Guests were Faye Hoffer, Laura Lemon, Maurine Adams, Freida Spencer and Betty Stout.

Leaders honored

Girl Scout leaders of Midland met at the Little House for a luncheon honoring all leaders, neighborhood chairmen and friends of Girl Scouting in the Tall City.

There are 72 active troops in Midland, with more than 1,300 girls involved in the Girl Scout program. The important role of the leader was recognized by Mrs. Ken Steward, community coordinator.

Special recognition was given to women who have helped with some of the many citywide programs and events during the past year, to Mrs. Steward and to neighborhood chairmen for their administrative help. The chairmen are Mrs. Tom Scott, Jupiter; Mrs. Vincent Ochoa, Cygnus; Mrs. John Josefy, Pleiades; Mrs. Ray Bailey, Great Bear; Mrs. Tommy McLaughlin, Orion; Mrs. Benton Howell, Taurus, and Mrs. Robert Southerland, Leo. They were recipients of miniature replicas of the Liberty Bell, as were Mrs. Larry McIntosh, service coordinator; Mrs. Bill Gallagher, public relations, and Mrs. Gary Gilliland, secretary.

In addition, Mrs. Steward gave special thanks to Mrs. Josefy and Mrs. Tom Wurster, who directed the Midland Day Camp in 1975; Mrs. Ernest Angello, 1976 cookie chairman; Mrs. Bailey, who directed the 1976 Spring Fair; Mrs. Anthony Lasuzzo for her help with cooking classes at Pioneer Natural Gas Co., and Ray Bailey for assisting with the Spring Fair.

Lee High School Origins performed several musical selections. Mrs. Pat Turner, field executive director, was presented a bouquet of yellow roses by the executive committee and neighborhood chairmen in appreciation of her work with Midland Girl Scouts.

Sewing interest

Clever ribbons, braids, appliques and iron-on embroideries that feature novel designs such as animals, cartoons or graphics lend interest to sewing for children. Large buttons, buckles and zipper ring tabs assist young children when learning to dress and undress themselves.

Special highlight of the luncheon was the presentation of the Thanks badge to Mrs. Benton Howell, right, by Mrs. R. M. Carroll Jr. The award was given for Mrs. Howell's years of service as a Girl Scout leader and neighborhood chairman. She has been a registered leader for 18 years, and has served as cookie chairman and a day camp staff member.

Cookout reported

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Connor were host couple to a "Steak and Trimmings" cookout for Beta Eta Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha.

Social committee members served as co-hostesses. Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Dan Cotten, Mr. and Mrs. Wil Kluehn, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Grant, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Campanella, Mrs. S. L. Davis, Mrs. Marshall Blount and Mrs. Frank Felts.

Senior feted

Mrs. E. C. Caffey and Mrs. Coke Tilley hosted a graduation party honoring Judy Masdon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Masdon, in Luigi's, Miss Masdon, a Lee High School senior, plans to attend Texas A&M University.

Luncheon held

The Oldtimers Bridge Club met for bridge games and a luncheon in the Elks Club. Winners were Mrs. Errol Parr, first; Mrs. Lewis McGuire, second, in bridge. The game winner was Mrs. Morris Hulsey. Mrs. J. E. Lowe conducted a short business session.

DEAR ABBY No more emotion than back of hand

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN simultaneous. DEAR ABBY: I must take exception to your statement: "The mouth is an erogenous zone, reserved for one's lover—or for mouth-to-mouth resuscitation." The mouth is an erogenous zone ONLY if one wants it to be. Otherwise it has no more emotion than the back of your hand. My family is not what might be called a family of kissers. However, I've kissed my sisters, father, mother and even my daughters on the mouth, and none of us ever regarded it as anything other than a warm greeting, which was the way it was intended.

I trust that you will give this further thought and agree with my view.—KISSIN' PHIL. DEAR PHIL: A kiss is just a kiss, unless it is otherwise intended. But the erogenous zone is a dangerous place to decide which is which. DEAR ABBY: My father says that I have to ask you what you think the punishment should be for the crime I committed. I stole some money from my parents. So whatever you say, I will have to do. I am 12 years old.—GUILTY IN CLIFTON, N.J.

DEAR GUILTY: Pay back the money out of your allowance or work for it. Ask the Lord's forgiveness and write, "I will not steal" 100 times. And vow NEVER to steal again. DEAR ABBY: We recently announced that our daughter is being married at a large church wedding on June 26th. A friendly neighbor phoned and asked at what time our wedding was scheduled. I told her 2 p.m. Then she told me that HER daughter was being married the same day at 5 p.m. and asked if she could use our flowers. I didn't know what else to say, so I said yes.

New directory distributed here

A new, updated Directory of Community Services was distributed recently to Midland churches, schools, professional and governmental officials and the agencies and organizations listed in the directory. The directory, formerly published and distributed by the Junior League of Midland, Inc., in the fall, will now be distributed each May, so that officers of the various organizations listed will be more current. The directory is to provide a needed reference for service, social, health and welfare organizations in Midland. Listed are all agencies, organizations and clubs offering community services. Names, telephone numbers and addresses of responsible personnel in each organization, as well as a cross index of types of services offered are included. State and governmental offices also are listed. chairman, was responsible for compiling and distributing this year's directory. She was assisted by Mrs. Donald G. Hewett. Self-styled mistress accuses Hays

By MARION CLARK and RUDY MAXA The Washington Post

WASHINGTON — For nearly two years, Rep. Wayne L. Hays, (D-Ohio), powerful chairman of the House Administration Committee, has kept a woman on his staff who says she is paid $14,000 a year in public money to serve as his mistress.

