Trustees adopt clustering plan

By LINDA SCHAFFRINA

The Midland Independent School District board of trustees approved a school clustering plan for grades four through six just before noon today.

The plan, put together after two weeks of negotiations with the Justice Department and intervenors in the suit, will be signed by Joe Dominey, president of the board, if no alternative plans acceptable to all sides in the suit can be found by next Tuesday.

The plan was presented to a public meeting at Alamo Junior High this morning. Approximately 150 persons attended the meeting.

Some minor modifications to the plan were made at the meeting today.

The consent decree, which will be presented to U.S. District Judge D.W. Suttle by Sept. 17, contains the following points:

"The children in kindergarten through third grade will attend neighborhood schools in accordance with board policies and attendance zones at all 19 elementary schools in the Midland Independent School District except as otherwise agreed to herein."

"Carver School will be reconditioned and reopened as the Carver Cultural Exchange Center on an all-day, fulltime school basis, i.e. 180 days, for use as a cultural exchange center for all kindergarten through third grade children in the district and for such other school uses as the school district may determine."

"There shall be desegregated activities for students in kindergarten through the third grade on the following basis: a minimum of eight desegregated activities per year for all kindergarten through third grade students with at least two visits per student to the Carver Cultural Exchange Center and at least six other visits per student (one every six weeks). Three of the six visits shall be on-campus visits within the fourth through sixth grade cluster or sub-cluster. Three shall also be joint field trips. All activities shall be arranged on a desegregated basis. The desegregated activities referred to herein shall be a regular, full-school day activity where possible.

"Grades four through six shall be totally desegregated in accordance with the plan attached hereto (the cluster plan discussed by the board at its Tuesday meeting)."

"No schools are closed pursuant to implementation of the this decree and it is not anticipated that any school will be closed by the implementation of this plan in the future by the Midland Independent School District. This decree shall not prevent the Midland Independent School District from proceeding with its contemplated sale of the former North Elementary School. No bus route changes are contemplated and none will be implemented unreasonably without the prior consent of the court.

"Existing bilingual programs will be expanded where possible with the quality of such programs maintained and such programs will follow reassigned pupil groups (when the school district deems it necessary)."

The decree calls for the implementation of the plan at the beginning of the 1977-78 school year.

Preliminary plans will begin this year. The decree outlines five field trips and four activities at the elementary schools.

The field trips would be to the following: Midland Community Theater, Museum of the Southwest, Haley Memorial Library, Petroleum Museum and the Planetarium.

The activities at the schools would include a field day, Christmas programs, Thanksgiving programs, and other classroom and campus exchange programs. Details would be filed with the court later.

The school district will be required to make periodic reports to the court and the court will retain jurisdiction in the case.

If all parties agree to the consent decree, there will be no appeal.

Dr. Viola Coleman, representing the intervenors in the case, pledged full support for the school board if the decree is adopted and approved by the court.

Cruz Nunez, representing the Mexican-American community, expressed support for the plan.

Mayor Ernest Angelo Jr. urged the school board not to give in to federal demands and said, "I do not want to see Midland become just another

All 176 persons aboard die as jetliners collide

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — A British airliner and a Yugoslav charter jet carrying West German tourists collided at 35,000 feet near Zagreb today, officials said. All 176 persons aboard the planes were killed, according to doctors at the scene.

A witness among the first to arrive at the crash site said the body of one plane was burned out. He said bodies and luggage were scattered around the rubble. More than 30 ambulances and fire trucks went to the scene but found no one alive, he said.

The British plane carried a reported 54 passengers and nine crew members. A British Airways spokesman in New York said there was one American and one Canadian aboard the plane. However, British Airways officials in London said there were at least two Americans and some Turkish nationals aboard.

The New York spokesman said it would be 12 to 24 hours before a passenger list was available.

The Yugoslav plane had 108 passengers and five crew members aboard, company officials said. Sources said most or all of them were West German tourists returning from vacations on the Adriatic coast.

The planes collided at 6:15 a.m. EDT about 15 miles northeast of Zagreb, Yugoslavia's second largest city and 230 northwest of Belgrade.

The planes were in an established air corridor over Yugoslavia utilized by all civilian planes, officials said. The corridor is under the control of the Zagreb traffic center.

The cause of the collision was not immediately known. Officials said an investigation was begun.

British Airways officials in London said Flight 476 was on a direct flight from London to Istanbul. The officials said the plane was a Trident 3 jetliner.

Reports here said the Yugoslav plane was a DC9 belonging to the Yugoslav charter company Inex-Adria. The DC9 was flying between Split, Yugoslavia, and Cologne, West Germany.

In Cologne, officials said the Yugoslav plane had been chartered by Kaufhof, a Cologne-based tourist agency.

The crash was the worst collision since July 1971, when an All-Nippon Airways Boeing 727 collided with a Japanese air force F86 over Morioka, Japan, killing 84 persons aboard the planes and 71 on the ground.

The most recent American air collision occurred in September 1969. Eighty-three persons died when an Allegheny Airlines DC9 hit a student pilot's plane at Shelbyville, Ind.

A spate of near-misses last year prompted the U.S. Federal Aviation Administration to order the installation of more modern air traffic control equipment and revise procedures for controllers.

The incidents also led the FAA to hasten plans for installing a computerized conflict alert system, which would issue warnings when aircraft within a four-to five-mile sphere came too close.

An FAA spokesman here said the new system was in effect at all of the agency's 20 in-route traffic control centers in the United States by January of this year.

Dole fully confident

DALLAS (AP) — Republican vice presidential candidate Sen. Bob Dole said today he is confident the Republican ticket will carry Texas in the November general election.

"We have an opportunity to win the South," the Kansas senator said upon landing at Love Field for a visit to Dallas and Austin.

A small group of Dallas Republican leaders met Dole as he landed at 11 a.m.

Later in the day, President Ford's running mate was to head for Austin, where John Connally was on the reception committee. Connally is ramrodding the Ford-Dole ticket in Texas.

Delegates to the state convention were to meet with Dole tonight, with Dole keynoting the convention Saturday.

Dole, Connally and Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., were scheduled to hold a news conference Saturday prior to Dole's departure for Hot Springs, Ark.

Democrats pick House candidate

R. L. "Bob" Corley of Midland has been appointed Democratic candidate for state representative of the 68th Congressional District, according to Midland County Democratic Party chairman Vann Culp.

Corley, 50, was appointed by the executive committee of the 68th district, composed of the county chairmen from Midland, Upton, Reagan and Glascock counties. He will be up against incumbent Tom Craddock in the Nov. 2 election.

Culp explained that the reason the executive committee could appoint Corley is that candidate John Billingsley withdrew from the race in July. According to law, the committee was authorized to appoint someone for the ticket.

The State Democratic Executive Committee in Austin has delivered

Corley's appointment notification to the Secretary of State, so the candidate is duly certified, Culp added.

Corley is a native of Dallas and has lived in Midland the past 27 years. He is an honor graduate of Southern Methodist University with a degree in business administration.

He served as a combat infantryman during World War II and received the Bronze Star and the Oak Leaf Cluster.

He is an independent petroleum landman and a member of the Episcopal Church of the Holy Trinity. He and his wife reside at 1907 W. Indiana Ave. His children are all in college.

According to Culp, Corley has agreed to run an "intensive and vigorous campaign" between now and Nov. 2. His prime consideration will be that "Midland needs effective representation in Austin" and "the best way to secure this is through a Democratic representative." After all, Culp noted, the remainder of the state is basically Democratic.

Culp also said that Republicans "have been ineffective in the Texas legislature." He said incumbent Craddock "has cost the taxpayers about $1 million because he couldn't get Midland freed from the Odessa College district" and that the University of Texas of the Permian Basin also was lost to Midland County because of Craddock.

Corley is expected to hold a press conference at a later date, Culp added.

Conference reaches tax bill agreement

WASHINGTON (AP) — The big tax bill that continues existing income tax cuts is expected to win final congressional approval next week and then be signed by President Ford.

Senate-House tax negotiators settled on final terms Thursday night on the bill containing a sweeping assortment of tax cuts and tax hikes and touching on a wide variety of human affairs from child care to death.

