Senate votes tax concession to housewives

By JIM LUTHER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate voted today to permit tax-free treatment of pension plans established for the benefit of housewives.

The provision was included in a package of Finance Committee amendments dealing with pensions. The proposals were approved on a 79-to-1 vote.

One amendment, written into a major tax bill, allows housewives as well as unemployed husbands to participate in the Investment Retirement Account (IRA) program.

Under current law, a person not covered by a pension plan is allowed a tax exemption for up to $1,500 contributed to an IRA savings account.

The amendment would allow the working spouse an extra $500 a year in tax-free contributions for an IRA account for the nonworking spouse.

In other action on the tax bill, the Senate rejected an amendment by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., that would have eliminated from the Finance Committee's bill a provision benefiting large life-insurance companies by about $50 million a year.

Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., said the provision is necessary to put life-insurance companies on an equal footing with other corporations in filing tax returns.

The rejection of Kennedy's amendment was further evidence that the full Senate is giving a vote of confidence to the Finance Committee, which has been under sharp criticism for its handling of the tax bill.

The strongest show of Senate support has come in the battle over 73 committee amendments, dozens of which were criticized as tax giveaways because they would benefit only one or two companies.

Twenty-three of those 73 have been considered by the full Senate and only one has been rejected. In response to the criticism, the committee itself voted to knock out 11 of the amendments. The remaining 39 are pending in the Senate.

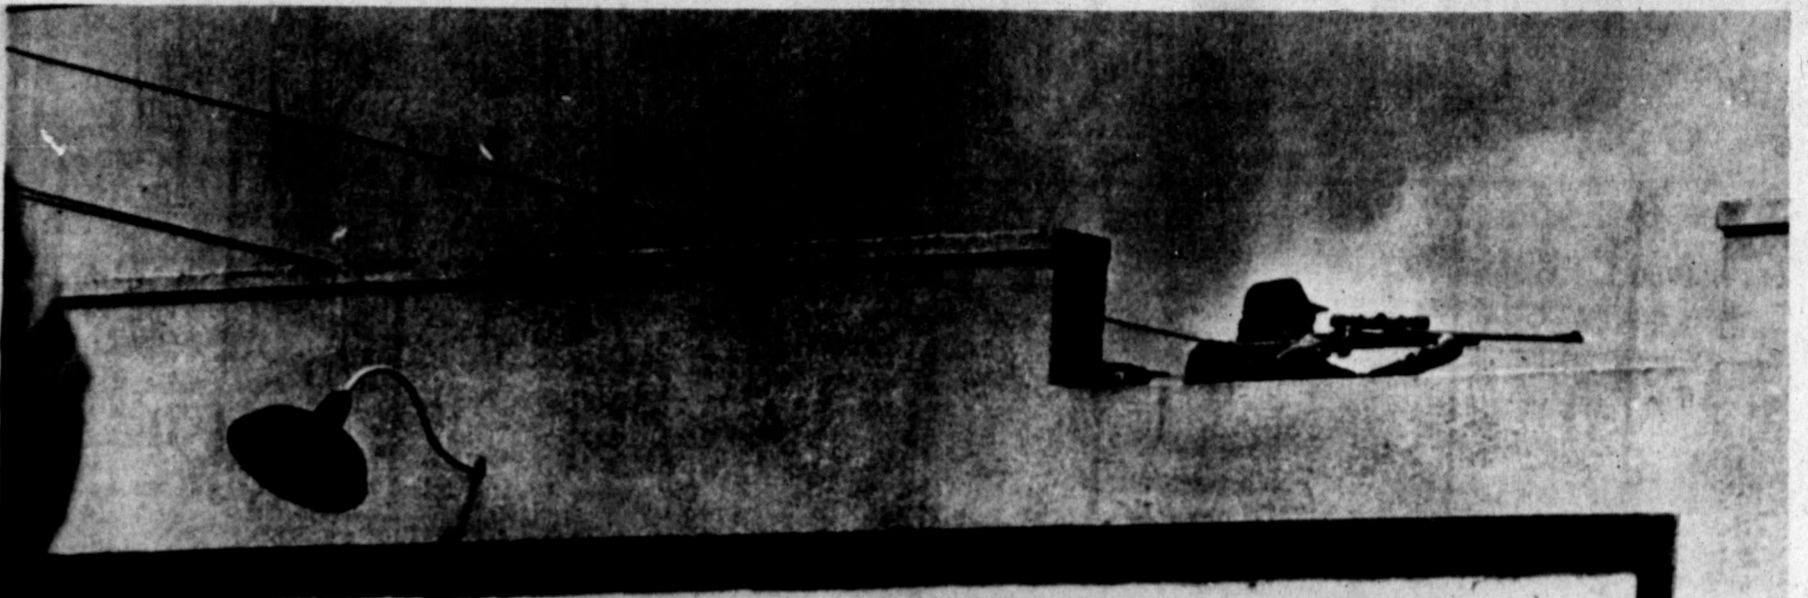

In action on the tax bill Thursday, the Senate loosened a 1974 law that restricts government agencies' use of Social Security numbers for identification.

The Senate also voted to: —Renew a special tax benefit for businesses that purchase pollution-control equipment. The cost will rise to $199 million a year by 1981.

—Overturn a recent Internal Revenue Service ruling that requires restaurants to report employees' tips on credit-card sales.

—Extend from five years to eight years the period during which mutual funds may carry forward their losses to offset profitable years. This would cost the Treasury $28 billion a year.

—Amend the committee's provisions on the oil-depletion allowance to ensure that Long's relatives do not benefit from the change. This was done at Long's insistence after publication of stories that said his family stood to gain thousands, perhaps millions, of dollars because of the committee amendment.

Three bus kidnaping defendants in jail; more arrests expected

CHOWCHILLA, Calif. (AP) — Three young men sought in the kidnaping of 26 school children and their bus driver are in jail. But authorities say they are pressing their investigation for unidentified suspects who may have been involved in the bizarre mass abduction.

The case broke wide open Thursday with the arrests of Frederick N. Woods in Vancouver, Canada, and his former schoolmate, James Schoenfeld, near Schoenfeld's San Francisco Peninsula home.

The arrests, just five hours apart after a week-long search for the pair, came as Richard Schoenfeld pleaded innocent to 43 felony counts at an arraignment in this small farming community where the kidnaping took place July 15. All three are held on bail of $1 million each.

Although Woods and the Schoenfeld brothers were the only persons sought on arrest warrants in the case, authorities are pursuing various leads that may bring about more arrests.

Thursday's developments tumbled over rapidly, beginning with the arrest of James Schoenfeld, 24, shortly before 7 a.m. in Menlo Park, Calif. FBI agents said Schoenfeld was spotted Wednesday night driving a gree van with Idaho license plates by "a person who knew him well." Police spotted the van again Thursday morning and made the arrest without incident.

His arrest so close to home was something of a surprise since authorities had said earlier that Schoenfeld had tried twice to cross the Canadian border nearly two weeks ago and had been linked to incidents in Reno, Nev., Spokane, Wash., and Coeur d'Alene, Idaho.

Attorney Edward Merrill said

Schoenfeld had returned to California to surrender that morning to Merrill's law partner, William Gagen. "He was supposed to be in our office this morning at 8 a.m. to make arrangements to surrender," said Merrill.

Gagen said Schoenfeld had been in the area for several days, "perhaps camping on a beach." He said both brothers were "very naive" as to the seriousness of the charges against them.

About noon, the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, acting on a tip from San Francisco FBI agents, arrested Woods, 24, at a Vancouver post office. Woods' father owns the quarry in Livermore, Calif., where the school children and their bus driver were held captive in a buried moving van for 18 hours before they managed to dig free.

Officials said Woods, using an alias, entered Canada more than five days ago on a commercial airliner from Reno. He was immediately returned to this country. He appeared before a federal magistrate in Bellingham, Wash., and waived extradition to California.

Woods is to be returned here today or Saturday.

Meanwhile, Schoenfeld's brother, Richard, who surrendered last Friday, was arraigned in the small Chowchilla courthouse while some 350 reporters and curious residents gathered outside, and armed policemen kept watch from nearby rooftops.

Schoenfeld was charged with 27 counts of kidnaping and 16 counts of armed robbery. The robbery charges stem from the taking of clothes and other items from the kidnap victims.

El Paso lawmakers back Southwest bid

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Several state legislators from El Paso have thrown their support behind Southwest Airline's bid to increase its service to five more Texas airports including El Paso's.

Sen. Tati Santiesteban, D-El Paso, and five state representatives from El Paso told an Aeronautics Commission hearing Thursday that they back Southwest's proposal to provide air service to Austin, Corpus Christi, Midland-Odessa, Lubbock and El Paso.

Santiesteban testified that the biggest benefit to El Pasoans would be in Southwest's schedules.

Today, if he has an appointment in Dallas at noon, he said, "you just about have to leave the day before." And Southwest not only would provide better schedules, it would charge a lot less, he said.

Southwest currently flies among Dallas, Houston, San Antonio and Harlingen in the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

Fort Worth City Atty. S. G. Johndroe, an opponent of Southwest's application because it calls for flights to Dallas' Love Field instead of to the Dallas-Fort Worth Regional Airport, asked the senator if he liked the "beautiful" DFW airport.

"Once you read the signs and have plenty of quarters, you've got it made," Santiesteban cracked.

Rep. Jim Kaster, D-El Paso, said he has to make reservations two weeks in advance to get flights home on weekends.

And present service "is never on time. I've been delayed as long as four hours."

Kaster said he was "irritated no end" by having to pay higher fare for Braniff flights from Dallas to Austin than for flights from Dallas to San Antonio. Braniff cut the San Antonio fare to compete with Southwest, but there was no competition on the Austin flight, he said.

Kaster said he pays $110 to fly El Paso-Austin roundtrip. Southwest would charge $50 between 7 a.m. and 7 p.m., and $30 the rest of the time.

"I don't see why the El Paso people should be penalized because they live a great distance away," Kaster said.

Northeast China people brace for massive new earth shocks

TOKYO (AP) — Chinese officials ordered millions of people in northeast China into the streets before dawn today in anticipation of massive new earthquakes.

The Australian Broadcasting Commission's Peking correspondent reported that the Foreign Ministry telephoned all foreign diplomatic missions before dawn to warn that another serious quake was expected. "We were awakened at 4 a.m. and told to get into the open," David Dean, deputy chief of the U.S. Liaison Office in Peking, reported by telephone.

"Most of the population of Peking is camped outside. But another big quake hasn't happened yet, and we hope it doesn't."

The Australian correspondent, Warren Duncan, said officials toured the capital blowing whistles and shouting warnings, urging people to leave their beds and move outdoors. He said more tents and makeshift shelters were thrown up in open spaces, but there was "a mood of absolute calm."

Reports from various sources indicated that Tangshan, a coal-mining and industrial city of a million people about 80 miles east-southeast of Peking, was hit hardest by the first great quake early Wednesday.

Hsinhua, the official Chinese news agency, said Tangshan "suffered extremely serious damage and losses." A Japanese technician who was in the city reported that "most buildings that we could see collapsed." There was speculation that some of the Kailun coal mines there had caved in, entombing miners on the overnight shift.

Reports in Japanese newspapers from a French delegation in Tangshan gave the impression the city had been totally destroyed and that tens of thousands might be dead.

The Chinese customarily withhold details of loss of life following natural catastrophes on the assumption that such bad news gives comfort to their enemies.

The quake also did extensive damage to Tientsin, China's third largest city 40 miles southwest of Tangshan, and caused some damage and casualties in Peking.

Dean said Thomas Gates, chief of the U.S. Liaison Office, personally offered American aid to the Chinese government and the same offer had been made in Washington to the Chinese liaison office there.

Women, Communists gain clout in Italy

ROME (AP) — Italy's first woman cabinet member held the spotlight and the Communists held new leverage today as the Christian Democrats' second minority government this year was sworn in.

The 22-member cabinet took the oath of loyalty to the nation and the republican constitution before President Giovanni Leone.

For the first time in Italian history, a woman attained cabinet rank when Premier-designate Giulio Andreotti named Tina Anselmi, a 49-year-old former schoolteacher, to the tough post of labor minister. She told the press she would hold a national conference on the problems of women's employment.

And for the first time the Italian Communist party got a veto over government policy when Andreotti decided he could depend on its members to abstain on key parliamentary votes. This would leave the Christian Democrats in the majority although they won only 43 per cent of the seats in the Senate and 41 per cent of those in the Chamber of Deputies.

"The Communists are in an enviable position," said one Italian political analyst. "They don't have the responsibility of ruling and therefore can't be blamed for any failure. They can always take credit for success because the government exists at their mercy."

The Communist influence on Italy's 38th postwar government was already apparent. The 57-year-old Andreotti put seven new faces in the 20-member cabinet he announced Wednesday night and left out two veteran Christian Democrats under fire from the Communists: Treasury Minister Emilio Colombo and Foreign Minister Mariano Rumor.

The Communists hold Colombo responsible for Italy's economic plight and demanded Rumor be dropped because he is implicated in the Lockheed payoff scandal.

Also, the program Andreotti will submit to parliament next week was formulated after consultation with the Communists. Although it has not been made public in detail, it contains planks long advocated by the Communists and the powerful labor unions they dominate.

Among them are more influence for unions in employment policy, higher taxes, particularly for the rich, and a crackdown on widespread tax evasion.

Meanwhile, Soviet Communist party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev attacked the United States and West Germany for threatening to cut off financial aid to Italy if the Christian Democrats admitted Communists to the cabinet.

Brezhnev, in an interview with Pravda, the Soviet Communist party newspaper, accused Italy's major allies of being "ready to take Italy by the throat just to keep the Communists out of its government."

Terlingua cook-off moved to Oct. 16

Neither snow nor rain nor sleet nor dark of night has stayed the chili-stirrers from the swift completion of their appointed rounds at the desert ghost-town site of the only real World's Championship Chili Cook-off, but now they're being stayed, according to a call from Frank Tolbert of The Dallas Morning News, who invented chili and went on to build and equip Terlingua especially for cooking the fiery red (or sometimes yukky gray) dish.

Terlingua X has been moved to Saturday, Oct. 16, Tolbert says, because the weather has been bad on recent November firsts, many of the contestants and much of the press come from Dallas and elsewhere by plane, and Terlingua International is none too navigable in the best of weather.

Otherwise, Terlingua X will be much the same only more so.

Happy Shahan will be assisted as master of ceremonies by the fetching Ruta Lee, and Gordon Fowler of the late chili immortal Wick Fowler's clan will be director of judging, assisted by Senior Judges "Yellow Dog" Marsh and Charlie Fowler.

Hal John Wimberley of the "Goat Gap Gazette" will be the final word on eligibility of contestants, taking over that function from Tolbert, who swears this is the last time he's going through all the hellish fun of running the whole show.

(Frankly, I wonder if Tolbert can retire. In the first place, Terlingua needs him; and, in the second place, needs him; and, in the second place, he has jalapeno juice in his veins. He related in glowing terms how he just returned from a pilgrimage to the northernmost town in the world and turned five pounds of reindeer meat into chili. The Eskimos lived it—but he's been getting some flak from kids who worry if Santa Claus is going to be missing Donner or Blitzen this year.)

Most tuneful change is in the band to be fronted this year by Kent Finlay of the Hill Country's celebrated "Cheatham Street Warehouse", who has added sidemen such as "Pop" Nelson (the old man of a guy named Cousin Willie) and J. C. Lashock, who used to fiddle for a guy named Bob Wills.

Tolbert invited me to help judge again, and I was happy to accept.

We had some 15,000 souls (and maybe even more people) last year, and a crowd like that is no place to be meandering inanely without some kind of credentials.

TERLINGUA LIVES. (Pass the word.)

UTPB doubles budget request

Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — The University of Texas of the Permian Basin told the Legislative Budget Board Thursday that it needs a 1978 appropriation more than double the 1977 sum.

