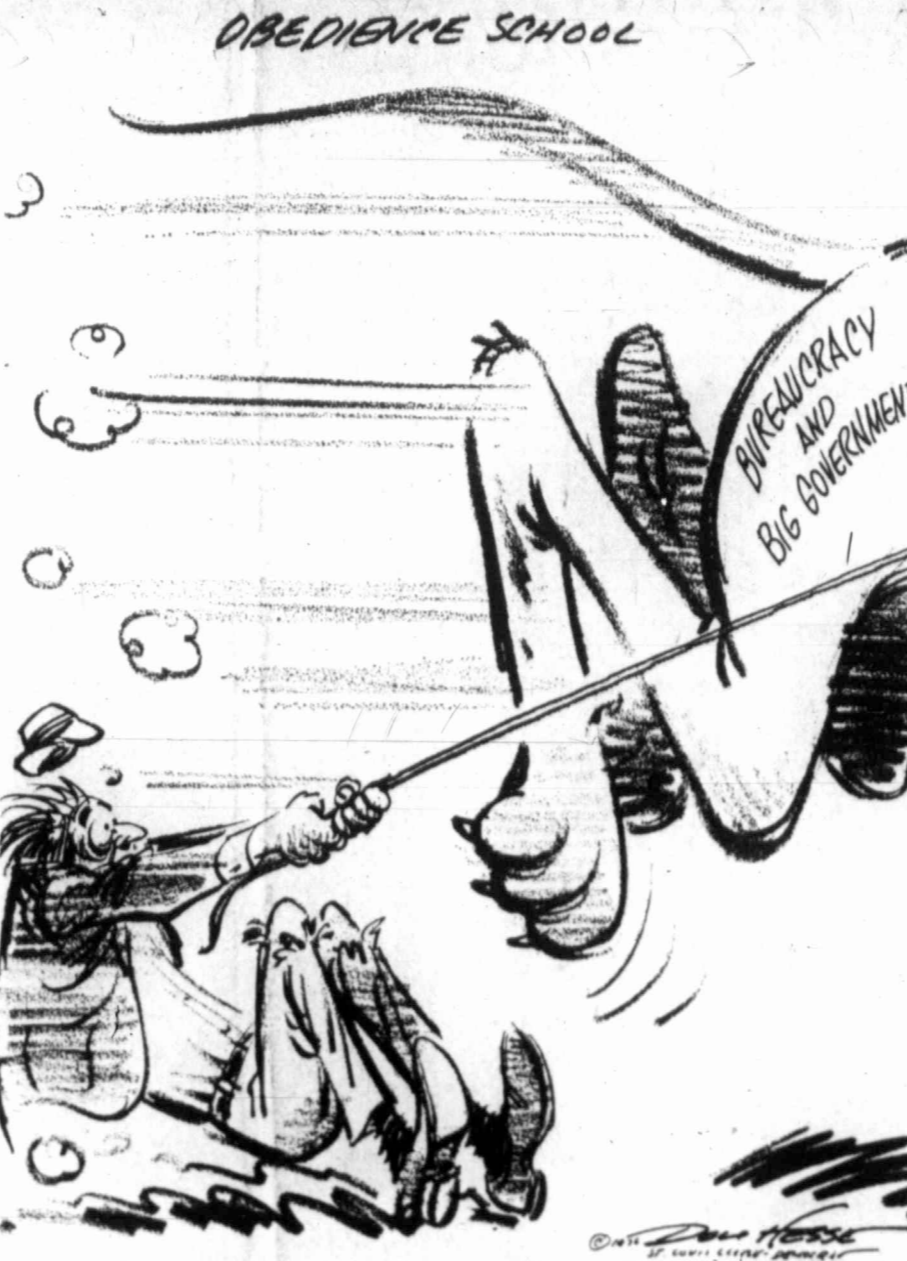

The cautious appraisal here — and it seems sound — is that it would be rash to predict an open radical-moderate split in the Chinese Communist leadership when Mao goes. Yet practically every China specialist is prepared to say that without his unifying presence a split very well could occur.

This would pit against each other the so-called leftist faction identified with Mao's wife, Chiang Ching, and the so-called moderates, or pragmatists, bent on pursuing the legacy of Chou En-lai.

The former favors a masses-oriented, agitational type of communism; the latter seeks political stability and economic development under an enduring bureaucracy, or mandarinate.

The leftists won a round recently when they succeeded in getting Teng Hsiao-ping, Chou's choice to succeed him as premier, ousted from the acting premiership and all official positions except his membership in the party. But experienced China-watchers have swung to the view that the radical victory may have been self-destructive.

Hua Kuo-feng, the burly politburo member who superseded Teng and is now not only premier but second in rank only to Mao as first vice chairman of the party, is acting more and more like a pragmatist. He appears to have been a compromise choice acceptable to both the radicals and the moderates, but his background and present performance

WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Computer spies are detected

By JACK ANDERSON with LES WHITTEN

WASHINGTON — Some of our most sensitive national secrets could be tapped by a few bright computer experts with access to a telephone.

A startling government report, which has been declassified but not released to the public, tells how a group of Navy scientists cracked a Univac 1108 computer system using an ordinary telephone. Yet the system was supposed to be "secure."

The 1108 is in widespread use throughout the government. The White House, all the military services and several federal agencies use this system to store sensitive information. Not only top defense secrets but personal details the government gathers about private individuals are contained in 1108 computers.

The Navy scientists write that they inserted "trap doors" in the system. "At the user's expense, we were able to covertly copy their files. Had we wanted to, we could have destroyed or selectively rewritten them."

What an enemy could do with this access to highly classified information is alarming. It also has grave privacy implications since the files on private citizens would also be compromised.

The scientists who engineered this computer break-in wrote that they believe "penetration of large (operating systems) can be performed at very low cost. However, because there are few well-documented examples of such penetration, there is a false sense of security among system managers, many of whom believe that holes in their systems exist in theory but are, in practice, not possible to exploit."

The government now claims to have plugged the holes described in this report. But the scientists claim "that no individual can understand such large and haphazardly constructed systems and the systems are bound to have holes."

The General Accounting Office (GAO), in a private study, found that some government employees have already turned their knowledge of these "holes" to their own profit. The GAO investigated 69 cases of criminal computer fraud, which cost the government more than $2 million in losses.

A clerk discovered, for example, that she could introduce fictitious food stamp claims into a computer on behalf of accomplices. They collected more than $90,000 in fraudulent benefits before they were caught as a result of an anonymous tip.

Footnote: Rep. John Moss, D-Calif., who has learned about the computer spying, has alerted both the House and Senate Armed Services committees, urging an investigation.

WHALE HUNT: For centuries, the Arctic sea mammals, particularly the whale, have provided the Eskimos with most of the food, clothing and shelter they needed to survive in the most hostile environment on earth. We sent our reporter, Hal Bernton,

LANGUAGE BARRIER: Spanish-speaking group said making progress

By EDWARD NEILAN
Copley News Service

WASHINGTON — Education is as good a place as any to begin an assessment of the Spanish-speaking minority in the United States today.

This is the nation's fastest-growing minority. To say that the educational needs of Spanish-speaking children in American schools are not properly met is at least to correctly identify the problem.

The red-neck rhetoric of yesterday — "if they want to study in our schools, they better learn to speak our language" — doesn't sell much today. That is a shallow response to a problem of considerable depth.

An agreement signed in 1974 in federal court by the New York City Board of Education to "establish a major new program to improve the education of all Spanish-speaking pupils" has given rise to some cautious optimism in that city. Ripples of promise of improvement are spreading around the country.

The non-English-speaking child comes to the classroom in this country with many tongues — Vietnamese in a small town in Virginia, one of several Chinese dialects in San Francisco, French, Italian, Portuguese, Russian, some 13 American Indian languages and many more.

But the heavy majority of non-English-speaking children arrive for their first day of school in the United States with only Spanish-speaking capability.

There are now about 10.8 million persons of Spanish-speaking origin in the United States, or roughly 5.2 per cent of the population. U.S. Census Bureau figures also show that persons of Mexican origin make up more than half of this total, or about 6.5 million. Puerto Ricans number more than 1.5 million and there are about 690,000 Cubans. Other persons of Latin American origin comprise another two million.

Prof. Francesco Cordasco, professor of education at Montclair State College in New Jersey, pinpointed the trouble:

"The non-English-speaking child's educational problem begins with a rejection of his language, reaffirmed in the rejection of his culture and the heritage of which his language is an extension. It often results in his exclusion from the processes of education."

Cordasco, in an article in the December, 1975, issue of the journal Intelligence, cited a U.S. Senate Select Committee on Equal Educational Opportunity report of 1972. The report concluded that "some of the most dramatic wholesale failures of our public school systems occur among members of language minorities."

Testimony before the committee revealed some examples of those failures:

— In Boston, 62 per cent of the Puerto Rican adults are illiterate in both English and Spanish.

— In 87 New York City schools with Puerto Rican majorities, 85 per cent are below grade level in reading and a third are two years below grade level.

— In Chicago, Puerto Rican public schoolchildren are an average of four years behind in reading skills.

— Spanish-surnamed students in California leave the 12th grade three and one-half years behind the norm in scholastic achievement; in Illinois they leave five years behind.

— The Puerto Rican dropout rate in Philadelphia is only 70 per cent.

With limited resources of their own, states and school districts have relied principally on two federal programs in an effort to meet the needs of these students.

They are Title VII of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act, known as the Bilingual Education Act, and the "English as a Second Language" program, funded under Title I of the ESEA.

Neither of these programs has been funded at a level that is adequate to meet the needs of non-English-speaking children.

However, although much remains to be done, there is noticeable progress compared to the situation a decade ago. There is continuing evidence to demonstrate that the Spanish-speaking population is beginning to find its voice.

President Ford made a little slip the other day and said, "I have never let you down in the future." Does this mean he won't do it in the past?

Regarding the future, I'm nostalgic about it.

Ford, reaching for leadership stature, is asserting himself in a more positive presidential image of confidence. Which means they'll now put glue on the bumper stickers.

As the Maryland primary drew to a close, Jerry Brown turned around for one last look at the bars, strip clubs, and porno shops of Baltimore's "block," and turned into a pillar of salt.

Senate to vote on Pentagon weapon requests

WASHINGTON (AP) — After voting to delay production of the controversial B1 bomber, the Senate now faces decisions on whether to approve other weapons requested by the Pentagon. Votes are expected Monday on proposals to deny $322 million for production of 60 additional Minuteman III missiles and to delay building of additional Airborne Warning and Control System aircraft until NATO decides to buy the AWACS for European defense. Reversing an earlier decision by the House, the Senate Thursday voted 44 to 37 to delay production of the B1 bomber until next Feb. 1, which is 12 days after the next presidential inauguration. Production of the first of a 244-bomber fleet could then proceed only if the president certified that it is in the national interest.

Estimating the cost of the B1 program at $21.6 billion, Culver argued that Congress would be "buying a pig in the poke" in approving production before tests are completed and alternatives are reviewed.

Sen. John Culver, D-Iowa, sponsor of the delaying amendment, said the proposal would allow "the next president" to review completed test data on the B1 and make a judgment "free of election year politics."

Before agreeing to delay the B1 program, the Senate voted 48-33 to turn down an amendment by Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., to kill the B1 by denying all funding.

The House voted 210-177 on April 8 against a similar proposal to defer spending $860 million in B1 production money until Feb. 1.

Chairman John C. Stennis, D-Miss., of the Senate Armed Services Committee defended the B1 as an essential part of the nation's "triad" of strategic bombers, land and sea-based missiles.

The issue now goes to a House-Senate conference and will be subject to final votes in both chambers.

Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., who has piloted a B1 test model, supported production of the supersonic aircraft, but said he would rather see the program killed outright than delayed.

Culver said the Pentagon had already decided to begin B1 production to replace the aging U.S. fleet of B52 bombers, although tests of prototypes are only about half completed and costs continue to mount.

He said B1 workers will face layoffs and begin quitting their jobs if Washington signals "we're not going to buy this plane or that we're going to delay four, five, or six months."

Agents oppose open rating bill

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—It would hurt—not help—Texas consumers to let car insurance companies set their own rates, two groups of insurance agents told a House subcommittee Thursday.

Spokesmen for the Insurance Counselors Association of Texas, the 16,000-member Independent Agents of Texas and the Houston chapter of the Society of Chartered Property and Casualty Writers (CPCU) ganged up on the idea of open rating.

Companies can respond quickly to changes in their loss experience by raising or lowering rates. "In my personal opinion, the law has been accepted by the agents. The insureds are happy with it. . . . We have been very pleased with the law," Parker said.

Companies can "deviate" upward or downward after obtaining the board's permission to do so. Eighty-four companies deviate downward while 13 change more than the standard rates to some customers, according to board statistics.

The subcommittee on competitive rates finished its hearings and directed its staff to draft a bill for possible submission to the 1977 legislature.

On the other side was Georgia's deputy insurance commissioner, Frank Parker, who said his state's 1967 open rating law has meant October incident. He was fined and was sentenced to a 30-day jail term, which then was probated for six months. The Jan. 17 incident involved a public intoxication charge to which Loftin pleaded no contest and was fined.

Bynum refused to allow him to recite statistics on Florida's latest experience under competitive rating. The data from selected companies indicated February 1976 rates were higher than a year before by from 11.1 per cent to 133.2 per cent. Included were a 54.3 per cent increase by State Farm, 84.1 per cent by Allstate and 133.2 per cent by Aetna.

Tarrant County clerk facing incompetency, drunk charges

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—A civil district court jury declared Thursday that Tarrant County Clerk Ed Loftin is a habitual drunk and is not competent to run his office.

Their decisions were unanimous. In such a civil case a 102 vote would have been sufficient.

During the officers' testimony Thursday, defense lawyers Aultman, Jerry Loftin (no relation to the defendant) and Jim Calunch attempted to raise doubts as to their clients' drunken condition.

He will be removed from his job, at least temporarily, early next week.

Three alcohol-related arrests of Loftin prompted County Judge Mike Moncrief and County Commissioner Jerry Mebus to file the removal suit.

During the trial, Asst. Dist. Atty. Gerald Summerford, Cue Lipscomb and Kerry Armstrong called four Fort Worth policemen involved in the arrests Oct. 4, 1975; Dec. 24, 1975; and Jan. 17, 1976.

Loftin does not appeal, Murray said, the appointment of a replacement will be the responsibility of county commissioners.

French president praises Texas

HOUSTON (AP) — President Valery Giscard d'Estaing of France winds up a Houston area tour today after praising Texas as a state that has become synonymous with great deeds, endeavors and dreams fulfilled.