For the average American taxpayer, the bill would continue current $15-billion-a-year tax cuts through next year, worth $180 to a typical family of four making $15,000 annually.

Depending on each individual's tax circumstances, there are special features such as aid to the elderly and pensions for housewives. For firms and investors, the bill's territory extends from capital gains and losses to new curbs on tax shelters.

The top two tax-writing Democrats in Congress — Rep. Al Ullman of Oregon and Sen. Russell B. Long of Louisiana — claimed after the compromise sessions that their product is a major legislative initiative and voiced confidence that Ford will sign it.

Some items in the bill reach internationally. For instance, U.S. firms participating in the Arab boycott of Israel and Jewish businessmen could lose millions of dollars in tax benefits.

There also would be simplification of tax tables for that familiar Form 1040.

From the standpoint of the federal budget, the compromise package of tax revisions will gain for the government $1.6 billion in the budget year beginning next month, thus meeting major revenue-raising goals.

That's bad news for those taxpayers who will pay the extra money. These generally are wealthier persons who will feel, for example, a $1-billion-a-year sharper bite from the so-called minimum tax on the rich.

However, some of America's wealthiest families will benefit most from the proposed comprehensive overhaul of tax law covering major gifts during life and estates at death.

The changes would exempt from inheritance taxes all but the wealthiest 2 per cent of U.S. estates — meaning, for practical purposes, no estate worth under $25,000 would pay this federal levy. About 7 per cent pay estate taxes under present law.

By 1981, the Treasury's annual revenue loss would run $1.4 billion. However, by then, another feature of the package, hiking income taxes of heirs who sell inherited property, would be gaining $162 million.

Over-all, the tax cut package is

Indian jet hijacked on domestic flight

ISLAMABAD, Pakistan (AP) — An Indian Airlines Boeing 737 was hijacked on a domestic flight over India early today and forced to land at Lahore, Pakistan, authorities said.

Sources in Pakistan and the Indian capital of New Delhi said six of the 77 passengers aboard were released because they became ill. They were a West German woman, her husband and child and three Indians, the sources said.

Officials denied earlier reports that all the passengers had been released. The plane carried seven crew members, officials said.

An airline spokesman said no Americans were known to be aboard the plane. He said the German family was part of a 15-person German tour group.

The hijackers demanded to go to Saudi Arabia, sources said. However, there was no indication of their nationality. Officials made no immediate response to the demands.

The plane was hijacked shortly after taking off from Palam International Airport here at 7 a.m. — 8:30 p.m. Thursday CDT — en route to Bombay, with stops scheduled in the Indian cities of Jaipur and Aurangabad.

New Delhi flight control said it lost radio contact with the plane and no further word was received until it landed in Lahore about an hour later.

The last hijacking to Pakistan of an Indian Airlines flight occurred in 1971 when two Kashmiris forced a Fokker Friendship plane on a domestic flight to fly to Lahore.

"Septemberfest," the German-oriented festival that is the major fund-raising event for the Museum of the Southwest dominating this weekend for Midland art, crafts, food and fun fans, doesn't just "happen," according to Chairperson Mrs. Sue Harris.

With a dozen food booths, nearly as many "Kinderfest" units for the young-uns, a total of 50 visiting artists and craftspeople in and around the museum grounds out on West Missouri, more than a thousand artisans and volunteers are expected to lend willing hands to the preparation of displays, food, and events intended to move Midland "unter den Linden" for parts of three days.

Latest addition to the festival is tonight's "sneak preview" of the art sale, which is a direct result of so the festival Saturday at noon.

Midland barn raising called Septemberfest

Mrs. Harris said prices will range from the sublime to the ridiculous (my words—not hers) on the works of art—a percentage of which will be shared by the museum. But there will be dozens of foods and activities booths Saturday and Sunday for which 30¢ to 50¢ prices will make it possible for everyone in the Basin to share the food and fun. Admission to the grounds is free.

She was particularly proud of the host of volunteers from the general public—not to mention members of the formal "Manos" aides to the complex. At least 350 people will be working the food booths until 11 p.m. and Sunday afternoon, and another 200 will be helping with the children's programs—not to mention workers in the museum itself—and at the planetarium across the street, where regular "star shows" will be alternated with the Hollywood variety such as W. C. Fields.

Educational and developmental fun is planned for the "kinder" including watercoloring, making of collages with scissors and glue, and the like. (Admission: a dime. I didn't know there was anything in America you could still do for a dime.)

And, for parents who want to take a break from the kinder to browse the exhibits, there's a special Kinder-sitting service being operated by the Girl Scouts which offers care and entertainment for the wee ones at about 75¢ an hour.

Good art, good food, good fun—all for a good cause. What could be better?

Bird smuggling now big business

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Smuggling has traditionally been a fly-by-night operation but smugglers along the Rio Grande have literally gone to the birds.

Parrots, parakeets and other species of birds with colorful plumage and vocabulary are being smuggled into the United States from Mexico "by the thousands," report U.S. Customs and border Patrol officials.

"Right now, there's probably as much money in smuggling birds as there is in narcotics," said C.B. Williams, a U.S. Department of Agriculture inspector at the international bridge linking Brownsville with the Mexican city of Matamoros.

"The most recent case occurred a few weeks ago when the Border Patrol caught some men attempting to smuggle about 300 parrots across the river on a raft," said Williams. "The men are now in jail and the birds were destroyed."

Williams said yellowheads—parrots with green plumage and a striking yellow crown—are the most popular birds due to "their ability to adapt to a vocabulary."

Merchants along the crowded Matamoros market square sell the birds for $15 to $100 depending on the bird's size, age and rarity.

Across the border, the same bird will sell for $200 to $1,500.

The smuggling activity exists for the obvious monetary reason plus the stringent regulations of the USDA which fears the birds may be carrying a virus deadly to poultry—the exotic Newcastle disease.

"The last outbreak of this disease in the United States occurred a couple of years ago in California," said Williams. "The disease affects all types of poultry and there is no vaccine. The only way to stamp it out is to destroy the birds."

"The California outbreak cost the poultry industry about $50 million and the disease was traced to a smuggled parrot."

The USDA requires a parrot to be in the possession of the owner for at least 90 days before crossing the border said Williams.

"The parrot must be in obvious good health and the owner must agree to let a veterinarian examine the bird during a 30-day period," he added.

Williams said the birds—which can transmit parrot fever to humans—are not kept by the USDA. The owner supplies his name and address and a veterinarian checks the bird for disease during the 30-day period.

The 90-day ownership rule makes it legally impossible for a weekend tourist to buy a parrot in Mexico and transport it across the border.

"We have been trying to educate the tourists to this fact," said

Williams. "Still, it's almost a daily occurrence. A person will come to the bridge with a parrot and have to either give it to us to destroy or return it to the merchant in Mexico."

Parrot peddlers in Matamoros, however, urge American bird buyers to put the parrots in paper bags and slip them out of sight when crossing the bridge.

"When we catch a person trying to smuggle a parrot across, we destroy the bird and fine the person the dollar value of the bird," said Williams.

The "dollar value" is in American prices, meaning a tourist could buy a bird for $25 and be fined $200 when caught trying to smuggle.

"People are funny," said a Customs official. "They'll try to get anything by us."

60 congressmen commit selves to avoiding job discrimination

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sixty congressmen are committing themselves to a code that bans job discrimination in their Capitol Hill offices in an unprecedented reaction to the Wayne Hays sex-payroll scandal.

The House members helped elect a six-member committee Thursday to oversee their commitment and to handle any grievances filed against them by their employees.

The code binds only 60 of the 435 members of the House of Representatives. It affects only the staffs of those 60 members or committee employees they control. There is no machinery to penalize any member who violates the code, aside from peer pressure.

But women's groups on Capitol Hill hailed the pact, known as the Fair Employment Practices Agreement, as a first step toward protecting the rights of congressional employees.

Groups including Common Cause, the League of Women Voters, the American Civil Liberties Union and the National Women's Political Caucus had sought approval of the agreement.

Miriam Dorsey of the Capitol Hill chapter of the National Women's Political Caucus said those congressmen who subscribed to the agreement recognize that "they are employers as well as legislators. I'm hoping we can go on and put Congress under the civil rights laws."