Hays denies this, saying, "Hell's fire! I'm a very happily married man."

"I can't type, I can't file, I can't even answer the phone," says Elizabeth Ray, 27, who began working for Hays in April 1974, as a clerk. Since then, Ray says she has not been asked to do any Congress-related work and appears at her Capitol Hill office once or twice a week for a few hours.

Currently, she is closeted in a luxuriously appointed office in the Longworth House Office Building behind a blank door. "Supposedly," she says, "I'm on the Oversight Committee. But I call it the out-of-sight committee."

According to Ray, the 64-year-old congressman usually has visited her bedroom for sexual relations once or twice a week in their long-standing relationship.

Hays divorced his first wife of over

25 years last year. Five weeks ago, he married his veteran Ohio office secretary, Pat Peak, who continues to live in Ohio.

As chairman of the House Administration Committee, Hays quietly exercises enormous power over such Hill activities as congressional travel, payroll, staffing, parking and police. He also serves on the House International Relations Committee.

Last year Hays, who was first elected to Congress in 1948, survived a challenge from House freshmen to replace him as committee chairman.

Hays is running as a favorite-son candidate for president in the June 8 Ohio primary, and close associates say he is considering running for governor of Ohio in 1978.

Ray, a native of Asheville, N.C., says she worked briefly as a stewardess, waitress and car rental clerk before beginning work on the Hill in the summer of 1972.

During a year and a half working as a clerk on the staff of former Rep. Kenneth J. Gray, (D-Ill.), Ray says she was frequently given days off to prepare for evenings spent on a date with Gray or favored constituents. She says she often entertained Gray's male friends aboard Gray's houseboat, docked on the Potomac.

Gray, reached by phone, laughed when Ray's name was mentioned.

"Elizabeth Ray," he said, "that name always invokes a laugh."

He denied dating her, and said, "I never knew what my employees did after work. Liz was great at greeting people ... I think she did a little typing."

He said he thought Ray had been on his houseboat, "maybe two times for big office parties."

Ray says it was Gray who introduced her to Hays; Hays says he can't remember which congressman it was.

During the first year she worked for Hays, Ray was listed with the House Clerk's office as an assistant clerk earning more than $11,000 a year. Last spring she quit and traveled to Hollywood to try to earn her living as an actress ("I'd been giving Academy Award performances once a week for two years," she said). She returned to Hays' office to ask for a job in late July 1975.

Hays arranged to place her on the payroll of Rep. Mendel J. Davis, (D-

S.C.), Aug. 1, 1975.

Davis says he remembers Ray working for him for about a month last summer as a general typist.

And soon went to work for Hays "because she wanted to go over there. She knew more people over there."

Hays, who says he thinks "she's still working on Mendel's staff," said "I did help her get a job with him."

LONDON — The U.S. Congressional Magna Carta delegation has been greeted by headlines in the British press on the allegations that Congressman Wayne Hays, who was supposed to be one of their number, was keeping a mistress

The Daily Express carried a three-column picture of the woman, Elizabeth Ray, on the front page with the headline "Blonde and the Magna Carta Man." The Sun also front-paged the story with a picture and the headline "A Mistress on the U.S."

Payroll." In the Daily Mirror, there was also a large picture of the secretary who said she couldn't type. A man from The Times commented: "We wouldn't use a scurrilous story like that without very firm proof."

Rep. Hays (D-Ohio) did not travel with the group which was greeted at Heathrow Airport by the Speaker of the House of Commons George Thomas and the Lord Chancellor Lord Elwyn-Jones. Sunday night a spokesman from the American embassy said: "House Speaker Carl Albert told me he had known for over a week that Congressman Hays would not be traveling with the rest of the group Sunday."

Hays had said he was committed to a meeting in his district of Ohio, being attended Saturday by Sen. Hubert Humphrey and that he could not get to Washington in time. Hays had said he would make his own way to London for the celebrations which begin Monday with a visit to Oxford and the grave of Sir Winston Churchill at the nearby village of Bladon.

Congressman cancels Magna Carta junket

WASHINGTON (AP) —

Rep. Wayne L. Hays canceled a planned trip to England to receive the Magna Carta as moves got under way for a possible congressional investigation into accusations that he kept a mistress on the House payroll.

The accusation against Hays, 64, chairman of the House Administration Committee, was made by the woman who claimed she had been his mistress, Elizabeth Ray, 27. "The woman is a former mental patient," Hays said Sunday during a speech at a Memorial Day observance in Hanoverton, Ohio. "I deny vehemently any of the charges."

A congressional delegation which was to have included Hays flew to England without him Sunday to receive a loaned copy of the Magna Carta, the original charter of English liberties, for the U.S. Bicentennial.