Giscard said Thursday night that is the major reason for his wanting to visit the state during his American Bicentennial tour.

The French presidential party ate western game hen at a black tie dinner for which Houston Mayor Fred Hofheinz was host. Giscard chatted during the dinner with Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson, widow of the late president, who sat on his left in a ballroom crowded with about 1,000 invited guests.

Giscard was leaving early today for a short flight to Lafayette, La., and will wind up his United States tour Saturday at New Orleans.

"France feels a strong sense of affinity with this Texas, which symbolizes confidence in the future and the creative energy of the end of our 20th century," Giscard said in prepared remarks at the Houston dinner.

"For France is already a modern nation and intends to become more so. She is still committed to her traditions but she is able to seize the opportunity to change, when such change will prepare a better world, and she is capable of meeting competition from any quarter."

He used energy as an example of how he said France is forging ahead in the high technological sectors of industry and research.

"There is no major sector of research or high technology in which France is not engaged, be it exploration of outer space or the sea bed, medical research or high energy civic," he said.

"We have neither oil nor coal reserves, but we have gained an international reputation, and one will know here in the oil business because of the contributions our experts have made to the technical progress in each of the various phases of the industry from geophysical explorations to offshore drilling to the liquefaction and transport of gas."

The French president concluded his talk by describing Texas not only as a land of wide open spaces but "also the land that best expresses, in today's American, vitality, boldness and confidence in the future."

At the dinner, Hofheinz presented Mrs. Giscard a China plate painted by Frederic Remington and Giscard a silver plate with a Remington painting.

Some 1,000 persons were on hand to welcome Giscard Thursday afternoon at Houston's International Airport when the presidential plane arrived.

Texas Gov. Dolph Briscoe and Hofheinz were among those greeting Giscard, and Briscoe immediately offered an invitation for the French president to begin regular Concorde Jet flights between Paris and Texas.

Briscoe extended the Concorde flight invitation after reminding Giscard that France was the first major power to "extend a helping hand" to the new Republic of Texas in the 1830s.

Giscard did not respond to the invitation extended by Briscoe but noted in his brief remarks that Texas history is "full of special ties and understanding with France."

Security was tight as the second Concorde Jet to land in Texas arrived at an airport private terminal. Police helicopters hovered over the airport as the craft taxied and officers with police dogs kept watch during the welcome ceremonies.

"I extend to you appreciation for the support and encouragement France gave the new Republic," Briscoe said in his welcoming remarks.

"We salute you and the people of France on the technological achievement of the Concorde and personally extend to you an invitation to establish a Concorde flight from Paris to Texas."

Giscard said he had not known in advance "that there would be an exchange of words on my arrival" and that he faced certain problems in making an impromptu speech because of blunders and in a language that is not mine."

The French president, speaking only in English, said visions of the past, present and future, prompted him to participate in the American Bicentennial.

"I want to improve the understanding between the French people and the American people and I think the best way is to have personal contact," he said.

"We know the importance of Texas for the future of the United States because of your widely known abilities and accomplishments in various fields of technology and development."

Briscoe presented Giscard with a picture of the old French Legation building of the Republic of Texas and he received the keys to the city from Hofheinz.

From the airport the French presidential party made a 70-mile helicopter flight to the 900-acre ranch of oilman L. F. McCollum.

Texas style entertainment was offered at the ranch including a barbecue, a horse show, folk dancers and country-Western music.

Giscard presented McCollum with a Salers bull, which is a French breed. Due to quarantine regulations, the animal will not be shipped to the ranch until sometime next year. Giscard was given a painting of yellow roses by McCollum.

Democrats working on platform

The Los Angeles Times

WASHINGTON — Nellie White is a housewife and a dabbler in politics from Austin, Tex. Horace Sheffield is black and a labor union executive from Detroit.

Sam Brown, who once organized protest marches against the Vietnam war, is the young state treasurer of Colorado. Johnnie Setzer is a North Carolina farm wife and a political organizer. Roger Hare is a trade unionist from South Portland, Me.

This diverse group has a common bond. They are members of the National Democratic Platform Committee, and for the past four days they and 148 other men and women from all parts of the nation have been meeting here to get advice on what the Democratic Party's 1976 platform should say.

The advice has come from senators, House members, academicians, labor leaders and representatives of a wide array of special interest groups.

Although party platforms are traditionally the objects of scorn and cynicism, since they usually are promptly forgotten once the presidential election is over, members of this year's platform committee have handled their role with great seriousness.

"I feel it is a tremendous process and I'm proud to be part of it," said Hare, a machinists union official.

Hare is one of the few members of the committee who attended all four of the committee's regional hearings — at Newport, R.I., April 3, at Atlanta, Ga.,

April 17, at Kansas City, Mo., April 24, and at Denver, Colo., May 1.

He also did it at his own expense — as have most of his colleagues. The new federal election law bars national party committees from helping with committee members' expenses, although in some instances state party committees are providing some financial aid.

"I'm picking up the whole tab," O'Hare said. "And my wife reminded me the other day that it has cost us around $1,000 so far, mostly for travel, hotels and meals. You have to watch your food and drink but I'm lucky since I don't drink."

Even so, Hare said he had to find "a hotel a little bit cheaper" than the $34-a-day for rooms at Capitol Hill's new Hyatt Regency Hotel, where the committee has been meeting.

With the conclusion late Thursday of the four-day Washington hearing, the committee's staff will begin writing a platform. The staff document will be submitted to a 15-member drafting subcommittee, which will meet here on June 11, 12 and 13. What emerges from the subcommittee will be presented to the full 153-member platform committee, which will meet on June 14, 15 and 16 to put the final touches on the platform.

That document will then be submitted to the Democratic National Convention, which convenes in New York City on July 12. The convention has the final say on the platform.

Democratic conventions have frequently gotten into some bruising battles over what goes in or stays out of the platform. But if this year's platform hearings are any guide, the convention debate on the platform should be relatively milder.

"Unquestionably, the convention will be somewhat more conventional than in 1972," Massachusetts Gov. Michael S. Dukakis, chairman of the platform drafting subcommittee, said this week.

With volatile issues such as the Vietnam war and civil rights in the past, this year's platform seems certain to focus on the nation's most pressing current problem — the troubled economy.

Dukakis, at a Wednesday breakfast meeting with reporters, predicted the platform will concentrate chiefly on the economy and the need for national health insurance.

"We will have a commitment to full employment as a national goal," Dukakis said. As for the form he would like the platform to take, Dukakis said:

"We ought to try to draft a document that is relatively short and zeroes in on what is achievable instead of coming out with a long laundry list that is all things to all people."

Dukakis said the platform should be a blueprint for the American people of what is likely to happen if they elect a Democratic President and Congress.

Ford considering alternatives to court-ordered school busing

By MARGARET GENTRY

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford, denying that his offensive against court-ordered school busing is connected with upcoming primary elections, is considering ways to use federal money to help school districts avoid extensive busing, administration sources say.

Ford is also considering seeking new legislation as part of "a whole range of approaches" to limit the use of busing as a desegregation tool, according to a White House source.

The source declined to give details on how federal funds could be used to reduce busing ordered by federal courts.

Though officials are reviewing administrative and legislative proposals to curb busing, the first action in the Ford campaign will come on the judicial front if Atty. Gen. Edward H. Levi decides to use the Boston school case as a vehicle for seeking new Supreme Court guidelines on busing.

Levi was to explain his views on government intervention in the Boston case at a meeting with Ford this afternoon. Justice Department spokesman Robert Havel said Levi had reached no decision as of late Thursday and that he may not do so until after the session with Ford.

Meeting with a group of visiting reporters from Kentucky on Thursday, Ford suggested the test case could even be made in Louisville, where busing orders led to racial unrest last fall.

Ford's decision to seek alternatives to busing became known as he prepared for a Republican primary campaign in Kentucky where he is considered to be well behind challenger Ronald Reagan in the drive for the state's 37 delegates.

But Ford denied he was scratching for political gains in the Kentucky primary, telling the Kentucky newsmen he had asked Levi and HEW Secretary David Mathews last November "to find a better answer, a better remedy to quality education, because court-ordered forced busing is not the answer."

The President told the Kentucky visitors he is considering three alternatives to busing, suggested several months ago by the Justice Department and the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Ford declined to discuss details, but administration sources said the proposals include both the use of increased federal fund and new legislation strengthening the "Esch amendment," which requires that busing be imposed only as a last resort.

Massachusetts Gov. Michael S. Dukakis expressed no enthusiasm at the prospect of the Justice Department entering the Boston case, suggesting it would make more sense for Levi to look at school districts just beginning to desegregate.

"Nothing the Justice Department does can affect the opening of schools next September," Dukakis said.

Moslems delay action on new truce

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Bolstered by pledges of support from adical Arab states, leftist Moslem forces delayed action today on a new truce to end Lebanon's civil war.

Hisham Shaar, general director of internal security, said that the number of dead reported by police from nearly 14 months of warfare exceeds 25,000, with 79,000 wounded.

He said this terrible toll did not include casualties among Palestinian refugees or Palestinian guerrillas fighting with the Moslem forces.

Scattered fighting was reported between Moslem and Christian militias overnight, including battles with rockets and mortars around Moslem enclaves in the Christian-held half of Beirut. Police said the clashes killed at least 23 persons.

The over-all leader of the Moslem militants, Kamal Jumblatt, scheduled a meeting with Lebanese leftists, Palestinians and delegates of radical Arab states, calling it the Arab Front for Participation in the Palestinian Resistance.

They were to discuss the Moslem-leftist posture toward a cease-fire plan proposed by President-elect Elias Sarkis.

Jumblatt's position was strengthened by strong new expressions of support from Iraq and Algeria.

Aly Ghannam, member of the ruling Iraqi Baath party's national command, arrived in Beirut for the front meeting and said Iraq "supports the Lebanese nationalist movement and protection of the Palestinian resistance."

Algerian envoy Mohammed Yazid returned to Beirut Thursday and delivered a message of support to Jumblatt from Algerian President Houari Boumedienne.

Earlier this week, Libyan Prime Minister Abdul Salam Jalloud, during a Beirut visit, expressed support for Jumblatt "in war or peace."

Iraq, Libya and Algeria are known to have been supplying Lebanon's Moslem-leftist side with arms and money.

The entry by Iraq and Algeria through the new alliance highlights the political and diplomatic division in the Arab world over Lebanon.

Sarkis' peace plan, as reported in various Beirut papers, includes a cease-fire in place, renouncing of force by both sides, and a round-table discussion of reforms demanded by the Moslems.

It appeared that Sarkis' determination to win a truce has at least temporarily reduced the level of fighting.

Second man held for pot

CORDELL, Okla. (AP)—A second man was in custody today in connection with Wednesday's crash-landing of a plane full of marijuana at the old Clinton Sherman Air Force Base near here.

Meanwhile, charges of possession of marijuana with intent to distribute were filed against 28-year-old Roger Paul Hanagan, address unknown. He was ordered held on $80,000 bond.

Washita County Sheriff Harold Cooper declined to identify the second suspect, other than he was 32 and was from Cambridge, Mass. Cooper said the man was nabbed Thursday in a culvert at the south end of the base runway near Burns Flatt, Cooper said.

Cooper said the arrest was made by Richard Mueller, sheriff of neighboring Custer County.

Hanagan was arrested about 9 p.m. Wednesday in a farm building west of here.

Sheriff Cooper said the man offered no resistance but refused to talk about the 3,600 pounds of marijuana aboard a twin-engine plane which bellyslid into the runway early Wednesday.

Dancer injured in auto accident

HOUSTON (AP) — Catherine "Cat" Futch, the go-go dancer who performed topless on the deck of a U.S. Navy submarine last summer, remained in a Houston hospital today with injuries suffered in an auto accident.

Miss Futch, 18, who was injured in the two-car collision here May 12, told newsmen from her hospital bed Thursday her back was injured. She said she was visiting her sister here when the accident occurred.

Robert Pendergraft, her lawyer, said it was uncertain whether the accident will end her dancing career and he could not say how long she would be in the hospital.

She performed her topless dance on the deck of the U.S.S. Finback just before the submarine put out to sea last July.

"It was the strangest place I ever danced," she said.

When the submarine resurfaced three weeks later, the ship's commander, Connelly D. Stevenson, 41, was relieved of his post for permitting the performance. However, since then the Navy has reduced charges against him making him eligible for command again.

"That's my only regret," Miss Futch said Thursday. "If all Navy skippers were like him the Navy would be so crowded with volunteers there wouldn't be room for any more."

Arab demonstrations become daily ritual

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israeli troops man the castle-like walls of Jerusalem, firing tear gas at roving demonstrators. Black smoke hangs over Arab towns, where swarms of children light protest bonfires of oil-soaked tires.

The Israeli government is sensitive about the demonstrations damaging its image abroad, with descriptions and photos of Israeli troops pounding and shooting at demonstrators.

Soldiers patrol in armored cars, firing warning shots skyward. Arab students pelt them with stones and chant: "In blood and fire we will redeem our land."

Officials point out that throughout the disturbances, the bridges across the River Jordan have been left open for Arab travelers. Some 60,000 Arabs commute daily to work in Israel, and life in the fields and olive groves has been untouched by the violence in the towns.

Arab demonstrations and clashes with Israeli troops have become almost daily rituals in the occupied West Bank of the Jordan River.

The military command has made no apologies for the demonstrators killed by Israeli gunfire, except in the case of a 17-year-old girl shot in Nablus. She was the distant relative of a former prime minister of Jordan and a member of an influential family.

Ten Palestinian Arabs have died in four months of riots, and Israel is worried about the backlash.

The army said she was "a completely innocent girl" and the shooting was an accident.

To reduce the bloodshed, the Israeli Ministry of Defense has issued tear gas to troops accustomed to only live ammunition and is considering the use of rubber bullets.

Investigating the shooting, the chief of staff, Lt. Gen. Mordechai Gur, questioned only the sergeant who fired the bullet, and did not interview Arab neighbors who claimed the girl was deliberately shot.

Israeli officials admit that the clashes have stirred growing sympathy for the Palestine Liberation Organization (PLO) among the West Bank's 670,000 Arabs. But authoritative sources concede there is no sign that the demonstrations have been fomented by the PLO.

Israeli and Arab versions of almost every death have conflicted.

The demonstrations began last autumn and intensified in February when a court ruling, later repealed, permitted Jews to worship at religious sites revered by both Moslems and Jews but in Moslem zones.

Military sources admitted that two of the Arabs were beaten before they died.

Arabs accuse the Jews of trying to take over their mosques on the holy Temple Mount in Jerusalem, and they are angry at Jewish settlements being built on the West Bank.