Congress has exempted itself from the antidiscrimination laws it has passed for the rest of government and for much of private business, including the Civil Rights Act of 1964, the Equal Pay Act of 1963 and the grievance mechanisms of the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission.

Carol Forbes, director of the Congressional Clearinghouse on Women's Rights, said the agreement was prompted by Elizabeth Ray's charges that former Rep. Hays kept her on the federal payroll solely for sex.

Reps. Charles Rose, D-N.C., and Patricia Schroeder, D-Colo., proposed the voluntary pact. Mrs. Schroeder, Rose and Rep. Morris Udall, D-Ariz., were chosen by their colleagues Thursday to monitor the agreement.

On Wednesday, however, the Senate passed a resolution banning bias against its employees based on race, color, sex, national origin or religion. It provided no mechanism to handle complaints.

African police organize convoys to guard whites

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — The official death toll in three days of antigovernment rioting by nonwhites in the Cape Town area has risen to 26, and police have organized convoys to protect white motorists.

Police gunfire killed 16 persons Thursday, including an 8-year-old boy, and 19 others were wounded as rioting, arson and looting continued around the coastal city 800 miles southwest of Johannesburg. Cape Town and its environs are home to many of South Africa's coloreds, as people of mixed race are called in South Africa.

The most serious disorders were in the mixed-race township of Mannenberg, where police killed 12 persons, including the 8-year-old boy. Police said he was in a crowd looting a liquor store.

The business center of the town of Paarl, in a wine-producing area 35 miles inland from Cape Town, was closed to traffic, and police used gunfire and tear gas against crowds of stone-throwing colored students.

A businessman in Paarl said the business district was "absolute chaos" after most shop windows were broken and whites fled the area. "It looks like a battlefield," he said.

Riot police armed with automatic rifles and shotguns moved into most of the mixed-race communities around Cape Town to disperse rioters caught up in the wave of unrest directed against the South African white minority government's policies of racial segregation.

Three months of violence in nonwhite communities had left more than 300 persons dead.

Prime Minister John Vorster has told blacks and other nonwhites to stop the rioting immediately, warning that the government would take harsher measures if the disturbances do not end.

Bus services were disrupted over a wide area, and a bus was reportedly set afire in Retreat, a Cape Town suburb.

A political leader of the mixed-race population, W.J. Bergins of the progovernment Federal party, issued a statement saying violence would not bring political power. But he said there were numerous grievances that affected younger nonwhite people most strongly.

"It is obvious that when one is aware of one's distress and does not have the political means to do something about it, then especially our young people would place everything subordinate to the achievement of political power," Bergins said.

Susan now lives in college area

WASHINGTON (AP) — She moved in last Thursday. The other out of the White House tenants, who all pay the same amount, are Kim Nardi, 19, of Wayne, Ill.; three female college friends—and a retinue of Philadelphia; and Beau Secret Service agents in Firth, 21, of Trappe, Md. the basement.

President and Mrs. Salmon are Mount Vernon College objectors to their 19-year-old daughter's making the move, which is costing her $118 monthly rent.

Miss Ford expects to live in the Alexandria house until the end of the current school term, when she will transfer to a college in Kansas City, Mo. Her Secret Service bodyguards are setting up headquarters in the basement.

"If that's what she wanted, then it was fine with them," was the parental reaction, according to First Lady Betty Ford's press secretary.

Three friends of Miss Ford's from Mount Vernon College found the house in Alexandria, Va., and asked Susan to join them. Sheila Rabb Weidenfeld, the press secretary, said Thursday.

FDA loosens restrictions on drugs

The Washington Post WASHINGTON — The Food and Drug Administration this week loosened its restrictions on 10 drugs used in cold remedies to allow them to be sold without prescriptions. But the head of the scientific panel that recommended the FDA action said chicken soup is "as good" as any drug to treat a cold.

"There is still no generally accepted treatment which can prevent, cure or shorten the course of a common cold," said Dr. Francis C. Lowell, the Harvard University allergy specialist who heads the FDA's advisory panel on cough and cold medicines. "The products available without prescription ... are only capable of relieving the symptoms of the cold while the disease itself takes its own course," he added at a press conference announcing the panel's recommendations and the FDA's action.

The panel found that most cold remedies sold without prescriptions are too weak to relieve the symptoms. So, said acting FDA Commissioner Sherwin Gardner, it recommended that 14 drugs of proven safety, now requiring prescriptions, could be sold over-the-counter.

The FDA agreed in the case of 10 of the drugs, but decided further studies are needed for four others. This is the first time the FDA has used its authority to choose between requiring prescriptions or not on the basis of an outside group's recommendation, said John T. Walden, the FDA spokesman.

FDA officials said drug companies, aware of the panel's recommendations, already are beginning to formulate new cough and cold remedies using these newly released drugs.

"I suspect this fall you will see a number of products coming on the market," said Robert Pinco, an attorney who is directing FDA's review of all over-the-counter (nonprescription) drugs. There are currently between 35,000 and 50,000 different cough and cold remedies on the market, earning $735 million a year for the drug industry, Lowell said. His group spent 3 1/2 years evaluating data on them in the FDA's largest study of over-the-counter medicines.

The panel found the effectiveness of one of the most commonly used anti-cold drugs, antihistamines, "has not been established."

It also warned against broad combinations of drugs designed to ease the symptoms of a cold and said some of these drugs — for example an antihistamine designed to dry runny noses and expectorants designed to loosen phlegm in the throat — sometimes work against each other.

"Individuals should not consume drugs they do not need," said Lowell.

Therefore, the panel recommended the FDA order that the number of ingredients in any cold remedy be as few as possible — no more than three.

Gardner said it will take as long as two years to ban some of the combination products so drug companies can have time to comment on the panel's recommendations.

"Eventually," he said, "these combinations will be taken from the market."

Any cold remedies used, Lowell said, should be aimed at a specific symptom of the illness — sore throat, sneezing, runny nose, watery eyes, aches and pains, mild fever, nasal congestion and coughing.

Also, labels and advertising of the drugs should "clearly explain that these products are only for temporary relief of symptoms of a cold and tell the user what symptoms will be relieved since we have no treatment that will shorten or cure a cold," said Lowell.

For himself, Lowell said, he advises patients not to bother with cold remedies. "You may if you want to," he said, "but you don't need to."

Brownie troop happy group

Midland's Cerebral Palsy Center generally is a busy place, but on Mondays it comes alive with fun projects for the six girls in Brownie Troop 223.

The girls of the troop, including two girls in wheelchairs, follow a Brownie program of fun and learning — painting, taking hikes, making cookies and taking field trips.

On the Girl Scouts' birthday last March, the troop also joined all the other Girl Scouts of Midland in the "Flames of Freedom" celebration.

Brownies of Troop 223 like to sing and seem to be the personification of the "Brownie Smile Song" sometimes, for Girl Scouting makes a difference in their lives and they add a dimension to Scouting in Midland.

The girls are among hundreds of Midland girls participating in the development programs of Permian Basin Girl Scouts, one of 20 United Way agencies in Midland.

Began in Midland in the 1930s, the Girl Scout program is open to all girls. Nearly 1,500 girls and more than 300 adults in 72 troops participated in the program in 1976.

In addition to the many fun activities of the Brownies and Girl Scouts, service projects are an important part of the program. Troops have joined in the Salvation Army's "Dress a Girl" program and have made items for Midland day-care centers, the Headstart Program and Meals on Wheels. Daily they help the elderly, ill or less fortunate.

The United Way helps the Permian Basin Girl Scouts provide guidance for girls in grades one to 12. Of the 1976 Girl Scout budget of $183,505, the United Way allocated $40,847, or 22.1 per cent.

16 officers face possible charges

LOS ANGELES — Sixteen Los Angeles police officers face possible criminal charges or department disciplinary action for alleged misconduct, some of it sexual, with girl members of an Explorer Scout program, it was revealed Thursday.

All of the girls were members of the Law Enforcement Explorer Girls (LEEGS) program. The program is connected with the Boy Scouts of America and has both teen-age boys and girls assisting officers in reporting possible crimes. The program is not connected with the Girl Scouts.