Hays said he was remaining in Washington to discuss with his attorneys the possibility of a lawsuit in connection with the allegations. Miss Ray said she was paid $14,000 a year in House funds to serve as Hays' mistress. After Miss Ray's accusations, Hays said he was going to fire her from her post on a subcommittee staff.

Rep. Frank Thompson

Jr., DN.J., chairman of the accounts subcommittee of Hays' own House Administration Committee, said he would call his panel together to consider an investigation of Hays' and Miss Ray's relationship.

Thompson said he will convene the subcommittee as soon as possible after he returns from a European trip in mid-June. The panel may seek testimony from Hays, who routinely submits the committee's budget from which Miss Ray was paid, Thompson added.

Hays called Miss Ray "a very sick woman" and added: "I'm sorry I felt sorry for her." Hays added that Miss Ray had been seeing a psychiatrist and "I have spoken with him about Miss Ray."

MERIT!

'Enriched Flavor' process prompts unprecedented response to taste of new low tar MERIT.

Smokers are talking about a new kind of cigarette.

It's MERIT. The remarkable new low tar cigarette made with the 'Enriched Flavor' process.

MERIT has only 9 mg. tar. One of the lowest tar levels in smoking today. Yet, taste tests proved that MERIT delivers as much—or more—flavor than cigarettes having up to 60% more tar.

If you smoke, you'll be interested in what people like yourself are writing to us about MERIT.

"Finally.... Bingo! You people have hit on the jackpot. Your new "Merit" is really great!"

Ford bids for backing by delegates from New York

By RUSS PULLIAM

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — President Ford was expected to get a boost today in his campaign against challenger Ronald Reagan as leaders of New York's Republican organization met to decide whether to swing the uncommitted state delegation behind the President.

State Republican Chairman Richard Rosenbaum, who called the meeting of the state's delegation to the August GOP convention in Kansas City, said he would ask the 154 delegates to back Ford.

Vice President Nelson Rockefeller, who appointed Rosenbaum and still exerts major influence on the state's Republican politics, was one of the delegates scheduled to attend the meeting.

Ford was in California today, campaigning for that state's June 8 primary.

GOP leaders said they expected at least 100 of the New York delegates, and perhaps as many as 130, to follow Rosenbaum's lead. Rosenbaum predicted Sunday that "in excess of 100" delegates would do so.

When first disclosed last week, the impending New York move was expected to push Ford to a healthy lead over Reagan in the nationwide delegate count.

But Ford pulled ahead over the weekend without New York's help, picking up 55 delegates in state conventions to 14 for Reagan and getting the backing of 88 previously uncommitted Pennsylvania delegates. That gave Ford a 578-540 lead in committed delegates.

Ford could be trailing again by Wednesday without the swing by New York delegates, Rosenbaum said Sunday. Idaho, Oregon, Nevada, Tennessee, Kentucky and Arkansas hold primaries Tuesday, and Reagan is favored to pick up many of the 176 delegates at stake in those six states.

Backers of both Ford and Reagan predicted Sunday that the challenger probably will win four of the six primaries.

Sen. John Tower of Texas, a Ford supporter, said the President "will do well to win two of them." He said he feels Ford is safe in Oregon and has a chance in Tennessee, Idaho and Nevada.

Sen. Paul Laxalt of Nevada, the chairman of Citizens for Reagan, said Ford is pushing Reagan only in Oregon and Tennessee.

There were 113 Democratic delegates selected in various state caucuses on Saturday. Forty-one were uncommitted, but frontrunner Jimmy Carter picked up 27, giving him 741 delegates, almost half the 1,505 needed for the nomination.

Carter claims he will get more than 100 of the 191 Democratic delegates to be picked in Tuesday's primaries.

Before leaving Oregon Sunday evening to fight what is considered by both sides to be an uphill race in California, the President told reporters in Pendleton, "We had a good day yesterday. The momentum has turned our way and we hope to keep the bandwagon rolling toward a first ballot victory in Kansas City."

Reagan, in Eugene, Ore., Sunday, said he was not concerned about the shift in delegates in Pennsylvania. "Those are delegates we had always counted as in his corner. We'd never counted on them," he said.

In an interview in U.S. News & World Report, meanwhile, Reagan proposed a program to rebuild the Panama Canal, boosting the local economy by a billion dollars. Reagan has made retaining the canal a campaign issue.

Reagan said in the interview he would continue to insist that any negotiations aimed at giving up U.S. sovereignty over the canal be halted.

He did not provide details of the program, nor did he discuss financing.

Reagan got an unfriendly greeting at Oregon State University Sunday, and one heckler there forced him to spend several minutes explaining his position on the canal.

In other weekend developments: —Sen. Edward M. Kennedy said in an interview in the Boston Sunday Globe he thinks Carter should be the Democratic nominee if he is within 150 of the number of votes needed for nomination going to the national convention.

Kennedy told Time Magazine, meanwhile, that he has no intention of seeking the presidency at this time. "Of course, I'd like to be president, but it's just not going to happen in this period of my life," he said.

Declarer took the ace of diamonds and naturally tried a finesse with the queen of spades. West took the king of spades and returned the queen of diamonds, forcing South to ruff.