UTPB's 1977 appropriation was $5,142,782. Its 1978 request jumped to $13,071,866, but fell back to $5,855,086 in 1979.

The largest item in both years' budgets were salaries for faculty and staff, which included $3,363,788 in 1978

Hilton given extension to supply cost

The Midland Board of Equalization, which earlier had requested a building cost on the new Midland Hilton, Thursday approved about a 45-day extension on its request.

City tax assessor-collector Virgil Jones said the Hilton has until Sept. 15 to provide the board with the requested information.

The income approach to value on the estimated revenue to the new hotel is $374,184. Jones said a 10 per cent return would result in a $3,741,840 appraisal of the property.

Cliff Hogue, MAI appraiser, estimated the room occupancy of the Hilton at 74 per cent once the hotel gets in full swing.

Owners of the Hilton are Basin Headquarters Inc.-Midland Ltd.

No decision seen today

WASHINGTON — A U.S. Justice Department spokesman said this morning no decision on the Midland Independent School District's position regarding the necessity of desegregation plans for three schools would be forthcoming today.

John Russell, assistant director of public information for the Justice Department, said in a telephone interview that no decision would be available today because the department needs more information.

Russell said he does not know when a decision will be ready. The school district present information to Justice Department attorneys earlier this month to substantiate its contention that three schools included in the court order requiring desegregation plans — Crockett, Milam and Pease elementary schools — should be removed from the order.

Trustees expected word before Wednesday's deadline for submitting plans and hoped to avoid having to release plans involving all five schools. They hoped to limit plans to Washington and Zavala elementary schools.

Russell said the department has been in touch with school officials almost daily. One reason for the failure to render a decision before the court's deadline was that one of the attorneys on the case was called out of town by a judge, he said.

Schools superintendent Dr. James H. Mailey said this morning had received no word from the department about the pending decision or further delay.

Thornton Hardie Jr., attorney for the school district, is out of town today and his office decline to say whether or not official word had been received.

Russell said the "proper authorities" have been notified.

and innovations, it did say that most were meeting or exceeding the expectations of the planners.

Particularly praised by the UTPB staff was the organization of the colleges without traditional departments and with budgetary functions centered in the offices of the deans. The report said the decision not to offer bachelor's degrees in education was a sound one.

The report did point out that one of the school's deficiencies was in continuing education and public service. A number of conferences, short courses and other public services have been offered, but the report explained that since this activity has not been funded to date, "it has been impossible to develop the kind of continuing education or public service programs that should be provided to the Permian Basin."

The budget recommendation will aid the legislature in writing a new appropriations bill next year.

House burglarized while owners away

Several jewelry items, two television sets, a radio and a rifle, total value $1,925, were reported missing from the residence of James Willhite, 2210 Sinclair Ave., police said.

A maid discovered the burglary Thursday, the day after the Willhites had left for vacation, police said. Entry to the house was gained by unlatching a screen door on the front bedroom and opening an unlocked window, police said.

The radio, two wedding bands, an artificial turquoise necklace, several strands of pearls, a set of pearl earrings and a watch were taken from the front bedroom, Willhite told police. The rifle was taken from a closet in the rear of the house.

Police are continuing their investigation of the incident.

GAMBLERS ARRESTED Two Midland men were arrested at Thursday night for gambling, police said.

Midland policemen T. L. Jones and J. E. Atwater arrested the pair at Blaylock's Garage, 1104 E. Illinois Ave. They were checking the area during a routine patrol when the arrests were made, police said.

Leon Fletcher, 37, of 105 S. Jackson St., pleaded guilty to charges before Municipal Court Judge William Anders and was fined $27.50, a municipal court spokesman said.

Jerry Ranson, 40, 405 E. Hickory, also pleaded guilty and was fined $27.50 in Municipal Court.

Police found a total of $51.25 and a deck of cards at the garage.

MIDLAND MAN INJURED A Midland man suffered minor injuries in a two-vehicle accident about 12:30 p.m. Thursday, police said.

Orbie Dale Chambliss, 18, of 707 North D St., was treated for bruises and released at Midland Memorial Hospital, a hospital spokesman said.

The vehicle Chambliss was driving collided with a vehicle driven by Ernest Alaniz, Charles, 35, of 4726 Ric Drive, in the intersection of Cherokee Drive and Eisenhower Street, police said.

TWO MINOR FIRES REPORTED Firemen were called to the scene of two minor fires Thursday.

One was a fire in a city trash dumpster in an alley behind 1204 W. Kansas Ave., firemen said. The cause of the blaze is unknown, and there was minor damage to the paint on the container.

Firemen answered an alarm to a fire at the home of Bob Palmer, 3500 Camarie Ave. The fire, which damaged the bathroom carpet and wall paint, was out when firemen arrived. The cause of the fire was a newspaper over a wall heater, firemen said.

DIAMOND RING MISSING A diamond ring with appraised value of $1,200 was reported missing from the Billy Gene Price residence, 3608 Imperial Ave., police said.

Price told police he left town July 15 and when he returned July 21, he found the 1.29 carat ring missing from a desk drawer.

Witnesses told police they saw a person around the residence several times during the Price's absence.

Greenwood to vote on bonds Saturday Residents of the Greenwood Independent School District will vote Saturday on a $1.7 million construction project.

On the ballot in the bond election will be three proposals — a $1,280,000 new elementary school and auditorium, a $300,000 swimming pool and activities center and a $95,000 stadium complex, with tennis courts, dressing rooms and concession stand.

The same facilities were defeated in a $1.6 million bond proposal March 16 by a margin of 104 to 70. There are approximately 300 registered voters in the school district schools superintendent Mel Williams said.

Passage of the bond issue will result in a tax increase of from 45.7 to 68.95 cents per $100 of assessed value, depending on whether the board chooses to retire the bonds in 10, 15 or 20 years.

The tentative tax rate adopted July 20 calls for $1.70 per $100 in taxes, based on 60 per cent of market value.

Since the defeat of the previous bond issue, the swimming pool has been modified from a recreation to a competition pool, board president Bud Lee said.

Trustee Paul Cooper is "optimistic" about the outcome of the election. "I haven't heard anybody talking against it," he said.

But Cooper said, he has heard little comment of any kind and is unprepared to predict the outcome.

Eleven voters cast absentee ballots for the election. The Greenwood school board will meet in special session at 8 p.m. after the polls close at 7 p.m., to canvass the ballots.

Slayer of 15 million bees sentenced to 120 days LOS ANGELES — David Graves, 43, a convicted slayer of about 15 million bees in pursuing a feud with a fellow beekeeper over a woman, Thursday was sentenced in Ventura (Calif.) County Superior Court to 120 days in jail.

Judge Robert L. Shaw also gave Graves a suspended indeterminate prison sentence and ordered him to reimburse his rival apiarist, Ray Knoefler, 41, Riverside, Calif., $20,000 for the loss of his insects.

The judge also ordered Graves to seek a psychiatrist's help and to forward the doctor's findings to the court.

Graves was found guilty July 2 by a jury in Judge Shaw's court on a charge of felony vandalism in his destruction of the bees by cyanide poisoning.

Testimony during the trial established that a feud between the two beekeepers began when Graves' wife, JOAN Patsy, left him and subsequently married Knoefler.

Andrews man held in death of wife

ANDREWS — A 28-year-old Andrews man was charged Thursday with murdering his estranged wife at a residence in Andrews Wednesday afternoon.

John Hall Jefcoat remained in Andrews County Jail late Thursday under $100,000 bond set by Justice of the Peace G. A. Ragsdale. Jefcoat is accused of slaying Mary Riley Jefcoat, 24, of Andrews.

Andrews police said they received a call regarding a possible shooting about 3:15 p.m. Wednesday. Upon arriving at the woman's uncle's home, 200 Southeast First St., they found the victim shot on the head with the head with a .38-caliber revolver. Mrs. Jefcoat was dead on arrival at Permian General Hospital minutes later where Ragsdale ruled the death homicide.

DEATHS Keith Cooper services set Services for Keith Cooper, 31, of Odessa and formerly of Midland, have been set for 11 a.m. Saturday in the Ellis Funeral Home Chapel with P. T. Stewart of Parkie Baptist Church of Midland officiating. Burial will be at Fairview Cemetery directed by the Ellis Funeral Home.

Cooper died early Thursday morning in a car accident in Odessa.

Mary Jefcoat services held ANDREWS — Mrs. Mary Riley Jefcoat, 24, of Andrews, was dead on arrival Wednesday afternoon at an Andrews hospital after suffering a gunshot wound to the head.

Services were at 3:30 p.m. today in Singleton Funeral Home Chapel with the Rev. Bill Basse officiating. Burial was at Andrews Cemetery.

Mrs. Jefcoat was a native of Morton, having lived there 22 years before moving to Andrews. Survivors include the husband, John Hall Jefcoat; a daughter, Paula Lee Lavender of Andrews; the parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Riley Sr. of Andrews; four sisters, Virginia Dalton of Los Angeles, Calif., Charlotte Pierce of Texico, N.M., Wanda Wallace of Big Lake and Billie Mize of Andrews; and two brothers, Charles McCormick of Hobbs, N.M., and John Riley Jr. of Andrews.

Three hurt in collision

Three Henderson residents were injured, with one remaining in critical condition today, as the result of a two-car rear-end collision at 1:45 p.m. Thursday on U.S. 20, east of the airport exit.

Johnnie Lynn Gossett, 14, was in critical condition with head and internal injuries at Odessa Medical Center Hospital today after being thrown 58 feet from one of the vehicles.

Mrs. Dona Reese Gossett, 35, driver of one vehicle, was treated for multiple lacerations and a fractured sternum and released from Midland Memorial Hospital, while Tammy Gossett, 11, was treated for abrasions and contusions and released from Midland Memorial Hospital Thursday.

A Fire Department ambulance rushed Johnnie Lynn Gossett to the Odessa hospital. Her mother and sister were pulled from the vehicle after 20 minutes by the fire department's Jaws of Life.

Department of Public Safety investigators said the car driven by Mrs. Gossett and a van driven by Billy Clayton Branham Jr. of San Angelo collided on the north service road as the van attempted to pass the car. The Gossett car skidded across the road and overturned five times after the impact, while the Branham van continued west 100 yards. Branham escaped injury.

The Gossett family was en route to Odessa from Henderson when the mishap occurred.

Talent winners named at show

More than 400 Midland youngsters turned out for the city-wide talent show Thursday at Dennis the Menace Park.

The event, which was the final activity of the summer playground program sponsored by the city Parks and Recreation Department, was named Dennis the Menace Day.

Winners of the talent show were Carrie Beck of Haley Park, first, tap dancing routine; Kimberly Temple of Rusk Elementary, second, gymnastics; and Mindy Raschke of Burnett Elementary; third, gymnastics.

E.A. Kelly dies in Pecos

PECOS — Eugene A. "Gene" Kelly, 73, of Pecos, brother of Mrs. Vaughn Triplehorn of Andrews; died Thursday morning in a Reeves County hospital.

Services were at 2 p.m. today in First Presbyterian Church in Pecos with burial at Sunset Memorial Gardens in Odessa.

Kelly was born May 12, 1903, and had lived 42 years in Pecos after moving from Odessa. He was a retired senior resident engineer with the Texas Highway Department and had served the department 39 years.

Other survivors include the widow, two brothers and one other sister.

Sixth grade teachers' jobs not in danger

Even if the school district should be ordered to implement the junior high annex desegregation plan, sixth grade teachers' jobs will not be affected, schools superintendent Dr. James H. Mailey said.

The desegregation plan, J-1, which the school district submitted to federal court under protest, would incorporate the sixth grade into an intermediate school along with the seventh and eighth grades.

Mailey said elementary school teacher certification would remain valid for sixth grade under the plan.

Neither certification nor teaching field endorsement would be a problem for sixth grade teachers in an intermediate school situation, Mailey said.

School trustees have promised to contest any order to implement the plan.

Drug, insurance men seek swine flu plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Executives of the drug and insurance industries are meeting with government health officials in what most agreed was a last-ditch attempt to rescue the swine-flu vaccination program.

Insurance executives were to report today on the results of their two-day effort to sell about 350 insurance carriers and subcontractors on the idea of writing millions of dollars worth of liability protection policies for the four drug companies manufacturing swine-flu vaccine.

David Mathews, secretary of health, education and welfare, sent a telegram to 24 key insurance officials underscoring what he called "the importance and urgency of this request."

"It is essential, if the flu immunization program is to be undertaken at all, not only that insurance be available for the manufacturers but that this fact be definitely known at the earliest possible date."

Merrell-National Laboratories, the company which has produced the largest number of vaccine doses, says it will shut down production lines immediately if there is no assurance that it will have insurance to cover lawsuits arising from the immunization program.

Federal officials have been urging the insurance industry to write liability policies for the vaccination program.

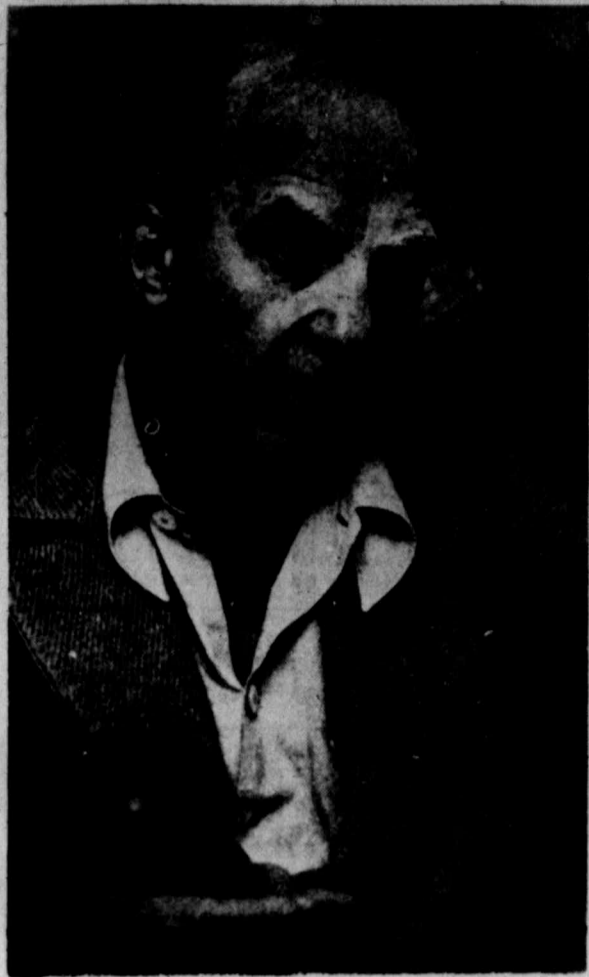

Dr. Delano Meriwether, director of the HEW vaccination program, said that to the best of his knowledge only $5 million in insurance had been pledged by late Thursday. He said the two unresolved issues were whether the insurance industry could come up with the proposed coverage and whether the premiums for that insurance would be reasonable.

The insurance industry has been working on a plan where it would write policies totaling $50 million to $75 million for the manufacturers and charge premiums ranging from about $2 million to $40 million or more, depending upon the size and number of lawsuits filed.

The four vaccine manufacturers would not be satisfied with splitting $50 million in coverage among them, according to Meriwether.

The insurance industry proposal, which was not announced publicly, apparently would obligate the government to pay the premiums directly or indirectly through contracts with the vaccine manufacturers.

Ford nearing magic mark

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford, continuing to pick up delegate support as he nears the magic 1,130 mark, is traveling to Mississippi to make a personal pitch to the state's GOP convention delegation, an uncommitted group large enough to clinch the Republican nomination for him.

The President was flying to Jackson, Miss., today for five hours of campaigning. Challenger Ronald Reagan plans a similar trip next week.