Nine of the 16 officers could face criminal felony charges, four to five could face misdemeanor charges and all sixteen face possible disciplinary action from the department.

Allegations of sexual misconduct, insubordination and failure to cooperate with investigating officers may lead to department disciplinary action, Gates said.

Gates said he did not think the incidents under investigation constitute a "sex scandal."

Rocket body of Soviet satellite tracked down in Montana by radar

WASHINGTON (AP)—A large rocket section from a Soviet satellite came down in Montana earlier this week, Pentagon sources report.

The rocket body from the Soviet Cosmos 854 has not yet been recovered by U.S. officials, who say it was tracked by radar.

Sources said the descending rocket body probably looked to spectators like a flaming comet as it passed over Washington state, Idaho, and finally fell in Montana, south of the Canadian border.

According to military sources, debris from Soviet space vehicles drops on the United States from time to time, satellites are recon but usually in small satellite vehicles pieces. The rocket section equipped with sensitive from Cosmos 854 apparently was larger than most that have fallen onto U.S. soil.

There is some question as to how much could be learned from studying the rocket section because it burned as it came down through the atmosphere.

It was tracked by North American Air Defense Command radar which maintains a constant watch on objects approaching the United States.

The Soviet Union generally describes Cosmos satellites as scientific vehicles. But U.S. intelligence officials say many of the Cosmos States from time to time, satellites are recon but usually in small satellite vehicles pieces. The rocket section equipped with sensitive cameras, infrared sensors and other electronic devices.

Cosmos spy satellites normally remain aloft for about 12 days before the Russians bring them back down to earth.

The United States also maintains secret spy satellites in orbit over Russia, mainland China and other areas of interest.

But the United States uses a different method of recovering photo-capsules. They are plucked out of the air by specially equipped planes, permitting the satellites to remain in orbit longer.

Nixon reveals optimism about Mao's successor

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP)—Mao Tse-tung was a unique leader who had a profound understanding of his own people and of the need for China and the United States to communicate, former President Richard M. Nixon says.

Nixon, the last American known to have met with Mao, visited him in China earlier this year as a private citizen. In 1972, Nixon was the first American president to visit Mao's China, breaking through a diplomatic barrier of nonrecognition that the United States had maintained since the country's Communist revolution after World War II.

man of immense physical courage and ideological determination, who worked up until his last days.

"As leaders who represented totally different philosophies and views, we both recognized when we met in Peking in 1972 that Chinese-American friendship had become indispensable to the interests of both our nations."

Nixon lauded Mao as a leader of China, saying, "I was particularly impressed by his profound understanding not only of the problems of his own people, but of the objective realities of the world situation. The new relationship which we established then was a tribute to this farsighted vision on his part."

"He reaffirmed that vision in my last meeting with him on Feb. 23 of this year. I am confident that whoever succeeds Chairman Mao will continue to work toward the goal of improving relations between the People's Republic of China and the United States of America and helping to build a structure of peace for the Pacific and the world."

"Mao Tse-tung was a unique man in a generation of great revolutionary leaders. He was a totally dedicated and pragmatic Communist, but he was also a visionary poet deeply steeped in the history of the Chinese people."

"Some years ago he wrote a poem that began: 'We had much to do and quickly. The sky-earth spins and time is short. Ten thousand years is long, and so a morning and evening count.'"

"Historians will assess his career and his impact on the Chinese people and the world. There can be no doubt that he made his morning and evening count in working for the vision he saw and for the principles in which he so strongly believed."

Bishop honored

EL PASO, Tex. (AP)—Archbishops, bishops, parish priests, laymen and government officials showed their respect for The Most Rev. Sidney M. Metzger, bishop of El Paso, in an anniversary Mass Thursday night.

More than 20 archbishops and bishops, including the Vatican's ambassador to the United States, were in town for three days of celebration marking Bishop Metzger's 50 years in the priesthood.

Bishop Metzger was the principal celebrant of the anniversary mass, celebrated with the visiting archbishops, bishops and nearly 200 priests in the El Paso diocese.

The Archbishop of Santa Fe, The Most Rev. Robert Sanchez, delivered the homily. Pope Paul VI's ambassador to the United States, Archbishop Jean Jadot, addressed the large gathering afterwards in the coliseum, where Mass was celebrated.

Bishop Metzger, whose 63,000 square-mile diocese covers all of West Texas and the southern most part of New Mexico, was ordained to the priesthood on Holy Saturday, 1926, by Basilio Cardinal Pompily in Rome's St. John Lateran Basilica.

Following his ordination, he got his doctorate of canon law at the Pontifical Institute of Civil and Canon Law in Rome in 1928. He served as professor, seminary rector and law school regent while in the Archdiocese of San Antonio.

Mexico starts cutting red tape

DALLAS (AP) — Businessman Richard Stokley spent three years trying to cut through the Mexican red tape which had held his private aircraft, confiscated after being used by a drug smuggler.

Then, all of a sudden, the tape broke. "I got a call from a Mexican official who told me to come get it. I couldn't believe it," Stokley said Thursday.

Stokley attributes the fast work to a change of attitude among some Mexican government officials. He said he was told American tourism had fallen off drastically and that the Mexican government wanted to rebuild it.

One way is to be nice to Americans. Stokley said his advice for someone with a plane confiscated by the Mexican government is for them to press hard for its return.

"If anybody has an airplane confiscated they ought to make an effort now to get it. They need to have the paperwork on this side of the border and know how to handle it on that side also," he said.

Stokley's plane was flown into Mexico without his knowledge in April 1973. He learned a few weeks afterwards from federal border and narcotics officials that the plane had been confiscated.

Stokley said he had been in the process of selling the plane through a broker in California. He had allowed the plane to be kept in Sacramento, Calif., upon receipt of a down payment. A few days later the plane was in Mexico.

"I was told that this guy was a front for some drug dealers. They flew it down there without filing a flight plan. However they ran into some bad weather and had to land at an airport.

"The Mexican government confiscated it because failure to file a flight plan constituted illegal entry," Stokley said. "The plane was never used to fly anything out of Mexico but the seats were out of it when it was confiscated."

Stokley said he was surprised at how nice officials treated him when he went to Mexico City last week to get his aircraft. The whole transaction took only an hour and a half.

"Of course, I took a stern attitude. But they treated me with considerable respect and I was astounded I didn't even have to give them a single payoff."

He said he began trying to get the plane back since it was confiscated but really pressed the issue last fall. He got the State Department to write a letter over Henry Kissinger's signature. U.S. Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., and U.S. Rep. Alan Steelman, R-Dallas also wrote letters.

Stokley said another smart move he made was to take with him someone who could speak and write fluent Spanish and help wade through the paperwork. He said he doesn't really know if the new incoming administration of President-elect Jose Lopez Portillo had anything to do to speed up the process. "I just think they are alarmed the tourism is off," he said.

It is expected that the requested rate schedule will furnish an 18 percent increase in the company's intrastate gross revenues.

Army Capt. Frederick Borman, son of former astronaut Frank Borman, right, has denied allegations that he was involved in "fixing" a case before the honor committee at West Point in 1973.

West Point accusers stick to bribe story

NEW YORK (AP) — Despite denials, two men convicted in West Point's cheating scandal stand by their sworn allegations that former astronaut Frank Borman's son accepted a $1,200 bribe to "fix" an honor code case while he was a cadet.

The son, Army Capt. Frederick Borman, denied the charge and offered to take a lie detector test to settle the issue.

The two cadets who are accused in the affidavits of having bribed Borman to fix a plebe's case also denied the allegation.

But the two members of the Class of 1977 who signed the statements refused to recant when told of the denials late Thursday.

One of them said he had learned of the incident from two friends who told him they in turn had heard of it from the alleged bribers. The second cadet said the two alleged bribers had boasted of their deed to him and to others in their cadet company.

The elder Borman, now president of Eastern Airlines, said he was anguished by the charges and said it was unfortunate they had been made.

Ironically, Borman, a West Point graduate who was promoted to general after his trip to the moon, is to preside at month's end at the first meeting of a blue-ribbon panel created by Army Secretary Martin R. Hoffmann to analyze the U.S. Military Academy's worst scandal in its 174 years.