When declarer began to run his trumps, East's first discard was the ace of clubs, signalling control of the suit and also saving a small club for emergencies.

On the fourth trump West discarded the six of spades, and East threw the king of clubs. The next trump was decisive. West threw a diamond, and East knew the whole story: West had no more spades to throw.

SAVES SPADES

Clearly, South had started with four spades and only one club. East therefore threw the queen of clubs. It would be fatal to discard a spade while South still had a trump with which to regain the lead.

When South led his last trump East discarded a spade. Now if South led a club East could take the jack of clubs and get out with the low club, allowing West to take the rest of the tricks. If East had failed to save the low club, he would get two club tricks at the end but would then have to lead spades to give South two spade tricks.

DAILY QUESTION

As dealer, you hold: SJ987 HQ9 D106 SAKQJ3. What do you say?

ANSWER: Pass or bid one club, according to your temperament. This is a doubtful opening bid. If your side queen and jack were both in spades, it would be a reasonable opening bid. The Q-9 of hearts is a questionable value.

FDA orders second study on favoritism

WASHINGTON (AH) — A special government panel is sharply critical of Food and Drug Administration Commissioner Alexander M. Schmidt's probe of charges that the FDA harassed staff scientists who opposed approval of new drugs.

The panel, in a 524-page study issued Sunday, called for a new, $100,000 investigation of the charges, which were made nearly two years ago and which the government has already spent over $336,000 to probe.

Six of the panel's seven members charged that Schmidt's 906-page report left unresolved "a significant number of important allegations." They criticized Schmidt for internally investigating the charges, which 11 FDA scientists and three outside consultants made at a Senate health subcommittee hearing in 1974.

The 14 charged that the FDA officials always accepted staff recommendations to approve new drugs, but harassed and transferred staff members who recommended disapproval.

Schmidt, in his report, said he "found no industry domination of the Bureau of Drugs, or industry protection by the bureau or agency."

The special panel appointed by the secretary of health, education and welfare noted that the alleged incidents took place before Schmidt became commissioner in July 1973. It also said Schmidt has improved FDA's procedures for licensing new drugs.

But the majority said, "For the public to retain confidence in the integrity of its governmental institutions, important allegations of agency impropriety and mismanagement require fair and prompt resolution."

"The panel has concluded that many such allegations respecting the performance of the FDA were not answered satisfactorily by the commissioner's report, and consequently must be considered open questions."

The panel's chairman, Dr. Thomas C. Chalmers, wrote a sharp dissent to the majority report. Chalmers, dean of the Mount Sinai School of Medicine in New York City, argued against a third investigation and accused the majority of taking a prosecutorial approach to Schmidt's reports and exaggerating its flaws.

Schmidt, in a statement Sunday, said his report was "intended to assist the panel's investigation. Instead, it became the entire focus."

"The panel has not spoken to the larger issues; it offers no comment on today's FDA and offers no positive suggestions on how the agency can do an even better job."

Here's a chance to have your say

By LOUISE COOK

Associated Press Writer

Now is the time to get your two cents' worth in on proposed government rules and regulations affecting everything from airport safety to antacid side effects.

Federal agencies are seeking comments from consumers. If you have an idea, a complaint or some information to add, you can let the government know by following a few simple steps.

Here are some proposed regulations and directions on how to make your views heard:

ANTACIDS

The Federal Trade Commission has proposed that advertisements for over-the-counter or nonprescription antacids carry the same types of warnings now required on the labels of the products. The warnings generally deal with possible side-effects or suggest asking a doctor's advice about use.

The FTC says many consumers don't read the labels and instead rely on advertising for information about antacids. Among the questions the commission is asking are: Would warnings in advertisements affect the ability of manufacturers to communicate the therapeutic effects of the product? What sort of warnings would be appropriate?

June 11 is the deadline for comments which should be sent to Special Assistant Director for Rulemaking, Federal Trade Commission, Washington, D.C., 20580. Identify the comment this way: "Proposal Identifying Issues of Fact — Antacid Rulemaking."

AIRPORTS

The Federal Aviation Administration has proposed requiring major airports to have a detailed manual plan for coping with accidents and other emergencies. The plan would have to spell out facilities and personnel needed to accommodate the maximum number of people who might be on board the largest aircraft authorized to serve the airport.

Among items that would have to be included are: name, location and emergency capability of participating hospitals and other medical facilities; designated areas for sheltering passengers and crew members; the number of surface vehicles and aircraft to be provided by cooperating agencies.

Present rules require airports to provide medical services in emergency plans, but do not describe specifics.

June 11 is the deadline for comments which should be sent to Federal Aviation Administration, Office of General Counsel, Rules Docket, AGC-24, 800 Independence Ave. S.W., Washington, D.C., 20591.

FOOD ADS

The Federal Trade Commission is holding hearings around the country on the first phase of proposals to set standards for nutritional claims in foods ads. (Nutritional claims on food labels already are regulated by the Food and Drug Administration; the FTC plan deals with advertising only.)

The hearings will deal with voluntary claims on natural and organic food; energy and calories; fat, fatty acid and cholesterol content; and health or related claims. Among the things the FTC is trying to learn is whether consumers understand terms such as "organically grown" and "health food."