Ford gained seven delegates Thursday — four from Pennsylvania and three from Louisiana — to bring his total in The Associated Press convention preference tally to 1,104. The survey shows Reagan remained with 1,023 delegates, and 132 delegates still are uncommitted.

If Ford wins Mississippi's 30-vote delegation, he would have four more votes than the 1,130 needed for the nomination when the roll is called at the national convention in Kansas City on August 18.

In Mississippi, Ford hopes to exploit a major defection from the Reagan camp, state GOP chairman Clarke Reed, who declared that Reagan's vice presidential choice caused him to endorse the President.

Sen. Richard Schweiker, a Pennsylvania liberal, was picked by Reagan with the hope of gaining support among delegates from populous Northeast states. The move cost Reagan the support of Reed and has failed to trigger a stampede for Reagan in Schweiker's home state.

Both Ford and Schweiker addressed Pennsylvania delegates here Thursday, and three delegates who had said they were uncommitted said they are for Ford.

That done, Ford's attention turned to Mississippi.

Until recently, Reagan was thought to have a lock on the delegation. But Ford backers gradually eroded his support, and they now believe the Schweiker appointment could turn the majority to Ford.

The Mississippians are holding to the unit rule, under which either Ford or Reagan will likely claim all of the delegation's 30 votes. It is possible the delegation will choose to remain uncommitted until the convention.

Schweiker flew to South Carolina Thursday night

Kissinger orders Saudi arms review

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger has ordered a re-evaluation of U.S. plans to sell Saudi Arabia 2,000 sophisticated air-to-air Sidewinder missiles, State Department and congressional sources say.

The re-evaluation, while short of a reversal, represents a sudden and major change in Kissinger's plans. At the beginning of the week, he had ordered aides to draft a letter formally notifying Congress of the $57.7-million sale.

However, the secretary changed his mind Tuesday night, the sources said, after some members of the House and Senate said they would fight the arrangement and the White House expressed concern over the political ramifications.

Rep. Benjamin Rosenthal, D-N.Y., for instance, sent Kissinger a letter arguing that Saudi Arabia "does not need" the missiles and that the deal "would exacerbate the arms race" in the Middle East.

Because of the size of the sale, the administration must submit the arrangement to Congress, which then can disapprove the transaction. Rosenthal told Kissinger he would sponsor a resolution of disapproval and "will work vigorously to block" the transaction.

Sens. Clifford Case, R-N.J., Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn., and Richard Stone, D-Fla.,

among others, have expressed similar sentiments. Doubts about the sale also came from the U.S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency, which has questioned the arrangement since its inception.

In recent days, the arms control agency has circulated a memo in the government calling for a new study on grounds that the Saudis are already well equipped for their defense. The memo also raises questions about the possibility that the Saudis would transfer some Sidewinders to other Arab nations in the event of a new Middle East war.

Current U.S. law prohibits such third-country transfers, but Rosenthal said the Saudis threatened by any outside power.

They see the Saudi motive more in terms of prestige by holding one of the most advanced weapons systems in the area and by matching Iran's military power.

Vernon convictions upheld on appeal

VERNON, Tex. (AP) — The federal convictions of two Vernon men in a multimillion-dollar cotton fraud case has been upheld by the 5th Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans, according to a court clerk here.

The two men, Robert E. Huntley and Gipson Hemphill, had appealed their convictions on all 18 counts in the case, which led to the collapse of the First State Bank here in 1973.

In a non-jury trial, U.S. District Court Judge Robert M. Hill of Dallas convicted the two and assessed the cotton company executives the maximum sentence on all counts.

Hill ordered the sentences to run concurrently leaving the two

Lenders make pitch for higher interest

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Ray McAlister, business professor at North Texas State University, told members of the House Committee on Financial Institutions that Texas' legal limits on interest rates are below the national median for loans ranging from $100 on up.

Testifying as a witness for the Texas Association of Consumer Finance Companies, McAlister laid out five alternative rate structures Thursday that would put Texas at or near the national median.

Four of the five would allow either $19 or $20 per $100 for the smallest loans.

He said $54 annual add-on interest on a $300 loan was insufficient. The add-on translates into 31.72 per cent when converted to simple interest on unpaid balance.

"Fifty-four dollars wouldn't cover the costs," McAlister said.

He said loans of $100 to $300 are not profitable—"They are not being made."

"There is some evidence... that there is a drying up of the loan market... There also is some evidence that some companies are losing money," he said.

Paula Cantrell Derese

Murder defendants jailed without bond

HOUSTON (AP) — A former college football coach and the daughter of a wealthy electrical contractor were being held without bond in the nearby Baytown jail today after being charged with slaying the woman's parents.

Charged with two counts of murder were Paula Cantrell Derese, 26, and Vernon Eugene McManus, 33, a former Lamar University assistant football coach.

A Harris County grand jury here indicted the pair Thursday a few hours after Baytown police filed the capital murder charges.

The bodies of Paul Cantrell, 51, and his wife,

Mary, 47, were found early Sunday morning in their fashionable Baytown home.

Police said the couple had been strangled, apparently with an electrical cord, and then their throats cut.

The indictments returned by the grand jury alleged that on or about July 24 Mrs. Derese and McManus caused the death of the Cantrells to collect on life insurance and the proceeds of the estate.

Authorities would reveal little about the case although Cantrell was believed to have carried some $100,000 in life insurance.

Baytown Police Chief John Wilkinson said detectives want to determine if anyone else was involved in the slaying.

"I want to be sure in my own mind no one else was involved before we wrap up the case," he said.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Mike Hinton said Mrs. Derese told officers she ran screaming from the home after she discovered her parents' bodies when she returned home from a date.

McManus, a one-time star high school and college football player, was the owner of a Baytown plywood brokerage firm.

Mrs. Derese had been divorced twice.

employed as a secretary in the McManus plywood firm. She is the mother of a two-year old boy. Police said the boy's father had picked up the child Friday and had taken him to his home in Port Arthur.

Mrs. Derese was the slain couple's only child and lived with her parents.

"I base it on the constitutional issue of depriving an individual of his right as it has existed for 200 years to sue for his injuries in court," Hernandez said.

House panel delays action on no-fault

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — A House subcommittee has delayed action on a no-fault car insurance report because not enough members were present.

Three members showed up, and if they had all agreed on the report, it would have been approved.

The report analyzes no-fault insurance but does not recommend any action by the 1977 legislature.

Rep. Joe Hernandez, D-San Antonio, said he would vote against it. Under House rules a majority of the full subcommittee of five is necessary to adopt a report.

Mishap claims three

SONORA, Tex. (AP) — Two investigators from a federal agency were set to begin a probe today into the deaths of three oil field workers, who were killed by a broken fracturing line.

The men were working at a well rig 16 miles southwest of here Thursday when a four-inch line ruptured and began whipping around the rig area.

Sutton County Sheriff's Deputy Max West said the accident occurred at an oil company lease at the Fawcett Ranch.

Officials said one of the men was hit in the face by the bouncing line, which hit another man in the head.

The victims were identified as Wesley Wayne Moore, 31, of Sonora, and Robert Ray Rutledge, 42, and Curt Seamands, both of San Angelo.

The line that ruptured was carrying liquid carbon dioxide and sand under extreme pressure. Gas exploration companies use the process to loosen formations where gas or oil is thought to be.

Authorities said another man was injured but was released from after being treated at a Sonora hospital.

The cause of the break had not been determined late Thursday although a foreman said he thought the line broke because of high pressure inside the pipe.

Red despots fade

Ever since Josef Stalin rose to eminence in the Communist world, the heritage of Marx and Lenin has been personified in forceful individuals — "dictators" in terms of ideology, party discipline and political power.

An era may be passing. It is hard to identify an omnipotent leader, an acknowledged prophet, at the top of the Communist pyramid today.

China's Mao Tse-tung, who made Peking a rival of Moscow as the fount of Marxist-Leninist wisdom in the post-Stalin era, no longer appears in public. Even the ceremonial visits to Mao by foreign dignitaries visiting Peking have been dropped. Age and disease have made Mao no more than a fixture in the Chinese government.

With the death of his old partner Chou En-lai last year, rankings in the Peking hierarchy have been a guessing game — some stars ascending, some descending, none in a fixed, commanding position. Maoism as an ideology is becoming detached from a real person. The thoughts of Mao are becoming only that — thoughts, not expressions of policy from a source of power. Although Maoism continues to fuel the ideological split between Peking and Moscow, it is by no means clear whether a new prophet is in the wings to carry it through another generation.

As for the Russians, they have seen not only the passing of Stalin but the official scaling down of his reputation and denunciation of the personality cult as a form of leadership. They have seen the rise and fall of a Nikita Khrushchev, who never could fill Stalin's shoes. They have seen Leonid Brezhnev emerge as the "first among equals" in the Kremlin pecking order, but are now surely aware that he is in the twilight of his career, ill much of the time and turning 70 this year.

There is even a pall over the supremacy of the Soviet Communist Party. Its feud with the Chinese is unresolved. When Brezhnev attended the recent parley of European Communist leaders in East Berlin he was not the commanding figure that a Soviet party chairman would have been at such a meeting, say, a decade ago. He was in the position of letting Marshal Tito and leaders of other national parties declare that if their own political fortunes demand an approach to socialism different from Moscow's, so be it.

Certainly no one can regret that men as ruthless as Stalin and Mao are not wielding power over the Communist world. Yet an international Communist movement without clear and powerful leadership is hardly comforting to contemplate. This portends power struggles, foreign adventures and unpredictable changes of policy among the would-be Stalins and Maos whose ambitions now are germinating. The Marxist-Leninist revolutionary ideology remains a potent force in much of the world. Any struggle among those seeking to become its supreme prophet could be a bloody one.

Tightfistedness!

Here's one for you in a lesson in tightfistedness which worked well at the recent Democratic convention.

Forewarned of outrageous prices in New York City, the Maine delegation pocketed the money required for air fare and arrived in the metropolis by chartered bus. Rhode Island's Gov. Philip Noel urged members of his state's contingent to take advantage of parties hosted by candidates, labor organizations and the city itself.

"Accept all invitations," he advised simply.

One thrifty northerner estimated the average cost of the convention to her associates at

"about $150 as compared to pre-convention forecasts of $1,000."

There is nothing new in this; it has been going on right here in West Texas for a long time.

But a political convention is something else, and the New Englanders cashed in on it.

It is hoped that the lesson in tightfistedness will have an impact on the successful candidates in Kansas City as well as New York City.

The aversion to freewheeling spending is a trait worthy of introduction to Washington.

West Texans attending their Kansas City convention could do this ... or they might take their lunch.

INSIDE REPORT:

President's 'strange system' results in headaches

By ROWLAND EVANS

WASHINGTON — Cabinet hostility against Atty. Gen. Edward H. Levi for lone-wolf decisions leading President Ford into dangerous curbs on the intelligence community peaked last month when Treasury Secretary William Simon accused him of impairing the President's protection in Puerto Rico.

That accusation is merely the most dramatic evidence of anti-Levi anger in the National Security Agency, CIA, FBI, Secret Service, Pentagon and Treasury. In the eyes of critics, Levi's most grievous sin was putting Mr. Ford on record in favor of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's bill to require approval from a federal judge to wiretap a foreign embassy. "He has crippled our intelligence effort," one high-ranking official told us.

Dr. Levi, former University of Chicago president and a distinguished legal scholar, obviously is moved more by constitutional safeguards than demands of national security. But instead of his concerns being tempered by opposing views of other officials directly concerned with national security, Levi's undiluted opinions have become administration policy.

That is in keeping with the strange system which has evolved during Gerald R. Ford's two-year presidency. While dismantling the dangerous centralization of the Nixon system (which ignored the cabinet), Ford nevertheless has not transformed the cabinet into a functioning body for policymaking. Rather, policy is made helter-skelter by individual cabinet members, leading to the wishy-washy tone of the administration.

Backstage squabbling over Mr. Ford's visit to Puerto Rico June 27-28 stems directly from the Attorney General's personal policymaking. Secret Service plans for surveillance of extremist Puerto Rican nationalists were vetoed by Levi on grounds that U.S. citizens cannot be shadowed under the President's intelligence reorganization plan of last February. Surveillance was cancelled.

Simon, who as Secretary of the Treasury has responsibility for the Secret Service, immediately sent off this tough letter to the President: the restrictions imposed by the Attorney General have impaired your protection by the Secret Service. Translated, that clearly meant: if the President gets shot, don't blame the Secret Service.

Actually, Levi gives Simon, Defense Secretary Donald Rumsfeld, CIA Director George Bush and other high officials headaches that transcend Secret Service protection. The President's February intelligence plan, drafted by Levi, imposes tight restrictions on the intelligence community — such as requiring a judge's approval for wiretapping a foreign embassy.

Even so, the intelligence community blanched when Levi, on behalf of the administration, endorsed Sen. Kennedy's bill to require the U.S. government to seek court permission for electronic snooping on embassies — an ugly but universally accepted way of diplomatic life. Levi's endorsement of the bill written by the Senate's most famous Democratic critic of the administration transcended mere approval: "I want to say that it is my view that this bill is a significant, even an historic step. I believe it is important to the country, and I hope it will be enacted quickly."

Moreover, another part of the Levi-designed system is blamed by high officials for such wide distribution of sensitive material throughout the bureaucracy that secrets tend to be compromised. Without overt leaks, sensitive security facts so widely handled inevitably seep out. Rightly or wrongly, high officials have lost confidence in the ability of their government to keep its secrets.

Since Mr. Ford during 25 years in Congress was considered a hard-nosed champion of national security not at all obsessed by civil liberties, a question arises. Has he undergone metamorphosis at age 63? More likely, he probably has not focused on the intelligence problem posed by Levi.

WASHINGTON MERRY — GO — ROUND

Jimmy Hoffa's disappearance

By JACK ANDERSON with LES WHITTEN

WASHINGTON — It was a year ago today that Jimmy Hoffa, the tempestuous Teamster, disappeared without a trace from the Detroit environs. Federal investigators have told us Hoffa was murdered. They claim to know who did it and why. All they lack is the evidence.

But part of the story can now be told. It's a story of violence that began after Hoffa's release from prison in 1971. His sentence for mail fraud and jury tampering was commuted by then-President Nixon.

Under the terms of his release, Hoffa was supposed to stay out of Teamster politics until 1980. But the moment he hit the streets, he began maneuvering to return to power.

His power base was Detroit's notorious Teamster local 299. The brazen Hoffa had slugged his way to the top of the local, which he used as a base for taking over the entire Teamsters International.

He brought two henchmen, Frank Fitzsimmons and Dave Johnson, to power with him. When Hoffa was locked in the slammer, he left Fitzsimmons as caretaker of the international union and Johnson in charge of local 299.

Fitzsimmons double-crossed Hoffa and took over the Teamsters as his own domain. Johnson, however, remained loyal to Hoffa. Another figure in the backstage drama, Roland McMaster, joined the Fitzsimmons forces.

McMaster is a strong-arm specialist who operates on both sides of the law. Ten years ago, he served a prison stretch for accepting a protection payoff. He has been indicted twice for violating labor laws. A Pittsburgh grand jury is now investigating a violent organizing campaign by McMaster.

These former associates became bitter rivals after Hoffa got out of prison. His return to Detroit was followed by a series of violent incidents — bomb explosions, shotgun blasts, brutal beatings — which investigators say were intended to discourage him from resuming his Teamster activities.

His loyal friend Dave Johnson, as president of local 299, was hit by a round of violence. His office windows were shattered by shotgun blasts. His cabin cruiser was bombed in a Michigan harbor while Johnson, happily, was in Florida. His union meetings frequently were disrupted.

We have established that at least four of McMaster's goons were present at these meetings. We got admissions from three of the four that they were on hand at the time of the disruptions. The same strong-arm men are also under investigation by the Pittsburgh grand jury. Indictments are expected against some of them.