None of Israel's political parties so far has demanded an investigation into the shootings.

Wood, Pugh announce support for Newton

Robert A. Wood, of Pampa, who ran fifth in the Texas Railroad Commission race in the first Democratic primary, and Robert E. Pugh of San Antonio, president of the Texas Senior Citizens Association, have announced their support for State Rep. Jon Newton of Beeville in the June 5th Democratic Primary runoff for the railroad commission.

Wood said he was convinced that it is in the best interest of all Texans that Newton be the new railroad commissioner.

Pugh, who supported State Rep. Lane Denton of Waco in the first primary, said no one can match Newton's qualifications.

Pugh said he had hoped that Denton could provide some relief on utility rates to senior citizens.

Specialist links CBS to break-in WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department has opened an investigation into accusations by a computer specialist, once jailed for using a computer to steal supplies, that CBS News asked him to break into the accounting system of a New York City bank electronically.

Atty. Gen. Edward Levi has given approval for FBI agents to interview Jerome Schneider, an electronics specialist who served 40 days in prison for stealing the supplies from the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Co. in 1972.

A Justice Department spokesman said Thursday that as of now only Schneider is to be interviewed in the investigation.

The spokesman said after an initial look at an affidavit Schneider gave before a House committee, Justice Department lawyers, decided "there could be a violation of bank larceny statutes."

Schneider had first gone to the House Ethics Committee, which turned his statements over to the Justice Department.

In New York, Paul Loewenwater, producer of CBS' "60 Minutes," said Schneider was interviewed on film for two days in Los Angeles for a story on the weaknesses of electronic banking systems.

"In the course of our filming we stayed well within journalistic standards and violated no laws" he said.

Schneider told the ethics committee that CBS asked him to crack the electronic accounting system of the Chemical Bank of New York City by transferring money from an account held by CBS reporter Dan Rather to another account without the bank's knowledge.

One source familiar with the incident said Schneider tried and failed to make the transfer. Schneider reportedly told the committee that CBS then asked him to befriend a bank employe to obtain information to carry out the operation.

Loewenwater would not comment on specifics of Schneider's allegations, except to say that he (Schneider) demonstrated how bank systems can be violated and discussed security precautions they might take to reduce this form of threat.

Government tries to save on postage

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government is telling its agencies to try to save money by sending some mail through private delivery firms instead of through the more expensive U.S. Postal Service.

The General Services Administration made the statement about the government's own mail agency in a bulletin circulated last month to federal agencies.

The bulletin, entitled "Reducing Mail Costs," was released Thursday by Rep. Paul Simon, D-Ill.

One of the 10 recommendations contained in the bulletin was: "Use commercial small-parcel carriers as a cheaper alternative to priority mail and U.S. Postal Service-insured parcels."

United Parcel Service, a Connecticut-based company, has surpassed the Postal Service in recent years in the parcel field. Its rates average about 20 per cent below those of the Postal Service. 3

For example, a two-pound parcel sent from Washington to New York costs 93 cents by the government's parcel post and 75 cents by United Parcel.

A Postal Service spokesman, commenting on the GSA bulletin, said "Government agencies are mandated by law to use the most economical means available to them."

The GSA bulletin said "increases in postage rates have significantly increased mailing costs" in recent years.

Democrat hopefuls not planning massive efforts in California

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jimmy Carter, Morris Udall and Frank Church have signaled they will not make massive efforts fighting California Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. in the June 8 California primary because of Brown's home-state power.

Udall and Church bowed out of a televised debate with Brown in Los Angeles next week, spokesmen said Thursday. Carter said he would concentrate on New Jersey and Ohio which also have June 8 primaries.

Udall also indicated he will make major efforts in those two states — and did not mention California — while Church is concentrating on the smaller primary states before June 8 to seek momentum for the California voting.

Meanwhile, the candidates were seeking votes in some of the states that are holding their primaries this Tuesday, in addition to states voting on June 8.

Both Carter and Church were scheduled to campaign in Oregon, but the former Georgia governor planned to fly later to San Francisco. Brown's schedule took him to Nevada, while Udall, who spent Thursday campaigning in Kentucky and New Jersey, listed a day in Washington, D.C., on his agenda.

President Ford was scheduled to spend the day in Washington, too, while Ronald Reagan, challenging Ford for the Republican nomination, planned campaign stops in Tennessee and Arkansas.

About 18 per cent of all Democratic convention delegates will be selected June 8, making it the biggest primary day in terms of numbers.

Delegates in New Jersey and Ohio will be selected on a winner-take-all basis at the district level, while California's delegation will be selected proportionally.

Carter, admitting Brown will get many of California's delegates, told an Oregon news conference Wednesday. "He will have to fight me for every one," Carter aides said he planned to spend at least $300,000 in the California fight.

Udall said in a New Jersey campaign appearance Thursday that he plans to spend $150,000 to $200,000 of the federal matching funds he is due in that state. He added he would spend as many days seeking the 108 Jersey delegates as he will spend in search of the 152 Ohio delegates.

A Udall spokesman in Washington denied Udall had written off California, but said no California campaigning is now planned.

Church is pinning his hopes on doing well in the next two weeks' primaries, including ones in Oregon and his home state of Idaho, and carrying some momentum into California.

Church press secretary Bill Hall also denied the Idaho senator is bowing out of an active fight in California.

"Of course, Gov. Brown starts with an advantage," he said. "He (Church) is going for broke in California."

There was word from New York on Thursday that most of the state's Republican convention delegation, which has been holding out on Ford for six months, is about to come to his side.

State GOP Chairman Richard Rosenbaum called the 154 convention delegates — most of them now uncommitted — to a meeting in Albany on Monday. He said he would ask them to back Ford.

At least 100 of the delegates, and perhaps as many as 130, are expected to follow Rosenbaum's lead. That would give Ford at least a brief lead in the nationwide contest for convention delegates. He now has 478 delegates committed to him against 528 for Reagan, with 1,130 needed for nomination.

Ford, meanwhile, said in Washington that reports that he has written off any hope of victory in Kentucky's presidential primary next Tuesday "are totally unfounded."

In an hour-long interview with reporters from Kentucky, the President said he is convinced the primary in Kentucky will "be a very close contest."

In other developments on the political front Thursday:

—The New York Daily News said Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, who repeatedly has said he would not seek the Democratic nomination, would accept a genuine draft.

The News, in a copyright story, said Kennedy also has decided he would run for vice president on a ticket headed by Minnesota Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey.

Kennedy wasn't available for comment, but told CBS News his decision not to seek the nomination was unchanged.

—Humphrey, whose backers announced formation Thursday of a committee to draft the Minnesota senator for the Democratic nomination, said in Cherry Hill, N.J., his analysis of the campaign so far indicates "there is no first-ballot victory" in sight.

Humphrey has said he is not a candidate for the nomination but would accept a convention draft.

Caril Fugate eligible for parole next month

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Caril Fugate, who at 14 accompanied mass murderer Charles Starkweather on a rampage that shocked the nation, gets a chance for parole next month after spending more than half her life in prison. The five-member state Parole Board will consider, on June 8, whether to parole Miss Fugate, who is now 32. Her release could come June 20. Relatives of some of the victims have fought against Miss Fugate's release, and Parole Board sources say a new identity and residence have been prepared for Miss Fugate in another Midwestern state. She accompanied Starkweather on a 1958 killing spree that claimed 10 victims. Starkweather, who was executed in 1959, also was implicated in a gas station robbery which left one man dead.

Miss Fugate went to prison in 1959 — she was tried as an adult — and a series of unsuccessful appeals followed. She has never received a disciplinary citation in her years at the York Women's Reformatory, where she has studied to be a geriatrics nurse's aide.

The murders started in Miss Fugate's home. Her mother and step-father were shot, her 2-year-old sister clubbed to death. It was right after Miss Fugate's mother told Starkweather she didn't think he was a good influence on her daughter.

Their bodies were found on Monday, Jan. 27, 1958, and the body of a bachelor farmer, August Meyer, was discovered the next afternoon at his farm near Lincoln.

That same day — Tuesday — Starkweather's car became stuck in the mud on a rural road, and Robert Jensen and his girlfriend, Carol King, stopped to give Starkweather and Miss Fugate a ride. Their bodies were found later that day in the storm cellar of an abandoned school house near Lincoln.

When the bodies of C. L. Ward, his wife, Clara, and their maid, Lillian Fencel, were found in their Lincoln home on Wednesday, the governor called out the National Guard.

A search of the frightened city failed to turn up Starkweather, who was on his way to Wyoming. He killed a salesman on a rural road there before a citizen and a police officer captured him near the town of Douglas.

Two Midland seniors get Rotary scholarships

Two Midland seniors received $750 scholarships from the Downtown Rotary Club at its meeting Thursday.

Duane Edwards, 18, of Midland Lee High School and Wanda Holland, 18, of Midland High School, were the recipients of the 1976 Rotary Scholarship awards given annually.

Edwards is planning to major in accounting at Abilene Christian University. In high school, he was active in speech, drama and distributive education.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Edwards of 4312 Mercedes.

Miss Holland is planning to enter Angelo State University to major in speech and drama. She was active in speech, drama, and student council while in high school.

Miss Holland is the daughter of Mrs. Denny O. Holland of 109 N. Marshall.

Sam Pendergrast, publisher of Oeste magazine in San Angelo, was the speaker for Thursday's meeting.

Speaking on the subject of chile, Pendergrast told the Rotarians that sociologists are beginning to study the phenomenon of chile cook-offs such as the annual event at Terlingua.

"The great appeal of it is that it doesn't amount to a hill of beans," Pendergrast said.

After Vietnam and Watergate, chile is a pleasure to be involved in and no one gives a damn about it," said Pendergrast, who was a judge at the 1975 Terlingua cook-off.

However, he added, chile cooks take chile seriously.

Judging chile is a very individualized thing, he said.

The chile contestants try to see how bad they can make their chile.

"Out of all the entries at Terlingua last year, only two approached edibility," Pendergrast said.

Midlander injured in accident

A 65-year-old Midland man was seriously injured at 9:29 a.m. Thursday in a car accident at Main Street and Florida Avenue, police said.

Roy T. Lewis of 1700 McKenzie St., is in serious condition in the intensive care unit of Midland Memorial Hospital with broken ribs and a head laceration, a hospital spokesman said. He also underwent surgery for internal injuries, the spokesman said.

Tonya Hearne, 2, of 4313 Country Club Drive, was treated and released with a bruise, the hospital spokesman said.

The girl was a passenger in the car driven by Ladonna D. Turpin of 1501 S. Douglas St., police said.

Lewis' pick up and the car driven by Mrs. Turpin collided in the intersection of Main Street and Florida Avenue, police said.

Thursday afternoon in a fall at the Thornton's construction site in Dellwood Plaza, firemen said.

Kenneth Willeby, 18, was taken by city ambulance to Midland Memorial Hospital but was later transferred to Odessa Medical Center, firemen said.

Willeby is in satisfactory condition at Medical Center with head and back injuries, a hospital spokesman said.

Police found narcotics paraphenalia in Smith's vehicle, and a substance believed to be heroin was found on three of the articles, police said.

A Midland man was arrested on a warrant Thursday for possession of heroin, police said. He was arrested by Midland police in the 300 block of North Lee Street, police said.

5:11 p.m. Thursday in a car-pedestrian accident, police said.

Ruben Dwayne Sansom of 1411 E. Chestnut St., was treated and released at Midland Memorial Hospital with multiple abrasions and bruises, a hospital spokesman said.

He was crossing the street at the intersection of North Lamesa Road and Dengar Avenue when he was struck by a car driven by Guillermo Chavez Vidana of P.O. Box 3606, Midland, police said.

United Way contest for slogan continues

The United Way of Midland is continuing its city-wide contest to adopt the best slogan for its fall campaign theme, "Americans Embarking on the 3rd Century."

Slogans should follow the ideas of "The Bicentennial has created interest in America's past and should lead Americans into an evaluation of our future;" "Americans are internationally acclaimed as a generous people;" or "America's help has meant hope for the future."

Entry blanks for the contest will be posted in various areas throughout the city.

Slogans must not exceed seven words or 35 letters and spaces, including punctuation marks. Each slogan must be submitted in typing or writing on a separate piece of paper bearing the name, address and telephone number of the sender on its reverse side.

The winner, to be chosen by the United Way's board of directors June 23, will receive a $25 Savings Bond and a T-shirt with his name printed beneath the winning slogan.

Entries should be mailed to Slogan Contest, United Way of Midland, P.O. Box 2314, Midland, Texas 79701, by midnight June 15, 1976.

OC professor to give talk

ODESSA — Dr. Kenneth Yeilding, professor of history and government at Odessa College, will speak on "Immigrations into the State of Texas from other States" at the meeting of the Permian Basin Genealogical Society.

The group will meet Monday night in the Ector County Library in Odessa.

Federal grand jury indicts Burleson pair

A federal grand jury in Midland has indicted a Burleson couple on charges of possessing 1,779 pounds of marijuana and a Midland man for allegedly impersonating a federal officer.

All three pleaded innocent of the accusations in arraignment Thursday before U.S. District Court Judge D. W. Suttle.

Indicted on two counts — conspiracy and possession — under the marijuana charge were Phillip Wylie Harmon, 25, and his wife, Kathy Edmiston Harmon, 24, of Route 3, Burleson. The couple, arrested near Alpine May 9, are free under $25,000 bonds each.

Domingo Guzman Jr., 20, of 204 W. Stokes, Midland, is charged with taking $516 from Elasar and Manuela Hernandez April 29 while falsely representing himself to be a federal officer.

He is free under a $500 personal appearance bond.

The maximum penalty that could be exacted on each count of the marijuana offense is a five-year prison term and a $15,000 fine.

Guzman, if convicted, could be imprisoned for three years and fined $1,000.

Airplane meet planned

The Hi-Sky RC Club will host a radio-controlled airplane meet Saturday and Sunday at Chaparral Cars, Inc., south of Midland on the Rankin Highway.

The meet begins at 8 a.m. both days. A banquet is scheduled after the meet, at a place and time yet to be determined.

Patient's access to medical records touchy issue

By RONALD J. OSTROW
The Los Angeles Times

WASHINGTON — The truck driver, complaining of persistent chest pains, finally turned to his doctor. The physician could find nothing wrong and, unknown to the patient, jotted in his medical record that the man was "a malingerer."

Three years later, the truck driver, applying for another job, listed chest pains as a medical problem. The prospective employer checked with the man's medical insurance carrier and his doctor and learned of the earlier speculative diagnosis.