Here is the hearing schedule: San Francisco, July 12, Room 12138, Federal Bldg., 450 Golden Gate Ave. Contact: Kermer G. Probert at the federal building address, San Francisco, Calif., 94102, by June 22. Telephone: 415-556-1270.

Dallas, Oct. 12, Room 452-B, 500 S. Ervay St. Contact: Rosanna Nardizzi at the hearing address, by Sept. 21. Telephone: 214-749-3176

MATCHBOOKS

The Consumer Product Safety Commission has proposed mandatory safety standards for matchbooks. The standards, which would not apply to wooden matches packaged in boxes or to "strike anywhere" wooden kitchen matches, would require that the striking surface be located on the outside back of the matchbook and would set certain performance standards.

June 1 is the deadline for comments which should be sent to the Consumer Product Safety Commission, Washington, D.C., 20207. A public hearing will be held May 21 in the Sixth Floor Hearing Room, 1750 K St., N.W., Washington.

A tempting offer on a gas grill.

Right now, we're making you a tempting offer on gas grills with twin burners! Independently controlled twin burners never use more gas than you need. For big meals, use both burners. For smaller meals, save gas and money by using one burner and half the grill. A gas grill adds a new dimension to family meals and entertaining. It eliminates the fuss and bother of cooking outside while it keeps the flavor and the fun. And, because you take cooking heat out of the house and the burden off your air conditioning, you save energy, too.

Buy one of these grills before August 1, 1976, and save.

Bridge destroyed

DRYDEN, Tex. (AP) — Hundreds of men and dozens of earth-moving machines swarmed over a destroyed train trestle worked around the clock Sunday to repair a bridge destroyed when a Southern Pacific freight train derailed near here Friday night.

W. E. Corbett, superintendent of Southern Pacific's San Antonio Division, said that contractors and Southern Pacific crews worked 24-hour shifts through the weekend to repair the damage on the 80-year-old line.

Workers were completing a spur around the ruined bridge, in order to detour rail traffic.

Total replacement of the bridge—which was built in 1903—will take about a week, he said.

Texas Ranger Robert Ray said positive identification of a man killed in the derailment of the seven freight cars has not yet been made.

The accident occurred, Corbett said, when a load of large pipe on a flat car shifted as the train was crossing the 200-foot bridge, causing the structure to collapse.

GRAMMER-MURPHEY

Hudsons: multimedia misfits

By MARY CAMPBELL
AP Newsfeatures

The Hudson Brothers sound a little frustrated. Radio station programmers don't play them, they recount, because they think they're TV comedy personalities. And TV treats them like nutty rock 'n' rollers.

On TV, they had a summer variety series, filling in for Sonny and Cher, in 1974. They turned down something similar this year, saying they accepted that one as a stepping stone and for exposure. "At that point you can't be choosy," Brett Hudson says. But they had no control over writing the show or its presentation. They did what they were told — alike — and they don't want to do another TV series unless they have some control.

They also did "The Hudson Brothers Razzle Dazzle Comedy Show" on Saturday mornings. That one was aimed by its makers at children but got a sizable cult audience in American colleges.

In recordings, they started with Scepter in 1965, put out some singles, got their money ripped off, they say, by a manager, were so discouraged they backed out of music for a time. Anyway, only Bill, now 26, was out of high school. Bill has the air of group leader, the faintly world-weary older brother. Mark, who wears a beard, is 24, and Brett, 23.

They were signed to Decca in 1968, MGM in 1970, with nothing released. Playboy put out an album and a single in 1971; Rocket put out "Totally out of Control" in 1973; Casablanca "Hollywood Situation" in 1974 and Rocket "The Hudson Brothers ... Ba Fa" in 1975. Rocket will put out another album in June.

Concerts, they say, get good audience response but last summer they charged off in another direction and acted in "The Wizard of Oz" at the outdoor Municipal Opera in St. Louis, playing the cowardly lion, the tin man and the scarecrow.

"We could have made $15,000 to $20,000 a night in fair dates and concerts," Bill says. "For 'Oz' we made $12,500 a week. But we had never done professional theater."

This summer they'll act in "On The Town" in St. Louis and at the Starlight Theater in Kansas City and maybe the show will play in Chicago. By next summer, they're hoping Anthony Newley and Leslie Bricusse will have done a musical adaptation of "The Three Musketeers" for them.

They're also making a short comedy film, about early American days, inspired by the Bicentennial. And they've played in Las Vegas on a bill with Olivia Newton-John.

All that versatility just isn't accepted, Bill says. People want a pigeonhole in which to place a performer. They don't want comedians to make noncomedy rock 'n' roll records. One minute the Hudson Brothers sound like they'll bow to that and maybe just concentrate on recording, then the next minute they're saying things like they know they can do it all and they're determined to do it all and end up in fulllength films.

They aren't standup comics, aren't given to one-liners, aren't improvisers and aren't interested in splitting up and having solo careers, Bill says. Their forte, he says, is being characters in situations.