McMaster denied to our reporters that he was trying to keep Hoffa out of the union but admitted attending meetings that were disrupted. The plot, according to our sources, was to knock Johnson out of power in local 299 and, thereby, to block Hoffa's

Copley News Service

It will be the Republicans' turn come mid-August to fill the radio waves, newspapers and boob tube with political convention nonsense. On the face of it, the bitter contest between President Ford and Ronald Reagan should make for more hard news and more excitement than the Democrats were able to manufacture in New York.

There are two aspects of the recent "Jimmy Carter convention" that the Republicans will find difficult to match, and both could bear significantly on the campaign this fall, even though they are vastly different as possible election tools.

First, there is "Miss Lillian," Carter's 77-year-old mother, and do not underestimate this remarkable lady as a campaign asset between now and November.

Second, there is Carter's somewhat revolutionary suggestion regarding the manner in which America, the Democrats at least, should go about selecting a vice presidential candidate.

The elder Mrs. Carter, a widow, is a political "resource" not available to either Mr. Ford or Reagan. The Carter plan for revision in the manner of selecting a presidential running mate is of vital concern to U.S. voters — given the terrible reality that America's presidents in today's volatile and violent world are greater assassination targets than ever before.

The manner of "Miss Lillian" is a joy to behold.

Almost anyone seeing and listening to her down-to-earth comments on her son and on the political scene generally cannot avoid being captivated — and influenced — by her subtle campaigning for the 51-year-old ex-naval officer — peanut farmer — governor — presidential candidate the GOP will contend with between now and Nov. 2.

Chatting with Walter Cronkite, master interviewer of the news profession, Mrs. Carter "reached" young and old alike as she spoke with fervor about her son. She discussed Carter's boyhood with a sincerity — and a political skill — that made him the typical American boy. She told of her own philosophies — and of her two-year Peace Corps career in India, starting at the age of 67.

She was led gently through extremely effective campaign objectives by Cronkite.

It should not be a last-minute ticket-balancing act, particularly in these times of great risk to presidential life.

He proposes that a 30-day pause be taken after the president has been nominated. This would give the No. 1 man time to weigh a choice carefully. Then, a mini-convention would be held, or state conventions that would make their choices known to each party's national committee.

In Carter's case this year, he had the 30 days for selection of his running mate inasmuch as he had the nomination tied up weeks before the national convention. This situation seldom prevails, however, and some variation of the Carter suggestion for change has merit.

The Republican soiree in Kansas City will may be more exciting than the Democratic love-in (except for the surly Gov. Jerry Brown of California) in New York.

Despite this fact, whether it is Mr. Ford or Reagan who triumphs, the GOP had best search for a potent vote-getter like "Miss Lillian" plus a serious and appealing issue like Carter's vice presidential selection suggestion.

Mark Russell says

The Constitution says that congressmen can only be arrested for treason and felonies. So in order to arrest one for soliciting a prostitute, proof is required that he forced her to overthrow the government.

The "customer" must do the suggesting, such as rolling down the car window and saying, "Hi, honey — here's $20 for a little treason."

Our lawmakers are only human and sometimes a few will stray from the straight and narrow. If so, they needn't worry, as long as they've had their congressional immunity shots.

Yves Saint-Laurent 'not surpassed'

By MICHELE COOPER
Agence France-Presse

PARIS — The music was classical opera, but the clothes belonged more to the operetta stage when Yves Saint-Laurent presented his haute couture collection for the winter 1976-1977 season Wednesday.

Dramatic they were, in heavy velvet, faille and satin — as if for rich gypsies born in the Russian steppes. Models wore paisley babushkas and hussar jackets and ruffled petticoats peeked out from under their long skirts.

If eyes in the audience glazed over and more than a few yawns were stifled, it was no reflection on Saint Laurent's creative talents, but rather a comment on the length of the program (almost 90 minutes) and the number of models shown (108).

But this was the place to go for those who buy designer fashions and want everyone to know it. For sheer "identifiability," no one surpasses Yves Saint Laurent.

Jackets and short coats were big news at Saint Laurent in quilted velvet or plain sackcloth, used in a rust hussar's jacket over a red, green and brown plaid wool dress.

WOMEN'S NEWS

Two variations on one skirt theme were shown: one was stitched down to about three inches below the snug waist before flaring over the hip, and the other had a dark velvet panel encasing the tummy with lighter wool fabric gathered underneath. The latter appeared in both long and short forms.

"Short" is a relative term in fashion, of course, and Saint Laurent's daytime wear was hemmed only four or so inches above the ankle. Evening styles generally stopped short at ankle level. Several models wore layered skirts of different, harmonizing colors for a multi-peticoat effect.

He also proposed three dresses inspired by the dance-hall girls of America's Old West, with bare corset bodices over full skirts. A more typical evening style, however, teamed a black velvet and nubby wool cape with a ruby velvet skirt and a sheer wool peasant overblouse, in ivory, embroidered in gold, red and blue.

The newest dimension Wednesday came from Paco Rabanne, who rocked fashion 10 years ago with unwearyable metal creations which clanked and refused to bend, but which served as inspiration over the past decade to fellow designers as they loosened up their approach to fashion.

Guy Laroche took a more traditional view of fashion. He favored very feminine dresses that emphasized the tummy and hips, often with low-slung sashes or draping in silks, chiffons, crepes and velvets.

Laroche showed lots of golden browns in jerseys and knits, including a series of hooded coats and dresses with choirboy collars. The same mood prevailed for evening wear in gowns such as one long white crepe with its easy a-skirt covered in ostrich plumes. The exception was a striking one: a red Spencer jacket with black lapels worn with black trousers and a white shirt for a cross between a toreador and a country club waiter.

—AP Laserphoto

This evening dress in violet crepe georgette with a bow at the collar is from Paris couturier Givenchy's fall-winter collection and was shown in the French capital Wednesday. It is worn with a high-belted skirt in green crepe georgette and a black passementerie sash. The black jersey bolero is embroidered with violet passementerie flowers and green and black pearls.

Flour provides base for baking

COLLEGE STATION — Flour is the common denominator of home baking, providing the base of almost every baked food. And with the interest in "natural" foods, many consumers are wondering if unbleached flour is any better than bleached flour.

Mrs. Sally Coble offers some insight into the differences between the two.

She is a foods and nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"Nutritionally, bleached and unbleached white flour are almost identical. Both are suitable for baking. Unbleached flour is ideal for breads, though it does not make as good a cake as regular bleached flour."

She explained that freshly milled flour has a creamy color because it contains carotenoids, the same pigments that make fruits and vegetables yellow. When such flour is stored for several months, it becomes whiter and the baking qualities improve. "This natural process of aging can be accelerated by the addition of certain oxidizing agents that are permitted for use in flour. Flour treated this way must be labeled 'bleached,'" she explained.

Judy J. Loftin, Asa W. Rhodes say vows in Rankin church

RANKIN — Judy Jolene Loftin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe G. Loftin, and Asa Wayne Rhodes, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Rhodes of Midkiff, were married Saturday in the First United Methodist Church.

The Rev. Herb Frederick was the officiating minister. Ennisa Hurst, cousin of the bride, was the maid of honor, and Cindy Ables was bridesmaid. Courtney Schwem was the flower girl.

Mike Peters of Maud, Okla., was the best man. Bill Parker of Odessa was the groomsman, and the ushers were Tom Lindsey of Rankin and Jimmy Eggeneyer of Midkiff.

The bride wore a gown of white crepe backed satin fashioned with full bishop sleeves. The princess line skirt fell to a chapel-length train from a fitted Empire bodice. Her chapel-length veil of French illusion was gathered to a satin Camelot with Venise overlay and pearl accents. She carried a pink orchid surrounded with pink and white rosebuds, baby's breath and white lace.

A reception was held in the Fellowship Hall.

The bride will be senior student this fall at Rankin High School. The bridegroom is a graduate of RHS and is employed by Phillips Petroleum Co.

After a trip to Colorado, the couple will reside in the Benedum Camp.

Mitchell-Brandt marry

Deidre Cox Mitchell and James F. Brandt exchanged double ring vows during a candlelight service in the chapel of the First Baptist Church. The Rev. Lucien Rudd officiated.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Felix Cox of 303 Kessler St. and Mrs. Galen Brandt of Midland.

Maid of honor was Sheila Cox of Plano, niece of the bride, and Mrs. Micaela Mailea of Odessa served as matron of honor. Bridesmaid was Lisa Brandt, niece of the bridegroom. Michelle Mitchell, daughter of the bride, was the flower girl.

Ronnie Brandt of Greenville attended his brother as best man. Groomsmen were Wayne Brandt and ushers were Wayne Brandt, Brandt of Greenville, nephew of the bridegroom, and Andrew Cox of Plano, nephew of the bride.

Candlelighters were Trenea Cox of Plano, niece of the bride, and Gaelina Brandt of Greenville, niece of the bridegroom. Doris Bruce, organist, and Phil Smith, uncle of the bride, soloist, provided nuptial music.

A reception was held in the parlor of the church. After a honeymoon trip to Dallas, the couple will reside at 3102 Thomas St.

Boy fishes out bottle

WASHINGTON (AP) — There was no urgent note from a shipwrecked sailor inside, but a bottle fished out of the Gulf Stream recently by a Florida teen-ager did contain a message — from the magazine "National Geographic World."

Fifteen-year-old Mark Cummings' discovery was the first of 1,000 bottles dumped into the ocean during May by the magazine. The bottles, placed in the water at the rate of 250 per week by the liner Song of Norway, were intended to help map the flow of ocean currents.

Each bottle contains a message in five languages asking the finder to fill out the enclosed cards and return them to the magazine's offices in Washington.

Mr. Cox presented his daughter in marriage. She wore an ecru embroidered gown of voile fashioned with an Empire waistline, and a matching ecru straw picture hat. The bride's bouquet was a nosegay of daisies and white rosebuds.

The bride is a graduate of Midland High School. She attended Commercial College. Her husband, a graduate of Lee High School, served with the United States Navy four years. He is associated with a construction firm.

DEAR ABBY

Tooth bothers friend

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Suppose you had a friend who had a tooth missing right in the front of her mouth, and she kept saying she plans on getting it fixed, but it costs too much money.

This friend is always buying presents for others, but she keeps putting off getting a new tooth. Everyone keeps urging her to get that missing tooth replaced, but it's been years and she still hasn't done it.

Abby, how do you tell a person that even though she may be used to going without a tooth in front, those who have to look at her can't get used to it, and they wish she'd get it fixed?—A FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: If the sight of a missing tooth bothers you, that's YOUR problem and it's up to you to handle it. (P.S. Perhaps if enough friends can't stand to look at it, they'll take up a collection for the dental work. Since you seem so concerned, I nominate you to head the project.)

DEAR ABBY: A ring is not positive proof of anything. I am a single woman who wears a wedding ring to work. Why? To keep the married swingers from bothering me. Pass the idea along. It works.—PROTECTED

DEAR PROTECTED: There's only one drawback to your idea. It keeps the SINGLE men from bothering you, too. But if you don't want to be bothered by anybody, it's a good idea.

DEAR ABBY: One of the girls who works where I work is getting married next Saturday. Everyone else who works here received a printed invitation to the wedding and—reception three weeks ago. They all gave her gifts.

She gave me an "invitation" this morning by mouth, and I can't make it. Must I give her a gift?—SLIGHTED

DEAR SLIGHTED: Give her a gift "by mouth." Say, "Best wishes."

Settlement costs hospital

WASHINGTON (AP) — As the jury prepared to give its verdict in a $3.5-million malpractice suit, attorneys for Holy Cross Hospital agreed at the last minute to pay a $500,000 settlement.

The 12 jurors then were dismissed before they had the chance to announce their verdict — in favor of the hospital.

The last-minute agreement came Thursday at the end of an eight-day trial after the foreman of the circuit court jury knocked on the jury room door to indicate that 10 hours of deliberation had yielded a verdict.

The lawyers for both sides huddled and agreed on the $500,000 settlement. The judge then announced the settlement and dismissed the jurors.

As attorneys for both sides were shaking hands outside the courtroom, the jurors filed past them and mentioned that if they had been allowed to return the verdict, it would have been in favor of the hospital.

Edward and Myra Farrell had sued the hospital, claiming that their son, Jimmy, now 6, was blinded shortly after his birth at the suburban Silver Spring, Md., hospital as the result of negligence by the hospital and two doctors. The suit argued that an excessive amount of oxygen was administered to the infant after he was born two weeks prematurely on Oct. 12, 1969, and that the oxygen apparently led to the development of a rare disease that destroyed the boy's sight.

During the trial, attorney David Goldberg had argued for the Farrells that the hospital and doctors in charge of the delivery room were negligent in failing to ensure that the oxygen pumped into the infant's incubator turned off before its concentration became dangerously high.

Hospital lawyers argued that the oxygen was needed because the child was having difficulty breathing. Without oxygen, they said, Jimmy may have suffered brain damage.

The Farrells, accompanied by Jimmy, a talkative and energetic boy who during jury deliberation asked his father if he could become a lawyer, had little comment afterwards. An airport security guard, Farrell said he felt the settlement vindicated his beliefs about the case.

About a third of the settlement will go to Goldberg and his co-attorney, David Humphreys. The Farrells said they will put the remainder into a trust fund for Jimmy's education.

Carter's defense stance roughly parallels Ford's

WASHINGTON (AP) — His early statements on defense show that Democratic presidential candidate Jimmy Carter generally parallels broad Ford administration positions.

Carter even has adopted Defense Secretary Donald Rumsfeld's term "rough equivalence" to describe the U.S.-Soviet military balance.

Talking with newsmen in Plains, Ga., Carter said earlier this week that the United States is not in second place. That is what the Ford administration has been saying.

Carter said that "in some areas we're superior and in some areas they are superior." Rumsfeld repeatedly has said essentially that.

Carter said the United States must assure that "we keep a rough equivalence between ourselves and the Soviet Union in strategic atomic weapons." This sounds like Rumsfeld's assertion to Congress that such equivalence "is the foundation we must maintain."

Carter said neither the United States nor Russia could launch a "first strike" nuclear attack on the other without receiving a massive retaliatory strike in return. This amounts to the same as the Ford administration's stated position that neither superpower could mount a "disarming" first strike.

Carter said the United States should press negotiations "to slowly move downwards the outer limits of both the numbers and the quality of weapons of nuclear mass destruction."

Ford administration officials have said they hope to put a cap on the nuclear arms race under a new SALT agreement with Russia, then move later to a mutual reduction in nuclear weaponry.

So far, Carter has differed with the Ford administration principally on cutting the defense budget and on the timing of a production decision on the controversial B1 bomber.

But Carter's proposals for cutting the defense budget by $5 billion to $7 billion have focused on such generalities as improving management techniques rather than on eliminating or reducing specific costly weapons programs now underway.

As for the B1 bomber, Carter has said he opposes its production "at this time." But he has not foreclosed the possibility that he might change his mind. "The decision on production of this weapons system should be made by the next administration," Carter has said.

Carter has called for U.S. withdrawal of troops from South Korea over the next four or five years. The Ford administration has avoided any such commitment, and Rumsfeld said recently there are no present plans to reduce the U.S. military presence there.

TEXARKANA, Ark. (AP) — Johann Toifi, 38, manager of a 9,000-acre farm in Miller County, was found dead Thursday three weeks after he disappeared, sheriff's officers said.

There was no immediate word on the cause of death, but the county coroner said he appeared to have been shot in the face. The coroner said a new 12-gauge shotgun, along with the box it came in, lay near the body.

High fees paid by hospitals under investigation

By VICTOR COHN
The Washington Post

WASHINGTON — An Elkton, Md., hospital pathologist who earns $200,000 or more a year has become a central figure in state and federal efforts to curb rising health costs by limiting what doctors are paid for providing special services for hospitals.