"I have no intention of stepping down because I don't think I have a reason to step down," Borman said in a telephone interview.

The disputed affidavits are among those signed by 150 of the 226 cadets involved in the cheating scandal in an effort by defense lawyers to get them reinstated by showing that cheating is endemic at the academy. The affidavits accuse 687 other cadets of honor code violations.

Borman's name — actually the name of a nonexistent "Frank Borman Jr." — appeared on two similarly worded documents. "Michael Weidner and John Otte each gave $600 to buy off an honor rep," one stated. "They told me that they gave $1,200 to the honor rep to vote not guilty at —'s honor board in late 1973. The vote of the board was 11 guilty votes to one not-guilty vote. I found out later that Frank Borman Jr. was the honor rep who took the $1,200."

Said Frederick Borman, who graduated in 1974 and is a football coach and scout in West Point's athletic department, "I just want to tell you that everything is false, and I'll take a lie detector test. I wouldn't fix a board for $10 million." He added that he was in the same regiment as the plebe whose case was dismissed and thus couldn't have sat in judgment.

Denying that he had bribed Borman, Air Force Lt. Weidner said, "Someone has one hell of an imagination."

Army Lt. Otte said, "I didn't have $600 as a cadet to give. Neither did Michael Weidner."

DEAR ABBY

Relationship goes well until "nympho" wise's up

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I recently met a man I thought was together. He's 29, handsome, a smooth talker and single. The relationship went fine until I caught him in a few lies, then I did a little detective work.

Never mind the rope. He's already hung himself where you are concerned. Cut him down.

DEAR ABBY: My youngest daughter is going to be married soon. Her father is completely paralyzed and can't give her away. I was teasing her and said that I would give her away, and she said she would love it because she has two brothers and she would rather not choose between them.

The lady who directs weddings said it would be all right. I need your opinion. Should I give my daughter away? Or would it look silly?—MOTHER OF THE BRIDE

DEAR MOTHER: It's your daughter's day. Let her do as she wishes. I think it's a wonderful idea.

I became suspicious when he told me he has a "weekend" job. I discovered that he is engaged to another woman. He told her if anyone contacted her and asked her any questions about him not to give out any information because some "nymphomaniac" was chasing him!

Meanwhile, he checked up on me to find out what my assets are. (I'm a widow and well enough off, so I don't have to work, but I'm not rich enough to support him, which I'm sure he had in mind.)

Should I let him know I am on to him? Or give him enough rope to let him hang himself?—DISGUSTED IN DIXIE

DEAR DISGUSTED:

Don't let children burn

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Fire Prevention Week is October 3-9. This is the second of a five-part series by Dr. Gary S. Nelson, safety engineer with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, designed to help parents teach their children and themselves how to survive a house fire.)

sure children know that wherever there is smoke, there is potential death—so get to fresh air fast. The next drill is called "Hot Door, Cold Door." As a part of "basic training," firemen learn the dangers of opening a door in a fire. It's something your child must know, too. Teach him never to fling open a bedroom door if he suspects fire. He should apply this test: Put his hand on the door panel and knob. If either is warm, he should not open the door, for heat and gases are on the other side ready to burst in. One lungful of superheated air can fell a person instantly. He must leave the door closed and make his escape another way.

If the door doesn't feel warm, he should brace himself against it, open it a crack and be ready to slam it should smoke or heat rush in. If all is clear, he can proceed through the door with caution.

Make sure young firemen practice this routine until they have it down pat. As a fire drill is being announced, slip a sign under the closed door reading "hot" or "cold" while youngsters react appropriately. Also, make it a nightly ritual to close bedroom doors at night unless this would prevent a bedroom fire from setting off a fire detector located in a hallway. Tests have shown that behind a closed door your survival time is from 5 to 11 minutes. With the door open the survival time is only two minutes. Ideally each bedroom should contain an audible fire detector.

Part 3 of this series provides training in two more drills designed to teach children how to survive a fire.

PETROLEUM ENGINEERS WIVES ASSOCIATION had a luncheon meeting in the Midland Hilton Ballroom. New officers include Mrs. Christobal Engleman, left, first vice president, and Mrs. E. E. Runyan, president.

Engineers' wives induct new officers

The Petroleum Engineers Wives Association met in the Midland Hilton Ballroom for bridge games, business session and installation of officers.

Bridge game winners were Mrs. Ralph Hammond, first, and Mrs. Cries Hartwell, second.

New members welcomed were Mrs. James Leonard, Mrs. R. W. Bowdon, Mrs. Richard Williams, Mrs. Cecil Lohn, Mrs. Carl Speight, Mrs. Sam J. Bateman, Mrs. James L. Davis, Mrs. George Cheyney, Mrs. Jo Swendig, Mrs. Forrest Moore, Mrs. Richard Frazier, Mrs. Carl Hefner, Mrs. Dale Holloman, Mrs. Gerald Murphy, Mrs. Stephen Wright, Mrs. Wayne Achee and Mrs. Robert J. Boren. Mrs. Robert Drake installed the following officers: Mrs. E. E. Runyan, president; Mrs. Christobal Engleman, first vice president; Mrs. Ed Wilder, second vice president; Mrs. Mike O. Smith, third vice president; Mrs. Wayne Munson, fourth vice president; Mrs. M. C. Gullidge, secretary; Mrs. Donald R. Cox, treasurer, and Mrs. Joe Feagan, parliamentarian.

COLLEGE STATION — A child who has had the opportunity to practice what to do in a fire has a much better chance of surviving a real fire. Below are two of six drills offered in this series, designed to teach children how to survive a fire. After the first try, these "fire drills" can be tested during the day or after children are in bed at night by using the signal "FIRE!" In the fifth part of this series, a final "rookie" examination will be presented to determine whether your children qualify as "firemen."

A drill called "Don the Gas Masks" teaches children about poisonous gases which are the true killers in fires.

Pretend the house is filling with smoke and that you must get out as quickly as possible. In all the drills, stress immediate escape. Yell "Smoke!" and have the children, wherever they are—in bedrooms, living room, kitchen—grab a pillow or several thicknesses of fluffy material such as a towel and place it over their mouths and noses. The cloth won't filter out poisonous gasses in smoke but will relieve some of the irritating effects of inhaling smoke. Then have the children move as fast as they can, keeping close to the floor where the air is best. They should avoid deep breaths.

Emphasize the fact that smoke, not flames, is the Number One killer in fire. It contains large quantities of carbon monoxide and a dozen or so other poisonous gases from burning materials. By far the majority of fire victims are asphyxiated by smoke gases long before flames ever touch them. Sometimes poisonous smoke can knock you unconscious after two or three breaths and can kill you in a few minutes. Smoke always rises, making upper floors where bedrooms are located the greatest fire traps. Be

Look who's smiling now

NIAGARA FALLS, Canada (AP) — The Guinness Book of World Records has frowned on a local 12-year-old girl who claimed to have set the world record for smiling.

Michelle Gallacher, of Niagara Falls, Ontario, smiled from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. one day a month ago.

With sore mouth and cheeks, she wrote the organization and cited times and witnesses.

Last week, the spunky youngster received a postcard from the group telling her smiling and laughing were not recognized because they were not interesting enough.

Undaunted, Michelle said she planned to set a world record for the longest bubble gum chew.

"They might not think that is interesting enough either. But I do," she said.

238 men needed

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — The founder of a dating service for single seniors says her club faces extinction unless it can come up with more of something — men.

Right now the club has 262 members — 250 women, 12 men, said Judy Anderson. And one of the 12 men, she added, is a "guy in San Quentin (prison) who'll be out in five years."

She said several men had submitted offers of sex or living arrangements, but "I just disregard those offers."

Parachuting fun to champ

By VIVIAN BROWN AP Writer She plays the organ and piano and has a degree in psychology, but 24-year-old Debby Schmidt's thrills come from falling out of airplanes. A parachutist, she has made about 1,800 freefall jumps.

Last year she was Women's National Champion and this year she was acclaimed Women's National Accuracy Champion. She is preparing to compete with other members of the 10-women, 10-men, U.S. National Parachute Team at the world parachuting jumps in Rome.