On the Saturday morning show, they created the character of Chuckie Margolies. Bill says, "It's about a kid in a basement. He never sees anything but ankles. He lies; he's a bully. He has a friend who's meek and mild, who Mark plays. I interview them. A lot of our comedy is drawn from when we were kids in Portland, Ore. But if anybody was a bully and liar it was me."

Mark says, "My character is a scapegoat, the guy they push out of a tree. He comes back because he loves them so much."

In concerts there is a fivepiece band behind them and Bill plays guitar, Mark piano and drums and Brett bass. Bill says, "We play our instruments on our albums. The next will be the first with the band also."

They also still are working out their identities as individual comics in a team, a la Marx Brothers. Bill says, "Brett gets the brunt of everything. If dominoes are falling, Mark and I are barely missed. The dominoes fall on him. He is like Hope in Hope and Crosby. I'm the straight man and set everything up. Mark can go either way."

Brett says, "Yes, Mark is always in the way — in the middle."

Mark gives his version. "We're still trying to work on me. I have the My brothers When we ance in the tstep."

Bridgitte scares burglar

ST. TROPEZ, France (AP)—An angry Brigitte Bardot intimidated a burglar into returning stolen property as he fled from her walled villa outside this Riviera resort last week, police reported Saturday.

The film star surprised the young man Thursday as he was climbing a roof to escape with a purse containing money and jewelry he found in the garden.

Police said Miss Bardot's "resolute attitude" forced the man to return the purse before he fled. Miss Bardot alerted police but the man has not been found.

ace of clubs, signalling control of the suit and also saving a small club for emergencies.

On the fourth trump West discarded the six of spades, and East threw the king of clubs. The next trump was decisive. West threw a diamond, and East knew the whole story: West had no more spades to throw.

SAVES SPADES
Clearly, South had started with four spades and only one club. East therefore threw the queen of clubs. It would be fatal to discard a spade while South still had a trump with which to regain the lead.

When South led his last trump East discarded a spade. Now if South led a club East could take the jack of clubs and get out with the low club, allowing West to take the rest of the tricks. If East had failed to save the low club, he would get two club tricks at the end but would then have to lead spades to give South two spade tricks.

DAILY QUESTION
As dealer, you hold: S J987 H Q9 D 106 SAKQJ3. What do you say?

ANSWER: Pass or bid one club, according to your temperament. This is a doubtful opening bid. If your side queen and jack were both in spades, it would be a reasonable opening bid. The Q-9 of hearts is a questionable value.

FDA orders second study on favoritism

WASHINGTON (AP) — A special government panel is sharply critical of Food and Drug Administration Commissioner Alexander M. Schmidt's probe of charges that the FDA harassed staff scientists who opposed approval of new drugs.

The panel, in a 524-page study issued Sunday, called for a new, $100,000 investigation of the charges, which were made nearly two years ago and which the government has already spent over $336,000 to probe.

Six of the panel's seven members charged that Schmidt's 906-page report left unresolved "a significant number of important allegations." They criticized Schmidt for internally investigating the charges, which 11 FDA scientists and three outside consultants made at a Senate health subcommittee hearing in 1974.

The 14 charged that the FDA officials always accepted staff recommendations to approve new drugs, but harassed and transferred staff members who recommended disapproval.

Schmidt, in his report, said he "found no industry domination of the Bureau of Drugs, or industry protection by the bureau or agency."

The special panel appointed by the secretary of health, education and welfare noted that the alleged incidents took place before Schmidt became commissioner in July 1973. It also said Schmidt has improved FDA's procedures for licensing new drugs.

But the majority said, "For the public to retain confidence in the integrity of its governmental institutions, important allegations of agency impropriety and mismanagement require fair and prompt resolution."

"The panel has concluded that many such allegations respecting the performance of the FDA were not answered satisfactorily by the commissioner's report, and consequently must be considered open questions."

The panel's chairman, Dr. Thomas C. Chalmers, wrote a sharp dissent to the majority report. Chalmers, dean of the Mount Sinai School of Medicine in New York City, argued against a third investigation and accused the majority of taking a prosecutorial approach to Schmidt's reports and exaggerating its flaws.

Schmidt, in a statement Sunday, said his report was "intended to assist the panel's investigation. Instead, it became the entire focus."

"The panel has not spoken to the larger issues; it offers no comment on today's FDA and offers no positive suggestions on how the agency can do an even better job."

Here's a chance to have your say

Now is the time to get your two cents' worth in on proposed government rules and regulations affecting everything from airport safety to antacid side effects.

Federal agencies are seeking comments from consumers. If you have an idea, a complaint or some information to add, you can let the government know by following a few simple steps.

Here are some proposed regulations and directions on how to make your views heard:

ANTACIDS

The Federal Trade Commission has proposed that advertisements for over-the-counter or nonprescription antacids carry the same types of warnings now required on the labels of the products. The warnings generally deal with possible side-effects or suggest asking a doctor's advice about use.

The FTC says many consumers don't read the labels and instead rely on advertising for information about antacids. Among the questions the commission is asking are: Would warnings in advertisements affect the ability of manufacturers to communicate the therapeutic effects of the product? What sort of warnings would be appropriate?