Dr. Pietro Capurro, who runs the diagnostic laboratory and nuclear medicine services at the 145-bed Union Hospital in Elkton, received $433,000 from the hospital in a single fiscal year ending June 30, 1975, according to the Maryland Health Services Cost Review Commission.

According to Capurro, he pays assistants and buys equipment out of what he receives, so that, by his own estimates, he actually netted between $220,000 and $250,000 in calendar 1974 and about $200,000 in 1975.

THE MARYLAND commission, established three years ago to review and control hospital costs, has said that the $433,000 total is too much and that it will allow Union Hospital to pay a total of only $160,000 to Capurro and an assistant this year.

Sen. Herman Talmadge (D-Ga.), chairman of the Senate Finance Committee's health subcommittee, has cited Capurro's case in public speeches, without naming Capurro, as a prime example of the way some doctors earn "excessive" and "exorbitant" sums that have driven American health costs to unacceptable levels.

Statistics show that Capurro's earnings are not unusual among the group of doctors — pathologists and radiologists — who run the laboratories and X-ray services of many hospitals and are often paid a percentage of patients' hospital fees.

Nine Maryland hospitals paid pathologists more than $100,000 per doctor in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1975, according to the Maryland commission. Among them was Washington Adventist Hospital in Takoma Park, which paid four pathologists an average of $140,925 each, according to the commission.

Twenty-nine hospitals in the state of New York paid their pathologists or radiologists more than $100,000 per doctor in 1975. One pathologist was paid $327,841, another received $323,505, and a third was paid $283,540.

IN NEW JERSEY — according to that state's health cost review agency — the "full-time equivalent" annual earnings for 31 pathologists averaged between $100,000 and $201,000, based on a 40-hour work week. This agency's peculiar accounting means some of the real holders of these jobs earned much more, because they worked longer hours, or were paid more than the average as the heads of their departments.

One New Jersey hospital cited by Talmadge in a hearing conducted by his subcommittee has been paying its pathologist $121,000 for two weeks' work a month. "I wonder what kind of arrangement it would take for him to be there all month," Talmadge said.

Until last November, Dr. Masoud Homayouni received $370,000 a year from Washington's Greater Southeast Community Hospital, out of which he paid two other pathologists a total of about $100,000 — leaving about $260,000 as his personal income, according to a source familiar with the hospital's finances.

(Homayouni could not be reached last week or this. Mrs. Homayouni said that the estimate of her husband's income is "too much, I think," and "I know he paid the other pathologists more than $100,000.")

In addition, Homayouni ran a private laboratory business, a not uncommon practice among hospital pathologists.

Homayouni was dismissed as chief of pathology by the hospital last November. He also was sued by the hospital in a dispute settled by mutual agreement. Homayouni resigned in April.

Greater Southeast Hospital president George Caldwell said the week that, after Homayouni left, Caldwell switched from a contract giving the hospital's chief pathologist a percentage of all laboratory fees to straight salaries. Instead of paying $70,000 for the services of three pathologists, he said he now is paying four a total of "about 259,000" in salaries—a 30 per cent saving.

THIS IS WHAT Talmadge would like all hospitals to do. In Talmadge's view, the present system "subcontracts out bits and pieces of the hospital," and is one reason why the national health bill "leaps by billions each year."

University and many university-affiliated public hospitals often hire competent pathologists for $60,000 to $75,000 a year. But these institutions also offer the prestige of a university job.

Pathologists are key individuals in any hospital. They direct its laboratory, examine and pronounce judgments on bits of diseased or suspect tissue, and perform the autopsies to learn whether doctors' diagnoses and treatments are correct.

"You can't operate a hospital without a pathologist; you have to have a good one, and the supply is short," said David Grupenhoff, administrator of Elkton's Union Hospital. "We have no choice but to pay what we must — especially to attract someone to a small town. And if that's what it takes, (we) make percentage arrangements of fees."

Dr. Harold Cohen, the director of the Maryland health cost commission, said no Maryland hospital should pay more for a pathologist than what the commission found to be the state's ending June 30, 1975: $85,000.

TALMADGE, in a bill to control what the Medicare and Medicaid systems pay for health services, would make hospitals end virtually all percentage and lease deals with doctors. He said he would agree to permit them only if they have a "reasonable" ceiling.

Talmadge also would agree to a switch from percentage contracts to allowing such doctors to charge a fee for each service. About two-thirds of all radiologists already do this, according to the American College of Radiology, and the New York, New Jersey and Maryland figures seem to show that they generally earn almost as much as doctors with percentage contracts.

"This proposal would give us a start on control," said a member of Talmadge's staff. "At least the government could negotiate for lower fees."

The American Medical Association and American Hospital Association have declared their opposition to Talmadge's proposal, however. The American College of Radiology and American Society of Anesthesiologists said they could accept it with modifications.

The AMA said it is opposed to any trend toward controlling salaries for doctors. The AHA said Talmadge would tie hospitals' hands in meeting local cost conditions.

AHA president John Alexander McMahon, maintained that though "there is an isolated problem in some cases," especially in small towns, "most pathologists get an appropriate compensation in line with other physicians."

Homayouni, for example, described "the way both he and his wife worked day and night, seven days a week," in the Greater Southeast Hospital lab and "over 10 years built it up from nothing, including a period in which they made almost nothing."

CAPURRO, who is well known in Elkton for his efforts to have a nearby chemical plant's noxious fumes investigated by state and federal authorities, said he has been distressed by what he calls the Maryland health cost commission's "inquisitions" over his earnings.

He also said it was unfair for Talmadge to cite the $433,000 paid by Union Hospital for pathology services in fiscal 1974-75 because "I bought a lot of equipment in that year. I started this laboratory and in 10 years I've spent a quarter of a million dollars on its equipment."

"The commission thinks only about money, not people's health. It's ruining the laboratory now. We could never buy the equipment to build it up like I built it."

"I've had a good income, yes, but that money represented freedom to do what I wanted to build up this place and help people. I've worked 20 and 22 hours a day, seven days a week. But I'm not going to do it any more. Why should I and have everybody scream it's not right?"

"You see people making a million dollars a year, and they're not working as much. But if a doctor makes it, it's wrong."

Artificial pancreas implanted

By HARRY NELSON
The Los Angeles Times

LOS ANGELES — For the first time, an artificial pancreas has been implanted in an experimental animal, paving the way to the day — probably still years away — when diabetes can be controlled by implantable artificial means.

A team of University of Southern California school of medicine researchers headed by Dr. Samuel Bessman implanted the artificial device in a dog earlier this month.

The dog is a 7-year-old mongrel (who appears to be mostly Boxer) named Mambo because he wiggles his tail rakishly whenever he wags his tail.

"We showed it is feasible to take a machine the size of two packs of cigarettes and control the blood sugar level or ameliorate the diabetic state," Bessman said Wednesday in an interview.

Researchers at other centers in this country, Canada, Germany and elsewhere have also been working on artificial pancreases but, according to Bessman, no one else has a total unit small enough to be implantable.

Several years ago Bessman and two of his colleagues, Dr. Ennis C. Layne and Dr. Lyle Thomas, developed a miniature pump which is a key element in the artificial organ. They also have developed an electronic sensor which measures the amount of sugar in the blood at any given moment.

The device implanted in Mambo consisted of the sensor, the pump, a battery power source, a reservoir of insulin and a tiny computer that analyzes the signal from the sensor and tells the pump to release an amount of insulin considered to be sufficient to counteract the blood sugar level.

The researchers pointed out several reasons why the device is not yet clinically useful in humans.

One of the biggest obstacles, they said, is that very little is known about what the normal sugar levels are in tissues. Much more is known about normal sugar levels in blood, but, unfortunately, it is not possible to place the sensor in the bloodstream because this would induce the formation of dangerous blood clots.

Consequently, the sensor must be placed in solid tissue. Because practically nothing is known about tissue sugar levels it is not possible to program the tiny computer to release the proper amount of insulin.

So, the next project for the USC team will be to implant a number of sensors in various tissues of experimental animals and to take simultaneous blood sugar measurements so that correlations between the two may be learned.

Layne, who is professor of pharmacology, estimated it will be two or two and one-half years before a total package suitable for implanting in humans will be ready.

Preventing family problems home economists' goal

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Helping prevent family problems, instead of waiting until treatment is needed, is the direction Dr. Beverly Crabtree sees for home economists nationally.

She recently took office as president-elect of the American Home Economics Association at its annual meeting here. The 56,554 members of the organization work with families and individuals, or with businesses, agencies and organizations that provide goods, services and educational programs to help enhance the quality of life.

Seeing the family as the focus of home economics, Dr. Crabtree believes the family will in the future become an even more important social institution than now, with implications for home economists.

"I believe the responsibility of college is to prepare men and women as professional home economists to help families direct change, decide if change is desired, and, if so, decide the direction of change," says Dr. Crabtree, Dean of home economics at Oklahoma State University, Stillwater, Okla.

She feels home economists should be advocates for the family, taking positions on many issues and interpreting those positions to appropriate individuals, agencies and organizations.

"Besides the traditional family, we're seeing more one person households, more childless households and more families headed by females."

"We're also seeing more men and women sharing roles in families as wage earners, parents and homemakers as well as family roles being interchanged with more egalitarian family styles emerging."

"About one family in three in this country needs help in understanding factors shaping its future," she says, citing some causes of emotional pressures in daily living:

Changing roles and responsibilities of men and women; changing attitudes toward parenting; increasing mobility with ties lost between generations; increasing expansion of knowledge, particularly scientific; increasing use of energy and materials; increasing demand by family members for rights, including equality.

"Because of the energy situation, the economy and world-wide interdependence on resources, families are experiencing crises. But home economists can and should help families maximize their resources," she says.

"We certainly can contribute in such areas as nutritional status of families, aging programs, early childhood and parent education, housing for families and conservation of resources. And we can help solve problems of providing food, clothing, shelter and emotional support for individuals and thus for the family."

Besides helping influence legislation affecting families, Dr. Crabtree says, home economists should help individuals and families get information and skills needed to make intelligent decisions in areas having impact on their well-being.

"The emphasis in home economics on interrelationships between families and environments has recently been labeled the family ecosystem," she notes.

"By increasing the family's knowledge and understanding of its near environment, including the physical, social and cultural dimensions, home economists can help individuals and families maintain human dignity and a meaningful life in the midst of rapid social, economic and technological changes."

HOROSCOPE

By CARROLL RICHTER

(Sat., July 31)

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Good day to meet with associates and make any new arrangements that are necessary so there is more success in the future.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You can accomplish more than expected today if you cooperate more with others. Take time to shop for new accessories.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Plan the recreational activities that you wish to engage in early in the day. Steer clear of one who is jealous of you.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) A fine day for having a good time with family and friends. Come to a better understanding with those who oppose you.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Discuss your ideas with trusted allies, but use tact in doing so. Evening is the best time for recreational fun. Don't spend too much money.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) A financial expert can show you the way to have more abundance in the future. Use practical methods to gain the trust of others.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Concentrate on how to gain your most cherished aims and then be resourceful at such. Bring out your true charm and delight others.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You are capable of investigating and coming up with the right answers, which is difficult for others, so get busy at that.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Put business matters aside and enjoy the company of good friends you have not seen in a long time. Avoid one who is pessimistic.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) If you engage in a civic affair your reputation in the community improves. Some philanthropic work will also be helpful to others.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Good day for taking a trip that will gain your desired ends, be it for business or pleasure. Take needed health treatments.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Be sure to keep promises you have made with friends. More affection for mate brings the right response at this time.

Postman helps singer Hank Thompson

Hank Thompson

By NANCY ANDERSON
Copley News Service
HOLLYWOOD — This should start a flood of mail rolling, all addressed to Hank Thompson.
Thompson, the country western artist whose record sales have passed the 30 million mark and whose original works include such down-home standards as "Humpty Dumpty Heart" and "Green Light," says he gets most of the ideas for the songs he records from the postman.
No, his postman doesn't walk up whistling, but he does deliver tapes and letters which Hank finds inspirational.
"You have to listen to about 10,000 tapes to find one good one," he says, "but I try to listen to them all."
"I seldom get a song from a non-professional writer which can be used just as it's submitted, but I often get an idea that can be developed."
"And, when that happens, I make the person who submitted it a co-writer or something."

Some artists are so cautious that they won't listen to tapes or read lyrics submitted by unknown writers, lest they later be accused of plagiarism.
But Thompson isn't deterred by legal niceties.
"Sometimes I've had people say about some song: 'I wrote a song some time ago just like that,' and I'll say: 'Well, so did I.'"
"Because there aren't that many different ideas for songs."
"For instance, I wrote, 'Drop Me Gently So My Heart Won't Break' and thought that was a pretty novel idea."
"But almost immediately I heard four or five other songs with the same theme — 'Let Me Down Easy So You Won't Break My Heart,' or 'Don't Drop Me Too Hard, Because You'll Break My Heart,' or something along that line."

Thompson, who just finished a stand at the Landmark in Las Vegas, Nev., is one of the best educated of the country western balladeers.
At one time or another, he attended Princeton, SMU and the University of Texas in pursuit of a degree in electrical engineering, which he never earned, because, as he explains, "what I really wanted to do is what I'm doing now."
Nevertheless, through his college courses and through his term as a radio technician in the Navy, Thompson acquired so much electrical know-how that he can repair or even rebuild his equipment when called on.
"When I first started recording, this knowledge was a big help to me," he says, "because back then the producer and the engineer didn't know a hell of a lot more than the artist did about the technical aspects of cutting a record.

"Recording was such an underdeveloped field that I was a kind of pioneer in its techniques."
"I had my own recording system at home, where I could work on technical improvements."

associate with; I just feel its a great song."
A Canadian law, requiring one-third of the music played on radio stations be of Canadian subject matter, gave rise to an unprecedented idea.
Sheppard and Turner changed a word or two here and there, moving the locale of the song from Texas to Canada, virtually guaranteeing air play in the provinces.
San Antonio was replaced with Peggy's Cove and Lone Star Beer fell to Moosehead Ale. But the basic

Texas song 'moves' to Canada

By CARL MANNING
NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — In 1974, Jim Cowen and David Anderson wrote "Texas Is My Home," but like most of the country music written, it never got beyond the reception room of a record producer's office.
"It never went anywhere because by then everybody had been Texased to death," said Cowen, a native of Rogers, Tex.
While Cowen was trying to sell the song, Zeke Sheppard was playing rhythm guitar and harmonica in Canadian one-nighters, "many times on the same bill with Gordon Lightfoot or David Clayton Thomas."
But, Sheppard, who did many after-hours jams with Lightfoot, decided he would have to migrate to Nashville in order to make it in country music.
Since 1974, Cowen has written several more songs, played a lot of gigs, and had all but forgotten about the song.
Sheppard has been playing sideman for such artists as Mel Street and Tommy Jennings, Waylon's brother, and looking for the right song.
"I really love doing sessions. It has helped my name immensely in this town," Sheppard said.
Cowen agrees, saying, "It's a good way to get to know the right people."
Earlier this year, record producer Scott Turner asked fellow Canadian Sheppard if he would like to record "Texas Is My Home."
"Scotty played it for me and I flipped out over it," Sheppard said. "There's a lot of lyric content that I storyline and music remained unchanged.

The result: "Cape Breton Is My Home." Cowen admits he didn't like the idea at first.
"I had the same reaction as any songwriter. I didn't like the idea," Cowen said. "But after hearing the changes, I realized it just added to the song."
Sheppard recorded both versions of the song, adding his harmonica to the mix. Plans call for the song to be released simultaneously in the United States and Canada in September.

Isaac Asimov: natural resource

By MICHAEL KERNAN
The Washington Post

RENSSELAERVILLE, N.Y. — In the first hour of the conference, Isaac Asimov: hugged, kissed six pretty girls, inhaled three helpings of the buffet dinner, table-hopped, mugged, punned, composed and recited four quite good limericks about people at his table ("He uses 'em like six-guns," someone said) and reduced everyone within earshot to hiccupps as he and a scientist pal, NASA consultant Isidore Adler, fired jokes at each other — so that by the end of it people were leaning over from the nearby tables to get in on the whoops and gasps and exhausted helpless wheezings of laughter.