The driver did not get the job. THAT EXAMPLE, drawn from a hypothetical illustration by Ronald L. Plesser, general counsel of the Privacy Protection Study Commission, points up a sensitive area of the privacy issue that soon will draw increased attention.

The commission, created by the Privacy Act of 1974, will hold its first hearings on medical records in Los Angeles June 10 and 11.

Because the 1974 legislation covered only federal entities, the commission will pose the same question it has raised in earlier examinations of the credit and insurance industries: Should the principles and requirements of the 1974 act be applied to private bodies, such as hospitals and doctors?

Particularly touchy are the questions of whether the patient should have access to his medical records (it appears that most doctors and medical institutions say no) and whether the patient must give an informed and knowing consent before his medical information is disseminated to third parties, such as insurers and employers.

"How can you give informed consent if you don't know what's in your records?" Plesser asked.

COMPLAINTS ABOUT effects of the medical field's present stance on patient access to records and release of information to third parties have been relatively muted, according to a commission spokesman, "because the public doesn't know what is going on."

Nevertheless, the American Psychiatric Assn., representing doctors engaged in practices where privacy is crucial, listed some 29 examples of severe problems resulting from breaches of confidentiality in a task force report published last year.

"In psychiatry where it is the very essence of the profession to deal with the most private corners of the patient's personal life, security from abuses of privacy form a condition without which it would be difficult to practice psychiatry and psychotherapy at all," stated the association's report on "confidentiality and third parties."

Dr. Maurice Grossman, a clinical professor of psychiatry at Stanford University School of Medicine who headed the task force, noted that some facts in the illustrations were altered to cloak identities and that some of the examples were drawn from more than one case.

IN ONE INSTANCE, records of a child's psychiatric condition and treatment were made a permanent part of the child's school file, after the treating psychiatrist consulted the child's parents and teacher. In subsequent years, the records were used by others who did not discuss them with the psychiatrist. The records, which were not updated as the child progressed, even turned up many years later after the patient reached adulthood.

In another case, a surgeon, hospitalized for a coronary attack, had his automobile insurance cancelled. His insurance broker explained that the auto insurance carrier had learned of his illness through a hospital insurance report.

In a third case, a confirmed hypochondriac underwent surgery many times. After a year of psychiatric treatment that focused on the patient's underlying problems, the symptoms and the surgery ended.

The patient then began using medical insurance to cover her psychiatric treatment and a demand was made for "an official diagnosis." Her doctor complied, diagnosing her difficulties as "hysterical personality defect." Through some means unknown to the doctor, the patient learned of the diagnosis.

Furious, she stopped the treatment. The doctor then learned his former patient was visiting surgeons again.

OBJECTIONS VOICED to giving patients unfettered access to their medical records center on the technical nature of the information, the chance that it could be misinterpreted and lead to attempts at self-treatment.

"Physicians should have the right to prevent direct patient access (to their records) in certain circumstances," said B. J. Anderson, a counsel for the American Medical Assn. "Our position is that a patient is entitled to having the benefit (of the records) used to assure proper treatment" through such means as transferring records from one doctor or hospital to another.

"But whether you give them to the patient or not is a decision that must be made by the physician," Ms. Anderson said.

Because of the "damage" that could be caused by granting patients automatic access to their medical records, neither the AMA nor physicians "would condone" such a blanket policy, she added.

As an example of potential "damage," she cited a patient who was diagnosed as suffering from advanced leukemia and whose wife asked the doctor not to tell the patient of his diagnosis.

Plesser said one of the major underlying objections to opening up medical records is that the policy might spur the filing of malpractice suits, a particularly sensitive subject these days.

MEDICAL PRACTITIONERS are far from monolithic on patient access to records. Writing in the New England Journal of Medicine, Dr. B. N. Shenkin and David C. Warner called for enacted legislation to require that patients routinely receive a complete copy of their medical records.

They contended that holding back medical records "increases the incidence of unnecessary malpractice litigation."

Dr. Sidney Wolfe, director of Ralph Nader's Health Research Group, brushed aside the suggestion that medical records are too technical and too likely to be misinterpreted to release them to patients. "People don't have to be taught to do an appendectomy" to understand medical records, Wolfe said. "To use that as an excuse is to say a medical record has to be written in an obscure way."

SO SENSITIVE is the suggestion of giving patients access to their records that a University of California at Los Angeles researcher, Dr. Charles Lewis, withdrew such a plan to do just that from a broader five-year study he is conducting under a $1.25 million grant from the National Center for Health Services Research.

"We withdrew it because we didn't want to get into a fight with the power structure only three months into our five-year research," Lewis said. The research effort is studying the impact of involving individuals in their own medical care, assessing, for example, the extent to which individuals can be coequals (with their doctors) about the treatment they receive and the drugs that are prescribed for them.

"Significant and powerful individuals at UCLA were alarmed" over the possible impact of releasing records to patients, Lewis said.

As for disclosure of medical records to third parties, Plesser of the Privacy Commission and the AMA seem equally concerned.

Plesser acknowledged that patients entering hospitals or completing medical insurance forms typically sign waivers permitting the information to be disclosed.

"The question is does the patient really know what he is waiving and the possible ramifications, such as loss of job?" Plesser asked.

Under a model confidentiality bill being considered for endorsement by the AMA, every patient would be notified whenever his records were given to a third party.

Senator: decision will upset Africans

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman Dick Clark of the Senate African affairs subcommittee says black leaders "are going to be very upset" with the State Department decision to support the sale of two atomic power plants to South Africa.

Sources told The Associated Press that department officials will testify at subcommittee hearings that blocking the license application by General Electric Co. or attaching special restrictions to the $2 billion deal would be unwise.

Clark said in an interview that he opposes the sale, which also would involve the export of 1.4 million pounds of enriched uranium as fuel for the two plants. According to GE, the plants could begin generating almost two million kilowatts of electricity by mid-1982.

The Iowa Democrat said black African leaders will view it "as a signal that the United States hasn't really changed its African policy at all and has no intention of doing so. I think this will only increase the potential for violence and bloodshed in Southern Africa."

The Nuclear Regulatory Commission has sole authority to approve or deny the licenses. However, congressional sources say there may be a move to prevent the Export-Import Bank from guaranteeing the financing or to condition the sale on restrictions guarding against the production of nuclear weapons.

South Africa has not signed the nuclear nonproliferation treaty, which is designed to ban the spread of atomic weapons. It has received enriched uranium fuel from the United States for use in research reactors, but this would be the first sale of nuclear machinery.

Department officials said the deal was contemplated in earlier agreements with South Africa and that in order to guard against misuse the United States — not potential suppliers in Western Europe — should be the source.

"Our influence depends on our being in the picture, not out of it," said one top official.

Money managers jittery, enjoy worrying a lot

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — "Money managers are a jittery lot and feel most comfortable when they are worrying," said the securities firm in a report to customers on why so many "myths" exist in the stock market today.

"They worry when they are in the consensus of investment thinking, and they worry when they are outside of it. They constantly try to extend the forecasting horizon beyond what is realistically visible and analyzable."

"That analysis seems to suggest that money managers are similar to other normal people, even if their particular job calls for handling millions of dollars in a fat stock portfolio rather than a few dollars in a thin wallet.

But Goldman Sachs, the firm that made this unusual analysis, isn't concerned with the similarities of people so much as in destroying what it says are the prevailing myths that many big money managers currently accept.

Myth One: "Most institutional market participants are fully invested, and hence, there is not sufficient sidelined cash to fuel a market advance."

Goldman Sachs' explanation: As with many myths, there is some truth connected with this belief.

Mutual fund cash reserves have been nearly depleted, at about 6.1 per cent of assets. And cash reserves for most other major market participants probably have fallen to 5-10 per cent from 10-15 per cent six to nine months ago.

"However, the market rose about 15 per cent in 1972 when mutual fund cash as a per cent of total assets averaged about 5.5 per cent and the industry was in a net redemption position during the last 11 months of the year."

Recent history, therefore, doesn't support this widely held "truth."

Myth Two: "Tightening monetary policy and rising short-term interest rates will send the market lower."

Explanation: "We doubt that there are many investors today who do not anticipate rising short-term interest rates in the period ahead. In our view, if the rise in rates is gradual and does not worry 90-day Treasuries much above 6 per cent, the stock market can advance from current levels."

Again, recent history does not support the widely held notion: From mid-1962 to year-end 1965, the market rose along with rising Treasury bill rates. It did so again in 1968 and in 1972.

Myth Three: "The historically wide spread — 5 per cent — between bond yields and stock dividend/returns renders stocks unattractive relative to bonds."

Explanation: "We have always been a proponent of the theory that bond yields play an important role in stock valuation. However, historically, the bond-stock yield differential has been a poor forecaster..."

The key question investors must ask themselves, says Goldman Sachs, is whether the inflation that drove up bond yields will eventually do the same thing for earnings and dividends.

"It has been our contention for some time that we are likely to see an increase in corporate profits' share of national income over the next five years, resulting in profits rising more rapidly than nominal Gross National Product."

If bond rates remain stable, the analysis continues, there is room for profits and stock prices to grow.

Myth Four: "The rate of inflation, as measured by the Consumer Price Index, will escalate significantly in 1977, bringing with it declining stock prices."

Explanation: Again, says Goldman

Sachs, there is an element of truth in the myth. Inflation is indeed widely expected to accelerate in 1977. But that, it adds, doesn't mean stock prices will automatically drop.

"The key question again is whether the inflation that pushes bond yields up will also find its way into profit growth," the securities firm argues. And its own answer to the question is that, yes, it will.

Summation: "We are in a primary bull market, though the extreme degree of undervaluation has been removed and the easy money has been made."

85-year-old on Bikecentennial

The Washington Post

MINERAL, Va. — The first dozen cyclists on the nation's new "Bikecentennial Trail" passed near Richmond Sunday soaked and happy, soggy sneakers squishing as they pedaled toward Oregon, 4,150 miles away.

Pickard, who left Jamestown, Va., following Bikecentennial inauguration ceremonies, was the first of some 10,000 bicyclists expected to travel the trail this summer.

The Bikecentennial route, marked by state highway departments and recognized by the U.S. Department of Transportation as the first official cross-country bike route, follows scenic back roads through picturesque small towns of under 3,000 population.

The cyclists were waved and halloped at in every town they passed. They were followed by children on bikes and enthusiastically chased by hundreds of dogs, during the first three days they spent pedaling in the rain from Jamestown to Mineral, Va. They spent Saturday night at a campground.

They averaged only about 50 miles a day — their 82-day Odyssey calls for an average of at least 60 miles a day — because of frequent stops to view Revolutionary and Civil War sites and to talk and take iced tea with friendly farm families along the way.

"If you wave or yell hello they practically drag you off your bike," said Jim DeBerge, leader of the first group who was waylaid and invited for tea by Edith and Art Hines, a retired farm couple near the tiny town of Elko, Va., which boasts a single country store where the only time piece is a 19th century wind-up clock.

Hines told DeBerge of the Civil War bullets, cannon balls and soldier's skull he ploughed up in one of the fields of the Seven Days Battle. In the 1862 battle Gen. Robert E. Lee lost 20,000 men; Gen. George B. McClellan's army lost 15,000.

It was stops like these, and at historic sites and plantations, which delayed the Bikecentennial group and enabled Clarence Pickard, traveling at a slow, tortoise-like pace, to keep up.

Dressed in an aluminum-painted pith helmet, gift of a high school class in his home town of Indianola, with a Bikecentennial tee shirt, slacks and basketball sneakers, Pickard was the talk of every town he passed through.

Some of the towns he passed through twice. Last Friday about 30 miles from Jamestown, Pickard was seen pedaling serenely East along Route 5, the old stage coach road between Williamsburg and Richmond. "Oh, Oregon's not that way?" he asked. "Are you sure? Well, I guess I must have got turned around when I stopped back there."

COOLER HEADQUARTERS

It keeps you cool. Without keeping you broke.

McGraw-Edison Company engineers have succeeded in reducing home cooling to its simplest, most natural, and most cost-efficient terms. Compared to air conditioning, you get summer cooling that not only costs far less to buy, but, more important, far less to operate — about 1/4 as much to operate!

And with electricity prices so high — they've risen as much as 50% over the past two years — that's a big consideration. So much so that many people who have air conditioning are finding it beneficial to add The Miser to save money.

See The Miser evaporative cooler today. At these prices it may be gone tomorrow.

The defenders take three diamond tricks and lead a trump. You win in dummy and ruff a low club.

You lead another trump to dummy and ruff another club. It is then time to draw the last trump and begin the spades.

You lead a low spade to win a finesse with the jack, ruff another club and lead another spade to dummy's king. West, a pure-hearted opponent, plays the ten on the second spade, and you know that he still has the queen of spades in his hand.

Now you must play the ace of spades. When the queen drops your last spade is good.

VILLAIN'S PLAY

If West is a villain he plays his queen of spades the first or second time you play the suit.

When you lead the low spade from dummy, you must play the ace if West started with Q-10-3; but you must finesse with the nine if West started with Q-3 of spades. You cannot be sure of the right play, and you will occasionally guess wrong.

I'm not trying to tell you that villainy is better than purity. Just drop the queen by accident when a successful finesse locates your queen. An accident doesn't make you a villain.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with 1 NT (16 to 18 points), and the next player passes. You hold: S753; H72; DA987; CAQ109. What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid 3 NT. With your 10 points, the combined point count in high cards should be 26 to 28 points. This is enough for game in no-trump, but may not be enough for game in clubs or diamonds.

Adult filmgoers witnesses

DALLAS (AP) — Adult crackdown on pornographic films, the Dallas police vice squad says. The request for names and addresses "will be done as deemed necessary," vice squad commander D.L. Burgess said Wednesday.

Burgess said an undercover agent will view the movie first and if, in his opinion, it is obscene, a warrant will be secured to raid the theater and confiscate the film.

Customers then will be asked to provide their names and addresses because "they are viewing a possible violation of the law and they are, in fact, witnesses and have an obligation to give us their name and addresses," Burgess said.

Ehrlichman: 'I had to adapt'

By FRANK CLIFFORD Newsday

SANTA FE, N.M. — John Ehrlichman says he felt compelled to conform to Richard Nixon's way of doing things.

"I had every reason to be very humble about my talents and my capacity to judge," said Ehrlichman, reflecting on the four years he served as Nixon's legal counsel and top assistant on domestic affairs.

"I was coming from the woods of the Northwest, and I had no sense of the presidency." He had been practicing law in Seattle before going to work in the White House in 1969. "I was very, very cautious about substituting my judgment for Nixon's. I had to adapt to his sense of the presidency."