"I have a good chance, one reason, I'm at the field 12 to 15 hours a day, jumping six to nine times," she explained, adding that "our team is a lot stronger than it has been in recent years."

The first woman to break a national record of 10 dead centers — the target area on the ground is four inches in diameter — Debby explains that "freefall is where you are totally away from the airplane flying by yourself and pulling your own ripcord as opposed to the automatic pullout used by the army." In the United States "you can't go higher than 15,000 feet without oxygen though," she explained.

"Parachute jumping must be done where the weather is good," observed Debby, who jumps with the team at Ralford, N.C. "Florida or Arizona are ideal climates and I could probably jump 360 days a year in those states, but North Carolina is good except maybe for January, when it may be cloudy or a little cold."

She lives nearby in a trailer because of its convenience. Being near the field is all that matters, she says. She doesn't see much of the trailer, since she's away from it at least 12 hours a day. She didn't get into parachute jumping as a "women's lib thing," she insists. She is "not much of a women's libber" because she doesn't have time. But she likes "to help women get ahead."

In addition to winning international medals, in 1972 she was the first woman to win a national collegiate medal, a gold one, and it is one of her two favorite awards, she says. The other is the dead center accuracy award which is based on style (gymnastics) and accuracy — the person closest to the center in a specified number of jumps wins. She has had 10 out of 10 dead centers.

Debby has a BA from Southern Illinois University and began parachuting at Joliet Junior College. Only four girls were involved that year, but it has become popular, and there are "quite a few into it now," she says. "It really began opening up for women after World War II — and there are a number of women paratroopers at Fort Benning. Women who compete abroad are really good will emissaries in a sense. Just meeting and competing with such people is a great advantage in one's life. It builds your character and personality and widens your horizons. I know it has done that for me."

Church women plan luncheon The United Methodist Women of Hollowell United Methodist Church will have a salad luncheon and back to school style show at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in Peace Elementary School. Styles for all age groups will be modeled, with some of the fashions provided by Skibell's.

Alumnae set meeting The Phi Mu Alumnae of the Permian Basin will meet at 2 p.m. Saturday in the home of Mrs. Ray McKim, 2608 E. 17th St., Odessa. Mrs. McKim and Mrs. John Brooks Campbell will speak on the national Phi Mu convention they attended as delegates in Charleston, S.C. The quinquennial quip will be given by Mrs. Jack Beshears. Presiding will be Mrs. James V. Ingram, president.

It's difficult to sew an antennae

By BETTY W. KINSER
Copley News Service
You haven't lived until you have made outfits for Wib Worm and Willie Con Carne. I didn't mind that Willie wanted wider lapels and a giant button on his jacket, but when Wib asked for chartruse antennae, I really had my work cut out for me.

Dear Mrs. Kinser: Do you have any suggestions to keep a king-size bed ruffle from sliding across the springs? The top of the ruffle is made of nylon knit. I need to be able to take the skirt off for washing. — Mrs. Lester I. Piper, Torrance, Calif.

Have you considered the hook-and-loop fasteners? These fasteners come in big circles, little circles and strips. To hold your ruffle in place, you probably will need large pieces, so I would suggest the strips. Sew one section of the strip to your mattress, sew the other section to the underside of the top of your ruffle. All it takes to fasten is a press of the fingers. Hook-and-loop fasteners hold snugly and are not damaged by washing.

Dear Mrs. Kinser; I want to make a quilted bedspread like my bedroom drapes. I read somewhere to use a mattress pad under drapery fabric. How would I fasten mattress pads together to make batting large enough? Some pads seem too thick and bulky to me. Also, I have read about using quilted robe material. — Edna Coate, Essex, Iowa.
I don't know about the mattress pad you had in mind, but the ones I have didn't survive the wash too well, and they shrank like crazy. However, if you want to experiment with one, run it through the washer and dryer and see what happens. If it doesn't mat up, stretch out of shape, or do other unkind things, then it might work. To join two pads, butt the edges and zigzag.
However, I think the quilted robe fabric would look so much nicer. You could place the fabric side to the outside and have a very attractive lining and padding all in one. When you make seams in the quilted fabric, trim the padding from the seam allowances to eliminate bulk.
But, whatever you use, Edna, please PRESHRINK, OK?

Plan furniture for dining area

By ADELE FAULKNER
Copley News Service
In most apartments, a separate dining room is the exception — not the rule.
Usually apartment planners allocate a small section of the living room as an area for dining. A chandelier or swag-style light fixture hanging from the ceiling dictates where the dining room table is expected to go.
My first suggestion is to get rid of the hanging light fixture. Store it until you move and replace it with one that is closer to the ceiling.
In this way, no matter where you place the table, it won't appear to be off center.
The ceiling fixture also can be used more compatibly with long candles to decorate the table.
There are a number of table designs which work well in apartments. The selection should depend on the size of the dining area and the number of people to be served. The general rule of thumb is that each place setting requires 22 inches, and chairs should not be over 18 inches wide to fit comfortably around the table.

A rectangular table designed to seat eight should be eight feet long — allowing 15 inches.

Deboning machine can retrieve meat

By ARTHUR SCHWARTZ
Newsday
Up to a billion pounds more meat a year may be retrieved by a new mechanical deboning machine, if a controversial proposal by the U.S. Department of Agriculture becomes an official regulation.

At the moment, however, a number of consumer groups have filed negative reactions with the department, whose proposal is open for formal public comment until Aug. 28.
According to Sarah Beck of the Agriculture Department, the new machine can recover 13 to 16 pounds more meat per carcass than was previously recovered by hand-deboning techniques. However, the regular thread if you use the buttonhole twist as the top thread, tighten the tension knob on your machine a bit.

College has 400 rare instruments
LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Curt Janssen collection of historic musical instruments at Claremont College comprises more than 400 rare instruments encompassing the full range of brass, woodwinds, strings and percussions from throughout the world.
Music historians from across the United States and many foreign nations come to the school to study the rare and often priceless instruments collected by Janssen, who was a trumpet soloist with the John Phillip Sousa Band.

A petition filed by the National Consumer Congress with Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz, however, charges that the department illegally put into effect an interim regulation allowing the use of mechanical deboners before the public had a chance to comment.
According to Aileen Gorman, executive director of the consumer congress, the interim regulation issued last May violates the Administrative Procedures Act which requires that public comment be evaluated before any regulation is put into effect. Furthermore, Gorman said, the added calcium in the meat may qualify it as adulterated meat by the department's own standards which define adulteration as any meat "where an inferiority is concealed or substance has been added which increases the bulk or weight or decreases the quality." According to Gorman, there will be 3 to 4 per cent more bone in the mechanically deboned meat or one-half to three-quarters of 1 per cent more calcium.
There is also a question whether the added calcium will have any detrimental effect on the nutrition or health of consumers, according to the consumer activist.

QUICK STITCH: A dandy tip from our man from Elina, Frank Hartley.
When using buttonhole twist on your bobbin for topstitching, turn the bobbin over so the thread is pulled from the opposite direction. But, the opposite way is twisted the regular thread. If you use the buttonhole twist as the top thread, tighten the tension knob on your machine a bit.

Church starts list of senior citizens available for work

More than half of the senior citizens questioned in a recent Midland survey had an annual income of less than $5,000, but many of these seniors are willing to earn additional income by performing various services.

The survey, sponsored by Senior Services of First Christian Church, surveyed 580 persons between 55 and 99 years old. Results showed the following percentages in each income level: 37 per cent, under $3,000; 30 per cent, $3,000 to $5,000; 14 per cent, $5,000 to $7,500, and 19 per cent, $7,500 or more.

"I am sure that there are many more retired people than we were able to reach in the survey whose valuable skills and talents are going unused," said Marion Fisher, director of senior services for the church. Persons interested in the directory, whether for registration or for requesting services, may call 682-7577. The office will make referrals, and specific details will be worked out by the persons involved.

There is no charge for the directory service. Kathie Murphy, Manpower Services, served as project director, and some 23 volunteers participated as interviewers.

Midland College job placement department wants to assist area

The Midland College job placement office may be able to help employers looking for persons to work.