To be sure, over the four days recently of the "Community in Space" seminar at the Institute on Man and Science (half the members had been drawn there by his presence), his pace slowed a bit. What at first had seemed a Groucho Marx approach to women turned out to be something gentler, more innocently playful.
"If a woman ever turned around and responded to him, he'd run like a deer," drawled one kisser, who found it rather engaging. Some others were not amused, but what people noticed most was that Asimov seemed to be charmingly, desperately in love with his wife, New York psychiatrist Janet Jeppson. They held hands, even at lunch. They sought each other out in crowds, sometimes sat together quietly in a room before he was to speak, prompted one another fondly: Darby and Joan in person.
"One reason I'm crazy about Isaac is that he's not an intellectual snob," she said. "So many people won't do this or that because it's not chic or something. Well, I like rather homely things."
"That's lucky," he burst in. "Because I'm homely."
He doesn't smoke or drink. He's not a games person. Watches a little TV. Won't go to violent or pornographic movies. ("We just loved Pinocchio" and "Mary Poppins," she said.) She goes to the Philharmonic every week. He has the monthly meetings of the Trapdoor Spiders, a stag club founded 32 years ago because some corny had a wife no one could stand.

He doesn't fly. Says it is acrophobia, though he lives in the 33rd floor of a posh apartment building overlooking Central Park. Isn't interested in taking a fear-of-flying course. (Whose point of departure is not usually acrophobia but the need for highly intelligent and successful people to feel themselves in control of their environment at all times.)
The Asimovs drove to the conference in their banged-up 1968 Plymouth with a door that won't open. Isaac Asimov has written 175 books. There are 10 more at the publisher's, five still in the typewriter. In his spare moments at the conference, when he wasn't advising some hopeful young author, he was writing the 27th story in his mystery series (now on its third volume) and jotting down limericks for a second volume of those. He types 90 words per minute, turns out 35 pages a day, works from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m.
"I used to do 16 hours, but I'm slacking off. I rarely go more than 14."

Isaac Asimov is a dervish. One of the very top sci-fi writers (this winter "Isaac Asimov's Science-Fiction Magazine" will be launched), his concepts have worked their way into the language of the genre. His Robotic Laws threatened to dominate the thinking of the whole conference.
This represents less than a quarter of his working time.
"I think of myself as a writer, period," he said. "I'm doing less sci-fi and getting more interested in mysteries these days."
Not now a practicing scientist, though he taught biochemistry for years and has won various scientific awards, he has a solid reputation with specialists in his many fields. Harvard paleontologist George Simpson once said, "Isaac is a natural resource and a national wonder," inspiring the business card: "Isaac Asimov... Natural Resource."

Naturally, Asimov was one of the people sought by newspapers and television in the wake of Viking's landing on Mars. Outlining his vision of a space colony — the theme of the conference he attended earlier in the month — he told reporters that every new scientific advance means more sci-fi stories.
"I think of myself as a translator," he said in describing his extraordinary talent for clarifying professional jargon and muddy thought. "People sometimes aren't clear in their own minds what they want to say, or they're insecure so they set up a wall that others can't penetrate."
Did he think he could turn out a better book if he took his time and devoted, say, a year to it?
"I don't think I could write a slow book. I've been at it 38 years, 18 years full time, never had writer's block. I like to switch from one to another as I get tired."

Movie to shake audience

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Movie fans are due for another shaking up next year when Universal Pictures releases its new movie in Sensurround, "Rollercoaster."
Producer Jennings Lang, who introduced the theater-vibrating device with "Earthquake," will repeat with the new film, to be made against a background of amusement parks here and abroad.
James Goldstone will direct "Rollercoaster," which will exploit the newfangled thrill rides.

Patti wants one more

By JOHN C. EAGAN
SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — After 30 years in show business, Patti Page has just one goal left.
"I'd really like to have just one more hit record, so my kids and their friends would know who I am," says the 48-year-old vocalist, known to the 1950s as "The singing rage, Miss Patti Page."
"I couldn't even begin to guess how many records I've cut, but three years ago somebody figured out they sold more than 70 million copies," she said during a break in a recent show at the Fairmont Hotel.
Heading her list of 13 gold records was "The Tennessee Waltz," seven million singles sold. But tastes and the record industry have changed drastically since she recorded hit after hit, popularizing many on her own national television shows.
There used to be only a halfdozen record companies, and a relative handful of nationally known female vocalists, she said. Now she describes the public's tastes as fickle, and the business is divided among dozens of companies and a steady flood of performers.
Miss Page pointed to her adopted children, a 12-year-old son and 13-year-old daughter, as young people with changeable musical

Basin oil show space available

ODESSA — The last call has gone out to potential exhibitors of this year's Permian Basin Oil Show scheduled October 20-23 at the Ector County Coliseum complex in Odessa.

Due to unprecedented demand for exhibit space in this year's Permian Basin Oil Show, the board of directors has made available another building for inside exhibitors to be sold on a first-come, first-served basis.

Directors earlier authorized the opening of the Ector County Coliseum to exhibitors for the first time during would include many new features for the convenience of the exhibitors and for the accessibility of those engaged in the production of the nation's oil and gas as well as other forms of energy.

"The Permian Basin Oil Show has always been billed as the working man's oil show because it is down in the trenches of the industry where most of the decisions began to be made," Hall said, "and the board of directors is doing everything possible to see that the right people will be afforded the opportunity to see the equipment and services that are available to the industry."

The 1974 Permian Basin Oil Show attracted in excess of 400,000 visitors through the main gates of the Ector County Coliseum grounds, and that figure is expected to go well past the half-million mark in October. A concerted effort is being made to encourage top officials of major companies to attend this year's show and bring with them their purchasing agents as well as the men in the field.

As an added service to exhibitors the oil show office is currently taking requests for housing accommodations, as hotel and motel space is already at a premium in the Odessa-Midland area.

ENERGY OIL & GAS

the 1976 Bicentennial Permian Basin Oil Show. This space has already been sold out and many potential exhibitors remain on the waiting list.

When the Permian Basin Oil Show swings open the gates on Wednesday, October 20, to those persons actively engaged in the energy industry, the show will feature the products and services of approximately 500 companies to make it one of the largest expositions of its kind in the world.

The approximately 500 exhibitors will be spread over a 20-acre paved area, and those visiting exhibitors inside the coliseum and exhibit buildings will get the red carpet treatment at this year's show as all aisles will be carpeted for the comfort of both visitors and exhibitors.

"The enthusiasm generated by this year's Permian Basin Oil Show has been staggering," commented Jay Alvey, executive director of the show and vice president of Odessa's First National Bank. "The exhibitors who have already signed up for this year's show represent every phase of the industry and come from throughout Texas, 23 other states and Canada."

"We expect many new pieces of equipment and innovations of the energy industry to be unveiled at our October show here in Odessa," Alvey said. "With the limited space that we have left we are hoping that we can accommodate every exhibitor who wants to tell his story to the industry and the public."

J. W. "Bill" Hall, vice president of Loffland Brothers Co. and 1976 oil show president, said this year's show

Florida gas to build line

WINTER PARK, Fla. — Florida Gas Transmission Co., the interstate natural gas pipeline subsidiary of Florida Gas Co., and Transcontinental Gas Pipe Line Corp. have announced the filing of an application with the Federal Power Commission to build a jointly-owned pipeline to bring natural gas to shore from a new field in the Gulf of Mexico offshore Louisiana.

If the application is approved, Florida Gas and Transco will construct approximately 14 miles of 24-inch pipeline connecting an offshore production platform in the new Vermilion Block 22 field with Transco's Central Louisiana Gathering System and subsequently with Florida Gas' pipeline system. Transco will be responsible for design and construction of the new pipeline facilities, which will include a meter and regulator station on the Block 22 field platform. Florida Gas Transmission will share 50-50 in the estimated $12 million cost of the facilities.

Fourteen successful gas wells have been drilled in the Vermilion Block 22 field, which lies about six miles off the Southern Louisiana coast in approximately 35 feet of water.

The Block 22 lease was acquired by a group of companies headed by Shell Oil Co. in the Oct. 1974 Federal lease sale. The group paid a total bonus of $42,840,000 for the lease. Of this amount, Florida Gas Exploration Co., the oil and gas exploration subsidiary of Florida Gas, paid $2,082,500 for a 4.17 per cent working interest in the lease. Florida Gas Transmission has a call on approximately one-sixth of the gas reserves found on the lease.

Extender flows gas

Texas Pacific Oil Co., Inc. was flowing production to pipeline at No. 3 Elsinore Cattle Co., 1/4-mile north and west extension to the Elsinore multiphase field of Pecos County.

The firm reported a flow gauge of 2.5 million cubic feet per day, through a 10-64-inch choke and perforations at 12,621-12,847 feet.

Location is 1,500 feet from south and 1,320 feet from east lines of section 36, block C, G&SF survey, 17 miles south of Fort Stockton.

Dividend declared

Elcor Chemical Corp. today announced its directors have declared a regular quarterly cash dividend of 25 cents per share.

Roy E. Campbell, Elco president, said the payment will be Aug. 25 to shareholders of record Aug. 12.

The Midland-based company manufactures industrial and building products and engineers and constructs facilities for the energy, chemical and mining industries.

Outpost try set in Ward

BTA Oil Producers of Midland filed application to drill No. 3 7417 JV-S Winkler as a one-mile south outpost in Ward County, to the Wink, South (Montoya-Ellenburger) field of Winkler.

Drillsite is 1,320 feet from north and east lines of section 88, block F, G&MM&A survey. Planned depth is 19,150 feet.

BARGES LADEN WITH equipment and form up in Seattle's harbor before beginning the 3,200-mile journey. The barges began leaving early in July, and most now wait at Port Clarence, Alaska, for the ice to clear.

Discovery finals; outpost scheduled

The Ozona, Northeast gas field of Crockett County gained a new pay, 7,800 Canyon, with completion of J. Cleo Thompson, Dallas, No. 2-B P. L. Childress, 1/4 mile south of the Ellenburger opener, and 1 1/4 mile south of 7,520 Canyon pay in the field.

It gauged a calculated, absolute open flow of 1,775 million cubic feet of gas daily, with gas-condensate ratio of 17.678-1. Production was through perforations at 7,637-7,787 1/2 feet, after fracturing the pay with 30,000 gallons and 50,000 pounds.

Total depth is 8,712 feet, and 4 1/2-inch casing is set at 7,871 feet. Top of the Canyon was picked at 7,383 feet, under ground elevation of 2,366 feet.

Wellsite is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 6, block GH, GC&SF survey.

Thompson also plans to drill No. 3-B P. L. Childress, a 9,000-foot exploration, 1 1/4 mile south of the Ellenburger opener, but separated from it by the 7,800 Canyon opener.

Location is 1,980 feet from south and 660 feet from west lines of section 6, block GH, GC&SF survey.

Also, Davis Oil Co. of Tulsa, Okla., intends to drill No. 1 Shannon Estate as a 3,000-foot wildcat in Crockett, 11 miles east of Iraan.

Drillsite is 7,350 feet from north and 8,000 feet from east lines of section 2, Archer CSL, 2 1/4 mile northeast of Grayburg oil production in the Olson field.

M. C. Vinson of Midland has staked site for a northeast offset to production in the four-well Yates oil sector of the Vaughn field of Crockett, 12 miles northwest of Ozona. It is No. 3-2 Shannon.

Location for the test, slated to 1,500 feet, is 3,620 feet from south and 990 feet from west lines of section 2, block 400, Mrs. Oglesby survey.

Brunch scheduled

New members of the Midland Desk and Derrick Club will be honored at a brunch at 11 a. m. Saturday at the Midland Country Club. Mrs. Peggy Bradfield, director for Region V, will present the orientation program, "The Scope of Desk and Derrick."

Pay opens in Hockley

Estes Engineering Co. of Midland has completed its No. 1 Smitherman as a Strawn discovery in Hockley County, 6 1/2 miles southwest of Smyer. Proposed field designation is WDA (Strawn).

The well had a 24-hour potential gauge of 19.3 barrels of 38-gravity oil and 36 barrels of water, with gas-oil ratio measuring 518-1. Perforations had been washed with 500 gallons of mud acid.

Drilled to 11,596 feet, it has 4 1/2-inch casing seated at 10,208 feet, and is plugged back to 10,204 feet.

It originally was drilled in 1963 by Broseco Corp., and plugged by that firm at 10,167 feet.

Wellsite is 660 feet from north and east lines of labor 3, league 14, Howard CSL survey, 1 1/4 miles northwest of Pennsylvania production in the Ropes field.

Coast test shows oil

HOUSTON (AP) — A wildcat oil test 15 miles off the Southern California coast has encountered about 120 feet of indicated oil bearing sands according to a report from a group headed by Shell Oil Co.

The Shell announcement Thursday said "any commercial significance of the indicated hydrocarbons cannot be determined until drilling and testing are completed."

The potential oil sands were encountered in multiple zones between 2,850 and 3,350 feet, Shell said, and drilling is planned to continue to a total depth of 8,000 feet.

It is the first of several exploratory wells planned for the general area in which Shell and its partners also obtained seven other tracts in a sale last December. Shell and the six partners paid $71.2 million for San Pedro Bay tracts 261 and 262 in the federal offshore lease sale. The test well is being drilled on tract 262 south of Long Beach.

Shell holds a 50 per cent interest in tracts 262 and 261. Oxy Petroleum, American Independent Oil, Chanslor-Western Oil and Development and three Hamilton Brothers companies are the others in the group.

Reactor study urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Environmental Protection Agency is urging the Nuclear Regulatory Commission to begin a long-awaited study of nuclear reactor safety.

The EPA wrote letters, obtained by The Associated Press, to the NRC last July 2 claiming the commission has been promising an in-depth study for years but has yet to begin it.

William Rowe, EPA deputy assistant administrator for radiation programs, said in an interview he has not yet received a reply from the NRC to the letters he wrote.

Lee Gossick, NRC executive director for operations who received one of the letters, told a reporter his staff is still reviewing the EPA request.

Asked about Rowe's contention that the NRC promised to do the study on environmental and safety effects of reactors, Gossick said, "I'm not sure that's an accurate reflection....It's debatable."

Rowe had also written to Voss Moore, NRC assistant director for environmental projects, objecting to statements in the commission's environmental study of certain nuclear power plants.

He said the study claimed that the NRC's so-called Rasmussen Report, showed the risks of accidental radiation exposure to be "acceptably low."

Rowe said NRC seemed to be leaping from Rasmussen's showing that the risks are low to an unsupported judgment that they are "acceptable" — a judgment that can not be made without gathering evidence of public opinion.

In his letter to Gossick, Rowe repeated that theme: Now that Rasmussen has provided a measurement of reactor risks, he wrote, "it is time to proceed to the next logical step" of determining how high a risk is acceptable.

Rowe urged the NRC to prepare a "generic" evaluation of risk-acceptability — an evaluation that would apply to all reactors of the same design now used for most nuclear power plants.

"Once the level of acceptable risks has been determined," Rowe wrote to Gossick, "it should be possible to determine whether it is necessary to make reactor licensing requirements and siting practices more stringent to reduce the risks, and whether improvements in emergency preparedness planning and implementation are necessary."

In his letter, Rowe said that EPA had been meeting with representatives of the President's Council on Environmental Quality and the Atomic Energy Commission, predecessor of the NRC, since 1971 to discuss the environmental impact statements submitted on proposals to build and operate nuclear plants.

559.2 miles of pipe down

ANCHORAGE, Alaska — Workers have installed 559.2 miles of pipe on the 800-mile trans-Alaska pipeline project.