AND THAT ADAPTATION demanded a stylistic conformity as well as an intellectual one, he said during a recent interview with the weekly newspaper The Santa Fe Reporter.

"If you're going to work for a person whose code includes coats and ties and forbids beards and demands short haircuts, then you either do that or you don't work for him. Where my own desires or lifestyle might otherwise have developed along certain lines, given the fashions of the times," he said, "being part of an organization which had certain standards, obviously it was incumbent on me to go along."

Today, Ehrlichman is more his own man. Many mornings, he divides his time between writing fiction and tilling the soil of a small vegetable garden outside his rented hillside abode cottage. He is separated from his wife, Jeanne.

Ehrlichman finished a soon-to-be-released novel featuring a thinly disguised Nixon White House, and he is at work on a second.

But even during his White House tenure, said Ehrlichman, there were limits to his capacity for obedience to the Nixon mold. He said he and Daniel Moynihan were probably the only White House staffers who refused to display pictures of Nixon in their offices. "I didn't want a shrine to Richard Nixon," Ehrlichman said. "It wasn't my style."

FURTHERMORE, HE SAID, "I did not wear an American flag pin in my lapel and would not, in spite of how many thousands of them were handed to me with pointed inference, because it was unseemly as far as I was concerned, and it was on the margins of what I could get away with."

In one of the most mordant Watergate-era political cartoons, Ehrlichman was pictured as a Nazi soldier telling official investigators he was merely "obeying orders."

Ehrlichman said he openly disagreed with Nixon on a number of issues, especially environmental matters, and he took credit for "turning the president around" on the issue of the Cross-Florida Barge Canal, a proposed shorter shipping route between the Atlantic Ocean and the Gulf of Mexico across northern Florida.

Despite heavy pro-canal pressure from Florida businessmen, including Nixon's close friend Bebe Rebozo, Ehrlichman said he eventually succeeded in convincing the president that the canal was "a very, very bad thing," on conservation grounds.

He said he did not approve of or know of a plan to burglarize the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist but he said he had "approved an operation to get information" on the man who made public the Pentagon Papers.

"I'll tell you what I had in mind," he said. "I have tried personal injury cases for about 12 or 15 years for insurance companies, and when you do that it's important for you to know what the physical condition of the plaintiff is. "One of the ways that you find out is to get the confidential records of the plaintiff. And the way you do that is that the adjuster goes out, sweet-talks the nurse at the hospital, or hires a doctor who talks to the plaintiff's doctor and says: 'Can I look at Tillie Jones' records?'"

"There are probably 15 ways that insurance adjusters get a look at so-called privileged records," he said. "So, if you had asked me at the time: 'Is there a way for those fellows to do this without violating somebody's civil rights or breaking into somebody's office?' I'd have said 'sure.' In my experience there are all kinds of ways."

ABOUT HIS ROLE in the cover-up of responsibility for the Watergate break-ins, Ehrlichman would say only that he had been misled by President Nixon. He said he believed the "cover story," the rationale, as told to him by Nixon in July, 1972, that the FBI should not delve too deeply into the political connections of those involved in the break-ins because of the danger of compromising the secrecy of certain CIA operations, with which some of the Watergate burglars had been affiliated.

It was not until more than a year later, when he first heard the infamous June 23, 1972, taped conversation between Nixon and his chief of staff, H.R. Haldeman, that he realized it was a "cover story."

Patriotic musical slated at First Baptist Church

A patriotic musical, "I Love America," will be presented at 7:30 p.m. Sunday at First Baptist Church, West Louisiana and North Garfield streets.

The presentation will feature the First Baptist Concord Choir under direction of Doris Bruce, organist and music staff member at the church.

"I Love America," written by John Peterson and Don Wyrzten, is a musical in three segments, Miss Bruce said. The first segment, "Patriotism for America," stresses love for the nation by its citizens and recounts some of this country's history. The second portion, "Praise for America," is a musical tribute to the nation and its flag. The third and final segment, "Prayer for America," is a plea for the nation to hark back to its spiritual foundations and to turn to the living God of the Universe.

The musical will have a fully-staged production here, with costumes, special lighting and a series of color slide projections. Soloists for the Heath, Burchard, Miss Owens, Miss Greer, Leigh Neil Russell, Ronnie Finley, Stephen Floyd, Jeff Robnett, John Beane, Ernie Chuter and Scott Durr.

The director, Miss Bruce, notes that in "I Love America" the listener is made aware that his country does have some deep spiritual needs that can only be met through the redeeming word of Jesus Christ.

The Concord Choir has accepted an invitation to present "I Love America" at the state Republican convention at Fort Worth in mid-June, and the ensemble has received a tentative invitation to give a performance at the national Republican convention at Kansas City in August.

Sunday's presentation in the auditorium of First Baptist Church will be open to the public at no charge.

RELIGION

performance are to be Kenda Carley, Jannifer Crawford, Kelly Kee, Gayla Nease, Jonathan Brickey, Susie Greer, Cheryl Owens, Paula Rabb, Brent Burchard, Kateva Dellis, Kara McGee, Roy Shuck, Mark Lloyd, Joe Don Heath. Actors will include Jimmy Storrie, Brickey, Lloyd,

Methodists plan conclave

LUBBOCK — The Northwest Texas Conference of the United Methodist Church, headquartered in Lubbock, will join the New-Mexico Area Conference of the denomination in holding its annual meeting next week.

The joint conclave will take place at Glorieta Baptist Conference Center between Santa Fe and Las Vegas, N. M., May 25-28.

Presiding at the gathering will be Dr. Alsie H. Carleton, bishop of the two geographical divisions of the denomination.

Delegates and other representatives from more than 350 United Methodist churches in both conferences will gather for the opening session at 9 a.m. (MDST) Tuesday in Glorieta's main auditorium. "This is a natural time for a joint session of the two conferences," said Dr. Darris

Egger, a member of the Northwest Texas Conference's staff. "Both conferences have the same bishop and border on each other. In addition, we can celebrate the American Bicentennial and plan our own bicentennial of United Methodism which will be celebrated in 1984."

The giving and receiving of pastoral appointments, always a highlight of annual conference gatherings, is scheduled for Tuesday evening. It will follow a special historical presentation on the Northwest Texas Conference by Dr. Robert Monk, faculty member at McMurry College in Abilene.

Each conference will furnish a "guest" preacher for the conclave. Dr. Clifford Trotter, pastor of Amarillo's Polk Street Methodist Church, will preach the morning sermon next Wednesday, while Dr. Harry Vanderpool of Albuquerque's Central Methodist Church, will preach Thursday morning.

Dr. Bervin Caswell, superintendent of the Albuquerque District of the denomination, is to serve as host district superintendent, while the Rev. William McReynolds of Santa Fe, until recently a pastor at Dumas, will be host pastor. Dr. David Blackburn of McMurry College is to serve as conference song leader.

Among highlight events of the joint meeting will be a service honoring retiring ministers on Tuesday afternoon and a service of ordination for deacons and elders on Wednesday evening, following a presentation on the history of the New Mexico Conference of the denomination.

Special service planned

Planning is well under way for a citywide, interdenominational service of worship and patriotism to be held here July 4.

The ecumenical event in Wadley Barron Park will involve some 50 Midland churches. Joint sponsors of the service are the Midland Association of Churches and the Midland Ministerial Alliance.

Theme of the service will be "Proclaim Liberty" and it will focus on the place of Christianity in patriotism.

Heading the sponsoring organizations are Mrs. M. D. Abel, president of the Midland Association of Churches, and the Rev. Paul Cox, pastor of Gardens-Assembly of God and current president of the Ministerial Alliance. Both are actively involved in preparing for the event.

Choir festival opens June 1

GLORIETA, N. M. — The 1976 summer season at Glorieta Baptist Conference Center will officially begin June 1 with the opening of the Southern Baptist Convention's Youth Choir Festival. The festival continues through June 4.

To be directed by William J. Reynolds, secretary for the church music department of the Southern Baptist Sunday School Board, the festival will feature a parade of participating choirs as well as presentations by a massed festival choir.

Worship experiences for the festival will be led by Nathan Porter, pastor of First Baptist Church in Arkadelphia, Ark., and James D. Woodward will serve as choral director for the gathering. Woodward is dean of the College of Fine Arts, Oklahoma Baptist University at Shawnee.

The parade of choirs, to be climaxed June 4 by awards to the most outstanding choir in each of three categories, will take place daily. Judging is optional, but a choral ensemble is eligible for the most outstanding trophy only if it has been evaluated throughout the sessions.

Additional opportunities for youth during the festival include prayer retreats, a talent show and special music events by the festival choir.

Glorieta Baptist Conference Center, located 20 miles east of Santa Fe, is a year-round Christian retreat owned and operated by the Southern Baptist Sunday School Board, headquartered in Nashville, Tenn.

Summer workshop slated for church organists

DENTON — The sixth annual summer workshop for church organists is scheduled June 12 on the campus of Texas Woman's University here.

Sponsored by the TWU department of music, the workshop will be under direction of Dr. Thomas K. Brown, associate professor of music at the university.

"This year's workshop is different," Brown points out, "in that we are inviting others besides church organists. We want to include ministers, church music committee members, choir directors, choir members, church pianists and all others interested in the interrelationship music of their church." The between church musicians, clergy and laity will be explored.

The one-day workshop, to include a hymn session and panel discussion and study groups, will begin at 8:30 a.m., continuing until 5 p.m. in the TWU main auditorium. A descriptive brochure, and official registration forms, may be obtained by writing to Dr. Thomas K. Brown at P. O. Box 23865, TWU Station, Denton 76204.

Church slates special series

A series of special services will be held this weekend at the Tall City Missionary Baptist Church, 3500 Anetta Drive.

The series will begin with a service at 7:30 p.m. today, and conclude with a Sunday evening event. A service on Saturday night will center around church youth in connection with the Tall City Church's hosting of an associational youth rally, said Bill Simpson, pastor.

Featured speaker at the series of services will be Dr. L. Chester Guinn, secretary-treasurer of the American Baptist Association. He is a former pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church at Henderson which sponsors the Texas Baptist Institute and Seminary of that city. All services will be open to the public, it was announced.

Mark Worley joins church

Mark Worley is the new associate minister of the Christian Church of Midland, 2608 Neely St.

Mr. Worley, a native of San Antonio, is a graduate of Dallas Christian College and spent two recent summers engaged in a youth ministry at Austin. He has traveled with Christ in Youth evangelistic teams and with the Revelation Singers and Brass. He also has served as minister of a church at Denison. He and his wife Carolyn recently established residence here.

Mr. Worley will be assisting Billy Stewart, minister of the Christian Church of Midland, in various facets of the local church's outreach.

2 Midlanders join delegates at conclave

Two members of Midland's Christ Presbyterian Church are among delegates from this Presbytery to the 188th General Assembly of the United Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A. (UPCUSA), currently under way in Baltimore, Md.

Mrs. Roy Neely is a lay delegate to the annual conclave, and David Judd is a youth delegate. A student at Midland High School, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Judd. Clergy delegate from this area to the assembly is the Rev. Carlos Lopez of El Paso.

Church revival slated

A revival will begin Sunday at the Midland Church of God, with services to continue through May 28.

Evangelist for the series will be the Rev. V. R. Mitchell, father of the Rev. E. R. Mitchell, pastor of the Midland church. The elder Mr. Mitchell, who began his ministry by holding his first revival in Midland, now is a metropolitan evangelist at Houston.

The revival emphasis will have services at 7:30 p.m. daily, and special music will be a highlight of each gathering. The events will be open to the public. The Midland church is at 5300 Thomason Drive.

Revival planned at church

New Hope Baptist Church, 2400 E. New York St., is planning a spring revival next week.

The evangelistic series will begin next Wednesday, to continue through May 30, with services to begin at 8 p.m. daily.

Evangelist for the revival will be the Rev. A. L. Patrick, pastor of Mt. Olive Baptist Church at Corsicana. The public is invited to hear him.

Baptists slate special events

South Memorial Baptist Church, 1700 W. Carter St., has planned several special events Sunday.

According to the Rev. Jimmy Stovall, pastor, a note-burning ceremony marking the church's debt-free status will highlight the morning worship hour, scheduled to begin at 10:55 a.m. Lunch will be served at the church following the service for all members of the congregation and guests.

Following lunch, a ceremony of ordination will be held for Diego Cano. Participating in the service will be the Rev. Doyle Darwin, pastor of Calvary Baptist Church, and the Rev. Ross Payne, pastor of Cottonflat Baptist, along with deacons from several local churches.

Special service announced

First Assembly of God, 100 W. Wadley Ave., is announcing a special Sunday morning missionary service open to the public.

Featured speaker at the 11 a.m. event will be the Rev. Gary Jones, a newly-appointed Assemblies of God missionary to Nicaragua, Central America. He and his family will be headquartered in Managua, the capital of Nicaragua, where he will serve as a teacher at a denominational Bible institute which trains Nicaraguan ministers. He at so will be involved in establishing new churches throughout that republic. Mr. Jones is a graduate of Southwestern Assemblies of God College at Waxahachie and formerly was pastor of a Spanish-speaking congregation in Waxahachie. His wife is the former Cheryl Roberson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Roberson of Midland and a 1969 graduate of Midland High School.

MMH nurses complete coronary care course

Six nurses at Midland Memorial Hospital completed a seven-week post-graduate course in coronary care nursing.

The graduates are Mrs. Billie Williams, Mrs. Vernita Mackey and Donna Hamilton, licensed vocational nurses, and Mrs. Margaret Hughes, Stan Leeper and Paul Glamm, registered nurses. They are all employees of MMH, assigned to the critical care services of CCU and Intensive Care Unit.

The ROCOM course is an intensive study in coronary care nursing techniques and procedures and includes both classroom and clinical experience. Mrs. Joann Fee, R.N., taught the course.

MMH will offer another ROCOM course in the fall for LVNs and RNs at the hospital.

Crane eggs on way

GRAYS LAKE, Idaho (AP) — Federal wildlife officials began the second phase Thursday of their attempt to build a second wild flock of rare whooping cranes by transplanting whooper eggs to sandhill crane nests.

The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, in cooperation with its Canadian counterpart, is flying 16 whooping crane eggs from Wood Buffalo National Park in northern Alberta to Grays Lake National Wildlife Refuge.

Grays Lake lies amid the mountains of eastern Idaho, 20 miles from Wyoming and southeast of Grand Teton National Park.

About 50 whooping cranes make up the single wild flock in existence, said John Sayre, public information officer for Fish and Wildlife's northwest region. They winter on the Texas Gulf Coast, then return to Canada to build their nests.

A captive flock of about 20 birds is kept at the federal Patuxent Wildlife Research Center in Maryland.