The office operates as a two-way assistance service, finding jobs for students and seeking qualified help for business.

Sally Hollman, a former counselor with the college, is director of the service, located in the administration building. The office is open from 8 a.m. to noon and 1 to 5 p.m. weekdays.

"Many students who are attending Midland College need some type of job to provide enough money for their educational and living expenses," Mrs. Hollman said. "We have a number of military veterans with outstanding skills who need jobs to supplement their GI Bill payments." Some of the 25 students who currently have applications on file for jobs are seeking part-time positions and others want to work full time.

"We post listings of available jobs at several locations on the campus since there may be students looking for work who aren't listed in our office," she said.

The office also handles applications for secretarial and clerical positions at the college. There are no openings now but interested persons may apply for future openings, since there is always some turnover with the large number of employees.

"The policy of Midland College is to promote from within whenever possible, but there are periodic job openings that require skills not available on campus," Mrs. Hollman said.

Many of the students available for employment through the job placement service are skilled, experienced workers with several years of employment who are qualified for much more than minimum wage income. Mrs. Hollman said. "We hope that employers will contact Midland College when they have openings to fill. Those persons who are enrolled in college are proving that they want to improve themselves and are used to allocating their time well. These are important assets for any employer," she said. Persons who have jobs available may contact Mrs. Hollman by calling the college.

Bangladesh soon may feed itself

ROME (AP) — Once the world's symbol of starvation, Bangladesh could become self-sufficient in food in five years time thanks to an innovative food-for-work program, the U.N. Food and Agriculture Organization — FAO — reports.

Under the food-for-work program started by the government at the start of 1975 to reduce food handouts, a worker is paid six pounds of wheat for each ton of earth he moves in the dredging of canals and the construction of levees. Some two million men and boys took part in the program this year.

FAO, a principal sponsor of the program, reports some 1,500 miles of canals and 1,850 miles of embankments already have been completed. All this is being done to control the disastrous flooding that occurs each year during the monsoon season and use the water instead for controlled irrigation of one of the most naturally fertile delta regions in the world.

The eventual success of the program could mean life itself for hundreds of thousands of the 80 million people squeezed into this country the size of the State of Iowa.

"It is really amazing what the country has done in such a short time. More earth has been dug up for the canals and embankments than was dug for the building of the Panama Canal," says Trevor Page, world food program adviser in Bangladesh. "At this rate, and with increased food production and crop surpluses, Bangladesh could become self-sufficient in food in five years."

The country's dependence on foreign food imports has, in fact, begun to drop. Rice and wheat production increased from 10.1 million tons in 1974-75 to an estimated 11.9 million tons in 1975-76. This cut imports from 2.3 million tons to 1.5 million tons.

Food-for-work provided useful occupation for one out of four of the country's seven million unemployed and contributed to a change in direction for the nation's economy. The FAO said for the first time since Bangladesh became independent from Pakistan in 1971, the gross national product rose in 1975-76 by an estimated 12 per cent and per capita income went up 9 per cent, although the average income is still under $100 per year.

Bangladesh lies on a delta formed by the Ganges and the Brahmaputra rivers as they flow down from the Himalaya mountains. The rivers deposit some 2.5 billion tons of silt each year, making the delta one of the world's most fertile regions but also filling up river and canal beds.

From June to October each year, the rivers are flooded by monsoon rains, causing death and destruction. A 1974 flood covered two-thirds of the country and killed 2,000 persons, and scores of persons have died this year in less serious flooding.

Isaac predicts boxing victory

UTICA, N.Y. (AP) — Kevin Isaac sparred three hard rounds, then predicted victory in his nationally televised fight Saturday against heavyweight contender Ron Lyle.

Isaac, expected to weigh about 200 pounds, looked grim and determined Thursday during his final workout.

Both are rematches. Young, 17-4-3 with six knockouts, decided Boswell, 14-6, in 1973. Backus outpointed Rodriguez last January.

All three bouts will be broadcast live on ABC's Wide World of Sports.

Did Stockton think Nastase was pulling a bit of gamesmanship?

The fourth-ranked heavyweight gave his sparring partners the day off and finished his training with shadow boxing and light limbering up. Lyle is expected to weigh at about 215.

"He's relaxed because he's confident," said Lyle's trainer, Sam Boardman. "We won't put any pressure on him from now on. We won't talk about the fight until we're in the dressing room."

Other 10-rounders on the card at Utica Memorial Auditorium include third-ranked heavyweight Jimmy Young against Mike Boswell, and former welterweight champion Billy Backus against Pablo Rodriguez.

Both are rematches. Young, 17-4-3 with six knockouts, decided Boswell, 14-6, in 1973. Backus outpointed Rodriguez last January.

All three bouts will be broadcast live on ABC's Wide World of Sports.

Ilie Nastase proves to be Open highlight

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — Ilie Nastase sat on a bench alongside his locker, toweling off his shower-soaked hair, pulled on a flowered shirt and scowled.

The Nastase entourage— friends, trainers, bodyguards, hangers-on—formed a tight circle around their leader. A small band of writers hovered just outside.

Nastase had just beaten Dick Stockton 4-6, 6-4, 6-2, 6-3 to gain the semifinals at the U.S. Open Tennis Championships. It was a big victory for him but that didn't matter. Nastase was angry. Nastase has been angry all week.

"Do I look like a monkey or what," he shouted. "The press is always following me around, peeping in windows and eavesdropping. I said the first day that I would give no interviews until I won Forest Hills or I lose."

Nastase opened this tournament by winning a two-minute match when Onny Parun defaulted in the first game with a bad back. Nastase's second outing was the much-heralded match against Hans-Jurgen Pohmann. The Romanian won that one too, but not before terrorizing ballboys and linesmen, menacing a cameraman, cursing the umpire and flinging obscene shouts and gestures at the crowd.

Audiences have been hostile ever since, booing and jeering. At first they were just mad. But lately they have been trying to provoke the volatile Romanian into another temper tantrum.

The crowd at Thursday's match against Stockton was the least vocal. They didn't exactly cheer Nastase's every move, but they didn't boo much either. Nastase, of course, saw it differently.

"Every day I play the whole stadium is against me," he complained. "No matter what I do they boo me. If I breathe too hard they boo me."

"Sure I complain about line calls. What else can I do?"

"You all condemn me," Nastase continued. "If one of you is a jerk, all of you are jerks. I don't try to intimidate players. I just try to beat them. I just play the game."

Nastase plays it very well, too.

His match against Swedish star Bjorn Borg Saturday looms as one of the highlights of the tournament. Borg was asked if he felt Nastase's antics and arguing were likely to influence the match.

"He won't bother me," said Borg. "I will be concentrating and when I am concentrating nothing bothers me. He will probably do some things but it won't bother me."

"I don't care what he does."

Midland girls topple Loboes

The Midland High girls volleyball team served notice to District 5-4A Thursday night by beating the defending Class AAA state champion Monahans Loboes, 15-3 and 15-8, in the MHS Gymnasium.

The Bulldogs rifled 15 spikes at the Loboes and hit on 17 of 18 dinks.

Linda Wimberly had the hot hand for Midland as she hit on 14 end shots without a miss and delivered five hard-driven spikes into the seams.

Susan Bash enjoyed her role as she had the best set rating, setting the ball perfectly on 15 of 16 attempts and cut six of seven dinks to dinks to the hardwood.

The Midland junior varsity won in straight sets, 16-14 and 15-8. It was never denied as the Bulpups were led by Robbie Martin and Pam Foster.

Jo Ann Martin's MHS varsity is 3-0 and the year while the JV stands 2-1.

Next action is Sept. 18 against Amarillo at 10 a.m. and Amarillo Tascosa at 2 p.m. the same day.

Lou extends record with 50 steal mark

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Basestealing whiz Lou Brock of St. Louis swiped second base in the fifth inning of the Cardinals' game against the Montreal Expos Thursday night, extending his major league record for 50 or more thefts per season.

Brock's stolen base, giving him 50 for the year, represented the 12th consecutive season the 37-year-old speedster has reached that figure. The steal was the 859th of his career, 33 short of the modern career record set by Ty Cobb.