The total includes 250.9 miles of pipe above ground, 278.8 miles below ground and 29.5 miles of pipe at river crossing.

As of the middle of July, completed work included 324.8 miles of ditch, 141 miles of pipe insulation, 687.1 miles of welded pipe and installation of 33,540 crossbeams for the above-ground support systems.

Borden, Scurry get stepouts to fields

Applications have been filed to drill stepouts in fields in Borden and Scurry counties.

Shell Oil Co. plans to drill No. 101-X-UL Slaughter as a twin to and replacement for its No. 101-UL Slaughter, former producer in the U-Lazy-S (Pennsylvanian and Ellenburger) field of Borden County.

It is projected to 8,700 feet, and spots 265 feet from north and 396 feet from west lines of section 15, block 30, T-6-N, T&P survey, 12 miles north of Gail.

The field has four Pennsylvanian wells. Ellenburger pay is not currently producing.

SCURRY PROJECTS

Hughes Operating Co. of Midland

intends to drill four stepouts to production in the Sharon Ridge, Northeast (San Andres) field of Scurry, nine miles south of Snyder.

No. 3 John Richardson spots 1,650 feet from north and 467 feet from west lines of section 88, block 3, H&GN survey.

No. 1 Holmes is 1,787 feet from south and 467 feet from east lines of section 134, block 3, H&GN survey.

No. 1 Wall is 2,173 feet from north and 467 feet from east lines of section 134, block 3, H&GN survey.

And No. 2 John Richardson is 1,650 feet from north and 1,667 feet from west lines of section 88, block 3, H&GN survey.

All are slated to 1,800 feet.

Opens complete; wildcat site staked

Two discoveries have been completed in Runnels County, and site was staked for a wildcat.

Desert Oil Co. of Abilene finalized No. 1 L. O. Byrd as an unidentified discovery, 1/2 mile northeast of Gray production in the Fort Chadbourne field.

DRY HOLES

Prime rate cut brings stock gains

NEW YORK (AP) - The stock market advanced slightly today as a reduction in the prime lending rate spread in the banking industry.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was up 1.70 at 980.99, and gainers held a slim lead over losers among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

New York's Citibank, second largest in the nation, and several other banks around the country announced during the morning that they were joining in a prime rate cut from 7 1/2 to 7 per cent begun earlier in the week by a handful of banks in Chicago and New York.

The market was listless for most of the morning, but then began edging ahead just before the noon hour.

National Semiconductor fell 2 1/4 to 34 on top of a net drop of 7 1/2 points in the past two days. The company said today that manufacturing problems announced earlier in the week on its semiconductor components would have a "significant" impact on its earnings for its fiscal first quarter.

The NYSE's composite index of all its listed common stocks was up .04 at 55.06. The American Stock Exchange market value index lost .13 to 103.43. Volume remained very light on the Big Board, totalling 5.90 million shares over the first two hours against 5.97 million in the like period Thursday.

HOUSTON (AP) - City Treasurer Henry Krieger says if any changes are made in a proposed $385.7 million budget for next year then city property owners can expect a 26 per cent tax increase.

The city's current tax rate is $1.58 per $100 assessed valuation. Assessments are made at 53 per cent of market value.

The subcommittee said it is drafting legislation based on its recommendations.

The three member subcommittee has held hearings across the state. The chairman is Rep. Albert Brown of San Antonio and members are Reps. Jim Clark of Pasadena and Frank Madia of San Antonio.

HOUSTON (AP) - An electric certification hearing for power suppliers in 14 West Texas counties is expected to conclude today at the Public Utilities Commission here.

The hearing, which involves 10 electric suppliers in the Midland area, is one of a series of hearings to certify areas of operation of all utilities operating in Texas. The Utilities Commission is attempting to certify each utility before it begins regulation on Sept. 1.

A spokesman for the commission said the main controversy in the hearing has been conflicting claims by West Texas Utilities, Concho Valley Electric Cooperative and Southwest Texas Electric Cooperative. Each is claiming overlapping areas of operation in several counties.

Most of the area in the 14 counties will be certified to only one electric utility, but some areas could receive dual or triple certification.

Another potential conflict, according to Regina Jones of the commission, resulted from Cap Rock Electric Cooperative and Texas Electric Service Co. both filing to serve customers within the City of Midland.

Jones explained that Midland had intervened in the applications, saying it didn't want Cap Rock in the city, and that prior to the hearing an agreement had been reached whereby TESCO would purchase Cap Rock's lines within the city.

Counties involved in the hearing and electric suppliers operating in each area are: Gaines - TESCO, Southwestern Public Service Co., Lea County Electric Coop and Lynterag Electric Coop; Dawson - Cap Rock, TESCO, Southwestern and Lynterag; Borden - Lone Wolf Electric Coop, Midwest Electric Coop, TESCO, Lynterag and Cap Rock; Scurry - TESCO, Midwest and Lone Wolf; Andrews - TESCO, Lynterag, Cap Rock and Southwestern; Martin - TESCO, Lynterag and Cap Rock; Howard - TESCO, Lone Wolf and Cap Rock; Mitchell - TESCO, Midwest, Lone Wolf, West Texas Utilities and Concho Valley; Midland - TESCO and Cap Rock; Glasscock - TESCO, Cap Rock and Concho Valley; Upton - TESCO, West Texas Utilities, Cap Rock and Concho Valley; Taylor - TESCO, West Texas Utilities, Cap Rock and Concho Valley; Terrell - TESCO, West Texas Utilities, Cap Rock and Concho Valley; and Irion - West Texas Utilities, Cap Rock, Concho Valley and Southwest Texas.

DETROIT (AP) - Auto industry profits rose to a record $1.5 billion in the second quarter, as the Big Three car makers parlayed a robust market recovery into record-shattering financial performances.

Ford Motor Co. on Thursday reported that its net profits in the April-June period hit an all-time high of $442 million, more than four times its depressed earnings of a year ago.

GM reported second-quarter earnings of $908 million, the most ever made in a three-month period by an industrial firm. Chrysler posted record profits of $155 million.

Reformers link commercials, TV violence

NEW YORK (AP) - Television commercials for Burger King and Clorox are more associated with violence than those of Holiday Inn or Raid bug-killer, according to the National Citizens Committee for Broadcasting (NCCB) after a sixweek study of television violence.

NCCB is a tax-exempt nonprofit group advocating television reform. It is headed by Nicholas Johnson, a former member of the Federal Communications Commission.

The study said other sponsors of violent television fare include Tegrin Shampoo, Colgate-Palmolive, Gillette, Breck, Ford, Johnson & Johnson, American Motors and Lysol.

The group said the top 10 advertisers whose commercials were associated with the least violence televised during the period were Aramid Radial Tires, IBM, Lipton Products, No Nonsense Osear Meyer, Proctor & Gamble Foods, Frito Lay Products, Chrysler Corp., Holiday Inn and Raid.

The report also ranked the 10 most violent and 10 least violent programs, according to the NCCB's study.

Headed the most violent list were the police dramas "SWAT," "The Rookies," "Starky & Hutch," "McMillan and Wife," "Columbo," and "Joe Forrester." Rounding out the top 10 were "Rockford Files," "Sara," "ABC Sunday Night at the Movies," "CBS Friday Night at the Movies" and "NBC Saturday Night at the Movies."

Most of the 10 least violent programs were situation comedies. They included "The Bob Newhart Show," "The Mary Tyler Moore Show," "Welcome Back, Kotter," "Chico and the Man," "Doc" and "Rhoda." Others on the nonviolent list were "The Practice," "The Waltons," "Little House on the Prairie" and "Barney Miller."

The report said the violent shows act to desensitize the audience to violence, making confrontation and combat acceptable social behavior. For heavy viewers, it said, it encourages withdrawal, distrust, insecurity and unwarranted fear of crime in one's own life.

Alfred Schneider, vice president of the American Broadcasting Companies Inc., said the report was of little use in helping the industry to understand how to handle violence responsibly on television programs.

CBS and NBC also questioned the validity of the survey.

Johnson said, "There is no longer doubt that violence in American television is doing us grave injury as a people. Information about its location, extent, and sponsorship, we believe, can be a constructive service to all who care about this national tragedy."

HOUSTON (AP) - A Texas legislative study subcommittee says it has found an "unbelievable lack of discipline" in public schools and has recommended that high school seniors pass a test before they can graduate by 1980.

In a report issued by the subcommittee Thursday, the legislators asked that six graders throughout Texas be given a test beginning in 1978 to check competency in reading and mathematics.

By 1980, the report stated, pupils will be required to pass the tests in order to be promoted to the seventh grade. Youngsters who fail the test will have to repeat course work until they can pass, the subcommittee recommended.

State-wide testing at the high school level should begin in 1978, according to the recommendations, to check reading and mathematics. By 1980, seniors should be required to pass the test in order to receive a high school diploma.

The recommendation also call for smaller elementary school classes, with a maximum of 15 pupils in kindergarten classes, 19 in grade one through three and 21 in grades four through six.

"The current reality is that Texas high schools are graduating large numbers of students who simply cannot read, write or do basic arithmetic at a level high enough to be functionally competent in everyday tasks," the report said.

Howe takes first step to appeal

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Rep. Allan Howe, convicted of trying to buy sex from two police decoy prostitutes, is being arraigned anew by a higher court, a step toward an appeal trial before a new jury.

A press aide, Michael Whitney, said the Utah Democrat would be arraigned today in absentia. Howe will remain in Washington while an attorney enters a plea for him here. No date for the new trial has been set.

Howe's misdemeanor conviction was in city court. Utah law says such convictions can be appealed in state District Court, where the defendant can get a new trial. In effect, the whole process of pleading to a formal charge and trying the case starts from scratch.

In city court, a four-member jury convicted Howe last week after two police decoy prostitutes, Margaret Hamblin and Kathleen Taylor, said Howe offered them $20 on June 12 for specific sex acts.

Howe chose not to address that jury, and his lawyer called no witnesses. The lawyer labeled the decoys' version "a contrived, fabricated script."

There was no indication when the appeal would be settled. In the meantime, Howe has been urged by fellow Democrats, Republicans and others to abandon his bid for reelection.

Court denies stay in plan for Dallas

DALLAS (AP) — Dallas Independent School District officials greeted with elation the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals' refusal to delay implementation of a federal court desegregation order for Dallas schools.

The appellate court, in a one-sentence ruling Thursday, offered no explanation in rejecting a plea by the NAACP that the desegregation order be stayed from implementation this fall pending an appeal.

"Praise the Lord and hallelujah!" exclaimed school board vice president Sarah Haskins. "It looks like we're going to be able to get on with a peaceful implementation of the court order."

Dallas School Supt. Nolan Estes said he was "delighted" to hear the stay had been denied, and school board president Bull Hunter said he was "pleased," calling the ruling "positive."

Judges James T. Coleman and Gerald Tjostlat issued this ruling: "It is ordered that the motion of the intervenors, Oak Cliff Branch, et al. of the metropolitan branches of the Dallas NAACP for stay pending appeal is denied."

The desegregation order was handed down in April by U.S. District Court Judge William M. Taylor Jr. It divides the Dallas Independent School District into six subdistricts and calls for busing more than 17,000 students in grades four through eight.

Last spring Taylor denied an NAACP request that he stay the order and the NAACP then asked the appeals court to order the plan not be implemented this fall.

The NAACP, in its motion for a stay, cited costs of putting into effect the student assignment portion of the plan, which leaves 26,000 students attending all-black schools in the Oak Cliff subdistrict.

The denial removes apparently the last legal hurdle to the plan's implementation when school opens Aug. 23.

However, NAACP attorney Brice Cunningham said denial of the request for a stay will have no bearing on the appeal.

"This means that the school board can go ahead and implement the plan that the court ordered," he said. "It does not affect our appeal. Our appeal still goes forward. It (the stay denial) does not say that the order is constitutional or unconstitutional."

Hunter also warned that it would be a "mistake" to believe that the denial indicates the court's support of Judge Taylor's order. "I think we'll just have to wait until the court actually rules on the appeal," Hunter said.

Connally: VP a 'do-nothing' job

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — "I've never known a happy vice president," says former Gov. John Connally of Texas, whose endorsement of President Ford has thrown him squarely into contention for nomination for that post.

"It's a do-nothing job," Connally said Thursday. "It all depends on what the President wants him to do. I've been in and out of Washington since 1939 and I've never known a happy vice president."

He told reporters he does not like to be told what he can or cannot say and where he has to go.

Nevertheless, he said, "I could do it if that fell my lot."

Connally said he believes he is competent to be vice president or president but added: "Whether I fit anyone else's bill, I don't know." He said he has done nothing to seek the nomination and that although he and President Ford have discussed campaign strategy, they have not discussed the vice presidential nomination.

He said he does not think Reagan helped himself by tapping Sen. Richard Schweiker of Pennsylvania as his running mate if he is nominated at the upcoming Republican convention.

And Connally acknowledged at a news conference there is a movement to stop him from getting the vice presidential nomination if Ford is named to the top spot. "I don't know why," he said. "The only place I'm going is back to Houston."

He declined to guess whether his name on the ticket would help counteract former Gov. Jimmy Carter, the Democratic presidential nominee, in the South. "Geography is magnified all out of proportion," he said. "It all depends on the man."

He said he thinks his party will win in November because the national problems the Democrats are talking about were created by them.

"The President has a marvelous record to run on," Connally said.

He said he thinks Ford has the nomination virtually in hand because of a decision by Chairman Clark Reed of the Mississippi delegation to support Ford.

Mrs. Connally said that whatever her husband does, she'll be with him, "but I hope it's at home."

She said "all this talk about John being vice president is premature. I just don't think it's time to talk about it."

Besides, she said, one of her problems if he does become vice president is that she hates to fly.

"I just fly with my fingers crossed and try to drag my foot," she said.

Second bank cuts prime

NEW YORK (AP) — Citibank, the nation's second largest, on today followed the trend set by a number of smaller banks and cut its prime lending rate from 7 1/4 to 7 per cent.

Other banks cutting the rate this week included the Morgan Guaranty Trust Co., Bank of New York and First National Bank of Chicago.

The prime is the minimum rate the banks levy on loans to their biggest and most creditworthy borrowers.

Search for Hoffa has lasted a year

DETROIT (AP) — In the year since former Teamsters President James R. Hoffa vanished, the federal government has put the kind of effort into looking for him that it once put into sending him to jail.

The ambitious union boss, 62 at the time, dropped from eight a year ago today. Federal investigators have concluded he was slain, and that the motive had something to do with his desire to return to the presidency of the nation's largest and richest union.

More than half a dozen reputed Mafia figures and dozens of Teamsters have appeared before a federal grand jury that has heard perhaps 100 witnesses in all.

The FBI has tracked down tips that Hoffa was a hostage in a Gardena, Calif., Teamsters hangout; that he was buried in the foundation of building in Cadillac, Mich.; that he was dumped in a trash compactor and hauled away by a truck from a Mafia-controlled disposal firm.

But they have found no trace of Hoffa, and his son, James P. Hoffa, has concluded they never will.

"I believe that eventually the individuals responsible for my father's disappearance will be brought to justice," Hoffa said Thursday.

But he said whoever "assassinated" his father did it in such a way that "we'll never find him."

Hoffa's family and Teamsters have offered rewards totalling $300,000 for information. But U.S. Atty. Philip Van Dam says there are "no indictments around the corner.... We have not reached a stone wall. It's an active investigation, but a very complex one."

In 1967, after years of efforts to prosecute him, Hoffa began serving a sentence for jury tampering. He resigned as president of the 2.3-million member union as a condition for parole in 1971.

But Hoffa said later he didn't know that a parole restriction banned him from union activities until 1980, and he claimed the ban resulted from a conspiracy between the Nixon White House and the current Teamsters president, Frank Fitzsimmons, his onetime protege.