Four young whoopers survived last year from last year's transplant batch of 14 eggs, although none has returned to the lake yet after wintering in New Mexico.

The eggs for transplant come from two-egg nests. Sayre said the whooping cranes care for only one chick when they hatch and the dominant chick often pushes the weaker one from the nest. Only one survives.

Sayre said the eggs will be placed on sandhill crane nests by conservation officers from the Fish and Wildlife Service and the Idaho Department of Fish and Game. The sandhill crane eggs removed to make room for the whoopers are taken to Wisconsin and hatched there.

Of last year's transplanted eggs, three were infertile, two were lost to predators and nine hatched, Sayre said. One of the chicks died in a late snowstorm and four were lost to unknown natural causes.

Sayre said last year's four whooper young were abandoned by their sandhill foster parents on the way north this spring, a natural occurrence. He said one has been seen near Montrose, Colo., while the other three are believed "en route, but we don't know from where to where."

"Exactly where they'll end up we don't know," Sayre said. But he said it's hoped they will return to Grays Lake by the time they are ready to breed.

Judge orders Mitchell to pay Martha $36,000 back alimony

NEW YORK (AP) — A judge ordered former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell to pay his estranged wife, Martha, $36,000 in temporary back alimony.

State Supreme Court Justice Manuel Gomez granted a motion Thursday by Mrs. Mitchell's attorney, William C. Herman, to enter judgment for the back alimony "in the absence of any denial" by Mitchell that he owes the amount.

Mrs. Mitchell, who is reported suffering from cancer of the bone marrow, recently returned to her 14-room cooperative apartment on Fifth Avenue from a hospital where she had special surgery resulting from a broken arm.

She was awarded $1,000 a week alimony in December 1974 by Justice Gomez pending disposition of her suit for legal separation from Mitchell.

In oral arguments Tuesday, Herman told Gomez that Mrs. Mitchell was "without friends and without funds."

He said that Mrs. Mitchell owes nearly $10,000 on her apartment, and that Consolidated Edison utility company has threatened to turn off her electricity.

Herman also said the former attorney general received a $50,000 advance on a book he is writing about Watergate. Mitchell has appealed a conviction for making false statements, obstruction of justice and conspiracy to obstruct justice in connection with Watergate.

Mitchell's lawyer, Margaret Shaw, told Gomez on Tuesday that Mitchell is broke now, although she said he did receive the book advance. "He is living on borrowed funds," she said.

In response to that contention Justice Gomez said:

"While the defendant urges that his present financial condition is precarious, he does not disclose his exact status or present income. If his situation is actually and, in fact, as precarious as he contends, he would be well advised, upon the submission of proof, to move for a downward modification of the outstanding order directing the alimony."

Mitchell's lawyer said Mrs. Mitchell refuses to sell the cooperative apartment and also refuses to return his books and records.

Herman contended that Mitchell wants to use the monies from the sale of the apartment for himself and put Mrs. Mitchell in a nursing home. Mitchell's attorney denied it.

Gulf announces six anniversaries for employes in Midland District

Six service anniversaries have been announced by Gulf Energy and Minerals Co. U. S., for employes in its Midland district.

E. Clappitt, unit supervisor in the Midland district, comptroller department.

Penwell in 1946. He has served as well tester and gas service man in addition to his present classification. Dunlap is a resident of Odessa.

Prospectors staked in three PB sectors

Exploration has been planned for Andrews, Ward and Winkler counties. Mann Rankin of Midland staked site for No. 3 McKnight, et al, a 7,500-foot searcher in Andrews, and as a stepout to production in the Fuhrman-Mascho field.

Ellenburger oil producer in the Halley, Northeast field of Winkler County.

Clappitt began working for the firm at Fort Worth as a senior stenographer and later was promoted to senior clerk. He took military leave of absence during the Korean War and returned to Gulf at Fort Worth. He was transferred to Midland in 1959, and became unit supervisor in 1972.

Offsets staked in Mitchell

Dorchester Exploration, Inc., Midland, staked site for No. 7-A Spade, a location north offset to the three-well Beal's Creek (Wichita-Albany) field of Mitchell County.

Location is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 23, block B-11, PSL survey, eight miles south of Kermit.

Mize, a resident of Midland, was employed by Gulf as a general clerk in the Fort Worth production division office and later was transferred to Hobbs and Roswell, N. M., where he served as clerk. He was reclassified as data transmission operator in 1958, and was promoted to senior clerk in November 1962 following his move to Midland in April 1962.

Milestone reached

HOBBS, N. M. — John T. Adams, district superintendent at Hobbs for Shell Pipe Line Corp., has completed 25 years with the company.

Confirmation wells have been finished in Andrews and Ector fields and extenders in Pecos and Winkler were completed.

The discovery was Union Texas Petroleum Corp. No. 1-29 Fasken, which finished in April, 1966, for 289 barrels of oil per day, through perforations at 10,302-10,310 feet.

Tipperary final wells

Tipperary Corp. of Midland has released information on five recently completed wells in the Frio County portion of the South Texas Chalk oil play.

Location is 660 feet from north and east lines of section 11, block A-41, PSL survey, 15 miles southwest of Andrews.

The pay had been acidized with 27,500 gallons.

Austin official not optimistic on deal

AUSTIN (AP) — Spokesmen for Austin said today there has been no agreement reached with Lo-Vaca Gathering Co. and one said he was "not optimistic there will be any kind of agreement."

Location is 990 feet from north and 1,290 feet from west lines of section 59, block A-2, TCR survey, six miles west of Sheffield.

There have been "various and sundry proposals" for ending the controversy but an agreement has not been ironed out.

WT areas gain tests

Explorers have been scheduled in Schleicher and Crockett counties. Philtex, Inc. of Arlington will drill No. 2 Cox, a 7,400-foot prospector in Schleicher, four miles southwest of Eldorado.

Location is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 6, block GH, GC&SF survey, 12 miles east of Ozona.

It is 1/2 mile south of his No. 1-B Childress in section 5, which originally was staked as a 9,000-foot wildcat, but amended to Ozona, Northeast (Ellenburger).

R. J. Reynolds buys Burmah's United States crude interests

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP) — R. J. Reynolds Industries of Winston-Salem and the Burmah Oil Co. of Great Britain announced Thursday agreement in principle for Burmah's sale to Reynolds of its American oil and gas business for $520 million.

A spokesman declined comment on whether the Burmah holdings would be merged into Reynolds' oil subsidiary, American Independent Oil Co., or AMINOIL, which it bought for years ago as a source of bunker oil for its shipping operations. AMINOIL gets its crude oil from the Arab states, especially Kuwait, where it has a refinery. The Burmah holdings will give it a hedge in the event of any renewal of the oil embargo of 1973.

Exxon official want identify recipients

BOSTON (AP) — Under questioning by stockholders, the chairman of the board of Exxon Corp. has refused to name three foreign countries where the company admits paying about $755,000 to government officials.

The payments were made from 1963 to 1975.

Last year the corporation revealed the former managing director of Exxon's Italian operation made $29 million in authorized payments to Italian political campaigns and government officials.

Take or pay contracts supported

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—The North Bolivar gas field of Galveston County, whose output is fed to Lone Star Gas customers, could not have been developed as rapidly or as fully without a "take or pay" contract, a Houston oilman says.

"The management of this company has stonewalled on this issue...We cannot sit by as stockholders not knowing whether our company was involved in the buying and selling of governments," said Timothy Smith, spokesman for the Interfaith Center on Corporate Responsibility in New York.

Garvin said disclosure of political contributions was not necessary because the firm had taken steps to prevent recurrences. He said Exxon has turned over information about the payments to the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Goldwater 'caught the worst hell' ever over his criticism of Reagan

SALLY QUINN
The Washington Post

WASHINGTON — "You'd have to know these people. They're wonderful, decent, kind people but they just get carried away. They were the same ones who booed Rockefeller in 1964. They work their heads off, they get votes, they give money. But if they disagree with you one bit, you're a no-good so and so."

Barry Goldwater, the 1964 Republican presidential nominee, was speaking of some of the people who had been his ardent supporters for years. Now, after a major clash with fellow conservative Ronald Reagan over Reagan's foreign policy statements, Goldwater finds himself the object of their scorn and derision.

Mainly Goldwater criticized Reagan for his militant approach to the Panama Canal, warning that the former California governor's position that the canal is worth risking war for is a dangerous one.

The Arizona doesn't feel he's had any impact on Reagan's campaign. "I don't think that my speaking out has hurt him at all. The proof of the pudding is that he won Nebraska."

What the remarks have done is to bring the senator an avalanche of criticism.

"I decided I wouldn't answer any mail on this," he said. "The mail has been so vitriolic and dirty. I didn't realize Western Union would send telegrams like that. Finally I got a letter from John Wayne. Duke and I are old friends. He was very mad about it. He's the kind of fellow that, anything against this country and he wants to go to war. Well, I'm not a coward but I'd rather talk than fight. I think we all better start talking to each other."

"But I would say that the majority of American people think about the canal the way Ronald Reagan does. I've gotten out of, say, 300 letters and telegrams, maybe 10 that have favored my position against Reagan. Most of them say things like 'I've joined the Eastern Establishment and that the canal is going to be given to Russia.'

"But, if the U.S. doesn't reach an agreement with Panama there would be guerrilla warfare. It would be another Vietnam. It would be impossible for us to defend the canal from sabotage."

Goldwater said the reason he was disturbed about what Reagan said was "that I didn't want a man taking that office having made a promise in effect to go to war. I would much rather talk than go to war over a ditch."

"I think I've been hurt by this in the party. But I don't care. I don't think I've lost all of my conservative friends but I've caught the worst hell I've ever caught in my life."

Unlike many of his conservative friends, Goldwater is a supporter of Secretary of State Henry Kissinger. He disagrees with the charges that Kissinger has hurt American foreign policy. "I see Henry regularly. We're in pretty close touch," he says.

"I say to Henry's critics, 'name me one secretary of state you have liked.' Where are we at war? Where are we killing American boys? That's the test of a secretary of state. We're not in trouble any place in the world today because of the fault of the secretary of state."

Goldwater feels that both Ford and Reagan have made mistakes in their campaign tactics.

"When you attack a man you lose votes," he said. "This has been one of Ford's biggest mistakes. He called me after the Texas thing. I said, 'You are the President and you've got to start acting like the President. Don't call Reagan names. Get Reagan out of your mind. And by God he took that tape of mine attacking Reagan and used it in Nebraska and he lost.'"

Goldwater said that after Reagan announced his candidacy Ford called him and asked him to publicly support him. Goldwater said he wouldn't do that. "I promised him I wouldn't do anything to hurt him."

Students get awards

ODESSA — Four Midland and Big Spring students were presented awards by the life science faculty following their graduation from the University of Texas at the Permian Basin.

Stella Loftis of Midland shared honors with an Odessa student as outstanding students for 1976 and the highest grade point averages. Another Midlander, Ariene Ritter, won the Pika Award, presented annually for field biology.

The Big Spring students, Kip

Massey and Sara Tipson, were presented the "Gas Can Award" for the longest drive to a degree. The duo has driven approximately 20,000 miles each from Big Spring to Odessa in round trips in earning their degrees.

Engineers to install new officers

New officers of the Permian Basin Section of the Institute of Electrical and Electronic Engineers (IEEE) will be installed during a banquet tonight at the Rodeway Inn in Midland.

Outgoing chairman Bill Pickering of Mobil Pipeline will induct Phil McNutt of the Orloff Corporation, section chairman Dr. George Willis of Odessa College, vice chairman; and Eddy Harrel of Texas Electric Service Co., secretary-treasurer.

IEEE, a professional engineering society, has a membership of more than 180,000. Its purposes are directed toward the scientific and educational advancement of the theory and practice of electrical engineering and electronics as well as advancement of the Professional standards of the members it serves.

Repair work due to begin

Repair work on portions of U. S. 87 in northern Tom Green and southern Coke Counties is due to begin Monday, according to D. R. Watson, San Angelo district engineer for the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation.

The repairs will consist of application of approximately 1/4 inch of skid resistant asphalt pavement to the northbound lanes of U. S. 87 in Tom Green County, beginning approximately 1 1/2 miles north of the Cactus Patch Truck Stop and continuing north to San Angelo Center, a distance of 5.3 miles.

In Coke County, 2.9 miles of southbound lanes will be resurfaced beginning at the Sterling/Coke County line.

Total cost of the project is $116,058.

TAC denies request to delay hearing

The Texas Aeronautics Commission in Austin has denied the request by Midland and Odessa for a delay on the hearing of Southwest Airlines' proposal to serve the two cities.

The hearing is scheduled for July 19 in Austin, but Midland and Odessa, during a pre-hearing conference, urged the TAC to delay their portion of the hearing until further action occurs on the two cities' request for a third carrier at Midland Air Terminal.

That request is currently before the Civil Aeronautics Board in Washington, D.C., and Braniff International has filed an application to become Air Terminal's third carrier.

Midland City Attorney Joe Nuessle said two reasons were cited by the TAC for denying the request for a delay on Southwest's hearing. The TAC said Southwest's proposal is complex and it (the TAC) is not required to "slow down its administrative processes to match those of federal regulating bodies (the CAB)."

Both city councils have officially gone on record in opposition to Southwest's request for fear that the intrastate carrier's presence at Terminal would hurt the cities' chances of securing Braniff, besides cutting down service by the two carriers now serving Terminal.

The Odessa council, however, at the request of Mayor Dan Hemphill, recently reconsidered its action on opposing Southwest. The council took no new stand but will probably discuss the issue again next week.

Midland fire units battle oil tank fire

Four units of the Midland Fire Department fought an eight-hour oil tank fire Thursday night and early this morning in Martin County, firemen said.

The first unit was called to the Slaughter-E-1 Lease 27 miles north of Stanton and 2 1/2 miles west of Klondike at 6:35 p.m. Thursday, firemen said. Two units were called at 9:30 p.m., and the final unit was sent around midnight, firemen said.

The blaze, which destroyed 500 barrels of oil, was caused when lightning struck the tank, firemen said.

The lease is owned by Colliers Diamond Oils, Inc., firemen said.

The fire could not be extinguished, although firemen doused it with over 2,000 gallons of water and a large quantity of chemicals.

One unit returned to Midland around midnight, with the rest returning around 2:30 a.m. today, firemen said.

Bulldogs try Wing-T Saturday

By TERRY WILLIAMSON

MARY SAWYER of Midland College, faces Nerrissa Riley of Odessa College at 10 a.m. Saturday at the Midland Racquet Club in the women's singles finals of the National Junior College Tennis Tournament. MC has already won the team championship.