Czechoslovakians defeat Team Canada in Cup play

So much for the notion that Team Canada's awesome collection of offensive talent would easily overcome any defensive shortcomings. So much for the notion that Team Canada would breeze undefeated through the competition at the Canada Cup hockey tournament.

The high-powered offense got defused and the heavily-favored Canadians got defeated 1-0 by the Czechoslovakians Thursday night in a game the Czech coach called, "the biggest triumph in our history."

A sparkling game by goaltender Vladimir Dzurilla, with help from the goalpost on shots by Bobby Orr and Reggie Leach, and a goal with 4:19 by Milan Novy led the Czechs' startling triumph over the much-ballyhooded Canadian conglomerate.

"We didn't play and, but their goalie was fantastic," observed Canadian netminder Rogie Vachon, who played well himself. "Last week, when we beat them 7-4 in an exhibition game, they played badly. But they were playing well this time."

Now Canada must play well next time, when it meets the Soviet Union Saturday night, or it will suffer the embarrassment of missing the championship final of a series played mostly on its home turf. The Czech triumph put the unbeaten winners in first place in the standings, while the Russians' 5-0 victory over Team USA brought the Soviets within a victory of the final series.

Lowly Finland, outscored 30-5 in its first three lopsided losses, surprised Sweden 8-6 in the evening's other game.

"Goaltending is such a big part of the game," observed Canada Coach Scotty Bowman after Dzurilla and Vachon had proven his point. "I guess you'd have to say he had our number."

The number turned out to be zero. Dzurilla began his shutout by stopping Bobby Hull on a breakthrough in the first period. Later, Leach hit the post and Orr hit the post, then Dzurilla stymied center Phil Esposito from directly in front of his net.

"I made four or five moves, but the guy just wouldn't move," marvelled Esposito. "He stood his ground and you have to give him credit. He played it super."

That kept things scoreless in front of a crowd of 17,376 at the Montreal Forum. Then Novy broke down ice with linemates Josef Augusta and Vladimir Martinec and capped a crisp passing play by slipping the puck under Vachon from the slot as a stunned silence came over the crowd.

At Philadelphia, the game was decided in the first period. The Americans did a decent job of forechecking but could not coordinate an offensive attack. Boris Alexandrov scored two goals and Vladislav Tretiak stopped 22 not-too-difficult shots for the shutout.

At Winnipeg, Finland was anxious to redeem itself from ridicule of three awful games and did so on two third-period goals by Lasse Oksanen.

NFL encounters fan resistance on preseason

By Associated Press

More than six weeks after fans began paying regular-season prices for their tickets, National Football League teams will begin playing regular-season games for those tickets this Sunday.

More than 3.5 million fans paid their way into the tune-up games that Commissioner Pete Rozelle labels preseason games and almost everyone else calls exhibitions. The total of 3,534,713 was up from 1975's figure of 3,365,147, but that was because expansion teams in Seattle and Tampa Bay swelled the total number of games played from 79 last year to 86 season. The pre-game average suffered a small decline from 42,597 in 1975 to 41,101 this year.

TICKET POLICIES throughout the league vary from team to team. Some hard-liners require season-ticket holders to purchase all preseason games as part of their package. Others require one or two exhibition purchases. Some offer option plans and a few even separate the preseason games from the regular-season ticket package entirely.

Many NFL teams claim that the only way they can turn a profit is with income from preseason games. And that is the explanation they offer for the six-seven weeks of exhibition games. But there is not too much fan enthusiasm for paying full price to watch games that don't count. Attendance dropoffs have caused some teams to seriously question the length of the preseason.

"If I was an owner, I would want to make money," said Don Coryell, coach of the St. Louis Cardinals. "If you ask me how, I'd say more regular season games, something like 16 games with four exhibitions."

IN PHILADELPHIA, the Eagles drew only 37,462 for two games, less than half the 78,181 they attracted for two games last year. General Manager Jim Murray called the exhibition attendances "one of the most serious problems professional football has to face in the near future."

"The fans have sent us a message," Murray added. "They'd like to see some changes. It's our Achilles heel. We sell out the regular season but get minimal attendance in the preseason despite heavy promotion."

In three years, the Washington Redskins' total exhibition attendance has dropped a startling 43 per cent from 329,981 to 188,190. That's one reason why Redskins' President Edward Bennett Williams opposes the long preseason schedule.

"We've got to cut them down," said Williams, who last year proposed the NFL adopt a 16-game regular season with just four exhibitions. From four, he would eventually cut to two games and then none. "Let them have scrimmages," he said. "The training season is too long."

Some NFL sources believe preseason enthusiasm began to wane in 1974, the year of the players' strike. "People found something else to do with their money and the league never recovered," said one ticket manager. "That was a disaster."

IN THE National Conference, teams showing major exhibition attendance slides were Philadelphia, where the gate figures were sliced in half; St. Louis, which had the misfortune of playing one of its games on a night when several Olympic finals were being televised; Atlanta, off about 5,000 per game; and Detroit, which dropped about 8,000 per game. But Dallas was up almost 60,000 for three games and Washington averaged 36,000 in two games after drawing only 22,000 for four games last year.

In the American Conference, Buffalo, with O.J. Simpson busy elsewhere, attracted 50,000 fewer fans than it did a year ago. Kansas City was down 26,000 and Denver dropped about 17,000.

The two new teams, Tampa Bay and Seattle, both did well. The Buccaneers attracted 168,327 for three games at home, and 182,449 showed up to watch the Seahawks in Seattle's new Kingdome.

"It varies from league city to league city," said John Thompson, the Seahawks general manager. "The preseason has been profitable when we played at home and we did well in Oakland, which was virtually a sellout. On the other hand, we took a bath in Spokane (14,484 vs. the Chicago Bears) and we didn't do so well at Denver (22,887)."

DURING THE regular season, NFL home teams divide attendance receipts on a 60-40 basis with the visitors. In the preseason, however, the split generally is down the middle.

Cards, Vikings, Rams picked

NEW YORK (AP) — Now if Commissioner Pete Rozelle wants to make things really interesting in the National Football Conference, he would shift a few teams around and create three red-hot races instead of the single one the NFC figures to have.

You can forget about the Central and West Divisions. Those two belong to Minnesota and Los Angeles, who will spend the regular season tuning up for the playoffs. But the East Division, ah, that's another story.

There are three super teams in the NFC East and room for only two of them in the playoffs, assuming no other division sneaks off with the wild card berth. So, who do you leave out—Dallas, Washington or St. Louis?

Well, you can't write off Super Bowl finalist Dallas, and St. Louis seems solid. So that leaves Washington's Over The Hill Gang, over the hill.

When they've all completed the 14-week war, here's the way things ought to look in the NFC:

EAST DIVISION
St. Louis Cardinals
Dallas Cowboys
Washington Redskins
New York Giants
Philadelphia Eagles

CENTRAL DIVISION
Minnesota Vikings
Detroit Lions
Chicago Bears
Green Bay Packers

WEST DIVISION
Los Angeles Rams
San Francisco 49ers
Atlanta Falcons
New Orleans Saints
Seattle Seahawks

Now, the first question is how you can write off a team like the Redskins, whose off-season free-agent shopping added running backs John Riggins and Calvin Hill as well as tight end Jean Fugett?

Well, it's easy when you remember that Hill has a questionable knee, injured wide receiver Charley Taylor is out for the year and the quarterback job still is in the aging hands of somewhat fragile Billy Kilmer.

Don't misunderstand. The 'Skins are good. But the Cowboys and Cardinals just seem a little better.

St. Louis' offense is still led by scatback Terry Metcalf, fullback Jim Otis, the NFC rushing king, wide receiver Mel Gray, who has speed to burn and quarterback Jim Hart.

Coach Tom Landry has done a minimal amount of tinkering with the Cowboys' Super Bowl cast. And if Dallas went that far a year ago with 11 rookies, the Cowboys should be even better this time.

The surprise team in the NFC East could be the New York Giants, who have a new look in the backfield with bulldozing Larry Csonka at fullback and an exciting rookie in fleet Gordon Bell. The young defense looked solid during the exhibition season but this team is living in the wrong division to hope for any real progress in the standings.