June 11 is the deadline for comments which should be sent to Special Assistant Director for Rulemaking, Federal Trade Commission, Washington, D.C., 20580. Identify the comment this way: "Proposal Identifying Issues of Fact — Antacid Rulemaking."

AIRPORTS

The Federal Aviation Administration has proposed requiring major airports to have a detailed medical plan for coping with accidents and other emergencies. The plan would have to spell out facilities and personnel needed to accommodate the maximum number of people who might be on board the largest aircraft authorized to serve the airport.

Among items that would have to be included are: name, location and emergency capability of participating hospitals and other medical facilities; designated areas for sheltering passengers and crew members; the number of surface vehicles and aircraft to be provided by cooperating agencies.

Present rules require airports to provide medical services in emergency plans, but do not describe specifics.

June 1 is the deadline for comments which should be sent to Federal Aviation Administration, Office of General Counsel, Rules Docket, AGC-24, 800 Independence Ave. S.W., Washington, D.C., 20591.

FOOD ADS

The Federal Trade Commission is holding hearings around the country on the first phase of proposals to set standards for nutritional claims in foods ads. (Nutritional claims on food labels already are regulated by the Food and Drug Administration; the FTC plan deals with advertising only.)

The hearings will deal with voluntary claims on natural and organic food; energy and calories; fat, fatty acid and cholesterol content; and health or related claims. Among the things the FTC is trying to learn is whether consumers understand terms such as "organically grown" and "health food."

Here is the hearing schedule:

Bridge destroyed

DRYDEN, Tex. (AP) — Hundreds of men and dozens of earth-moving machines swarmed over a destroyed train trestle worked around the clock Sunday to repair a bridge destroyed when a Southern Pacific freight train derailed near here Friday night.

W. E. Corb superintendent Southern Pacific's Antonio Division, that contractors Southern Pacific worked 24-hour through the weeks repair the damage 80-year-old line.

Workers were plying a spur around ruined bridge, in or detour rail traffic.

Total replacement of the bridge—which built in 1903—which about a week, he said. Texas Ranger J Ray said positive identification of a man in the derailment seven freight cars) yet been made. The accident occurred Corbett said, when of large pipe on a shifted as the train crossing the 21 bridge, causing structure to collapse.

MATCHBOOKS

The Consumer Product Safety Commission has proposed mandatory safety standards for matchbooks. The standards, which would not apply to wooden matches packaged in boxes or to "strike anywhere" wooden kitchen matches, would require that the striking surface be located on the outside back of the matchbook and would set certain performance standards.

June 1 is the deadline for comments which should be sent to the Consumer Product Safety Commission, Washington, D.C., 20207, by public hearing will be held May 21 in the Sixth Floor Hearing Room, 1750 K. St., N.W., Washington.

A tempting offer on a gas grill.

Right now, we're making you a tempting offer on gas grills with twin burners! Independently controlled twin burners never use more gas than you need. For big meals, use both burners. For smaller meals, save gas and money by using one burner and half the grill. A gas grill adds a new dimension to family meals and entertaining. It eliminates the fuss and bother of cooking outside while it keeps the flavor and the fun. And, because you take cooking heat out of the house and the burden off your air conditioning, you save energy, too.

Buy one of these grills before August 1, 1976, and save.

Hudsons: multimedia misfits

By MARY CAMPBELL AP Newsfeatures

The Hudson Brothers sound a little frustrated. Radio station programmers don't play them, they recount, because they think they're TV comedy personalities. And TV treats them like nutty rock 'n' rollers.

On TV, they had a summer variety series, filling in for Sonny and Cher, in 1974. They turned down something similar this year, saying they accepted that one as a stepping stone and for exposure. "At that point you can't be choosy," Brett Hudson says. But they had no control over writing the show or its presentation. They did what they were told — alike — and they don't want to do another TV series unless they have some control.

They also did "The Hudson Brothers Razzle Dazzle Comedy Show" on Saturday mornings. That one was aimed by its makers at children but got a sizable cult audience in American colleges.

In recordings, they started with Scepter in 1965, put out some singles, got their money ripped off, they say, by a manager, were so discouraged they backed out of music for a time. Anyway, only Bill, now 26, was out of high school. Bill has the air of group leader, the faintly world-weary older brother. Mark, who wears a beard, is 24, and Brett, 23.

They were signed to Decca in 1968, MGM in 1970, with nothing released. Playboy put out an album and a single in 1971; Rocket put out "Totally out of Control" in 1973; Casablanca "Hollywood Situation" in 1974 and Rocket "The Hudson Brothers ... Ba Fa" in 1975. Rocket will put out another album in June.

Concerts, they say, get good audience response but last summer they charged off in another direction and acted in "The Wizard of Oz" at the outdoor Municipal Opera in St. Louis, playing the cowardly lion, the tin man and the scarecrow.

"We could have made $15,000 to $20,000 a night in fair dates and concerts," Bill says. "For 'Oz' we made $12,500 a week. But we had never done professional theater."

This summer they'll act in "On The Town" in St. Louis and at the Starlight Theater in Kansas City and maybe the show will play in Chicago. By next summer, they're hoping Anthony Newley and Leslie Bricusse will have done a musical adaptation of "The Three Musketeers" for them.