Midland High football fans better not bring their wishbone manuals with them Saturday night to the annual Bill Mims Purple-White scrimmage at Memorial Stadium, unless they want to use the old book for stadium seats.

For all practical purposes, the Bulldogs will be entering a new era under new coach Jerry Hopkins Saturday at 7:30 p.m. It will be the first real chance for the public to view Hopkins' Wing-T attack.

Hopkins has used the Wing-T for 16 seasons, and has never deserted what has been successful for him. "We got away from it a little last year (at Seguin), but we ended up going back to the Wing-T," Hopkins said.

BULLDOG FANS will also see a new scrimmage format, and it should be more interesting for the viewers. The Bulldogs will play under game conditions. The clock will be used with punts and kickoffs dictating the fate of the outcome. For the first time in a long while, fans may feel that they are at a game instead of a scrimmage.

"We have divided the team into two squads, but we didn't necessarily keep the teams equal," Hopkins explained. "We have worked hard on offense all spring, so we kept the first offense together."

Hopkins has been pleased with the play of his offensive line this spring. "It is the strongest part of our game so far," Hopkins said.

Playing on the first team offensive line will be John Newberry, center; Mike Smith and Kevin Murphy, guards; Ricky Goode and David Rooker, tackles; Larry Murphy, tight end; and David Isby, split end.

THE BACKFIELD will be headed by quarterback Kevin Widner while Chris Gaddy will run in the fullback spot. Rusty Maroney, who has been the top fullback this spring, will miss the scrimmage with a knee injury.

Phillip Ward and Brently Jackson will be the halfbacks.

"The offense is definitely ahead of the defense at this time," Hopkins said. "We have worked more on offense. Goode and Maroney are the best bets for two-way starters, but on a whole, the defense is not completely set."

Midland High will use the 5-2 defense which features a five-man front with a noseguard and two linebackers playing over each guard.

"The scrimmage is strictly an evaluation process with us," Hopkins said. "We would like to execute offensively since that is where our time was spent this spring. That's where our emphasis is."

THE BULLDOGS have not worked on the kicking game much, so that could be an important factor in the scrimmage.

Hopkins said that some changes in the format could be made if needed, but the coaches will try to keep the scrimmage under game conditions.

The money from ticket sales will go to help defray expenses for one-time Bulldog footballer Bill Mims, who suffered a paralyzing injury in a pre-season scrimmage in 1953. Mims still lives in Midland.

Jerry Hopkins

Marti takes 2-shot lead at Memphis

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — "I think it's a lot tougher to make a living, year after year, out here than win a golf tournament," said old pro Fred Marti.

"There's a lot of guys who've won tournaments that couldn't make it. They aren't on the tour any more. The tough thing is to keep on making a living."

And Marti, who has precipitated one of the tour's great mysteries, has made a living for 13 long seasons on the pro tour. He's yet to win. And therein lies the mystery.

Ask any veteran and he'll tell you it's a complete mystery how Marti could play as well as he has for as long as he has and not win.

He put himself in line for still another shot at that elusive first victory with a brilliant, seven-under-par 65 in Thursday's first round of the Danny Thomas-Memphis Golf Classic.

It included the best finish of the year: birdie-birdie-eaglebirdie-birdie.

"It kind of surprised me," understated the broadly-grinning, 35-year-old veteran from Baytown, Tex. "I was playing good and I chipped in twice. Anytime anybody's playing that good and then chips in a couple of times, it's gonna be a low score."

M-Cubs drop 5-4 tilt to Drillers

LAFAYETTE, La. — Midland's Cubs won three in a row over the Lafayette Drillers, but when they leave here after tonight's game, the

Arizona State players added to all-stars

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — A trio of first round draft picks is among 20 players who have agreed to play in the Coaches All-America game in Lubbock June 19.

Arizona State Head Coach Frank Kush will run the West team while Navy's George West will coach the East. Each has 10 players so far.

Mike Haynes and Larry Gordon of Arizona State will join their head coach on the West squad. The defensive standouts were picked in the first round of the draft. Haynes by New England and Gordon by Miami.

Detroit's first round draft pick, defensive back James Hunter of Grambling State, will play for the East.

Joining Hunter will be the nation's top punt returner, John Schultz of Maryland.

Other players who have signed so far include:

East—Loaird McCreary, Tennessee State; Dwight Seales, Grambling; Larry Dorsey, Tennessee State; Ron Coder, Penn State, Jim Eldson, Mississippi State; Richard St. Clair, Grambling; Ron McCartney, Tennessee; and Ben Williams, Mississippi.

West—David Hill, Texas A&I; Brad Oates, Brigham Young; David Scott, Kansas; Steve Myer, New Mexico; Bob Horn, Oregon State; John Huddleston, Utah; Randy Moore, Arizona State; and Ken Dowling, Missouri.

Cubs will be mumbling under their breath about the one that got away.

Midland lost 5-4 in 15 innings when, with two out and Tony Pepper on base as a result of a walk, relief pitcher Darrell Turner, Midland's sixth of the night, walked three straight batters.

But that wasn't all. The Cubs led 2-1 in the ninth when Scotty Wolfe delivered his second run scoring single of the night to tie it up and force the game into overtime.

Midland led in the 12th and again in the 13th after Bill Huisman doubled and Scott Thompson singled the run home. However, both times the run got away.

IN TME 13th Pepper singled and scored on a two out error by first baseman Scott Thompson.

Lefty Dave Geisel started on the mound for the Cubs and broke up a no hitter in the sixth inning with a homer. Geisel got into the lineup as a batter when Tony Franklin was forced to leave the game and Bill Huisman moved from DH to second base.

Hamlin captures IC4A decathlon

PHILADELPHIA (AP) —

Maryland's Al Hamlin, taking first place in the javelin and discus events, defended his decathlon title Thursday in the IC4A track and field meet.

The meet's main competition begins Friday at the University of Pennsylvania's Franklin Field.

Hamlin, who amassed 7,204 points, finished well ahead of Dave Morey of Penn, second with 6,908. Hamlin's title gave the pre-meet favorite Terrapins 10 team points.

Midlander helps to win relay

TEXHOMA, Okla.—A relay team composed of high school runners from Midland, Odessa and Big Spring set a new record in the longest relay race in the world here recently in the Okie Relays.

Robert Wilson, Midland; Johnny Witherspoon and Wayne Fewell, Odessa, and Kim Wrinkle, Big Spring, made up the team in the high school division and called themselves the "West Texas Munchkins."

They blazed the 41.2 mile course in three hours, 59 minutes and two seconds, beating the old record by 18 minutes and 23 seconds. The relay started in Elkhart, Kansas, and ended in Texhoma.

Wilson's 10.3 mile leg was run in 56 minutes and 11 seconds, shaving three minutes and 12 seconds off the individual record. Wrinkle's 57:42 also beat the old record.

Yaz slams two more homers as Bosox win game, brawl

By The Associated Press

Jim Acree

Carl Yastrzemski had his hands up, but he did his hitting with a bat and left the punching to others.

After a bench-clearing sixth inning brawl that featured Boston's Carlton Fisk and Bill Lee against New York's Lou Piniella and Graig Nettles, Yastrzemski went to work. He slammed a tie-breaking two-run homer in the eighth inning and another two-run shot in the ninth as the Red Sox walked to an 8-2 victory over the Yankees Thursday night.

Coupled with the three home runs Yaz walloped against Detroit one night earlier, it gave him a major league record-tying five in two games. It was the first such feat in the American League since New York's Tony Luzzeri did it 40 years ago.

According to Yastrzemski, it also woke the Red Sox up.

Elsewhere in the American League, the Kansas City Royals whipped the decision over Lee and the Red Sox left-hander suffering a serious injury to his pitching shoulder that will sideline him indefinitely.

Royals 8, A's 4
Triples by Fred Patek and George Brett keyed a five-run seventh inning as Kansas City whipped Oakland and plucked the A's seven games behind the Royals in the American League West. Not since September 1970 have the A's been so far out of the lead in the division they have dominated for five years.

The A's took a 4-2 lead in the top of the seventh on Don Baylor's second solo home run of the game and Phil Garner's RBI double. The Royals then batted around.

Angels 6, Rangers 3
Andy Etchebarren's two-run double capped a three-run eighth inning that propelled California over Texas. The Rangers had rallied from an early 3-0 deficit to tie the game but Rusty Torres walked and Bobby Bonds singled for the third time to open the eighth before Bruce Bochte singled home Torres.

Texas starter Gaylor Perry was replaced by Steve Foucault, who gave up a sacrifice before issuing an intentional pass to load the bases. Etchebarren's double drove home the final two runs. The victory was the first in six decisions for Ross.

"It was torture, especially since I was pitching well," he said. "My ERA was below 3.00 before my last game, but it seemed like I would always face the other team's hottest pitcher."

"He was 0-5 and he could have been 5-0," said Manager Dick Williams.

White Sox 3, Twins 2
Rich Coggins, Chet Lemon and Jack Brohamer each drove in a run and Rich Gossage scattered seven hits to lead the White Sox over the Twins. Lemon, who also scored a run and stole two bases, put the White Sox ahead to stay when he broke a 1-1 tie in the second inning by singling with two outs after Brian Downing doubled.

Shreveport gains win over Sox

By The Associated Press

Luke Wren hit a three-run homer Thursday night to spark Shreveport to a 6-2 victory over Amarillo in Texas League play.

Amarillo's Don Reynolds used some of the finesse, so to speak, he used to employ in football as he knocked out the catcher on a steal from third Thursday night to give the Giants a brief lead.

Reynolds, who finished second in rushing behind Southern Cal's Anthony Davis in Pacific 8 Conference football competition last year, spilled catcher Rafael Cariel and put him out of the game.

However, Shreveport got the upper hand when Harry Saferight singled, Frank Grundler walked and reliever Vic Bernal, the loser, gave up the homer to Wren. Alberto Luis hit a leadoff homer in the eighth.

In other games, Lafayette beat Midland 5-4 in 15 innings at Lafayette, El Paso and Arkansas split a doubleheader, with Arkansas taking the opener 5-3 and El Paso the nightcap 4-3.

Maroon-White tilt scheduled tonight

The annual Maroon-White spring football game brings to a close the Robert E. Lee Rebels' workouts in Memorial Stadium at 8 p.m. today.

Coach Jim Acree will view the game from the press box while his assistants take over the coaching chores with the two teams divided up evenly.

Proceeds for tonight's game go to the Mario Morales Memorial Scholarship Fund. Adult tickets are $1 and students 50 cents.

The Lee junior varsity will also scrimmage with its game set for 6 p.m.

The drills end 21 practice days in preparation for the 1976 football season which sees the Rebels travel to El Paso, Sept. 10 to face El Paso Austins.

Lee will scrimmage Clovis, N.M., in August at a site to be determined. The New Mexico team replaces Lubbock Coronado which Lee has scrimmaged for the past three years.

Rebel captains were elected Wednesday for the 1976 campaign. They include Brian Crowell, Donald Salinas, David Hobbs and Clyde Gary.

Schembechler resting well after surgery

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Michigan football Coach Bo Schembechler was reported doing "as well as possible" following six hours of open heart surgery Thursday, hospital officials say.

Surgeons at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor completed four coronary bypasses on the 47-year-old Schembechler. The surgery bypasses blocked coronary arteries and increases the supply of blood to the heart.

Attending physicians called the operation "very successful."

Following the surgery, a hospital spokeswoman said Schembechler was "in surgical intensive care and doing as well as possible. The initial post-operative stages are successful."

Doctors say the normal risk period and the period of the most discomfort for such operations are usually the first 72 hours.

Michigan Athletic Director Don Canham, who was at the hospital with Schembechler's wife and mother, said the coach would probably remain hospitalized for 10 or 12 days.

Schembechler had been told recovery period would be approximately six weeks.

ASU rips Cougars in WAC

TEMPE, Ariz. (AP)—Arizona State opened the defense of its Western Athletic Conference baseball title with a 13-4 victory over Brigham Young in the first game of a best-of-three playoff Thursday.

Floyd Bannister, 17-1, earned the victory after allowing two runs on four hits while walking one and striking out 12 in six innings. Rob Millsop, 7-5, suffered the defeat, allowing nine runs on eight hits in four innings.

Millsop doubled in two runs in the first inning to give BYU the lead,

Jets post pulsating win over Aeros, 4-3

HOUSTON (AP)—Winnipeg emerged from an 18-day hibernation Thursday night to beat Houston in the first game of their World Hockey Association (WHA) championship series but the Jets' Anders Hedberg says the game could have gone either way.

"They could have scored the winning goal just as easy as we could," said Hedberg who scored two goals in the Jets' pulsating 4-3 victory over the defending WHA World Cup champions.

"It was a good close hockey game. We just managed to score at the right time," Hedberg meant that the Jets' Bobby Hull scored at the right time.

The Aeros had surged back to tie the game at 3-3 at :46 of the final period and the game appeared headed for overtime when Hull took the puck after a faceoff in the Aeros' end and blasted home the clincher at 16:43.

The victory gives the Jets a 1-0 lead in the best-of-seven series with the second game scheduled here Sunday. Games three and four will be in Winnipeg Tuesday and Thursday.

"I got the faceoff from Ulf (Nilsson) on the right side and I got it off quickly," Hull said of his winning shot. "It wasn't a hard shot but (Aeros goalie Ron) Grahame had trouble with it for some reason."

One more dramatic moment remained in the contest after Hull's game-winning goal. It came at 18:38 left in the game when Houston's Frank Hughes aimed a desperation shot at Winnipeg goalie Joe Jzaley.

Daley deflected the shot and the puck skidded precariously near the goal. The Aeros went into a celebration dance thinking they had tied the game but the goal referee ruled that Daley had retrieved the puck in time.

"I don't know what happened to the puck before I turned around," Daley said. "But when I turned around to get it, the puck was right on the line and not moving. I slapped my glove over it."

Hughes was so angered by the ruling he received a misconduct penalty. Winnipeg, which had been idle 18 days waiting for the Aeros in the World Cup finals, started slowly in the first period.

Houston took a 1-0 lead at 9:37 on Hughes' goal before the Jets suddenly came alive and took a 2-1 lead.

Hedberg got his first goal at 13:18 on a three-on-one break, taking a perfectly timed pass from Hull to tie the score. Lyle Moffat sent Winnipeg ahead 2-1 with his goal at 15:36.

Houston's Mark Howe scored two goals, the first at 19:35 of the first period to tie the score and the second pulling Houston into a 3-3 tie early in the third period after Hedberg's second goal at 16:10.