Shortly before disappearing, Hoffa told associates he was confident he would win court challenges to the ban on union activities. He planned to run against Fitzsimmons at the Teamsters convention in Las Vegas last month. F have cons wound up un-

Farm exports chalk record

WASHINGTON (AP) — As had been predicted for some time, the value of U.S. farm exports in the fiscal year which ended June 30 set another record.

Agriculture Department officials said Thursday that the export value of commodities climbed to $22.15 billion last year, up 3 per cent from $21.6 billion in 1974-75, the previous high. It was the sixth straight year of record farm export values.

"For three years now our agricultural exports have been more than $21 billion," Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz said in a statement. In each of those years, the United States needed those foreign dollars to help pay the rising import bills for petroleum and other commodities. Butz said.

Smothers to split

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Smothers Brothers, Tommy and Dick, say they are ending their long entertainment association as a team and don't plan to appear together after the end of the year.

"There are no problems, we get along better than ever," Dick Smothers said during a Thursday night appearance on the Tonight Show.

But he said he wanted to spend more time in personal activities and with his family. "So we plan to retire as a team at the end of the year."

Tommy said that although he and his brother were splitting up their act he planned to remain active in show business.

The brothers have had their own shows on all three major television networks after their joke-telling, folksong act gained national attention in

North rally nets 10-8 star victory

By TERRY WILLIAMSON
R-T Sports Writer
HOUSTON—The North was given every opportunity in the world to lay down and die in the Astrodome Thursday night in the 42nd North-South Texas High School football game, but the Yanks finally crossed the goal line with 1:09 left in the game to pull out a 10-8 fire-doubling victory before 14,375 fans.

Plano's Sammy Bickham, a quarterback who is headed for Baylor University, saw enough adversity to destroy most young kids of 18 years of age. But the 6-3 lefty kept bombing until he set up the winning score with a 47-yard aerial to Texas bound Michael Lockett of Ft. Worth to the South 35 with 5:25 left in the game.

NINE PLAYS later, Bryan's Curtis Dickey, the bluest of blue chippers in the game who had gained only 56 yards in 17 carries, made his most important run of the night with a two-yard victory spurt. Crowell's David Bell kicked the extra point for the final margin.

The South captured the lead in the third quarter on a 16-play, 80-yard march behind quarterback Harold Bailey of Houston Yates, who is headed for Oklahoma State.

Bailey had passes of 16 and 20 yards to Groveton's Stephen Callahan and Odist Bryant respectively to set up his own three-yard TD run with 4:25 remaining in the third period. Bryant then ran a fake kick in for a two-point conversion in a 8-3 South lead.

The North, totally dominating the first half, was only able to cash in on a 30-yard Bell field goal for a 3-0 in the second quarter.

THE NORTH defense was awesome in the contest, but it looked like the lone South drive of the night might stand up for the victory. The North threaten time after time on offense, but penalties and All-Star break-downs hurt the squad of Abilene Cooper's Ray Overton.

Spearheading the North defense was Midland High's James Zachery along with Enis' John Paul Monreal, Ft. Worth's Frank Hartman and John Tyler's Zach Guthrie.

Zachery was all over the field. He made six tackles, added six assists, broke up a pass, recovered a fumble and caught a 29-yard pass, which was nullified by a penalty.

"The South moved on us only once," Zachery, the Texas A&M bound linebacker proudly said after the game. "We never gave up. We knew we had a good offense, and it was just a matter of time before they put it together. It was a fun game and I had a good time. I thought I played a pretty good game."

ZACHERY MADE have had confidence in the North offense, but not any in the South-oriented crowd thought the North could pull it out in view of their misfortunes throughout the game.

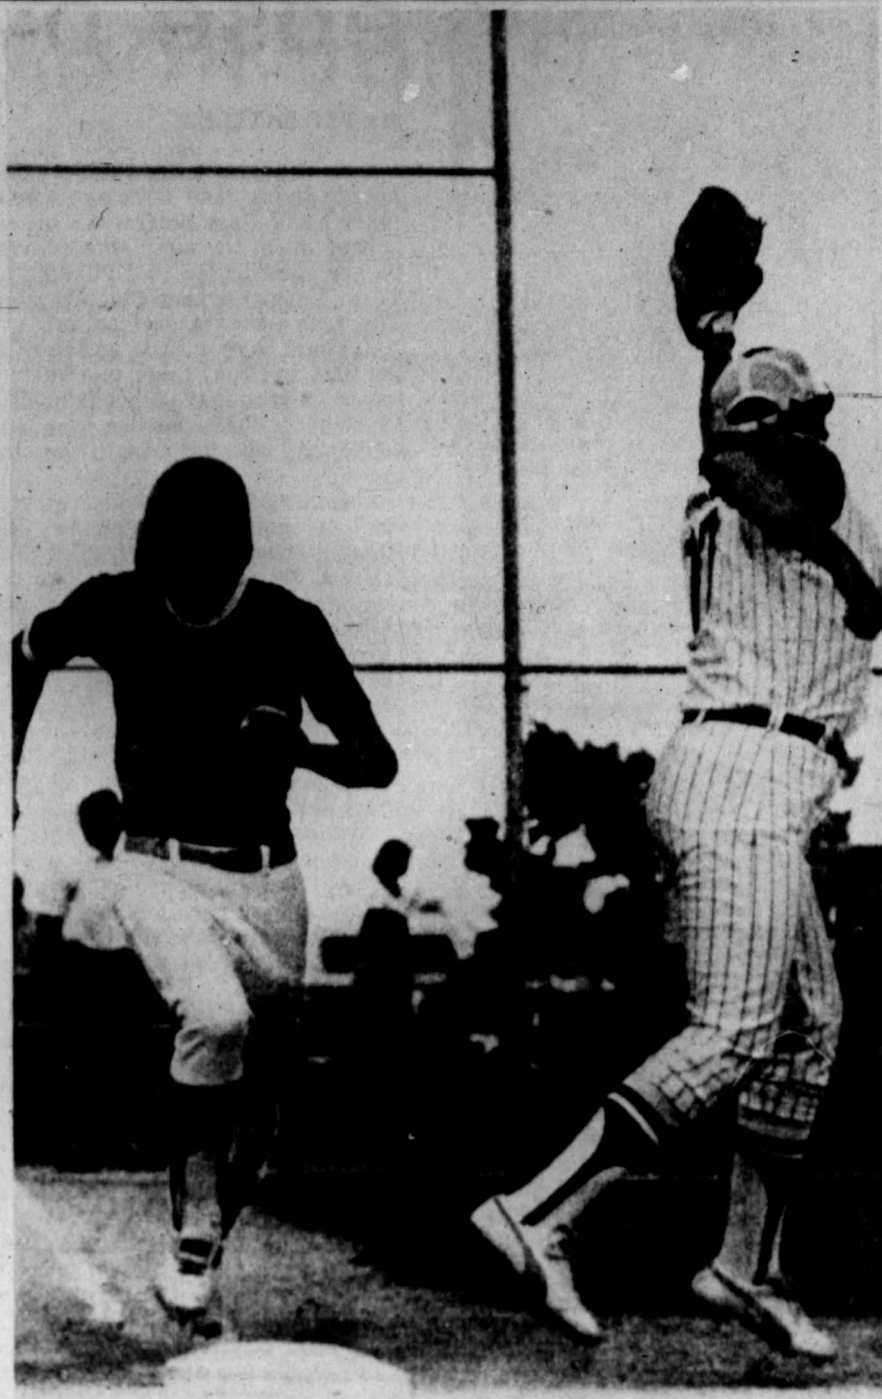

Bickham, who finally wound up with the Most Valuable Player Award, was an accurate bomb scaper but invariably the penalties would stop any startling grabs from becoming a factor. Bickham did hit Lockett with two key passes of 57 and 47 yards to set up the field goal and TD.

Bickham also completed passes of 33, 58, and 29 yards that were called back on penalties. Dickey also dropped one in the end zone, and the 33-yarder which was wiped out was a touchdown to Ivan Johnson of Childress in the first half.

THE NORTH outrushed the South by a 149-87 margin and outscored them, 120-64. Bickham completed four out of 10 for 114 yards while Lockett was on the receiving end of 110 of them.

Despite Dickey's poor showing, he was the leading rusher, but his longest gain was seven yards.

The North now owns a 23-15-3 advantage in the series.

Brewers outslug Lafayette

By The Associated Press

It took 15 innings for San Antonio to pull out an 11-9 victory Thursday night in a Texas League slugfest with Lafayette.

Elsewhere around the circuit El Paso nudged Shreveport 7-6, Midland nipped Arkansas 5-4 and Amarillo beat Jackson 6-1.

In the game at Lafayette, San Antonio had the bases loaded with one out in the 15th when Keith Chauncy grounded to third base and a quick throw caught the lead runner at the plate. But a relay back to third sailed into the outfield and Dan Duran and Doug Duncan scampared home with the tying and winning runs.

Jerry Reedy paced San Antonio with a double and three singles. Craig Barnes socked his 17th home run, a single and a double for Lafayette, while teammate Wendell Kim hit four singles. Bobby Cueller, who now has a 6-4 record with 11 saves, was the winning pitcher and Julio Divison, 5-11, the loser.

A solo homer by Gil Kubski in the sixth inning snapped a 6-6 tie and won for El Paso at Shreveport.

U.S. may have more problems

MONTREAL (AP)—The United States, looking at an embarrassing third place finish in the XXI Olympic Games, can anticipate even greater difficulties four years from now.

"In 1980 in Moscow we will really be killed unless our government supports the athletes," said Arnie Robinson, who claimed an American gold medal—a rare occurrence this week—in the men's long jump.

"A lot of us are amateurs. There's no way to beat the rest of the world if they are professionals. When we get to Moscow, it's going to awaken the world that we are way behind."

AND THE United States, which adheres strictly to the Olympics' amateur code, fell further behind Russia and East Germany, whose athletes are subsidized by the state, in Thursday's competition, enlivened by a dispute between the two Communist powers.

With only two full days of competition left in these quadriennial celebrations of sport, Russia had a practically insurmountable lead in medals with 94 over-all, built on a total of 34 gold, 33 silver and 27 bronze. East Germany, whose state-supported sports enclaves have produced some phenomenal women athletes, has gained a 32-20-22 count, 74 total, and the United States is at 24-26-23, 73 over-all. West Germany is fourth at 10-8-12.

The Americans will gain more—but it doesn't figure to be enough to catch up. Six U.S. boxers last night fought their way into Saturday's finals. All are assured of a gold or a silver.

THE UNITED States also has six men unbeaten through three rounds of the freestyle wrestling competition, and Darrell Pace, Reading, Ohio, and Luann Ryan, Riverside, Calif., lead the men's and women's divisions in archery.

The Americans also have solid medal possibilities in three of today's four track and field finals.

Bruce Jenner, San Jose, Calif., was in third place after the first day of the demanding decathlon but usually has his best performances on the second day. He is rated an excellent chance at a gold. Guido Krastcemer of West Germany led after five events with 4,333 points, followed by Russia Nikolay Avilov with 4,315 and Jenner with 4,298—his highest first-day score ever.

JAN MERRILL, Waterford, Conn., set an American record of 4 minutes, 2.61 seconds in qualifying for today's final of the women's 1,500 meters.

All three American entrants—Army Lt. Tommy Haynes, James Butts, Los Angeles, and Rayfield Dupree, Lynwood, Calif.—made it to the triple jump finals this afternoon.

The United States does not expect a medal in the other final, the 5,000 meters, where a skinny Finnish policeman, Lasse Viren, will seek to become the first man ever to win both the distance races in consecutive Olympics.

Alberto Juantorena of Cuba and Irene Szewinska of Poland made Olympic history; the East Germans won a protest against Russia, and Robinson of San Diego and Randy Williams of Fresno, Calif., gave the United States a 1-2 finish in the men's long jump, highlighting Thursday's track and field.

THE AMERICANS boasted they would shut the powerful Juantorena out of the medals in the 400 meters, but he wouldn't be held off. Juantorena won it in 44.26 and became the first man ever to win both the 800 and 400

One billionth fan expected

CHICAGO (AP) — Barring rain, some will walk into Wrigley Field to watch a ball game Saturday afternoon and suddenly find himself surrounded by baseball executives and grinning press agents eager to heap honor on him.

ceremonial purposes anyway, major league baseball's One Billionth Fan. The billionth fan to pass through a ballpark turnstile since records were first kept in 1901 is expected somewhere in the nation on either Friday evening or Saturday afternoon.

Gold medals won't spoil John Naber

By SALLY QUINN
The Washington Post

Things have changed for John Naber. A lot. "My privacy for one thing. All gone. Shattered. In six days." Autograph hounds besiege him, the press is all over him, he suddenly has a lot of very good friends, he can't walk in the street or have dinner without being recognized.

But he's prepared for it. He's given it quite a bit of thought. For one thing, he saw what happened to a predecessor, Mark Spitz, who got a lot of bad publicity after winning seven gold medals four years ago.

"I'M NOT Mark Spitz," says Naber, a winner of four gold medals, as he stretches out his long legs on a second chair and twitches his blond mustache. "And I can't compare myself with him. Any bad publicity he got he doesn't deserve. But he stuck his foot in his mouth. Because he wasn't prepared for the press. He hadn't given it any thought. Well, I've given John Naber a lot of thought."

For instance, he says, "I know from now on there are going to be a lot of letters that go unanswered and there will be friends that I won't be able to see who will feel hurt and there will be people I haven't seen in three or four years who will suddenly start calling me and I'll be suspicious. And that's just awful. I'm going to have to be very careful about who I get angry at. Because if I say so and so is a jerk someone will say, 'Oh, yeah sure, John,' just because I'm wearing a lot of gold around my neck. And then there's the whole problem of endorsing things. I don't think Joe Namath knows a thing about panty hose. And I'm going to have to think a lot about that."

HE SIGHS and then says firmly, "I'll tell you. I'm getting an unlisted number next year." It's not that he can't handle publicity. "When it is like this it's O.K.," he says. It's the bad publicity that gets him down, naturally. Like when one sportswriter called him a fruitcake. He wasn't crazy about that. Any bad publicity is a lot of bad publicity," he says.

His coaches sense that he has a tendency to annoy people with his style. So they try to advise him, he says. "They say I shouldn't be quite so showy, so cocky, so flashy, so flaky. I think I am flashy. But not cocky or flaky. I have very high self-esteem, which is as close to being cocky as you can get. But I'm genuine. And if I was putting on a front everyone loved I'd go home unhappy."

John Naber is not an unrealistic young man. He understands how fleeting fame is and how fast an athlete's prowess disappears.

"I'M WELL aware that two years from now I will not be as good. I think I've hit my peak this time. But I have other things to fall back on. And now that I can concentrate on them I'll play a better guitar, write better poetry, be a better businessman. I want to get into image work. You know, run things up the flagpole and see how they fly, creative stuff. I have a very vivid imagination. It's advertising, but behind-the-scenes kind of thing."

Right now he thinks a lot about one of the areas of business he could enter. And although this probably will be his last Olympics, his private future plans include doing something to improve the games.

"Naturally," he says, "I'm torn. Being here has been so rewarding for me, that all the political crap that goes on has been virtually nullified. But if we're talking about changes that could be made in the Olympics, I've got a list this long."

Naber says he is very religious. "Christian, but no denomination. I might find something that really clicks but right now I'm happy with me and my bible." It helps, he says, in his swimming. "Because win, lose or draw, I know that God still loves me."

HE IS part of a small group of Americans at the olympics, including the black women's track and field star Madelyn Manning Jackson, that goes to the international services at Olympic Village. "We have a little fellowship," he says. "We all have something in common. Our love for Jesus Christ."

Naber is interesting when he discusses different attitudes about swimming. "If I have to swim a good time and I know that I'm not ready," he says, "then I'm scared. If I'm prepared, I don't get scared, I get excited."

The pressure he feels, he says, is "will John Naber do better than he did a month ago."