They're also making a short comedy film, about early American days, inspired by the Bicentennial. And they've played in Las Vegas on a bill

with Olivia Newton-John.

All that versatility just isn't accepted, Bill says. People want a pigeonhole in which to place a performer. They don't want comedians to make noncomedy rock 'n' roll records. One minute the Hudson Brothers sound like they'll bow to that and maybe just concentrate on recording, then the next minute they're saying things like they know they can do it all and they're determined to do it all and end up in fulllength films.

They aren't standup comics, aren't given to one-liners, aren't improvisers and aren't interested in splitting up and having solo careers, Bill says. Their forte, he says, is being characters in situations.

On the Saturday morning show, they created the character of Chuckie Margolies. Bill says, "It's about a kid in a basement. He never sees anything but ankles. He lies; he's a bully. He has a friend who's meek and mild, who Mark plays. I interview them. A lot of our comedy is drawn from when we were kids in Portland, Ore. But if anybody was a bully and liar it was me."

Mark says, "My character is a scapegoat, the guy they push out of a tree. He comes back because he loves them so much."

In concerts there is a fivepiece band behind them and Bill plays guitar, Mark piano and drums and Brett bass. Bill says, "We play our instruments on our albums. The next will be the first with the band also."

They also still are working out their identities as individual comics in a team, a la Marx Brothers. Bill says, "Brett gets the brunt of everything. If dominoes are falling, Mark and I are barely missed. The dominoes fall on him. He is like Hope in Hope and Crosby. I'm the straight man and set everything up. Mark can go either way."

Brett says, "Yes, Mark is always in the way — in the middle."

Mark gives his version. "We're still trying to work on me. I have the toughest spot to be in. My brothers didn't realize it at first. When we dance in a line, I even dance in the middle. And I have to short step."

Bridgitte scares burglar

ST. TROPEZ, France (AP)—An angry Brigitte Bardot intimidated a burglar into returning stolen property as he fled from her walled villa outside this Riviera resort last week, police reported Saturday.

The film star surprised the young man Thursday as he was climbing a roof to escape with a purse containing money and jewelry he found in the garden.

Police said Miss Bardot's "resolute attitude" forced the man to return the purse before he fled. Miss Bardot alerted police but the man has not been found.

Universal Television out front in fall docket

By BOB THOMAS LOS ANGELES (AP) — The networks have announced their television schedules for the 1976-77 season, and the winner and still champion of the studios is Universal Television.

It's no surprise. The only surprising aspect to the new schedule is how far Universal scores ahead of its competitors. The studio will have 14 hours of weekly programming in prime time, plus another hour and a half that has already been ordered for mid-season.

How does Universal do it? "It boils down to providing the best product," says Universal TV president Frank Price with understandable pride. "We've had interesting premises that have intrigued the networks, and in the past two or three years have done things that have set new patterns."

"For instance, 'Rich Man, Poor Man.' It was a new form for commercial television in the United States — dramatizing a novel. The networks had never presented a series that was self-cancelling."

"But because of its success, the show led to two others: 'Rich Man, Poor Man, Book II' and 'Best Sellers.'"

"We've also had success in our approach to shows that would fit into the Family Hour: 'The Six Million Dollar Man,' 'Bionic Woman' and 'Emergency.' And in the area of cop shows, we have come up with the best quality series. I'm talking about 'Kojak,' 'Baretta,' 'Columbo' and 'Rockford Files.'"

Most critics would agree that Universal has improved its product from the bland, factory-style series of its earlier years. Not that it doesn't still have its losers — witness this season's 'Ellery Queen,' 'City of Angels' and 'Sara.' But Universal has attracted topflight producers and chance to make quality shows.

Universal had the advantage of getting into TV early. When MCA was still a talent agency, bosses Jules Stein and Lew Wasserman recognized the future value of the new medium and formed Revue Productions. Operating at the old Republic studio, Revue ground out inexpensive series.

In 1962, MCA bought control of the founding Universal Pictures, abandoned the agency business and moved into the largest studio in town. Its huge backlog with standing sets of every locale needed for film proved ideal for television.

"There's no doubt that the history of the company plays a large part in its current success," said Price, adding that MCA chairman Wasserman and president Sid Sheinberg "thoroughly understand the television business."

They understand costs, too. Many a series star and director has complained about rigid shooting schedules at Universal. But the attention to economics has kept Universal in the forefront while studios like Warner Brothers and 20th Century-Fox have suffered huge losses on their TV operations.

Janet Guthrie fails Indy bid

By JERRY GARRETT
INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Nearly alone for a rare moment this month, Janet Guthrie fought back tears as she stood over the cockpit of her race car in the solitude of the Volsted garage.

Outside, the furious horde jammed Gasoline Alley, waiting for a glimpse of the woman who would challenge the Indianapolis 500.

"Disappointed? I can't say what a disappointment it is," she said, thrusting her hands deep in the pockets of her blue-and-white driving suit.

"But at the same time, I would have to say it's been the most thrilling experience of my life."

She wasn't beaten by her own ability, nor by the demanding Indianapolis Motor Speedway. In the end, she was done in by a balky car.