Kortz sets NAIA mark during 10,000 meters

ARKADELPHIA, Ark. (AP)—Loris College's Chuck Kortz set a meet record Thursday night to win the 10,000-meter run at the NAIA Track and Field Championship.

Kortz's time was 29:46.4, bettering the old record of 30:07.7 set by Dave Antognoli of Edinboro State in 1972.

Tony Brian of Marymount College was second with a time of 29:47.5.

In the only final competition Thursday, Ken Brown of Biola College won the hammer throw competition with a mark of 52.30 meters.

Canadian Fred Somers of Simon Fraser College was second with a throw of 52.16.

Midway through the decathlon, Bruce Kupersmith of Pacific College held a slight lead. The competition will be completed Friday.

Kupersmith had 3,692 points, 35 ahead of Mark Burt of Pacific University of Forest Grove, Ore., after five events were completed Thursday.

Roller skating brings guys, gals together

By CRAIG MACDONALD
Copley News Service

The rock music blares down beneath multicolor lights as a whirlwind of activity takes the breath from a throng of giggling children.

Actually, many of the frolickers in the roller rink scene are not children. Yet, the fun-filled hobby has a way of making all participants feel young.

Even more important, rink skating gives young and old, rich and poor, a feeling of belonging.

"The companionship that skating offers seems to be a major factor in our success," said John Wright, who owns a skating rink.

"It has really turned into a social thing, with men going to meet women and vice versa."

Roller-skating has become so popular that it will be part of the Pan American Games in 1979, and probably the Olympics thereafter, said Wright.

Other special events in rink skating (that alternate with regular floor looping) include: couples only; lady's choice (choose a male skating partner); balloon races (skaters bounce a balloon about the rink); chariot races (one or more persons squats while another pushes); shoot the duck (one squats on a foot and holds the other foot forward and propels himself by hands); hokeypokey (dance); and musical chairs (using cardboard squares).

An important part of the festive atmosphere is created by loud music from speakers about a skating arena. Whereas tempo music used to be dominant, rinks now tend to lean toward rock 'n' roll, soul and hard rock.

The roller skaters change their styles to fit the various fast-or slow-paced music. Although many skaters only visit a rink occasionally, others are serious about their leisure activity.

Regular skaters can often be spotted in a rink by the way they skate and what they wear. The regulars usually have their own skates, skate cases, skirts (if women), boot covers, special wheels, socks and even shoelaces.

They visit the rink from two to seven times a week and many skate competitively.

The regulars frequently do spins, jumps and leaps, in addition to speaking their own jargon. An axle is a forward takeoff leap from one leg, with a one-and-one-half turn in the air, then a backward landing on the opposite foot. A triple rotation jump is three turns in the air from a backward position.

But the main idea is to have fun, at your leisure.

He said the reasons for its popularity include: the price (usually below $2.50); it's easy to learn; whole families can participate at the same time; vigorous exercise (most muscles are used); and it offers a variety of entertainment.

One of the most popular types of entertainment found in rinks is rexing (skating backward).

"Rexing has turned into an epidemic. It is easy to do and, fortunately, people are more careful and don't crash into each other as they occasionally do when skating forward," Wright said.

Stevens joins Nashville TV

By JOE EDWARDS

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Versatile Ray Stevens, winner of a Grammy award this year for his arrangement of "Misty," will become part of Nashville's blossoming television industry in August.

Details are being worked out, but tentative plans call for Stevens to make a 90-minute pilot Aug. 17. It will be a musical variety show which Stevens hopes will evolve into a series.

"Nashville is just on the threshold of a television boom as far as nationally syndicated programs from here are concerned," he said in an interview at his Music Row publishing house.

"From what I hear, there's going to be a lot more television done from here in the near future. Television is going to be the ultimate exposure; it could be either good or bad for me, but I'm optimistic it will be good."

Stevens, whose new single "You Are So Beautiful" is moving steadily up the charts, said he doesn't like reciprocal television arrangements.

"I get tired of seeing the 'you be on my show, I'll be on yours.' It's incestuous."

He doesn't think appearing on television is necessarily more difficult than recording.

"It depends on your mood. It's all hard or fun. What's sad is people doing something they don't want to do."

His reworked version of the Joe Cocker hit "You Are So Beautiful" and arrangement of the standard "Misty" have helped change his image of a comedy singer.

To some casual music fans, he's probably best known for "The Streak," which sold more than four million copies, and other humorous songs like "Ahab the Arab."

Things don't always roll along smoothly when you are learning to roller-skate but it's all a part of the fun.

South Vietnamese now has no place to act

By DAN TEDRICK

SAN DIEGO (AP) — "I am a good actor with no place to act," says Doan Chau Mau.

Somebody on Sunset Boulevard, but the agents don't accept people at all unless they have credits in American movies."

An evacuation ship took them to the Philippines and then to Wake Island, where they spent six weeks before being moved to Ft. Chaffee, Ark. A son working in the San Diego area as an insurance salesman bought his parents a home in suburban Spring Valley with his $2,000 savings and a bank loan.

The 59-year-old war refugee, named best actor in South Vietnam in 1971, fled Saigon a day before it fell last year. He has tried since then to find work in this country.

The negatives of his 18 films made over a 17-year career are behind in his Communist-ruled homeland, along with Doan's home in Saigon and mountain home in the Dalat resort.

But the $320 monthly payments have proved too high, and the house is being sold.

Doan and his wife, Do Thi Dien, may visit a 29-year-old daughter, Doan Thanh Van, who works in the Hollywood Roosevelt Hotel gift shop. Or another daughter, Doan Thanh Tuyen, a 22-year-old violinist and singer who occasionally appears in Los Angeles-area nightclubs.

The producer of "Stone Tears," the Vietnamese movie for which Doan was voted his country's best actor, returned with the negative of that film but told Doan he lacks money to develop a positive print to show agents. Meanwhile, Doan lives unhappily on public welfare.

"Twice I talked to people in Hollywood, girls at desks who told me that I needed an agent," Doan said in an interview Wednesday.

With only a handbag, he accompanied his wife, a son and a grandson to the U.S. Embassy in Saigon. "It was lucky somebody recognized us and waved us in," said Doan.

Liars' clubs fire fibs, heard 'round the world

By CRAIG MACDONALD
Copley News Service

In Austin, Nevada, America, there is a society whose objects are competitive lying. It is under Government patronage, and the member of the Association who tells the best and most unreasonable lie is awarded a gold medal. The awards are made annually by a Commission appointed by the Governor of Boston, and which is in perpetual session at the seat of National Government in New York.

So stated an 1873 story from the German newspaper Karlsruhe Zeitung.

This article was the result of the Sazerac Lying Club of Austin, Nev., which received worldwide recognition for its lies in the 1870s.

Club members met nightly in the Sazerac Saloon in Austin. In fact rather than being known for its spirits, the saloon became a haven for old Forty-Niners and prospectors, who sat around the stove, smoked their pipes, fired tobacco juice at a mark on the stovepipe and swapped lies.

Fred Hart, editor of the Reese River Reveille, dropped in the Sazerac regularly in hopes of learning some worthwhile items to use in his column. But he found the stories so far from the truth that he dared not use them.

One night Hart visited the Sazerac to find a new man, George Washington Fibley, telling the crowd about a pile of silver bars he had seen in one of the Pacific ports.

"His story was an outrageous exaggeration, for all the silver ever produced by the famed bonanzas of the Comstock would not make a pile seven miles long, 40 feet high and 13 feet wide, the dimensions of the stack of silver Fibley was describing."

The next day Hart was short of news and needed a quick filler, so he reverted to the night before for the following gem: "Elected President. The Sazerac Lying Club was organized last night, our esteemed, prominent and respected fellow citizen, Mr. George Washington Fibley, being unanimously chosen president of the organization."

Thus the readers were introduced to an organization which would attain worldwide acclaim in its five years of "open" activity, daily reported in the Reveille.

One of the most outstanding members of the Sazerac Lying Club was "Uncle John" Gibbons, who drove stages between Belmont and Austin. Gibbons gave this excuse for being late to a meeting one time: "While crossing Smoky Valley, a short distance this side of the salt marsh, I observed a heavy bank of dark clouds over the valley."

"As the stage approached nearer to the object, however, I became convinced that the mass was composed of living creatures."

"The team was gittin' kind of scary, but I held 'em level, and, as I kept gittin' nearer, I saw the thing warn't nothin' but a flock of sage hens; so I just threw the silk at the leaders and yelled fire and brimstone to the wheelers, attemptin' to slash the team square through the flock without any trouble."

"But boys, that was more sage hens obstructin' that road than I had reckoned on, and when them leaders struck into them sage hens, they was throwed back on their ha'nches jest as if they had butted clean up agin' a stun wall."

"As far's you could see there warn't nothin' but sage hens; the United States mail was being detained by feathers. I had to wait until the hens decided to fly off."

Using the press as a means of dissemination, the Sazerac yarns eventually wound up in papers around the world.

The Sazerac Lying Club's international reputation flourished until 1877, when it closed its doors to the public (and press) because of what President Fibley termed "the constant invasion of privacy."

The public's image of the club did not change for awhile, thanks to Hart, who published a book, "The Sazerac Lying Club," made up of columns which appeared in the Reveille.

Today there are only a couple of volumes still in existence publicizing the reputation of this granddaddy of lying clubs, the Sazerac.

But there is still hope for those who deal in the cultured art of lying. Today, more than 100 years after the Sazerac club began, there are still two major lying competitions held annually in the United States.

The old Pegleg Liars Contest is held in April at the Pegleg Monument, near Borrego Springs, Calif.

Contestants, who bring 10 rocks to the informal monument honoring desert prospecting, tell lies resembling the century-old Pegleg Smith lost gold myth.

Kansas, 'Gunsmoke' hold good memories for Doc

By DON FREEMAN
Copley News Service

HOLLYWOOD — When Milburn Stone speaks of his native Kansas, his eyes turn gentle and his crusty voice softens and there is affection, deep and profound, as he recites the names on the land, the sounds of the prairie. He talks about such places as Dodge City and Larned and Spearville and Burrton, where he was born 72 years ago.

"Kansas," he says, quietly. "The good things in my life all seem to have bearings on Kansas. Born there, of course, and grew up there. Went into show business there, as half of the team of Stone and Strain, with songs, Terpsichore and snappy patter — we were billed as 'Two Loose Pages From the Book of Harmony.'

"My first play on Broadway was called 'The Jayhawker,' which everyone knows is the nickname for Kansas. Married one, too."

"And for 20 grand years, I was in a television show set in Kansas, about Kansas pioneers, with me playing a Kansas doctor."

Twenty grand years. In that span of time, an on in terms of television longevity, he essayed the role of Doc — above his desk now in his Rancho Santa Fe, Calif., home there hangs a shingle reading: "G. Adams, M.D., Surgery and General Practice." In those words there is summed up, with nostalgic accuracy, at least a part of the essence of those 20 years of "Gunsmoke."

"I miss the show," Milburn admits, pressing an index finger across his chin. "Dammitt, I sure do."

"Don't miss Hollywood since we left there last year but I miss the show and I miss the people. I miss that big ol' stud, Jim Arness, who just happens to be the most unhipocritical man I've ever known. He is exactly what he is. In all those years, we never had a personal quarrel but we'd fight like hell over business, over words in a script."

"And I miss Ken Curtis, ol' Festus, the drylander from Colorado. And I miss Kitty — Amanda Blake, a beautiful, earthy woman. Never forget when we started 'Gunsmoke' and there was Amanda with all us raunchy guys, which had the makings of trouble. But she'd just put Jim in his place — or anybody else."

We are at lunch now in the Inn at Rancho Santa Fe and Milburn is saying that two aspects of the cancellation of "Gunsmoke" still anger up the blood. "First, I'm just sorry that Ken Curtis didn't get a shot at a fat contract. And I'm sorry that the show was slipping. We had a couple of outright stinkers toward the end. I wanted the show to go on but only with assurances we'd have more integrity."

He shakes his head slowly. "But that never happened," he says. "Now it's all memories."

In background and special feeling for the territory, Milburn Stone was closer than anyone in the cast to the "Gunsmoke" locale of frontier Dodge City. He remembers, as a kid of 6 in Burrton, which is about 60 miles out of Dodge, the night that Halley's Comet appeared, a searing slash lingering in the vast Kansas sky.

"My grandfather — my mother's father — said to me that night, 'I'll never see that again. But if you're a good boy, you will.'"

Sales returning to TV

By JAY SHARBUTT

NEW YORK (AP) — I've always been a fan of Soupy Sales. His old nighttime TV shows always struck me as a nifty blend of Marx Brothers, Brother Dave "Rejoice, Dear Hearts" Gardner, Ernie Kovacs and flying cream pies.

So it was good news to hear that after too many years spent battling about on game shows and appearing on others' variety shows, Soupy will be back in September headlining his own show for ABC.

No matter that it's a Saturday morning kid show called "JVR. Almost Anything Goes," a pee-wee version of a flop nighttime series that featured citizens participating in outlandish sports contests. Weird things always happen when Sales runs a show. In fact, weird things were happening this week when he was theoretically being interviewed about the new show at a chow hall theatrical folks favor.

Nearby diners appeared to be looking for the man with Sales spoke of a new movie he plans to film at his apartment building, where garbage is piling up because of a strike by Fun City's apartment workers.

"It's going to be a musical sequel to 'Ben,'" he said, his voice rising with the thrill of the project. "Right now, we're looking for a rat who can sing."

Sales, a North Carolina boy raised in Huntington,

W. Va., hit it big on television in Detroit in 1953. But greater fame came in later years when celebrities started appearing on his shows — Frank Sinatra, among them — for the sole purpose of getting hit in the puss by a pie.

Pie-throwing and receiving is a Sales legend. For historians of the art, he was asked about the first time a pie flew on one of his shows.

Soupy said it happened in Cleveland, in 1950, at WEXL-TV, where he did live show with a wee budget. The studio was in the country. It was there he happened to meet a farmer with a horse.

"He said, 'Whah doan yew use mah horse on your show?' " Soupy recalled. "I says, 'Okay,' and the director says, 'What are you going to do with a horse?'"

"I say, 'Get me a loin cloth and a feather and a sign that says 'Son of Cochise,' because in those days 'Broken Arrow' with Jeff Chandler and Michael Ansara was a very big movie."

"So we set the camera up, we put the farmer in a U.S. cavalry uniform, and me and my loin cloth and feather come galloping over the hill on his horse, me hanging on for dear life. I got to where he was standing and I fell off."

"Then I said, 'White man come take away Indian country, take away buffalo, take away squaw, take away happy hunting ground. What is left for Indian?' And the
